As it's easy to guess, the entire operation was orchestrated by Lex Luthor, but the mastermind failed in underestimating DuBois' madness. Finally with guns in hand, Robert renamed himself Bloodsport, and became convinced that he was a war veteran. Shouting that he had been wounded along with his brother in Vietnam, Bloodsport started shooting on civilians guilty of "wasting" the freedom he and his brother had been fighting so hard for. Before Superman arrived, he had already killed 25 innocent bystanders. The Man of Steel, however, was caught off-guard the moment Bloodsport shot him with a gun equipped with Green Kryptonite ammo. Badly wounded, the hero was saved only by the photographer Jimmy Olsen, who held Bloodsport at gunpoint long enough for Superman to escape and look for medical attention. In the meanwhile, even Lex Luthor had become horrified by the useless carnage, and he had his men rescue Olsen and help him track down the one man who could put a stop to Bloodsport's mayhem: his brother Mickey. As soon as his adversaries vanished, however, Bloodsport resumed his man-hunt, until Superman came back once again, after having received some medical treatment. Realizing the psycho was using a teleporting device to summon his weapons, the Man of Steel used his heat vision to ionize the air around Bloodsport's gloves, thus preventing him from teleporting any other weapon, but the madman then threatened to detonate his backpack, in a blast that would have destroyed half of the city. Luckily, Jimmy Olsen arrived right in that moment, along with Mickey on a wheelchair. The veteran begged his brother to stop and Bloodsport, upon seeing him, surrendered, once again guilt-ridden. Arrested, Robert DuBois was sent to Stryker's Island Penitentiary, but this wasn't the last time people trembled at the name of Bloodsport.

Leonard Snart A.K.A. Captain Cold

Leonard Snart, better known as Captain Cold, is a major antagonist of the Flash comics and media. He served as one of the Flash's archenemies alongside Gorilla Grodd and Professor Zoom as one of the main antagonists of the Flash franchise mostly involving story arcs with him as the leader of his group the Rogues as the antagonists.

He appears in the show Justice League Unlimited in the episode "Flash and Substance" where he conspires with his fellow rouges about killing the Flash. They all do bad until he decides that they should all attack him at a museum. Later they all attack Batman, Flash, and Orion. During the fight he and Captain Boomerang severely hurt and nearly kill Orion but he escapes. Eventually one of his beams ricochets onto him, freezing him and is later taken to jail. In this show he is voiced by Lex Lang.

Priscilla Rich A.K.A. Cheetah

The Cheetah is the name of four villains in the DC Universe, although the current Cheetah, Barbara Ann Minerva, is the best-known version of the character. She is the archenemy of Wonder Woman.

The Golden Age Cheetah was socialite Priscilla Rich. Jealous of Wonder Woman (the Golden Age version, later retconned to be Wonder Woman's mother, Hippolyta)'s fame, Priscilla was driven to villainy by her second personality, the Cheetah. Donning a cheetah costume, Priscilla became Wonder Woman's archnemesis, until her retirement, and eventual death.

Nathan Prince A.K.A. Copperhead

Copperhead is a supervillain in the DC comics and an enemy of Batman.

Nathan Prince was a mentally unstable child who tried to drown his brother out of jealousy and even attempted to kill his parents. He eventually ran away and became a male prostitute, killing the people after he performed his services for them. Somehow, and it is unknown how, he came to possess the Copperhead costume and thus acquired Copperhead's powers. He would join the Terror Titans, a supervillain team led by Temple Fugate, a.k.a. Clock King. Copperhead was among the fighters in Clock King's Dark Side Club and was tasked with watching the injured TNTeena. He fell in love with her, and a disgusted Clock King forces him to kill her. The Terror Titans were sent with an army of metahumans from the Dark Side Club to destroy Los Angeles. They were defeated and imprisoned by the Teen Titans, except Copperhead, who would break them out of prison. The Terror Titans then swore revenge on Clock King for leaving them in prison.

Devil Ray

Devil Ray is a supervillain from Justice League Unlimited. He is also an alternate version of Black Manta (due to copyright issues at the time). He was a sadistic pirate recruited by Grodd to do various missions, but they would end up in failure due the Justice League's interventions.

Devil Ray was voiced by Michael Beach, who portrayed Black Manta's father Jesse Kane, in the DC extended universe film Aquaman.

Devil Ray was a infamous pirate, and either created or stole a powersuit to use to go deeper underwater, or fight off the authorities. He was known to be a sadistic thief, as he states that he has killed many people, either to survive or for his own benefit.

He was recruited by Grodd to join the Legion of Doom, and was tasked to do various missions with the other members. In his first known mission for the Legion, Devil Ray, along with Giganta and Killer Frost, were sent to retrieve the newly-discovered corpse of Prince Jon, a Viking Prince supposedly rendered invulnerable by the Norse God Odin, for the purpose of reverse-engineering that invulnerability for the Legion's own members.

The group were sent to collect the prince from a melting glacier, but were intercepted by Wonder Woman and the team. Devil Ray fought Wonder Woman underwater, and was easily defeated despite being in his "natural environment". The mission was a failure and his whole team was taken into custody through the collective efforts of the Justice League, Special Agent King Faraday's team, and the U.S. Navy.

Within weeks, Devil Ray escaped prison and was back with the Legion, and had his suit and abilities augmented by Lex Luthor. His next mission was to spearhead an attack on the Temple of Nanda Parbat, where he seemingly killed the master, and stole the Heart of Nanda Parbat.

Devil Ray earned himself the ire of Deadman for killing his mentor, and the latter was set out on taking back the Heart, and avenge the deaths of all the monks at the shrine. During the siege on Gorilla City, Devil Ray found himself up against Wonder Woman, whom Deadman possessed to exact his revenge. Deadman beat him within an inch of his life, but spared him, deciding vengeance would only go against his master's beliefs.

Devil Ray was confused on his near death, and believed that Wonder Woman attempted to murder him, and decided to target her despite the Legion being thwarted. When ready to kill Wonder Woman, Deadman possessed Batman and used a nearby gun to shoot him. The blast knocked Devil Ray backward and into an electrical conduit, where the energy that was released killed him. His accidental death (Deadman only intended to stop him, not kill him) unbalanced Deadman's karmic scale, and the spirit was forced to remain on this plane until he had atoned despite having restore the monks' souls.

John Dee A.K.A. Doctor Destiny

Doctor Destiny is a supervillain in the DC comics and a rogue enemy of the Justice League. There have been other characters with the same name, but John Dee is most well known incarnation.

Doctor Destiny appears as a villain in Justice League. His origins are altered somewhat for the TV series. In the Justice League episode "Only a Dream", John Dee is a small-time criminal. Formerly a low-level employee of LexCorp, Dee was arrested after the Justice League caught him guarding smuggled weapons. Sentenced to a lengthy prison term, Dee blamed the Justice League for ruining his life and fantasized about destroying them, and being welcomed by the other super villains as the greatest of them all.

In prison, Dee offered himself as a test subject for the Materioptikon, in this series a device that would affect a person's mental power. On learning that his wife was leaving him, Dee's obsession with destroying the League increased. During a mass breakout, while the League and the police were busy with the other prisoners, Dee hooked himself up the Materioptikon and turned it to full power. Escaping the prison, he discovered he now had the power to enter human minds while they slept and manipulate their dreams. The police and the JL were unconcerned with his escape, believing him to be an unimportant criminal. Dee decided to live out his fantasies for real, and gave himself the name Dr. Destiny, and created an illusory skull-faced appearance.

Dee's first act was to take revenge on his former wife Penny. Invading her dreams, he trapped her in her sleep, and, it is strongly implied, tortured her so severely that she died in her sleep. He then entered the minds of the Justice League members, trapping each of them in their own nightmare where they would either die or go mad.

The Flash dreamed that he was unable to slow down, to the point that the entire world is frozen around him forever. Green Lantern dreamed that he had become an outsider, and all of his friends and neighbors now saw him as a stranger and were unable to understand him. Superman became trapped in a nightmare that his powers grew beyond his control and began taking the lives of everyone he cared for. And Hawkgirl dreamed that her wings were locked together and that she was buried alive in a coffin. Only J'onn J'onzz and Batman stayed awake to trace the crisis to Dee.

While J'onn entered the sleeping Leaguer's minds to guide them out, Batman fought off exhaustion to trace Dee to his hideout in an abandoned warehouse. Using a commercial jingle to block Dr. Destiny from his mind, Batman was able to confront him and beat him in hand to hand combat.

Dr. Destiny later joins forces with the Legion of Doom in Justice League Unlimited.

Neal Emerson A.K.A. Doctor Polaris

Doctor Polaris (also known as Neal Emerson) is a villain in DC Comics. He was raised by an abusive father but later revealed to be his aunt which drove him to become evil. He had a childhood interest in magnets which also drove him to create his suit which has magnetic powers. He was later killed but was resurrected as a Black Lantern.

He first appears in the episode "I am Legion" where he helps Lex Luthor and The Key break into a top secret abandoned military facility. Although some Justice League members such as The Flash and Fire show up and try to stop them they all get away and go back to the Legion of Doom. He later appears in "The Great Brain Robbery" having serious doubts about Luthor's leadership to the point of wanting to overthrow him. Regardless he aids the Legion in their plot but gets foiled but the League. At their headquarters they capture Luthor because it was Flash who switched bodies with him. When they switched back Polaris tried to threaten Luthor but he overode his powers whether he is killed or not is unclear.

Lester Buschinsky A.K.A. Electrocutioner

He appears in the show Justice League Unlimited in the episode "Grudge Match" as part of Roulette's Meta - Brawl. He later makes a few cameos as part of the Legion of Doom. In the series finale "Alive" he is shown siding against Luthor during the mutany and is blown up by Darkseid in the end.

Evil Star

Evil Star is a supervillain in the DC Comics universe. He is an enemy of the following heroes and other fictional characters: Green Lantern (Hal Jordan), the Green Lantern Corps, the Guardians of the Universe, the Darkstars, Ferrin Colos, Guy Gardner, Sister Sercy, the Justice Society of America and the Justice League.

Resolving to conquer death itself, a scientist of the planet Aoran developed the "Star Band", a device that would lengthen the lifespan of the wearer and possibly to that of the very stars themselves. However, the scientist had not considered the possibility of any side effects. Unfortunately, the device caused anyone who came into contact with it to commit only evil acts. Years later, the being who now called himself Evil Star laughed as his wife and son grew old, while he remained young. Occasionally, he would remove the star band and shun its evil ways, but he feared death more than his own self-hatred. In the end, he always put the band on again.

Eventually the people of Aoran could stand his evil no longer. They warred against Evil Star but failed to defeat him and he killed them all for getting in his way. Seeking new worlds to conquer, Evil Star realized he would soon have to eliminate the Guardians of the Universe who would naturally oppose him. Though his star band was a weapon of almost limitless potential, Evil Star also produced five Starlings - artificial, miniature, virtually mindless clones who were almost as strong as Evil Star himself and utterly invulnerable, as well.

Thus armed, Evil Star attacked the Guardians but was ultimately defeated by Hal Jordan, the Green Lantern of Space Sector 2814 and imprisoned. Evil Star has escaped on several occasions, but each time he has battled the Emerald Gladiator, he has lost and been returned to his Sciencell. When the Green Lantern Central Power Battery imploded after the "death" of the renegade Sinestro, Evil Star was one of the many interstellar criminals who escaped imprisonment on Oa. While Hal Jordan was occupied on Oa, Evil Star fled to Earth and joined forces with Goldface. The two rogues were able to briefly separate the Lantern from his power battery but even together they could not defeat their mutual enemy. While Goldface escaped, Evil Star was re-captured and placed in a rehabilitation community overseen by the Guardians.

Sometime later, Evil Star would be transferred to a low-level security facility for further rehabiliation. He had been making great strides in his progress in renouncing his evil ways and his want for immortality and power was giving way to feelings of guilt and remorse. Unfortunately, during an experimental treatment procedure, his dormant subconscious urges resurfaced and the previously directionless Starlings were given a new purpose to focus on - freeing their master. Upon his escape, Darkstars and Green Lanterns alike were called in to apprehend the villain After fighting off the Starlings and the villain himself, the heroes were able to apprehend Evil Star and take him into custody. During the Underworld Unleashed series, Evil Star was freed by Neron and given enhanced Starlings in exchange for giving Neron his soul. Still, Evil Star was defeated once more by Ferrin Colos and Guy Gardner and returned to confinement. With his most recent escape, Evil Star has been revealed as the secret manipulator behind Black Hand's transformation through experiments performed by Kroloteans. He has also been mentioned as oppressing the home world of Blue Lantern Sister Sercy.

Garfield Lynns A.K.A. Firefly

Garfield Lynns, also known as Firefly, is an antagonist from DC Comics, most often going against Batman, Robin, and Green Arrow. He is a pyromaniac, but during one of his fires he got caught in the flames. He has several severe burns across his body, and now wears a flame-retardant suit to keep this from happening again.

As a child, Garfield Lynns grew up at St. Evangelina Home for Orphans. He was never adopted because of his tendency to be a troublemaker. Although he always had the support of sister Amanda, whom was fond of him. Year later, Garfield became a pyrotechnics expert working on motion pictures at Gotham City, until he became a victim of poverty and turned to crime. Lynns originally took up arson as a hobby, but began seeing visions in the fires he caused and eventually became obsessed with it. Garfield decided to embrace his pyromania, constructing a flamethrower, jetpack and fire-resistant jumpsuit before attempting his first robbery as Firefly.

Firefly's history was altered for the New 52. In this continuity, the original Firefly is a pyromaniac named Ted Carson who wore a robotic suit to achieve flight and spread fires. At some point Ted was seemingly killed, allowing someone else to take up the mantle of Firefly. Nightwing found reasoned to believe that this new Firefly had to be former pyrotechnician Garfield Lynns, who may have been motivated by revenge after being fired from his job by his ex-girlfriend and film actress Cindy Cooke. However, he soon discovers that Ted Carson had faked his death and Garfield was a victim of his crimes.

Firefly's history was further altered as a result of DC Rebirth. In the revised timeline, Garfield Lynns served as Firefly during a past gang war between the Joker and Riddler. However, Ted Carson would still eventually take up the mantle himself. Much later, it is revealed that Ted was grooming a protégé named Bridget Pike, who also goes by the name Lady Firefly.

This version of Garfield Lynns was a pyrotechnition obsessed with popstar Cassidy, whom he briefly dated. After intentionally rigging a pyrotechnics display to run wild during one of her concerts, he went into hiding to develop a special fireproof flight suit. Calling himself Firefly, he stalked Cassidy, burning down a music club she helped finance and ultimately kidnapping her. His ultimate plan was to flood the Gotham sewers with highly flammable gel and dissappear with her during the ensuing firestorm.

Along with seven other assassins, Lynns was offered a $50,000,000 reward if he were to kill the Batman on a Christmas Eve night by Gotham's most feared mobster, Black Mask.

He planted a quadruplet of bombs around a Gotham bridge in order to lure the Bat out of the shadows. It was successful, forcing Batman to visit the bridge, but the bombs were quickly disabled and Firefly himself was defeated, having his scarred, burnt face revealed via a visor cracking family of punches that knocked the pyromaniac unconscious and ready to be arrested by the GCPD.

The Firefly does not appear in the game Batman: Arkham Asylum. One of the Riddler's riddles revolves around him. He has an entry in the Character Bios. His profile states: A pyromaniac, Garfield Lynns began as a petty criminal but soon graduated to major crimes centering around arson, torching huge parts of Gotham in the process. But his fires soon raged out of control, leaving him horribly scarred by one of his own blazes. His body is almost fully covered with burns, and he now wears a full-body flame-retardant suit when he is out pursuing his criminal interests between bouts of incarceration in Blackgate.

Years later, Lynns returned to Gotham and join Scarecrow's militia of villains. His job was to incinerate firestations in Gotham. As Batman encounters him at the first firestation, Firefly is seen flying outside of the building, telling Batman he defeated once a long time ago before flying away on his jetpack. Batman pursues Firefly in his Batmobile. As soon as he got close enough to him, he ejects and beats Firefly on the ground. Firefly manages to escape on his jetpack after that. After Firefly burns down a third firestation, Batman pursues him one more time and manages to put him behind at Gotham City Police Station.

James Craddock A.K.A. Gentleman Ghost

James Craddock, better known as Gentleman Ghost, is a supervillain from DC comics who varies between being a criminal who pretends to be a ghost or an actual spirit - in both forms he is a criminal and can perform a number of spectral abilities that make him tricky to combat (such as his ability to phase through solid matter): as well as being in the comics he has appeared in the DC animated universe as a minor villain in Justice League.

James Craddock was born in the late 1800s to a rich father who soon abandoned both Craddock and his mother leaving them to make it on their own, as Craddock grew he wanted to make his mother proud and promised to give her all the money and jewels she could possibly want. Trying to make enough for both them originally Craddock became a pickpocket but his mother grew ill and died while still young. Left with no parents or anyone close Craddock continued to be pickpocket and eventually become a highwayman though he is told by a person known as the Gypsy Queen that he would die by hanging but unable to pass on to the afterlife, the Gypsy Queen also told him he would fight a group of his greatest enemies centuries later which should he win the duel he'd be returned to life.

Hearing this Craddock believed her crazy but travelled to the United States of America not long after. There he continued as a highwayman until he as captured by a pair of gunslingers known as Nighthawk and Cinnamon, due to Nighthawk mistaking Craddock as a attempted rapist he had Craddock hung. Due to the strange circumstances and the fact he was executed under false circumstances Craddock returned as a ghost, he is informed he was cursed to be unable to pass on the afterlife until his executioners pass on but also informed they themselves are forced to reincarnate upon death. Realizing he is doomed to never pass on Craddock takes the alias Gentleman Ghost and starts to continue to be a thief to keep himself entertained.

Over the centuries he has come across many heroes who he fought due to the thrill awaiting the day he could be reborn. Eventually that day arrives and he gains help from his deceased mother in the form of her giving him the ability to summon spirits of the fallen enemies of his own adversaries. He continues to fight the Justice League but soon finds himself being vulnerable to Stargirl who as a virgin he can't attack without a material object yet get attacked himself and Wildcat who as a descendent of royalty can attack him as well. At the end of the fight Wildcat seems to be able to banish Gentleman Ghost to the afterlife though unlikely it would be permanent due to Gentleman Ghost's curse.

Doris Zeul A.K.A. Giganta

Giganta, real name Doris Zuel, is a size-shifting supervillain from DC Comics who is a frequent enemy of Wonder Woman as well as the Justice League.

Originally little more than an ape she was artificially evolved by Gorilla Grodd into a human female (both in appearance and mannerism): she in turn became very devoted to him and also gained the ability to grow to gigantic heights at will.

This served to make Giganta a formidable opponent to any hero in the DC universe and although she began her career as somewhat of a savage complete with leopard-skin clothing she would evolve into a much more refined woman, albeit still a dangerous criminal, as the series and comics went on.

It is worth noting that their are many variations of Giganta depending on the era or writer and her origin varied greatly as do her powers depending on who writes her - though modern writers tend to stick with the size-shifting hyper-evolved ape (this is also the version that was made popular in the cartoon series Justice League).

Another popular version of Giganta was in Superfriends, where she was shown as the rival to Apache Chief, and was present as his super heroic debut. She had been an ordinary woman horseback riding when she saw the effect of the magic powder, and desired to use it to become famous.

She stole the bag of powder from Apache Chief when he was busy. Although warned by Apache Chief's sachem to leave it alone as the effects multiply emotions, she ignored the warning. True to form, her selfishness was multiplied along with her size, and she became an evil giantess.

Keith Kenyon A.K.A. Goldface

Keith Kenyon was a political sciences student who was exposed to a chest of gold that had been affected by toxic waste. As a result of exposure, he gained superhuman strength and invulnerability. The gold also gave him a golden glow, apparently as a side effect of the serum. Of course, being close enough to yellow meant that Green Lantern's power ring could not affect him directly, making him particularly formidable against the super-hero. Deciding to rebel against the wishes of his father, a prominent labor union organizer, he began stealing gold around Coast City, which led to his defeat by Green Lantern. He began to refine his criminal ways by wearing gold-plated armor and using a "gold-gun" which sprays liquid gold. After many clashes with Green Lantern, Kenyon decided to change his motif and ruthlessly began taking over criminal empires.

He eventually moved to Central City and became a foe of the Flash, Barry Allen. In recent years he apparently let go of his villanous ways. After serving his time, he moved to Keystone City and, following in his father's footsteps, became an honest Commissioner of Union 242. Overtime, his elixir has slowly turned his skin into an organic golden flesh.

In Justice League Unlimited, Goldface (voiced by an uncredited Lex Lang) appears as a recent member of Gorilla Grodd's Secret Society when he is seen during the raid on Gorilla City turning the gorillas into gold. When the Secret Society holds a meeting with Luthor to discuss their plans, Luthor makes an example out of Goldface and uses a device on his belt to hurt Goldface's face. He survived, for he was then seen during the mutiny within the Secret Society, when he sided against Gorilla Grodd and was subsequently frozen by Killer Frost, along with the other mutineers.

Mick Rory A.K.A. Heatwave

Mick Rory, better known as Heat Wave, is a supervillain from The Flash comics and media. He first appeared in The Flash #140. (November, 1963) and was created by John Broome and Carmine Infantino.

Even at a young age, Mick Rory was a thorough pyromaniac. He set his house on fire and burned his family alive. He attempted to get a job at the circus as a fire eater, but eventually, he wound up setting the circus on fire. He, later, set out on a life of crime and taking the name of Heat Wave.

Roderick Rose A.K.A. Hellgrammite

An unnamed Hellgrammite (originally known as Roderick Rose in the comics) is a villain in the DC comics and the first season of the TV show Supergirl. As every member of it's species, it has the ability to shapeshift.

Roderick Rose was an entymologist who injected himself with several mutagens transforming himself into a grasshopper like monster. He gained super strength, leaping ability and could create cocoons. His initial scheme was to create an army of less powerful Hellgrammites to serve him, but he was stopped by Batman and Creeper. He was later hired to kill Lex Luthor, but was defeated again by Superman. After this he sold his soul to the demon Neron for enhanced powers. He has since joined Intergang as an assassin for hire, clashing repeatedly with Superman. He appeared in the animated series Justice League Unlimited as a fighter in Roulette's Metabrawl, and later a member of the Legion of Doom. He also appeared in the show Batman the Brave and the Bold where he was almost managed to defeat Batman but was ultimately foiled by The Creeper.

The Hellgrammite is described as an insect capable of taking any shape it wants. As it's body is not carbon based but depending on chlorine, it is forced to break into chemical facilities to find DDT, the material closest to its food source.

The Hellgrammite was arrested by Krypton's military guild, brought before Alura Zor-El, and sentenced to Fort Rozz. After Fort Rozz's crash to Earth, the Hellgrammite escaped along with the rest of its fellow convicts.

On earth, the Hellgrammite is at first seen at Plastino Chemicals, tampering with a vat of chemicals. It is found by a security guard who calls backup after the Hellgrammite can't show any ID. When the guard draws his gun, the Hellgrammite dislodges its jaw and screams at the guard, causing the terrified man to run away. The Hellgrammite swiftly catches up to the guard, jumps onto him and kills him, leaving the body behind.

It is later confronted by two of General Astra's men and Astra herself. Astra reveals that the Hellgrammite will make perfect bait for Kara and orders the Hellgrammite to kill her. After finding out about the DDT, the DEO sets a trap for the Hellgrammite by driving a truck full of DDT about the highway. Indeed the Hellgrammite soon smells the DDT and jumps onto the truck. When the DEO agents start shooting at the Hellgrammite out of their car, the Hellgrammite lunges stingers drawn from its own body at the agents, jumps onto their car and grabs Alex, a DEO agent and Kara's foster sister. It delivers Alex to Astra, hoping that this would mean that Astra would leave it alone.

While Astra fought against Supergirl, the Hellgrammite tried to kill Alex with one of its stingers but Alex dodged the blow and stabbed the Hellgrammite into the heart with its own stinger, killing it.

Jack Napier A.K.A. The Joker

The novelization of Batman: Mask of the Phantasm indicates that the man who went to become the Joker was born around 1948, being 35 around the time of the flashback events of the movie, whose present time is 1993. He became a criminal at some point to make a living, a profession which would last for the rest of his life. It's unknown what the Joker's real name was, and while it's suggested to have been Jack Napier, it's possible that this may have been another alias, as he took several during his career. The reason is possibly to avoid getting detected by the police.

By 1983, the Joker was an unnamed assassin and chauffeur working for Salvatore Valestra, Buzz Bronski and Chuckie Sol, the high-ranking members of the Valestra mob. When Carl Beaumont, a businessman who had embezzled from the Valestra mob, was unable to pay them back, he accompanied his boss and associates to pay a visit to Beaumont, who asked Valestra one more day. Valestra reluctantly agreed, but unknown to him, Carl and his daughter Andrea fled the country that same night.

Over the years, Carl reunited the necessary money and paid Salvatore back, but he anyway ordered his hitman to take out Beaumont to make him pay with blood for his delay. Although they didn't know where exactly Carl and Andrea were hiding in Europe, they got the help of Carl's former employee Arthur Reeves, who gave them their location in exchange of funding for his councilman campaign. The man did it and after killing Beaumont, he left the house just when Andrea arrived after buying groceries, which she dropped upon seeing him. He took an apple and ate it as Andrea entered into the house and cried for her father.

Eventually, he left the Valestras and formed his own gang. One night, they robbed the Ace Chemical plant but Batman arrived, and in the ensuing scuffle, the thug fell into a vat of chemicals. The chemicals inside the vat beached his skin white, turned his hair green, made his lips bright red and completely warped and destroyed his sanity, transforming him into the Joker. After taking up his new identity, Joker would establish himself as one of the main criminal powers in Gotham and became a recurring enemy of Batman. During one instance, while placed in Arkham Asylum, the Joker manipulated his psychologist Doctor Harleen Quinzel into falling in love with him, driving her to join his gang as Harley Quinn, his chief flunky.

As the Joker, he pulled numerous schemes for both his own amusement and for personal profit, such as a Christmas-themed kidnapping of Commissioner Gordon, Summer Gleeson and Harvey Bullock ("Christmas with The Joker"), filling Gotham City with his laughing gas using a garbage boat ("The Last Laugh"), planting dynamite at the birthday party of Mayor Hill's son ("Be A Clown"), poisoning all of Gotham's fish with his toxins and trying to copyright them ("The Laughing Fish") and escaping Arkham to blow up a casino that was using his name sake ("The Joker's Wild"), but Batman and Robin always managed to defeat him and send him back to Arkham.

In "Joker's Favor", Joker tried to blackmail a man named Charlie Collins after he encountered him on the highway, and threatened to kill his family if he didn't help him in his scheme to kill Commissioner Gordon during an award ceremony. Collins ended up getting the better of the cowardly psychopath, using one of his own fake explosives to trick him into giving up everything he knew about his family to Batman.

In "Almost Got 'Im", Joker, Penguin, Two-Face, Killer Croc, and Poison Ivy get together and play poker, remarking on the times in which they had nearly killed Batman. Joker, believing his story was the best, saved it for last, mocking the stories of his fellow criminals. When it was his turn, Joker pulls out a portable television set and played a recording of his failed attempt. In the tape, Joker and Harley Quinn had taken over Late Night Gotham Live, captured Batman and tried to electrocute him on live TV with an electric chair powered by the forced laughter of the kidnapped studio audience, but this attempt was foiled by Catwoman. Due to only being foiled by the appearance of Catwoman, all the other villains agree that Joker had the best story, while he simultaneously wins the poker game (by cheating). Joker then reveals that he had kidnapped Catwoman and was planning to kill her by turning her into cat food as revenge for her ruining his plan, although, he is then immediately knocked out by Batman (who was disguised as Croc the entire time) .

In the movie Batman: Mask of the Phantasm, a vigilante called The Phantasm came to Gotham and, one by one, killed the mob leaders Joker had once worked for. Batman was accused of these crimes, but the Joker doubted this and set up a trap to kill the Phantasm before he himself was targeted. Joker eventually managed to find out that the killer wasn't Batman at all and that Andrea Beaumont, daughter of the embezzler he once killed on mob orders, had taken up the identity of the Phantasm. He fought the Phantasm, but she vanished to escape in an explosion, taking the laughing Joker with her. It remained unknown what happened to him after this. But he survived off-screen and went back to do what he does best - fighting Batman and terrorizing Gotham City with his deadly jokes.

In Trial, along with other inmates in Arkham Asylum, Joker ran a sham trial for Batman with the inmates as judge and jury.

The Joker later gotten a hold of an atomic bomb, taken the mayor hostage (although this was one of the very few times that he showed affection towards Harley when he realized that she had enough 'guts' to kill him), and even tried to succeed as a stand-up comedian while ruining three comedians' acts for revenge on their judgment of him as unfunny - something he could never forgive. After this, he tried to destroy all Gotham City with his henchmen, but Batman, Robin and Harley Quinn destroyed his plane and defeated him.

Becoming broke and desperate, Joker and Harley Quinn stole a statue of a Chinese Dragon that turned out to be forged from Kryptonite. Using this, Joker traveled to Metropolis and put himself for hire for one billion dollars to kill Superman. Lex Luthor agreed to Joker's deal. Batman eventually fought The Joker along with the Man of Steel. Then, Joker began to annoy Luthor when he demanded to be paid more to kill both superheroes. While attempting to betray Luthor (who needless to say, had also tried to betray him) The Joker ended up fighting the World's Finest in an aircraft, the explosion of which seemed to killing him, though his body was never recovered. But he survived that fall and went back to terrorize Gotham again off screen.

He turned up alive, was captured, but was shocked when he inherited millions of dollars from a mob kingpin named Barlowe, who had always despised him. Through deception was incredibly and playing the Joker's ego and greed, Barlowe set up a trap. Joker almost literally bought his way to a clean criminal record and then lived the high life on what he believed to be hundreds of millions. It was eventually revealed that only the first ten million dollars were real, which the Joker not only blew through, but was now, as Barlowe's heir, in the sights of the IRS. Joker could not reveal and possesses him, he's been tricked without looking like the clown he was. Joker decided to pull off a heist to restart his enterprises (without using any of his calling cards or signature styles that would link him to the crime), but was foiled, like always, by Batman. As he is taken back to Arkham Asylum, Harley Quinn (disguised as a police officer) beats Joker up with a baton for abandoning her to be arrested by Batman and Batgirl in the beginning of the episode and replacing her with a Fake Harley, rather than bailing her out.

On the seventh year anniversary of the Joker's "birth", the Joker's actions turned reporter Jack Ryder into the Creeper. The Creeper, while heroic, mercilessly harassed Harley and Joker, to the point even Joker considered Creeper to be a lunatic, actually begging Batman to arrest him. Creeper captured Harley and defeated the Joker in a dump park, who was later taken in custody by Batman.

After this, Harley Quinn captured Batman and tried to kill him for obtain Joker's admiration, but he hit her and threw her through the window of the building in, believing that no one had the right to kill Batman but himself. Batman eventually frees himself and fights Joker on top of a monorail, and punched the Joker into the chimney of Ace Chemicals, apparently killing him. But for unknown reasons, he survived the mortal fall and sent some flowers and a note to Quinn.

The Joker later planned on forming a metahuman gang from the local mutants known as "Bang Babies". Villains such as Hotstreak and Talon eagerly joined his gang. However Batman, Robin, and Dakota's own resident hero Static teamed up and escaped the Joker's death trap, arresting the Clown Prince of Crime in the process. Joker tried to shock Batman with a joy-buzzer after his defeat, only for Static to not only ignore and absorb the buzzer's power, but shock the Joker right back, only worse. Joker and his gang was arrested after that.

Not wanting anything to do with Joker after their first encounter, Lex Luthor tried to keep him out of his Injustice Gang, but he is ultimately persuaded to relent by him after Copperhead is arrested and Joker provides knowledge on Batman. Using a tracking device Batman had planted on him, Joker lured Batman to the Injustice Gang's hideout and knocks him out. With Batman now captured, Joker urges Lex to let him kill Batman, but is frustrated when he is not allowed to and then proceeds to annoy Lex as he searches through Batman's utility belt. Joker then forces Batman to watch the expected destruction of the JLA's Watchtower, knowing that Luthor would give him permission to kill Batman if his plan succeeded, but it fails and Joker is not allowed to finish Batman yet again. Knowing Batman was swaying her to his way of thinking, Joker betrays and electrocutes Cheetah into unconsciousness. During the Gang's final confrontation with the JLA, Joker uses a trick exploding doll and several marbles to attack Flash and Wonder Woman, but quickly runs away when he realizes that he's outmatched. After the rest of the Gang is defeated, Joker rushes to the basement of their warehouse base to kill Batman, only to be knocked out by Batman, who states that he could have escaped their prison at any time he wanted, but chose to stay and watch on them instead.

He discovered and entered a secret government compound dubbed Section 12. At the time, it was under the supervision of the Cadmus Project, a federal initiative to procure defenses against the Justice League in case they ever went rogue. Joker arrived at the facility and killed the staff using his Joker Venom. He then freed their captives and fashioned them as a card deck hand, dubbing them his 'Royal Flush Gang'. During his time at the facility, the Joker also came across some of Project Cadmus' secret technology, and discovered a microchip that allowed it's user to copy their DNA.

Rather than use the technology early, the Joker decided to save the technology for another time. The Joker with his new team then left the facility before purchasing air time on several networks under the moniker of "Gwynplaine Entertainment" and broadcast a live feed of Las Vegas. The Joker secretly planted several dozen extremely powerful time-bombs all throughout the city, and threatened to blow up the entire city early if anyone but the Justice League tried to stop him. Though the Justice League manage to disarm the bombs and defeat the Royal Flush Gang, the bomb stunt was merely to attract viewers throughout the world. The real plan was to use the powers of the Gang's fifth member, Ace, who could drive people insane just by looking at them in person or on TV. The Joker then transmitted Ace's thought waves across the air to render everyone under a mass psychosis. Batman confronted the Joker alone, and despite almost being driven insane by Ace's powers and receiving vicious beatings from Joker, managed to reveal to Ace that the Joker held on to a special headband used to nullify Ace's powers by Project Cadmus. Ace, in anger, used her power on the Joker and temporarily incapacitated him, rendering him temporarily catatonic.

Years later, he planned one final joke on Batman after realizing the "game" was getting old. The Joker and Harley Quinn kidnapped Tim Drake (the current Robin and Dick Grayson's successor) after Tim saved an unknown woman from a criminal, unaware that it is a trap and subjected him to three weeks of torture and brainwashed him into becoming a small version of the Joker called Joker Junior, much to Batman and Batgirl's horror, also finding out all of Batman's secrets (including Batman's true identity) in the process. On top of that, he documented the whole interrogation with an old video projector and possibly slides (since he claimed he had them). Batman came to the abandoned Arkham Asylum and saw what had happened to Tim. In retaliation, Batman engaged in a bloody fight with the Joker (willing to break the Joker in two for his actions), only for the Joker to stab Batman in the knee and gloat over his success (in the edited version, he punches Batman off the edge and the blood was removed).

He gave a Bang-Flag gun to Tim to finish off the Dark Knight, but instead Tim focused his rage on the one who had broken him, and fatally shot the Joker, (in the edited version, he pushed Joker into liquids (possibly water), who slipped and grabbed the lever and pulled it down as he was slipping, electrocuting himself) and says to himself, "That's not funny! That's not…" before he dies. Tim then enters into a mental breakdown, crying whatever sanity he has left of himself as Barbara Gordon (the current Batgirl) comforts him.

The remains of the Joker were buried under Arkham, and Tim was given therapy to cope with his trauma. Commissioner Gordon learned of what happened and promised to keep it a secret, while it seemed Harley had fell into the bottomless pit and perished during the battle as well. The other people who also knew the incident were the Dark Knight's butler, Alfred Pennyworth and Bruce's first partner and the former Robin, Dick Grayson who has left for Bludhaven. One year later, Tim was finally recovered from his trauma, but Bruce forbade Tim from being Robin again and swore that he will never endanger another young partner again. Tim soon left after this, choosing to make the right decision for himself. Barbara soon retired from her career as Batgirl and went on to follow her father's footsteps as the new police commissioner of Gotham City following her father's retirement. Despite his death, Joker's legacy as a criminal mastermind and homicidal maniac would live on for years. Whilst the people of Gotham were relieved at the Joker's final and ultimate defeat, they still feared his destructive legacy. Years later several groups of criminals called the Jokerz started appearing around the globe, honoring the Clown Prince of Crime's legacy. One of the gang's members, Ghoul (who coincidentally would be the member of the Jokerz gang that would serve the newly revived Joker.) stated that there are 9,453 active Jokerz that are divided into approximately 200 separate groups. Bruce continued the rest of his crime fighting career as Batman for years after the incident a few years before his retirement in the prologue of Batman Beyond.

It seemed not even death itself could restrain the Joker. It turns out that before Joker died, he had implanted the microchip he stole from Cadmus encoded with his DNA, memories and personality on Tim's neck. The chip soon began to activate itself automatically, transforming Drake into the Joker. According to the Joker, any lingering memories were chalked up as bad dreams by Drake. Over time, the Joker's subconscious awakened and began to assume control of Drake's body.

Over the course of forty years, the Joker plotted his return using Drake's body. With Drake's knowledge of communications and his martial skills as Robin, Joker staged a series of corporate thefts utilizing a sub-group of the Jokerz which had formed in his absence, proving how influential he had become. With the technology, Joker created a satellite jammer and hijacked control of a Hyperion class defense satellite orbiting the planet. If any of Tim Drake's family were worried in any way, Joker would simply call on the phone with Tim's voice saying he'll be working late.

Joker then revealed himself to Bruce Wayne at a party during his return to Gotham. The new Batman managed to stop Joker from killing Bruce, but Joker escaped. After a time, Terry deduced Drake had some connection and decided to confront The Joker.

However before he could reach Joker's hideout, Joker tested the new Batman by chasing after him using his satellite to send a powerful laser at the Batmobile whilst incinerating a small part of Gotham. After stopping the beam, the new Batman tracked Joker down to his hideout (an abandoned Candy Factory called the Jolly Jack) and confronted Tim. Tim started to remember how he killed the original Joker and started to act strange; when Tim accidentally mentioned the new Batman's real name he transformed into the Joker, revealing he had deduced Batman's identity. After explaining how he survived, Joker and Batman fought.

In the skirmish, the electric joy buzzer that Joker was using gets knocked out of his hand and falls into the wiring of the jamming system, redirecting the satellite's laser straight to Joker's hideout. Batman stranded Joker within the compound and fought him one on one. In the finale, Batman taunted the Joker, saying he had only returned because he could never make the original Batman laugh. This greatly enraged Joker and he managed to trap Terry under a wooden table and started strangling him.

Joker then ordered Terry to laugh before he dies and when Joker got closer in order to hear Terry better, Terry taunts by saying "Ha ha!" and uses Joker's own toy buzzer to electrocute him on the neck. The surge destroyed the microchip, restoring Tim back to normal and destroying the Joker once and for all. After so many years of waging a one-on-one war, Batman had finally won after a long struggle, destroying the Joker forever.

The Key

The Key is a villain in the DC universe and an enemy towards The Justice League.

The Key used to be a chemist in Intergang. A chemical turns him into a psychopath and activates ten senses. He creates master criminal plans and gets an obsession with keys. He uses a key gun and his henchmen are called Keymen. He becomes a recurring a enemy of the Justice League. The chemicals later get to him which send him into a coma. After he got out he put the league in a big illusion trap but failed. When he is defeated he is usually sent to Arkham Asylum.

Anatoli Knyazev A.K.A. KGBeast

Anatoli Knyazev, also known as KGBeast, is a DC comic book villain and an enemy of Batman.

Anatoli Knyazev AKA the KGBeast, was an extraordinary assassin who was in the employ of the KGB, which is a Soviet Union's secret police and intelligence agency. Knyazev then became a rogue agent. He went on an unauthorized mission to kill ten key people involved with the United States' Strategic Defense Initiative, which was nicknamed the "Star Wars" program. The Soviets decided to warn the American government about Knyazev's plan. Regardless, Knyazev was able to succeed in his mission. He managed this by killing seven of the designated targets. In pursuing his mission, Knyazev came to Gotham City and came into contact with the costumed crime fighter, the Batman.

Louise Lincoln A.K.A. Killer Frost

Killer Frost is the identity of a criminally insane supervillainess from DC Comics, who (as her name implies) has control over the cold - she is a mass murderer and very dangerous (even by supervillain standards): as well as appearing in comic books she has been involved in the DC animated universe and video-games such as Justice League Heroes.

Crystal Frost was the first, Louise Lincoln (voiced throughout the DC animated universe and other projects by Jennifer Hale) was the second, and Caitlin Snow was the third.

Crystal Frost first appeared in Firestorm #3 (June 1978). While Crystal Frost was studying to be a scientist in Hudson University, she fell in love with her teacher, Martin Stein. While working on a project in the Arctic, Frost was upset to learn that Stein did not reciprocate her feelings. Frost accidentally locked herself in a thermafrost chamber, but somehow survived. She was transformed in a way that she was able to absorb heat from a living being and project cold and ice. Calling herself Killer Frost, she began her murderous crusade against men and clashed with Firestorm on many occasions. Frost eventually died after she absorbed too much energy from Firestorm.

Crystal has been identified as one of the deceased entombed below the Hall of Justice. Her body was reanimated as a Black Lantern.

Dr. Louise Lincoln first appeared in Firestorm (Volume 2) # 21 (1984). She was a colleague and friend to Crystal Frost. After her friend died, she decided to repeat the experiment as a last respect to her former mentor, and became the new Killer Frost. She became just as ruthless as her predecessor and began her own personal vendetta against Firestorm, who she blamed for Frost's death. She briefly served as a member of the Suicide Squad and sold her soul to Neron for more power.

During the Underworld Unleashed event, Killer Frost attacked Hawaii, freezing part of the islands before being stopped by Superboy and Knockout.

Killer Frost was later freed by Effigy and the two had a brief flirtatious partnership before she was apprehended by Green Lantern.

Killer Frost was one of many mega-villains seeking to earn a $1 billion reward offered by President Lex Luthor to sanction Superman and Batman, whom he considered treasonous. She teamed with Mister Freeze, Icicle, and Captain Cold in an attempt to ambush the two heroes, but all four were defeated. It was later discover that this ice-themed team of villains was being mind controlled by Gorilla Grodd.

Doctor Light (Arthur Light) hired Killer Frost and Mirror Master to attack Green Arrow and Black Lightning at a hospital in Chicago, Illinois where Kimiyo Hoshi was being held. Green Arrow stopped Killer Frost by firing an arrow filled with Greek fire into her thigh. Unable to absorb the heat from the arrow, she was soundly defeated by Green Arrow.

Killer Frost was later seen in the Justice League of America Wedding Special, battling the new Firestorm, until Lex Luthor, Joker and Cheetah arrived, subdued Firestorm, and invited her to join the new Injustice League.

Stacy Macklin A.K.A. Lady Lunar

Lady Lunar aka Stacy Macklin was an astronaut who trained with Wonder Woman. She was later exposed to lunar energies that gave her powers. Using these powers she became a criminal and fought Batman and Superman. After she was defeated she lost her powers and returned to normal. However she later returned with her powers back and joined the Secret Society of Super Villains.

Leslie Willis A.K.A. Livewire

Livewire (real name: Leslie Willis) is an electrokinetic supervillain and she is an enemy of Superman.

Leslie Willis was a popular WLXL shock jock who ridiculing and insulting people around Metropolis, mostly Superman. People all over Metropolis listened to Leslie, even Superman, who is completed annoyed by her venomous words. Lex Luthor, in particular, enjoyed her radio show.

Leslie was interviewed by Lois Lane and Clark Kent about her views on Superman. Leslie explains 3 main reasons why she hates Superman: the first one is that Superman is never around when anyone needs him, the second one is that everyone is so easy for him to interfere, and the third one is that he cares about himself. These claims were disproven, when Kent secretly left the interview after hearing of a large crane falling from the top of a building, endangering a worker as well as a woman and her child; and despite his difficulty to stop the crane from falling, he manages to save the worker, the woman, and her child from being crushed. Following the end of the interview, Leslie announces the upcoming party in Centennial Park to celebrate the third anniversary of her show.

During the party, there was a thunderstorm, and Leslie's producer tried to convince her to close the party because of the arriving police's concerns for the risks of the concert during a thunderstorm and the crowd's safety. Leslie refuses to take note of her producer's warning and went so far as to incite the crowd against the police. The chaos continued until Superman arrived. But Superman couldn't convince her to stop the party. In fact, she took Superman's appearance as an opportunity to ridicule him in public. Then, suddenly, while verbally attacking Superman, a bolt of lightning simultaneously struck the stage, forcing everyone to evade from the bolts. Leslie, on the other hand, sees this amusing, forcing Superman to push her out of the way before being shocked by the electrical currents. Upon witnessing this, Leslie tries to escape, but she steps on a wire and gets shocked as well before falling unconscious.

Upon regaining his strength, Superman takes Leslie to Metropolis Hospital, where she recovered and quickly learned that not only had her hair and skin changed color. She blamed Superman for her transformation, refusing to take the fact that she should've shut down the concert that caused it in the first place. She later finds out that she has the power to generate and manipulate electricity. Delighted, Leslie escapes from the hospital via electrical current, and the former radio personality renamed herself "Livewire" and started her life as a criminal.

Sometime later, when she was being transported through Gotham City, Livewire escaped again and escaped into the Gotham underworld. There, she met Harley Quinn and Poison Ivy.

Ma'alefa'ak

Ma'alefa'ak is the evil twin brother of Martian Manhunter and an enemy of the Justice League and an archenemy of his brother in the DC franchise.

When Ma'alefa'ak mind-raped J'onn J'onzz's wife, M'yri'ah, Ma'alefa'ak was stripped of his telepathic powers and his weakness to fire and his memories of this where erased, Ma'alefa'ak thought that he was the only Martian born without telepathy or a weakness to fire. Because of this, he felt ostracized. Because of this, he created a plague called "H'ronmeer's Curse". Everytime a Martian used their telepathic powers, they would succumb to the plague and burn to death. When this happened, J'onn J'onzz was teleported away against his will to survive. Ma'alefa'ak learned only years later that his brother went to Earth, so he followed him. He's been plotting to defeat his brother and the Justice League since. Ma'alefa'ak encountered his brother more than once.

But, in one of the times Ma'alefa'ak faced off Martian Manhuter, The Manhunter was able to finally silence Ma'alefa'ak by undoing the telepathic block that stripped Ma'alefa'ak of his telepathy. Unfortunately, this also restored his weakness to fire. Because of him not knowing how to activate telepathic barriers to protect him from fire. Ma'alefa'ak was consumed by the sun when Martian Manhunter threw him into a vessel too close to the sun.

Ma'alefa'ak was brought back when the DC Universe was rebooted with the New 52. In the rebooted universe, Ma'alefa'ak and other Earth-born Martian survivors that survived the near extinction of their race, built a giant weapon so they and infiltrate and enslave the Earth.

Paul Booker A.K.A. Major Disaster

Major Disaster is a former supervillain from DC Comics, who ended up becoming a reluctant anti-hero. He debuted in Green Lantern (volume 2) #43.

Paul Booker was Green Lantern's former friend and confidant. Accidentally activating a hidden control panel, he discovered Kalmaku's casebook on Green Lantern. Using this, he found the secret identities of both Green Lantern and the Flash.

Armed with his new powers, he set out to kill the crime fighters, but was defeated and was thought to have died in the ensuing explosion. However, the Injustice League were given a chance by Maxwell Lord, the then-chief of the JLI. They somehow managed to stop a terrorist attack and were subsequently sent to the South Pole to form the Justice League Antarctica, along with other nuisances G'nort and the Scarlet Skier. The team was short lived as Disaster destroyed their embassy whilst defeating a waddle of killer penguins. The team, though lacking an embassy, stayed together, acting as bodyguards for Maxwell Lord when he was in a gunshot-induced coma. They also joined the American and European Leagues, the team called the Conglomerate, and the intergalactic bounty hunter Lobo in pitched battle against Despero. Major Disaster, in an effort to stop Despero, turned

The team then received an offer from the government to work on their Suicide Squad. Major Disaster agreed, even "volunteering" Multi-Man against his will. They were sent to a small island off the coast of Iceland, to deal with a terrorist situation and an out-of-control genetic experiment. Lifeless, explosive genetic constructs who looked like kids killed Big Sir. The rest of the 'children' were shrunk by Multi-Man, who had that power in his current incarnation. Multi-Man was shot through the head soon after, but in the past he has come back from worse. Unfortunately, Clock King, who had no such powers, was shot repeatedly. In the resulting chaos, Major Disaster perceived that Cluemaster saved his life at least twice, before also being shot dead. Cluemaster survived his injuries, but with multiple scars.

Disaster stayed with the Squad until Superman gave him a chance to prove his heroic worth in defeating a number of Superman's foes.

Booker answered a general call for superheroes by Oracle. Dozens gathered, all to stop the Secret Society of Super Villains from attacking Metropolis. The confrontation, known as the Battle of Metropolis, led to many fatalities on both sides. A character that resembles Major Disaster perished; in an interview DC editor-in-chief Dan DiDio named the character killed as Boss Moxie. Booker, however, has not subsequently appeared since Infinite Crisis #7. However, an artist's rendering of a Black Lantern Major Disaster appeared in the Blackest Night: Director's Cut one-shot.

Arthur King A.K.A. Merlyn the Archer

Malcolm Merlyn, also known as Arthur King, the Dark Archer and simply as Merlyn, is a professional assassin that's an enemy of the DC superheroes, the Green Arrow, and Booster Gold. He was a former member of the 1000, but currently a member of the League of Assassins. He is the archenemy of Green Arrow.

Arthur King was a professional Archer. Oliver Queen was inspired to take up archery all because of the skilled archer, Merlyn "the Magician." Once Green Arrow was famous, Merlyn challenged the Green Arrow to a public archery contest. Merlyn manage to defeat the Green Arrow, and disappeared with the victory under his belt. Merlyn later reappeared and became a member of the League of Assassins, and a former member of the 1000.

John Corben A.K.A. Metallo

John Corben (also known as Metallo) is a recurring antagonist in the DC Animated Universe, appearing as a major antagonist in Superman: The Animated Series and a minor antagonist in both Justice League and Justice League Unlimited. He was a an infamous mercenary and hit man who would later become the cyborg Metallo after he was unknowingly infected with a rare disease by Lex Luthor's scientists.

John Corben was originally a top-tier mercenary. At one time, he led a team of mercenaries to steal the Lexo-Skel Suit 5000 from LexCorp, a theft staged by Lex Luthor for the benefit of the Regent of Kaznia. When Lois Lane tracked the thieves to their ship in Metropolis Harbor, Corben caught her and prepared to kill her, but Superman intervened. To give himself a fighting chance, Corben mounted the Lexo-Skel himself and engaged Superman in a fight that raged across Metropolis, ending when Superman tore the suit apart. Although Luthor represented to the Regent's lawyer that he had fulfilled his part of the bargain by letting "the Regent's men" take possession of the suit, Luthor subsequently acted as though Corben had been working for him.

Corben was sent to Stryker's Island Prison, where he refused to give details on his employers. For this reason, his cell featured ample creature comforts and gourmet meals, supplied by an apparently-grateful Luthor. A few months after his imprisonment, he was shocked to be told that he was suffering from a rare and terminal viral disease found only in a small island in the South Seas. While looking at his prison record, Clark Kent was perplexed at how John Corben could have contracted this disease, not being native to the tiny island where the only cases are known. Lois Lane chalked it up to the fact that Corben was an international mercenary with outstanding warrants in several nations, thus it made better sense that with such globe-trotting Corben would be more at risk for exposure to rare diseases.

Luthor helped Corben escape, and in exchange for his discretion, offered him a way to avoid death: LexCorp scientists would transfer his mind into an indestructible android body made of metallo, possessing strength equal to Superman's and powered by a Kryptonite heart. Feeling he had nothing to lose, Corben agreed. Upon the completion, Corben's android body was covered with a layer of artificial skin, which, aside from a rectangular seam which could expose his Kryptonite heart, allowed him to pass himself off as his original body. At first, Corben was thrilled with his new abilities, which allowed him to fight Superman nearly to the death. However, when he realized that he could no longer smell, eat or feel, he became disenchanted and abandoned the fight. Corben sought out LexCorp scientists, demanding that they make the "adjustments" they talked about when he awoke in his new body. However, the scientists confessed that they really meant Corben himself had to adjust to his transformation, which was irreversible. Upon hearing this news, Corben went insane, ripping away part of his artificial skin and officially adopting the identity "Metallo". Metallo angrily confronted Luthor on his yacht, who tried to reassure him that his condition could be fixed, given time. He went on saying that even if Metallo kills him, it would not satisfy him given his "practically immortal" nature, making him reconsider killing Luthor. Luthor then drives his yacht to a lab to repair Metallo's skin. On the way, Luthor tells him that while he'll repair Metallo's skin, he still needs to kill Superman to which the cyborg advises his boss to be patient as they both need to be given time. Just then, Superman arrived and revealed that Luthor had deliberately arranged for Corben to be infected with the disease, just so Luthor could use him as a guinea pig for the Metallo experiment. Metallo turned on Luthor, but Superman intervened. Luthor's yacht was destroyed in the battle, leaving Metallo stranded beneath the sea, but still alive.

Metallo resurfaced from the ocean on a volcanic island, having suffered amnesia after the explosion. His clothes and artificial skin had been completely disintegrated following the last battle, leaving him as nothing but a skeletal featureless android. He was found by two children, Sarita and Bobby Felix, who decided he was a "hero" because of his resemblance to their action figures. This idea of him as a hero was reinforced when Metallo did indeed perform a heroic act by shielding the two children from dangerous pyroclastics when the volcano unexpectedly burst. However, everything came back to him eventually, faster after Bobby shared his Superman toy with him. When Superman appeared on the island, helping with the evacuation from a volcanic eruption, Metallo attacked and nearly killed him. When the kids protested the action of their hero, however, Metallo was distracted enough to allow Superman to throw his Kryptonite heart into the flowing lava. Metallo desperately went after it, but wound up encased in the cooled lava unable to move or even see. Instead, he focused his mind on his identity, determined not to lose it again.

Metallo was eventually extricated by Intergang, who repaired and even improved his android body, in exchange for which he assisted in a series of bank robberies. When Superman tried to stop him, he severely weakened the Man of Steel with Kryptonite lasers. John Henry Irons, a former employee of LexCorp, donned a suit of armor and helped Superman defeat Metallo. This was the beginning of Irons' own superhero career as Steel.

Metallo later enlisted Tina, an intern at The Daily Planet, to kidnap

Lois Lane in order to help him lure Superman into a trap. Fortunately, Jimmy Olsen learned of this and went to the Metropolis Junkyard to rescue him. Metallo and Superman battled again in a demolition machine, resulting in Metallo apparently being crushed by falling debris.

Sam Scudder A.K.A. Mirror Master

Mirror Master is a villain from The Flash comics and media.

Sam Scudder was already a criminal before he gained his powers. While serving time in prison for a burglary-homicide, he was working in a prison workshop, when he accidentally created a mirror that could hold an image for a certain amount of time. After this, he escaped from prison and created numerous mirror gadgets to help with his crime sprees. Calling himself the Mirror Master, Scudder terrorized Central City for years, either on his own, or as a member of the Rogues, only to be foiled by the Flash (who's civilian identity, Barry Allen, was ironically responsible his incarceration in the first place). Scudder was killed during the Crisis on Infinite Earths.

Nathaniel Tryon A.K.A. Neutron

Neutron is a supervillain with radioactive powers in the DC comics and an enemy of Superman.

His name was initially Nathaniel Tryon, who was a security guard at a nuclear power plant. He and two other thugs formed the TNT Trio and broke into the power plant. They were caught in a nuclear meltdown were Nathaniel would have to wear a containment suit for the rest of his life. He had managed to obtain superstrength and the ability to fire radioactive blasts. He used these powers to try and kill those he thought were responsible but was stopped by Superman. Abraxas Industries would later have him released as part of a work-release program, though it was actually a plot by Vandal Savage to kill Superman. Savage's scheme would be revealed, however, and Neutron would be returned to prison. He was later held at S.T.A.R. labs with the villainess Jinx. He and Jinx were freed by the Fearsome Five and joined the team, though Neutron quickly left the team. He eventually came to work for the villain Conduit and was sent with Warp and Plasmus to kill Jonathan and Martha Kent.

Superman managed to defeat the team, however. Neutron later joined the Secret Society of Supervillains. He was apparently killed when Lex Luthor used him as a power source for a teleporter and the device self-destructed.

Neutron appeared in Justice League Unlimited as a member of Grodd's Legion of Doom. He was killed during the mutiny along with the other villains that sided with Grodd. He also appeared in Smallville along with Parasite, Livewire, and Plastique. This team was searching for Doomsday and Neutron would be killed after letting him get away the first time.

Rudy Jones A.K.A. Parasite

The Rudy Jones version of Parasite appears in Justice League Action, voiced by Max Mittelman. This version sprouts tentacles from his torso in order to absorb the powers of anyone. He first appears in "Power Outage" when Superman is summoned to Stryker's Island where the unnamed prison warden tells Superman about Parasite building his energy up by absorbing the energy from the cockroaches. Superman was able to defeat Parasite with Wonder Woman's help. Afterwards, Parasite gets possessed by the Brothers Djinn member Calythos and plans to reduce Earth back to its pre-human state. Superman and Wonder Woman had a hard time fighting Calythos due to him using Parasite's ability. As Calythos starts to form a volcano off the coast of Metropolis, Superman and Wonder Woman trick him into absorbing Martian Manhunter's powers with the side effects having Calythos acquiring Martian Manhunter's fear of fire. Upon bailing from Parasite's body, Calythos is defeated and both villains are detained.

The character made his animated debut in Superman: The Animated Series, voiced by Brion James. In the episode "Feeding Time", Rudy Jones is a janitor at S.T.A.R. Labs who helps fence Martin Lebeau steal barrels of purple chemicals from the facility. The barrels ultimately spill their contents all over Rudy and transform him into the Parasite, who nearly kills Lebeau with his new energy-draining abilities until Superman intervenes. Parasite then drains a substantial amount of energy from Superman and discovers his secret identity. With the Man of Steel's powers, Parasite goes on a citywide rampage and traps Superman inside a boiler room at

S.T.A.R. Labs as a 'daily recharge' for his crime sprees. Superman manages to free himself and dons a titanium-lead alloy armor to engage Parasite, forcing the latter to grab a piece of Kryptonite (Superman's greatest weakness) and rendering him temporarily amnesiac. In "Two's a Crowd", Superman is forced to ask for Parasite's help in learning the location of an atomic bomb by absorbing the memories of former S.T.A.R. Labs scientist Earl Garver (voiced by Brian Cox), to which Parasite agrees in exchange for a television in his cell. However, Garver's mind unintentionally takes over Parasite during the absorption process and while Rudy fights to regain control of his body, Superman manages to destroy the bomb. As Garver is being incarcerated, Parasite is seen watching TV in his cell. In "Double Dose", Livewire breaks Parasite out of prison and forms an uneasy alliance with him to kill Superman. After defeating Superman, Parasite betrays Livewire and absorbs her powers as well. Superman then triggers the emergency sprinkler system which, reacting with Livewire's vulnerability to water, temporarily strips Parasite of his memories once more. Parasite is then arrested and returned to prison.

Edward Nygma A.K.A. The Riddler

The Riddler (Real Name Edward Nygma) is a recurring villain in the DC Animated Universe cartoons, most prominently in Batman: The Animated Series (the cartoon he debuted in). Like other iterations of the character, he is an egotistical supervillain obsessed with outsmarting his opponents and with leaving riddles at the scenes of his crimes to confound his victims.

Edward Nygma was originally a simple software engineer with a love of puzzles, games, and riddles. He worked initially for Competitron, and created the game "Riddle of the Minotaur". Although the game was hugely successful, and many of Competitron's people became wealthy as a result, the Corporate Chair Daniel Mockridge responded with ingratitude, firing Nygma and casually dismissing his efforts as "insignificant", instead arguing that the company's success was owing to its skill with business negotiations and obtaining favorable contracts (i.e., to himself). To rub salt in the wound, he also revealed that Nygma's contract stated that he was not entitled to any royalties or copyrights of the game.

In "If You're So Smart, Why Aren't You Rich?", outraged by his unfair treatment, Edward Nygma returns to Gotham City after two years as "The Riddler". He kidnaps Mockridge and planned to kill him, but also offers Batman the chance to save Mockridge provided he solved all of the challenges Riddler had laid out for him. The final challenge would be a run through the maze at the Riddle of the Minotaur amusement park, which was an actual simulation of the game Riddler had designed. Confident in his genius and assured of his victory, the Riddler was surprised when Batman successfully solved all of his riddles and outsmarted him. However, Riddler managed to escape Gotham City, also achieving his revenge on Mockridge in a manner more subtle than he had originally intended: Mockridge was traumatized by the whole near-death experience, seemingly scared of the Riddler's return for the rest of his life, yet it seems that the Riddler never returned to make him pay for his actions.

In "What Is Reality?", with Batman having figured out his identity, the Riddler takes extreme measures to protect himself; he goes on a campaign to eliminate all traces of his former self by breaking into banks and government buildings to destroy records bearing his name. He also sends a computer to the Gotham City Police Department with a virtual reality simulation that ends up trapping Commissioner Gordon. Batman enters the virtual reality world to rescue Gordon, and Riddler ends up destroying his dream world by focusing too hard on trying to kill Batman. Not only that, but the electronic backlash leaves his brain suspended, with Batman, Robin and Gordon finding his inert body at his hideout later in the abandoned Gotham's World Fair, helplessly leaving the Riddler behind with no way to know if he would ever recover.

In "Trial", having somehow recovered from his previous condition offscreen, the Riddler partakes in the trial of Batman held by various members of his Rogues Gallery, led by the Joker. He was not present for all of it though, meaning he might have taken the opportunity to escape in the chaos. In any case, he was most likely jailed again like all the other rogues after Batman and Janet Van Dorn manage to defeat the Joker and escape.

In "Riddler's Reform", the Riddler is revealed to have been released on the grounds that he'd been "reformed". Joining with Charles Baxter, one of Gotham's well-known toymakers, the Riddler invents several puzzles that quickly become popular with children, with Baxter having hired him in the first place because he wanted to use Nygma's Riddler persona to boost the company's profile. However, the Riddler secretly continues to commit daring robberies, leaving clues through his company advertisements. For his part, Batman is confident that Riddler will never be able to stay reformed and that he will inevitably return to crime. With this in mind, he confronts Riddler, and Riddler decides afterwards that, in order to truly have a fresh start, he needs to kill Batman. So to this end, he lures him into a booby-trapped warehouse and rigs the place to blow. However, Batman survives by simply concealing himself in a nearby safe, unknown to the Riddler, who was then arrested by the police after his crimes were exposed and returned to Arkham, ending his partnership with Baxter. With Batman refusing to tell Riddler how he survived, Riddler snaps completely and goes mad trying to fathom how Batman could have possibly outwitted him yet again, leaving his mental state worse than before.

Jonathan Crane A.K.A. Scarecrow

Dr. Jonathan Crane, or better known as The Scarecrow, is a supervillain from the Batman series. He has invented a panic-inducing chemical gas known as Fear Gas that makes people see their greatest fears. He does not commit any crimes for fun or for revenge, but as an experiment to further develop his Fear Gas.

He is a mentioned character in 1997 film Batman & Robin, he was planned to be appeared which the main antagonist in the 1999 cancelled film Batman Triumphant, he is the secondary antagonist of the reboot 2005 film Batman Begins, a minor antagonist in the 2008 film The Dark Knight, and a cameo character in 2012 film The Dark Knight Rises. Scarecrow also serves as a major antagonist in the Batman: Arkham games, serving as the main antagonist of Batman: Arkham Knight.

In his youth, Jonathan Crane grew up with his abusive grandmother, a religious fanatic who tortured Jonathan so badly that he developed a crippling fear of her. His life at school didn't fare much better either, because of bullies who constantly teased him for his lean appearance. Jonathan eventually had enough of his tormentors and used elements from Kung Fu to developed his own fighting style called "Violent Dancing" which takes advantage of his thin frame. He also managed to create a fear-inducing chemical compound which his grandmother used to frighten crows. One night, Jonathan dressed up as a scarecrow and frightened some of the bullies from his school. However, his new fear tactics worked too well and resulted in those people's deaths. Crane became intrigued by the power of fear and dedicated himself to learn more about it. He then returned home to murder his grandmother using the Fear Toxin he had previously made.

Years later, Jonathan Crane became a university professor who used unethical methods to teach his students. Crane was soon fired because of this and searched for work elsewhere after killing those responsible for costing him his teaching job. He then became the head psychiatrist at Arkham Asylum and began using the alias Scarecrow while experimenting on his patients. Although Batman eventually discovered Jonathan's crimes and had him incarcerated, he would continue to pose a threat to the Dark Knight as one of his most psychologically dangerous adversaries.

Richard Swift A.K.A. Shade

The Shade was a common thief who could manipulate the shadows with his cane. He fought both incarnations of the Flash, Jay Garrick and Barry Allen.

The Shade was later a member of an incarnation of the Wizard's Injustice Society, Injustice Unlimited. They overcame the security at the International Trade Conference in Calgary, Canada - namely Infinity, Inc. and a contingent of the Global Guardians - and forced the heroes to help in some mayhem. The Shade took Fury to Athens and, with her help, stole a piece of the Altar of Erebus from within the Hill of Ares (the Areopagus). After a brief brush with the Olympian the Shade and Fury returned to Calgary, the Shade to share in the stolen wealth being gathered by the Wizard. But the plan went haywire when Hourman revived and freed himself, as well as when Solomon Grundy was brought in from the Arctic Circle. It was the Green Flame who incapacitated the Shade, and after the confusion he was taken into custody by Canadian law enforcement.

Later the Shade literally kidnapped the city of Keystone City (including the Flash (Jay Garrick) and the city's entire population) into a parallel dimension where he kept his prisoners in suspended animation for nearly thirty years, before Garrick's successor Barry Allen rescued his namesake and the city from the Shade's clutches.

After the events of Zero Hour, the universe was substantially altered as a result of Hal Jordan's plan to recreate the universe. The Shade was one of the individuals most affected by Zero Hour, as the time and space warping nature of Jordan's scheme changed the Shade's personal timeline and indeed his very being. No longer a generic villain with a magical cane, The Shade was now the morally ambiguous English gentleman turned immortal named "Richard Swift". Shade's powers were retconned as being internal and not based from his cane. Able to tap into a horrific alternate dimension of shadows, which he could manipulate and shape into whatever form he wanted similar to. A man of wealth, Shade traveled within the literary circles of the Victorian Era England, befriending author Charles Dickens and Oscar Wilde.

As time passed, Swift began using aliases for himself such as "Mr. Black", and went by "Shade" to those he was on good terms with. He also developed enemies, such as the mysterious dwarf Simon Culp, who like Shade was immortal and had the same darkness energy powers as Shade. Other enemies included the murderously corrupt Ludlow family, who Shade had all but wiped out when the family manipulated Shade in order to murder him for sport, with the surviving generations of the family vowing revenge on the Shade.

The Shade kept a lengthy journal and eventually fell in love with United States east-coast city of Opal City. Setting up residence in Opal City, Shade befriended Opal City's sheriff, Brian Savage (the Scalphunter) and slowly amassed a small personal fortune, while also moonlighting as a hired killer.

The Shade fled back to England during the early days of World War II, to aide the Allies in fighting the Nazis. While on patrol with the British hero Captain X, Shade was ambushed by Culp when a bomb fell from a German fighter plane onto the two men. To survive, Culp was forced to seek shelter by literally merging with an unknowing Shade.

When the age of costumed heroes began and unknowingly influenced by the malevolent Culp, Swift decided to give himself the name "The Shade" (added a 'the' to his nickname) in 1942. Downplaying his formidable shadow powers, Shade committed crimes in various cities, most notably Keystone City, where he found himself a nemesis in the form of the Flash, Jay Garrick. The Shade would privately refer to his battles as "the joust", which he engaged in for the simple thrill of combat with another super-powered combatant.

Despite his turn to super-villainy though, Opal City remained untouched by Shade as the villain considered the city he lived in off-limits. Indeed, The Shade has been known to be protective of Opal City, to the point of using his powers to kill any criminals who attempt to commit crimes in the city. The Shade even would engage in the occasional super-hero battle, saving Howard Hughes from the villainous Johnny Sorrow. However, Culp slowly began to fight Shade to gain dominance of Shade's body, culminating in the Shade believing that Culp was alive and plotting against him and ultimately to him and Dr. Fate teaming up to find Culp, never knowing that the villain he was seeking was inside his stomach. Shade would later team up with the Mist to murder the retired super-hero Invisible Hood, though it is unknown if Culp was responsible for this act of murder.

Jack Knight became the new Starman after the death of his brother David and united with Shade to save Opal City from the Mist and his family's reign of terror that threatened to destroy the city Shade had made into his home. Having returned to the United States and effectively retired since the Injustice Unlimited fiasco, Shade took an interest in Jack Knight and offered to mentor the man who helped save Opal City from the Mist. Jack would be privy to the Shade's diaries, learning much of his life and new backstory as well as his opinions on the various men who used the Starman moniker. Though many in Opal were distrustful of the Shade, he slowly won the trust of many in the city though Culp, furious at how the Shade had rejected evil, finally assumed full control over Shade's body. Gathering an army of villains who Jack Knight had battled over the course of his heroic career, Culp (in Shade's body) cast a spell that allowed him to trap everyone inside Opal City using the shadow powers he possessed and began to destroy the entire city before Starman and the Shade (who ultimately expelled Culp from his body) opposed him. Ironically it would be the Shade's former ally the Mist who would kill Culp, as Mist sold his soul to Neron to restore his mind (nearly gone due to Alzheimer's Disease) in exchange for his killing the Shade. However, Ted Knight would sacrifice his life to save Shade and Opal City from Mist's final rampage.

The Shade learned about Prometheus' conspiracy in ordering a series of attacks on various superheros and informing this news to his old rival Jay Garrick. He then accompanies Garrick to the Justice League Watchtower to warn the other heroes, but arrived too late to find Prometheus already there. After Garrick was incapacitated by Prometheus, Shade was able to hold off the villain (as he is technically not a "hero", meaning Prometheus has no file on how to stop him), and ultimately ends up stopping Donna Troy from killing the supervillain after he has been beaten into submission. However, Shade later creates a portal that gives Green Arrow access to Prometheus' otherdimensional lair, where the archer kills Prometheus in revenge for Star City, the dismemberment of his former protege Red Arrow, and the death of Red Arrow's daughter.

During the Blackest Night, Shade was in a relationship with Hope O'Dare, and claims that he is in love with her.. After a night of sex, Shade and Hope are confronted by David Knight, reanimated as a Black Lantern. David rips out Shade's heart, but, due to his powers, he survives, unable to be killed and resisting the call of a black ring that seeks to turn him into another undead. After David threatened to kill Hope and later his brother Jack, an enraged Shade used his powers to trap the Black Lantern within the Shadowlands after decrying the Lantern as a mockery and a fake, saying he has "no light of his own", and uses his own heart as a channel to bind and banish him. Afterwards, Hope admits that she loves Shade as well, and the two lovers depart from the scene of the battle. Possible futures In one possible future, The Shade's became the protector of a utopian planet several thousand years into the future; in which he still enjoys telling tales of his past.

Siobhan McDougal A.K.A. Silver Banshee

Silver Banshee is a fictional comic book supervillainess appearing in books published by DC Comics, primarily as an opponent of both Superman and Supergirl.

Siobhan McDougal was the first-born child of Garrett McDougal, the patriarch of an old Gaelic clan that has occupied an island midway between Scotland and Ireland for a thousand generations. On that island is Castle Broen, where first-born McDougals undergo a ritual to prove themselves worthy to lead the clan. When Siobhan was young, she traveled the world, only returning to Castle Broen when she heard of her father's death. Her uncle Seamus determined that no woman would lead the clan and intended her brother Bevan to become the new patriarch. She went ahead with the family ritual by herself, which involved calling on supernatural forces for power. She was interrupted by Bevan, and the distraction proved disastrous as she was dragged away into an infernal netherworld. An entity called "the Crone" granted her powers and the ability to return to Earth as the Silver Banshee, but demanded payment in the form of an occult book that belonged to her father. She found that her father's book collection had been shipped off for sale in the United States. Her quest brought her to Metropolis. Killing anyone that stood in the way of her search attracted the attention of Superman, who was able to defeat her when he realised that she could only kill a person once as she turned away from someone who resembled a previous victim; by faking his death, Superman was able to enlist the Martian Manhunter to attack Banshee by posing as Superman's ghost. Unable to defeat Superman, she chose to retreat and continue her mission at a later date.

Silver Banshee returned to Metropolis twice more, but was halted both times by Superman. It was Batman who finally found the book among some stolen goods in Gotham City. Superman brought the book to Castle Broen where he was confronted by Silver Banshee. The Crone appeared at the castle, and after an enigmatic warning to Superman, she dragged the Banshee, Bevan, and Seamus off to her Netherworld.

In Leesburg, Supergirl rescued Silver Banshee from Satanus' Netherworld when the chaos flow brought the river Styx to the town. Silver Banshee was left in a confused state, eventually going back to her psychotic persona and using Supergirl's friend Mattie as a host while rampaging on the streets. Mattie and Silver Banshee thus proceeded to nearby Schnaffenburg where Mattie tried to get revenge on Gerald McFee, who killed her brother during Final Night while in thrall to Gorilla Grodd. Supergirl calmed Silver Banshee, separating Mattie from her, which led to Silver Banshee temporarily vanishing.

Silver Banshee was one of the final four villains- along with Bizarro, Mongul, and the Master Jailer- sent against Superman by Manchester Black, Black using his powers to make Banshee and Bizarro sane enough to tactically outthink Superman, also granting Banshee awareness of his Kryptonian name so that she could use her magic against him more effectively. Despite this, Superman was able to defeat the four, forcing Mongul to expend his energy before dropping a nuclear-powered superhuman onto the deserted island that they were currently inhabiting.

Silver Banshee attempted to collect the billion dollar bounty President Luthor placed on Superman's head in Superman/Batman #3, but failed, with Batman using an ultrasonic generator to keep her nullified.

Silver Banshee later joined the Secret Society headed by Alexander Luthor. She was one of the members who turned on Black Adam when Luthor needed him for his machine. She also took part in the Battle of Metropolis.

Silver Banshee battles Supergirl in Supergirl #34, and is expected to be a recurring nemesis for Supergirl, as well as Superman, as part of an attempt to tie Supergirl's book in with Superman's titles.

In Superman #682, Supergirl was used as a diversion as some members of Kandor captured Silver Banshee, placing her in the Phantom Zone. Later, Superman freed Silver Banshee to be taken to Belle Reve.

Inspector Henderson with other police officers break into an apartment, but it explodes and then they find a corpse covered in runes. Kara meets with Inspector Henderson, who's following a case his old mentor was never able to close, and thinks it has to do with items Silver Banshee needs to lift her curse. Inspector Henderson finds his mentor had the item, but it imbeds itself in Inspector Henderson's hand, allowing Silver Banshee to track him. Silver Banshee shows up and fights Supergirl, but Supergirl opens a package from Henderson and becomes possessed by a Banshee hybrid. Banshee-Supergirl and the Silver Banshee battle each other as events are recapped. Supergirl tells Silver Banshee they hid the artifacts in people, in order to keep them hidden from her. Apparently all the items were hidden not as a curse, but as a test for prospective clan leaders. Henderson punches Banshee-Supergirl, which is effective because of the artifact in his hand. Supergirl tries to exorcise the spirits possessing her but fails. Henderson realizes the spirits are tied to the artifacts and can be used against them. He then stabs his hand and breaking Supergirl free from her spirits. Silver Banshee then uses her wails to disperse the spirits. She finally uses magic to remove the artifacts from Henderson's hand and lets him know she is indebted to him.

Thaal Sinestro A.K.A. Sinestro

Thaal Sinestro, or simply Sinestro, is a minor antagonist in the DC Animated Universe. Much like his comic counterpart, he is a former Green Lantern Corps who is bent on destroying them and the Justice League.

In the episode Brightest Day, after Superman discovers Abin Sir, who tells him to protect the Green Lantern before succumbing to his injuries, Sinestro pops onto the scene. After using his ring to search the the pod for traces of the Green ring, Sinestro assumes Superman took it and begins attacking and overpowering him. However, Sinestro soon realizes that Superman truly doesn't have the ring and crushes him with a giant hammer before flying off, unknown to him, Superman survives the attack and ends up finding Abin Sur's Lantern and teleports himself to Oa.

Meanwhile Sinestro finally locates Kyle Rayner, the new owner of Abin Sur's ring, and starts attacking him, demanding him to hand over the ring. However, Kyle states that he and the ring "have become attached" and then confuses him by entrapping him inside a construct of bubblegum like matter. Sinestro and Kyle continue fighting through Metropolis until Sinestro manages to grab Kyle using a giant hand construct and begins to crush him. Kyle then creates a boot construct and kicks Sinestro in the face before getting hit back and discovering that he can use the ring to pass through walls before continuing to battle him.

On Oa, the Guardian of the Universe explain to Superman that Sinestro was once one of the Green Lanterns until he stopped using his ring responsibly and they deemed him unfit to wield it. Sinestro would then discover a new kind of Ring and started killing other Green Lanterns, gaining more power from every ring he destroyed. Back on Earth, Sinestro prepares to kill Kyle Rayner after his ring runs out of power, however, Superman returns just in time and saves Rayner from Sinestro's attack.

Later on, Sinestro manages to catch up to Superman and Kyle Rayner and Superman goes off and fights Sinestro so Kyle can charge his Ring, however, he ends up trapped in a large drill construct and ends up burrowing into the ground. Kyle, after fully charging the Ring, then throws a mountaintop at Sinestro, crushing him, although he survives and continues to fight Rayner. Sinestro then throws Kyle into a plane in a Ferris Aircrafts field and finally surrenders his ring to Sinestro, however, just as he puts it on, the ring explodes, revealing that the ring had just been a construct. As he is off his footing, Kyle begins to beat down on Sinestro, finally defeating him by throwing him into a giant Lantern construct, electrocuting him unconscious. With Sinestro defeated, Superman manages to break free from his construct and crushes his Ring. Sinestro is then presumably arrested by the Corps for his crimes against the Universe.

Years later, Sinestro somehow escaped from the Green Lantern Corps' custody and created a new Yellow Ring. Sometime before the episode, Sinestro was contacted by Gorilla Grodd and his henchwoman Giganta and joined his Secret Society in hopes of killing the Justice League's resident Green Lantern: John Stewart.

In Secret Society, starting off the first phase of Grodd's plan, Sinestro and the rest of the Society attack Morgan Edge's mansion, kill him and free Clayface from his imprisonment there and Grodd getting him to join his side by tempting him with the possibility of becoming human again. Later, Sinestro and the Society accompany Clayface to a chemical factory to help him fight off Batman, knowing he would try to apprehend him, with Sinestro blasting and destroying the electrified Batarang Batman used against Clayface. However, Batman had also brought the Justice League with him and the two teams begin to fight each other, with Sinestro taking on John Stewart. Unfortunately, due to the League's growing teamwork issues amplified by Grodd's psychic suggestions, they are easily beaten by the Society, although Grodd chooses to retreat instead of finishing them off and the League ends up disbanding.

In Part 2, after Flash heads to the North Hill Subway Station in hopes of finding Shade, he ends up in a trap laid by the Society and ends up fighting Sinestro, however, Flash ends up defeating Sinestro due to the fact that, while Sinestro's constructs can move at light-speed, he can't think that fast. Later, after Flash had been defeated by the other Society members and impersonated by Clayface, Sinestro tries to defeat Batman after he easily recognizes Clayface's disguise, but is instead taken out by a Batarang before he could attack.

Later, after the Society had captured all of the ex Justice League members and hijacked a football game to announce their victory to the world, Sinestro and the other Society members were shocked after realizing that Martian Manhunter had actually disguised himself as Clayface and that the real Clayface had been accidentally frozen by Killer Frost. After Martian Manhunter freed the Justice League, the Society and League began to fight each other again, with Sinestro yet again taking on John Stewart. However, the League, being far more organized that before, managed to defeat the villains and imprison them.

Prior to appearing in the series, Sinestro, after stealing his Lantern, changed his appearance to that of John Stewart in an effort to ruin his reputation. Sinestro, as Stewart, then went on a crime spree across the world, putting both the Justice League and the Green Lantern Core against the real Stewart and forcing him to go into hiding while Sinestro continued to ruin his life.

In the episode Fallen Hero, Sinestro, as Stewart, barrels through the security force of a bank and steals millions of dollars in gold bars. The next day, Virgil Hawkins (Static's civilian identity) reads about Green Lantern's attack on the vault in the paper and immediately dismisses it as false, but he is soon proved wrong when he and his friend/partner Gear later encounter Green Lantern robbing a truck full of microchips. Static tries to talk his hero out of committing crimes, but Stewart tells Static that he became tired with having power and nothing to show for it and starts attacking him with the microchips by giving them a charge opposite to his. Gear tries to help Static, but is overpowered by a blast from Green Lantern and Static retaliates by blasting at Stewart with electrical energy, but his blast fails to penetrate Green Lantern's shield and he is soundly defeated.

As Green Lantern flies off and gloats about his victory, the real John Stewart hits him and knocks him down into a junkyard. The two begin to fight and Green Lantern taunts Stewart by telling him that he doesn't want to use up the energy his Ring has and invites an attempt to blast him with energy. Stewart misses the shot and Green Lantern begins to laugh at him, only for the energy to come back around and strike him in the back. Stewart then pins Green Lantern down and he reverts back into Sinestro, however, before John can defeat him, his ring runs out of power and Sinestro pins him under a steel gate. Sinestro then explains that he doesn't want to kill Stewart but instead wants him to be arrested by the Core for all the crimes that "he" committed before re-disguising himself as Stewart and flying off.

Green Lantern then encounters Static and Gear again and tries to destroy them, however, using their teamwork, they manage to keep him at bay. John Stewart, having managed to free himself, looks to join the fight to prove his innocence, and harnesses all the power left in his Ring and dons his costume. Upon seeing him, Sinestro slams Gear and Static into a building and makes Stewart follow him into an alley and then disappears, tricking Static and Gear into fighting Stewart. After his Ring runs out of power, Static electrocutes Stewart and he is arrested while Sinestro gleefully watches.

During John Stewart's prison transport, Sinestro arrives to taunt him and collect his Power Ring, however, he quickly realizes that he doesn't have it and instead opts to look for it himself. When asked by Stewart why he wants the ring, Sinestro states that the ring will make a nice keepsake, revealing a necklace of Power Rings he had stole from other Lanterns, presumably after killing them.

After discovering Stewart's Ring in his coat pocket, Static goes to Stewart's cell and learns the truth; A few days ago, Stewart, with all the other Justice League members occupied, investigated a distress call sent to him by the pilot of a rocket that crashed on an asteroid. Recognizing the pilot as the only survivor of the crash and the distance from the asteroid to Earth, he took out his Lantern to charge his Ring, but it turned out that Sinestro actually disguised himself as the pilot and the whole crash was just a set-up so Sinestro could steal his Lantern. It is also established by Stewart that he had helped defeat Sinestro when he became power-hungry, which is why he hates him so much.

Static then tries to tell Gear the truth about Green Lantern, but when he arrives at his house, he discovers that he has been captured by Sinestro. Sinestro tells Static to give him the Ring, however, Static dupes him by giving him a plastic ring and the two begin to fight, although Sinestro easily wins. However, John Stewart arrives, due to Static having cleared his name, and he begins to fight Sinestro, revealing that Static had given his ring a new type of charge. After a short fight, John Stewart manages to beat Sinestro after his ring starts to lose power and Static uses his powers to charge John's Ring even more, allowing him to expose Sinestro to the public and reclaim his Lantern. Jon Stewart then takes off with Sinestro and presumably takes him to be arrested on Oa for his crimes.

Yet again, Sinestro manages to escape custody and is contacted by Gorilla Grodd and joins his new expanded Secret Society.

In the episode The Great Brain Robbery, Sinestro assists Tala, Doctor Polaris and Lex Luthor in robbing a train and, along with the others, turns on Lex when they realize that he had accidentally switched minds with The Flash.

In the season finale, when Grodd escaped his imprisonment and tried to take his position as leader back from Luthor, Sinestro, along with Giganta, Bizarro, Volcana, Star Sapphire, Toyman, Atomic Skull, Heat Wave, Cheetah, Killer Frost, Evil Star and Doctor Destiny took Luthor's side and fought Grodd and his faction. After Luthor killed Grodd and Killer Frost switched sides and froze her teammates, Sinestro and the rest of the survivors watched as Luthor used Tala as a conduit in hopes of reviving Brainiac, but he and the others were shocked to see Luthor accidentally revive Darkseid instead. As Darkseid destroyed the Hall of Doom, Star Sapphire and Sinestro cast a force-field around their teammates (save Doctor Destiny, Major Disaster and KGBeast who didn't make it in time) to protect their teammates from his blast and, after Evil Star stole the New God Lightray's Mother Box, they Boomtubed themselves to Earth and call a temporary truce with the Justice League in order to stop Darkseid's Invasion. Sinestro then heads to Tokyo and fights off hoards of Parademons. Sinestro is last seen participating in the five minute head-start the League gives them in exchange for helping them save the planet.

Carol Ferris A.K.A. Star Sapphire

Star Sapphire is an enemy turned ally of Green Lantern and an enemy turned ally of the Justice League. She also has powers similar to the Green Lantern. A woman was chosen to be Star Sapphire. The alias has been used by several women over the years, but is most often associated with Hal Jordan's own boss (and girlfriend) Carol Ferris, who is currently a heroic bearer of the title. Unlike Green Lanterns who are Lanterns of willpower she is one of the Lanterns of love. She served as a villain and enemy of Green Lantern until the Blackest Night and became a hero after the New 52 Reboot.

Tala

Tala is a villain from DC Comics. She is the archnemesis of the Stranger. She is a demoness and a mistress of Hell, and her motives reflect such origins, as she is known for either trying to doom mortals' souls to ruin or aiming to unleash apocalyptic evils upon the world. She has claimed to find the Stranger attractive and is thus interested in him, but the comics have never followed through on these hints, nor are these claims known to be true.

Tala was one of the key members of Project Cadmus. Her role in the government black ops group is never specifically detailed, although it would be best determined that she is responsible for mystical and magical projects such as attempting to reverse engineer the Annihilator, Hephaestus' living suit of armor made for Ares. While she is portrayed as a project leader, sitting at the conference table, she gets trapped in a mirror by the trickery of Felix Faust.

Tala reappears as a member of Grodd's Legion of Doom. She has taken over Giganta's position as Grodd's female companion and also serves as the legion's master of magic and mysticism.

As Lex Luthor took control of the Legion from Grodd, Tala quickly changed positions, swearing allegiance to Luthor and becoming his new groupie.

Tala gets fed up with Luthor, as he is consumed with the task of restoring Brainiac, so she goes to the imprisoned Grodd and helps him mount an insurrection on Luthor. Lex, however, defeats Grodd and, thanks to a very expensive magic amulet he purchased in case she attacked him with her magic, takes Tala prisoner. She tries to woo her way back into Luthor's good graces, but he reveals that he has other plans for her. Hooking her up to a machine, Lex uses Tala as a power conduit to restore Brainiac, but as a final mocking, Tala resurrects Darkseid instead.

Winslow Schott A.K.A. Toyman

Winslow Percival Schott, alias Toyman was born in Britain. The child genius invented his first toy at a young age, a toy airplane painted red and blue. Another boy, out of jealousy of Winslow's fantastic home-made toys, stole his airplane. This act had a profound affect on Schott. When he grew up, Winslow created some of the most amazing toys ever conceived, which earned him world acclaim. However, LexCorp's acquisition of Schotts toy company left him jobless, and he was embittered by the company's use of his toys for military purposes. He became the supervillain Toyman, seeking revenge on Lex Luthor. After several attempts to assassinate Luthor and fights with Superman, he was arrested. Toyman was later sprung from prison and used by Intergang to help them build some deadly traps at their lair.

Claire Selton A.K.A. Volcana

Claire Selton, mostly known as Volcana is a recurring supervillainess in the DC franchise. She was voiced by Peri Gilpin in the DCAU continuity.

Claire Selton developed pyrokinetic abilities at young age. She was sent to the Center of Paranormal Studies by her parents to control her power. Government agents planned to use Claire as a living weapon. She escaped custody and survived by stealing, capturing Superman's attention. Superman relocated Volcana to a deserted island to change her ways.

Volcana later left the island and returned to Metropolis where she briefly fought Supergirl.

Volcana teamed up with Firefly to break out of Stryker's prison but they were defeated by Batman and Green Lantern. She was recruited by Gorilla Grodd to join the Legion of Doom.

Mark Mardon A.K.A. Weather Wizard

The Weather Wizard was already a violent criminal before he gained his powers. He had escaped prison and made it to his brother's house, where he discovered that his brother had created a bizarre wand that could control the weather. He wanted this wand so badly, he killed his brother to obtain it.

Weather Wizard first appears in the show Superman the Animated Series in the episode "Speed Demons" where it is revealed that he used to be an extortionist in Keystone City. While Superman and Flash help a race against each other he plotted to create a storm big enough to destroy the city along with the heroes. However with the help of his brother Ben, Flash and Superman are able to find and beat him.

He returns in the show Justice League in the episode "Hereafter" as a member of the Superman Revenge Squad. He helped them by creating storms for cover. Although they were able to teleport Superman away they all were beat and captured.

Later in the show Justice League Unlimited a wax statue of him appears in a Flash museum in the episode "Flash and Substance". Also in the episode he is shown in a bar where Flash villains hang out. He later joined the Legion of Doom and during the mutiny he sided against Lex Luthor and is killed when he is frozen by Killer Frost. In all three of these shows he is voiced by Corey Burton.

In the show Batman the Brave and the Bold in the episode "Night of Huntress" he receives a tip from Calculator that Flash will be out if town and that he can commit crimes freely. In the episode "Requiem of the Scarlet Speedster" he appears helping his fellow Flash rouges. In the episode "Powerless" Captain Atom uses him as an example of villains that can easily beat Batman. He later returns in the episode "Triumvirate of Terror" as a member of the Legion of Doom. In this show he is voiced by Atkin Downes.

In the The Flash TV show of 2014, his brother Clyde Mardon is first seen in the pilot. He is first seen at a barn, shooting at policemen. He then boards a plane, which explodes due to the particle explosion. He is then seen robbing a bank with his new found power to create and control clouds. He is then seen driving a car, which Barry Allen catches up to with his superspeed. The car crashes and Clyde escapes by creating a giant cloud. He is finally seen cornered by Joe West and Eddie Thawne in the barn. He blasts then away, then creates a tornado headed for Central City. The Flash stops the tornado and Joe West shoots Clyde, killing him.

Mark Mardon finally appears in Out of Time. He attacks someone by shooting them with giant balls of hail. The person tells Mark that Joe West killed his brother. He is later seen when Barry is driving with Joe. Mark tries to kill them, but ends up only destroying the car. He is later seen at the police station trying to kill Joe, but The Flash runs in and grabs an item called the Wizard's Wand, which disables his power. Mark escapes. He is seen for the last time in Out of Time capturing Joe and destroying the city with a tsunami. However, this doesn't happen because The Flash messes with the timeline and imprisons Mark.

Later versions of him imply that he has some degree of schizophrenia. Another voice is constantly in his head urging him on in his schemes which he refers to as his 'Mother'.

Me: And there you have it.

Piper: Wow! That's a lot of villains you all faced.

Zarya: No kidding.

Qin: I was shocked myself when I found out about them.

Lincoln: But it was interesting facing them.

Volcana: It sure was Lincoln. But thank goodness we don't have to face our former teammates anymore.

Star Sapphire: Yeah.

Sinestro: Even though the Legion of Doom is disbanded, we will still be able to fight them from time to time.

Me: That's true.

Emerald: Who was the worst member of the Legion Of Doom that you all faced?

Me: That is an easy one.

Everyone: The Joker.

Zarya: He sounded really bad from the looks of it.

Me: Really Bad is an understatement Zarya. The Joker was beyond a shadow of a doubt of the most evil villain that Batman has ever faced. So many people have suffered and died all because of him. And that's just in Gotham.

Nico: Yep. I have always hated the Joker and he was the ultimate personification of pure evil and maniacal insanity all rolled together.

May: Yeah.

Cody: And I'm glad we killed the Joker. I delivered the fatal shot that killed him.

Lincoln: He sure did.

Me: And now we never have to see his ugly fucked up clown face again. No offense Luan.

Luan: None taken J.D.

Nico: It's funny. When we first found out about this base, I was excited to kick Grodd's ass before planning to destroy it.

G1 Searchlight: What about now?

Nico: Now, I feel that destroying this base just isn't worth it anymore.

Me: I know. But the Battle with Thanos changed that.

Lincoln: But the Masters of Evil rose up and took their place.

Me: They sure did.

Triggerhappy: So, Arkanya. How are you and the rest of the Mysticons adjusting to life on Earth?

Arkayna: It's really amazing. It's so cool learning so much about Earth and everything that goes on here.

Me: Earth is an amazing planet. Loads of neat places and so much to see and do.

We gathered papers and records from the base and went back home.

Back at the estate some of us were watching TV. We saw the girls heading out.

Varie: We're heading on a girls night out to show the Mysticons around the city.

Me: Okay. Have fun girls.

Zarya: We will J.D.

Lola: We'll be back shortly.

The girls all left.

Nico: You know J.D. that if you break Zarya's heart, Arkayna is gonna kick your ass.

Me: I know man. But I'm a man of my word.

Nico: Good.

---

In the City of Gotham Royal York, the girls were having a lot of fun. They went to the mall, the park, and all kinds of awesome places.

Later at an awesome restaurant, the girls were having a nice lunch.

Arkayna: Boy this all looks delicious.

Varie: The food here is great.

Zarya: So, what's the deal with that Jack Spicer lookalike? The one who said he was gonna kick our asses.

Donna Diego: We'll gladly tell you about him.

Scream: In fact, we'll tell you about him, Zs'Skayr, Waffle Woman, Vanitas, Number 7, and Vypra.

Lana: Don't forget Professor Calamitous and Lord Drakkon.

Scream: Right they just joined the Masters of Evil.

Piper: Who are the Masters of Evil?

Varie: They are our new archnemesises after the Legion Of Doom was disbanded. After the devastating battle with Thanos the Mad Titan, the Legion of Doom disbanded and the Masters of Evil filled in for them. They are now our newest enemies that we face on a daily basis.

Laney: Dark Spicer is really the dark side of Jack Spicer.

Kimiko: He was one of our most dangerous enemies when we were fighting him for the Shen Gong Wu.

Kimiko went over his history.

Jack Spicer is a self-proclaimed "Evil Boy Genius" and one of the main antagonists in Xiaolin Showdown.

Jack is constantly building different types of robots, the most common of which is the Jack-Bot. His first appearance was in "The Journey of a Thousand Miles" where he met the Heylin witch Wuya and learned of the mystical Shen Gong Wu. He says that he has wanted to rule the world since second grade. As mentioned above, Jack is an experienced robotic engineer, and he is not above sobbing in public or screaming in terror. Jack also gets minor nose bleeds when exposed to great heights rapidly.

Jack lives in his parents' basement, which he uses as his secret lab. His parents are never seen, nor were they mentioned that much in the series. However, it has been shown that his parents (or his father at least) appear to be involved in some high position or profession, as they appear to be relatively wealthy. He also has a blond cousin Megan, who is much younger than he and is aligned with the Xiaolin.

Starting with the second season, Jack becomes more of a scared, whiny fanboy than he was in the first season where he acts more as a psychotic villain beginner and was much calmer.

Examples of Jack's "evil heroes" are Chase Young and Hannibal Roy Bean. He looks up to those evil heroes and tries to form partnerships with them, usually ending up with him getting hurt.

At times, he has gone into the Ying-Yang World, losing his evil side and coming out as a "good Jack," who is quirky, spunky, dramatic, and what can only be described as the ultimate good. After this happened in "Saving Omi," Good Jack went back into the Ying-Yang World. He then used the Ring of the Nine Dragons to duplicate himself, and only one of these clones left. Because this clone only used the Yang Yo-Yo to leave, he regained his evil chi, essentially going back to normal Jack. Good Jack appeared again in the episode "The Life and Times of Hannibal Roy Bean" when regular Jack found the prison that held Hannibal Roy Bean. Hannibal tricked not Jack, but the monks, into letting him out by using the Moby Morpher to turn into Jack. Hannibal (still in disguise) wasn't found out until the monks ran into regular Jack as well as Good Jack. In order to identify the fake, they used the Ring of the Nine Dragons to reunite the two correct Jacks.

Later in the episode "Hannibal's Revenge" Kimiko disguises herself into looking like Jack in order to win a showdown. In the last episode Jack is left with his favorite Shen Gong Wu, the Monkey Staff.

Zarya: Wow! I had no idea that he was that dangerous before he separated.

Lana: I know.

Teen Titans Bumblebee: You know the funny part? When J.D. was about to go to jail for a crime that he didn't commit, it was Dark Spicer who proved his innocence.

Zarya: It's good he did. I would've kicked this Morton and Rotwood's sorry butts into Hell!

They laughed.

Varie: We all would.

Celica: Yeah.

Riley: He also has this evil version of the Omnitrix on him called the Antitrix. What that does is it makes him into mutant versions of the aliens we use.

Emerald: Man!

Zarya: That is weird.

Kelsey Winslow: Next is Vypra. She was one of our most dangerous enemies.

Dana Mitchell: We faced her on a daily basis as the Lightspeed Rescue Power Rangers.

Dana Mitchell went over her history.

Vypra is the villainous vixen played the role of mother figure to young Impus with Queen Bansheera missing and is a supporting antagonist in Power Rangers Lightspeed Rescue. The second of the demons released from the tomb. Vypra battles the Rangers in her high speed dune buggy, the Vyprari. Vypra was killed by Queen Bansheera, who absorbed her energy to gain a bodily form.

She was later mysteriously resurrected, and plotted to rise a super-demon which would destroy the Rangers. Her mission took her to Silver Hills, where she faced the Time Force Power Rangers, as well as the reunited Lightspeed Rescue Rangers, who joined forces to destroy her.

Vypra was one of demon servants of Queen Bansheera, during her reign over the humans. After Queen Bansheera was destroyed and left Diabolico in charge, Vypra took of the role raising Queen Bansheera's son Prince Impus, whom she adored, until his mother returned. Vypra and the other were then eventually sealed away by a warlock, until they were freed by nomads wandering in the desert. After Vypra and the demons returned to their liar, the Skull Cavern, Loki explained to her and Diabolico that humans had built a city, Mariner Bay, on the grounds where their palace used to be. Determined to destroy Mariner Bay and rebuild Queen Bansheera's palace, Vypra along with Diabolico and Loki, sent demon monsters to destroy Mariner Bay, but the monsters were destroyed by the Lightspeed Rescue Rangers.

Emerald: Whoa! That is insane!

Qin: Yeah. Vypra is that dangerous.

Luan: But she is a formable swordmistress.

Gwen Tennyson: Next is Zs'Skayr. He was originally one of Ben's aliens that was in the Omnitrix. He was an Ectonurite called Ghostfreak until he went rogue.

Gwen Tennyson went over Zs'Skayr's history.

Zs'Skayr (pronounced Zuh-Scare), also known as Ghostfreak, is the Ectonurite High Ecto-Lord of Anur Phaetos and Anur Transyl, and a major antagonist in the Ben 10 franchise. He serves as the main antagonist of the season 2 episode, Ghostfreaked Out and all of season 3. He also served as the main antagonist of season 5 of Ben 10: Omniverse.

He was originally stuck in the form of Ghostfreak, but after time managed to gain control over it and escape the Omnitrix, becoming one of Ben Tennyson's most cruel and dangerous enemies.

Originally, Zs'Skayr was High Ecto-Lord of the Ectonurites of Anur Phaetos and learned of the Omnitrix from the data of a probe belonging to Vilgax that crashed on his planet. Soon afterwards, Zs'Skayr met Myaxx as she was seeking DNA samples and helped her to get some from the nearby planet, Flors Verdance. But unbeknownst to her, the Ectonurite took over the Flourana being sampled, thus she took an Ectonurite sample as well. Since Ectonurite's personality and DNA were tied together, Zs'Skayr's personality then formed in the Codon Stream even after the real one died. A clone of the Ectonurite was then born inside Ghostfreak.

After Ben Tennyson gained the Omnitrix, Zs'Skayr's personality became present whenever he turned into Ghostfreak. After some time, Zs'Skayr finally freed himself of the Omnitrix and confronted Ben, tearing away his outer layer of skin to reveal his intimidating, true form.

Wanting to become whole again, Zs'Skayr attempted to possess Ben, but failed to after the sun drove him back. He sought out the Circus Freak Trio and got them to aid him by threatening them when he took over Thumbskull and tossed him around the room. Zs'Skayr went with the trio to confront Ben and tried to possess him, but since

Ben had been changed into Four Arms at the time, he couldn't do so.

The Ectonurite took over the Circus Freak Trio to fight Ben, but they were defeated one after another. However Zs'Skayr took over Gwen and used her to fight Four Arms, who eventually regressed back to Ben. The Ectonurite then threatened to make Gwen jump off of the wall they were fighting on if Ben didn't give up. Ben agreed and Zs'Skayr sent the Circus Freak Trio after Gwen and Grandpa Max, before trying to possess the boy.

However Ben was able to transform into Grey Matter just in time and Zs'Skayr continued to pursue him. Eventually Ben changed back to normal and the Ectonurite prepared to again try and possess the boy. However he noticed that it was daytime outside and opened the curtains on the building they were in, destroying Zs'Skayr.

Be Afraid of the Dark

However Zs'Skayr was not finished yet and a Transylian scientist from the Anur System named Dr. Viktor began working to revive him. He stole material from the clock tower where Zs'Skayr had been destroyed and gained the help of a Thep Khufan and a Loboan from the Anur System. As well as bring back Ghostfreak, Vicktor prepared to plunge the Earth into complete darkness for his master to rule. Onboard a NASA Space Shuttle, Vicktor revived his Ectonurite master to face Ben Tennyson again. Then with Corrodium that the Thep Khufan had retrieved, Zs'Skayr and his minions then used a Corrodium beam, blocking out all light from the Sun. With the Earth consumed in eternal darkness, the Ectonurite was fully empowered, but this didn't last long.

Vicktor was tricked into destroying the Corrodium beam and Max opened the space shuttle's roof, exposing him directly to Earth's sun and destroying him again. At the same time, Ben managed to regain Ghostfreak on the Omnitrix, but ended up never using him.

Alien Force

Zs'Skayr was eventually removed from the Codon Steam and imprisoned using sunlight by the Galvans. However Vilgax freed him in exchange for the secrets of the Omnitrix and the knowledge that would let him finally beat Ben. Zs'Skayr told him about Primus, the location of the Codon Stream, but as soon as Vilgax freed him, the Ectonurite betrayed him.

Zs'Skayr took over Vilgaxia, Vilgax's home planet, by possessing the citizens, transforming them into Ectonurite creatures. Vilgax tried to fight them, but was forced to retreat and went to Earth to ask for help from Ben, Gwen, and Kevin. They went to Vilgaxia and infiltrated Vilgax's palace where they found Zs'Skayr, who revealed that Vilgaxia was just the beginning and his minions were already building ships to spread their master's influence to other planets.

The Ectonurite possessed Ben, which was actually part of his plan since it trapped Zs'Skayr back in the Codon Stream. Ben transformed into Ghostfreak, but the Ectonurite quickly took control and began fighting Gwen, Kevin, and Vilgax. Eventually Gwen and Kevin were knocked out and Zs'Skayr managed to knock Vilgax's sword away. He made his minions restrain the conqueror so the Ectonurite could possess him as well. But Vilgax freed himself and used light from his sword to weaken Zs'Skayr, letting Ben regain control and change back, trapping the Ectonurite back in the Omnitrix.

Omniverse

Zs'Skayr makes his return in "Mystery, Incorporeal", being seen crawling out of the portal to Ledgerdomain. According to himself, Ben left him trapped there, and Darkstar opening the portal allowed him to escape. Derrick J. Wyatt states that after Ben destroyed/dispersed him in their last battle, Zs'Skayr used the magic of Ledgerdomain to reform himself there.

In "Rad Monster Party", he along with Dr. Viktor, Kuphulu and Crüjo attempted to defeat Ben and his team, only to be defeated by NRG. His main objective was to regain his title as High Ecto-Lord.

In "Charmed, I'm Sure", he has drained a large portion of energy from the Alpha Rune. Though he thinks it is completely powerless and is now useless, that is not the case.

In "The Vampire Strikes Back", Zs'Skayr used the power he had drained from the Alpha Rune in order to ressurect Lord Transyl, and create a powerful servant in order to regain his title as High Ecto-Lord. This was against the objections of Dr. Viktor, who remembers how Lord Transyl's race had enslaved his people. Ultimately, Zs'Skayr's plan comes to naught as Viktor betrays him and he is once again burned to ashes, this time by Ben as Atomix. While he is seemingly killed, Ben states that he will return some day, so he leaves a light fusion orb called "Fusion Cuisine" in Zs'Castle Zs'Skayr so Zs'Skayr could not get in.

Arkayna: Whoa! That is awful that he went rogue and is out to plunge the world into darkness!

Qin: Yeah and he is one of Ben's most dangerous enemies.

Riley: He is really dangerous.

Aqua: Next is Vanitas. He was originally the dark side of Ventus. He was also the student of Master Xehanort before we killed him.

Aqua went over Vanitas' history.

Vanitas, also known as The Masked Boy, is one of the secondary antagonists of the Kingdom Hearts series. Vanitas is a Keyblade wielder, Master Xehanort's apprentice, Ventus' dark embodiment, and is the cause of infestations of The Unversed in various worlds. He is also a member of the Real Organization XIII.

He is voiced by Miyu Irino in Japanese and Haley Joel Osment in English, both of whom also voice Sora. As Ventus-Vanitas, his voice is blended with those of Kouki Uchiyama in Japanese and Jesse McCartney in English, both of whom also voice Ventus and Roxas.

In the novels, Vanitas' life between his creation and the events of Kingdom Hearts: Birth by Sleep is expanded upon. At first, Vanitas was a faceless being much like a Heartless but with red eyes, that felt sad for his separation from Ventus. However, that sadness soon turned to hate and contempt for what he considered his weakness. In a way, Vanitas hated himself for being so weak.

Vanitas was well aware of his existence, and soon started questioning why he was born, and every time he felt something, an Unversed would come to be. This caused him to be irritated by the fact that such a monster was born from him, so he destroyed the Unversed with his Keyblade without any hesitation; but every time he destroyed an Unversed, he himself would feel strong physical pain running through his body, and after the Unversed was destroyed, the pain and negative feeling would return to Vanitas' mind, which added more to the irritation he was feeling and in turn another Unversed of "irritation" would be born from him.

When a newborn's heart came in contact with Ventus' fractured heart, he also directly contacted Vanitas' heart. After feeling a sharp pain in his chest, Vanitas' body fell to the ground of the wasteland near the Keyblade Graveyard and almost lost his consciousness, feeling being engulfed by absolute Darkness. That was when Vanitas heard Sora's voice and then he saw Light.

The Light eventually surrounded his whole body. He then heard a voice saying "Let's open the door".

Vanitas then opened his eyes and found out that now he had a normal boy's face. He also realized that someone, probably also a newborn heart like himself, had saved Ventus' heart from completely fading away.

Because Vanitas told Master Xehanort that if he kept both him and Ventus, he could not guarantee that he could keep Ventus alive, since he found it was hard to suppress his impulse to hurt Ventus, Xehanort had to take Ventus to the Land of Departure, asking Eraqus to take care of the boy. But after Ventus left, Vanitas started to miss him, and he kept wondering why they got separated from each other. This caused him to feel miserable and immense pain.

At the same time, he also felt very lost and anxious about his future; without Ventus, what would become of him? What was he supposed to do? What was the meaning of his existence? Why did he feel so suffocated in his chest? The more he thought about these questions, the more anxious, irritated, and lonely he felt. And the more he felt that, the more Unversed were created. Looking at the Unversed was like looking at his own weakness that he did not want to admit, so he started to kill them in a cycle of suffering that he could not escape.

At the same time, Master Xehanort could only coldly watch Vanitas harming himself from far away. Vanitas desperately wanted to escape from this vicious cycle of pain and suffering. But as young as he was at that time, he simply did not know any other ways other than killing the Unversed. Until the point the pain was too much to endure, he finally collapsed onto the ground of Keyblade Graveyard, and cried. Tears started running down his face silently as he lay on the ground, alone. Master Xehanort came to him, telling him the only way for him to achieve salvation was to become the χ-blade.

Becoming the χ-blade was the only way for him to truly unite with Ventus again, and the χ-blade would bring salvation not only to him, but also to the whole world. Vanitas desperately wanted to free himself from this unbearable fate, thus to become the χ-blade had now become his goal, his whole life purpose, and his only light of hope to lead him out of this Darkness.

Birth By Sleep

As Ventus-Vanitas, Vanitas was found by Xehanort and became his apprentice, and Xehanort decided to use him to create the χ-blade and also as a vessel. He found that Ventus could not be a vessel but could still make the χ-blade. Xehanort gets Ventus to fight against a horde of Neoshadows but Ventus is defeated so Xehanort splits him into two beings, Ventus - heart of pure light and Vanitas - heart of pure darkness.

After Ven's training, Vanitas arrives and taunts him about being weak before leaving and telling him that if he does not chase Terra, he will never see him again. Vanitas later met Ven at the Badlands and attempted to kill him, thinking he was too weak but Mickey saved him and Vanitas left.

Vanitas later encountered Aqua at the Radiant Garden and they fought, but Vanitas left, revealing that it was just a test. Vanitas met Aqua again in Never Land and fought her because he no longer needed her. After the battle she faints and he leaves, it is unknown why he did not finish her off.

Vanitas confronts Ventus and forces him to go to the Keyblade Graveyard after revealing their past.

Vanitas then fights against Aqua and Ventus at the Keyblade Graveyard and then he faces Terra with Xehanort's help, though he lives midway through the fight so he can forge the χ-blade. Vanitas knocks Aqua out and is about to finish her but Ventus recovers and fights Vanitas.

In the end, while confronting Ven, Vanitas unmasks himself, revealing his face to resemble Sora's, albeit with black hair and golden eyes. He reveals the Unversed came from him, and then would return to him once they're defeated.

During the final confrontation, Vanitas forces Ventus to fuse with him to become Ventus-Vanitas. Ventus fights Vanitas inside his mind while Aqua and Mickey face off against Vanitas controlling Ventus. After a long fight, Aqua and Mickey defeat Ventus-Vanitas and Ventus defeats Vanitas in their mental battle.

During Aqua's search for Terra, she senses a strong presence in the Keyblade Graveyard. Arriving there, she is confronted by Vanitas' Lingering Spirit, who attacks her. She knows he has all of his old powers plus the Unversed's powers and the χ-blade. After a long battle, Aqua defeats him and continues her search for Terra.

Dream Drop Distance

When Young Xehanort appears before Sora within the cathedral at La Cité des Cloches, Ventus' heart reacts within Sora and allows him to see an image of Vanitas. In unison, the youth and Vanitas claim that Sora has made his heart into a prison, then vanish.

The real Vanitas joins the rest of the real Organization XIII during Master Xehanort's resurrection and attempt to make Sora the thirteenth vessel. However, Lea, Donald, and Goofy's intervention forces the Organization, including Vanitas, to retreat to their own times.

Kingdom Hearts III

In Monstropolis, Vanitas was revealed to have freed Randall Boggs so he would aid him in gathering negative emotions from children. After Randall was banished for good, Vanitas tried to seize Ventus from within Sora. Goofy recalled that Ven was never able to defeat Vanitas, because they both struck each other down. In the nick of time, Sulley grabbed him and threw him into four doors with the last one being put in the shredder.

Later, he invaded the Land of Departure to take Ven while his heart was sleeping. Aqua formed a barrier to fight him one-on-one, though he had the upper-hand. With Sora's plea, Ven's heart returned and pierced the barrier to save Aqua. Vanitas retreated after saying that three Guardians was more than he cared to face.

He and Terra-Xehanort were fighting Sora, Ventus, and Aqua in the Keyblade Graveyard. After being defeated, part of his mask shattered to reveal his face again. Ven assured that anyone has the right to choose what they want to be. Vanitas told him that he was darkness and then his body vanished.

Zarya: Geez! That's terrible.

Aqua: It is. He tried to help Xehanort destroy the entire universe and it was good that we stopped her.

Lynn: Thank goodness.

Lisa: Then there is Number 7. She was originally a robot made by Dr. Roland Poindexter.

Luna: She is far more advanced than any of her other robot partners that we destroyed.

Luna went over the history of the Legion Ex Machina.

The Legion ex Machina are a recurring villainous faction in the animated series Big Guy & Rusty the Boy Robot. The group consisted of 7 members (most of whom were identical). Despite having the same bodies, each member had a different cybernetic modification.

The Legion ex Machina was invented by Dr. Roland Poindexter. His goal was to create what he perceived as the perfect artificially intelligent robots. Poindexter was successful, but that was also his downfall, and his creations soon turned against him. The Legion placed Poindexter in stasis where they had complete access to his mind. The Legion then built a secret base and began their goal to eradicate mankind.

ARG0-12

ARGO-12 was the first robot that was created by the Legion. Its purpose was to recruit any other robots to join the Legion. It terminated any of them if they refused the offer. It was powered by packs of nuclear energy that Number 6 stole from where he worked. ARGO-12 engaged in a fight with the Big Guy and was almost successful. It ran low on fuel and was given a defective nuclear pack from Rusty, which then resulted in a massive overload. ARGO-12 was then scrapped afterward.

Rebellion

Number 6 (also known as Dr. Gilder) was placed inside Quark Industries as a mole in order to gather information. He harbored bitter feelings toward the CEO, Quark Donovan, for destroying his inventions. Gilder eventually lost his patience and shifted his focus towards killing Donovan. His first attempt was to hack a robot but it was stopped by the Big Guy. He then hacked into Rusty and controlled the boy as an assassin. Dr. Gilder was then stopped when one of Quark's scientists, Dr. Erika Slate, discovered what he was doing. Dr. Gilder chased her to a grinder, lost his skin in the process, and revealed that he was a robot. then fell into the grinder after Big Guy shot him. The Legion took no pity in the demise of Number 6.

ARGO-12000

ARGO-12000 was the Legion's second robot creation. It was a 400ft version of ARGO-12. ARGO-12000 was sent to steal a Micro-Fusion generator that could be used to build more robots like it. The body parts of ARGO-12000 were transported through an underground rail station. The remaining piece, the left hand, was salvaged before construction was complete, but that didn't stop the robot from stealing the micro-fusion generator which was successful. ARGO-12000 headed towards the nearest ocean, but was shot by a beam from its missing hand. It collapsed and went permanently offline. The generator was then recovered.

Stealing Rusty's Brain

The Legion built a machine to steal Rusty's mind. It damaged a dam to draw attention. While it was attacked by the Big Guy, a mechanical orb was released from the backside. The sphere attached to Rusty's head and absorbed his brain waves, which then caused his entire body to go offline. The Legion used the acquired data to access his Rusty's thoughts. Rusty managed to escape their computer network and entered the Internet. Number 4 then chased Rusty throughout the Internet. The pursuit ended at Quark's Digital Archives. Big Guy appeared and intervened: he shot Number 4 into a stream of data. The Legion then spent time and repaired Number 4.

Project NOVA

In order to finish their latest creation, the Legion needed specialized fuel. Their only source was a power plant that manufactured neutrinos. They sent a machine to steal a new kind of neutrinos: anti-tronic neutrinos. As it began to drain the entire supply, it was interrupted by the Big Guy. Rusty then attempted to download data from the machine's archives. Number 4 attempted to use his own strength to counteract Rusty. Both sides then engaged in a mental tug-of-war. The connection ended after Rusty and Number 4 were overwhelmed. Later, it was revealed that their personalities were swapped. Rusty started to build Project NOVA and released it. Rusty went after NOVA and so did Number 4. When they reached the scene, Rusty and Number 4 engaged in another mental tug-of-war. That time, there was a swap between their identities. Rusty took full control of Number 4's body. He then short-circuited NOVA and deactivated his original body. The brain of Number 4 was then acquired by Quark.

Confronting Big Guy

Sometime later, the Legion sent Number 5 to acquire a robot from the Chopshoppers. Number 5 was greeted by the Big Guy upon his arrival. A fight took place where Number 5 had his cybernetic modification as an advantage. His skin was destroyed after he revealed himself as a robot, but he still had the upper hand in the battle. Big Guy used his own body to smash Number 5 into the ground. Number 5 malfunctioned from the impact and was then shot into a tank of cryogenic ice. His existence came to an end when Rusty shattered his frozen body.

Missing Colleague

Quark still had the brain of Number 4, and Donovan's nephew, Pierre, stole it for his science project. He then placed the brain inside a toy robot. Once activated, the toy robot escaped. Unaware of the Legion, Pierre had no idea about the possible consequences. Meanwhile, the Legion made plans to eliminate Number 4 because he became incompetent. As revenge for their betrayal, Number 4 attempted to destroy the entire city. He failed when his auto-safety mechanism was activated by the Big Guy and destroyed his head.

Sabotaged Rusties

The remaining three members of the Legion acquired a household version of Rusty from Quark industries. Using their advanced technology, they redesigned the circuitry. Then they connected the robot into a machine and used it to control every other household version. Their first part of their mission was to replace their own batteries with nuclear packs. The next phase was to shoot green beams at New Tronic City, that would annihilate the inhabitants and allow the Legion the opportunity to build a utopia for robots. They were almost successful, but a bomb destroyed all of the Rusties.

Fake Big Guy

Frustrated by their constant defeats, the Legion built an exact duplicate of the Big Guy. They dubbed it the BGY-11X. The Legion trapped the real Big Guy in a remote desert. During the BGY-11X's time at Quark Industries, the Legion learned the truth: the Big Guy was piloted by a human: Lt. Dwayne Hunter. Despite the efforts of the BGY-11X to act like its counterpart, Rusty became suspicious and found out. The real Big Guy returned after his body and pilot were found. Both the original and the clone then engaged in a brutal fight. The Big Guy won by shooting his arm into the cannon of his opponent.

Abduction

The victory was short lived, however. The Legion then dispatched a clone of the pilot, Lt. Dwayne Hunter. It shot Hunter and sent him directly to the Legion's Headquarters.

Revelation

Upon Hunter's arrival, the Legion introduced themselves. The Legion revealed their creator who was also their prisoner. Poindexter's mind was a source of data. According the Legion, they felt no human emotions and therefore overthrew their creator. Their lack of human emotions led the Legion to believe that mankind was inferior. They felt that Hunter was less inferior, but was more problematic. Then Hunter was placed into stasis.

Downfall

The Legion's Headquarters were soon discovered when Quark found some old schematics. Rusty then promptly flew to the location, saved Hunter, and his presence alerted the Legion. The Legion then engaged in a climatic battle with their enemies. Number 1 equipped himself with blasters; Number 2 utilized his exoskeleton; and Number 3 took control of a giant robot. Poindexter was freed from his prison when the battle started. Poindexter and Rusty were intervened by Number 2. Number 2 then tried to kill Poindexter, but was pulled into a nearby fan which shredded his entire body. Meanwhile, Big Guy and Number 3 were in a fierce fight and were evenly matched. However, Big Guy found a way to defeat his opponent: he pushed Number 3 into a pool of blue acid that melted him. Afterward, Poindexter took cover while Big Guy and Rusty fought Number 1. Number 1 trapped Big Guy and Rusty in a force field and Big Guy lost his left arm in the process. Poindexter then used it to hit a machine which catapulted Number 1 directly into the force field. After Number 1's destruction, the field deactivated. A video message then suddenly appeared and the complex started to self destruct. Big Guy. Rusty, and Poindexter then escaped. During a later conversation, the members of Quark Industries attempt to reassure Poindexter by saying that they had destroyed all six members of the Legion, but Poindexter was struck with a sudden fear as he told them that he had created seven members.

Members

Number 1

The first member who was created and was the last one destroyed. As the leader, Number 1 was in charge of production and tactics. The other members fully respected him. Despite the loyalty, Number 1 took no pity in the death of his own colleagues. Occasionally, he displayed an ironic sense of humor.

Number 2

Number 2's exoskeleton was entirely different from his colleagues. He was first who was destroyed in the Legion's downfall.

Number 3

Number 3 was emotionless and spoke in a flat tone of voice. His eyes were never revealed. He and Number 2 usually agreed about the same matter. Despite his personality, Number 3 was capable of expressing anger. Number 3 was destroyed before Number 1 in the Legion's downfall.

Number 4

Number 4 was the only one who swapped personalities with someone else. He was captured by Big Guy and Rusty.

Number 5

Number 5 was equipped with a visor that shot red lasers. Number 5 was the first member who fought the Big Guy. Despite his smaller size, Number 5 was a formidable combatant. Despite his abilities, Number 5 was the most successful member who severely damaged Big Guy.

Number 6

Number 6 was also known as Dr. Gilder. He was only one with human emotions. Also, he was the only one without cybernetic parts. Number 6's outer appearance was different from his colleagues. He built robots for Quark Industries, but was actually a mole. He was the Legion's first member who was destroyed.

Number 7

The status and location of Number 7 is unknown.

---

Emerald: Whoa! These robots sounded really dangerous.

Leni: They totes were.

Lori: Literally a nightmare from hell.

Linka: Yeah. They wanted to destroy Neutronic City and rule the world in the name of robots.

Nicole: Yeah but thank goodness we destroyed them.

Lisa: But Number 7 is a deadly challenge.

Leni: Yeah and he is a challenge for Ed.

Liberty: Yeah.

Arkayna: And who is Waffle Woman?

Tara: She used to be successful Breakfast Maker Vicky Velcro and she made a good breakfast called Liquid Waffles.

Tara went over her history.

Vicky Velcro was the founder of "Liquid Waffles", which was a very popular breakfast product. When Powdered Toast stole her fame, she swore to take revenge, and became Waffle Woman when Powdered Toastman retired. She captured Little Johnny in an effort to lure Powdered Toastman, but she failed in battle, resulting in the destruction of Earth.

Zarya: Boy talk about a heated rivalry!

Tara: I know and I like waffles.

Linka: Me too.

Everyone agreed.

They had a great lunch and it was a great girls night out.

---

Later, back at the estate we were watching one of my favorite movies from my past and Lincoln and Linka's all time favorite movie: The Rescuers.

The film begins in an abandoned river boat in Devil's Bayou in Louisiana, where an orphan girl, Penny, drops a message in a bottle containing a plea for help into the river. The bottle is carried out to sea and washes up in New York City and arrives at the pier where the mice discover it.

That following morning, at the United Nations Headquarters, the message is delivered to the Rescue Aid Society. The Hungarian representative, Miss Bianca, volunteers to accept the case and chooses the janitor, Bernard, as her co-agent. That night, it starts to rain as Bernard and Miss Bianca get off the bus and walk on the sidewalk to hide in the post box. After locating where they need to go that was written on Penny's message, they attempt a shortcut through the zoo, only for Bernard to be scared off by the lions and suggests taking the long way as he originally intended. The two visit Morningside Orphanage, where Penny lived, and meet an old cat named Rufus. He tells them about a wicked woman named Madame Medusa who once tried to lure Penny into her car and may have abducted Penny this time.

The mice travel to Medusa's pawn shop, where they discover that she and her partner Mr. Snoops are on a quest to find the world's largest diamond, the Devil's Eye. After failing to ride with Medusa as she headed for the airport to catch the next flight to Devil's Bayou, Bernard and Bianca head to the Pan Am Tower, with the intent being to fly Albatross Air Service to Devil's Bayou. With the help of an albatross named Orville, and a dragonfly named Evinrude, the mice follow Medusa and Mr. Snoops to the bayou. There, they learn that Penny was captured and made to enter a hole that leads down into the pirates' cave where the Devil's Eye is located.

Thanks to Miss Bianca's perfume, the mice attract the attention of Medusa's pet crocodiles, Brutus and Nero. Bernard and Miss Bianca escape and find Penny. The following morning, Medusa and Mr. Snoops send Penny down into the cave to find the gem, unaware that Miss Bianca and Bernard are hiding in her skirt pocket. The three soon find the stone within a pirate skull; as Penny pries the mouth open with a sword, the mice push it out from within, but soon the oceanic tide rises and floods the cave. Miss Bianca, Penny, and Bernard barely manage to retrieve the diamond and escape.

The greedy Medusa steals the diamond for herself and hides it in Penny's teddy bear. When she trips over a cable set by Bernard and Bianca while she's holding Penny and Snoops at gunpoint, Medusa loses the bear to Penny, who runs away with it. Medusa retaliates with gunfire, causing the mice to flee until they are met by Brutus and Nero, her crocodiles. Bernard and Miss Bianca trick them into entering a cage-like elevator, trapping them.

Two of the swamp critters that Bernard and Bianca befriended set off Snoops' fireworks, making the boat sink and freeing Brutus and Nero. Penny and the gang commandeer Medusa's "swamp mobile". Medusa pursues them on Brutus and Nero, viciously whipping the two crocodiles as she does so, but crashes and is left clinging to the boat's smoke stacks with the angered Brutus and Nero attacking below.

Back in New York, the Rescue Aid Society watch TV to hear that the Devil's Eye is given to the Smithsonian Institution and Penny is adopted by a new father and mother while it is implied that Medusa and Snoops have been arrested and imprisoned for kidnapping Penny. Bernard and Miss Bianca remain partners in the Rescue Aid Society's missions and soon after departing on Orville, accompanied by Evinrude, to a new rescue mission.

When the movie was done we cheered wildly.

Me: That is so awesome!

Lincoln: It sure is!

Laney: One of my favorite movies and it's what lead us to adopt Penny.

Penny L.: Yeah. I love my family.

Me: Aww.

Zarya: How did Penny's biological parents die?

Me: Well that is a sad part. I found out that her biological parents died in a car wreck when she was only 6 months old.

Lori: Oh no.

Lana: I'm so sorry Penny.

Penny L.: It's all right Lana.

Lincoln: But that was one of our most heroic adventures.

Linka: Yeah. We also brought the worlds largest diamond into the Smithsonian Institution in Washington D.C.

Me: Yeah. It was a huge diamond. Priceless. It turns out it was worth more than $582,000,000,000,000.00. It's priceless.

Laney: Yeah.

Natsu: We've already helped Cody beat Mcleach when you guys met me and the rest of Fairy Tail. How bad can Medusa be?

Me: She's pure evil.

I pulled up her history.

Madame Medusa (also simply known as Medusa) is the main antagonist of Disney's 23rd full-length animated feature film The Rescuers. She is the opprobrious and manipulative proprietor of a pawn shop in New York City, which she uses as a cover for her criminal endeavors. She also has the two alligators named Brutus and Nero as her pets, and Mr. Snoops as her human henchman.

She was voiced by the late Geraldine Page.

Madame Medusa is aided in her misdeeds by the two fearsome "pet" crocodiles named Brutus and Nero, that while being tame are also brutes who enjoy causing trouble - she also had aid from the blundering Mr. Snoops, who is extremely happy to go along with Madame Medusa because of his own greed: the two would often bicker though, and their partnership is a very weak one.

Medusa is first mentioned in the movie by Penny's old brown cat named Rufus, who explains to two mice Bernard and Bianca (the heroes of the film) that a weird lady was always trying to give her a ride, but was always turned down. He then says that the lady and her partner run a sleazy pawnshop down the street.

Bernard and Bianca head over to the pawnshop and after being scared from a ringing phone, they hide to avoid being caught. Medusa then reveals herself, irritated at the phone ringing so late at night. She picks it up and is elated upon hearing the voice talking to her, which turns out to be her partner, Snoops, believing that he has found a diamond that she has been searching for. But instead, Snoops tells her to give him time to which Medusa revokes due to the fact that he had been looking for three months. Snoops then says something about "bottles" and Medusa concludes that he is talking about Penny sending message in bottles. She then launches a tirade on Snoops for his inability to "control a little girl" and says that she will be taking the next flight to Devil's Bayou before hanging up on him by way of slamming the phone.

She then grabs a suitcase, before heading to her room and comes back with a pile of clothes that she stuffs inside while huffing about Snoops's incompetence, then grabs a purple fur coat. As Bernard and Bianca try to get inside the suitcase, Medusa tries to shut it, but due to her careless packing, it does not. She furiously tries to shut it before jumping up and shutting it with her bottom, which hurts her a bit. In her car, Medusa has trouble starting it due to Bianca being underneath the accelerator, but eventually gets going and drives in a Cruella-esque fashion (spinning around, jetting past a truck, and falling into a ditch). Her reckless driving causes Bernard and Bianca in the suitcase to fall out while she drives off.

At Devil's Bayou (presumably, a swamp in Louisiana), Penny tries another of many attempts to escape and Medusa realizes it when she calls her multiple times and she does not answer. She order Brutus and Nero to find the girl and bring her back. Meanwhile, Medusa plans to search for Penny in her swamp mobile. She tries to get it started, but cannot (mostly due to a lack of gas) and it ends up flying in the air before landing back into the water. Medusa looks back at the engine and grows furious at the fact that the vehicle will not start, shouting at the recently arriving Snoops as to what is wrong with swamp mobile. Snoops responds that he's not sure as the vehicle worked fine when he used it yesterday. After finally starting the vehicle, Medusa tells Snoops to shut up before ordering him to launch his fireworks to light up the bayou so she will be able to find Penny and gets going in her swamp mobile.

Later, during her search, Medusa unknowingly gets Orville sucked into her swamp mobile, not noticing him as she continues her search. She uses one of the lights from her mobile to look for Penny and almost catches her hiding in the swamplands. Nero and Bruts manage to bring Penny back to Medusa's houseboat and Medusa learns about this after Snoops fires off some fireworks in the sky that read "Got Girl". She returns back to the boathouse, flying over

Bernard and Bianca before making a three-point landing, sliding into the boathouse, and making a skidding stop.

Returning back with a puff of black smoke behind her, she demands to know where Penny is and Snoops says he sent Penny to her room. Medusa asks Snoops in irritation why he let Penny escape and what alibi he has for her this time. Snoops blames Nero and Brutus before handing her one of her gallashes, which she throws back at him. She then compliments her pets for capturing Penny whom she calls an ungrateful little brat. Snoops complains to Medusa about using Penny for her caper and thinks she should leave it up to him, but she quickly cuts him off, telling him that he's not thinking. Snoops responds by saying he knows that Penny is the only one small enough to squeeze down the black hole.

Frustrated at Penny's inability to find the diamond, Medusa smacks her cane against Snoops's hands after he presents her with a handful of gems that Penny acquired during her trips to the cave. She then blames Snoops for not leaving Penny in said cave long enough. Snoops respond by saying that Penny will not take orders to which she responds by saying that he is just too soft on her. Snoops retaliates by saying that he had to take Penny out of the cave because the tide was coming and besides that, all Penny was doing was fussing about her teddy bear getting wet. Medusa then says that Snoops does not have a way with children; one has to gain a child's trust and make said child like them. Snoops asks how and Medusa angrily responds, saying that one forces a child to like them before calling him an idiot and almost hitting him with her cane. She concludes that when the next low tide comes in, she will put Penny in the cave herself and keep her there until she finds the diamond before walking off with her two alligators.

In her room, Medusa is looking over a map of the bayou when she hears the sound of organ music playing (Nero or Brutus playing it to get to Bernard and Bianca). Annoyed by this, she storms out and confronts Nero and Brutus, telling them to stop the racket before hitting on of them with her cane. This causes one of them to spit out Bernard whom they had just eaten and Medusa screams in terror upon seeing him, rushing to a chair, grabbing her dress, and telling Snoops to kill him.

As Snoops tries to kill Bernard with a broom, he accidentally hits the chair Medusa is standing on, breaking it and causing her to fall. She freaks out even more after seeing Bianca. Wanting the two mice dead, she grabs a shotgun and shoots at them, hitting Snoops and Brutus or Nero in the process. After wildly shooting around, Medusa's gun fails to shoot anymore bullets. She grows furious as she tries to shoot something out of it and asks Snoops what's wrong with the gun as she beats on it. As Snoops says that he does not know what's wrong, her gun shoots off some bullets which hit Bernard and Bianca as they are escaping.

Later in the night, Medusa calls Penny from her room, saying that she wants to talk to her. She is then seen putting on her nightgown and taking off her earrings, angrily saying to herself that high tide or not, Penny will find her the Devil's eye tomorrow or else.

The next morning, Medusa and Snoops bring Penny back to the cave, where Medusa steals her teddy bear and threatens to destroy it if Penny does not go down and find the diamond. After Penny finds the Devil's Eye (which was located inside a skull) and returns back up, Medusa take the diamond for herself, delighted that it is finally now in her possession. However, she refuses to return Penny's teddy bear and instead sows the diamond inside it. The greedy Medusa also betrays Snoops, despite his objections that he get half of the fortune for locating the diamond. Back in the houseboat, Medusa holds both Snoops and Penny in gunpoint, preparing to leave them behind. However, Medusa falls over a trip wire (planted by Bernard and Bianca) making her lose hold of the teddy bear.

As Snoops and Medusa engage into a fight to get the diamond, Penny grabs the teddy bear and (with the help from Bernard, Bianca, and several swamp folk animals) starts up Medusa's swamp mobile to escape. Medusa, Brutus, and Nero manage to catch up to them by grabbing hold of the rope, but Medusa starts whipping both alligators for no reason, much to their anger. It was not until Penny made a turn, causing the rope to snap and Medusa to crash on a smokestack as her houseboat has sunken thanks to the swamp animals firing up all of Snoops's firework supply.

As Snoops escapes on a board laughing at her misery while Penny and the animals head away from the scene on the swamp mobile, Medusa is now at a dead end by the wrath of both Brutus and Nero, who have finally had enough of her abusive, crotchety and vituperative behavior and attempt to devour her. Medusa is last seen holding her grip on the smokestack, weeping at the lost of the Devil's Eye which now is donated in the Smithsonian Institute as she tries to avoid being attacked by Brutus and Nero, who intend and attempt to eat her alive afterwards. Her fate beyond this point is currently unknown, but it can be assumed that she either found a slim chance to escape her formerly loyal pets and she and Snoops were both arrested, or was eventually eaten by them. Others jokingly assume that the message for help that Bianca chooses, on both her and Bernard's behalf, to answer at the end of the film is from her, and that she was rescued by them off-screen.

* * *

Qin: Boy I had no idea she was that bad!

Nico: No kidding. But I'm glad she was put in prison.

Me: Yep. Lincoln and Linka did that. She and Snoops got over 1,600 years in federal prison for their crimes.

Penny L.: I remember.

Qin: But at least we'll never see that witch again.

Me: I know. And since we put Medusa and Snoops in prison, we'll kill them in this one. Lets head to the Simulator and get them.

Everyone cheered.

Lucy Heartfilia: I can watch Penny here while you guys are in the simulator.

Me: Thanks Lucy. We appreciate that.

We went to the simulator.

* * *

In the simulator we got ready and we were preparing for an awesome adventure to journey into the treacherous Louisiana Bayou to rescue Penny from the evil Madame Medusa.

Me: Here we go.

We entered the Simulator as it activated and we were in New York City.

Me: Here we are guys. New York City.

Lincoln: Just like I remember it.

Me: Yep.

I heard something coming from a store. It was a pawn shop run by Madam Medusa.

Me: Shh. Listen.

We listened to what she was saying.

Madam Medusa: Madam Medusa's Pawn Shop Boutique? Snoops! [excited] Don't tell me Snoops! Let me guess. You found it! [Laughs] You've found the Diamond?

Snoops: (Phone Garble)

Medusa: Give you time? You bungler! You have been down there for 3 months. [Snoops talking indistinctly] Bottles? What bottles? [Angry] You caught Penny sending messages in bottles!? You blundering fool! Can't you control a little girl!? Shut up! [Slams her fist on her desk] I am taking the next flight down to Devil's Bayou!

She slams the phone on the receiver.

Medusa packed a suitcase and left.

We all then went in and looked around and in Medusa's study they saw a bunch of maps and books on Louisiana, a picture of an Old Abandoned Dixie Paddle Riverboat.

Me: Wow. Look at all these maps.

Lincoln looks at the Riverboat Picture.

Lincoln: Look at this. This must be where she's holding Penny.

Bernard: But what is she after and what does she want with her?

Linka: [Gasp] I remember! She's after the largest diamond in the world: The Devil's Eye. It's as big as a human head and it's priceless.

Lincoln: That diamond is huge and it would make anyone rich beyond their wildest dreams.

Me: It is a huge diamond. And a diamond that big belongs in a museum.

Lana: Now I see why they couldn't find Penny.

Ms. Bianca: They couldn't find Penny because she's not in New York. She's in Louisiana.

Me: Half way across the country.

Nico: Wow.

Linka: That's over 1,300 miles away.

Lincoln: Let's go.

We were off to Devil's Bayou in Louisiana.

DEVIL'S BAYOU, LOUISIANA

---

We arrived in Devil's Bayou in Louisiana and it was a creepy, dangerous and foreboding place. It was a treacherous swamp filled with danger at every corner.

Nico: Whoa. So this is Devil's Bayou.

Me: Yeah. Dangerous as hell this place is.

Laney: This place gives me the creeps.

Lola: Look there.

We saw an abandoned Dixie Riverboat. It looked like it was there for years.

Lincoln: That's the Riverboat all right.

Linka: Sure looks old.

Me: It's an old Mississippi River Paddleboat.

Bernard: It looks like it's been here for years.

Qin: Yeah.

Ms. Bianca: It sure has. Penny must be in there.

Janeen: I have that felling too.

Me: This boat would make a great hideout for any kind of criminal.

Linka: How are we gonna get her out?

Lincoln: We'll think of something.

Nico: Someone is coming out of the boat.

Me: Quick hide.

We hid in the grass. We saw Madam Medusa driving a swamp-mobile to the riverboat. We met 2 local mice named Ellie Mae and Luke, a Dragonfly named Evinrude, a rabbit named Deadeye, a turtle named Gramps, a mole named Digger, and an Owl named Deacon Owl.

Me: Looks like Medusa has arrived.

Varie: That evil witch.

Ellie Mae: I'd like to give her a few whacks with my Rolling Pin!

Luke: We swamp folks are gonna run her clean out of our bayou.

Me: We're actually here to kill her.

Lincoln: If it's a fight she wants then it's a fight she's gonna get.

Linka: We are also here to rescue Penny.

Deadeye: That little girl Medusa has with her?

Lincoln: Yes.

Me: We won't let Medusa hurt her

Linka: How is Penny part of Medusa's plan to get the Devil's Eye Diamond?

Gramps: Penny is small enough to squeeze down a small hole that goes into a pirates cave on the coast. But it's hard to get to because the tide comes in fast and floods the cave quickly.

Linka: I remember that

Lincoln: Medusa really wants that diamond. Bad.

Nico: As long as we're here, she can't have it.

Laney: Why does she want that diamond?

Linka: Probably either for herself or for selling it on the Black Market.

Bernard: We got to get Penny out of here and quick.

Me: I know. But how?

Lincoln: Guys, someone is coming out of the boat.

We looked and Lincoln pulled out his binoculars and we saw Penny trying to make a run for it.

Lincoln: That must be Penny.

Linka: Let me see. [Lincoln hands her the binoculars] Oh. She's so young.

Me: That's Penny all right.

Ms. Bianca: It's Penny. Oh how terrible.

The lights in the Riverboat came on.

Me: Uh oh.

Medusa: Penny? Penny? Penny answer me. Penny!?

Lincoln: Medusa's calling out for her.

Me: We got to get Penny and hide till we come up with a plan.

Linka: Ellie Mae. Do you know if there's a place where we all can hide?

Ellie Mae: There's a cave over there.

Ellie Mae pointed to a cave on a cliff above the coastline.

Me: That's perfect.

Lincoln: Perfect. Lets go.

Ellie Mae: Evinrude. Go with them.

Evinrude the dragonfly buzzed in agreement.

Ellie Mae: Send Evinrude back as soon as you need help.

Lincoln: Right. Lets go.

Me: Lets do it.

We all went to Penny.

We saw Penny hiding behind a tree.

Lincoln: Penny! Over here!

Penny saw us.

Linka: Penny we mean you no harm. Come on over here, quickly.

Penny did so.

Penny: Where'd you all come from?

Lincoln: We'll explain later. Lets get over to that cave and hide.

Lincoln points to the cave and we all went for it.

Suddenly, fireworks went off.

Linka: On no. They're using fireworks to illuminate the swamp to find us.

Me: It's like the 4th of July!

Lincoln: Hurry!

We went to the cave and ran fast.

We got to the cave and Laney formed a plant curtain to keep the cave hidden.

Laney: That will make sure she doesn't find us.

Lincoln lit a lantern and it lit up the room.

Penny: Thank you for saving me.

Me: We should introduce ourselves. We are Team Loud Phoenix Storm.

We introduced ourselves.

Penny: It's a pleasure to meet you all.

Me: Same here.

Bernard: We found the bottle with your message and we've come to rescue you.

Penny: Did you hear that Teddy? Our bottle worked!

Lincoln: Yes it did.

Me: Yep.

Penny: Didn't you bring someone big with you like the Police?

Me: Well technically we ARE the police. You see, we are superheroes.

Penny: Wow!

Linka: I promise you Penny that we will try and get you out of here. We got to work together.

Me: Yep. We're going to take that ruthless witch Medusa down for good.

Penny: I will help you.

Nico: Awesome.

Lincoln: Okay.

They felt rumbling.

Me: Whoa!

Lincoln: What's that?

Nico: Feels like an earthquake.

Luna: Wait dudes I hear something.

They heard water sloshing coming from behind a cave wall further down.

Linka: It's coming from behind this wall here.

Lincoln pressed his ear against it and heard the water splashing and sloshing.

Lincoln: There's water behind here.

Me: I can hear it.

Bernard: There's water dripping from that rock sticking out.

Qin: He's right.

Lincoln: Stand back.

Lincoln kicked the wall and it shattered and water splashed into the cave room and a human skull tumbled in.

Lincoln: That rock was a skull.

Me: Whoa!

Lucy Loud: I wonder who that skull once belonged to.

Me: Who knows? He looks like he has been dead for centuries.

Linka: Wait a minute. I see something in it.

Me: I see something too.

Lincoln picked it up and looked in it and shined a light in it. Rainbow lights flickered all over the cave room.

Bernard: Wow!

Lori: Whoa! This is literally pretty.

Me: It's like prism lights.

Nico: Dazzling and beautiful.

Zarya: Amazing.

Piper: Yeah.

Lincoln: Look at this!

We looked in the skull and we saw a huge diamond. It was THE WORLD'S LARGEST DIAMOND - THE DEVIL'S EYE!

---

The Devil's Eye is the world's biggest diamond, and the main reason of Madame Medusa's ambition. She would do whatever it takes to get her hands on it. It used to belong to pirates that buried their treasure in a cavern in Devil's Bayou. As the world's largest diamond, it surely would have made Medusa millions but given the degree of her obsession, its strongly suggested Medusa planned to simply keep the diamond for herself.

Bianca and Bernard help Penny retrieve it from a skull before the cavern gets flooded. Madame Medusa then hides it inside Penny's Teddy Bear with the intention of smuggling it out of the bayou. However, Penny, Bernard, Bianca, and the Swamp Folk, take the diamond away from Medusa and escape with it. At the end of the film, it is donated to the Smithsonian Institute.

Bernard: Holy mackerel! That… That's it!

Ms. Bianca: The Devil's Eye.

Me: (Whistles) Wow! It's bigger than what we first saw.

Lori: No kidding!

Lola: Wow! That is an incredible diamond!

Lisa: Amazing piece of cut carbon.

Me: And it's priceless.

Nico smashed the skull and got the diamond out.

Lincoln: This diamond is huge.

Laney: Wow.

Nico: Geez that diamond is massive.

Hunter: (German Accent) Ja. Und it's the biggest in ze world.

Linka: We better hide this thing.

Lincoln put it in his backpack and the water receded.

Lincoln: Look.

We saw the Pirate Cave that Penny was going into.

Linka: Is this the Pirate Cave you were going into Penny?

Penny: Yeah.

Me: Wow. Looks ancient.

Lincoln: We just found a back way into the cave. Lets check it out.

We walked into the cave and we saw a big hole in the floor.

Linka: What's this hole?

Penny: That's where the water comes in. I'm afraid to go near it.

Me: Looks like it leads to the ocean.

Linka: So this is how the cave gets flooded. High tide comes in and the water from the ocean splashes into the cave.

Lana: Causing it to flood.

Bernard: It sounds very dangerous.

Ms. Bianca: You can drown in here.

Me: No kidding.

Lincoln: Yeah.

Laney formed vines that covered the hole and we crawled over the hole and Penny was on Linka's back and we saw lots of chests full of treasure.

Linka: Boy there's enough treasure here to make anybody rich.

Nicole: No kidding. But for centuries, pirates had buried their loot in caves like this all over the Gulf of Mexico and in the Caribbean.

Lincoln: Yeah.

Bernard: Did Medusa have any need for these smaller diamonds?

Penny: No. She doesn't want those little ones.

Vince: It's still enough treasure to make anyone rich.

Linka: Penny how did you know this was a pirate's cave?

Penny: Him.

Penny pointed to the skeleton of a dead pirate thats been in the cave for a long time.

Ms. Bianca: [Gasps in Horror] Oh dear!

Lincoln: Whoa! He looks like he's been here for a long time.

Linka: Centuries no doubt.

Me: That's Benjamin Hornigold no doubt. He disappeared back in 1719.

Nico: Over 300 years ago.

Vince: Wow.

Jessie K.: He was a pirate back then.

Me: Yep. Lets take the treasure with us.

Nico: Good idea.

We loaded all the treasure into a scroll.

Lincoln looked up through a hole leading to the surface and he saw the Sun rising.

Lincoln: It's already dawn.

Me: We've been down here for a while.

Linka: Have you thought of a plan of attack on Medusa yet?

Lincoln: Yes I have. Here's what we do. But first lets get out of here.

We all went back to the cave we were hiding in as water splashed into the cave. The vines broke and we got out just in time.

Lincoln: High tide just came back in.

Linka: Yeah. Close one. Okay bro. What do you got?

Lincoln whispered the plan to us and it was a good one.

We were going to launch a frontal attack with Ellie Mae, Luke, Deadeye, Gramps, Deacon Owl, Bernard and Ms. Bianca. Most of us are gonna launch an aerial attack.

Me: That's a brilliant plan Lincoln.

At Ellie Mae's house Lincoln explained the plan.

Linka gave Penny a laser gun.

Lincoln: All right does everyone know what to do?

Me: Roger that.

Ellie Mae: We sure do.

Lincoln: Ready?

All: [In Unison] Ready.

Me: Lets get her.

Lincoln: Evinrude, sound the charge.

Evinrude: (Buzzing) Da-Da-Da-Da-Da-Daaa!

All: [In unison] CHARGE!

We went at the Riverboat and I fired a blast of lightning and it hit the boat and set it on fire.

Medusa came out and she was armed with a 12-Gauge Shotgun. She fired at us and missed.

Nicole fired a Winchester Rifle and a bullet hit Medusa in the arm.

She dropped her gun into the water.

Nero and Brutus her pet crocodiles came out and they saw all of us.

Penny: (to Brutus and Nero) Be smart. Do you two really want to go against all of us?

Me: Not a wise choice.

They ran away into the bayou.

?: Very impressive.

A figure came out and it was MATACORE from episode 5 of Super Megaforce.

Matacore tags along with Argus, Prince Vekar, and a number of XBorgs, so Vekar can declare his mastery on the planet.

Despite having the upper hand, he retreats along with Argus, due to have Prince Vekar being hurt in battle, and is teleported due to the interference of Levira and Damaras.

He returns to Earth, soon afterwards, to battle the Mega Rangers again, this time only with the aid of XBorgs. He is defeated by the Super Mega Rangers using their new Samurai powers, with Noah landing the final and destroyed by the Super Mega Sabers Final Strike.

Matacore is enlarged and overpowered the Legendary Wild Force Megazord, but he was finally destroyed by the new Legendary Samurai Megazord and it's 'Legendary Fire Smasher 'attack.

---

Troy Burrows: Matacore!

Matacore: Long time no see rangers.

Me: I remember you! You wanted to conquer Earth and you easily overwhelmed the rangers.

Matacore: That's right. (to Jayden Shiba): I remember you as well, Samurai Red Ranger. Do you think it's funny giving the Megaforce Rangers that Samurai Double Disk so they could defeat me easily?!

Me: Do us all a favor and shut the hell up!

Matacore: Make me. I've beaten your Legendary Mode before. I can do it again!

Noah: That was then. This is now!

Megaforce Rangers: Legendary Ranger Mode: Science Platoon Dynaman!

The Megaforce Rangers turned into the Scientific Squadron Dynaman from 1984.

Jake Halling: For some reason, I feel like this mode should've been included when we first fought Matacore.

Me: I agree.

Penny was then enveloped in a powerful light and she was now a beautiful teenage girl at around 13 years old and she had a beautiful blue and white dress and she had black stockings and black shoes.

Nico: Whoa! What happened to Penny?

Lily: She changed like me.

Lori: Wow! She has become a beautiful young woman.

Penny L.: Now it's personal. I will never forgive this monster for ruining my life. I found out something from the spirit of my mom.

Medusa came out.

Medusa: Penny!?

Penny L.: I will never forgive you Medusa.

Medusa: What do you mean?

Penny L.: I was visited by the spirit of my mother. I know everything now. I found out that you killed my mom and dad!

We gasped in sheer horror!

Nico: Medusa murdered your biological parents!?

Penny L.: Yes they did. They didn't die in a car crash like I was told. They died because of Medusa. She killed them in cold blood and then set my house on fire!

We were shocked and horrified!

Me: Whoa man!

Nico: Medusa you monster!

Lori: How heartless can you literally be!?

Carol: Absolutely no regard for human life!

Me: Now it's good we came here to kill her. Matacore you aren't worth our time.

I fired an energy blast at Matacore and destroyed him in a powerful explosion.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOM

Me: We've got bigger fish to fry.

Nico: That's right. Madam Medusa and Snoops, you have failed this world!

Donkey Kong: (to Medusa) Any last words before I go ape on you?

Penny L.: No Donkey Kong, leave Medusa for me. After I have had my fun you all can finish her.

Donkey Kong: Okay.

We went at her and Snoops and I punched Snoops in the face and kicked him in the stomach and Lincoln fired a powerful blast of lightning and electrocuted him all over. Laney wrapped him in vines and slammed him into the ground.

Luna: What you did makes you nothing more than worthless scum! THALLIUM STYLE: POISON SHURIKEN BARRAGE!

Luna threw a bunch of shuriken made of Thallium, a poisonous metal and they hit Mr. Snoops and poisoned him. His hair was falling out.

Luna: Try this one! PLUTONIUM STYLE NINJA ART: RADIATION SLICING SWORD!

Luna formed a powerful glowing blue sword made entirely out of plutonium and she slashed Mr. Snoops all over and poisoned him with incredible levels of Gamma Radiation.

Luna: Try this one! URANIUM STYLE NINJA ART: RADIOACTIVE LASHING WHIP!

Luna formed a whip made of pure glowing uranium and she lashed him all over and poisoned him with more radiation.

Luna: And try this dude! METAL STYLE NINJA ART: KONIGGRATZER MARCH!

Luna flew into the air as the famous march of the Battle of Koniggratz played and she sent a wall of metal and it turned into the German Soldiers of the battle and they went at Mr. Snoops and knocked him down.

Mr. Snoops was down and he was dying quickly.

I looked him over and what I saw was frightening. I analyzed him and saw that he was poisoned with 75,000 m5v's of Gamma Radiation. Which is the equivalent of being near a nuclear explosion from 11 miles away.

I looked him over with my Geiger Counter and it was clicking like mad showed that he was poisoned with extreme levels of Gamma Radiation.

Me: Boy he was poisoned to enough radiation to kill 100,000 people.

Nico: Hardcore.

Me: Well he'll be dead in about a couple of hours.

Lana: Good riddance.

Hunter: Ja. But Luna that was really awesome!

Luna: Thanks Hunter. Lily got me into learning all about German music. It's awesome dude.

Hunter: Danke.

Jessie K.: That was the famous march of the Battle of Koniggratz. It was a famous battle in Germany that happened back in 1866 during the Austrio-Prussian War. That battle was a decisive factor during that war back 154 years ago.

Me: Wow. I never knew that war happened.

Lincoln: Me neither.

Me: Lets help Penny when the time comes.

Nico: Right.

Penny went at Medusa engaged her in a ferocious fight. Penny punched and kicked her in the face and punched her in the stomach and she punched her in the face two and she ducked under a punch from Medusa and kicked her in the stomach and kicked her in the face and punched her in the back of the head and kicked her in the back and kicked her in the face again knocked out one of Medusa's teeth and she punched her in the nose and broke it. Penny then slammed Medusa's head into the ground and grabbed her and threw her into the gangplank of the Riverboat. Medusa got up and she was really enraged! They went at each other and it was an extremely ferocious fight! Penny and Medusa went at each other roaring in incredible fury! Penny kicked Medusa in the face and she kicked her in the stomach with incredible force. They grabbed each other and Penny punched her in the face and kicked her in the stomach and she punched Penny in the face and she kicked her in the face and she kicked her in the stomach and she punched her in the stomach and Penny punched her in the face twice and she dodged Medusa's third strike and punched her in the face and Medusa kicked at her and Penny dodged her strike and punched her in the face and kicked her in the stomach. Medusa came at her and punched her all over with indiscriminate fury as a massive flurry of fisticuffs were pulverizing her and Penny punched her in the face and kicked her in the chest and punched her in the face again! Medusa got up and went at Penny and punched her in the face and kicked her in the stomach with devastating force and she crashed into a rock and belched up a huge amount of blood. Medusa grabbed her and threw Penny down and pile drove her and she belched up even more blood and it got on Medusa's face and he was screaming in pain as it burned her and Penny got up and punched Medusa in the face and kicked her and punched her in the face and Medusa punched Penny in the face with devastating force and knocked out some of her teeth and she was thrown to the ground and Medusa jumped and just as he was about to smash her head in, Penny grabbed her foot and threw him into a rock and she kicked her with devastating force and she grabbed Medusa's arm and broke it. Medusa then got up and viciously punched Penny in the stomach and she belched out a huge amount of blood and Penny punched her away. They were mercilessly thrashing each other and they weren't gonna give up until one of them dies! Penny then punched her in the face with devastating force and she belched up a huge amount of blood and she kicked Medusa in the stomach and punched her in the face!

Medusa punched her in the stomach and kicked her in the face with devastating force and she belched up a huge amount of blood and Penny then dealt her a deadly uppercut and kicked her in the face. She growled growled ferociously and punched her in the stomach and dealt her a deadly uppercut!

Me: I've seen enough! Lets go!

We went and helped and I punched Medusa in the face and Sora healed Penny.

Nico punched Medusa in the face and kicked her in the stomach. Zarya punched her in the face and fired energy arrows at her and they hit her and exploded.

KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM!

Ben: Lets see how she likes the Mummy!

Ben then turned into a new ultimate Alien. It was ULTIMATE SNARE-OH! He now had a Pharaoh mask that looked more like King Tut's and he had 2 more arms made of bandages and he had more amazing armor.

Ben: ULTIMATE SNARE-OH!

Me: Whoa! An Evolved Thep Khufan!

Shanan: Wow! This is an amazing alien. I've never seen an evolved Thep Khufan before.

Cody: This makes trips to Egypt even more amazing.

Riley: It sure does.

Ultimate Snare-Oh: Time for this bitch to go under wraps.

He tied up Madame Medusa in his bandages.

Me: Lets finish this bitch with teamwork! I'll start us off. KIBAL LETS HOWL!

I turned into Wolf Moon!

Zarya: Wow! That is a cool transformation.

Me: Thanks Zarya. It's my Wolf Miraculous form. I turn into the hero Wolf Moon when my partner Kibal goes into my bracelet.

Zarya: Wow! That is so awesome!

Me: Thanks. Want to join me for a combo?

Zarya: Count me in.

I fired a powerful blast of Wolf Fire at Madame Medusa and Zarya fired a powerful barrage of arrows.

Me and Zarya: WOLF MOON ARROW STORM STRIKE!

The fire merged into the arrows and it turned them into a powerful pack of blue fire wolves. They hit Madame Medusa and exploded!

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Searchlight: Time for the power of the Earth. CYBER KEY POWER!

The Earth Cyber Planet Key went into his back and enhanced his X-Ray Emitter 100-fold.

Bumblebee (Teen Titans): Time for the sting! EARTH CYBER KEY POWER!

The Earth Cyber Planet Key went into Bumblebee's right arm device and enhanced her powers 100-fold.

Searchlight and Teen Titans Bumblebee: STINGING X-RAY LASER STRIKE!

Searchlight fired an X-Ray blast and Bumblebee fired her bee blasters and they hit Madame Medusa and exploded.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMM

Triggerhappy: Time for some firepower! CYBER KEY POWER!

The Earth Cyber Planet Key went into his back and enhanced his air blaster 100-fold.

Scream: We are ready for anything. EARTH CYBER KEY POWER!

The Earth Cyber Planet Key went into her right arm device and enhanced her Symbiote Powers 100-fold.

Triggerhappy and Scream: HURRICANE SYMBIOTE SPEAR STORM!

Scream fired spears from her hair and Triggerhappy fired a powerful blast of air and the blasts of air merged with the spears and they hit Medusa and exploded.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Me: Now to finish this bitch for good.

Donkey Kong: I'll start. HERE COMES DONKEY KONG! COCONUT SHOOTER BASHSTORM!

Donkey Kong fired a powerful barrage of coconuts and they hit Madame Medusa all over with powerful force.

Patrick: (Offscreen) (Laughs) THAT GUY GOT HIT IN THE HEAD WITH A COCONUT!

Diddy Kong: Time for some Peanut power! PEANUT MEGA BARRAGE!

Diddy Kong fired a powerful barrage of peanuts and they hit Madame Medusa and exploded.

Dixie Kong: This monster is a disgrace to people! ORANGE GRENADE EXPLOSION!

Dixie Kong threw a bunch of Orange Grenades and they hit Madame Medusa and exploded.

KRABBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Bernard: Lets do it Bianca!

Bianca (Rescuers): Right!

Bernard and Bianca: RESCUE AID SOCIETY MEGA BURST!

Bernard and Bianca fired a powerful blast of energy and it slammed into Medusa and exploded.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Penny L.: This is for my mom and dad! DIAMOND SHRED AVENGER STRIKE!

Penny fired a powerful shower of razor sharp diamonds and they hit Madame Medusa all over and cut her to pieces. Killing her instantly. Medusa's spirit appeared.

Nicole: Hell is too good for you.

Nicole sent Medusa's evil spirit into the Book of Vile Darkness.

Penny L.: (Looks at the sky) I did it for you mom and dad.

She then had tears stream down her face and she then started crying and she hugged me and cried hard. She was crying and wailing in so much grief and she knew that her nightmare was over. I was comforting her.

Me: It's all right Penny. Just let it all out. Let it all out.

She was crying so hard and so much that it made our hearts hurt.

Nico: Poor girl.

Arkayna: Yeah.

Will Vandom: She did not deserve this. Her life was ruined because of Medusa.

Irma: I know.

Lincoln: Yeah.

Penny was crying hard for 30 minutes. We went back to the estate and rested Penny on the couch. She was still crying.

Me: It's all right Penny. It's all right.

Laney: Poor Penny. I don't think I've ever seen her cry this much.

Lori: She's literally in so much pain after what happened.

I was comforting her.

Later she was better.

Penny L.: Thank you J.D.

Me: Anytime Penny.

Penny L.: (To the viewers) If you go after a diamond worth a fortune, don't use little girls for it.

Me: Noted.

We then rested.

THE END

Another Awesome fanfiction done.

The Rescuers has been one of my favorite movies since I was little. It was awesome! NicoChan11 gave me the ideas for this. Thanks man. Let me know what you all think. Next up is where we go back to the Underground City to stop the evil Y'Lantians from destroying the planet and erase the city that caused so much harm to Sydney and her friends.

See you all tomorrow.

Back to The Underground City

At the estate, we were watching TV and playing card games. We were watching our favorite show Operation: Dessert Storm.

Me: I hope that Naomi wins with her Baked Alaska.

Nico: Me too. That Savage Ken looks like a monster.

Laney: No kidding.

Hunter: (German Accent) Ja. But his Black Forest Gateau cake looks Köstlich.

Me: Boy it sure does Hunter. I wouldn't mind having that for dessert.

Lincoln: Me neither.

Lana: It sure looks good.

Zarya: It all looks really good.

Arkayna: It sure does.

Piper: Everything on Earth is so amazing.

Emerald: It sure is! Earth is so incredible.

Me: I'm glad you girls are loving Earth.

Paige: It's an amazing planet that we call home.

Kairi and Sora came down and they had old clothes on. Sora had a red shirt and red shorts on and so did Kairi but with Pink.

Me: Hey you two. What's with the clothes change?

Kairi: We don't want our clothes to get damaged, do we?

Sora: Nope. We put on these generic clothes just to rip out of them when we transform.

Laney: Transform?

Me: Kairi and Sora want to see what it would be like to be the legendary Pokemon Latias and Latios.

Nico: That is gonna be awesome!

Lincoln: It sure is.

Lily: Yeah.

May: I can't wait to see what you two look like as Latias and Latios. They are amazing Pokemon.

Riley: They sure are.

Me: Just so you know you two, this is gonna hurt real bad. But it will only be temporary.

Sora: Okay.

Kairi: Got it.

I snapped my fingers and Sora and Kairi were in excruciating pain.

Elec Man: (sees Sora and Kairi in pain) Are you two ok?

Sora: Not really!

Kairi: It feels like… we're about to burst!

Then they changed and it happened really fast and they became the legendary Eon Pokemon Latias and Latios! Sora was the Latios and Kairi was the Latias

Nico: WHOA!

Skunk (Skunk Fu): Kairi? Are you and Sora still in there?

Sora: Yeah we're okay Skunk.

Kairi: But this is awesome! Sora you look awesome as a Latios.

Sora: And you look amazing as a Latias.

Misfire: Sora, how do you and Kairi feel being Pokemon, even if it's not permanent?

Sora: It's amazing! It's so awesome being a Pokemon.

Kairi: It feels like we can do all kinds of things.

Nico: How long will they stay like this?

Me: Hmm. (Looks at watch) About 2 more minutes.

Lily: So it only lasts for 5 minutes.

Nico: Looks like it.

Laney: Yep. But they will be naked when they change back.

Me: Yep. In about 15 seconds. Cover your eyes boys.

We did so.

Then Sora and Kairi reverted back and it happened really fast and they were naked. They got back up and they wobbled while trying to balance themselves.

Wideload: This is probably the first time we've seen you two naked after a transformation.

Kairi: (sees Nico looking away and laughs) C'mon, Nico! You've been around me and Sora for a long time now. We don't mind you taking a peek.

Nico: I'm not looking Kairi! I do not want to have Nicole smash my face in!

Nicole: You better watch it Nico or I will pulverize your face in like how Lady Tsunade did to Jiraiya!

Me: Please get some clothes on before Nicole goes apeshit on Nico.

They went up to their rooms.

We uncovered our eyes and Sora and Kairi came back with their clothes on.

Me: Thank you.

Lincoln then got a ghost sense and he saw Lucy and the entire Young Morticians club.

Lucy: Hey Lincoln. I brought the entire Young Morticians club over so they can help us on our next adventure.

Lincoln: Okay Lucy.

Me: Great to have you all here.

Persephone: Thanks J.D.

Boris: Yeah.

Bertrand: It's always a pleasure to be here J.D.

Haiku: It's really amazing.

Dante: I find it to be interesting.

Morpheus: We want to help out whenever possible.

Silas: Indeed. Sigh. The forces of darkness will be willing to help you all.

Maggie: Yeah.

Me: It's gonna be really amazing having the forces of darkness be with us.

Nico: Yep.

Then the alarm went off.

Me: Uh oh.

We went to the computer and we saw the planets going into a really rare planetary alignment. It was a really rare planetary alignment called a Syzygy. An extremely rare planetary alignment where all the planets in the system are lined up in a perfect straight line. This happens only once every 10,000 to 1,000,000 years.

Me: Whoa! Look at that!

Ben: The planets are all in a perfect alignment.

Nicole: This is an event called a Syzygy.

Me: I've never seen something like this happen before.

Nicole: It's extremely rare dad. It only happens once every 10,000 to 1,000,000 years.

Me: This is a very rare event for us.

Lana: And that's not all that's happening! Look outside!

We saw a huge raging thunderstorm going on outside.

Me: Man what is happening out there.

Then we saw a blue light coming from Donatello's room.

Me: The crystal from the Underground City is reacting to something.

Donatello: But that's impossible. This crystal was completely burnt out.

Nico: But the energy coming off of it is incredible. It's like it's supercharged.

Laney: Yeah I feel it too.

Nicole: It might have something to do with the planetary alignment.

Donatello: Or it might have something to do with the Crystal Moon in the Underground City.

Me: Either way we better check it out and quick.

Qin: Right.

Maria: Looks like it's back to the Underground City.

Tara: This time, I'll go with you guys.

Me: Okay. Lets roll!

We then went back to the Underground City.

UNDERGROUND CITY

We arrived back in the Underground City.

Sydney: I never thought I'd be here again.

Me: None of us did. I thought we were done here. But look.

We saw that the whole city was filled with people and was being prosperous.

Me: Wow.

Shanan: Amazing.

Lincoln: This is incredible.

Shanan: I know these people. They are the Y'Lyntians. A race of people long thought to have been forgotten over the millennia.

Lynn: Wow.

We then heard chanting.

Me: Listen.

We heard the chanting and we saw where it was coming from. It was coming from a few people standing in front of a crystal.

Me: What do you think that is?

May: No idea.

Qin then came out with a Green Jumpsuit.

May: That's a nice jumpsuit, Qin.

Qin: Thanks.

Me: We got to find out what's going on and how it involves the planetary alignment that's happening now. Stay with me and be quiet.

We went into the city and we then met an Y'Lyntian girl named Versallia and she lead us into the Chamber of Chronicles.

Versellia: So you see, we have a different reason for what the Alignment is doing. Here in the Chamber of Chronicles will you see the truth of the past.

Michelangelo: I don't know. Last time we were in here all that we saw was a pack of lies.

Me: Lets listen and find out.

Versallia: Yes.

The crystal in the chamber showed us what happened.

Versallia: We were of a different age a time long ago when Y'Lyntians held unassailable dominion over the Earth. We were the first. The chosen. The heavens bestowed upon us power beyond imagining in the form of mighty crystals from the stars. The largest of these, The Sun Crystal, came to rest high upon Mount Timaeus. Overlooking the entire continent. As a final gift from the heavens, the planets aligned and empowered our Sun Crystal. Charging it with unbelievable energy. Crystal energy which we harnessed to build the largest and most splendid civilization on Earth. But we Y'Lyntians had advanced so far so fast, we began to believe ourselves superior to all others. We enslaved many innocent humans and when they could not perform the jobs we imposed upon them, the limitless power of our Crystal Sun was used to mutate them. Into creatures better suited to serve our selfish needs. Water breathers to bring us the bounty of the sea. Monstrous beasts of burden to raise our monuments and dig our canals. And Avians to patrol the skies. Preventing certain Y'Lyntians from escaping. Y'Lyntians who like me detested the dark of our own people. And then an uprising. The human cultures banded together and launched an attack on our home. The Y'Lyntians were taken by surprise. The High Council gathered in the Star Chamber to take retaliatory action. And the slaves were ordered to turn the power of the Crystal Sun into the most devastating of weapons. But many slaves were allied with the human forces. Determined to put an end to their cruel Y'Lyntian taskmasters. The power of our Crystal Sun was turned back upon itself with catastrophic consequences. And the fabled island of Y'Lyntius sank beneath the waves.

We were shocked and horrified.

Me: Unbelievable.

Vince: That's awful.

Nico: That is terrible.

Michelangelo: Wait a minute. The fabled island of Y'Lyntius? You mean Y'Lyntius is really?

Donatello: Atlantis! Of course! Why didn't I think about it before? You guys are from the lost city of Atlantis. Unbelievable.

Lynn: But that's impossible! Atlantis disappeared over 10,000 years ago.

Versallia: Yes. We may be all that remains of the once great civilization.

Varie: I know the lost city of Atlantis. We actually have been there many times once before.

Qin: Wow. I didn't know that.

Sydney: It's a really amazing place.

Versallia: But a few of us have managed to escape destruction and took a fragment of the Sun Crystal. Though it's power was hugely diminished, it was enough to give life to a vast underground refuge. Now named the Crystal Moon, this smaller power source began to weaken and without slaves, the Y'Lyntians found they were unequipped to survive on their own. So they chose to go into Crystal Suspension until the next planetary alignment could recharge the Moon Crystal. Only one remained awake: The High Mage. It was his task to watch over the city until the Crystal Moon could be recharged. And now all has been fulfilled as it was foreseen by the high council. The alignment has come to pass. The Crystal Moon is recharged and the high council are using it to raise our ancient city from the sea.

Donatello: And with the sudden geologic change on such a massive scale continents will shift and sink. Most of the Human Race will be wiped out! It'll be the end of the world as we know it.

Me: It'll be just like what we encountered on the Apocalyptic Earth where we destroyed Diablo and the Evil Gods.

Nico: No kidding.

Hunter: Ja.

Nick F.: This a nightmare.

Me: We have to stop them.

Nicole: I think I have a solution. We can use what we learned from the history we were told on the Y'Lyntians and use that just like in what happened.

Donatello: That's a good idea.

Superman: (to Versellia) Here's your chance to do what's right. I would take it.

Versallia: Trust me. I've already made my decision. And that is to make sure that my people never come back.

Me: Now the entire world is in grave danger. We have to stop the High Mage.

?: Very fascinating.

Me: Wonder who said that.

We went to another room and we saw that it was YUFFO from episode 2 of Megaforce!

---

An alien scientist who attempts to capture humans to conduct experiments on. He is a Coccinellidae-like creature who's design is reminiscent of a UFO. His abilities include being able to trap people in a cocoon-like substance and being able to split himself into five small UFOs to evade enemies as well as to fire strong energy rays from his eyes. He is sent to study the humans and learn their weaknesses before the insect invasion proceeds any further. Nevertheless, he is able to hold his own in a battle and proves somewhat stronger than Scaraba. He is first beaten by the Megaforce Blaster's Dynamic Victory Charge. Vrak sends the Zombats to make him grow and he is destroyed by the Gosei Great Megazord's Victory Charge.

Troy Burrows: Yuffo!

Yuffo: Ah the Megaforce Rangers. I didn't expect you all here.

Me: I remember you! You wanted to bring in humans for study.

Yuffo: That's right. Watched me on TV didn't you?

Me: We sure did. You were the first monster to be destroyed by the Megaforce Rangers Gosei Megazord.

Yuffo: Impressive that you know that.

Nico: That was an awesome battle.

Me: I take it you came here to learn about the crystals.

Donatello: How long?

Yuffo: (to Donatello): A couple days at the most. I can see why you were fascinated by them. Maybe once you're all dead, I'll take some with me.

Troy Burrows: Not gonna happen!

Troy fired a powerful blast of red energy from his hand and it hit Yuffo and exploded and sent him crashing into the wall.

Yuffo: You Rangers haven't lost your touch. But why don't you come follow me if you think you're brave enough?

With that, Yuffo turned into his UFO mode and flew away.

Jake Holling: And we're letting him fly away because…?

Leonardo: Because he can lead us right to the Entity.

Me: Lets get him!

We went after Yuffo.

We flew out and we saw THE HIGH MAGE!

The Mage was a member of the Y'Lyntian, an advanced civilization that lived underground. When they discovered life on the surface of the Earth, they built an outpost to study it from, which later became the Turtle Lair. However, they discovered that their race was dying. Eventually, he was the only one left.

When the Turtles and the Foot Clan mutant experiments enter his abandoned city, he captured them to turn them human again. However, in return, he demanded that everyone he cured had to stay as well as the Turtles. When the Turtles declined his invitation, he tried to keep them there forcibly. The Turtles were forced to use a light orb on him and encase him in crystal. When the Turtles returned to the city to cure the mutants, they discovered an entire chamber of crystallized beings, indicating that he was lying.

When the planets aligned, the cosmic energy recharged the Crystal Moon, he and his people were revived and ready to retake the world they once ruled. He sensed the Turtles' return and created four lava monsters to stop them from interfering and then trapped them. He informed them that they will be the first slaves in the new order. But they managed to escape with the help of a rebel Y'Lyntian and disrupt her people's attempt to raise Atlantis. He presumably died when the city was destroyed.

High Mage: So you Turtles have returned and you have friends with you.

Leonardo: That's right.

Me: We are Team Loud Phoenix Storm and we won't let you ruin the planet.

High Mage: I only wish to make the planet even better than it already is.

Sydney: By destroying it and wiping out billions of innocent people!? I don't think so!

Me: We won't let you do this!

Troy: Your bond with the Earth might be strong. But we have something greater!

Entity: And what's that?

Orion: Our will to never give up!

Megaforce Rangers: Legendary Ranger Mode: Electronic Brigade!

The Megaforce Rangers turned into the Electronic Squadron Denziman from 1980.

Me: It's over High Mage. Your reign of terror will end before it even begins.

Vypra: (Offscreen) We'll help him.

Me: Oh great.

We saw Vypra, Waffle Woman, Professor Calamitous and Lord Drakkon come out.

Me: The world is in danger right now Vypra. We don't have time to fight you.

Vypra: Then make time.

Lord Drakkon: Then lets see if you have enough time.

Me: If that's what you want then we'll face you.

Nico: I'll face the High Mage for you until it's time.

Me: Okay. Thanks Nico.

Vypra (to the Mysticons): This time, you girls are going to have a real fight against the Masters of Evil!

Lord Drakkon: Even though there are only four of us.

Arkayna: Bring it on.

We went at them.

Battle 1: Luan, William, Shego and Arkayna VS Vypra

---

Luan, William, Shego and Arkayna were facing Vypra.

Vypra: So it's a 4 on 1 match. Not very fair if you ask me.

William: Villains never play fair.

Shego: So neither will the Heroes.

Arkayna: We learned that when we were on Gemina.

Luan: Now you will Fair the truth. (Laughs) Get it?

William: Love the jokes but now is not the time.

Luan formed a sword of light and they went at Vypra and they clashed. Luan clashed with Vypra and kicked her in the face and William fired a powerful blast of lightning from his blaster and it hit Vypra and exploded.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Shego fired a powerful blast of Green fire and it hit Vypra and exploded.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM!

Arkayna fired a powerful blast of green fire from her staff and it hit Vypra and exploded.

KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Luan fired a powerful blast of light and it turned into a dragon and it slammed into Vypra and exploded.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMM!

Arcayna: Try this on! UNLEASH THE DRAGON!

Arcayna fired a powerful spirit dragon and it slammed into Vypra and exploded with incredible power.

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Vypra was down.

---

Battle 2: Lisa Loud, Stewie, Bowser Jr. and Emerald VS Calamitous

---

Lisa Loud, Stewie, Bowser Jr. and Emerald were facing Professor Calamitous.

Professor Calamitous: Now you will face my new and improved suit.

Lisa: Lets see just how new that abomination you call a suit is.

Emerald: Yeah!

Professor Calamitous put his suit on.

Lisa: Time for you to see our power.

Lisa fired a powerful ray blast from her hand and it slammed into the suit and exploded.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Bowser Jr. fired powerful blasts of fire and they hit Calamitous and exploded all over and Stewie fired ray blasts at him and they exploded. Professor Calamitous fired missiles from his suit and they went at Lisa and Emerald formed a shield and deflected them back at him and they hit him and exploded.

Stewie: How do you like that you bastard!?

Bowser Jr. went into his shell and spin rapidly and Lisa kicked him and he slammed into Calamitous with incredible force.

Bowser Jr.: Yeah! That's something papa would do!

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOMM!
KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM!

Emerald: Try this on! BATTLE UNICORN CHARGE!

Emerald sent a spirit Unicorn at him and it slammed into Professor

Calamitous and exploded. Resulting in his battle suit being completely destroyed!

Professor Calamitous was on the ground.

Lisa: How is that for wanting to see their power?

Calamitous was knocked down.

Battle 3: Me, Zarya, and Tara VS Waffle Woman

---

Me, Zarya, and Tara were facing Waffle Woman.

Me: I'm gonna eat you for breakfast Waffle Woman.

Waffle Woman: We'll see about that.

Tara: I love waffles and pancakes but you give a horrible meaning to the phrase time for breakfast.

Zarya: That's right.

We went at Waffle Woman and Tara fired stones and beams of energy at her and they hit her and exploded.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM!

I fired blasts of fire and energy at Waffle Woman and they hit her and exploded.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMM!
KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM!
KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM!
KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!
KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOMM!

Zarya fired powerful energy arrows at Waffle Woman and they hit her and exploded.

KRABBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

I fired blasts of wind and fire and burned her and blew her around.

Zarya: Try this one! TIME TO HOWL! (HOWLS)

Zarya fired a powerful spirit energy wolf at Waffle Woman and it hit her and knocked her down in a powerful explosion.

KRABBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

The explosion knocked her down.

Me: I'm gonna go help Tommy take down Lord Drakkon.

Zarya: Okay.

I went over to help out Tommy.

---

Battle 4: Me, Tommy Oliver, Jason Lee Scott and Piper VS Lord Drakkon

---

(APOCALYPSE TOMORROW BY CHARLES EVANS PLAYS)

Me, Tommy Oliver, Jason Lee Scott and Piper were facing Lord Drakkon.

Me: You are a ruthless scumsucker Drakkon.

Lord Drakkon: I don't know what you see in defending that goodie-goodie two shoes version of me. You should be working for me.

Me: SHUT YOUR FUCKING TRAP!

Lord Drakkon gasped.

Me: I would never serve someone like you.

Tommy Oliver: I can't believe that I would become this monster that killed my friends in cold blood.

Jason Lee Scott: And send Kim on a path of vengeance.

Piper: You are a monster!

Me: I will never forgive you for your crimes Drakkon. So many have suffered all because of you. If you live to fight another day, I will be your arch nemesis.

We went at Lord Drakkon and I punched him in the stomach and kicked him in the head and Tommy slashed him all over with his Brachio Staff and Jason Lee Scott slashed him all over with his Tyrannosaurus Sword and Gold Zeo staff and kicked him in the head and Piper bashed him all over with her rings and fired powerful blasts of fire at him and burned him. I punched him all over the place and kicked him in the face with a powerful kick.

Me: Now you burn! (ECHOING) RAGE OF INFERNO! 超弾動閃煌斬

I swung my sword and fired a massive vortex of fire and light at Lord Drakkon and it hit him and exploded.

KRABBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Lord Drakkon was sent flying and he crashed into a wall and knocked down some of the High Council and killed them in a powerful explosion.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Lord Drakkon was really tough and we engaged in a powerful sword fight.

We clashed violently and sparks were flying everywhere and setting much of the temple on fire.

Lord Drakkon: This is the end of James Dean Knudson!

I legswept him and threw him into the ground and kicked him into the air.

Piper: Feel the fire! FLY PHOENIX FLY!

Piper fired a powerful spirit phoenix and it slammed into Lord Drakkon and exploded.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Lord Drakkon was knocked down.

Yuffo came flying and crashed through the ground. Darcy is the one that sent him crashing.

Yuffo (to Darcy): Impressive. You'd give Metal Alice a run for her money!

I fired a powerful energy blast and it hit him and exploded. He fell down and exploded.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Vypra and the masters regrouped.

Maria: Vypra, before you and your team teleport out, we need to discuss a few things.

Vypra: It's about Voldemort, right?

William: Exactly. As long as his threat's still out there, he's a danger to both our groups.

Me: He's not just a danger to us, he's a danger to the entire world. He and his followers are going to kill 7.8 billion innocent people. All because of his racist views on wizards and muggles.

Waffle Woman: So you're saying we should form a temporary truce against him when the time comes?

Nico: Exactly.

Calamitous: We accept.

Drakkon: We've already killed a few of those Death Eaters like all of you have anyway.

Me: We appreciate that. It'll make our battle against him easier. And Drakkon, you get to live to fight another day. But from now on we are archenemies.

Drakkon: I'll accept that.

They teleport out.

Me: We're not done here yet.

We then set our sights on the High Mage.

Battle 5: HIGH MAGE

---

We were facing the High Mage.

Me: We won't let you destroy the planet.

High Mage: You will not stop me. I have powers that no mere mortal can understand.

Me: What a coincidence. So do we.

We powered up and transformed.

The Entity threw some orbs at Raph but just when they were about to touch him, he sliced them apart with his sais.

Raph: Not this time, asshole! (to Red Hood) Yo, Jason. Let's do a combo and show this guy how much me and my brothers have changed!

Red Hood: With pleasure.

Red Hood and Raphael fired a powerful blast of red energy.

Red Hood and Raphael: RED JUSTICE TURTLEBLAST!

The blasts combined and turned into a red turtle and it slammed into the High Mage and exploded.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Me: Whoa! Awesome!

Raph: Yeah!

We went at him and I punched the High Mage in the face and kicked him in the stomach and punched him high into the air.

Paige went up to him and fired a powerful blast of fire and it hit him and exploded.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM!

Paige: Try this one! PHOENIX STYLE NINJA ART: FLAMES OF THE WIND!

Paige fired a powerful blast of wind from her wings and it ignited and it was on fire and it slammed into the High Mage and exploded.

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!

Lincoln: Whoa!

Me: Awesome! How about this one. VOLCANO STYLE NINJA ART: KAWAH IJEN BLUE LAVA FIRESTORM!

I fired a powerful wave of neon blue lava and it slammed into the High Mage and exploded and burned him all over.

Paige: Nice one! Try this one! PHOENIX STYLE NINJA ART: TIANCHI PHOENIX ERUPTION!

Paige fired a powerful blast of fire and it turned into a phoenix and it slammed into the High Mage and exploded with the power of the Tianchi Eruption from 946 A.D.

KRABBBBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Me: Whoa! What power!

Nicole: No kidding! That was the power of the Tianchi volcanic eruption from 946 A.D.

Vince: Wow! That was over 1,000 years ago. I remember learning about that when we were over in Japan.

Aylene C.: That was cool!

Me: It sure was. Lets see how it compares to this! VOLCANO STYLE NINJA ART: RINJANI ICE AGE PANIC!

I fired a massive wave of lava and it slammed into the High Mage and exploded with the massive power of Mount Rinjani when it erupted back in 1257 A.D.

KRABBBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Paige: Whoa! That was powerful!

Me: It sure was. That was the power of the Mount Rinjani eruption from 1257 A.D.

Nicole: I remember that one. That was over in Mount Samalas in Indonesia and it plunged the world into a Little Ice Age.

Nico: Wow.

Qin: That is powerful!

Lincoln: No kidding.

Lily: Lets see how he likes this! ORACLE STYLE NINJA ART: WINGED HUSSARS

Lily flew into the air and a powerful curtain of the aurora borealis formed behind her and the song Winged Hussars by Sabaton played.

When the winged hussars arrived

A cry for help in time of need, await relief from holy league

60 days of siege, outnumbered and weak

Sent a message to the sky, wounded soldiers left to die

Will they hold the wall or will the city fall

Dedication

Dedication

They're outnumbered 15 to one

And the battle's begun

Then the winged hussars arrived

Coming down the mountainside

Then the winged hussars arrived

Coming down they turned the tide

As the days are passing by and as the dead are piling high

No escape and no salvation

Trenches to explosive halls are buried deep beneath the walls

Plant the charges there and watch the city fear

Desperation

Desperation

It's a desperate race against the mine

And a race against time

Then the winged hussars arrived

Coming down the mountainside

Then the winged hussars arrived

Coming down they turned the tide

Cannonballs are coming down from the sky

Janissaries are you ready to die?

We will seek our vengeance eye for an eye

You'll be stopped upon the steps of our gate

On this field you're only facing our hate

But back home the sultan's sealing your fate

We remember

In September

That's the night Vienna was freed

We made the enemy bleed!

Storm clouds, fire and steel

Death from above make their enemy kneel

The aurora fired powerful ribbons of light and they turned into the army from the Battle of Vienna in 1683 and it slammed into the High Mage and skewered, slashed and blasted him all over.

Me: Whoa! That was awesome!

Jessie K.: Wow! That was the army from the Battle of Vienna in 1683. One of the most intense battles in all of Austria's history.

Hunter: Ja. One of the most decisive battles in all of Austria's history.

Me: Very intense back 337 years ago.

Nico: No kidding.

Me: That was awesome though. Lets get him!

We all went at the High Mage and I punched him in the face and kicked him in the stomach and Qin then ripped out of her jumpsuit and turned into Scalebreath and fired a powerful blast of fire from her mouth! It hit the high mage and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Lola: Time for the fire to burn! Ready Piper?

Piper: You bet Lola.

Lola fired a powerful blast of fire and Piper sent her rings out.

Lola and Piper: PHOENIX HALO RINGSTORM!

Lola's fire merged with the rings and turned them into miniature phoenixes and they hit the High Mage and exploded all over.

Ben: Lets see how he likes this!

Ben turned into a new Ultimate Alien. It was ULTIMATE DITTO! Ultimate Ditto is larger then the regular then the normal Ditto. The form of his head is still the same. He haves a green skin and wears a black jumpsuit. He have three spots on his stomach and one on his both hands. His arms are also very long.

Ben: ULTIMATE DITTO!

Me: Whoa! An Evolved Splixson!

Shanan: Wow! I've never seen something like this before. This is amazing!

Riley: So cool!

Ultimate Ditto: Watch this.

He split into 5,000 copies of himself and pulverized the High Mage all over the place.

Me: Whoa! Limitless duplication!

Riley: Awesome!

Me: Lets make this monster pay!

Misfire: Right! CYBER KEY POWER!

The Earth Cyber Planet Key went into his back and enhanced his ion particle blaster 100-fold.

Elec Man: Time for you to feel the shock. EARTH CYBER KEY POWER!

The Earth Cyber Planet Key went into his right arm and enhanced his Thunder Ray 100-fold.

Misfire and Elec Man: LIGHTNING PARTICLE DESTROYER!

Misfire and Elec Man fired their blasts and they hit the High Mage and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Wideload: Time for some power up! CYBER KEY POWER!

The Earth Cyber Planet Key went into his back and enhanced his strength 100-fold.

Skunk (Skunk Fu): Feel the stink! ANIMATRON CYBER KEY POWER!

The Animatron Cyber Planet Key went into his right arm device and enhanced his stink power 100-fold.

Wideload and Skunk (Skunk Fu): STINKY BOULDER SURPRISE!

Wideload threw a huge boulder and Skunk farted a nasty fart of skunk gas and it covered the boulder and the boulder hit the High Mage and exploded.

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Me: Time for us to finish this monster!

Sydney: With pleasure! QUARRY ACID SPITFIRE!

Sydney jumped and ripped out of her jumpsuit as she turned into Quarry and she spit acid at the High Mage and burned him all over.

Nanette: This guy shocks me bad! THUNDERLEGS LIGHTNING STRIKE!

Nanette jumped and ripped out of her jumpsuit and she turned into Thunderlegs and fired a powerful blast of lightning and it hit the high mage and electrocuted him.

Sheila: Feel the shred! SHREDLEGS MERCILESS SHRED!

Sheila jumped and ripped out of her jumpsuit as she turned into Shredlegs and slashed the High Mage all over the place.

George Montgomery: Feel the strength! STONEBITER ROCK MEGASMASH!

George Montgomery jumped and ripped out of his jumpsuit as he turned into Stonebiter and smashed the High Mage all over.

Roy: This is gonna hurt! RAZORFIST SLASHING PUNCH!

Roy jumped and ripped out of his jumpsuit as he turned into Razorfist and he slashed the High Mage all over.

Max Stennson: Try this one on. KING NAIL SCORPION POISON BEAM!

Max Stennson turned into King Nail as he ripped out of his jumpsuit and fired a deadly beam of poison from his scorpion tail and it hit the High Mage and poisoned him.

Ken Armstrong: This is for my friends! ARMORSIGHT ROCK FIST PUNCH!

Ken Armstrong jumped into the air as he ripped out of his jumpsuit and he turned into Armorsight and smashed his fists into the High Mage.

Scalebreath: This breath will burn! FIRESTORM SCALEBREATH BLAST!

Scalebreath fired a massive blast of fire and it slammed into the High Mage and exploded with incredible power!

Versallia: You are not welcome here on this planet ever again! Y'LYNTIAN ORACLE BLAST!

Versallia fired a powerful blast of light and it hit the High Mage and exploded.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM!

Leonardo: Lets get him guys!

Donatello: Yeah!

Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles: RADIOACTIVE TURTLE MEGABLAST FORMATION!

The turtles got into an X formation and they fired a powerful blast of radioactive energy and it hit the High Mage and exploded.

KRABBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

The explosion knocked him down.

Me: It's over High Mage.

Leo: Your crazy ritual is reeking havoc across the globe! It stops now!

Leo slammed a crystal into the Star Crystal and shattered it and the energy being released was destroying the city!

Me: Lets get out of here!

We got out of the city and got to the entrance of the city cave and we saw the city, all of the Y'Lyntians, the Crystal Moon and all of it sink into the lava.

Me: It's all gone.

Versallia: Yes the world has been saved. But I have lost everything I have ever known.

Versallia then broke down crying.

I comforted her.

Me: You haven't lost everything Versallia. You still have us as your friends and you helped us in saving the world.

We later went back home. We had to seal the cave that lead into the underground city and close it off forever. Qin and the others reverted back and got new clothes.

Versallia now calls the estate home. She is more than willing to help us and show us many things we were never shown.

Sydney: (To the viewers) We may have seen the last of the evil Y'Lyntians and their ways but we still have other evils out there.

Me: We sure do Sydney. And the greatest battle is on the horizon.

I looked and saw the sun and a Spirit image of Lord Voldemort appeared and I looked at him with eyes glowing red with blazing hatred and righteous justice and Lord Voldemort laughed at me.

Me: You will pay for your crimes Voldemort.

THE END

Another Fanfiction complete and an awesome episode of 2003's TMNT done.

The Entity Below was an awesome episode from 2003's TMNT and it was awesome! We only have 2 more chapters left until chapter 1,000 and this is gonna be one awesome chapter coming up! NicoChan11 gave me the ideas for this. Thanks man. Let me know what you all think. The Calm Before the Storm is on as I face Draco Malfoy in a duel before the epic battle with Lord Voldemort and his followers.

See you all tomorrow.

The Calm Before the Magic Storm

In the Hyperbolic Time Chamber, I was training the entirety of the entire Miraculous Celestial Union, the Mysticons and the wizards of Hogwarts vigorously.

Me: Good guys!

We were training extremely hard for the upcoming war with Lord Voldemort and his followers. It was gonna be a rough battle. We also had spirit weights on and they acted like real weights and they weighed over 500 kilos. It was an incredible and intense battle as the gravity and thick air was making us stronger by the second and the temperature from the flames and raging hot heat was making us stronger than ever as we absorbed all of the fire in the area and it was so intensely powerful and it was so hot and so strong that it was unbelievable. It was like we were absorbing the very flames of the Sun and Hell itself. But the fire was really the intense and extreme burning hatred that we reflected towards all of our enemies that we've all encountered from over the course of 4 years as we have shown an intense desire to kill all of them and rid the world of their reign of terror. We pushed our bodies to the absolute limit and it was because of our drive to protect all of our love ones that we got through the Time Chamber. One thing was for sure: We were determined to make sure that Voldemort paid the ultimate price for every single one of his crimes against the Earth.

Nico and everyone else were waiting outside.

May: How much time is left?

Nico looked at his watch.

Nico: 15 minutes. We're gonna need all the heavy firepower we can get when we take down Voldemort.

Rin Nohara: I know. It's gonna be one tough battle as we face him and all of his followers.

Lynn: This is gonna be a really tough battle. But when we face them, we need to hit them hard with everything we got.

Lisa: Affirmative. But with us being impervious to all magic, it's going to be one tough challenge for them when they face us in a fight to the death.

Luna: That's right. But we have to be ready for them.

Then they all felt our energy signals and they were far more powerful than ever before.

Hunter: (German Accent) They must be finished.

Naruto: Yeah.

Sakura: Their level of power has gotten far more powerful than ever.

We came to them and our clothes were shredded and our power was stronger than ever before with our muscles stronger than ever as well.

Nico: Wow. You've all changed incredibly.

Me: I know. But it was a grueling training experience. But we are ready.

Lori: We literally are ready.

Laney: We have to be ready for anything Voldemort and his followers throw at us.

Harry Potter: (British Accent) That's right.

Ron Weasley: (British Accent) Yeah.

We all agreed.

---

We later were in the courtyard of Drake City Castle. It was a beautiful place and an amazing castle.

Me: Wow. So this is Drake City Castle.

Ben: I really hope Queen Goodfey accepts you dating Zarya. Otherwise, Dark Spicer might have to bail you out again.

We laughed at Ben's Joke.

Me: That was funny Ben.

Zarya: I know. But mom will accept you dating me J.D.

Me: Okay.

We went into the throne room and we were in the presence of Queen Goodfey.

Queen Goodfey: Team Loud Phoenix Storm. Welcome to the castle of Drake City.

Me: (Bows) Thank you your majesty.

Captain America: (bows) It's an honor to meet you, Queen Goodfey.

Queen Goodfey: You too Steve Rogers. We are forever grateful to you all for destroying that traitor Tazma.

Me: It was our pleasure your majesty. We also heard that you got turned into a stone statue by Dreadbane.

Queen Goodfey: Yes and it was a terrible experience.

Danny: Your Highness, what was it like being a statue?

Queen Goodfey: It was like being trapped in a void of darkness.

Optimus Prime: Your Majesty, I don't want you to get mad. But J.D. decided to have Zarya in his harem the day we met the Mysticons.

Me: Yes your majesty. Me and Zarya fell in love with each other when we first met and she and I have done amazing techniques when we took down Tazma. We all have done amazing techniques.

Lola: It's true. J.D. and Zarya were a powerful force in some of our combos and final smashes. They pack a serious punch in their teamwork.

Queen Goodfey: I can see that. But take good care of her J.D.

Me: You have my word of honor your majesty.

Robin: You're not mad about Zarya dating J.D.?

Queen Goodfey: Not at all. News about all of your adventures has spread all over the universe and how you all have saved the entire universe more times than anyone else. Anyone that is brave enough to face the ultimate evils of the universe is a friend to all and is welcome in our family.

Me: Thank you your majesty.

Superman: Is there any chance that you can give us some sort of aid against Voldemort?

Me: Have you ever heard of him?

Queen Goodfey: I have heard legends about Lord Voldemort. He was a ruthless and powerful wizard.

Me: Yes. His real name was Tom Marvalo Riddle and he trying to kill 7.8 billion innocent people all to satisfy the racially motivated beliefs of Salazar Slytherin. We thought we had seen the last of him with him burning down in Hell, but now he's coming back and is going to kill us all if we don't stop him. The entire human race is now in grave danger and the 3rd Wizarding War is now looming over the horizon. That's why failure is not an option. If we don't stop him in the next 24 hours when he surfaces, we have no future.

Queen Goodfey: I see. I can't believe Voldemort is that dangerous. He is a monster.

Me: Worse than that your majesty. He's the ultimate form of pure evil that's beyond pure evil.

Lisa: Eh. Close enough.

Me: Yeah. Billions of lives are now in danger. He killed thousands of innocent people when the 2nd Wizarding War broke out. Now he's coming back to finish the job and wipe out everyone.

Queen Goodfey: You have the aid of us when the time comes J.D.

Me: Thank you your majesty. And just so you know, we're completely impervious to magic. Our power makes us completely impervious to all magic.

Arkayna: Wow. That is amazing.

Nico: It sure is.

Lincoln: Voldemort and his followers are going down.

Me: Yep.

We were gonna be ready for the biggest fight that will shake the entire universe to the brink.

Then an owl came and it had a letter. He dropped it to me.

Me: Oh it's for me. Lets see here.

I opened the letter and read it.

Me: "Dear Knudson, This is Draco Malfoy and I challenge you to a duel that will decide who stays in Hogwarts. Winner stays and the loser leaves forever. Draco Malfoy." So that little arrogant shit wants to fight huh?

Nico: I can't believe that Malfoy would sink so low.

Me: I always knew he was arrogant and a racist, but now he just signed his death warrant just like his miserable father.

Lincoln: Lets get him.

We went to Hogwarts and in the dueling club room was Draco Malfoy.

Me: Hello Malfoy.

Draco Malfoy: (British Accent) Knudson. I see you got my letter.

Me: I did. Now what's this all about?

Draco Malfoy: You know what it's about J.D.! I want you gone! I want you to leave Hogwarts and never come back! You ruining my life and ruined everything for me!

Me: You are exactly like your miserable father was when I killed him.

Draco Malfoy: I'm what!?

Me: The apple doesn't fall far from the tree. And if you even touch any of my friends, I will kill you just like how I killed your father.

Draco Malfoy: You mud blood scum!

Me: Takes one to know one you fuckhead shitsucker.

Draco Malfoy: Do you really think you could threaten me and not expect any retaliation?!

Nico: He has a point.

Crabbe: (British Accent) Do you really think you can beat all three of us?

Goyle: We have you outnumbered.

May: (to Nico) Sorry we're late, babe.

Maria: (to Crabbe and Goyle) Can we play too?

Me: You and May can face Crabbe and Goyle. But leave Malfoy for me.

Nico: Right.

Draco Malfoy: You scared Knudson?

Me: In your fucking dreams.

I fired a laser at the ground by his feet and it exploded and sent him crashing into the wall. But he got up.

Me: We need to save our energy and power for the war. PHOENIX RIDDIKULUS!

I fired a powerful blast of fire and it turned into a phoenix and it slammed into Draco Malfoy and not only burned him but also turned his clothes into a stupid dress and dumb accessories. It was humiliating.

Harry Potter: You have threatened my friends lives for far too long Malfoy. PHOENIX FLIPPENDO!

Harry Potter fired a powerful blast of fire and it turned into a phoenix and it slammed into Draco Malfoy and exploded. Sending him flipping and crashing into the wall.

Nico punched Crabbe in the face and Maria fired a powerful blast of water at him and drenched him.

Nico and Maria: OCEANUS MAELSTROM DIZZYSPIN!

Nico and Maria fired powerful blasts of water and spun Crabbe in the air in a massive cyclone of water and it made him so dizzy that it was unbelievable.

May: Time for this monster to freeze!

Qin: And burn.

May and Qin: FIRE AND WATER SUPER BURN!

May fired a powerful ice blast from her ice ray and froze Goyle in a block of ice and Qin fired a powerful blast of fire that melted him and burned him.

We then took their wands and snapped them in half.

Nico: (to Maria and May) Guys, I think that the three of us are similar to Sora, Riku, and Kairi. I'm similar to Sora. Maria's similar to Riku. And May's similar to Kairi.

May: That's a great comparison.

Maria: I like it.

Nico: We all do act like it.

Maria: I know. I act like Riku because even though he went through dark times, I have always been there for my friends.

May: I act like Kairi because I have a strong love for my friends and family.

Nico: And I act like Sora because he's brave, courageous and pure.

Me: Good comparisons.

Qin: What should we do with Malfoy and his goons?

Nico: We'll have them shipped off to the top men.

Qin: What?

Nico: Top men, Qin. Top. Men.

Brian: It's what happened when me and Peter did that to James Woods.

Me: Nice. Indiana Jones reference. That was from Raiders of The Lost Ark. I love that scene.

Laney: Good movie too.

We put them in a crate and locked it and sent them to a massive storage facility full of crates.

Me: (To the viewers) Never underestimate the power of friendship and good.

Laney: Yep.

We never had to see Draco Malfoy, Vincent Crabbe and Gregory Goyle Again. But the war is about to begin.

Another Fanfiction complete and my 999th chapter done!

This is the coming before the storm and we are gonna be ready to face Lord Voldemort and all his followers with everything we got and it's gonna shake the very foundation of the entire universe to the brink. We're going to face them on Thanos's world and use that as our battleground and blow the planet up with them. NicoChan11 gave me the ideas for this. Thanks man. Let me know what you all think. Get ready for the mother of all battles in chapter 1,000 as we destroy Voldemort and all of his followers in an epic clash that will decide the fate of the Earth.

See you all tomorrow and get ready for a fight like no other.

WAR OF WIZARDS

MY 1,000TH CHAPTER! HORRAY! GET READY FOR AN AWESOME AND DEVASTATING BATTLE!

---

Thunder and lightning was raging in the skies as storm clouds covered the area and the darkness of war was looming on the horizon.

We were standing in the middle of our backyard and we were watching the skies and waiting. It was gonna be a rough battle ahead of us as the war with Voldemort and his followers was coming.

Me: This is it guys. War is upon us.

Nico: Yep. And we're gonna make sure that Voldemort pays dearly for his crimes.

Harry Potter: (British Accent) He will pay for killing us and my parents.

Lincoln: He sure will.

Lily: Voldemort is gonna rue the day he messed with us.

Maria: William, no matter what happens, I'm glad I got to meet you in the Estate's pool the day after I got cured.

William: Thanks Maria.

We were ready for anything.

The Masters of Evil were with us. It was gonna be a fight like no other and the fate of the people of the Earth were now hanging in the balance.

THUNDERCLAP!

Eddy: (to the rest of us) You guys know what's at stake, right?

Dark Spicer: (to his teammates) No fighting!

Luan: Are you kidding me?!

Vypra: You're joking, right?

Me: The fate of the population of the world is now hanging in the balance.

THUNDERCLAP!

Laney: Look!

We then saw a massive flash of light and we saw an evil green skull appear in the storm clouds and a snake appeared from under it and then numerous streams of black smoke came out of the snake mouth.

Me: Here they come! Prepare for war!

We then powered up and we were gonna incur the wrath of God on Voldemort.

They stood before us! We saw LORD VOLDEMORT AND HIS DEATH EATERS!

Thomas Marvolo "Tom" Riddle III (December 31, 1926 - May 2, 1998), later better known as Lord Voldemort or simply as Voldemort, is the main antagonist of the Harry Potter book and film franchise.

He is the heir of Salazar Slytherin who was destined to open the Chamber of Secrets and purge Hogwarts from all Muggle-born students. Initially, Riddle's goals were only to fulfill his role as Slytherin's heir, but over time, he had expanded his ambitions into taking over the entire wizard world and shape it under his and Slytherin's supremacist views, becoming the most powerful and feared Dark Wizard of all time, as well as the lord of the Death Eaters in the process. He also serves as Harry Potter's archenemy.

Tom Marvolo Riddle was born on New Year's Eve, 1926 in an orphanage in London. He was born to Merope Gaunt, a direct descendant of Salazar Slytherin, and Tom Riddle Sr., a wealthy and extremely snobbish Muggle. Merope magically tricked Tom Sr. into marrying her and kept him under control until she finally let him go, hoping he would have fallen in love with her on his own after, but he abandoned her without second thoughts, desperate and miserable, she died shortly after choosing a name for her newborn son. J.K. Rowling stated that due to the fact that he was born because of a love potion, it made him unable to feel love and made him the monster he was, though it would have been different if Merope survived and loved him.

Tom Riddle grew up in a dingy orphanage, completely unaware of his Wizarding heritage, though he did have a lot of grasp on his abilities beyond that of normal magical children, which he used to harm people he did not like. He was never caught for any of his acts, but was suspected nonetheless. He used fear and manipulation to control his fellow orphans and regularly stole from them, who feared him so much that they refused to share a room with him. Although he was far more intelligent than his peers, he already demonstrated disturbing sociopathic and megalomaniac tendencies.

When Tom was 11 years old, Dumbledore visited the orphanage and invited Tom to attend Hogwarts. Not much else is known of his childhood.

Hogwarts Years

Tom Riddle was educated at Hogwarts School of Witchcraft and Wizardry from 1938 to 1945, and was placed in Slytherin. During summer breaks, he would return to the Muggle orphanage, which he despised and dreaded more than any other place on Earth.

Tom described himself as "poor, but brilliant, parentless, but so brave, a school prefect, a model student." This opinion was shared by the Professors, including Horace Slughorn whom Tom tricked into telling him about Horcruxes. The sole exception to this was Albus Dumbledore, the Transfiguration professor at the time, who still admits that Tom was the most brilliant student Hogwarts has ever seen.

Tom eventually became obsessed with his parentage and began researching it with an insatiable hunger. During his research, he realized his shared heritage with Salazar Slytherin. During this time, Tom relinquished the Muggle name he loathed and began going by the name " Lord Voldemort": an anagram of his given name: "Tom Marvolo Riddle" rearranged giving: "I am Lord Voldemort"

In his 5th year, Tom located the secret entrance to the Chamber of Secrets, and was able to control the Basilisk (the snake-like monster inside) because he was a Parselmouth. Tom turned the beast loose on the school, injuring many. The last victim was a student named Myrtle, who was killed in the girls' bathroom and whose soul later became a lingering ghost in the same restroom by the name of "Moaning". Hogwarts was to be closed, but Tom didn't want to return home. To keep the school from shutting down, he framed fellow student Rubeus Hagrid, who secretly raised Aragog, a baby Acromantula (Giant Spider).

Dumbledore, distrusting Riddle, kept a close watch on him after that. Because it was no longer safe to open the Chamber of Secrets, Tom created a diary to preserve a part of his soul, hoping it would one day lead someone to finish Salazar Slytherin's "noble" work. This diary was one of his seven Horcruxes. At Tom's last year at Hogwarts, he was prefect, Head Boy, and he had received a medal for magical merit.

Little Hangleton

During the summer of 1943, Tom Riddle went to the small hut where his mother once lived. There he gained information about his mother and father, and then stunned his uncle Morfin Gaunt (the last remaining inhabitant) and implanted a false memory of him killing the Riddle family inside his head. Later that morning, all 3 Riddles were found dead in the drawing room of their home. Investigating wizards learned Morfin's wand was used to commit the murders and he confessed the murders. As for people in Little Hangleton, they grew to blame the Riddles' gardener Frank Bryce.

After Hogwarts

Shortly before graduating, Tom used his charisma to charm the spirit of Helena Ravenclaw (more commonly known as the Grey Lady, the ghost of Ravenclaw Tower) into revealing the location of Rowena Ravenclaw's Diadem. Then when he finished his education, he asked Armando Dippet for a chance to teach Defence Against the Dark Arts at Hogwarts, but was deemed too young. After leaving Hogwarts, he presumably traveled to the far-flung forest in Albania about which Helena had told him and retrieved the Diadem. He murdered an Albanian and turned the Diadem into a Horcrux. Upon his return to Britain, he was offered several positions in the Ministry of Magic, but ended up working at Borgin and Burkes for Caractacus Burke, which disappointed and surprised many. His job was to "persuade" people to part with their valuable magical items - a job at which he was very good.

During his time with Borgin and Burkes, Tom charmed a wealthy, elderly lady named Hepzibah Smith. After several visits showed him her 2 most valuable treasures: Salazar Slytherin's Locket and Helga Hufflepuff's Cup. Tom killed her and stole the objects, vanishing without a trace. He covered his tracks well by implanting another false memory into an innocent person, Hokey, Hepzibah's house elf, who admitted to accidentally putting poison into Hepzibah's cocoa. Meanwhile, Tom ran away with the cup and locket and turned them into two more Horcruxes.

Transformation

Tom disappeared for many years, slipping deeper into the Dark Arts. The more he made Horcruxes, the less human he became and eventually lost all trace of humanity. Tom appealed once more to Albus Dumbledore, now Headmaster of Hogwarts, for the position of Defence Against the Dark Arts professor, in an attempt to learn Hogwarts' secrets and recruit followers. Dumbledore denied him, knowing of his plan. The position has since been jinxed; teachers only held the position for a year until Riddle's death ended the spell. Riddle's visit to request the position was not fruitless, however; he hid Rowena Ravenclaw's Diadem in the Room of Requirement, where he believed it would never be found.

The Rise of the Dark Lord

In the 1970s, Lord Voldemort had gathered a following of witches and wizards, who named themselves the Death Eaters. He then began taking advantage of the Wizarding World's greatest weakness: the beings and creatures that they had outcast. He recruited Giants, Werewolves, Dementors and many others; and used his army to wage war against the Ministry of Magic. At the height of Voldemort's reign of terror (and for many years after), people were so afraid of him that they didn't even dare speaking his name, referring to him as "You-Know-Who" or "He-Who-Must-Not-Be-Named."

One of the Wizarding World's few remaining safe places was Hogwarts, which was under the staunch protection of Albus Dumbledore, the only person Lord Voldemort feared. Dumbledore created the Order of the Phoenix to fight against Voldemort, but they were outnumbered and suffered many casualties. In 1979, word came from an informant, Severus Snape, of a Prophecy that predicted Voldemort's downfall:

" The one with the power to vanquish the Dark Lord approaches… Born to those who have thrice defied him, born as the seventh month dies… And the Dark Lord will mark him as his equal, but he will have power the Dark Lord knows not… And either must die at the hand of the other for neither can live while the other survives… „

This Prophecy was made by Sybill Trelawney, during a job interview with Albus Dumbledore for the position of Divination. According to Dumbledore, Snape only heard the part about Voldemort's downfall and to whom it may relate, before being thrown out by the barman, (Aberforth Dumbledore). Frightened, the Dark Lord sprang into action, unknowingly launching a chain of events that would eventually accomplish the fate he sought to avoid.

Lord Voldemort realized he must kill the 2 babies to whom it could refer - Harry Potter, a Half-Blood, and Neville Longbottom, a Pure-Blood - For reasons known only to Voldemort himself, he chose to kill Harry instead of Neville (Dumbledore suspected this was because Harry shared his Half-Blood heritage with Voldemort). Due to the involvement of Peter Pettigrew, James Potter's friend-turned-Death-Eater, Lord Voldemort learned the Potter family's secret location. Voldemort murdered James and Lily Potter, but when he used the Killing Curse on Harry, it rebounded upon himself, ripping his soul from his body and destroying his powers. Lord Voldemort had been defeated by the one-year-old boy because Lily's love for her son created an invisible and powerful defense in Harry's skin when she died for him.

The Death Eaters were lost. Many claimed they had been under the Imperius Curse, while others stayed true to their master and continued his work, most notably the Lestranges; Bellatrix and her husband, Rodolphus. Eventually, they were all captured and locked away in Azkaban.

Missing Years

Lord Voldemort wasn't dead, however. His Horcruxes kept him alive, although formless and powerless. He retreated to the same Albanian forest he had traveled to find Rowena Ravenclaw's Diadem, expecting one of his faithful Death Eaters to find him and help him. But those still faithful to him were either dead or in Azkaban. He gained a form by inhabiting snakes, which never lived long.

During the incidents with the Cursed Vaults, Jacob's sibling encountred several Boggarts in his/her third year, taking the shape of his/her greatest fear; Lord Voldemort. In the Vault of Fear, he/she had to save his/her friends from three Boggarts taking the shape of Voldemort, turning them into clowns. Then another Boggart appered, saying the words of the real Voldemort; "There is nothing worse than death", before being forced to fight it. After defeating the Boggarts, Jacob's sibling and his/her friends escapes and discovers the treasures of the Vault.

Second Defeat

Fortunately for Lord Voldemort, Professor Quirrell was wandering into the forest while on a vacation and he was able to make him into his follower. In 1991 - 1992, Voldemort ordered Quirrell to steal Nicolas Flamel's Philosopher's Stone from a vault in Gringotts Bank, so he could make the Elixir of Life. However, it had been removed by Hagrid right before Quirrell could steal it. Lord Voldemort then possessed Quirrel and took form on the back of his head, which was concealed by a turban. Quirrell often drank Unicorn blood to sustain his master.

Quirrell tricked Hagrid into telling him about Fluffy, the three headed Hound that was the first guard of the Philosopher's stone at Hogwarts. Now all they needed was a way to get into the Forbidden Corridor. Severus Snape was suspicious, however, and when Quirrell let loose a Troll in the dungeons as a distraction, Snape blocked him off.

Voldemort had Quirrell send a fake letter to Dumbledore, asking him to go to the Ministry of Magic, then moved on with their plan. They beat their way through the security enchantments and reached the Mirror of Erised. There, Quirrell saw himself presenting the stone to his master, but could not get it. It was only when Harry arrived that they could retrieve the stone, as only someone who wanted to find the stone, but not use it, could get it from the mirror. Voldemort figured this out, and Quirrell attacked Harry, but when he touched Harry, his hands blistered. Harry placed his hands on Quirrell's face, severely injuring him. Lord Voldemort's soul fled when Dumbledore barged in, once more without a body.

Second Exile and the Diary

In 1992, Lucius Malfoy placed a diary containing the soul fragments of Voldemort embedded in it into Ginny Weasley's cauldron who brought it to Hogwarts. She came in contact with the 16-year-old-Riddle Horcrux, who feigned to comfort her to manipulate her. Riddle's memory learned all he could about his future self defeat and Harry Potter. He slowly drained the life away from Ginny Weasley, and put her under his control. He made her open the Chamber of Secrets and release the Basilisk, kill Hagrid's roosters, and write threatening messages on the wall outside Moaning Myrtle's bathroom. Gradually, Ginny became suspicious, so she threw the diary away in Moaning Myrtle's Bathroom. Harry and Ron accidentally stumbled upon it, and Harry began communicating with Tom.

Tom misled Harry about who opened the Chamber of Secrets, convincing him it was Hagrid. When Ginny saw that Harry had the Diary, she stole it back for she did not want Harry to find out all the things she had done while under its influence. When Tom was ready to take his physical form from Ginny's life, he lured her into the Chamber of Secrets. The switch was almost complete when Harry found them. Tom summoned the Basilisk to kill Harry, but Dumbledore's phoenix, Fawkes arrived and blinded the monster. Fawkes also brought the Sorting Hat, from which Harry withdrew Godric Gryffindor's sword. He killed the Basilisk, then used the Basilisk's fang to stab the Diary, unknowingly destroying one of Lord Voldemort's Horcruxes.

Rebirth and Second Rise to Power

In 1994, Peter Pettigrew, who had been hiding in his Animagus form of Scabbers, Ron's rat, ever since his Master's defeat, was unmasked and fled, eventually returning to his Master. He milked venom from Nagini the snake to built a rudimentary body that Voldemort could travel and perform magic with. Pettigrew had also captured Bertha Jorkins, a Ministry Official. Peter overheard her talking about a Triwizard Tournament at Hogwarts, and Voldemort used a Memory charm to retrieve the information from her, overpowering the previous Memory Charm cast upon her. He then found out about the whereabouts of a loyal Death Eater, Bartemius Crouch Jr, who Crouch Sr. was forcefully hiding in his home, after freeing him from Azkaban.

Voldemort had Pettigrew carry him to the old Riddle manor house, where they killed the groundskeeper Frank Bryce for overhearing their plan; and then to the Crouch home where they placed Crouch Sr. under the Imperius Curse, freeing Crouch Jr. They returned to the Riddle home, where Voldemort instructed Wormtail and Crouch Jr. to capture Alastor Moody, the new Defence Against the Dark Arts Professor at Hogwarts. Crouch Jr. drank Polyjuice potion with a few hairs of Alastor Moody, and went to Hogwarts to make Harry participate in the Triwizard Tournament. The fake Moody helped Harry through all the challenges, and when Cedric and Harry grabbed the Triwizard Cup (which, unbeknownst to them, was a Portkey), they were transported to outside the Riddle mansion, where Peter and Voldemort were waiting. Pettigrew killed Cedric, and used Harry's blood in a ritual for his master's rebirth. Voldemort regained his body, and called his Death Eaters. Those who were perhaps most loyal to him, save for those who willingly went to Azkaban in his name, appeared.

He then tried to kill Harry, but since their wands were made from the same Phoenix's feathers, the core wands connected, and those who were killed by Voldemort's wand came out as spectral beings, including Harry's parents. Harry pulled away, and the beings gave him enough time to grab Cedric's body and the Triwizard Cup to return to the Hogwarts grounds.

Barty Crouch Jr. had been discovered, and was given the Dementors' kiss before he could stand trial, leaving the only knowledge of Voldemort's return as Harry's word, which wasn't taken seriously by most. Due to this, Voldemort was able to operate in secret.

Prophecy Search

Lord Voldemort kept quiet about his return, and only few believed he was back. Yet Dumbledore started the Order of the Phoenix again, this time with a head start.

In 1995, Voldemort was now after the Prophecy in the Department of Mysteries, to hear the whole of it. Voldemort used the Imperius curse on an Unspeakable: Broderick Bode, and sent him in to get it. However, Bode was seriously injured, and put into a permanent ward at St. Mungo's, where he was eventually murdered by a Devil's Snare plant delivered to his bedside. Voldemort then learned that only the people the Prophecy is about are able to touch it, although understandably he couldn't risk going into the Ministry for fear of exposure. During this period of time, many of Voldemort's most loyal followers, such as Bellatrix Lestrange, escaped from Azkaban and returned to his side.

Eventually he became aware of Harry seeing through his eyes, so he set up a false vision, of Sirius being tortured at the Ministry. Harry, Hermione, Ron, Luna Lovegood, Ginny and Neville went to rescue him, as Voldemort predicted. Now that Harry had gotten the Prophecy, all they needed was to get it from him, but they put up a fight during which the prophecy was smashed.

In the end, Voldemort appeared and tried to kill Harry, but ended up duelling Dumbledore. After a destructive battle with Dumbledore, Voldemort possessed Harry, telling Dumbledore to kill him now, but he fled when Cornelius Fudge and other Ministry officials arrived, now convinced of his return. Many of Voldemort's Death Eaters, including Lucius Malfoy, were incarcerated and sent to Azkaban, though by this time the Dementors had left to side with the Dark Lord.

Second Wizarding War

Now that Voldemort no longer needed to keep his actions silent, he waged a second war against the Ministry of Magic. Mass Muggle killings and destruction, were rampant.

In 1996, he made Draco Malfoy a Death Eater, requiring a loyal follower within the school. He instructed Draco to kill Dumbledore, for he wished to punish Lucius Malfoy by giving his son a task he could not do. If he failed, he would meet terrible consequences. In the end, Malfoy was able to sneak a group of Death Eaters into the Castle through a pair of Vanishing Cabinets (the second of which was located in Borgin and Burke's), and a Battle at Hogwarts ensued. Voldemort's plans were carried out, as Severus Snape killed Dumbledore (Albus was dying and asked Snape to kill him and also to save Malfoy, for he had made an Unbreakable Vow with Draco's mother, Narcissa).

Voldemort made Malfoy Manor his headquarters. During the summer of 1997, he captures the Muggle Studies teacher at Hogwarts, Charity Burbage, and kills her before he feeds her to Nagini. He also questioned the kidnapped wandmaker, Ollivander, about why his wand reacted so with Harry Potter's wand. Ollivander told him that Voldemort needed another's wand and so he takes Lucius Malfoy's wand.

When Harry is removed for the last time from his Muggle home; Voldemort flies to the scene where his Death Eaters are fighting with Order of the Phoenix airborne. He kills Mad-Eye Moody and then heads straight toward Harry. There Voldemort attempts to duel with Harry, but Harry's wand released a spurt of golden fire at him and destroyed Lucius' wand (Harry's wand absorbed a fraction of Voldemort's magic during their duel at the graveyard). Harry managed to reach the protection of Nymphadora Tonks' parents home and Voldemort was forced to retreat.

Angrily, he returned to Malfoy Manor and demanded from Ollivander to answer why Harry's wand yet again reacted towards him, even with a completely different wand. Ollivander told him truthfully that never in Wandlore has he ever heard of such thing happening. Infuriated, Voldemort resolved that he needed the most powerful wand known to man to defeat Harry Potter: the Elder Wand, the Deathstick, The Wand of Destiny. He set out to assume mastery of the Elder Wand, not knowing that it was one of the 3 legendary Deathly Hallows.

During the wedding of Bill Weasley and Fleur Delacour, Kingsley Shacklebolt announced through his Patronus that the Minister for Magic was dead and that the Ministry of Magic had fallen to Voldemort, giving him control over the entire Wizarding England. He establishes a totalitarian police state in its place and has all Muggle-Borns persecuted and imprisoned in Azkaban.

Voldemort traveled to Germany, in search of the wandmaker, Gregorovich. Eventually, Voldemort finally finds Gregorovich, who informs Voldemort that the Wand was stolen from him. Voldemort then performs Legilimency on him and sees a blond young man who steals the wand and disappears in the darkness. Since Gregorovich didn't know who the thief was, Voldemort killed him.

When Harry Potter and Hermione Granger go to Godric's Hollow, they fall into a trap devised by the Dark Lord, who knew that they would go there. Nagini, whom Voldemort had disguised as the historian Bathilda Bagshot, manages to capture Harry, and calls Voldemort. Harry escapes shortly before Voldemort arrives however, and Voldemort finds not Harry, but a picture of the thief at the scene.

Voldemort realizes that the thief is none other than the Dark Wizard Gellert Grindelwald, whom Albus Dumbledore defeated. He breaks into the prison where Grindelwald was being held, where Grindelwald proceeds to tell him that it wouldn't bring about what Voldemort sought, and that there was so much Voldemort didn't understand. Voldemort killed Grindelwald and stole the Elder Wand from the tomb of Albus Dumbledore.

The Battle of Hogwarts

Following this, Voldemort became aware that Harry Potter and his friends are seeking his Horcruxes, and realizes that three of them have been stolen, with another destroyed. Voldemort returns to Hogwarts following these revelations, to quell a revolution sparked by the arrival of Harry Potter. He rounds up his entire army of Death Eaters, giants, Dementors and Acromantulas and, after not receiving Potter, commands them to fight the Aurors, teachers, and students who were of age. Voldemort himself isn't present at the Battle; he is investigating why the Elder Wand doesn't work any differently than his old one. He comes to the conclusion that Severus Snape is the true master of the Elder Wand and orders Nagini to murder him.

Voldemort then calls a one-hour armistice, requesting Harry Potter in exchange for peace and no further deaths. Unbeknownst to Voldemort, Harry carried within him a seventh Horcrux, formed when Voldemort failed to kill him. When Harry meets Voldemort, Voldemort hits him with a Killing Curse almost immediately, but only destroys the Horcrux within, for when Voldemort used Harry's blood in the potion, it kept his mother's protection alive. Harry was knocked to the ground and feigns death.

Voldemort then marched to Hogwarts, proclaiming the death of Harry Potter and his victory. Neville Longbottom, instead of surrendering, charged at Voldemort, and the Battle recommenced.

Neville pulled the sword of Gryffindor from the Sorting Hat and decapitated Nagini with it, destroying the last of Voldemort's Horcruxes. Enraged, Voldemort attempted to kill Neville, but Harry interfered and cast a shield charm between them before the former could raise a wand. Voldemort entered the battle and forced his way into Hogwarts with his army, before getting locked in battle against Minerva McGonagall, Horace Slughorn, and Kingsley Shacklebolt all at once. When he saw Bellatrix Lestrange killed at the hands of Molly Weasley, he turned his wand on her, intending to kill her, but Harry revealed himself then to be alive, forcing the battle to stop, and the pair faced each other in the Great Hall.

When the two men are facing one another, Harry proceeds to tell Voldemort that he has magic that Voldemort knows not and a weapon more powerful than his, in addition to giving Voldemort warning of the fate that lay in store for him if he was unwilling to feel remorse for his actions. Goading him by using his real name, Harry tells him that Snape's loyalty was with Dumbledore all along, that Dumbledore's death was planned and that Snape wasn't the master of the Elder Wand; Draco Malfoy was.

Death

Originally horrified, Voldemort proceeded to tell Harry that it makes no difference, and that after he has killed Harry, Draco could be disposed of. Harry then states that if the Elder Wand is aware that Harry overpowered Draco in Malfoy Manor, then Harry himself is the true master. Refusing to believe this, Voldemort cast the Killing Curse at Harry, but Harry was indeed the master: The Elder Wand refused to kill its master and the spell rebounds, killing Tom Marvolo Riddle once and for all.

After his death, the jinx Voldemort put on the Defense Against the Dark Arts position was broken and the Dark Mark signs Voldemort gave to his minions faded from their arm, reduced into nothing but scars. The Ministry of Magic was reformed by Kingsley Shacklebolt, who was named the Minister of Magic. In addition, once the wizarding world as whole became aware of Voldemort's final death, they no longer feared to pronounce his name.

Since the Horcruxes damaged Voldemort's soul to the point that he couldn't even become a ghost, he is stunted to exist in the skinless baby-like form that Harry saw when he was in limbo, unable to cross over into the afterlife for all of eternity. Lord Voldemort, who was extremely afraid of death, received in the end, a fate far worse than that.

Me: You and your pure-blood supremacist ways will end now! ATTACK!

We went at them and I snapped my fingers and we were on the planet of Thanos, Titan. We were 1,827 light years away from Earth and we were on the very planet that Thanos was from!

* * *

Home to Titans, Titan was once a rich, lush world. It was plagued by overpopulation, however, which caused a drain on its resources and sent the Titan race hurtling towards a societal cataclysm. Thanos proposed randomly killing half the planet's population as a way to preserve their finite resources, but his plan was rejected as too extreme, and he was cast out as a madman. The predicted catastrophe then hit Titan, causing the mass extinction of most of the planet's lifeforms, with Thanos being the sole survivor.

The once green and blue world turned burnt orange and brown as the upper atmosphere was ravaged by electrical storms with the broken remains of Titan society littering its surface. Even its moon was not spared, taking on a similar appearance. On a planetary scale, Titan was left eight degrees off its axis with its gravitational pull being "all over the place". Convinced that his plan could have saved his homeworld, Thanos became dedicated to wiping out half of all life in the universe so as to spare other planets from suffering the fate of his own people.

Waiting for Thanos

Following his retrieval of the Space Stone, Thanos sent the Black Order to Earth with orders to bring the Time and Mind Stones to Titan. In Ebony Maw's attempt to pry the former from Doctor Strange, he was slain by Iron Man and Spider-Man. The group then seized control of Maw's Q-Ship which crash-landed on Titan. After meeting half the Guardians of the Galaxy, the six agreed to work together to defeat Thanos.

Battle of Titan

Once Thanos arrived, he briefly explained his world's history to Doctor Strange before the Avengers and Guardians of the Galaxy engaged him. After managing to effectively stand their ground against Thanos, the arrival of Nebula distracted Thanos enough that the Avengers, Guardians, and Strange just barely managed to immobilize Thanos long enough for Mantis to subdue him with her powers before they attempted to pry off the Infinity Gauntlet. When Mantis felt that Thanos was in mourning, however, Nebula deduced that he had killed Gamora and Star-Lord attacked Thanos in a rage breaking Mantis' concentration. Having become freed from his trance, Thanos attacked the Avengers and the Guardians, knocking them down with a powerful shockwave from the Gauntlet.

Using the Power and Space Stones, Thanos ripped apart Titan's moon and sent it hurtling at his foes, effectively separating his enemies. Being the only ones to dodge the debris, Strange and Iron Man engaged Thanos individually, but Strange was briefly knocked out and Iron Man was mortally wounded, forcing Strange to barter the Time Stone in order to save Stark's life. His prize secured, Thanos departed to Wakanda to collect the Mind Stone.

As the Avengers and Guardians regrouped after the battle, Thanos completed the Infinity Gauntlet and used its powers to fulfill his goal.

He snapped his fingers, to wipe out half the life in the universe. Of those on Titan, only Nebula and Iron Man were spared, leaving them stranded on the dead planet while the others disintegrated into nothingness.

Battle of Earth

Five years after the Snap, Doctor Strange conjured a portal from Titan to the now destroyed New Avengers Facility to help assist the Avengers in fighting Thanos alongside their allies and previously killed members. Coming through the portal was Star-Lord, Spider-Man, Drax the Destroyer, Mantis, and Strange.

We were running at them and they were running at us and then we clashed in a massive and fiery explosion of incredible power!

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

THE BATTLE THAT WILL DECIDE THE FATE OF THE POPULATION OF EARTH HAS BEGUN!

---

Battle 1: Alecto Carrow

---

(APOCALYPSE TOMORROW BY CHARLES EVANS PLAYS)

The first battle was with Alecto Carrow!

Professor Alecto Carrow was a Dark witch, Death Eater and the sister of Amycus Carrow. Alecto fought in the First Wizarding War along with her brother. They did not search for Lord Voldemort after his first downfall, but were forgiven after Voldemort's return in 1995, and joined the Death Eater ranks once more in the Second Wizarding War.

After the fall of the Ministry of Magic in 1997, Alecto was made Professor of Muggle Studies; she taught the thinking that Muggles are lesser than Wizardkind, and likely taught the pureblood-philosophy as well. When Severus Snape became Headmaster of Hogwarts, she was appointed as Deputy Headmistress, alongside her brother (who was appointed as Deputy Headmaster). She loved to punish and torture the students who opposed them.

On the eve of 1 May, 1998, shortly before the Battle of Hogwarts, she was stunned by Luna Lovegood when she summoned Lord Voldemort's Death Eaters. She was then magically tied up in Ravenclaw Tower by Professor McGonagall. After the battle, she was likely sent to Azkaban along with her brother for their crimes.

Alecto Carrow was born sometime before 1981 into the pure-blood Carrow family somewhere in the British Isles. She likely acquired her wand at either Ollivander's Wand Shop in Diagon Alley or Wands by Gregorovitch at the Carkitt Market.

It is highly likely that she attended Hogwarts School of Witchcraft and Wizardry in her youth.

First Wizarding War

Alecto and her brother, Amycus, supported Lord Voldemort and became Death Eaters during the First Wizarding War. After Voldemort's downfall in 1981, they did not search for their master, believing that Voldemort was gone forever, and thus avoided imprisonment in Azkaban.

Despite this, Alecto and Amycus were among those who, after Voldemort's return, resumed their Death Eater activities. The two siblings were fairly active during the Second Wizarding War

Rebirth of the Dark Lord

Alecto and her brother were, most likely, among the Death Eaters that were summoned by Lord Voldemort to the churchyard at Little Hangleton on 24 June, 1995, as their absence wasn't noted by Voldemort himself.

Battle of the Astronomy Tower

On the evening of 30 June, 1997, Alecto and her brother participated in the assault on Hogwarts Castle, orchestrated by Draco Malfoy, that resulted in the death of Albus Dumbledore. When the Death Eaters arrived at the top of the Astronomy Tower, where Dumbledore was trapped, Alecto gave "wheezing giggles", as her brother made fun of the Headmaster. When Severus Snape arrived on the scene, he cast the curse that ended the Headmaster's life.

On Snape's orders, she and her brother swiftly left the Tower, panting excitedly. In the corridors below, Alecto and Amycus retreated after Snape with their arms over their heads, under attack from blasts by Minerva McGonagall. As the brother and sister descended the Marble Staircase, Harry took a shortcut and arrived on the grounds before them. As the two Death Eaters closed in after him, one of them cast a spell that sent Harry to the ground. Harry hit one of them, who stumbled and fell, tripping up the other, with another Impediment Jinx. The two siblings then ran to the gates, and Disapparated beyond the school boundaries.

That summer the Carrows attended a Death Eater meeting at Malfoy Manor. This meeting concerned plans to capture or kill Harry Potter and take over the Ministry of Magic. During this meeting it was revealed that the Death Eaters had successfully infiltrated the Ministry and that they were aware of the date in which Harry would be removed from Privet Drive. This meeting took place during the height of the Second Wizarding War.

Appointment at Hogwarts

On 1 August, 1997, the Death Eaters managed to stage a coup within the Ministry of Magic, thus gaining influence over all of wizarding Britain. One month later, as of 1 September, Alecto was appointed as Muggle Studies teacher as well as Deputy Headmistress under the new Headmaster Severus Snape.

Muggle Studies was made a compulsory core class. The curriculum was changed to include the Ministry of Magic's anti-Muggle propaganda exclusively (instead of teaching aspects of Muggle culture and science).

As one of the Deputy Heads, Alecto was in charge of all disciplinary action (along with her brother). All Hogwarts staff were obliged to report any rule-breaking student to her or her brother (although the staff did not turn students in if they could avoid it). Alecto's disciplinary measures included torture by way of the Cruciatus Curse, as well as binding students with chains, and corporal punishment in the form of beatings.

Dumbledore's Army, led by Neville Longbottom, spearheaded the resistance against the Carrows. Alecto made a slash on his face after he asked her how much Muggle blood she and her brother had. The group, which was banned after the reenactment of Educational Decree Number Twenty-Four, would sneak into the corridors at night and write on the walls with messages like "Dumbledore's Army, Still Recruiting". Michael Corner was caught releasing a first year that Alecto and/or Amycus had chained up, and he was thus brutally tortured.

When Alecto and Amycus understood they had no hold over Neville, they planned to kill him or send him to Azkaban. As they chased him, Neville vanished into the Room of Requirement, and the rest of Dumbledore's Army soon followed in his footsteps, moving into the room as both Alecto and Amycus tried to hunt them all down.

Overthrow

By the evening of 1 May, 1998, news of Harry Potter, Ronald Weasley and Hermione Granger's break-in of Gringotts Wizarding Bank reached the student body; Terry Boot was beaten up by Alecto and Amycus for yelling about it in the Great Hall over dinner.

That same day, as Lord Voldemort became aware that Harry Potter, Ronald Weasley and Hermione Granger were hunting down and destroying his Horcruxes, he told Alecto and Amycus that Harry might try to get into Ravenclaw Tower. At her urgent request Professor Flitwick, Head of Ravenclaw House, let Alecto into the common room, where she stood guard until Harry Potter and Luna Lovegood came.

Alecto was keeping watch when Harry arrived with Luna Lovegood. She immediately touched her Dark Mark, letting Voldemort and all the Death Eaters know that they had got him. Alecto was immediately stunned by Luna, and Amycus demanded that Minerva McGonagall let him into the Tower. Once inside, he saw his unconscious sister but no sign of Harry, as both Harry and Luna were hidden beneath Harry's Invisibility Cloak. Aware that they were going to feel Voldemort's wrath if they did not hand him Harry, Amycus planned to pass it off on the students, and when Professor McGonagall objected calling Amycus and Alecto cowards in the process, he spat in her face. This caused Harry to use the Cruciatus Curse on him, which knocked him out. Minerva McGonagall used a spell to conjure a net, and the two siblings were tied up and hoisted into the air, where they were left dangling beneath the ceiling.

Post-war

Neither Alecto nor her brother fought in the Battle of Hogwarts as both of them were kept tied-up at Ravenclaw Tower. It is likely that after the battle and the end of the Second Wizarding War they both were imprisoned in Azkaban for their crimes under Kingsley Shacklebolt's de-corrupted Ministry of Magic.

---

Carol went at her and punched Alecto in the face and kicked her in the stomach and Lincoln and Vince fired powerful blasts of lightning at her and electrocuted her all over.

Alecto fired blasts of magic at Carol. But Carol dodged them and fired a powerful blast of atomic energy with Burning Godzilla's Spiral Ray and it hit Alecto and exploded all over.

Alecto then flew into the air and Carol formed a sword of atomic energy and Alecto formed a sword of dark energy and they clashed in a massive explosion of of lightning and darkness. They clashed extremely ferociously and much of the land was set on fire and it turned into a raging inferno of epic proportions. Carol knocked her back and slashed her face with her sword and fired a powerful blast of King Ghidorah's Gravity Lightning and the blasts hit Alecto all over and exploded.

Yuko Tani then appeared and slashed Alect's back and fired a powerful blast of fire and burned her bad.

Carol: You give all wizards everywhere a really bad name!

Alecto: (British Accent) I don't care! As long as Lord Voldemort will rid the world of Muggles and Mudbloods!

Yuko: You are just as fucked up as everyone we killed!

Lincoln head butt Alecto and kicked her in the face and Linka fired a powerful blast of lightning and electrocuted her all over.

Lincoln: You will pay for your crimes Alecto! LIGHT STYLE NINJA ART: EUROPA!

A Powerful curtain of light appeared behind him as Lincoln was singing Europa by Globus.

Alecto was on fire and she was screaming in excruciating pain and Lincoln fired a powerful blast of lightning and electrocuted her all over and Carol fired a powerful blast of Mecha Godzilla's rainbow laser eyes and they hit her and Alecto exploded and splattered her blood and burning guts all over the place.

Carol: Consider your life forfeited bitch!

Alecto's evil spirit then appeared.

Yuko: You will never terrorize the planet ever again Alecto!

She held out her hand to her.

Yuko: HAKAI!

Alecto glowed purple and she screamed in agony as she was being completely obliterated. She was completely erased from existence for all eternity as if she was never born at all.

Yuko: Never again.

Carol: That takes care of that bitch.

Battle 2: Amycus Carrow

---

The next battle was against Alecto's brother Amycus Carrow.

---

Professor Amycus Carrow was a Dark wizard, brother of Alecto Carrow and a Death Eater. Amycus fought in the First Wizarding War along with his sister. They did not search for Lord Voldemort after his first downfall but were forgiven after Voldemort's return in 1995 and joined the Death Eater ranks in the Second Wizarding War.

After the fall of the Ministry of Magic in 1997, Amycus was made Defence Against the Dark Arts professor. This class, which for all intents and purposes simply became "Dark Arts". His sister was stationed at Hogwarts as well. Alecto was the new Muggle Studies professor. He and his sister were also made Deputy Headmasters, serving under Headmaster Severus Snape. Amycus liked to cruelly punish and torture the students who opposed the new regime.

In the evening of 1 May 1998, shortly before the Battle of Hogwarts, he was tortured by Harry Potter when he spat in Professor McGonagall's face. He was then Imperiused and tied up in Ravenclaw Tower by McGonagall herself. After the battle he was sent to Azkaban along with his sister, where presumably they carried out life-long sentences for their crimes.

Amycus Carrow was born sometime before 1981 into the Pure-blood or Half-blood Carrow family, somewhere in the British Isles. At some point before his instruction in the magical arts, he acquired a wand.

Given that he seemed to have been acquainted with Albus Dumbledore, it is possible he attended Hogwarts School of Witchcraft and Wizardry in his youth.

First Wizarding War

Amycus and his sister supported Lord Voldemort, and became Death Eaters during the First Wizarding War. After Voldemort's downfall in 1981, they did not search for their master, believing that Voldemort was gone forever, and managed to avoid imprisonment in Azkaban.

Despite all this, the Carrows were among those who, after Voldemort's return, resumed their Death Eater activities. The two siblings were fairly active during the Second Wizarding War.

Rebirth of the Dark Lord

Amycus and his sister were, most likely, among the Death Eaters that were summoned by Lord Voldemort to the churchyard at Little Hangleton on 24 June, 1995, as their absence wasn't noted by Voldemort himself.

Battle of the Astronomy Tower

In the evening of 30 June, 1997, Amycus and his sister participated in the assault on Hogwarts Castle, orchestrated by Draco Malfoy, that resulted in the death of Albus Dumbledore. When the Death

Eaters arrived at the top of the Astronomy Tower, where Dumbledore was trapped, Amycus tried to make fun of the Headmaster and turned suddenly violent when Dumbledore hypothesised that he, Amycus, might not reach his old age. When Severus Snape arrived at the scene, Amycus hurriedly said that Draco was not able to kill Dumbledore, and Snape cast the curse that ended the Headmaster's life.

On Snape's orders, he and his sister quickly left the Tower panting excitedly. On the corridors below, Amycus duelled Ginny Weasley, sending multiple Cruciatus Curses at her. Harry Potter shot an Impediment Jinx that made him slam into the opposite wall. Amycus and Alecto retreated after Snape with their arms over her head, under blasts by Minerva McGonagall. As brother and sister descended the Marble Staircase, Harry took a shortcut and arrived at the grounds before them.

As the two Death Eaters closed in after him, one of them cast a spell that sent Harry to the ground. Harry hit one of them, who stumbled and fell, tripping up the other, with another Impediment Jinx. The two siblings then ran to the gates and Disapparated beyond the school boundaries.

That summer, the Carrows attended a Death Eater meeting at Malfoy Manor concerning plans to capture or kill Harry Potter and take over the Ministry of Magic.

It's possible that he was one of the Death Eaters who stood watch outside 12 Grimmauld Place, as one of them is described as a "pallid, podgy man", a description that fits Amycus.

Appointment at Hogwarts

On 1 August, 1997, the Death Eaters managed to stage a coup over the Ministry of Magic, thus gaining influence over all wizarding Britain. A month later, on 1 September, Amycus and Alecto were made Defence Against the Dark Arts and Muggle Studies, respectively, as well as Deputy Headmasters under newly appointed Headmaster Severus Snape.

The Defence Against the Dark Arts curriculum was changed so that it was now simply "Dark Arts". Amycus had his seventh-years practise the Cruciatus Curse on people who have had won detentions. His syllabus also apparently covered the usage of the Killing Curse and Fiendfyre.

As Deputy Headmasters, the Carrows were put in charge of all punishment. The members of faculty were obliged to report any rule-breaking student to them, although they did not if they could avoid it. Punishments given out by the Carrows included torture, via the Cruciatus Curse, as well as chaining students and corporal punishment in the form of beatings and slashes with knives.

Dumbledore's Army, led by Neville Longbottom, led the resistance against the Carrows. Amycus made a particularly deep gash in his cheek after he refused to use the Cruciatus Curse on students in detention. The group, now made illicit after the reenactment of the Educational Decree Number Twenty-Four, used to sneak into the corridors at night and put up graffiti on the walls with messages like "Dumbledore's Army, Still Recruiting". Michael Corner was caught releasing a first-year the Carrows had chained up and was violently tortured.

Once the Carrows realised they had no hold over Neville, particularly after the Death Eaters' failed attempt to abduct his grandmother, they planned to kill him or send him to Azkaban. As the Carrows chased him, Neville chose the Room of Requirement as a hideout and the rest of Dumbledore's Army soon followed his footsteps and moved into the room as the Carrows tried to hunt them down.

Overthrow

By the evening of 1 May, 1998, news of Harry Potter, Ronald Weasley and Hermione Granger's break-in of Gringotts Wizarding Bank reached the student body; Terry Boot was beaten up by the Carrows for yelling about it in the Great Hall over dinner.

That same day, as Lord Voldemort became aware that Harry Potter, Ronald Weasley and Hermione Granger were hunting down and destroying his Horcruxes, he instructed Amycus and Alecto that Harry might try to get into the Castle and Ravenclaw Tower. At the Carrows' urgent request Professor Flitwick, Head of Ravenclaw House, let Alecto into the common room, where she stood guard.

His sister was keeping watch when Harry arrived with Luna Lovegood. Alecto immediately touched her Dark Mark, letting Voldemort and all the Death Eaters know that they had got him. Alecto was immediately Stunned by Luna, but Amycus demanded Minerva McGonagall to let him into the Tower. Once inside, he saw his unconscious sister but no sign of Harry, as both he and Luna were hidden beneath his Invisibility Cloak. Aware that they were going to feel Voldemort's wrath if they did not hand him Harry, Amycus planned to pass it off on the students, and when Professor McGonagall objected calling Amycus a coward in the process, he spat in her face. This show of disrespect for both sentient life and McGonagall enraged Harry to the point of disregarding stealth and revealing himself by throwing a Cruciatus Curse at Amycus with such force that he slammed into the wall. Minerva McGonagall then bewitched him with the Imperius Curse to carry his unconscious sister, then used a spell to conjure a net, and the siblings were tied up and hoisted into the air, where they were left dangling beneath the ceiling.

Post-war

Neither Amycus nor his sister fought in the Battle of Hogwarts as both of them were kept tied-up at Ravenclaw Tower and after the battle and the end of the Second Wizarding War. Amycus was most likely imprisoned in Azkaban, for his crimes committed as a Death Eater under Kingsley Shacklebolt's de-corrupted Ministry of Magic, along with his sister.

Luna punched him in the face and smashed his head in with her axe and kicked him in the stomach and kicked him in the face and ducked under a punch and kicked him in the crotch and punched him in the mouth!

Naruto punched him in the face and kicked him in the back.

Luna: You are one sick dude! I will never forgive you for your racist crimes!

Amycus: (British Accent) You will die a horrible death you bitch!

Luna: Try this one on! METAL STYLE NINJA ART: THE PRICE OF THE MILE!

Luna floated off the ground and the song The Price of a Mile by Sabaton played in the background.

Hear the sound of a machine gun

Hear it echo in the night

Mortals firing rains the scene

Scars the fields

That once were green

It's a stalemate at the front line

Where the soldiers rest in mud

Roads and houses

All is gone

There is no glory to be won

know that many men will suffer

Know that many men will die

Half a million lives at stake

Ask the fields of Passchendaele

And as the night falls the general calls

And the battle carries on and on

How long?

What is the purpose of it all
What's the price of a mile?
Thousands of feet march to the beat
It's an army on the march
Long way from home
Paying the price in young men's lives
Thousands of feet march to the beat
It's an army in despair
Knee-deep in mud
Stuck in the trench with no way out
Thousands of machineguns
Kept on firing through the night
Mortars blazed and wrecked the scene
Guns in the fields that once were green
Still a deadlock at the front line
Where the soldiers die in mud
Roads and houses since long gone
Still no glory has been won
Know that many men has suffered
Know that many men has died
Six miles of ground has been won
Half a million men are gone

And as the men crawled the general called

And the killing carried on and on

How long?

What's the purpose of it all?

What's the price of a mile?

Thousands of feet march to the beat

It's an army on the march

Long way from home

Paying the price in young men's lives

Thousands of feet march to the beat

It's an army in despair

Knee-deep in mud

Stuck in the trench with no way out

Young men are dying

They pay the price

Oh how they suffer

So tell me what's the price of a mile

That's the price of a mile.

Thousands of feet march to the beat

It's an army on the march

Long way from home

Paying the price in young men's lives

Thousands of feet march to the beat

It's an army in despair

Knee-deep in mud

Stuck in the trench with no way out

The song was about the Battle of Passchendaele in World War I and Luna sent a massive wave of metal that turned into the German Army and they slammed into Amycus and blasted and slashed and smashed him all over.

Amycus formed a spear of dark energy and Luna formed a sword of water and they clashed and it was a massive clash as sparks and water landed all over the place.

Fu: I will never forgive you for your crimes Amycus! SEVEN TAILS SPEAR OF HEAVEN!

Fu sprouted the Seven-Tails tails and fired powerful focused chakra beams from them and they are powerful enough to cut through solid rock.

The lasers hit Amycus and exploded all over.

KRABBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOMM!
KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM!
KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM!
KRABBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM!
KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM!
KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMMMMMM!

Fu then flew at him and punched him in the face.

Fu: Try this! EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: MEDUSA PETRIFICATION GLARE!

Fu's eyes glowed yellow and he was being turned to stone! He was now a solid stone statue.

Fu then punched him with devastating force and shattered him into a million pieces. Killing him instantly.

Amycus's spirit then appeared.

Luna: You will never terrorize our world again.

Luna held up her hand to his face.

Luna: HAKAI!

Amycus glowed purple and he screamed in pain as he was being completely obliterated. He was erased from existence for all eternity as if he was never born at all.

Fu: Never again.

Battle 3: Antonin Dolohov

---

Next was Antonin Dolohov.

Antonin Dolohov was a Dark Wizard and one of the original Death Eaters of Lord Voldemort. Dolohov was a powerful wizard, and among all the Death Eaters, only Bellatrix Lestrange and Severus Snape could equal him in magical ability. He fought in the First Wizarding War, during which he tortured many Muggles, and wizards and witches who were not supporters of the Dark Lord. Along with four other Death Eaters, he participated in the murders of Fabian and Gideon Prewett. Dolohov was caught, convicted of these crimes, and sentenced to life imprisonment in Azkaban.

He escaped from prison after Voldemort's return during the mass break-out of 1996, and participated in the Battle of the Department of Mysteries, where he was re-captured and incarcerated. By the summer of 1997, Dolohov was at large again. He and Thorfinn Rowle attacked Harry Potter, Hermione Granger, and Ron Weasley at Tottenham Court Road, but they were defeated and his memory was wiped. In 1998, Dolohov fought in the Battle of Hogwarts, during which he murdered Remus Lupin and possibly some others. At the climax of the battle, he engaged Filius Flitwick in a duel and was defeated.

Antonin Dolohov was born at some point prior to 1950. He became one of the earliest known followers of Tom Riddle, serving him while he was abroad seeking followers. He was among the Death Eaters who travelled to Hogsmeade, along with Nott, Rosier, and Mulciber, when Voldemort attempted to take the position of Defence Against the Dark Arts Professor at Hogwarts, ostensibly to "wish him luck".

In 1970, Dolohov's master began open hostilities against the rest of the wizarding world, beginning the First Wizarding War.

According to Igor Karkaroff, Dolohov was among the most important Death Eaters and tortured many Muggles and non-supporters of Lord Voldemort during the First Wizarding War. He murdered Fabian and Gideon Prewett, the brothers of Molly Weasley. He was not the only participant in the act, though, since "Mad-Eye" Moody informed Harry Potter years later that it took five Death Eaters to kill the two wizards, whose murders were described as "brutal." Karkaroff also stated that Dolohov was among Voldemort's most important followers.

Imprisonment

In the year before the fall of Voldemort in 1981, Dolohov was captured and sent to Azkaban prison for his crimes. His name was the first one that Igor Karkaroff revealed to the Council of Magical Law in an attempt to get himself freed from Azkaban, only to be informed that Dolohov had been captured around the same time as him.[6] Dolohov then spent the next 14 years in his maximum security cell surrounded by Dementors. His cell was close to that of Bellatrix Lestrange's.

Early in 1996, Dolohov, along with the Lestranges and several other Death Eater convicts, escaped Azkaban and rejoined Voldemort. It was speculated in the Daily Prophet that the escape was aided by Sirius Black, but that was refuted in the aftermath of the Battle of the Department of Mysteries.

Battle of the Department of Mysteries

On 18 June 1996 Lord Voldemort lured Harry Potter to the Ministry of Magic precipitating the Battle of the Department of Mysteries. During the battle, Dolohov was paired with Jugson as the Death Eaters searched for the five students who had come to the Ministry with Harry Potter. They tracked Harry Potter, Hermione Granger, and Neville Longbottom to a room off the Time Room, hitting the three of them with Impediment Jinxes. When Dolohov began to alert the other Death Eaters as to their location, Hermione used Silencing Charm on him to prevent it. He retaliated with an unnamed curse which, despite being weaker than normal, because it was cast non-verbally, severely injured Hermione. With a kick, Dolohov broke Neville's wand and nose and then cornered Harry, wordlessly threatening him. However, he was momentarily distracted, giving Harry the chance to Body-Bind him.

Before several Order of the Phoenix members arrived, Dolohov recovered, and he was able to defeat Alastor Moody in a duel. He placed Neville Longbottom under Dancing Feet Spell and attacked Harry with the same spell he used on Hermione, but most of the harm was blocked by Harry's Shield Charm. Then he tried used Summoning Charm on the prophecy in Harry's hand, but he was pushed by Sirius Black. He duelled Black where he seemed to get the upper hand but was again incapacitated by Harry with Body-Bind before he could hit Sirius with his signature spell.

Presumably, Dolohov was captured in the aftermath of the battle by Aurors and returned to Azkaban.

Death Eater plans

In July of 1997, Dolohov was again at large following another Azkaban break-out. He attended the Death Eater meeting at Malfoy Manor that summer and was seated between Corban Yaxley and Severus Snape. He was also impressed when Yaxley announced that he had placed Pius Thicknesse, the head of the Department of Magical Law Enforcement, under the Imperius Curse. He along with other Death Eaters, laughed when Voldemort insulted Bellatrix Lestrange and the Malfoy family, regarding Nymphadora Tonks marrying werewolf Remus Lupin.

Luchino Caffe Duel

Shortly after the Death Eaters took over the Ministry of Magic and placed the Taboo curse on Voldemort's name, Dolohov and Thorfinn Rowle tracked the trio to a café on Tottenham Court Road. Harry noticed their presence right away, including them reaching for their wands and mirrored the movement. The duel that followed was short but fierce. During the skirmish that ensued, Dolohov nonverbally bound Ron Weasley with conjured ropes and slammed an invisible Harry Potter into a wall with Expulso, but just before Harry dropped his wand, Hermione Granger hit Dolohov with a Full Body-Bind Curse. Dolohov's and Rowle's memories were then modified by Hermione shortly after.

This spell seemed to work well enough at the time, but it actually had not been very effective, as the three friends found out later when Harry had a vision of Voldemort forcing Draco Malfoy to torture Rowle; it is implied that Dolohov was subjected to the same punishment for their failure (and possibly also for summoning Voldemort unnecessarily when he was occupied with his search for the Elder Wand) by being subjected to the Cruciatus Curse. Dolohov may have been among the Death Eaters assigned to keep an eye out for 12 Grimmauld Place, former headquarters of the Order of the Phoenix and temporary hide-out for Harry, Ron and Hermione, as one of the Death Eaters mentioned watching the gap between houses 11 and 13 on the first of September was "the man with the twisted face", a characteristic often used to identify Dolohov. The Death Eaters were able to find out Harry, Ron and Hermione's location because Lord Voldemort's name was Tabooed.

Battle of Hogwarts

During the Battle of Hogwarts on 2 May 1998, Dolohov was seen fighting against Dean Thomas and Parvati Patil; Parvati shot a Full Body-Bind Curse at him in defence of Dean. Dolohov also murdered Remus Lupin in a duel. The nature of Remus's death was not revealed, but his body was peaceful-looking, suggesting that Dolohov used the Killing Curse or his own curse, as neither left visible marks. After Voldemort called a retreat and gave Harry Potter one hour to turn himself over, Dolohov and Yaxley stood guard in the Forbidden Forest. Harry followed them to the Death Eater camp to confront Voldemort. When the battle later resumed, Dolohov was defeated by Filius Flitwick, a former duelling champion.

His fate following the battle is unknown, though it is possible that he was killed by Flitwick. It is also likely that he was sent back to Azkaban.

Paige and Lily were facing him.

Paige: Time for you to pay Dolohov!

Paige went at him and kicked him in the face and fired a powerful blast of fire at him and it hit him in the face exploded.

KRAAAABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Lily kicked him in the back and kicked him in the face and fired a powerful blast of energy at him and it hit him in the chest and exploded.

KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMMMM!

Paige: Lets see how he likes this! PHOENIX STYLE NINJA ART: SONG OF THE PIED PIPER!

Paige fired a powerful blast of fire and it turned into the music notes of the songs of the Pied Piper from German Folklore and it hit Antonin and exploded!

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

The explosion burned him all over.

Lily: Lets see how he likes this! LIGHT STYLE NINJA ART: ANGELS CALLING!

Lily rose into the air and a powerful curtain of light appeared behind her as the song Angels Calling by Sabaton played.

Sent to kill, to watch no man's land

Snipers are moving unseen

Fight for land, to lose it again

Shrapnel is filling the air

Hell on earth, the trenches mean death, better keep your head down low

Charge their lines, the ultimate test it's a synchronized sacrifice

Get the wounded after dark

Left alone in no man's land

Maddening chaos at the front

Dream of heaven

Angels are calling your name

Shells and guns, a rifle and scope

Bullets are wearing your name

Losing track of time and of space

Midnight at sanity's edge

Losing friends to artillery shells, at the break of dawn

Break their will, as yours has been broken, they're here alone, dream of home

Charge at dawn to gain a yard

Scout at night to guard their lines

Leave your life in fortunes hand

When the bullet hits it's mark

Know your time in hell has been served

You won't return to home

The song was about what happened when World War I broke out. Powerful red beams of light fired from behind her and they hit Antonin and exploded.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBBOOOOOOOMMM! KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBBOOOOOOMMMM!
KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM!
KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOMM!

Sakura Haruno: Take this! HUNDRED STRENGTHS JUTSU!

Sakura slammed her fist into his stomach and sent him flying into the air and she flew into the air and delivered a massively devastating punch with the devastating power of 1,000 Lady Tsunade's into his back and sent him crashing into the ground with explosive force!

KRABBBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

The force from the impact was so strong that it shook the entire area and when the dust and smoke cleared, Antonin was literally bisected right in in half! He was screaming in excruciating pain as his blood was pouring out of his body and his organs were hanging out of him.

Paige: Geez! That was powerful!

Lily: No kidding! Wow!

Sakura Haruno: Thanks.

Paige: Never again you monster!

Paige fired a blast of fire and incinerated him into nothing but a pile of ash.

Antonin's spirit appeared.

Paige: You have tormented so many innocent people.

Paige held up her hand to his face.

Paige: HAKAI!

Antonin glowed purple and he screamed in pain as he was being obliterated. He was erased from existence for all eternity as if he was never born at all.

Lily: Enjoy oblivion.

Sakura Haruno: Yep.

Battle 4: Igor Karkaroff

---

Next was Igor Karkaroff.

Professor Igor Karkaroff (d. 24 June - 31 July, 1996) was a wizard and Headmaster of Durmstrang Institute. During the First Wizarding War, he was a Death Eater who served Lord Voldemort. After being captured and briefly imprisoned in Azkaban following his master's defeat, Karkaroff turned in several of his fellow Death Eaters to the Wizengamot in exchange for his crimes being pardoned.

Karkaroff later went on to become Durmstrang's headmaster, leading the school's delegation to Hogwarts School of Witchcraft and Wizardry for the 1994 Triwizard Tournament. There, Karkaroff did everything he could to get his school's champion (Viktor Krum) in the lead, and flew into a panic when his Dark Mark began to burn.

When Voldemort returned, he fled. For his treachery, Karkaroff was hunted down and murdered by his former comrades in the summer of 1996.

Virtually nothing is known about Igor's early life. He did, however, refer Hogwarts School of Witchcraft and Wizardry as "Dear old Hogwarts", suggesting he at least visited it in the past, or even was educated there during his time as a student.

First Wizarding War

In his younger days, Karkaroff was a Death Eater and acquaintance of Severus Snape. It was reported that Karkaroff helped Antonin Dolohov torture Muggles and non-supporters of Lord Voldemort during the First Wizarding War. He was eventually captured by Auror Alastor Moody and spent a short period of time in Azkaban.

Shortly after Voldemort's first downfall, Karkaroff appeared before the Council of Magical Law, offering information in exchange for leniency. He claimed to have felt great remorse for his crimes as a Death Eater, however Moody was sceptical. Among the names he gave were Dolohov, Evan Rosier, Travers, Mulciber, and Snape. He became increasingly desperate as it was revealed that these names were worthless; the Death Eaters he mentioned had already been captured, killed, or, in Snape's case, had switched sides.

However, Karkaroff was able to satisfy the Council when he submitted the name Augustus Rookwood, an Unspeakable who was spying on the Ministry of Magic for Voldemort. This information was new to the Ministry, and he was sent back to Azkaban for a review of his case. From Sirius Black's comment that Karkaroff "put a load of other people into Azkaban in his place", it can be assumed that he named other Death Eaters in addition to Rookwood after his initial hearing or that the discovery of Rookwood helped the Ministry weed out other Death Eaters and other Voldemort supporters.

Headmaster of Durmstrang

At some point after his release from Azkaban, Karkaroff became Headmaster of Durmstrang Institute. During his time as head of the school, Professor Karkaroff was seen by both students and parents alike as unprincipled and egotistical, leading many parents to withdraw their children from Durmstrang during his administration since he encouraged a environment dominated by fear and intimidation from his students. The school also became notorious for its detailed teaching of the Dark Arts as an academic class; however, it is possible that this reputation existed to some extent even before his headmaster-ship.

In the 1994-1995 school year, the Triwizard Tournament was held for the first time in many years at Hogwarts School of Witchcraft and Wizardry. Karkaroff ventured to Hogwarts to supervise his students and to prepare Durmstrang's champion for the Tournament, as well as to serve as one of the five judges. From the moment of his arrival at Hogwarts, it was obvious that Karkaroff was heavily biassed towards the champion from his own school, Viktor Krum.

During Karkaroff's first evening at Hogwarts, he encountered former Auror "Mad-Eye Moody" (who was actually Barty Crouch Jr in disguise), who was Hogwarts' new Defence Against the Dark Arts professor. It was apparent that Karkaroff and "Moody" not only knew each other, but had an unpleasant history. Karkaroff unsuccessfully tried to avoid "Moody" after that first evening. It is possible that Barty Crouch Jr despised Karkaroff himself because of his betrayal of Lord Voldemort.

Like Madame Maxime, the Headmistress of the Beauxbatons Academy of Magic, Karkaroff was outraged when Harry Potter's name was chosen from the Goblet of Fire, giving Hogwarts two champions instead of one. While he had to accept Harry's presence in the competition, he consistently gave Harry lower scores on the tasks and blatantly favoured Krum over the other champions. He also sneaked around to gather information on the tasks in hopes of giving Krum an advantage. He also ruthlessly insulted Dumbledore when Crouch attacked Krum in the shadows and accused him of foul-play, going as far as spitting on the ground at Dumbledore's feet. However, this nearly earned him significant physical injury at the hands of Rubeus Hagrid; Hagrid, fervently loyal to Dumbledore, lifted Karkaroff by the throat, smashed him against a tree and yelled at him to apologise for this disgusting display. Dumbledore, however, ordered Hagrid to let him go, to which he complied reluctantly.

About halfway through the school year, Karkaroff's actions became increasingly suspicious. At the Yule Ball, which he attended with Professor Aurora Sinistra, and again after a Potions lesson, he confronted Professor Snape about a secret matter. His agitated and increasingly apprehensive state aroused the suspicions of Harry Potter, Ron Weasley, and Hermione Granger. Sirius Black, Harry's godfather, told him to be wary of Karkaroff because he was a former Death Eater.

Return of the Dark Lord and death

Karkaroff fled for his life on 24 June, 1995, the night of the Third Task of the Tournament, and the night of Lord Voldemort's restoration to his body and power. Snape admitted that Karkaroff had come to him, concerned about the Dark Mark on his left forearm, a mark Snape also bore as a former Death Eater. The Mark had been growing darker throughout the school year, signalling Voldemort's growing strength. Karkaroff feared Voldemort's return because he had betrayed too many of the Dark Lord's servants to be allowed back into the fold. Barty Crouch Jr doubted he would get far, as the Dark Lord had "ways of tracking his enemies" and no one who had ever betrayed the Dark Lord ever got far.

Contrary to Crouch's belief, Karkaroff was able to stay alive for a whole year, fleeing to parts unknown, though a possible contribution is that Voldemort was trying to keep a low profile due to the Ministry's denial at the time. Inevitably, however, Karkaroff was finally tracked down to a shack in the north and killed by Death Eaters, the Dark Mark cast into the sky, shortly after Voldemort's revival was finally accepted by the Ministry, which further enforced that his year-long survival was due to the Death Eaters keeping under the radar at the time. This was revealed to the assembled guests of Harry Potter's sixteenth birthday party by Remus Lupin, who, among others, were surprised Karkaroff had survived for so long.

Laney: You will pay for your crimes Karkaroff!

Laney went at him and kicked him in the face and she punched him many times in the stomach. She then kicked him in the face and sent him crashing into a rock and he exploded out as a stream of black smoke and flew into the air and Laney flew into the air and fired a powerful blast of fire at him and it hit him and exploded.

KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Naruto then flew up to him and slammed a massive Lava Style Rasenshuriken into Karkaroff's back and it exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Laney kicked Karkaroff in the face as he was sent flying by the explosion and Lola fired powerful blasts of fire at him and they hit him and exploded all over.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!
KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!
KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!
KRABBBBOOOOOMMM! KRABBBBOOOOOOOOMMMM!
KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!
KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOMMMMMMM!
KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMMM!
KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM!
KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!

Lola fired a more powerful blast of fire and Laney fired a powerful blast of fire and the blasts both hit him at the same time and exploded with unbelievable power!

KRABBBBBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

The explosion completely incinerated him into ashes in an instant. Then his evil spirit appeared.

Laney: You will never terrorize the worlds of Wizards again.

Laney held her hand to his face.

Laney: HAKAI!

Karkaroff glowed purple and he screamed in agony as he was being obliterated into nothing. He was completely erased from existence for all eternity as if he was never born at all.

Laney: Enjoy oblivion.

Naruto: Yep.

Battle 5: Bellatrix Lestrange

---

Next was the insane and really fucked up Bellatrix Lestrange.

Bellatrix Lestrange (née Black) (1951 - 2 May, 1998) was an English pure-blood Dark witch, the eldest daughter of Cygnus and Druella Rosier, and the elder sister of Andromeda Tonks and Narcissa Malfoy. She was a member of the House of Black, an old wizarding family and one of the Sacred Twenty-Eight. Bellatrix started her education at Hogwarts School of Witchcraft and Wizardry in the early sixties (either 1962 or 1963), and was Sorted into Slytherin House.

After graduating from Hogwarts, Bellatrix became a Death Eater. She was fanatically loyal to Lord Voldemort and was among the most dangerous and sadistic of his followers. All the Black sisters married pure-blood wizards, except for Andromeda who married Muggle-born Ted Tonks and was disowned by the family. After Voldemort's fall from power, Bellatrix, her husband Rodolphus Lestrange, her brother-in-law Rabastan Lestrange, and Barty Crouch Jr captured and tortured the Aurors Frank and Alice Longbottom, seeking information about Voldemort's whereabouts which eventually drove the two Aurors insane. The four Death Eaters were caught and sentenced to life imprisonment in Azkaban .

Voldemort eventually returned to full strength in 1995 and Bellatrix, Rodolphus, and Rabastan escaped from Azkaban in the 1996 mass break-out, along with seven other Death Eaters.

Bellatrix participated in several battles of the Second Wizarding War, making it a particular goal to murder any relatives who were members of the Order of the Phoenix. She successfully murdered two, her cousin Sirius Black and niece Nymphadora Tonks. She also murdered the Malfoy family's former house-elf, Dobby, who had become a firm ally of Harry Potter. During the final battle, Bellatrix was the last Death Eater standing. She was eventually killed in a duel by Molly Weasley after her attempted murder of Ginny Weasley.

Before her death, Bellatrix secretly gave birth to an illegitimate daughter named Delphini, whom she conceived with her beloved master, Lord Voldemort. Delphini was conceived sometime after the Battle of the Department of Mysteries in 1996 and before Bellatrix's death at the Battle of Hogwarts in 1998.

Bellatrix was born in 1951 to Cygnus Black III and Druella Rosier, who gave her a rich lifestyle and raised her to be proud of her pure-blood heritage. She was the elder sister of Andromeda and Narcissa Black. Bellatrix attended Hogwarts School of Witchcraft and Wizardry and was Sorted into Slytherin House, a patron followed by her sisters.

Along with the rest of her family who held pureblood supremacy beliefs, Bellatrix cut off contact with Andromeda when she married Muggle-born wizard Ted Tonks, causing her to be disowned from the House of Black. Neither she or Narcissa had "set eyes on Andromeda since she married the Mudblood Tonks". She also held her cousin Sirius Black in contempt for being a "blood traitor" due his different opinions on Muggles and Muggle-borns.

Bellatrix eventually married Rodolphus Lestrange, a fellow wealthy pure-blood and Slytherin, marrying out of obligation of fulfilling her family's pro pure-blood mentality and tradition, Unlike her sisters, she never displayed any affection for her husband whatsoever, never even mentioning him in conversations nor bearing him any children.

When Lord Voldemort first rose to power, Bellatrix and Rodolphus joined the Death Eaters. At some point, she received training in the Dark Arts from Voldemort himself. He was the one to whom she spoke in a romantic manner. However, he never returned her feelings as he was incapable of understanding love and disliked the idea of being emotionally attached to anyone.

First Wizarding War (1970-1981)

When the First Wizarding War broke out, Bellatrix and her husband Rodolphus along with her brother-in law Rabastan became Death Eaters and fought for Voldemort. The pair remained loyal to the Dark Lord throughout the war, even after he was "defeated" by the infant Harry Potter.

After the Dark Lord's fall on 31 October, 1981, Bellatrix and a group of Voldemort's followers, including Rodolphus, her brother-in-law Rabastan, and Barty Crouch Jr, managed to avoid capture or execution by Aurors. Seeking to find and revive their master, the group kidnapped Aurors and Order of the Phoenix members Alice and Frank Longbottom, just new parents to Neville Longbottom. She and her partners used the Cruciatus Curse to torture the couple for information on Voldemort's whereabouts, until the two captives were driven into insanity when they refused to divulge anything. As a result of the torture, Alice and Frank spent the rest of their lives at St Mungo's Hospital for Magical Maladies and Injuries and were unaware that they had a son together.

Between the wars (1981-1995)

This crime caused a wave of fury upon the wizard community of such ferocity that the Ministry of Magic were critically pressured to find the culprits. When the four were captured, they were tried before the Council of Magical Law and sentenced to life imprisonment in Azkaban. Unlike many other Death Eaters, Bellatrix didn't lie about her loyalty - she proudly claimed that she was loyal to Voldemort and that she would wait for his return.

Bellatrix was sentenced to life in Azkaban with no chance of release. For her actions, she later described herself as the Dark Lord's most loyal follower and even Lord Voldemort, whom she admired the most, gained a considerable amount of respect for her. Her fifteen years in a maximum security cell took a toll on her already unstable mentality, as well as hollowing out her appearance until only the faintest traces of her familial beauty remained.

Harry Potter later witnessed Bellatrix's trial in 1995 in a memory of Professor Dumbledore's.

Second Wizarding War (1995-1998)

When Voldemort returned to power in June 1995, he said that Bellatrix, Rodolphus, and Rabastan Lestrange were faithful members of his inner circle and should be rewarded, as they didn't denounce him after they were captured and tried.

In January 1996, a mass breakout from Azkaban set ten long-imprisoned Death Eaters loose. Bellatrix was one of the ten who escaped in the mass breakout and rejoined Voldemort, as well as the Dementors whom Albus Dumbledore correctly predicted would side with Voldemort.

The Daily Prophet (probably with encouragement from the Ministry of Magic) reported that the escaped criminal Sirius Black must be responsible for the incident. These ten were considered to be some of the most dangerous and highly guarded convicts due to their crimes being brutal and legendary. As a result, Bellatrix and her allies became wanted witches and wizards, living in hiding to avoid being captured by the Ministry.

Battle of the Department of Mysteries

Later that very same year, Bellatrix, Rodolphus, and Rabastan were all members of a Death Eater task force led by Lucius Malfoy. They participated in the Battle of the Department of Mysteries, a plot to steal a prophecy regarding Harry Potter and the Dark Lord. She was enraged when Harry spoke Voldemort's given name and mentioned his true status as a half-blood. This enraged her so much that she actually tried to stun him before Lucius deflected her spell with a Shield Charm, not wanting to inadvertently harm the prophecy they were sent to retrieve. She was very condescending when dealing with the six D.A. members. Bellatrix tried unsuccessfully to retrieve the prophecy from Harry Potter via a Summoning Charm, as her efforts were stopped by Harry's quick use of his own shield charm. However, she was willing to do whatever it took to get the prophecy from Harry, including gleefully and sadistically threatening to torture fourteen year old Ginny Weasley with the Cruciatus Curse while he was forced to watch.

When the Order of the Phoenix members arrived, Bellatrix duelled and defeated her niece, Nymphadora Tonks. She then began fighting her cousin Sirius Black who proceeded to taunt her during the course of their duel but she then struck him with a curse that sent him through the veil guarding the Death Chamber, killing him. After Sirius's death, Bellatrix defeated Kingsley Shacklebolt before deciding to flee. She was the sole Death Eater to escape being captured by the recently arrived Albus Dumbledore by effectively blocking the spell that he had attempted to cast upon her.

Driven into a rage at the loss of his only living relative, Harry pursued her all the way to the Atrium in an attempt to avenge his godfather. After hideously mocking his relationship with Sirius, Harry attempted to use the Cruciatus Curse on her but only knocked her over causing her a few seconds of pain. Dropping her jeering manner, Bellatrix disdainfully lectured him on his failure to execute the curse effectively (inadvertently teaching him how to do it properly in the future) before resolving to torture him herself with it in order to demonstrate the full potency of the curse. After unsuccessfully attempting to attack Harry, she discovered to her horror that the prophecy had been destroyed and proceeded to panic, repeatedly attempting to summon it in vain from Harry who laughed at her efforts and dismissed her pleadings for leniency from her master due to being unaware that the latter had just arrived at the Ministry.

Once Harry realised that Voldemort was indeed present, Bellatrix pleaded with her master not to be punished and tried to warn him that Dumbledore was nearby, but he ignored her and concentrated on attempting to kill Harry. As the Killing Curse blasted from the end of his wand towards Harry, Dumbledore arrived and enchanted the statues of the Fountain of Magical Brethren to protect Harry, act as reinforcements, and to ensure that Bellatrix couldn't intervene as she was then pinned to the ground by the newly sentient witch statue.

Before duelling Voldemort, Dumbledore summoned Cornelius Fudge and several Aurors to the Ministry using the statues as messengers via the fireplaces along the Atrium wall. After a failed attempt at possessing Harry, Voldemort grabbed Bellatrix before Apparating away but not before being seen by Fudge and the Aurors. With the rest of the Death Eaters immobilized and caught by the Ministry only moments later, Bellatrix was the only Death Eater not to be apprehended due to Voldemort intervening on her behalf, a testament to his acknowledgement of her loyalty to him.

Plot against Albus Dumbledore

In July of 1996, Bellatrix reluctantly accompanied her younger sister, Narcissa Malfoy, to the house of Severus Snape at Spinner's End. Once there, Bellatrix interrogated Snape and voiced her distrust of him. Snape's calm, reasonable, and logical answers to her aggressive questioning rendered her dissatisfied, but temporarily without retort. However, Narcissa proceeded to beg Snape to look after her son Draco's welfare while he attended Hogwarts and tried to fulfil Voldemort's orders to kill Dumbledore. Snape shocked Bellatrix by asking her to bind him and Narcissa with an Unbreakable Vow to assist Draco.

Furthermore, Bellatrix assisted her nephew in his task by teaching him Occlumency, a tool he used against Snape in order to conceal the details of his mission. She showed her obsessive loyalty to her master's cause in telling her sister that she should be proud, instead of worried, that her son was not "shrinking away from his duty."

Battle of the Seven Potters

By the next year, Bellatrix was living with Narcissa at Malfoy Manor. She was the only resident of the manor who was actually pleased that Voldemort was staying there, telling him that there was "no higher pleasure". Despite her unwavering loyalty, her master humiliated her and the Malfoys by mentioning the marriage of Nymphadora Tonks, the daughter of their sister, to the werewolf Remus Lupin. However, Bellatrix insisted that she and Narcissa didn't consider Nymphadora to be their niece, as they had disowned her mother for marrying a Muggle-born. Voldemort eventually stopped the teasing and advised Bellatrix to continue to "prune" her "family tree", which she eagerly agreed to do as soon as possible. Despite her proclaimed loyalty towards her master, even Bellatrix hesitated when Voldemort said that he would need to borrow a wand from them in order to circumvent the problem of his own wand refusing to kill Harry, looking like her colleagues "as though he had asked to borrow one of their arms".

When the Death Eaters subsequently attacked the Order of the Phoenix while they were moving Harry Potter from 4 Privet Drive, Bellatrix and her husband pursued a disguised Ronald Weasley and Tonks, whom Bellatrix tried very hard to kill. However, Rodolphus was injured in the pursuit and Tonks escaped. Soon afterwards, a copy of Godric Gryffindor's Sword was secured in Bellatrix's family vault at Gringotts Wizarding Bank with Bellatrix and the Death Eaters unaware that it was merely a copy. The goblins who ran the bank noticed at once that it was not the genuine article, but neglected to mention it to Bellatrix owing to their disdain at the new wizard control of their bank.

Skirmish at Malfoy Manor

In March 1998, when Harry Potter, Ron Weasley, and Hermione Granger were captured by a group of Snatchers and brought to the manor, Bellatrix was at first eager to make sure that Voldemort was informed right away and she and Lucius briefly argued over who would summon him. When she spotted Godric Gryffindor's Sword amongst the trio's captured possessions, however, she at once flew into a panic because the sword (as far as she knew) was hidden in her vault. This led Harry to deduce that there could be something of great importance in her vault which ended up being one of Voldemort's Horcruxes, Helga Hufflepuff's Cup. Bellatrix, coming out of her panicked state, ordered the Snatcher holding the sword to hand it over and stunned the man when he refused. The other Snatchers turned on her at once, but even four on one they were no match for her and she quickly stunned three of them and forced Greyback to his knees, demanding to know where he had found the sword. He then informed her that the sword had been found in the Trio's tent. She then took charge of the situation by resorting to torturing Hermione into revealing how the sword was in the Trio's possession and demanded that the rest of the prisoners be taken into the cellar temporarily, while ordering the Stunned Snatchers to be placed in the courtyard to be disposed of by her personally at a later time.

Bellatrix proceeded to brutally torture Hermione with the Cruciatus Curse, asking her again and again about the Sword and if they had taken anything else from their vault. Even in extreme pain, Hermione managed to lie, claiming the real sword was only a copy. However, Bellatrix doubted this claim, which led to Lucius suggesting that Draco retrieve the goblin prisoner Griphook from the cellar to tell her if the sword was a fake or not. Griphook also managed to lie, obeying Harry's request to not tell Bellatrix the truth, keeping the trio's secret safe. After Peter Pettigrew (who had been sent to check on the prisoners after hearing a suspicious noise) was strangled to death in the cellar with his own silver hand after showing mercy to Harry, Harry and Ron escaped the cellar and proceeded up the stairs to aid Hermione.

Bellatrix threatened Hermione with her knife, after Harry stunned Greyback and Lucius and Ron disarmed her. While holding the knife to an unconscious Hermione's throat, Bellatrix demanded that the prisoners drop their wands, and then pressed her Dark Mark, calling Voldemort. However, Dobby (who had been sent by Aberforth Dumbledore to rescue Harry and his friends) created a diversion by causing the chandelier to fall from above Bellatrix's head, making her release Hermione and jump out of the way. She lashed out at the house-elf in complete disbelief of his rebellious action to his "former masters". Dobby claimed he was a "free elf" and Disapparated. As the house-elf Disapparated with Harry, Bellatrix threw a silver knife at them in a desperate attempt to prevent their escape, and the Apparition sucked up the knife with it, wounding Dobby in his chest, who died. She also lost her wand in the skirmish.

Bellatrix and her relatives were severely punished by Voldemort for allowing Harry to escape. After the incident at Malfoy Manor, Hermione used a hair of Bellatrix that had fallen on her while she was torturing her to change herself into Bellatrix using Polyjuice Potion, therefore letting her sneak into Gringotts, as Diagon Alley was infested with Death Eaters.

Duel with Molly Weasley and death

During the Battle of Hogwarts in 1998, Bellatrix finally succeeded in murdering Nymphadora Tonks, her estranged sister's daughter. When Voldemort called a temporary retreat, waiting for Harry Potter to turn himself in, she waited by his side and offered him help when he was dazed after using the Killing Curse on Harry, but this offer was coldly rebuffed. Bellatrix eagerly asked Voldemort if she could check Harry for signs of life, but was refused again and instead he sent her younger sister to confirm his death. When Narcissa had lied and told Voldemort that Harry was dead, Bellatrix and the other Death Eaters followed Voldemort to Hogwarts to announce Harry's "death", gloating at the despair of the survivors.

When the battle resumed, Bellatrix fought Hermione Granger, Ginny Weasley, and Luna Lovegood all at once, having become the last Death Eater standing aside from Voldemort, who was also fighting three opponents. It was said that despite all three young witches being skilled and working in tandem, together they did not outclass her. She cast a Killing Curse at Ginny, which narrowly missed its mark by an inch; the act was witnessed by both an invisible Harry, who was infuriated enough to actually target Bellatrix over Voldemort, and Molly Weasley. The Weasley matriarch, having already lost one child that night and distraught at the prospect of losing her only daughter, promptly threw off her cloak and shouted a vocal challenge to the Death Eater as she charged forward, causing Bellatrix to cackle with laughter at her. However, Bellatrix's reckless, arrogant laughter quickly turned to rage as Molly began to attack, making her realise her opponent was more formidable then she had expected. The two began to duel with the intensity of their powers being stated as causing the ground beneath them to become hot and cracked due to their intent to finish the other off once and for all.

Despite this, Bellatrix continued to laugh and mock her opponent with sadistic glee even as Molly's powerful curses missed her by inches, eventually providing an opening for Molly to strike her in the chest with a curse which proved fatal. As her body toppled to the ground, an outraged Voldemort turned on Molly, which prompted Harry (who had watched the battle unfold beneath his Invisibility Cloak) to reveal himself. The final showdown between him and Voldemort ensued, but Bellatrix didn't live to find out that her mistrust of Snape had been valid or see her master's final defeat moments later.

Legacy (1998-)

Although it is unknown what happened to her body following the Battle of Hogwarts, it is possible that if Bellatrix was not cremated or buried in Great Britain, she might have been sent to France to be buried and laid to rest alongside the countless other members of the Lestrange family in the family's mausoleum at the Père Lachaise Cemetery in Paris.

During the Calamity which occurred in 2010s across the Wizarding world, a Portrait of Bellatrix escaped Malfoy Manor as one of the many Foundables, for unknown and mysterious reasons.

Nikiya: I will enjoy seeing you suffer Lestrange!

Bellatrix laughed insanely and then Nikiya punched her in the face and sent her crashing into a rock. Bellatrix exploded out of the rocks and went for Ginny Weasley. But Nikiya was too fast for her and she kicked her in the face and punched her in the stomach and fired numerous energy blasts at her. They hit her all over and exploded with incredible power.

Molly Weasley: (to Bellatrix) Not my daughter, you bitch!

Bellatrix laughed malevolently.

Clayface: You tell her, Molly!

Nikiya: You just fucked around with the wrong parent!

Slinkman: Let's help her out!

Clayface: Right!

Clayface slammed his mace club arm into Bellatrix and smashed her stomach in with devastating force and Slinkman fired some acid slime at her and burned her all over. Molly fired a powerful blast of magic at her and it hit her and petrified her

Nikiya then fired a massive energy blast at her and it hit her and exploded.

KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Her evil spirit then appeared and she was still laughing malevolently.

Nikiya: Your luck has just run out Lestrange.

Nikiya held her hand out and Bellatrix laughed maniacally.

Nikiya: HAKAI!

Bellatrix glowed purple and she screamed in agony as she was being completely obliterated. She was erased from existence for all eternity as if she was never born at all.

Nikiya: Enjoy the darkness of oblivion.

Clayface: Yeah!

Battle 6: Lucius Malfoy

---

Nico was facing Lucius Malfoy.

Lucius Malfoy (b. 1953/1954) was a British pure-blood wizard, and son of Abraxas Malfoy, husband of Narcissa Black, the father of Draco Malfoy and the grandfather of Scorpius Malfoy. Lucius was educated at Hogwarts, where he was made a prefect in Slytherin House. As an adult, Lucius was an aristocratic wizard and patriarch of the Malfoy family, believing strongly in notions of blood purity and the superiority of pure-blood wizards. He joined the Death Eaters, who shared his views on blood purity, and participated in the First Wizarding War.

After Lord Voldemort's first defeat, Lucius managed to avoid imprisonment by claiming that he had been acting under the Imperius Curse. He and his family remained members of the social elite, though Lucius continued to demonstrate his prejudice. He attempted to sabotage Arthur Weasley's career by slipping Arthur's daughter an old school diary of Tom Riddle's, opening the Chamber of Secrets in 1992, and in 1994, he participated in the humiliation of a Muggle family after the Quidditch World Cup.

When Voldemort returned, Lucius once again served him as a Death Eater, leading the efforts to obtain the prophecy Voldemort sought. In the battle that ensued, the prophecy was destroyed, and Lucius and his comrades were imprisoned in Azkaban in 1996. Although Voldemort broke them out of prison in 1997, he was displeased with Lucius for his failures and treated the Malfoys with much disdain and abuse. Lucius and his family finally rebelled against Voldemort's tyranny and defected before the end of the Battle of Hogwarts, with them all surviving the Second Wizarding War.

Because he and his family defected from the Death Eaters they were pardoned for their crimes after Voldemort's final defeat and did not serve a stint in Azkaban. He and Narcissa later had a grandson, Scorpius Malfoy, after Draco married Astoria Greengrass.

Lucius Malfoy was born to Abraxas Malfoy and into a very old, wealthy and gentry wizarding family, and raised in the lap of luxury at the family estate, a magnificent mansion in Wiltshire which had been in his family's possession for many centuries.

Around 1965, at the age of eleven, he began attending Hogwarts School of Witchcraft and Wizardry and was sorted into Slytherin House, where numerous like-minded young idealists are also often found. During his school career his skills in potions even earned him the recognition of the school's Potions Master, Professor Horace Slughorn, the Head of Slytherin House who had him join his Slug Club of promising students.

At some point in his third year at the school, Lucius's father became suspected of having had a hand in the premature retirement of Nobby Leach, the first Muggle-born Minister for Magic to ever hold office due to a sudden and mysterious illness which had befallen him. In his fifth year, Lucius was made a prefect, which showed the hard work he put into appearing a model student in the eyes of his teachers. In 1971. he warmly welcomed Severus Snape into the fold after the latter's sorting, and they would later become close friends.

Lucius graduated Hogwarts around 1972, but being independently wealthy, had no need to seek employment. At some point, he married Narcissa Black; their son, and only child, Draco was born in 1980.

Lucius became one of Lord Voldemort's Death Eaters and helped wage the First Wizarding War in an attempt to bring down the Ministry of Magic. Some of his activities may have included taking the lead in the torturing of Muggles.

It may have been around this time that Lucius was entrusted the Dark Lord's old school diary, which he was told that it was bewitched so that whenever smuggled into Hogwarts Castle, it would reopen the legendary Chamber of Secrets and send the Basilisk living inside to finish Salazar Slytherin's "noble work" of cleansing the school (which Slytherin himself had a hand in founding) of all Muggle-born students, thus proving that Voldemort was Slytherin's true heir.

When Lord Voldemort marked the Potters for death, his intended Killing Curse rebounded back at himself and obliterated his body, leaving his army shocked and distraught. Subsequently, the Order of the Phoenix and the Ministry of Magic rounded up many of his followers. Eventually, Lucius himself was caught and put on trial before a full Wizengamot for his involvement in Death Eater activities and support of Lord Voldemort's reign of terror. Lucius pleaded his innocence and claimed he had been acting under the influence of the Imperius Curse. While he was able to avoid the fate of many of his former peers, most of which was sentenced to a lifelong confinement in the wizarding prison of Azkaban, some people like Arthur Weasley, the Head of the Misuse of Muggle Artifacts Office, never believed his version of events, and felt Lucius was in Voldemort's inner-circle.

Lucius lived a rather good life with his family. Independently wealthy and therefore without any need to work, he was more than content with a settled life, preoccupying himself with upholding his influence in the Ministry of Magic and maintaining a collection of dark artefacts harking back to family history. Lucius eventually went on to raise his son in an atmosphere of regret that the Dark Lord had not succeeded in taking command of the wizarding community. Lucius did not search for Voldemort after his sudden disappearance, believing him to have died that night in Godric's Hollow.

Despite his high standing in the ranks of the Dark Forces, his loyalty were primarily towards the cause rather than to the man representing it, as shown by how he still associated with those of his former comrades who, like him, avoided Azkaban, many of which became close friends of the family. Indeed, he even remained in touch with Igor Karkaroff, who had won his freedom after capture by cowardly putting numerous of Lucius's old comrades into Azkaban in his place.[citation needed] The most prominent evidence for his initial disinterest in revisiting his past and lack of faithfulness to the Dark Lord himself was how Lucius disregarded rumours of Lord Voldemort's survival as wishful thinking, and instead took interest in potentially allying himself with the very person who had brought about their former Master's downfall. Many different theories regarding how The-Boy-Who-Lived had survived the Dark Lord's attack were made over the years, the most persistent of them being that the boy himself was a great Dark Wizard. This assumption was one Lucius prescribed to most eagerly, even taking comfort in the thought that he one day might get a second chance of world domination if Harry Potter grew up to become another, and greater, pure-blood champion.

As the time of Draco's magical education grew ever closer, Lucius informed his wife that it was his wish for their son to attend Durmstrang Institute, where Karkaroff now was Headmaster. The school did not allow Muggle-borns to attend, and it was also argued that Durmstrang took a 'far more sensible line' about the Dark Arts than Hogwarts, which was still headed by Albus Dumbledore, whom Lucius held in no higher regard after the war than he had during it for the man's advocacy for Muggle rights and other values that went against their own. His wife, on the other hand, did not like the idea of Draco going to school so far away, thus they decided that he would go to Hogwarts after all.

Joining the Board of Governors

It was presumably with the hopes of influencing the day-to-day running of Hogwarts as much as possible and undermine Dumbledore's authority and influence which led him to join the Hogwarts Board of Governors As a governor, Lucius submitted a demand to the Headmaster to have The Fountain of Fair Fortune banned from the Hogwarts library, as it depicted a love between a witch and a Muggle. Malfoy claimed that he did not want his son, Draco, to be influenced into sullying his pure-blood by reading a story that promoted marriage between wizards and Muggles.

Dumbledore's refusal to allow the book to be removed was backed by a majority of the other Governors, and Dumbledore wrote back to Malfoy saying that pure-blood families maintained their so-called purity by disowning, banishing, or lying about Muggles and Muggle-borns in their family trees, and then ask for works that dealt with these truths to be banned. Dumbledore considered it illogical and immoral to remove works dealing with the mixture of wizard blood and Muggle blood for the knowledge of the students. Dumbledore's response prompted several further letters from Lucius, consisting of "opprobrious remarks" on Dumbledore's sanity, parentage, and hygiene. This also marked the beginning of Malfoy's long campaign to have him removed from the post of Headmaster of Hogwarts.

Opening of the Chamber of Secrets

In 1992, during his son's return home from his first year at Hogwarts, Lucius was informed of Harry Potter's refusal of Draco's offer for friendship in favour of his allegiance to the Weasleys through their youngest Ron. Despite his disappointment that the wild hopes of the ex-Death Eaters - that Harry was another, and better, Voldemort - were completely unfounded. He nevertheless discouraged Draco from seeming "less than thrilled" about the Potter boy, since open hostility towards him could prove potentially disadvantageous to their social standing.[citation needed] As Draco spent a lot of his time away from Hogwarts talking badly of Harry and his broomstick.

Over the summer, Arthur Weasley began conducting raids on several wizarding households to confiscate Dark or illegally enchanted objects under his recently proposed Muggle Protection Act. Before his home could be raided, Lucius sold several of his more incriminating possessions at Borgin and Burkes and set in motion the old task that Voldemort assigned him which involved reopening the Chamber of Secrets. Although his master fell before the plan came to fruition, Lucius still had Tom Riddle's Diary in his possession. Therefore, he could still make excellent use of it by not only purging Hogwarts of Muggle-borns but also by sabotaging Weasley's reputation, eliminating an incriminating Dark artefact all at once and hopefully even exploiting the forthcoming chaos to have Dumbledore removed from his position at the school. Lucius slipped the diary into Ginny's schoolbooks after meeting the Weasleys at Flourish and Blotts just before the start of the school term.

Only the Malfoys' house-elf Dobby was aware of the diary's true nature, but Lucius did not believe his servant would interfere since house-elves were unable to disobey the commands of their masters. Unbeknownst to him, Dobby took this to his advantage by attempting to warn Harry Potter against returning to Hogwarts.

Early this school year, Lucius bought the whole Slytherin Quidditch team Nimbus 2001 broomsticks, as Draco was made the team's Seeker. He was present at the match where Harry was being chased by a rogue Bludger.

Students, animals, and ghosts were systematically petrified by the basilisk that a possessed Ginny released as the diary's grip on her became gradually stronger. Lucius used the ensuing terror (as well as threats of cursing their families if they failed to cooperate) to influence the school's Board of Governors to discredit and vote to dismiss Albus Dumbledore as Headmaster for his poor governance of the school. Harry followed to save Ginny and killed the basilisk with Godric Gryffindor's sword. He then destroyed the diary with a basilisk fang, which (though he did not know it was a Horcrux at the time) also destroyed the piece of Voldemort's soul inside.

Harry proved Ginny's innocence and pointed an accusing finger at the true culprit - Lucius. Lucius challenged the boy to prove his claims, but Dumbledore who had returned to Hogwarts at the request of the governors, stated that would be impossible with the diary beyond repair. However, he warned Lucius not to sell any more of Voldemort's school things, as Arthur Weasley would likely trace them back to him. Subsequently (and adding insult to injury) Harry in gratitude to Dobby managed to trick Lucius into setting Dobby free. He accomplished this by wrapping the diary in his own sock before handing it back to Lucius. Dobby then caught the sock after Lucius carelessly tossed it aside, thus, he was no longer forced into servitude of the Malfoy family.

In a fit of rage upon both losing his servant and being tricked by a much younger adversary, Lucius lost his normally controlled and calculating demeanour and tried to attack Harry. However, he was stopped by Dobby, who blasted him down a flight of steps. Lucius had no choice at that moment but to leave. While his role in the opening of the Chamber of Secrets could not be successfully proven, Lucius was ultimately stripped of his title as a Hogwarts school governor for threats against his eleven other colleagues. Despite his sacking, he still maintained strong ties with the Ministry of Magic.

The Buckbeak case

During the 1993-1994 school year, Lucius's son Draco was attacked by the hippogriff named Buckbeak after he provoked it during a Care of Magical Creatures class. Lucius took the case to the Ministry of Magic's Committee for the Disposal of Dangerous Creatures and insisted that the hippogriff be put to death. Buckbeak's owner, gamekeeper Rubeus Hagrid, desperately tried to defend him, with the assistance of Hermione Granger, arguing that Buckbeak had been provoked by Draco and had attacked in self-defence. Despite his actions, Malfoy still won the case and Buckbeak was sentenced to death. However, before Ministry executioner Walden Macnair could carry out the execution, Buckbeak was saved by Harry and Hermione (with the help of Hermione's Time-Turner), and subsequently came to be owned by Sirius Black.

In 1994, Lucius attended the Quidditch World Cup with his family, sitting in the luxury box of Minister for Magic Cornelius Fudge. Though he was disgusted that Arthur Weasley was there in the Top Box with his children along with Harry and Hermione, Lucius and Arthur restrained themselves due to being in Fudge's presence. In the aftermath of the cup, Malfoy and some other former Death Eaters were involved in the torture and humiliation of the Muggle site manager of the stadium and his family, though was not known at that time to the public and officials. He fled when the Dark Mark was launched into the sky.

Return of the Dark Lord

When Lord Voldemort rose again in the summer of 1995, Malfoy returned to him on his summons, claiming that he had done everything he could all along to find Voldemort and help him rise again. Voldemort believed that Malfoy had not truly renounced his old ways, but mildly doubted his loyalty because Malfoy had fled the Dark Mark at the World Cup.

Even though Harry witnessed Malfoy's declaration of loyalty to Voldemort, almost nobody in the Ministry believed him and Malfoy continued maintaining strong ties to very high places in the Ministry, most prominently in the form of financial support, as has been in the past.

Continued connection with the Ministry

In 1995, after the trial of Harry Potter, Malfoy, and Fudge encountered Harry, and it was implied that Malfoy was giving money to the Ministry. Malfoy appeared doing shady dealings with Cornelius Fudge in the Department of Mysteries just prior to Harry's trial.

Malfoy's frequent excursions to meet with Fudge were also used as excuses to place the Imperius Curse on Ministry officials such as Broderick Bode and Order of the Phoenix member Sturgis Podmore on Voldemort's orders. These curses were placed in a bid to obtain Sybill Trelawney's first prophecy. However, these attempts were short-lived, as Bode failed to obtain the prophecy, therefore causing Voldemort to murder Bode, and Podmore was arrested for attempting to break into the Hall of Prophecies.

Lucius also gave his support of the formation of Educational Decree Number Twenty-Three, which is to create the post of Hogwarts High Inquisitor for Dolores Umbridge to inspect the teachers' performance. During an interview about this post, he used this to discredit Dumbledore, under the pretence of caring for the future of the school and feared Dumbledore's "eccentric decisions".

Battle of the Department of Mysteries

After the failure of his previous attempts to obtain the prophecy, Voldemort successfully attempted to lure Harry to the Hall of Prophecies by planting a vision of his godfather being tortured in his mind. Malfoy - along with Bellatrix, her husband Rodolphus and her brother-in-law Rabastan Lestrange, and fellow Death Eaters

Augustus Rookwood, Antonin Dolohov, Nott, Mulciber, Jugson, Crabbe, Walden Macnair, and Avery - was involved in the Battle of the Department of Mysteries, when they were sent to pry the prophecy from Harry's hands. However, Harry and the five friends who accompanied him, all D.A. members, managed to hold off the Death Eaters until several members of the Order of the Phoenix arrived.

Imprisonment and fall from grace

Lucius' mission to retrieve the prophecy ultimately failed when Neville Longbottom, under the influence of a Step-Dance Curse from Antonin Dolohov, accidentally broke the prophecy. Lucius was seen by a myriad of Ministry officials called by Albus Dumbledore to the scene; now with irrefutable evidence pointing to his identity as a Death Eater, Lucius was promptly sent to Azkaban prison, as was the rest of the Death Eater squad, the sole exception being Bellatrix Lestrange, who escaped with Voldemort. After the events in the Department of Mysteries, Voldemort mainly blamed Lucius for the failure, as Lucius was the commander of Voldemort's small task force.

Lucius Malfoy's failure at the Department of Mysteries combined with accidentally destroying part of Voldemort's soul with the diary of Tom Riddle resulted in his loss of any standing with the Dark Lord. Some believed that he was safer in Azkaban than being free. Lucius was sentenced to life imprisonment in Azkaban.

Escape from Azkaban

In the summer of 1997, nearly a year after being imprisoned, Lucius and all the other incarcerated Death Eaters escaped Azkaban prison with the help of Voldemort, who never bothered to get him out after all that time. It was mentioned that Lucius might have been secretly glad to have been incarcerated in Azkaban, as he was away from Voldemort and his terrible wrath. Voldemort was convinced to do so by Draco Malfoy's success in the plot to assassinate Albus Dumbledore. In actuality this was a further attempt to punish Lucius, as Voldemort really didn't think that Draco would succeed in this mission and would thereby dispose of Draco and possibly the other Malfoys as well.

However because Draco didn't kill Dumbledore himself, the Malfoys were no longer held in high regard by the Dark Lord, who commandeered their home as his base of operations, and his favour fell on Bellatrix Lestrange, Lucius' sister-in-law, and Severus Snape, Lucius's former protégé, since he killed Dumbledore. Voldemort openly mocked the family at a Death Eater meeting in the summer of 1997, taking Lucius' wand and deriding their relation to werewolf Remus Lupin through Narcissa's niece Nymphadora Tonks. In short, Lucius had become reduced to nothing more than a servant.

Skirmish at Malfoy Manor

The Malfoys were desperate for a chance to be forgiven, and thus were excited when a group of Snatchers led by Fenrir Greyback brought Harry Potter and his friends to the Manor in the spring of 1998. Lucius pressed his reluctant and fearful son to identify Harry, and identified Ron Weasley as one of Arthur Weasley's sons. However, Draco denied knowing who Harry was.

He then argued with his sister-in-law about who would be the one to call Voldemort with their Dark Marks, but they held off when Bellatrix noticed Gryffindor's Sword, which she had believed to be in her Gringotts vault, among their possessions. Subsequently, Bellatrix tortured Hermione Granger for information about the sword with the Cruciatus Curse while the others were taken to the cellar downstairs.

After Hermione lied about the sword being a copy and Griphook went along with her story, Bellatrix signalled Voldemort, but Dobby, the Malfoys' former house-elf, came to the rescue of the prisoners. Harry and Ron ran back upstairs, and the former stunned Lucius and Greyback. After their escape, the Malfoys and Bellatrix were severely punished by Voldemort and were confined to the manor.

Battle of Hogwarts

By the time of the Battle of Hogwarts, Lucius showed that he was more concerned with his son's safety than Voldemort's cause, begging to be permitted to find him when the fighting began. Narcissa lied directly to Voldemort for Harry's sake when he informed her that Draco was still alive, and she and Lucius ran through the crowd, "not even attempting to fight, screaming for their son."

Lucius was present in for Harry Potter's final defeat of Lord Voldemort. Following Voldemort's defeat, Lucius, Narcissa, and Draco sat in the Great Hall during the celebrations, looking unsure that they belonged there.

Later life (Post 1998)

Lucius and Draco's crimes were forgiven due to their abandonment of Voldemort and his cause, and Narcissa's lie to the Dark Lord that saved Harry Potter's life in the Forbidden Forest in the Battle of Hogwarts.

None of them served time in Azkaban due to the evidence he provided against fellow Death Eaters and his help to ensure the capture of many of Voldemort's followers who had fled into hiding. Lucius would eventually gain a grandson, Scorpius Malfoy, after Draco married Astoria Greengrass. Because of Astoria's change of view regarding blood purity after the war, Lucius and Narcissa found her to be a somewhat disappointing daughter-in-law despite her pure-blood heritage. According to Draco, Lucius was frequently telling Astoria that he wanted grandchildren to continue on the family line, despite Draco telling her otherwise.

Lucius still enjoyed collecting Dark artefacts, particulary ones that no one else had. Theodore Nott worked for him and they created a prototype for a new Time-Turner, having decided the ones created by the Ministry were unsuitable and, having been destroyed, unavailable. The prototype was hindered by the five minute rule, but they then found a way to create another Time-Turner which would enable Lucius to travel back in time years, as he had hoped. However, he never used it which led Draco to believe that he actually preferred a world without Voldemort. The Time-Turner he created was kept by Draco, and used to save Scorpius and his friend who were trapped in the past.

Lucius Malfoy: (British Accent) So Young Nico Chan.

Nico: You are a prime example of a father gone bad Malfoy. Your son is no better.

Lucius: How dare you talk that way to my son!?

Nico: I can talk about him however the hell I want! Now you will die!

Nico teleported and kicked him in the back and punched him in the stomach and kneed him in the face and sent him crashing into some rocks.

Lucius got up and he summoned a massive army of Death Eaters!

Bruticus: Nico, we'll help take them down!

Defensor: That's right boss.

Nico: Go get them!

Bruticus, Defensor, G1 Menasor, Superion, G1 Predaking, Sky Lynx, Abominus, Computron, Omega Supreme, and Devastator went at the massive Death Eater Army and started blasting and smashing them all over the place with massive and indiscriminate fury! Massive fiery explosions and powerful thunderous stomps were rattling the area.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOMMM! KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM! KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM! KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM! KRABBBBOOOOOOMMM! KRABBBOOOOOOMMM! KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM! KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM! KRABBBBBOOOOOOOMMMM!

Slugslinger: (guns some Death Eaters down) I've killed 10 so far.

Sureshot: (stomps on a few Death Eaters) I've killed 20.

The body count and death toll was rising fast as they were killing the army.

Nico punched Lucius in the face and went Super Saiyan 4 and kicked him in the stomach with incredibly devastating force and he belched up a huge amount of blood.

Nico then grabbed him in a hold.

Nico: NUOVA SPHERE!

The 4-Star Dragonball on Nico's bracelet glowed and he entombed himself and Lucius in a sphere of pure fire and it went up into the sky. It spun around and it was a spinning sphere of fire.

Lucius: (Echoing) Let me guess, your plan is to hug me to death right?

Nico: (Echoing) Nope. If you think you can walk right out of here, then be my guest.

He let him go and flame chains wrapped around Lucius.

Nico: You may come from a proud wizarding family Lucius Malfoy, but you are just as ruthless as your son is. That's why I plan to end the lineage of the Malfoy's for good by destroying the very person that Draco knows the best: you.

Lucius: You wouldn't!

Nico: Oh I would. Goodbye.

Nico fired a blast of energy and the entire sphere exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

The explosion was so powerful and so devastating that it rained down massive blasts of fire and incinerated the entire army of Death Eaters in numerous enormous fiery explosions of incredible power!

---

When the smoke cleared, the entire area was set on fire and there was nothing left of Lucius Malfoy and Nico landed safely. He was unharmed as he was enveloped in a ball of fire. The embers from the explosion obliterated 829,395,937 Death Eaters.

Lucius Malfoy's evil spirit appeared.

Nico: You will never be welcome on Earth ever again Malfoy. You and your friends have failed our planet.

Nico held his hand out in front of his face.

Nico: HAKAI!

Lucius Malfoy then glowed purple and he screamed in excruciating pain as he was being completely obliterated. He was erased from existence for all eternity as if he was never born at all.

Nico: What a waste of a life.

Battle 7: Peter Pettigrew

---

Vince was facing Peter Pettigrew.

---

Peter Pettigrew, O.M. (First Class)[10], (c. 1959/1960 - March, 1998), usually referred to as Wormtail or Scabbers was a wizard and the son of Mr and Mrs Pettigrew. He began attending Hogwarts School of Witchcraft and Wizardry in 1971 and was sorted into Gryffindor House after the Sorting Hat pondered over which house he belonged in for over five minutes, a true Hatstall. During his years at Hogwarts, he became one of the Marauders; he was best friends with Sirius Black, James Potter, and Remus Lupin, and together they created the Marauder's Map.

During the First Wizarding War, Peter was a member of the Order of the Phoenix, but became a spy when he was coerced into joining Lord Voldemort. He was made Secret-Keeper for the Potters when they went into hiding with the use of the Fidelius Charm, and betrayed James, his wife Lily, and their son Harry to Lord Voldemort.

After Voldemort's fall, he faked his own death and framed Sirius for betraying James and Lily, as well as for his own murder and those of the twelve Muggles he killed during his escape.

Peter spent twelve years living in his Animagus form as the Weasley family's pet rat, Scabbers. However, his identity was exposed by Sirius and Remus in 1994, and Pettigrew, with nowhere else to go, sought protection in returning to the service of Lord Voldemort, whom he found in the forests of Albania.

Pettigrew played a key role in Voldemort's rebirth and continued to serve him during the Second Wizarding War. In the spring of 1998, during the Skirmish at Malfoy Manor, in a moment of rare mercy, he hesitated to strangle Harry. The silver hand Lord Voldemort had given Pettigrew interpreted his hesitation as weakness and/or disloyalty, and strangled him to death, saving Harry and finally finding redemption for his treason.

Pettigrew began attending Hogwarts School of Witchcraft and Wizardry in 1971. During his Sorting ceremony, the Sorting Hat wavered between placing him in Slytherin or Gryffindor. After a deliberation of more than five minutes (making Pettigrew a Hatstall), the Hat decided to sort him into Gryffindor.

He soon became friends with Sirius Black, James Potter, and Remus Lupin, fellow Gryffindors he idolised for their popularity and talent. Pettigrew took part in James and Sirius' bullying of Severus Snape, a Slytherin boy in the same year as the Marauders, though it is unlikely he would have dared to bully Snape without his friends protecting him.

He, James, and Sirius soon discovered Remus Lupin to be a werewolf, but they did not abandon him as many other wizards would have. Instead, they spent years learning how to become Animagi so that they could accompany Remus during his transformations. Pettigrew's Animagus form was a rat, from which his nickname "Wormtail" was derived.

The four friends called themselves the Marauders and designed a map to navigate Hogwarts. Pettigrew's rat form helped him slip through the Whomping Willow's branches and immobilise the tree in order to let himself and the Marauders enter the Shrieking Shack. Professor Minerva McGonagall described Pettigrew as a "stupid and foolish boy" who hero-worshipped Sirius and James. She also stated that Pettigrew was a less than average student and was not capable of fighting with Sirius. She was somewhat harsh with him during their years of student-teacher relationship.

Order of the Phoenix membership and betrayal

After graduating from Hogwarts in 1978, Pettigrew and his friends joined the Order of the Phoenix and fought against Lord Voldemort and the Death Eaters during the First Wizarding War. However, by October 1980, Pettigrew began working as a spy for Voldemort, having come to believe that nothing could be gained from opposing him.[13] Despite being considered a low-ranking soldier for his cowardice and general lack of usefulness, Pettigrew was given the Dark Mark and accepted into the ranks of the Death Eaters. During his time as a Death Eater nobody, not even Albus Dumbledore, seemed to suspect him of working for Voldemort. It did become apparent eventually to the Order that there was a spy among their ranks.

After a prophecy was made regarding Harry Potter and the Dark Lord, James and Lily Potter took their son and went into hiding. In an attempt at misdirection, they were convinced to select Pettigrew as their Secret-Keeper by Sirius Black. On Hallowe'en night 1981, Pettigrew betrayed his friends, and Voldemort murdered James and Lily, but was unable to do the same to their son when his Killing Curse rebounded, destroying his physical form. Upon arriving at the wreckage of the Potters' house, Pettigrew deduced what had happened, took Voldemort's wand, which was left among the rubble, fearing the Ministry would discover his treason through inspecting it, and hid it in an undisclosed location.

Apart from James and Lily, Sirius Black was the only person who knew that Pettigrew had been their Secret-Keeper. When he realised what Pettigrew had done, as his hiding place was empty with no signs of a struggle, he tracked him down hoping to avenge his friends. When he closed in on him, Pettigrew screamed that Sirius had betrayed the Potters for everyone to hear, and before Black could draw his wand, Pettigrew swiftly pulled out his from his back and then killed twelve Muggles by blowing up the street with a Blasting Curse, which created a crater large enough that the sewer pipes were showing. He then faked his own death by cutting off a finger and leaving it behind as he transformed into a rat and fled.

Sirius was arrested for being a Death Eater, killing Pettigrew and the Muggles, and betraying the Potters, and was imprisoned in Azkaban without a trial. The surviving Muggles who witnessed the event had their memories erased and were given an excuse by the Muggle-Worthy Excuse Committee that a gas-leak occurred. Pettigrew was unjustly awarded the Order of Merlin, First Class for his confrontation with Sirius, which, along with the finger that they recovered, were "posthumously" given to his mother. Even the other remaining Marauder, Remus, believed that Sirius betrayed them and killed Pettigrew. As the time passed, due to misconceptions, many believed that Black drew his wand and killed Pettigrew before the other had a chance of even drawing.

Pettigrew joined Jacob and Patricia Rakepick in entering the fourth Cursed Vault, the Portrait Vault. He escaped in fear, leaving Jacob and Rakepick behind. He went into hiding after this event.

Between the wars (1981-1994)

Pettigrew went into hiding as a rat, hoping to avoid Lord Voldemort's other supporters. As Voldemort had met his downfall on Peter's information, the Death Eaters suspected him of being a traitor; he feared that if they learned of his continued existence, the ones who escaped incarceration (such as Lucius Malfoy and Corban Yaxley) would kill him for leaving their organisation in such a chaotic state. Looking for a wizarding family to take him in, he came into the possession of Percy Weasley and, later, Percy's youngest brother Ron. He was taken good care of while living with the Weasleys and was named "Scabbers".

As Scabbers, Pettigrew returned to Hogwarts with Percy Weasley when he began his education in the 1987-1988 school year. Jacob's sibling met him and Percy immediately after the Start-of-Term Feast the following year while helping William Weasley study for his Nastily Exhausting Wizarding Tests. During this time, Percy seemed to be the only one to think positively of the rat.

Later in the 1988-1989 school year, he escaped from Percy and gained possession of the Marauder's Map. He was found in his rat form along with the map in the Icy Corridor by Jacob's sibling. He escaped again, and later encountered Jacob's sibling while in his human form. He obliviated the student to make them forget about their encounter, and escaped yet again. He eventually ended up back with Percy, and his disappearance during the year did not make the Weasleys suspect that there was anything suspicious about him.

It was clear Scabbers was an extraordinary rat; he was unusually old for a rat of his species, which had a life expectancy of three years, yet the Weasley family owned him for twelve. The reason he chose to be adopted by a wizard family was that he could keep track of the news in the wizarding world and could rejoin his master should he return to power. Positioned as he was, he could also bring Harry Potter as a welcome-back gift, so no Death Eater would dare claim him a traitor, but he never took action during his time as Ron's pet, because Voldemort was not strong enough to protect him. Despite once biting Gregory Goyle on the knuckle when he attempted to steal Harry and Ron's food, Ron generally thought that Scabbers was useless, since all Scabbers did was 'eat and sleep.' However, Ron did show his affections for Scabbers as he became quite upset when he thought Scabbers had been eaten by Hermione Granger's cat, Crookshanks.

Exposure

In 1993, Sirius Black escaped from Azkaban after seeing a picture of Pettigrew's rat form in a Daily Prophet article about the Weasley family's trip to Egypt. Soon, Scabbers began to thin and bald. Ron thought at first this was due to the stress of the trip, and then fear of Hermione Granger's new cat Crookshanks, while Harry thought that Scabbers was finally reaching the end of his lifespan. In fact, he had been agitated by the news of Sirius Black's escape from Azkaban, afraid that he would find him and finally avenge the Potters. Eventually, Pettigrew faked his death yet again, by biting himself and leaving blood, allowing Ron to believe that Crookshanks had eaten the rat. This incident almost ruined Ron and Hermione's friendship until they reconciled over helping Rubeus Hagrid appeal his defence of Buckbeak the hippogriff. Hermione later discovered Pettigrew hiding in a milk jug in Hagrid's cabin.

That same year, Remus Lupin, who had been unaware of Pettigrew's duplicity and believed him to be dead, began teaching Defence Against the Dark Arts at Hogwarts. He began to suspect the truth when he saw Peter's name appear on the Marauder's Map, a charmed parchment created by him and his friends that came into Harry's possession through Fred and George Weasley. On 6 June 1994, Scabbers was found hiding in Hagrid's hut. When Ron attempted to bring him back to the castle, Scabbers tried to escape, but was caught by Ron in the shadow of the Whomping Willow.

There, Ron and Pettigrew were dragged to the Shrieking Shack by Sirius, followed immediately by Ron's friends Harry Potter and Hermione Granger. After heated discussion and the arrival of Professors Lupin and Snape, Pettigrew was unmasked by Sirius and Remus. He initially attempted to redirect the blame to Sirius, but when the truth came out and all the evidence was against him, he appealed for mercy to each person in the Shack (other than Snape, who had been unconscious since before Pettigrew's exposure). Each of them was disgusted by his cowardice, and the fact that he would dare ask them for mercy after deceiving them in so many ways infuriated them even more.

Remus and Sirius planned to kill their old friend, but Harry intervened after Pettigrew claimed that Harry's father would have never killed him. This, along with Harry's own belief that his father would not want his best friends to become killers, led him to be merciful. Although Harry had intended to hand Pettigrew over to the Dementors and use him to clear Sirius' name, at last, this created a life debt between Harry and Pettigrew.

The plan was upset, though, when the full moon rose, and, as Remus had forgotten to take his Wolfsbane Potion after discovering Pettigrew's name on the Marauder's Map, he transformed into an uncontrollable werewolf. Sirius was forced to take on his Animagus form, that of a dog, to protect Harry, Ron, and Hermione, and Peter took advantage of the chaos, cursing Ron with Remus' wand, transforming into his rat form, and fleeing.

Second Wizarding War (1994-1998)

After his escape from capture at Hogwarts, Pettigrew had no choice but to rejoin his master, lest Sirius and Remus kill him. He went to retrieve Voldemort's wand, then travelled to Albania where he learned from the rats there of a place in the forest where the creatures feared to travel. They said a dark shadow (Voldemort) took over the animals and killed them.

On his way to his master, Peter ran into Bertha Jorkins, a Ministry witch who was on holiday in Albania, while he had stopped at an inn for food. Although she recognised him, Pettigrew was able to lure her into the forest and overpower her, before handing her over to the Dark Lord. Under torture, Jorkins gave them information that helped Voldemort make plans for an attack on Harry Potter, including information on the Triwizard Tournament and the location of a faithful Death Eater, and she later was hit by a Memory Charm - meant to hide the existence of said Death Eater - so hard that she suffered permanent brain damage. When Voldemort killed the irreparable Bertha, Peter thought that was a mistake, believing they should have modified her memory and that her disappearance would not go unnoticed.

Pettigrew milked venom from Voldemort's snake, Nagini, to strengthen him and provide him with a rudimentary body. He carried Voldemort's weak, small body on the long journey back to Britain, where they took up temporary residence in the Riddle House outside of Little Hangleton. Voldemort called Peter by his Marauder name, "Wormtail." Voldemort did not possess Wormtail as he had been deemed dead by the wizarding community, and would have attracted too much attention.

Over time, Pettigrew tried unsuccessfully to convince Voldemort to use a wizard other than Harry Potter to rebuild his body, whom Pettigrew offered to capture if Voldemort would permit him to leave his side for a few days, but Voldemort saw this as an attempt at desertion and claimed that Pettigrew was regretting ever returning to him in the first place. Voldemort noted how Pettigrew always flinched when he set eyes upon him and shuddered when touching him, which further enforced his belief that Pettigrew would have escaped if given the opportunity. Knowing that if Pettigrew is not there to milk Nagini's venom and feed him, Voldemort would lose his strength, which further enforced that he cannot let his servant leave. When Voldemort ordered Wormtail to turn his chair around so he could face Frank Bryce, Wormtail whimpered before doing so.

Pettigrew took Voldemort to the Crouch family's house to free Barty Crouch Jr, the faithful Death Eater Jorkins had mentioned, and in turn subjugate Barty Crouch Snr. For his next assignment, Pettigrew was sent with Barty Jr to capture former Auror, Alastor Moody, who was set to teach Defence Against the Dark Arts at Hogwarts. While Crouch became Moody's double and set off in his place to Hogwarts, Pettigrew was assigned to watch over the Imperiused Barty Snr. Pettigrew neglected his duty, with the result that Crouch escaped and nearly sabotaged the plan. However, he was intercepted by Crouch Jr and Pettigrew was punished using the Cruciatus Curse.

Rebirth of Lord Voldemort

Pettigrew played an important role in the rebirth of Lord Voldemort. When Harry Potter was delivered to the Little Hangleton graveyard per Voldemort's plot, Pettigrew murdered Cedric Diggory on his orders and performed the ritual on Harry. He sliced open Harry's arm with a large knife to restore Voldemort to a physical body, even reluctantly sacrificing his own hand. He robed his master when he emerged reborn from the cauldron. As a reward for his assistance, Voldemort replaced the hand with a silver one. He then witnessed the duel that broke out. It can be assumed that this event, along with Sirius Black's later death at the hands of his own Death Eater cousin Bellatrix Lestrange, made it apparent to the public that Pettigrew was alive and an active Death Eater.

Working for the Death Eaters

After Pettigrew helped Voldemort return to full power and attain a fully regenerated body, Pettigrew was sent to Severus Snape's house at Spinner's End to "assist" his childhood nemesis. However, Snape treated Pettigrew as a mere servant, though it is heavily implied that Pettigrew was too afraid to request reassignment. Pettigrew was at the house when Narcissa Malfoy made the Unbreakable Vow with Snape, with Bellatrix Lestrange serving as Bonder. He did not, however, hear its contents as he had been ordered out of the room by Snape after he was caught eavesdropping at the door, something that he's often been doing according to Snape.

In the summer of 1997, Pettigrew was staying at Malfoy Manor, the headquarters of the Death Eaters, and acted as gaoler for those imprisoned in the cellar there. During the Meeting at Malfoy Manor, he was ordered by Voldemort to check on their prisoner, Ollivander, the wandmaker, in the cellar and keep him quiet. Ollivander had also been forced to make a new wand for Pettigrew. He also kept an eye on Charity Burbage, the Muggle Studies professor at Hogwarts at the time. He, along with all the other Death Eaters present, watched as Voldemort murdered her with the Killing Curse and fed her body to Nagini.

Skirmish at Malfoy Manor and death

Around Easter of 1998, at the height of the Second Wizarding War, Harry, Ron, Hermione, Dean, and Griphook were brought to the Manor by a group of Snatchers led by Fenrir Greyback. Bellatrix Lestrange isolated Hermione for interrogation and torture as to how the trio obtained Godric Gryffindor's Sword, which she thought secure in her Gringotts vault. When they heard a noise from the cellar below, Pettigrew was sent to investigate.

The noise they had heard was the house-elf Dobby apparating away with some of the prisoners in the cellar. When he opened the door, he was tackled by Ron and Harry, who had freed themselves of their restraints. Ron managed to wrestle Pettigrew's wand from him. He began to strangle Harry, but Harry reminded him that he owed him a life debt. When Pettigrew hesitated, his brief moment of mercy caused his silver hand to turn on him, strangling and killing him, despite Harry and Ron's best efforts to restrain it. It is unknown what happened to his corpse afterwards, but considering the fact that Pettigrew was hated by most of the wizarding world, it can be assumed that it was buried or otherwise disposed of.

Physical appearance

Pettigrew was an extremely short man (no taller than Harry when he was thirteen or Hermione when she was fourteen years old) with grubby skin, small watery eyes, and a pointed nose, all of which were lingering attributes of his animagus rat form; he even spoke in a squeaky voice that is another lingering attribute of his rat form. In his youth, his hair was mousy brown, but by his mid-thirties, it had thinned, lost a lot of its colour, and acquired a large bald patch.

The stress he endured also apparently caused him to appear middle-aged by his mid-thirties. He was also described as "fat" in his youth, but when forced to return to his human form in the Shrieking Shack, he looked as though he lost plenty of weight in a short time, mostly due to his stress of fearing Sirius' wrath. In 1981, he cut off his right index finger as part of a ploy to fake his own death, which is reflected in his "Scabbers" form, and, fourteen years later, he cut off his entire right hand at the request of Lord Voldemort. Voldemort used magic to give Pettigrew a shining silver, glove-like replacement. As a Death Eater, he bore the Dark Mark on his left inner forearm.

Vince: Peter Pettigrew. This is gonna be good as I turn you into cat food.

Peter Pettigrew: (British Accent) Oh I think not.

Vince then kicked him in the face and punched him in the stomach numerous times and he kneed him in the face and fired a powerful crystal and it skewered him through his chest. Then the crystal exploded with incredible power.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

The explosion completely incinerated him into ashes and there was nothing left of him.

His spirit appeared.

Vince: You've tormented the people of Earth for far too long. Now it will end.

Vince held up his hand to Peter's face.

Vince: HAKAI!

Peter Pettgrew glowed purple and he screamed in agony as he was being completely obliterated. He was erased from existence for all eternity as if he was never born at all.

Vince: Enjoy the fire of oblivion.

Battle 8: Corban Yaxley

---

Next up was Corban Yaxley.

---

Corban Yaxley was a Dark wizard and a Death Eater who fought during the First Wizarding War. Yaxley did not search for Voldemort after his first downfall, but this was forgiven after Voldemort's return in 1995.

Yaxley also fought at several battles of the Second Wizarding War, such as the Battle of the Astronomy Tower. When Voldemort was in control of the Ministry of Magic, Yaxley became the Head of the Department of Magical Law Enforcement. He went on to fight in the Battle of Hogwarts, where he was subdued by George Weasley and Lee Jordan. His fate after Lord Voldemort's final defeat, however, is uncertain.

Corban Yaxley was one of the many Death Eaters who fought in the First Wizarding War. After Lord Voldemort's first downfall, Yaxley managed to avoid imprisonment in Azkaban. Like many others, Yaxley believed Voldemort had been finished and, thus, did not attempt to find him.

Second Wizarding War

Yaxley returned to Voldemort after his rebirth. Yaxley immediately became, once more, an active Death Eater during the Second Wizarding War.

On 27 June, 1995, three nights following Voldemort's return, Yaxley arrived at Slughorn's house under cover of dark, intending to recruit him or take him by force to Voldemort. Transfiguring himself into an armchair, Slughorn successfully evaded the Death Eater's detection. A few days later, Slughorn locked up his house and went on the run, often squatting in Muggle dwellings while the owners were away, where he felt undetectable.

Battle of the Astronomy Tower

In June of 1997, Yaxley was among the group of Death Eaters who led an assault at Hogwarts Castle. Along with Alecto Carrow, Amycus Carrow, and Fenrir Greyback, they managed to overpower the Aurors who were assigned to guard the castle, reaching the Astronomy Tower where he pressured Draco Malfoy to do the deed Voldemort ordered him to perform: murder Albus Dumbledore. Yaxley was determined to follow the orders, attacking Greyback when he moved forward to attack Dumbledore. Before Draco could bring himself to kill him, Severus Snape arrived and, seeing Draco unable to do it, murdered the Headmaster himself, blasting the body from the tower. The Death Eaters had stood aside due to a fear/ respect for Snape's presence, as Yaxley did not try to argue.

The Death Eaters proceeded to flee from the castle, before any of the Order of the Phoenix summoned Ministry of Magic reinforcements. While getting down from the Astronomy Tower, Yaxley was hit with a Full Body-Bind Curse by Harry Potter.

Later, when Ministry of Magic officials searched the Tower, they found Yaxley and he was likely arrested and taken to Azkaban.

Ministry take-over

A few weeks later, Yaxley had already broken out of Azkaban, and instigated his master's plan to subjugate Ministry officials to begin the silent coup. Yaxley attended the Death Eater meeting at Malfoy Manor in July of 1997. During that meeting, he reported that he had placed Pius Thicknesse, then head of the Department of Magical Law Enforcement, under the Imperius Curse as part of Lord Voldemort's plan to take over the Ministry of Magic.

Many of his fellow Death Eaters were impressed, though Voldemort believed Snape's estimate of when Harry Potter would be removed from his relatives' home over Yaxley's. Yaxley fell for the trap set by Alastor Moody on that count, whereas Snape knew the true date, setting the stage for the Battle of the Seven Potters.

As Head of the Department of Magical Law Enforcement

Four of the most consequential figures of the new regime (left to right): Albert Runcorn, Ministry Official; Dolores Umbridge, Senior Undersecretary to the Minister and Head of the Muggle-Born Registration Commission; Pius Thicknesse, Minister for Magic; and Corban Yaxley, Head of the Department of Magical Law Enforcement

On 1 August, 1997, Voldemort's plan and Yaxley's efforts succeeded when Minister Rufus Scrimgeour was murdered and Pius Thicknesse became the puppet Minister for Magic. The Ministry fell under Voldemort's control and Yaxley, as an inner-circle Death Eater, was made the Head of the Department of Magical Law Enforcement.

In this role, he participated in at least some of the interrogations and harassment of Muggle-borns, along with Dolores Umbridge, Head of the new Muggle-Born Registration Commission, while using his cruelty and new authority to intimidate lower ranking employees such as Reginald Cattermole. The Ministry also designated Harry Potter as "Undesirable No. 1", under the excuse of him being wanted for questioning of Dumbledore's death. Snatcher groups were then dispatched to capture any Muggle-borns who refuse to register, along with Order of the Phoenix members and Harry himself.

The Death Eater led Ministry also took over Hogwarts. Severus Snape was made Headmaster, and Amycus and Alecto Carrow were appointed Professors.

Infiltration of the Ministry of Magic

Yaxley played a major role in this infiltration alongside Dolores Umbridge. During Umbridge's interrogations of Mary Cattermole, as part of the Muggle-Born Registration Commission, Yaxley sat next to her observing the case. He refused to pity her children, while mocking her questionnaire answers, and having intimidated the man who disguised as her husband earlier to get his office dried in time. When Harry and Hermione reached the courtroom, they saw Umbridge, whom had the locket around her neck. Harry (under the Invisibility Cloak) stunned Yaxley and Umbridge. When Harry Potter, Hermione Granger, and Ronald Weasley freed the Muggle-born prisoners, Yaxley woke up and pursued angrily.

Yaxley madly began to chase the trio as he ordered all Floo Network transportation to be sealed. At the last moments he grabbed Hermione's arm as the trio Disapparated. Hermione managed to evade him by using a Revulsion Jinx, but not before revealing the location of 12 Grimmauld Place. Thus, the house was no longer a safe hideout for the trio while leaving Ron splinched. After this the trio had to go to their tent in the forest. Harry speculated that Yaxley was bringing fellow Death Eaters into the house via Apparition.

Battle of Hogwarts

On 2 May, 1998, Yaxley participated in the Battle of Hogwarts. During the first wave of the battle he can be seen duelling against Filius Flitwick a short distance away from Kingsley Shacklebolt and a masked Death Eater. It's unknown what the outcome of the duel was, but both Yaxley and Flitwick were seen unscathed shortly after.

He and Antonin Dolohov stood guard in the Forbidden Forest during the brief interlude that followed Voldemort's ultimatum to Harry Potter. They were followed back to the Death Eater camp by Harry under his Invisibility Cloak. During the final moments of the battle, Yaxley was defeated by Lee Jordan and George Weasley. His ultimate fate is unknown, though if he survived, he was most likely captured and sent to Azkaban along with the rest of the surviving Death Eaters.

Varie was facing Corban Yaxley.

Varie: You will pay for your crimes Yaxley.

Corban: (British Accent) We will soon see.

Varie fired a powerful energy blast at him and it hit him and completely obliterated him in an instant in a massive explosion.

KRABBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

When the smoke cleared there was nothing left of him.

His evil spirit appeared.

Varie: You don't even deserve to go to Heaven or Hell.

Varie held up her hand to his face.

Varie: HAKAI!

Cordan Yaxley glowed purple and he screamed in excruciating agony as he was being completely obliterated. He was erased from existence for all eternity as if he was never born.

Varie: Enjoy Oblivion.

Battle 9: Lord Voldemort

---

(DAWN OF WAR - INQUISITION DAEMONHUNTERS THEME PLAYS)

I was facing Lord Voldemort and it was gonna be a powerful fight.

Me: I will never forgive you for your crimes Voldemort. So many have suffered all because of you and I will avenge all those you have killed in cold blood. All 86,237 people!

Lord Voldemort: So you have kept track of how many I killed.

Me: That was before I brought them all back with the power of the Cosmic Cube. I resurrected everyone you killed. Now you will pay for each one of them.

I then unleashed the full extent of my power and I became a Super Angel-Ebonwu 100,000 Elemental Moonlight Phoenix!

Me: (Divine Voice) I will make you suffer the wrath of God.

Lord Voldemort: We'll see. But I'm immort…

POW!

I punched him in the face with devastating force and kicked him into the air and I went at him and fired a powerful barrage of purple fire energy blasts at him and they hit him all over and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!
KRABBBBOOOOOOOOMMMM!
KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!
KRABBBBOOOOOMMM! KRABBBBBOOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBBOOOOOOOMMM! KRABBBOOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOMMM! KRABBBBOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBOOOOMMM! KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM!

I teleported and punched him in the back with devastating force and sent him crashing into a rock with incredible force.

CCCCRRRAAAAAAAAAAASSSSSHHHH!

Voldemort exploded out of the rubble and he fired powerful blasts of magic at me. They hit me and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOMM!
KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!

Voldemort: (Laughs malevolently) You are dead.

Me: Not even close Fuckdemort.

Voldemort: What!?

The smoke cleared and he saw that I was standing completely unscathed.

Me: I'm now completely impervious to magic. All forms of magic are completely useless.

I went at him and punched him in the stomach with devastating force and sent him flying and I teleported and punched him in the back of the head and he went at me and punched and kicked at me with indiscriminate fury and I dodged and blocked all his attacks and I kicked him in the face and flew back and I fired a massive purple energy blast and Voldemort fired a massive black magic energy blast and the blasts collided and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

The explosion was so powerful and so massive and so devastating that it shook the entire planet to the brink. I teleported and kicked him in the back of the head and sent him crashing into a massive mountain and it exploded into a massive cloud of dust!

CCCCCCCCCCCRRAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAA

Voldemort exploded out of the rubble and came at me with incredible speed and I did the same. We then slammed into each other and it erupted into an incredible and savage fist fight that shook the very fabric of the universe to the core! It was so strong that every planet all over the entire universe could feel its intense power! Even the Kais could feel it all the way over in the Otherworld.

King Kai: WHOA! WOW! What a fight! This is unbelievable!

Pikkon: What is it King Kai?

King Kai: J.D. Knudson and Voldemort are fighting with incredible power!

Pikkon: Incredible! I've never sensed or felt anything like it.

Elsewhere down in Hell where all of Goku's enemies are, they were watching the fight and it was a massive and destructive show that was shaking their bodies to the brink.

Cell: My word! What in the world is happening there!?

Frieza: Some human is facing a powerful foe of incredible strength! But he is just a worthless monkey! (RASPBERRIES)

Nappa: Unbelievable! This has to be the most powerful fight I've ever seen!

Raditz: No kidding!

Cooler: It's unbelievable!

Cell: Wait a second. I know that kid that's fighting that monster. That's J.D. Knudson! He sure has gotten far more powerful than ever since the last time we fought.

Captain Ginyu: No kidding! How did he get so strong!?

Jeice: (Australian Accent) It's inconceivable mates!

Back in the fight I punched Voldemort in the stomach and kicked him in the face and fired a massive energy blast at him and it hit him and exploded.

KRABBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMMMMMM

We backed away and went at each other and we punched our fists and it resulted in a massive explosion that turned much of the ground into a massive exploding wall of lava! Voldemort backed away and fired massive blasts of fire and magic at me and I ran at him with powerful fire energy blasts and I jumped over his fire and landed behind him and fired 2 powerful fire blasts. They hit him and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO
KRABBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Then I fired a massive barrage of moonlight fire energy blasts at him and they all hit him and exploded with incredible power as he was being smashed all over in incredible pain as the explosions were burning and blasting him all over the place.

Me: Try this one! STARDUST DIVINER!

I fired a rainbow energy ball at him and it slammed into Lord Voldemort and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBBBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

The explosion was so strong and so powerful and so devastating that it set much of the planet on fire!

Voldemort got up and he was on his last legs. We all regrouped and went at him!

Rollburn: See how you like this!

Rollburn bounces upwards and lands as a damaging fiery comet at Voldemort. He crashed into him and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Carol fired Godzilla's Spiral Atomic Ray and it slammed into Voldemort and exploded all over in massive explosions of fire.

KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOMMM!

Lori fired a powerful blast of wind and blew him around in a massive tornado and she slashed him all over with Xaldin's spears and cut him all over and Riley slashed him with Ascalon and he exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO
KRABBBBBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMMMMM!

Me: LIGHT STYLE NINJA ART: HALOS OF JUSTICE!

I threw many rings made of pure light and they hit Voldemort and exploded all over with incredible power!

KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM!

KRABBBOOOOOOOMM! KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!
KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!
KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!

Riley fired a stream of razor leaves at Voldemort and cut him up all over.

Ben: Lets see how he likes speed!

Ben then turned into a new ultimate Alien! It was ULTIMATE FASTTRACK! He was red and black instead of blue and he had lots of spines on his legs, arms shoulders and his head.

Ben: ULTIMATE FASTTRACK!

Shanan: Whoa! An Evolved Citrakayah!

Lola: Wow! That is a cool one!

Riley: It sure is!

Ultimate Fasttrack: Lets speed up!

He ran really fast at 1,500 miles per hour and slashed Voldemort all over with his spines and his speed was so fast that it made him invisible!

Dark Spicer then turned into Ultimate Menace Arms and he smashed Voldemort all over the place with indiscriminate fury. Next he turned into Ultimate Ripgnat and he sprayed Voldemort with acid and deadly chemicals and burned him all over.

Me: Lets show this fuckwad some teamwork!

Nico: Yeah!

Lori fired a powerful blast of wind and Arkayna fired a blast of green fire from her staff.

Dark Spicer fired a massive barrage of blasts from his blaster and the blasts hit him all over and exploded.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMMM!

Me: I've had it with you Voldemort!

I flared up my power to the max!

Voldemort got up and he was building up his power to incredible levels and he was incredibly enraged.

Voldemort: I WILL KILL YOU ALL IF IT'S THE LAST THING I EVER DO!

Me: You will pay for everything you've done Voldemort! (Cups hands to Side) X1,000 SOLAR KAAAA! MEEEE! HAAAA! MEEEE!

Voldemort: NOW YOU ALL DIE!

Voldemort fired a massive blast of pitch black magic energy and I fired a massive Purple Solar Kamehameha blast of incredible power.

Me: HAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAA!

I fired a massive purple Kamehameha Wave of incredible power.

Krillin sensed the incredible amount of power coming from the blasts.

Krillin: That's way too big! Lets go!

Everyone flew away from the blast area. The blasts collided and a massive power struggle began. Once everyone got to a safe distance they saw the struggle that was taking place.

Krillin: They're gonna destroy the entire planet with that much power!

Piccolo: Voldemort!

Varie: What power! Come on guys! Lets help J.D. out!

Nico: Right!

Goku: Lets do it!

Everyone went to distract Voldemort so I can finish him off once and for all.

(DBZ Calling The Dragon theme plays)

They landed on different sides of Voldemort.

Piccolo: SPECIAL BEAM CANNON!

He fired his Special Beam Cannon and it hit Voldemort in the back.

Tien: TRI-BEAM!

He fired a yellow energy blast and the rest of the Z Fighters fired energy blasts.

Sailor Soldiers: PLANET ETERNAL POWER!

The Sailor Soldiers combined their power and fired a massive white energy blast.

Nico fired a powerful blast of fire energy and it hit Voldemort. The blasts hit Voldemort and it provided some form of distraction.

Me: I've got to reach deeper! (Intensifies blast) HAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAA!

Voldemort was being pushed back and she intensified his blast.

Me: I'VE HAD ENOUGH OF YOU VOLDEMORT!

Voldemort: You're all so anxious to die aren't you? Well all you had to do was ask!

He fired a blast of energy wind and blew them all away.

Me: I HATE YOU VOLDEMORT (INTENSIFIES BLAST) HAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAA!

Voldemort intensified his blast. Lightning struck all over the area from the blast.

Everyone fired back at Voldemort!

Voldemort: WHY CAN'T YOU PEOPLE JUST STAY DOWN!?

He fired more energy wind and blew them away again.

Varie and Lily fired powerful energy blasts and more!

But they kept getting up and fired more blasts at him.

Voldemort: They just keep lining up to die!

They fired more blasts at him.

Voldemort fired more wind.

Voldemort: NO CHANCE! YOU HAVE NO CHANCE!

He intensified the energy wind even more and blew them away.

Will: We have to combine all our Guardian Powers on Voldemort. Vegeta we have to help J.D.!

Vegeta: You know it Will!

They flew above Voldemort and Vegeta charged up his blast.

King Kai felt the enormous power of our blasts and something was gonna happen!

King Kai: OH NO! THE PLANET TITAN IS GONNA BLOW!

The power of our blasts was so strong and powerful that it was gonna destroy the entire planet into nothing!

The ground was shaking apart and earthquakes were going on all over the place! Lightning was striking all over the place and torrents of lava exploded high into the sky as the blast was ripping the entire planet into space dust.

Lincoln: The Planet is gonna explode!

Goku: (To me telepathically) Release it J.D.! Release everything! Remember all the pain he has caused, the people he has hurt, now make that your power!

Me: I will Master Goku!

Vegeta: FINAL FLASH!

Vegeta fired his energy blast and the Guardians fired their blasts.

Vegeta and the Guardians: ELEMENTAL FINAL DESTROYER!

The blasts combined and hit Voldemort. It exploded and it provided a distraction. Voldemort saw them and it was the moment I was waiting for.

Goku: NOW'S YOUR CHANCE!

Me: DIE VOLDEMORT! HAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAA!

I intensified the blast to an incredible level of power and it overtook Voldemort's blast and destroyed it. The blast was so powerful and so devastating that it was more than enough.

(Death of Frieza, Cell and Buu theme plays)

Voldemort was being destroyed because of it.

Voldemort: I HAVE FAILED YOU SALAZAR SLYTHERIN!

Voldemort was completely obliterated by the sheer power of the blast in an instant and there was nothing left of him. The blast went out into space and it dissipated harmlessly.

I powered down and I wasn't even in the least bit exhausted.

Me: Oh man! We got to get outta here! This whole planet is gonna blow!

We all teleported back to Earth.

We got out of there just in time as the entire planet of Titan exploded.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

The entire planet of Titan was completely obliterated in an instant.

Back on Earth we made it home.

Harry Potter: It's finally over!

Me: Not quite.

Voldemort's evil spirit then appeared.

Me: Like I said before. Hell is too good for you. There is a much better place for fuckweeds like you. Being erased from existence forever.

I held up my hand to his face.

Me: HAKAI!

Voldemort glowed purple and screamed in excruciating pain as he was being completely obliterated. He was erased from existence forever and he was gone forever as if he was never born at all.

We all cheered wildly. The terror of Voldemort, the most evil wizard ever to terrorize the world has been silenced and erased forever.

Neville: (to the Masters of Evil) Thanks so much for your help today.

Dark Spicer: (smiles) No problem, Neville.

Lord Drakkon: I can't believe I'm saying this. But I'm actually starting to respect you heroes now.

Tommy Oliver: Glad to hear it.

Vypra: But like I said before, this won't be the last time we'll team up with each other against a common enemy.

Me: We appreciate your help though. But unless it's absolutely necessary we'll call on you again.

Vypra: Thanks J.D.

They teleported away.

Me: It's over guys!

We cheered wildly!

Harry Potter: (To the viewers) Never become a wizard like Tom Riddle. He was the worst monster ever to terrorize the world of wizards and muggles.

Me: He sure was. But we've avenged all those he killed and we never have to see his followers or him again.

Lily: Yep.

We went back home for a much needed rest.

THE END

Another fanfiction complete and my 1,000th Chapter done!

WHOO-HOO! THIS WAS AWESOME AND EPIC! This is a major milestone for me! I would like to thank my friends NicoChan11, VinJedi1995, Darkhai, ArchangelOfJustice12, Nflemingful, Dallas Hatfield, Kinghammer Publishing and everyone who helped me make it all the way here. Thanks guys. You all are the best! This was an awesome and epic battle for me. NicoChan11 gave me the ideas for this. Thanks man. Let me know what you all think. Next up after my break on Monday is The Pastmaster and we're going to help the Swat Kats destroy that 900 year old monster.

See you all on Tuesday

Offer of the Pastmaster

In Lisa's laboratory, Nicole, me, Lisa, Nico and Laney were working on an awesome new prostetic arm utilizing the hardware analysis from Long John Silver. It was a really awesome Swiss Army arm for one of our friends over at school. This kind of technology would be over 20,000 years more advanced than anything we know. The arm will have 10,000 tools and functions and it was gonna be an awesome multi-purpose tool. We were welding and putting it together. We worked hard and when it was done it was ready.

Me: It's all finished.

Lisa Loud: Indeed it is.

Nico: Our friend Jenni is gonna love it.

Me: Yep.

---

At school the next day, our friend Jennifer "Jenni" Lambing was showing off her brand new arm. Jennifer was born without a right arm because of Amniotic Band Syndrome, a disease that causes limbs to fail to develop while in the womb. It came with a manual on how to use it. It was gonna take some time to get used to it. But she can adapt.

Nico: So what do you think?

Jenni: It's so cool!

Me: It sure is. We worked on it for you. This is a Montressor Swiss Army arm as we call it. We utilized technologies and designs from the 365th century to design it.

Nico: That's right. This is technology that's over 34,000 years more advanced than anything we have.

Jenni: Wow. That's incredible!

Lisa Loud: Indeed it is. It comes with over 10,000 functions. So be sure to read up on the manual to help you get used to it.

Me: Yeah. It's gonna take some time to adjust and get used to but you can do it.

Jenni: Okay. Might as well get reading.

She got to reading the manual and it was a long process. It was gonna be the awesome road to having another arm.

Later at the beach in Hawaii we were having fun and we were also surfing, relaxing and building Sandcastles.

Me: Ahh. This is the life.

Nico: Boy you said it J.D.

Lincoln: I love going to the beach.

Earth: Me too.

Namine was drawing while sitting in the sand.

Namine: It's so beautiful here.

Me: Boy it sure is.

Namine: J.D. since I am close to Kairi, does that make me Sora's sister as well next to Aqua?

Me: It sure does. You are after all Kairi's nobody. You and Kairi both know each other much better than anyone else.

Namine: I'm glad you think so J.D.

Me: Thanks.

Hunter: (German Accent) J.D., I'm so happy that Lily is learning all kinds of techniques from all the famous songs we have.

Me: I'm glad too Hunter. And it is so cool that Jessie is teaching her all about world history to get new ideas.

Hunter: Ja. Und it's great she knows all kinds of stuff.

Me: It sure is.

Nico: I never even knew all that stuff from history happened. It is amazing.

Me: It sure is.

Aurore: It sure is amazing that there are so many things that have happened over the centuries.

Laney: I know. It's just really amazing.

?: Hey!

We turned and we saw two big, buff and ripped surfer dudes.

Me: Wow! You guys are ripped.

Charlie (Surfer): Thanks dude. Name's Charlie and this is Isaac.

Me: Pleasure.

Isaac: This is our beach now. Locals only!

Me: Oh I don't think so. This beach is for everyone.

Nico: Yeah what is your problem man!?

Isaac: You non-locals are not welcome here.

Charlie (Surfer): Stop it Isaac.

Lincoln: I would listen to him if I were you.

Charlie (Surfer): Whoa! L-Dog Kahuna! Welcome back little dude!

They high-five.

Lincoln: Thanks.

Isaac: Big deal! Locals only! Only now get off our beach!

Lincoln punched him in the stomach and kicked him in the face and sent him crashing into a garbage can.

Me: He gives Surfer Dudes everywhere a bad name.

Charlie (Surfer): Yeah my brother has always been like that. He thinks he's so much better than everyone else that he can get away with anything because of it.

Me: Seen that many times dude. Usually it doesn't end well for them man.

Charlie (Surfer): Tell me about it. Want to surf dude?

Me: You bet I do!

Lincoln: Count me in.

We went out onto the water with our surfboards and we surfed awesome 30 to 50 foot waves and did all kinds of awesome surfing moves. We were awesome! When it was done we went back to the land and everyone was cheering for us.

Later after a radical surf session we were watching Coop compete in a Hot Dog eating contest. It was so awesome! Coop was facing a world champion eating competitor from Japan named Kobayashi and he was the champion 6 times in a row.

Coop: I call this one the Heartbreaker.

Coop put all his hot dog in a bowl full of mustard and drank it all down and then he belched.

BELCH!

Jamie: Go, Coop! You can do it!

Ultra Humanite: This is the most disgusting thing I've ever seen.

Me: It may be disgusting but Coop has this in the bag.

Varie: Yeah we've seen how he eats and to him this is just a light snack.

Baymax: When most humans eat food of this amount, they are required to go on a diet. But for Coop, this is not the case.

Nico: No it's not Baymax.

Aqua: Boy this is amazing that he can eat so much.

Lincoln: It sure is Aqua.

Aqua: Indeed. J.D. it was really nice that Namine thinks of Sora and me as siblings.

Me: Only because it's true Aqua.

Aqua: I can tell.

We watched Coop eat and eat and eat and eat and eat and eat. All the other contestants couldn't keep up with him until it was just him and Kobayashi.

Apeface: If Coop keep this up, he'll be too sick to go on the next mission that pops up.

Jamie: Don't sweat it. Coop doesn't get sick. He just gets less hungry.

Me: Coop is an eating machine.

Kobayashi then fainted and Coop won!

Announcer: And the winner and still champion for the 20th time in a row in the great world of hot dog eating: COOP!

He was given the champion eating belt and a crown and a cape.

Me: Way to go Coop!

Coop was finishing up the rest.

Pointblank: Coop? You can stop now.

Me: Ah just let him eat. No sense letting good hot dogs go to waste.

Coop: You guys want some?

Me: Why not.

We made hot dogs and clinked them.

Me: A hot dog toast it another awesome eating victory to Coop. To Coop!

Everyone: To Coop!

We ate the hot dogs.

Me: Congratulations Coop.

Coop: Thanks guys. But you should've seen me when I won the pizza eating contest.

Nico: Boy that was cool!

Naruto: I bet.

Me: Knowing Coop, he'll eat anything and win bro.

Coop: You bet I will.

Kiva: I believe it.

We later walked around the island. We walked around the city of Honolulu on the island of Oahu and we saw the beauty of the capital city of Hawaii. It was really beautiiful.

Me: Wow. Just as beautiful and amazing as the last time we were here.

Laney: No kidding.

But then we saw a woman on top of the roof of a building.

Nico: Look up there! What is she doing!?

Me: From the looks of things, she is about to jump off and kill herself!

The woman jumped off.

Me: OH SHIT! COME ON!

We ran fast and got to the building as she was falling and I caught her just in time!

Me: Are you ok?

Woman: I'm fine. (smirks) But you won't be! (punches you to the ground)

The woman then transformed and it was really HYDRAX from episode 6 of S.P.D.!

* * *

Hydrax is a Fernovian intergalactic bank robber from the planet Fernovia. She is the main antagonist in the Episode A-Bridged.

While on Earth, she disguises herself as a human named Diane and pays off Broodwing to frame T-Top who was a bounty hunter on her tail., However, the Green Ranger foils her plans and she is brought down by the Canine Cannon and contained by Bridge using the Judgement scanner. Hydrax is later cloned by Slate and Morgana, but is destroyed by the S.P.D. Battlizer.

* * *

Sydney Drew: Hydrax!

Hydrax: Its been a while S.P.D. Rangers.

Shanan: Whoa! A Fernovian from the planet Fernovia!

Hydrax: That's right Shanan.

Laney: Wow! You are really pretty.

Hydrax: Why thank you Laney.

Lincoln: What is the planet Fernovia?

Shanan: It's a jungle planet located 17,235 light-years away from Earth. It is home to the Fernovians, a plant humanoid race that are really known as the peaceful nature admirers of the galaxy.

Lana: That is cool!

Me: I remember you! You tried to frame T-Top!

Hydrax: That's right. I'm impressed you know that.

Bridge Carson: It was awful that you did all that!

Me: We know a lot of things that have happened during the franchise over the course of 26+ years.

Laney: That's right.

Jack Landors: But we won't let you do what you did back then!

S.P.D. Rangers: S.P.D. EMERGENCY!

The S.P.D. Power Rangers Transformed and they were ready!

Hydrax: At least I know that you're still willing to save people from things like falling from a building. Instead of just teleporting to plannts like you do most of the time.

Me: That's true. Shall we dance milady?

Hydrax: Lets.

We went at her and we clashed with her and I punched her in the stomach and Jack Landers punched her in the face and slashed her in the face and kicked her in the stomach and Sky Tate punched her and blasted her all over and Bridge Carson punched and blasted her all over. Z Delgado and Sydney Drew punched and blasted her and I summoned my purple V-Lancer and fired blasts at her and they hit her all over and exploded.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM!

She was knocked down.

Hydrax: Ok. You all beat me in battle. So, I'll let you contain me in a card. But before you do so, I have to do one last thing.

Me: What's that?

Hydrax then shocked me by kissing me on the lips.

We broke and it felt good but my mouth tasted like chlorophyll.

Jack Landors put her in a containment card.

Me: That was a good kiss. But it tastes like chlorophyll.

Riley: But maybe me, Ben and Bella can use her alien DNA for our own.

Me: Good idea. Lets all do it.

We scanned her with our Omnitrix's and got her DNA to transform into.

Me: There.

We later went around and I kept the containment card with Hydrax in it. I was gonna put it on my desk for having someone to talk to.

---

Back at the estate, we were watching TV and playing card games. But then we got an alert from the computer.

Computer: Alert. Temporal Anomaly in progress.

Me: Uh oh.

We went to the computer and what we saw was really strange. It was a vortex that went through the Space-Time Continuum.

Me: It's a time vortex!

T-Bone: This is the Pastmaster's handiwork.

Razor: Yeah he gave us a lot of problems in the past.

Aylene C.: The Pastmaster is a 900 year old sorcerer from the dark ages.

Aylene told us about his history.

---

The Pastmaster was a villain that appeared in the cartoon series "SWAT Kats". He was an undead sorcerer from the Dark Ages who tried to conquer his home city, travelling through time using a mystic pocket-watch, and the Tome of Time, he was able to summon extinct or mythical creatures such as dinosaurs and dragons.

Although the tome was destroyed in his first appearance, he sought to transport Megakat City back to the Middle Ages where his towering castle used to be located outside the city, and he would become its ruler. But he would not rule it alone; every king needs a queen, and so he fell in love with Callista, Megalith City's ruler.

We gasped in horror!

Me: This guy sounds really dangerous!

Kira (Swat Kats): He is. He is said to be a master of the past and he did so many terrible things both in the past and present.

Clyde McBride: Not only that but messing around in the past is really dangerous.

Me: Yep. It's like playing with fire. If you mess around in the past it can have devastating consequences.

Nico: No kidding.

Me: Lets get him!

Dana: Right!

We went out to destroy the Pastmaster!

---

In the middle of the park we arrived and we saw THE PASTMASTER!

Me: So you are the Pastmaster.

Pastmaster: That's right. And it's a pleasure to meet all of you Team Loud Phoenix Storm.

Nico: Wow. How old are you?

Aylene C.: He's over 900 years old.

Me: Whoa! That's amazing! I've lived for 150,000 years and you living for 900 years is nothing compared to what I went through.

Pastmaster: Indeed. You are a true immortal being J.D. No doubt about that.

Lincoln: So we have heard.

Pastmaster: I know you all want to kill me. And that's fine. But I have an offer that will make us all happy. (to Qin) Or at lt east, one of you.

Qin: What are you talking about?

Me: Yeah.

Pastmaster: What I'm talking about, Ms. Chen, is me giving you a chance to go back in time and stop the Russian Mafia from klling your family. Don't you want that chance?

We gasped.

Me: Wait. Give us a sec. Huddle.

We huddled together.

Lynn: You know this could be a trick. The Pastmaster could be trying to bluff his way out of us killing him.

T Bone: No, he isn't. Me and the other Swat Kats know what his powers are capable of.

Aylene C.: Yes I know what he is capable of as well.

Double D: Even then, it's still risky.

Maria: Why's that?

Double D: Imagine 15 years of compounded experiences. One different decision, no matter how big or small, impacts everything that follows. Moments upon moments, choices upon choices. No relationships, nothing would be as it is today, and Qin would never know the difference because We would never remember any of it.

Me: That is a good point Double D. But maybe we can at least help Qin by giving her more closure.

Nico: Good idea. Qin, I think you should go for it.

Qin: I should? But that means I'll never get to meet you guys.

May: But at least you'll be able to grow up with both of your parents.

Maria: Besides, Nico was already thinking of you before you met us for the first time. So, even if you do change the past, you'll still find your way to us.

Me: That is a good point. But lets give it a shot.

We broke.

Qin: Okay Pastmaster. I'll do it.

Pastmaster: Excellent. You will go back in time to the day your parents were shot and left for dead.

Qin: Okay.

Pastmaster opened a time portal and it lead to 10 years ago.

Qin: I'm ready.

Qin went into the portal.

Commander Feral: Back off, Team Loud Phoenix Storm and Swat Kats! The Enforcers are here!

Nico: Commander Feral, don't attack Pastmaster.

Commadner Feral: Why? You all want to kill him yourself?

Nico: No. Not yet. My friend Qin Chen is on the other side of that portal. If you attack Pastmaster before she comes back out, she'll never find her way back.

Me: That's right Feral. Just wait a few minutes.

2010 - Missouri

Qin arrived at her old mansion in 2010. It was just as beautiful as she remembered it.

Qin looked away as the Russian Mafia badly wounded her family again like before. As soon as they were gone, she ran up to the dying forms of her parents.

Nathan Chen: (weakly) Qin? Is that you?

Qin: (smiles with tears in her eyes) Yes, Dad. It's me.

Sakuya Chen: I'm glad those monsters didn't get a chance to harm you.

Qin: Mom. Dad. This is going to sound crazy. But I'm from the future. I got a second chance to come back here and… tell you that I'm okay. And that I love both of you.

Nathan: Oh, Qin. We love you too.

Sakuya: Goodbye, our sweet little daughter.

With that, Qin's parents died as she held their lifeless bodies and cried.

Very tragic.

Present

---

Pastmaster: I guess this is where I take my leave.

Lori: The next time we see you, you're dead.

Pastmaster: There's not going to be a next time. (to Lori, Lynn, and Lola) You three were right not to trust me. This was all part of my plan. I simply had one of you go back in time and change the past. Not enough to erase you all from existence. But enough to bring back to life some of your deceased enemies. I hope the Joker is one of them.

Lola: Why's that?

Pastmaster: So I can watch as he guns you all down.

Qin: Don't count on it!

Qin came back out and the portal closed.

Pastmaster: You didn't save them. Why? (gets angry) WHY?! YOU COULD'VE HAD THE LIFE YOU WANTED! YOU COULD'VE HAD EVERYTHING YOU EVER WANTED!

Qin: I already do. And that is being with my friends! They are now my family! My mom and dad are already with me and always will be! They are in my heart!

Me: Yeah!

Nico: You tell him Qin!

Troy: Qin might not be able to change her past. But we can help make a better future for her!

Megaforce Rangers: Legendary Ranger Mode: Nova Flashteam!

The Megaforce Rangers turned into the Supernova Flashman rangers from 1987.

We went at the Pastmaster and I punched him in the face and Nico kicked his watch out of his hands and Clyde grabbed it. Lily punched him in the face and she then grabbed his book of spells.

Lily: I got his book!

Me: Awesome!

Nico: Pastmaster, you have failed all of the entire Space Time Continuum!

Nico punched him in the face. The Enforcers fired lasers and missiles at the Pastmaster and the blasts all hit him all at once and exploded all over.

KRABBBOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMMM!
KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBOOOOOOOOOOOMMM!

Ben: Lets see how he likes this!

Ben then turned into a new alien we haven't seen before. It was SANDBOX! He was a box shaped alien and out popped a creature made entirely of pure sand!

Ben: SANDBOX!

Me: Whoa! I've never seen an alien like this one.

Shanan: Wow! That's a Dustressfone from the planet Cleanissomess!

Nico: Wow! This is a new one. Never saw anything like him.

Shanan: Cleanissomess is a desert planet located 50,000 light years from here and it has no rain or water and the only inhabitants that live there are Dustressfone's. They possess the power to control the sands.

Sandman: That is very much like me.

Penny Marko: That is so cool daddy!

Me: It sure is.

Sandbox: Watch what he can do.

Sandbox fired powerful waves of sand and they slammed into the Pastmaster and hurt him all over.

Me: Wow! That is what I call testing The Sands of Time! (Laughs) Get it guys?

Everyone laughed.

Luan: (Laughs) Good one J.D.

Eddy: (Laughs) That was a good one.

Nico: It sure was.

Muscle Man: You know who else likes testing the Sands of Time? MY MOM!

We laughed at Muscle Man's joke.

Me: Those jokes never get old Muscle Man.

Dana: Here's an interesting technique I learned. ICE STYLE NINJA ART: CAROLEAN'S PRAYER!

Dana flew into the air and a massive raging snowstorm formed behind her as the song Carolean's Prayer by Sabaton played.

Far beyond their nations' borders

There's an army on the march
For religion king and glory
In the name of Christ their enemies chastise
Taking orders from the heavens
Through hostile fire they will march
Unaffected by the volleys
Facing death their faith will keep their fear at bay
Into battle facing the fire Lord thy will be done
Into battle walk in a line
See the white in their eyes Caroleans are marching on
Put their lives in God's hand for their kingdom and fatherland
See the white in their eyes Caroleans are marching on Morale and discipline unites them
A common faith to keep them strong
Always on their way to heaven
In the name of Christ their enemies chastise
Into battle facing the fire Lord thy will be done
Into battle walk in a line
See the white in their eyes Caroleans are marching on
Put their lives in God's hand for their kingdom and fatherland
See the white in their eyes Caroleans are marching on
Fader vår som som är i himmelen helgat varde ditt namn

Tillkomme ditt rike ske din vilja

Såsom i himmelen så ock uppå jorden ge oss bröd ock idag

Och förlåt oss våran skuld

Ahead facing the lead

And army of Swedes performing God's deeds

Showing no fear their judgement is near

Making their sacrifice

When then king and his men

Their enemies sight prepare for the fight

Banners held high ready to die

Hear how they praise the Lord

Into battle facing the fire Lord thy will be done

Into battle walk in a line

See the white in their eyes Caroleans are marching on

Put their lives in God's hand for their kingdom and fatherland

See the white in their eyes Caroleans are marching on

Fader vår som som är i himmelen helgat varde ditt namn

Tillkomme ditt rike ske din vilja

Såsom i himmelen så ock uppå jorden ge oss bröd ock idag

Och förlåt oss våran skuld [X4]

A wave of ice fired at the Pastmaster and it turned into the Brandenburgian Army from 1677 and it slashed and blasted the Pastmaster all over the place with incredible fury. Freezing him in a block of ice.

Me: Whoa! That was awesome!

Hunter: Ja. That was the Brandenburgian Army from the Scanian War.

Jessie K.: That war happened back in the 1670's. It was a terrible war. Germany wanted to take over Sweden because of the financial crisis it was going through back then. But Sweden wouldn't let that happen. So the Scanian War happened as a result from 1675 to 1679.

Lincoln: Jeez! That's awful!

Hunter: Ja it was a terrible war back then.

Me: I had no idea that happened back then.

Laney: Me neither.

Nico: That is amazing. There are many events we haven't heard about yet.

Lisa Loud: Indeed. Really fascinating subject to learn about.

Carol: Lets see how he likes this! ATOMIC STYLE NINJA ART: A LIFETIME OF WAR!

Carol rose into the air and atomic particles appeared behind her and the song A Lifetime of War by Sabaton played.

Two ways to view the world

So similar at times

Two ways to rule the world

To justify their crimes

By kings and queens young men are sent to die in war

Their propaganda speaks those words been heard before

Two ways to view the world brought Europe down in flames
Two ways to rule
Has man gone insane
A few will remain
Who'll find a way
To live one more day
Through decades of war
It spreads like disease
There's no sign of peace
Religion and greed cause millions to bleed
Three decades of war
From dawn to dawn they're fighting die where they stand
The fog of war lies thick when armies scorch the land
When all of Europe is burning what can be done
They've been to war a decade two more to come
Long way from home
(Döpas och dö i strid)
Lifetime at war
Has man gone insane
A few will remain
Who'll find a way
To live one more day

Through decades of war

It spreads like disease

There's no sign of peace

Religion and greed cause millions to bleed

Three decades of war

When they face death they're all alike

No right or wrong

Rich or poor

No matter who they served before

Good or bad

They're all the same

Rest side by side now

Has man gone insane

A few will remain

Who'll find a way

To live one more day

Through decades of war

It spreads like disease

There's no sign of peace

Religion and greed cause millions to bleed

Three decades of war

Has man gone insane

A few will remain

Who'll find a way

To live one more day

Through decades of war

It spreads like disease

There's no sign of peace

Religion and greed cause millions to bleed

Three decades of war

Carol fired a blast of atomic energy and it turned into the soldiers from the Thirty Years War in Germany back in 1618 to 1648. They slashed and burned the Pastmaster all over the place.

Me: Whoa! That was wicked awesome!

Hunter: Wow! That was the army from the Thirty Years War!

Jessie K.: That was another event in History. The Thirty Years War is called that because it lasted for 30 years. From 1618 to 1648 it was nothing but fighting. The war began with the Bohemian Revolt back in 1618.

Nico: Wow. That was terrible.

Me: I know. Back then war was always constant. Nothing good ever comes out of war.

Vince: No it doesn't.

Ben: Lets see how the Pastmaster likes this one.

Ben turned into a new Ultimate Alien. It was ULTIMATE CRASHHOPPER! He turned black and he had red wings and spines all over him.

Ben: ULTIMATE CRASHHOPPER!

Me: Whoa! An Evolved Orthopterran!

Shanan: Wow! That is so cool! I've never seen this one before.

Riley: Really awesome!

Bella (Ben 10): Wow! That is awesome!

Ultimate Crashhopper: Lets see what he can do.

He flew at the Pastmaster and sent a bunch of Hoppers at him and punched and kicked him all over and it was a brutal fight.

Me: Whoa! Awesome!

Razor: Do you have any last words before we gut you?

Pastmaster: I will not be defeated!

Me: Then you will die a horrible death. Lets show him some teamwork!

Pointblank: Roger that boss! CYBER KEY POWER!

The Earth Cyber Planet Key went into his back and enhanced his Stereophonic Sound Gun 100-fold.

Baymax: I'm looking foreward to this. SAN FRANSOKYO CYBER KEY POWER!

The San Fransokyo Cyber Planet Key went into his right arm and enhanced his rocket arm 100-fold.

Pointblank and Baymax: SUPERSONIC ROCKET SOUND PUNCH!

Baymax fired his rocket fist and Pointblank fired his sound blast and the blast merged with it and punched the Pastmaster into pulp!

Ultra Humanite: Time for some brain power! GIGANTION CYBER KEY POWER!

The Gigantion Cyber Planet Key went into his right arm device and enhanced his psychic powers 100-fold.

Apeface: How about this too! CYBER KEY POWER!

The Earth Cyber Planet Key went into his back and enhanced his Sonic Boomer 100-fold.

Ultra Humanite and Apeface: PSYCHIC SONIC BOOM BURST!

Ultra Humanite fired a massive psychic energy blast and Apeface fired a powerful Sonic Boom blast and the blasts hit the Pastmaster and exploded.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM

Lea: Lets do it Snake Man.

Snake Man: With pleas-s-s-s-ure.

Lea fired a powerful blast of fire and Snake Man fired his Search Snake.

Lea and Snake Man: INFERNO SNAKE STRIKE!

The fire merged with the Snake and turned it into a snake of pure fire and it slammed into the Pastmaster and exploded.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Lynn: Time for some sports to pound you!

Emerald: Yeah!

Lynn fired a powerful blast of lava and Emerald fired a blast of energy from her sword.

Lynn and Emerald: VOLCANIC UNICORN SWORD SLASH!

The lava turned the energy into a unicorn of pure lava and it slammed into the Pastmaster and exploded.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!

Me: Now to finish you!

Clyde: You got it! You and your time destroying days are over! SUPER TIME DESTROYER BLAST!

Clyde fired a powerful blast of time energy and it slammed into The Pastmaster and he was getting older.

Syd Chang: Lets see how he likes this! WOLF PACK MAULSTORM!

Syd Chang did a wolf call and a massive pack of wolves came and they attacked the Pastmaster all over with extreme ferociousness.

Alexis Rhodes: Feel the ice fire of pain. SUBZERO FIRESTORM FREEZE!

Alexis Rhodes fired a blast of ice fire and it slammed into the Pastmaster and froze him into a big block of ice.

T-Bone: Lets see how you like this Pastmaster! MATCHHEAD MISSILE FIRESTORM BARRAGE!

T-Bone fired a powerful barrage of Matchhead Missiles and they lit on fire and slammed into the Pastmaster and exploded into a massive pillar of fire.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM!

Razor: Try this one on! SLICER MISSILE SLICE AND DICE!

Razor fired a powerful barrage of Slicer Missiles and they opened and had blades extend. They slashed him into pieces.

Kira (Swat Kats): This will finish you! MEGAVOLT MISSILE ELECTROCUTION BARRAGE!

Kira fired a massive barrage of Megavolt Missiles and they electrocuted the Pastmaster with 100 trillion volts of electricity and reduced him to ash in an instant.

Me: Yeah!

The Pastmaster's spirit appeared.

Nicole: It's into the Book of Vile Darkness for you Pastmaster! (Chants an Incantation) ALDRUON ENLENTHRANEL VOSOLUN LIRUS-NOR!

The book sucked him in and the Pastmaster was gone!

Me: Wow! That was intense.

Alexis Rhodes: I'm sorry, Qin. I know how much your parents meant to you.

Qin: It's okay Alexis. I know now that I'm happy with my parents being with me in my heart. I will always have them with me in my heart.

Nico: I'm happy for you Qin.

Razor: (To the viewers) Learning from the past can be very beneficial and it can show you what happened so that we may never do the dark things in the past.

Me: Indeed.

Alexis Rhodes: (To the viewers) Never mess with the past and the space time continuum.

Me: Yep.

We went back home and rested.

THE END

---

Another Awesome chapter done and another Swat Kats villain dead.

The Pastmaster from Swat Kats was a strange and cool villain. It was a really scary villain and more. NicoChan11 gave me the ideas for this. Thanks man. Let me know what you all think. Next up is the awesome cartoon Huntik! Get ready to see us destroy the evil Organization that is gonna use the power of Spirits and Titans to destroy the planet and enslave humanity. We won't let that happen and DeFoe has an old score to settle with me after I killed his friends and minions.

See you all tomorrow.

Huntik VS The Organization

In the middle of the city, we were walking to an awesome jewelry store. The reason: For Sora to get a ring so he can propose to Kairi. He was really nervous about this and with him were me, Aqua, Amorpho, Crosshairs, Snapdragon, Blizzard Man, Ventus, Namine, Nico and Lea and Lincoln.

Me: Sora I know you're nervous about this. But you still have us with you for support.

Sora: I know. But I've never been so nervous before.

Lea: It's all right little dude. You can do it. We're with you for support.

Sora: You're right. I'm gonna do it, guys. I'm gonna get a ring, propose to Kairi, and take the next step to our relationship!

Blizzard Man: Alright, Sora! It's about time!

Amorpho: Snapdragon, you and Crosshairs go with Sora to get a ring for Kairi.

Snapdragon: Right.

Crosshairs: Will do.

They went with him and they arrived at the biggest jewelry store in Gotham Royal York: Keyora's Exquisite Jewelry.

Snapdragon: Here we are, Sora. The store where you can find the good wedding rings in Gotham Royal York.

It was a huge jewelry store.

Sora: Wow! It's huge!

Me: Oh yeah. This is biggest Jewelry store in the city and very extravagant.

Nico: It's amazing.

We went in and it was a beautiful and magnificent jewelry store.

Sora: Wow. So much jewelry.

Me: I know.

Clerk: (Austrian Accent) Ah Guten Tag und welcome to Keyora's.

Me: Danke my good man. We're here to get a really beautiful wedding ring for Sora here. He is going to propose to Kairi.

Clerk: I see. I think I have ze perfect ring for you.

We followed him and he showed us a really beautiful and very amazing ring. It was an 18 karat yellow gold ring with a pink diamond 5 pointed flower and it had multiple color diamonds in it that were in all seven colors of the rainbow. There were also gems on the band that looked like the symbols for each of the worlds that Sora and all his friends went to:

Me: (Whistles) Wow that is very artistic.

Sora: Just what I was gonna say. It reminds me of all the worlds we went to.

Clerk: Ja it is a work of art I call The Kingdom of Hearts All Connected.

Sora: That's perfect.

Me: Wow. And it's a perfect reminder of all of the adventures you went on Sora. How much is it?

Clerk: It's $1,232,384.00

Me: Whoa. That is a really amazing ring.

Sora: I'll take it.

Me: And it'll be on me.

Clerk: Excellent!

We rang it up.

I paid with my card. Sora got the most amazing ring he has ever seen.

We came out.

Crosshairs: Did you find a ring yet, Sora?

Sora: We sure did.

He showed them.

Nico: Wow! That is beautiful.

Aqua: That has to be the most beautiful ring I've ever seen bro.

Namine: No kidding. It's very beautiful.

Crosshair: It sure is.

Me: It's a work of art he calls The Kingdom of Hearts All Connected.

Sora: It reminds me of all of the adventures we went on and the worlds we visited.

Nico: That's amazing. And there are still more worlds than all that.

Blizzard Man: Indeed.

Me: Yep.

Lincoln: That is a really beautiful ring though.

Sora: Thanks Lincoln.

We went back to the estate. Kairi was watching one of my favorite Disney movies: The Little Mermaid.

We came in.

Me: We're home.

Kairi: Hey guys.

Sora: Hey can everyone gather round? I want everyone to see this.

Me: Sure. Everyone lets see what Sora has to say.

We all gathered around.

Sora: Kairi, I have something I want to say.

Kairi: What is it?

Sora: Ever since our whole adventure began I feel like I have become more than just a boyfriend to you. And that is why I want to say this.

Sora then got down on one leg and presented the ring to her and Kairi gasped in pure shock and total surprise. Tears were coming down her face.

Sora: Kairi, I want to take the next step of our relationship further. Kairi, will you marry me?

Kairi: Oh yes Sora! I will marry you!

Sora got up and they hugged and kissed as Sora put the ring on her finger and we cheered wildly for the future husband and wife!

Me: Way to go Sora!

Hunter: (German Accent) Congratulations!

Lincoln: I'm so happy for them!

Nico: Me too Lincoln!

Vince: Awesome!

Carol: Yeah!

Laney: Congratulations you guys!

Sora: Thanks guys. Thank you all for helping me.

Me: Anytime buddy.

Aqua: I'm so happy for you both bro.

Namine: Me too. Guess it's now official. That makes me your sister in law.

Sora: It does.

Danny Phantom: (to Sam) You think I can propose to you the same way?

Sam Manson: We'll see.

Sora and Kairi then went up to Sora's room.

---

VENICE, ITALY

---

We were over in Venice, Italy. The Honeymoon capital of Italy.

Me: Ah Venice, Italy. Boy we were here a while back to see Italy's volcanoes.

Syd Chang: I remember seeing that. That was awesome that you guys saw Italy's volcanoes.

Clyde: It was really unforgettable to see them.

Me: It sure was Clyde.

Nico: So what are we here for?

Me: I got a call from a good friend of mine here. His name is Dante Vale. He's a member of a very powerful organization called the Huntik.

Lincoln: The Huntik? Who are they?

Lucy Loud: Gasp. I know who they are. The Huntik Foundation are an organization of people that use the spirits of creatures of legend and they have amazing powers to help them out.

Lucy Loud went over their history.

The Huntik Foundation was created early in the 20th century by a group of like minded Seekers who wanted to learn the secrets of the Titans. The Huntik Foundation is led by a council based at the Huntik Foundation Council Base in Manhattan, New York, and maintains additional operational bases throughout the world. Dante

Vale is counted among the top Seekers in the Huntik Foundation. He and his team adventure across the world, unearthing long-lost artifacts and pursuing Titans thought to have disappeared long ago.

The foundation has many safe houses located around the world. The most notable seen in the series to date are Dante's house and the Cathedral of Notre Dame in Paris.

Lori: Wow. That is literally amazing!

Laney: I never even knew an organization like this even existed.

Me: It's really amazing and they are in every way like us. And they are defending the world from Evil Seekers and a ruthless and evil organization calling themselves The Organization.

Nico: That's pretty simple.

Me: It is. Their goal is to use a massive army of the Spirits to dominate the world.

I went over their history.

The Organization, which was formed in the year 1959, is one of the primary adversaries of the Huntik Foundation. The Organization's goal is to dominate the world through subterfuge, strong-arm tactics, and raw, brutal power.

History

Simon Judeau, under the mysterious alias of "the Professor," left the Huntik Foundation and founded the Organization practically overnight in 1959 through the use of Araknos' mind control abilities. S1E24 The Organization was led from his headquarters, Organization Central, in Prague, Czech Republic, and was used as a front to further his evil ends of seeking out the Legendary Titan of Immortality, Overlos. source?

After the fall of the Professor, the Organization was taken over and led by Wilder, who always used dirty tricks and hated to get his hands dirty. S2E27

Grier later took over the Organization by taking Wilder as a hostage on Sutos Island. Grier believed in order more then dominance and was a very honorable man, so the current goals of the Organization may have changed. S2E46

Members

DeFoe, Grier, and Rassimov were once among the Organization's top operatives under the Professor, attacking wherever and whenever the Professor wished. The Organization scientist, Klaus, created the Teknonomicon. After the Professor's defeat, two top Organization members, Stack and Hoffman, served Wilder.

A typical Organization operative is underhanded, ruthless, and cruel. He or she follows orders as long as it's advantageous but will quickly betray any leader who shows weakness. Organization teams are often held together by a sense of profit and opportunity.

Abilities

Most operatives tend to rely on two major Titans, Redcap and Mindrone, though Jokoul, Enforcer, Bonelasher, and Strix are often used by higher-up Suits. The basic spell many Organization operatives rely on most is Augerfrost.

---

We all gasped in pure shock and horror.

Nico: My god.

Naruto: I can't believe they are that dangerous!

Me: Dangerous is an understatement bro. They are in every way like the Akatsuki.

Sakura Haruno: My god. We got to stop them at all costs.

Me: I know Sakura. That's why we're here. We're going to recruit my friend Dante Vale and his team so we can finish the Organization once and for all. But also they will be hunting me as well.

Vince: Why is that?

Me: Because I killed their leader the Professor.

Nico: Whoa!

Lola: Who is the Professor?

Me: His real name is Simon Judeau.

I went over his history.

---

Simon Judeau, otherwise known as the Professor, was the cruel and devious founder of the Organization. The Professor was motivated by the desire to heal himself of a curse in conjunction to his past with Metz, Dante Vale, and father of Lok Lambert, the famous and legendary Seeker, Eathon Lambert. The Professor's signature Titan was Araknos, the Legendary Titan of the Mind. He was also one of the most powerful enemies that the Huntik team had faced.

He serves as the main antagonist of the first season of the 2009 animated TV series Huntik: Secrets & Seekers.

He was voiced by the famous actor Mike Pollock who was famous for voicing Dr. Eggman from Sonic X and Sonic Boom and Garbageman from TMNT 2003.

In the 1950's, when Simon Judeau was a teenager, he was a member of the Huntik Foundation and the mentor of a young Eathon Lambert. The young Judeau worked along with Metz and Eathon to fulfill many missions and to discover several Titans; within the group, Judeau served as the brains, Metz as the muscle, and Eathon as the intuition.

Upon discovering the location of the Legendary Titan of Mind, Araknos after a year's search, Simon entered the temple and put on the Ring against his team's advice and against the warning inscription. Instantly, Simon was cursed and had to be hospitalized for several years because the effects of the curse were beyond the abilities of Huntik Foundation magic and medicine. During this time in 1958, Eathon remained a loyal friend and was by his side everyday. When Simon was well enough to walk again, he escaped and left his Titan, Dendras, behind so that Eathon could bond with it. Eventually Simon made a deal with Araknos that would allow him to live on for sometime until he found a cure for his ailment, without informing anyone Simon vanished.

Simon eventually started the Organization in 1959 using the mind control abilities of Araknos. Judeau also falsified the history of the Organization, so as to make it seem as if the Organization had existed for years when in reality it was a relatively new company. While beginning the Organization, Simon attempted to gain the help of Eathon but he rejected his offer. With the creation of the Organization, Judeau donned the alias of the Professor.

After discovering that Eathon had found the resting place of the Amulet of Will, Simon hunted him down with five of his best operatives. Eathon managed to escape by faking his death, jumping off of a waterfall in Peruand using the power of the Nexus beneath the waterfall to escape to Huntik, the Spirit World.

After Eathon's disappearance, the Professor sought after Eathon's journal, which held clues which would lead to the Amulet of Will and the other two Legendary two Huntik Foundation members,Dante Vale and Lok Lambert, managed to uncover and bond to Behemoth and Tao, respectively, the Professor used his wiles to claim them as his own.

The Professor was then confronted by the Huntik team in his castle. Though the Professor managed to invoke the Legendary Titan of Immortality, Overlos, Dante used the power of Archwarder to disrupt the Professor's control of Overlos so that Lok could use Dendras' power to control Overlos and to command him to open a portal and take the Legendary Titans back to the Spirit World of Huntik. Defeated, the Professor found himself caught by the webbing of Araknos and was also taken into Huntik by Araknos' web after a failed attempt to save him by Lok Lambert and Dante Vale. Like Eathon, the Professor currently resides in Huntik.

---

Everyone gasped.

Laney: Whoa! That monster!

Lola: Yeah!

Me: Yes but thank goodness I killed him. But not only that DeFoe is after me as well.

Nico: Who is DeFoe?

Me: One of my arch enemies and one fucked up monster that hates me with a merciless vengeance.

I went over his history as well.

DeFoe was a scheming, self-proclaimed mastermind. He lead a small force for the Organization alongside his right-hand man, Grier, under orders to track down a journal in Lok's possession and to halt the actions of the Huntik Foundation against them. He would stop at nothing to see that his missions were completed, although sometimes this meant putting his own men in peril to do so.

Little is known about DeFoe's background, but his rocket-like rise through the Organization hierarchy is legendary amongst Suits. Within a matter of months, DeFoe was promoted through Suit rankings to be a prominent leader of his own squad.

Under the Professor, one of DeFoe's earlier missions was to retrieve Eathon Lambert's journal, although the mission ended with the journal being all but destroyed.

DeFoe then ordered Grier to find the biggest Venice Huntik Library because he knew that the Huntik team needed to research Eathon's journal. DeFoe later attacked the library, breaking through by pouring acid on the door's knob. Though he failed to retrieve the journal he manages to learn the Huntik team's next move.

After DeFoe learned that the Huntik team is going to Prague, Czech Republic, to get the Titan Metagolem he ambushed the Huntik team when they were going to retrieve the Jodis Lore's Key, He successfully obtained the key and went to the Golem's Attic, Where he tried to bond with the Titan Metagolem but failed due to Dante's interference so DeFoe retreated because Dante had bonded with Metagolem.

Afterwards, DeFoe's team was sent to retrieve the Amulets of the re-awakening Titans. In the Cave of the Gargoyle on the outskirts of Rouen, France, DeFoe managed to retrieve and bond with Gar-Ghoul.

DeFoe then was ordered by the Professor to retrieve the Ring of Arc. He then had a rematch between Dante's Caliban and DeFoe's "new friend," his Gar-Ghoul, but Dante fled with the other's to the catacombs.

DeFoe was later placed in charge of obtaining the Ring of Arc, but failed thanks to Dante's team. Because of this failure, he was removed from his duties, by Rassimov as the Professor was too furious to lay eyes on him. DeFoe swears that he will bring Dante's end with or without the Organization.

His removal was temporary, as he was later reinstated by Rassimov after nearly destroying the Organization's training machine while training. DeFoe was then given a mission to retrieve the Amulet of King Basilisk, but he again failed due to the intervention of Dante's team.

DeFoe was then ordered simply to deliver the Sword of Saint George to Prague, Czech Republic. The Sword contained the Titan Lindorm, but The Organization considered DeFoe to be unworthy to bond with the Titan. Unsatisfied at simply being a "delivery boy," he went to Greece after receiving word from his spies that Dante Vale was sighted there in order to kill Dante. DeFoe, however, failed, resulting in Lok bonding with Lindorm and DeFoe's Amulets being taken by the Huntik Foundation.

While starting to plan his next attack on Dante Vale, Defoe was tragically murdered by his own right-hand man, Grier, by order of the Professor, who thought Defoe to be incapable of carrying out his orders.

Hunter: Oh mein Gott.

Megan: I can't believe he is that dangerous!

Vince: But why does he want to kill you so badly?

Me: Because I killed all of his friends and comrades when we were on a mission.

Lincoln: Whoa.

Me: It was 3 years ago. Before we all became Team Loud Phoenix Storm.

FLASHBACK - 2017

Me and Dante Vale were running through the halls of the headquarters of the Organization in Prague, Czech Republic and we were killing members of the Organization left and right. With me were Lok Lambert, Zhalia Moon and Sophie Casterwill.

Me: (Narrating) We were on a mission there to take down The Professor and reclaim all of the Spirits that they have stolen.

Organization member 1: Kill them! AUGERFROST!

Past Me: Die!

I fired powerful fireballs at them and obliterated them in massive fiery explosions.

KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOMM! KRABBBOOOOOOOOOOMMMM! KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOMMMM! KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM! KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOMMM!

I killed 5 of them.

Me: My powers were getting stronger back then and they were continuing to evolve with each passing day of training.

Sophie: (British Accent) I can't believe they want to kill us.

Past Me: They will stop at nothing till they rule the world.

Lok: But how can we get rid of them for good?

Past Me: We won't get rid of all of them until I form my own team.

Dante Vale: I understand.

Me: It was a ruthless and savage battle until we saw DeFoe.

DeFoe: I will kill you if it's the last thing I do Dante Vale!

Dante Vale: Try me DeFoe.

Past Me: Not if I kill you first DeFoe! You fucked up son of a bitch!

DeFoe: (ROARS!)

I punched him in the face and I fired a powerful wave of fire energy that incinerated all of DeFoe's friends and teammates and he watched in sheer horror as I killed all of his friends in what seemed like cold blood to him. But the fire from my blast hit DeFoe as well and he was on the floor holding his face in excruciating pain.

I then used my powers to strip him of all of his spirits. I even took the spirits of his friends as well.

Sophie: Awesome J.D.!

Zhalia: That was really cool!

Lok: No kidding!

Past Me: Thanks.

We continued on and DeFoe had a nasty burn wound on his face that covered 34% of his face. Essentially I have left my mark on him. From then on he developed a massive and incredible hatred towards me and vowed from then on that he would stop at nothing to kill me.

DeFoe: (In Sheer Hatred) YOU WILL PAY FOR THIS J.D.! I WILL KILL YOU! I WILL KILL YOU!

But then a massive explosion happened!

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Outside it showed a massive flash of blue light coming from the very top of the building and a massive explosion blew the building apart!

KRABBBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMMM!
KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOM
KRABBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

The entire headquarters of The Organization was completely destroyed and blown apart in a huge fiery explosion.

Me: I fired a Kamehameha Wave right at the Professor and the explosion that followed blew the entire building in half and wiped out 75% of the entire Organization. It was a devastating and crippling blow to them. I had us protected in a force field thankfully as we escaped the explosion.

FLASHBACK ENDS

Me: After we brought down the Organization, I told everyone around the world what they were gonna do and the F.B.I. and Interpol decided to work together to bring them all to justice. Because of that, the rest of the Organization all went into hiding and are now operating in secret.

Nico: Wow. That's incredible.

Vince: Unbelievable. That's amazing that you all brought down a dangerous group like them.

Me: It is. The world now calls the Organization a dangerous terrorist group out to enslave all of humanity. They rose to the top of Interpol and the F.B.I.'s most wanted lists. Just recently I found out that DeFoe and the Organization have resurfaced and they are back to kill me and get revenge.

Laney: Geez!

Hunter: So that's why we are here in Europe. To kill ze Organization und rid ze world of their terror.

Me: Bingo.

Zarya: Wow. That sounds like a dangerous job.

Emerald: No kidding.

Arkayna: And without a doubt, the Masters of Evil will be helping them.

Me: I have that same feeling too.

Lincoln: But we're ready for anything.

Me: Awesome.

Lucy Loud: I saw that you have the rings of Quetzalcoatl and the Phoenix on your fingers as well as the amulets of Jirwolf and Enfluxion on you.

Me: Yep. Sophie and Lok gave them to me. They have been with me ever since.

I went over what they were.

Jirwolf

Jirwolf was used alongside Dendras by Eathon Lambert during the battle in which the Professor's five best operatives and personal guard cornered Eathon at the gates of Atlantis. He was shown as a capable Titan being able to stunning two Bonelasher Titans at once with out any help, leaving them to be defeated by Dendras. Jirwolf has not been seen since the disappearance of his Seeker.

Phoenix - Legendary Titan of Rebirth

Phoenix is the Legendary Titan of Rebirth. Her Ring was hidden on a volcanic Indonesian island in the lava of Phoenix Volcano, protected by the anti-magic field of the Lodestone.

Enfluxion

Enfluxion is a Titan whose body is made up entirely of water. Unlike Undine, Enfluxion has a much more unearthly visage and possesses tendrils of water for arms. Her Amulet is in the possession of Sophie Casterwill after being given to her as a gift from Teien Casterwill.

Throughout the world, the Enfluxion and Undine Titans have inspired the many myths and legends about water-spirits which appear in the mythologies of cultures throughout the world.

Enfluxion was given to Sophie Casterwill by Teien Casterwill to help fight against Kiel and his fire-based Titans and spells. Sophie first invoked her outside the Temple of Sun in Mexico where she fought against Volcana but was defeated.

Sophie invoked Enfluxion in Cortés' Vault to defend Kaioh the Tracker from Shadow Agent and hold him in a state of flux. She was defeated after attempting to defeat the mighty Conquistador left to guard the vault.

During the battle between the Casterwill family, Blood Spiral and Huntik Foundation at the Blood Spiral Base, Sophie invoked Enfluxion to defend her and Lok Lambert from the entourage of Silent Soldiers. She was defeated however by the Betrayer's Titan,Demigorgan who had been posing as Eathon Lambert's Holotome.

Quetzalcoatl - Legendary Titan of Summons

Quetzalcoatl is the Legendary Titan of Summons. His power was sealed away in the Temple of Sun in Mexico. His first purpose was to become the Blue Star as a signal to summon the members of the Casterwill family scattered in the world. His second purpose was to be summoned from the Blue Star to battle the Betrayer.

Quetzalcoatl was the Titan of the elder daughter of Casterwill. Originally, the Amulet of this Titan was stored inside the Willblade. Pendragon's Amulet later took the place of that of Quetzalcoatl inside the Willblade, and Quetzalcoatl's Ring was sealed by itself in the Temple of Sun in Teotihuacan, Mexico.

In the Temple of Sun, Lok Lambert managed to awaken Quetzalcoatl when Den ignited the blue powder stored within the temple. The Titan then became the Blue Star to summon together the members of the Casterwill family against the Blood Spiral.

In Tír na nÓg, Lok's father Eathon told him that Pendragon might not be enough the defeat the Spiral and that Lok would require more. The Blue Star of Quetzalcoatl then briefly appeared. After heeding his father's words, Lok later managed to summon back Quetzalcoatl from the Blue Star form to use in battle against the Betrayer. After placing his Ring back in the Willblade, Lok was able to defeat Demigorgan, the Titan of Betrayal and destroy his Amulet for good.

Lincoln: Whoa! That is so cool!

Nico: Wow. No kidding. I think it's so cool that you are a Seeker as well.

Me: It is. Thanks guys.

We went to the awesome and beautiful mansion of Dante Vale and I knocked on the door.

Dante Vale answered.

Dante: J.D. Knudson.

Me: Hello Dante. It's great to see you again.

We shook hands.

Dante: Same to you J.D.

William: It's such an honor to meet you, Dante.

Dante: Same to all of you. It's an honor to meet the world famous Team Loud Phoenix Storm.

Nico: Same here.

We went into his mansion and it was really beautiful.

Lola: Wow. Your house is amazing Dante.

Dante: Thanks Lola.

At a table we saw Sophie, Lok and Zhalia.

Lok: Hey J.D.!

Me: Lok!

Sophie: J.D.!

Sophie hugged me.

Me: It's good to see you too Sophie.

Zhalia: Glad you're back J.D.

Me: Same here Zhalia.

Lok: Wow. It's an honor to meet all of you.

Sophie: Same here. We've heard so much about all of your adventures.

Lori: It's literally a pleasure to meet all of you too.

Nico: Yeah. We've done so much over the years.

Me: I take it you guys have heard about The Organization Resurfacing.

Dante: We sure have J.D.

Sophie: We can't let them do as they please anymore.

Me: And they won't. I promised that I would be back once I got my own team. Now it's time for all of us to take down the Organization once and for all.

Nico: That's right.

Lok: I will gladly help you J.D.

Sophie: Same here.

Zhalia: Count me in.

Dante: I'll gladly help too.

Me: Awesome. The gang is all back together.

Nico: Yep.

I looked up where the Organization was hiding out and it was now in Warsaw, Poland in a building that was abandoned for years. We were off to Warsaw, Poland.

WARSAW, POLAND

We arrived in Warsaw, Poland.

Me: Here we are guys. Warsaw, Poland.

Lincoln: I don't think we've ever been here before.

Nico: It's the first time ever in Poland.

Me: Yep.

We went to the abandoned building.

Nico: Is this it?

Me: Yep. The coordinates are right. Lets head in.

Olga: I know this building. This is the old Stella Hosiery Industry Factory - ŻYRARDÓW.

Me: Wow. This building was shut down in 1991.

Jessie K.: It sure was.

We went in and it was a completely deserted building. No one went into it for over 29 years.

Me: Boy no one has been in here for years.

Nico: No kidding. But we got to find an entrance to the Organizations hiding place.

Zhalia: I know where it is.

Zhalia went over to a bunch of boxes and kicked them away and it showed a lever. She pulled it and it opened a secret door.

Me: Very clever.

Sophie: Indeed. Good work Zhalia.

We went down the hall of the tunnel and it lead to some stairs. We went down them and we saw a door.

Me: This must be it. Lets door our entrance like always.

Nico: Right.

In the Organization main room, the agents were thinking up ways to kill me. But then suddenly a massive fiery explosion blasted a hole through the door and the wall and a phoenix cry was heard.

DeFoe: What the!?

We came out and we were ready to fight.

Me: Hello freaks of nature. Remember me?

Organization member 1: It's J.D. Knudson!

Organization member 2: And all of Team Loud Phoenix Storm!

DeFoe: Kill them all!

I fired an energy blast at the members of the Organization and killed a bunch of them in a massive explosion.

KRABBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM

We chased a bunch of them.

Stewie: They're like one of those parkour, free-running guys from when me and Brian had to save Meg. We'll never catch them!

Maria: How did you and Brian take one of them down before?

Brian: We chased him until he got run over.

Dead End: I think I can arrange something like that.

Dead End turned into a car and sped at them and ran down and killed a bunch of them.

Vanitas: (Offscreen) Very impressive.

We saw Dark Spicer, Zs'Skayr, Vanitas and Number 7.

Me: Oh shit. Don't you guys have better things to do than come and kill us?

Vanitas: Nope.

Dark Spicer: (to Dante) Here's your warning: Your ass is about to be kicked!

Me: Not if I kick your ass first. But I still owe you one for clearing my name Dark Spicer.

Dark Spicer: Think nothing of it. But I have new aliens to show you.

Dark Spicer then turned into a Mutant Methanosian. He looked like a purple Swampfire but with spikes all over his body and he had flaming shoulders.

Burnswamp: Say hello to Burnswamp!

Shanan: A Mutant Methanosian.

Nico: Ew! What's that smell?

Burnswamp: That would be me. How about smelling me from up close?

Burnswamp grabbed me and shoved my face into his armpit. After several seconds, he threw me into Lana before throwing a fireball at Clayface.

Lana fired an ice blast at the fireball and froze it.

Me: You are disgusting. But that is fitting for you.

Burnswamp: But check this one.

He then turned into a Mutant Sonarosian. He was a purple version of Echo Echo and he had speakers all over him.

Deafblast: (Techno Voice) This form is called Deafblast.

Shanan: A Mutant Sonarosian.

Maria: How could you make something cute so evil?!

Deafblast: Just because I look cute doesn't mean I can't kick ass!

Deafblast multiplied into 6 of him and unleashed a sonic scream at Soundwave.

Soundwave blocked the sound blast and reflected it back at him.

Me: Okay now it's personal!

?: Don't forget about me.

A figure came out and it was WOLFBANE from episode 27 of Zeo!

Wolfbane is a cyborg goblin/wolf monster and is the primary antagonist of the episode "The Power of Gold".

Wolfbane was sent by Prince Sprocket to ambush the Yellow, Blue and Pink Rangers during a divide and conquer tactic. The three Rangers try to take on the monster, but Wolfbane was too strong and took out the Rangers with ease, even the Rangers' weapons had no effect on him, When it looked like he had the Rangers beaten, he and the Cogs were teleported away in order for King Mondo to figure out what was heading for Earth. Later, as the Rangers had split up again to track down the UFO, the Yellow, Blue and Pink Rangers were attacked again by Wolfbane and the Cogs, after Wolfbane had taking the Yellow and Pink Rangers hostage, the Red and Green Rangers came in, but it was a trap for the Cogs to blast the Red, Green and Blue Rangers with the eye lasers, While the four Rangers took on the Cogs, the Red Ranger try to take on Wolfbane alone, but he was quickly out match, Wolfbane had the Rangers at his mercy and was about to finish them off, suddenly, Gold Ranger appeared for the very first time and took out the Cogs and Wolfbane. the Gold Ranger took on all of the Cogs and defeated them with ease with the Gold Rush, Wolfbane wasn't finish yet and he took on the five Zeo Rangers, the Rangers had the upper hand, but the Quadrafighters came in and blasted the Rangers, the Gold Ranger came in and took on this werewolf-like monster, as much as he tries, Wolfbane was no match for the Gold Ranger and was taking out by the Gold Ranger's Golden Power Staff, Wolfbane became big and fought the Zeo Megazord, he had the upper hand, even when the Zeo Megazord equipped the Zeo Saber, the Red Ranger then called the Red Battlezord to ad the Zeo Megazord in battle. Despite being blasted by the Red Battlezord, Wolfbane was still too powerful and had more than enough power to knock the Rangers out of their zords. The Gold Ranger then exterminated Wolfbane once and for all with Pyramidas.

Tanya Sloan: Wolfbane!

Wolfbane: Long time no see Yellow Ranger.

Me: I remember this guy! He was sent to ambush you all with a Divide and Conquer tactic.

Wolfbane: That's right. You've been watching me on TV huh?

Me: We sure have.

Wolfbane: (to the Zeo Rangers) Too bad you didn't bring Trey of Triforia with you. I have a score to settle with him as well.

Tommy Oliver: Well, these days, Trey's on Triforia protecting it from invaders. You're welcome to take a shot at him.

Rocky DeSantos: Of course, you'll have to go past us first!

Me: Yeah! And us!

Troy: Dante, it's time you saw some magic of our own.

Megaforce Rangers: Legendary Ranger Mode: Mystic Force!

The Megaforce Rangers turned into the Mystic Force Rangers.

Me: You all face the Masters and Wolfbane. I'll face DeFoe.

Nico: Right.

We went at them.

Tommy Oliver: Lets do it guys!

Kat Hillard: (Australian Accent) IT'S MORPHIN TIME! ZEO RANGER I! PINK!

Tanya Sloan: ZEO RANGER II! YELLOW!

Rocky DeSantos: ZEO RANGER III! BLUE!

Adam Park: ZEO RANGER IV! GREEN!

Tommy Oliver: ZEO RANGER V! RED!

Me: The rest of you can take down the rest of the Organization. Lets get them!

We went at them!

---

Battle 1: Naruto, Nico, The Zeo and Megaforce Rangers VS Wolfbane.

---

Naruto, Nico, the Zeo and Megaforce Rangers were facing Wolfbane!

Nico: Wolfbane you have failed this world!

They went at him and Nico punched him in the face and Tommy kicked and blasted him all over and Nico fired a powerful blast of fire and burned him all over the place. Troy Burrows fired a powerful blast of fire magic at Wolfbane and burned him and Gia Moran fired a powerful lightning blast and electrocuted him all over and Emma Goodall formed powerful fairy butterfly wings and blew powerful wind gusts at him. Naruto slammed a Rasengan into him and more.

Nico: Lets see how he likes the Zeo Cannon.

Tommy Oliver: You read my mind Nico.

They summoned the Zeo Cannon!

Tommy Oliver: Lets do it guys! ZEO V POWER CELL! POWER UP!

He inserted the Star Cell.

Adam Park: ZEO IV POWER CELL POWER UP!

Adam inserted the Rectangle Cell.

Rocky DeSantis: ZEO III POWER CELL! POWER UP!

Rocky inserted the Triangle Cell.

Tanya Sloan: ZEO II POWER CELL! POWER UP!

Tanya inserted the 2 Line Cell.

Kat Hillard: ZEO I POWER CELL! POWER UP!

Kat inserted the Oval Cell.

The cells were in and the cannon was fully charged.

Nico: Awesome!

Naruto: Lets make it a combo move.

Nico: Go for it Naruto!

Tommy Oliver: Care to do the honors Nico?

Nico: With pleasure.

Nico pulled the trigger and the Zeo Cannon fired and Naruto threw a Wind Style: Rasenshuriken!

Nico and Naruto: WIND STYLE: ZEO WINDFORCE RASENSHURIKEN!

The blast from the cannon merged with Naruto's Rasenshuriken and turned it into a rainbow Rasenshuriken and it slammed into Wolfbane and exploded with incredible power! Obliterating him in an instant.

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

When the smoke cleared there was nothing left of him.

Nico: Awesome!

Naruto: That is how you do it! Believe it!

Tommy Oliver: Great job guys!

Nico: Yeah!

---

Battle 2: Eddy, Zarya, Soundwave, Clayface, Danny Phantom, Crosshairs, Lincoln, Steven Universe and Cuprosklodowskite VS Dark Spicer

---

Eddy, Zarya, Soundwave, Clayface, Lincoln, Steven Universe and Cuprosklodowskite were facing Dark Spicer

Dark Spicer: 7 against 1? Those aren't good odds. For you guys! (fires blaster at them)

The blast hit the ground and Dark Spicer turned into Deafblast and he split into 7 clones and they turned into versions of some of his aliens.

Eddy: Hot Burn, BooDunce, Feralhound, Ripgnat, and Menace Arms?

Zarya: Not good odds.

Eddy: Yep.

Lincoln: But we've faced dangerous odds before. Lincoln fired a powerful blast of lightning and it electrocuted the BooDunce clone and destroyed it and Clayface smashed the Menace Arms clone into pulp and Soundwave and Zarya fired energy arrows and blew the rest of the clones apart.

Cuprosklodowskite fired her radioactive bear traps and snapped onto Dark Spicer and burned him.

Danny Phantom: Time for some GHOST ZONE CYBER KEY POWER!

The Ghost Zone Cyber Planet Key went into his right arm device and enhanced his Ghost Zone Powers 100-fold.

Crosshairs: I got you caught in my sights! CYBER KEY POWER!

The Earth Cyber Planet Key went into his back and enhanced his Grenade Launcher 100-fold.

Danny Phantom and Crosshairs: ECTOPLASMIC GRENADE DESTROYER!

Danny Phantom and Crosshairs fired energy bursts and grenades and they hit Dark Spicer and exploded.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

The explosion knocked him down.

---

Battle 3: Spiderman, Emerald, Snapdragon, Blizzard Man, Venom, Garnet, Laney and Rachel S.D. VS Vanitas

---

Spiderman, Emerald, Snapdragon, Blizzard Man, Venom, Garnet, Laney and Rachel San Diego were facing Vanitas.

Spiderman: Time for some good fighting Vanny.

Vanitas: Whatever.

They went at him and Spiderman punched him in the face and wrapped him in webbing and Blizzard Man fired an ice blast and froze his keyblade and Venom punched him all over and sent him crashing into the wall and Emerald slashed him all over with her sword. Garnet punched him all over and Rachel fired powerful sonic blasts at him and Laney fired poison barbs and they hit him and it really hurt him.

Snapdragon: Lets show teamwork! CYBER KEY POWER!

The Earth Cyber Planet Key went into his back and enhanced his Gyro Gun 100-fold.

Blizzard Man: You are about to freeze! GIGANTION CYBER KEY POWER!

The Gigantion Cyber Planet Key went into his right arm and enhanced his Blizzard Attack 100-fold.

Snapdragon and Blizzard Man: GYRO FREEZING STORM!

Snapdragon fired his Gyro Gun and Blizzard Man fired snowflake shuriken and they hit Vanitas and froze him in a block of ice.

Venom: Frozen Bad Guy. We love it.

Garnet: Indeed.

Battle 4: Edzilla, Arkayna, Aeleus, Turbo Man, Naruto, Lori, Sophie and Peridot will face Number 7.

Next was Number 7.

Number 7L (turns hand into ion blaster) Has Zarya told you if J.D. is impressive below the waist?

Arkayna: That's her business, not mine! And not yours!

Number 7: How else are she and J.D. going to create mini versions of her. (fires ion blaster at her)

Lori deflected the blast back and it hit her and exploded.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMMMMM!

Arkayna fired a blast of green fire and it hit her and Edzilla smashed Number 7 and Lori fired a blast of wind and blew her around.

Sophie: Try this on! BOLTFLARE!

Sophie fired a powerful blast of lightning and it slammed into Number 7 and exploded.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!

Aeleus: Lets see how she likes teamwork!

Aeleus fired a powerful earth wave and Turbo Man fired a massive wheel of fire with his Scorch Wheel.

Aeleus and Turbo Man: SCORCHING EARTH WHEEL!

The blasts combined and turned into a while of lava and it slammed into Number 7 and exploded.

KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

The explosion knocked her down.

---

Battle 5: Iron Boy, Piper, Connie (Steven Universe), Lapis Lazuli and Versallia VS Zs'Skayr

---

Next was Zs'Skayr.

Zs'Skayr: Get ready for a big fight.

Iron Boy: Bring it.

Iron Boy fired a repulsor blast and Piper fired a powerful blast of fire blasts and they hit him and exploded and burned him and Lapis drenched him with water and Connie slashed him all over with her sword and Versallia fired a powerful blast of blue energy and it hit him and exploded.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM!

The explosion knocked him down.

Piper: That will teach you.

Battle 6: Me VS DeFoe

---

I was facing DeFoe.

Me: It's over for you DeFoe. I will never forgive you for your crimes.

DeFoe: You ruined my life and you destroyed my friends! I will kill you and get my revenge!

Me: All this just for some petty revenge. Nice to know that I left my mark on you.

I went at him and punched him in the face and kicked him in the stomach and kneed him in the face and kicked him in the chest.

Me: So many have suffered because of you. I killed your friends and most of the entire Organization because they brought all that on themselves.

DeFoe: I will kill you for saying that! AUGERFROST!

He fired a blast of blue energy at me and I deflected it back at him.

Me: My turn.

I fired a powerful fireball at him and he dodged it and it exploded behind him with incredible power!

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

The explosion sent him flying and I slammed my fist into his face and kicked him and sent him crashing into the wall.

DeFoe got up.

DeFoe: You've gotten stronger! But how?

Me: None of your fucking business.

Lok and everyone else came.

Lok: It's over, DeFoe!

Laney: You are finished DeFoe!

Lincoln: We'll give you this one chance to surrender and stop this madness.

DeFoe: I'll never stop! Not until J.D. is dead!

Me: Then you brought all this on yourself.

Hunter: Try this one on! LEAF STYLE NINJA ART: PANZERKAMPF!

The Jungle appeared behind Hunter and the song Panzerkampf by Sabaton played.

Into the motherland

The German army march

In the Soviet Union summer 1943

Tanks line up in thousands as far the eye can see

Ready for the onslaught

Ready for the fight

Waiting for the axis to march into a trap

Mines are placed in darkness

In the cover of the night

Waiting to be triggered

When the time is right

Imminent invasion, imminent attack

Once the battle started

There's no turning back

The end of the third Reich draws near

It's time has come to an end
The end of an era is here
It's time to attack!
Into the motherland the German army march
Comrades stand side by side to stop the Nazi charge
Panzers on Russian soil a thunder in the east
One million men at war
Soviet wrath unleashed!
Fields of Prokhorovka
Where the heat of battle burned
Suffered heavy losses
And the tide of war was turned Driving back the Germans
Fighting on four fronts
Hunt them out of Russia
Out of Soviet land
Reinforce the front line
Force the axis to retreat
Send in all the reserves
Securing their defeat
Soldiers of the Union
Broke the citadel

Ruins of an army

Axis rest in hell

The end of the third Reich draws near

Its time has come to an end

The end of an era is here

Its time to attack

Into the motherland the German army march

Comrades stand side by side to stop the Nazi charge

Panzers on Russian soil a thunder in the east

One million men at war

Soviet wrath unleashed!

Onward comrads! Onwards for the Soviet Union! Charge!

Ow mother Russia!

Union of lands

Will of the people

Strong in command

Ow mother Russia!

Union of lands

Once more victorious the red army stands!

The end of the third Reich is here

Its time has come to an end

The end of an era is here

Its time to attack!

Into the motherland the German army march

Comrades stand side by side to stop the Nazi charge

Panzers on Russian soil a thunder in the east

One million men at war

Soviet wrath unleashed!

Leaves flew at DeFoe and formed into the Russian soldiers of the Battle of Kursk back in 1943 and they slashed and blasted DeFoe all over the place.

Me: Whoa! That was awesome!

Jessie K.: Wow! That was the Russian army of the Battle of Kursk back in 1943 during World War II.

Nico: That was awesome!

Me: It sure was.

Lana: This guy needs to feel just how cold he is!

Zarya: Agreed Lana.

Lana fired a massive blast of ice lightning and Zarya fired a powerful spirit wolf.

Lana and Zarya: ICE WOLF FREEZESTORM!

The lightning merged with the wolf and turned it into a wolf of pure ice and it slammed into DeFoe and froze him in ice.

Ben: Lets see how he likes this.

Ben turned into a new Ultimate Alien. It was ULTIMATE UPGRADE! He looks about the same as normal Upgrade, but with a Goop shaped head, arms, and feet. His line pattern is rearranged. In Ben 10: Ultimate Heroes there is no Omnitrix symbol.

Ben: ULTIMATE UPGRADE!

Me: Whoa! An Evolved Galvanic Mechamorph!

Shanan: Wow! I've never seen this before.

Riley: So awesome!

Ultimate Upgrade: Watch this.

He merged with a laser ray and turned it into a powerful 5 laser blaster and blasted DeFoe everywhere.

Me: Now to finish you and the Organization once and for all! KIBAL! LETS HOWL!

I turned into Wolf Moon.

Me: WOLF FIRE FIREBLADE SLASH!

I swung my scythe and fired a blade of wolf fire and it slammed into DeFoe and slashed him.

Lily Loud: Time for some Owl Power! OWLA! SPREAD MY WINGS!

Lily turned into Night Owl!

Lily Loud: OWL STAR FEATHER STORM!

Lily fired feathers made of cosmic energy and they slammed into DeFoe and exploded!

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMM

Zarya: Feel the power of the Wolf! LETS HOWL! (HOWLS) WOLF SPIRIT SUPERFLAME!

Zarya fired a powerful spirit wolf and it turned into a wolf of fire and slammed into DeFoe and exploded.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM!

Sophie: This is for trying to destroy us! CASTERWILL FIRESTORM

BURST!

Sophie fired a massive blast of fire at DeFoe and it hit him and burned him all over.

Lok: This is for trying to kill Dante! WATER SWORD SLASHBLADE!

Lok fired a powerful sword of water and slashed DeFoe all over.

Dante: You are a monster to all humans DeFoe! CRYSTAL SLASH BLADE!

Dante formed a sword of crystal and slashed him all over.

Zhalia: I don't know what I was thinking in joining the Organization. But now you will die a horrible death. MOONLIGHT SHURIKEN SHOWER!

Zhalia fired shuriken made of moonlight and they hit DeFoe all over.

Cherit: You are not welcome here! SPIRIT BAT STRIKE!

Cherit fired powerful blasts of energy that turned into bats and they slammed into DeFoe and exploded!

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM!

Me: Now you die DeFoe. Join your friend in Hell!

I fired a massive energy blast at him and it slammed into DeFoe and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

The explosion completely obliterated him in an instant and there was nothing left of him. The explosion also destroyed the entire headquarters and blew the whole abandoned factory into nothing.

After the battle, the police of Poland arrested the surviving members of the Organization. We had officially destroyed the entire group.

Nico: You Organization scum have failed this world.

Me: They sure have.

Dante: What was that about you guys kicking my ass?

Arkayna: Well, you guys got to fight me, Emerald, Piper, and Zarya after all. I hope you're satisfied.

Dark Spicer: Actually, yes. (to Sora) And congratulations on proposing to Kairi.

Sora: Thanks. I appreciate it.

Vanitas: Too bad we won't be invited to the wedding. I would've loved to drink plenty of booze.

Me: We'll have you guys come over. I can tell that you all have a soft spot for weddings.

Dark Spicer: Thank you.

With that, the Masters of Evil teleport out.

Dante: That's the end of the Organization.

Me: It sure is. But it was awesome facing them.

Sophie: It sure was J.D. But we still have many more enemies to face.

Me: We sure do Sophie. But we can face them all together and destroy them all.

Lok: You said it J.D.

Dante: (To the viewers) You mess with the Huntik and us and Team Loud Phoenix Storm are coming for you.

Me: You said it Dante.

We went back home and we formed a powerful alliance with the Huntik Foundation and we called them the Seekers of Huntik Coalition.

THE END

---

Another Awesome Fanfiction Complete and another show covered.

Huntik was an awesome show that NicoChan got me into recently and it was so awesome how they can use all those really cool spirits and have them help them all out and use awesome spells like that! NicoChan11 gave me the ideas for this. Thanks man. Let me know what you all think. Next up is the awesome Pokemon Movie Arceus and the Jewel of Life and we're going to help Arceus the almighty God Pokemon take down the ruthless Marcus!

See you all tomorrow.

Fury of The God Pokemon

At the estate, we were watching TV and reading Books.

Teresa: Jake, are you sure that you killed Morton and Rotwood?

Jake Long: (nervously) Of course. Why?

Teresa: Then it's kind of peculiar that I found this! (shows us photo of Rotwood and Morton taken two days ago)

The photo showed that Morton and Rotwood were being run out of a town in Florida and the mob was armed with pitchforks and torches and they were out to mount their heads on pikes.

Me: Wow. Looks like everyone is out for them.

Nico: No kidding.

We explained the lie. It was all part of Jake Long's plan. Our plan was to have them become the most wanted fugitives in the world and biggest outcasts in all of humanity. So big that they'll be run out of every town and left to die. Payback for framing me for their crimes.

Lynn: Nice! I like it.

Nico: Those two have failed this universe.

Me: Yep.

Sophie: (British Accent) I'm glad those two are outcasts now.

Me: Me too. It's a price that they have to pay for being fucked up douchebags.

Nico: Yep.

Lok: I'm glad they're gone.

Me: Me too.

---

Later over in Northern Russia on the island of Novaya Zemlya we were over at the headquarters of the Anti-Pokemon Villain Team Counterfront.

Vixen: So this is the agency you girls work at?

Amy: Yep. It's our base of operations.

Erica: Yep. It's a great place.

Nico: Wow.

We went into the building and took off our fur parkas and it was an amazing headquarters and it was full of powerful cutting edge technology and all kinds of Pokemon across the board and they were coming up with methods on how to destroy all the Pokemon Villain teams that use Pokemon for evil.

Nico: Wow! This building is amazing.

Lincoln: Boy it sure is. I think this is the coolest headquarters ever.

Me: Yep.

On a board we saw the villain team logos for Teams Rocket, Flare, Galactic, Magma and Aqua and they had the word Destroyed over them and the other teams that didn't have them were still active.

Me: Looks like word got out about the teams we faced being destroyed.

Sophie: This is amazing.

Zhalia: It sure is.

Zarya: This is amazing.

Me: Yep.

We went into the room of the boss. Carolyn Hope, Olivia Pensgammon and Lanalda Ramirez saw their boss Kiara Zemanovsky. A Russian soldier woman that is widely known.

Kiara: (Russian Accent) Amy? Erica? Elrena? Is that really you?

Elrena: It is ma'am. We're alive and well.

Kiara: We were really worried about you three. We thought you were dead.

Amy: Sorry we worried you ma'am. We were with Team Loud Phoenix Storm.

Kiara: I see. Girls, I would like you to tell me information about each of the Loud Kids in case of an event where they go rogue. We already know that J.D. will always stay good.

Amy: Yes ma'am.

They gave her a status report and it was very thorough.

Kiara: I see.

Amy: (sighs) Look, what we're trying to say is… hold on a sec. (calls me) J.D., can you and the others come to our position, please?

A few minutes later, we teleported into the office.

Sixshot: Hey, Amy. We were just trying to find out if Team Plasma was hiding anywhere. But we didn't find them. Is anything wrong?

Kiara: You must be J.D. Knudson and all of Team Loud Phoenix Storm.

Me: That's right.

Kiara: My name is Kiara Zemanovsky. It's an honor to meet all of you.

Me: Pleasure is ours ma'am.

Kiara: I am just a little concerned because I was worried you all might go rogue.

Lori: I can assure you that we are not gonna do that.

We told her everything about us and everything we did and how we restored Amy, Erica and Elrena's humanity and more.

Kiara: Girls, I think it's safe to say that Team Loud Phoenix Storm did restore your humanity and that they're on our side.

Hardhead: Just doing our job, ma'am!

Me: Thank you ma'am.

We were shown around and we saw all kinds of amazing things and stuff.

---

Later we were over in the forests of Saskatchewan, Canada and we were on our horses and Rapidash as we were looking at the forests and enjoying the scenery.

Me: Wow.

Laney: It's so beautiful up here.

Lana: It sure is.

But then massive explosions were going off and we saw Arceus destroying a whole village!

---

Arceus, also known as the Alpha Pokémon and the Creator God of the Pokémon World, is a major antagonist in the Pokémon video game and anime franchise, serving as the titular secondary antagonist-turned-anti-hero in the twelfth animated Pokémon film Arceus and the Jewel of Life.

Arceus created the Creation trio (Dialga, Palkia, and Giratina) and the Lake guardians (Uxie, Mesprit, and Azelf). Arceus is the Pokémon who created the universe and is the most powerful Pokémon in all of existence.

Arceus exhausted most of its powers to stop a meteor that would have destroyed the world, but a man named Damos helped it to recover. In gratitude, Arceus used five of its magical plates to create the Jewel of Life, which would turn the barren region of Michina into a fertile and prosperous land, but was to be returned some years later. When Arceus returned to retrieve the Jewel, it was then "betrayed" by Damos, who refused to give back the Jewel of Life and attempted to kill Arceus (it was later revealed that Damos had been brainwashed by Marcus's Bronzong, the movie's real villain).

A millennia later, Arceus awakens to have its vengeance by destroying Michina, and got locked in a fight against the Creation Trio who tried to protect the city and sent Ash Ketchum and his friends in the past to investigate. After Ash and company save Arceus in the past and bring it the Jewel of Life, the Alpha Pokémon ceases its attack as its altered timeline catches up and he recalls Damos kindness and Ash's intervention. Arceus then thanks them for saving it and stopping it before it was too late, and Arceus proceeds to undo the damage it had done. Arceus then bids farewell to Ash and his friends before returning to its dimension.

HeartGold & SoulSilver chapter

The Manga chapter opens up with Gold facing the Pokémon Arceus with his entire team. Despite his best efforts, none of his attacks seem to affect the Alpha Pokémon, which responds by attacking his Pokémon with a powerful roar. He tells his Pokémon to hold on and wait for Silver to arrive and help.

A few weeks earlier, Gold is at Ecruteak City where he attempts to catch up with Silver, only for Arceus to appear and blow away the Ecruteak Gym with its powers. Silver and Morty are knocked unconscious, leaving Gold the only one awake to combat Arceus. Gold attempts to face Arceus, but none of his team's attack are able to damage it. Arceus quickly leaves, angering Gold into following it while taking an unconscious Bugsy along for the ride. They follow Arceus to the Ruins of Alph, where they find an injured Lance.

Lance reveals that he was ambushed by someone, which is why he didn't appear at the Pokéathlon. Lance praises Gold's skill at beating the Pokéathlon, but believes that he will be unable to calm Arceus down due to Gold not connecting with Togebo enough. Angered by Lance's words, Gold goes back to face Arceus when it finally lands. Gold faces Arceus in battle again, only to have the same result as earlier. Arceus uses its powers to create a powerful barrier around them, locking Gold and his Pokémon inside. Arceus continues attacking, forcing Gold to dodge all of its attacks.

Gold reveals that he doesn't intend to give up and wishes to learn more about Arceus. Outside the barrier, Silver and Crystal arrive to help. Reacting to the Plates in Silver's pockets, Arceus opens the barrier to let them in, along with Archer, Ariana, Petrel, and Proton, who sneak inside. Arceus uses its powers to transport all seven of them to a snow-filled area. Upon entering the ruins, they find Arceus being dragged onto a stage by the Four Generals. There, Archer reveals that they landed at the Sinjoh Ruins, a mysterious area where the cultures of Johto and Sinnoh meet.

Petrel forces Silver to hand over the Plates to Archer, who proceeds to force Arceus to use its powers. Gold, Silver, and Crystal attempt to stop him, but are blocked by Ariana, Petrel, and Proton. Archer uses the Plates to force Arceus to activate its Ability, Multitype, so that it can use its various types to attack Gold, Silver, and Crystal. Archer praises the trio for helping them use Arceus for their goals when they were just trying to help Arceus.

Archer has Arceus use its power to create the three legendary Pokémon Dialga, Palkia, and Giratina. Silver attempts to distract the Four Generals by feigning suicide, allowing Gold and Crystal to attack while their guard is down. With the assistance of Silver's Feraligatr, Gold and Crystal destroy the legendary Pokémon before they fully form with the Ultimate Attacks. With the three Pokémon destroyed, Arceus retaliates against the Four Generals by blowing them away and absorbs the Plates into its body.

Although they believed themselves to have won the battle, the Pokémon Arceus created quickly reform themselves. Archer reveals that once the creation process begins, it cannot be stopped, and was only halted temporarily so that Arceus could complete itself.

Although the situation seemed hopeless, Lance arrives with two allies, the former enemy Pryce, along with the leader of Team Rocket, Giovanni. The three Trainers begin combating the Pokémon, and manage to hold them off for a little while. When Gold questions how Pryce returned, the man reveals that the one who saved him from the crack in time was Celebi, who could see the destruction that Arceus would bring with the legendary Pokémon it created.

After everyone else leaves to take their battle outside, Gold remains in the Sinjoh Ruins to calm Arceus down. Gold sends out his entire team to try and face Arceus, but they are quickly swatted away and defeated again. The only one left standing is Togebo, who Gold refuses to let fight as he does not fully trust in his power. Despite this, Togebo refuses to listen to Gold's commands and continues to hopelessly attack Arceus.

Seeing how determined Togebo is causing Gold to remember how they are both treated as last resorts, which puts them in similar situations. Gold decides to trust in Togebo, and sends him to attack Arceus. Togebo evolves twice into Togetic and Togekiss, respectively, and delivers a Double-Edge attack, which doesn't hurt Arceus, but calms it down enough to end its rage. With the battle over, Arceus flies to parts unknown, but Gold decides to follow it to give Arceus a proper send-off.

In Games

Arceus resides in the Hall of Origin, an area of Sinnoh in the Pokémon Diamond, Pearl, and Platinum games. This area was supposed to be accessible with an event-exclusive item - the Azure Flute, but it has never been released, and the area wherein the deity can be battled and caught is inaccessible without the use of cheats. However, Arceus itself has been distributed to players as part of several Nintendo events.

Arceus has the highest base stats of any Pokémon (excluding both version of Mega Mewtwo, Mega Rayquaza, Primal Groudon and Kyogre, and Ultra Necrozma), totaling 720. Its base stats are balanced, with 120 in each category. Arceus can learn almost every TM and HM move and can be tutored many others still, allowing it to fill virtually any role in a party. It has a signature move known as Judgment, which has 100 base power and changes type depending on the plate Arceus holds.

Arceus' signature Ability is Multitype, which changes its type depending on the Plate item it holds. Arceus is Normal-type by default.

Super Smash Bros.

Arceus appears in the 2014 game Super Smash Bros. for Wii U and 3DS and the 2018 game Super Smash Bros. Ultimate as one of the Pokémon that will emerge from a Poké Ball. But unlike the previous games; Arceus, along with other rare and legendary Pokémon, will emerge from a Master Ball. When Arceus emerges from the Master Ball, it uses the move Gravity to warp the gravity around it, sending all characters in the air smashing back to the ground. Those offstage are promptly Meteor Smashed into the blast line.

In Ultimate, Arceus appears as a neutral-type primary spirit. Its battle is against Corrin who summons Arceus from a Poké Ball. Heavy wind is in effect during the fight and the playable fighter is rendered easier to launch, making it very difficult to avoid Arceus' Gravity move.

Me: It's Arceus!

Nico: Whoa! The God Pokemon! But what is he doing destroying that village?

Ash Ketchum: I think I know and I dealt with this problem before.

Me: How so Ash?

Ash told us how he, Dawn and Brock encountered Arceus and dealt with a problem like this once before in the past. It was during the events of the 12th Pokemon Movie: Arceus and the Jewel of Life.

Ash Ketchum, Dawn, Brock and their Pokémon arrive in Michina Town. As the group relaxes in a nearby river, some watermelons suddenly float towards them. While enjoying the watermelons with their Pokémon, a boy named Kato and his sister Kiko appear who justify that the watermelons were theirs and were kept to cool in the flow of the river. Kato and Kiko then challenge Ash for a tag battle in return of the watermelons. Ash and Dawn thus plan for a tag Pokémon battle against them using Ash's Pikachu and Dawn's Piplup against Kako's Heracross and Kiko's Beautifly. Ash and Dawn win the battle with good teamwork and also request Kato and Kiko to join for eating watermelons. After that, Kato and Kiko suggest Ash and the gang visit the local temple ruins. Whilst visiting a lake, a typhoon suddenly strikes up, but two mysterious individuals named Sheena and Kevin summon Dialga who ends the typhoon. Giratina arrives, but Sheena uses her ability to communicate with a Pokémon's heart to quell their conflicts with each other with Ash helping to calm down Giratina, who remembers him from their previous encounter, sending Giratina back to its dimension. Palkia then arrives to save Dialga from another typhoon, and Sheena, once again, uses her ability to sync with the two to thank them. Taking the kids to the temple, Sheena and Kevin explain that they investigate disruptions in time and space, and worry that Arceus, the creator of the dimensions, is to awaken, and that he is responsible for the encounters between Dialga, Palkia, and Giratina.

Sheena explains that centuries ago, Arceus saved Earth from a meteor storm and nearly died with the loss of his sixteen Life Plates, but a man named Damos saved him. In gratitude, Arceus fused five of his plates into the Jewel of Life, which turned the town of Michina into a paradise. Arceus asked Damos to return the Jewel to him, but Damos proceeded to betray Arceus and attacked him. Arceus was forced to go into a long slumber, but he vowed to awaken and judge humanity. Sheena reveals that Damos is her ancestor, and that she possesses the actual Jewel of Life, planning to give it back to Arceus to pass judgement. Arceus arrives, and Sheena offers him the jewel, only to discover that it is a fake. Arceus would have destroyed humanity, but Dialga, Palkia, and Giratina arrive to stop their creator. Upon Sheena's request, Dialga sends Ash, Dawn, Brock, and Sheena back in time to the day (a solar eclipse) when Damos betrayed Arceus, but Dialga sends them further back, only for the heroes to be apprehended by Damos' lieutenant, Marcus, and his Heatran.

The kids, Pikachu, and Piplup are imprisoned, but the latter two are released by a notch-eared Pichu. The kids meet Damos, who was imprisoned by Marcus, who is actually the true culprit behind the betrayal, using his Bronzong's Hypnosis to manipulate Damos into becoming his pawn, believing that if the Jewel of Life is return to Arceus, Michina would become a wasteland again. Unaware of Marcus' true role, Sheena tells him everything about the future. Pikachu, Piplup, and Pichu free the kids and Damos. Arceus arrives to collect the Jewel of Life, hidden in Marcus' scepter, but the fooled Sheena ends up being the one who betrays him. Arceus is forced into a pit and is wounded by silver water and electrical attacks. Marcus' intention is to kill Arceus himself to save the future. Sheena and Damos use their abilities to free the Pokémon under Marcus' control, including Heatran and Bronzong. Ash and Dawn (with the help of Chikorita, Cyndaquil, and Totodile) confront Marcus, and Ash obtains the real Jewel of Life.

However, Arceus is initially unable to absorb the Jewel of Life, due to its own rage and the gradual erasure of Ash, Dawn, Brock, their Pokémon, and Sheena from existence, due to the time paradox that would be created by Arceus's death. Damos, displaying mastery of his ability, syncs with Arceus despite Arceus's rage, and calms Arceus down enough for it to sense the Jewel of Life.

Arceus absorbs the Jewel of Life, restoring his own life force, and reversing the time paradox that nearly killed Ash, Dawn, Brock, and Sheena, and killed the Pokémon that travelled back in time with them, restoring their bodies and resurrecting the Pokémon. Arceus rescues his saviors from the collapse of the temple. Ash, Dawn, Brock, and Sheena are transported to the future, only to discover that Arceus is still furious and has defeated Dialga, Palkia, and Giratina. Arceus spots Ash and recognizes him due to history's alterations, and reverses the destruction he caused and heals his former adversaries. Ash and the others discover Damos has put them on a mural, thanking them for their help in saving the world and see that even without the Jewel of Life, Michina is still beautiful due to Damos leading his people in supporting the land. Arceus and the other Legendaries depart for their respective domains, with Arceus realizing that he is truly a part of the world that he created.

In the credits, it is shown that Marcus works for Damos after his defeat, Newton visits Zero in prison while the Shaymin discover a new location, and Baron Alberto is still hitting on Alice as Darkrai looks on.

We all gasped.

Me: Whoa!

Qin: That is unbelievable! It's hard to imagine that this Marcus would do something that really despicable!

Ash: I know. Because of Marcus, he put the entire human race and the whole world in terrible danger!

Me: Lets see what is says about this Marcus.

I looked up his info.

Marcus had come to resent Arceus because he feared that Arceus would turn Michina into a wasteland if the Jewel of Life was returned to it. Marcus was the real reason that Damos betrayed Arceus. He used his Bronzong's Hypnosis on Damos so that he would be under his control.

After he met Sheena, who had been sent to the past to stop Damos's betrayal to Arceus, he learned what the future would turn out to be as well as his own death. He later changed plans and decided to use silver water to kill Arceus. This proved to be very effective in wounding Arceus and causing it to be immobilized. Sheena and Damos communicated to his Heatran and Bronzong and made them turn against their master. Ash was able to make Marcus give up the Jewel of Life by wrestling with him until he dropped it. While Ash caught the jewel, Dawn, her Piplup and a group of Pokemon cornered Marcus so that he will not follow Ash.

Marcus was not defeated yet. Even though he was cornered, the other humans and Pokemon were disappearing because Arceus was close to death. Marcus explained to Dawn what was going on.

Just as all seemed lost, Damos managed to reach Arceus' heart and allow it to reabsorb the Jewel of Life and recover, thwarting Marcus' plans. Marcus' scream was heard and his crown was shown on the place where he stood, showing that he had fallen.

It does not kill him, since during the end credits, he is seen as a worker of Damos in cultivating the land.

Marcus has no powers, but he is shown to use his Pokemon for evil purposes. He also will stop at nothing to destroy Arceus.

We gasped in horror!

Me: So we have another Traitorous Vizier to kill.

Nico: That monster!

Me: I know.

Qin: We have to help Arceus kill him.

Me: From the looks of things Marcus is doing what he did before in the past to get revenge.

Serena: That's what I am thinking as well.

Me: Lets go!

?: Wait!

We turned and we saw Damos.

Ash: Damos!

Damos: It's good to see you again Ash. And you are all right. Marcus betrayed Arceus. He stole the Jewel of Life from him again to get revenge. I have it right here.

He showed us a beautiful green jewel and it was beautiful.

Me: Wow. So that is the Jewel of Life. It's beautiful.

Damos: It is. Let me help you all against Marcus. I came here to have you guys help me and Arceus take him down once and for all.

Me: We'll gladly help you.

We went up to Arceus and Damos was with us.

Me: ARCEUS!

He saw us.

Arceus: J.D. Knudson, it is good to see you again.

Me: You too Arceus. But we have news.

Arceus: I see. But what is Damos doing here!?

Me: That's what we want to tell you. Damos did not betray you. It was Marcus. He is doing what he did to you the first time again.

Damos revealed the Jewel of Life.

Arceus: (to Damos) So, you didn't betray me after all.

Damos: Of course not. Marcus is the real culprit!

Me: And we promise you that he will pay!

I gave the Jewel back to him and Arceus had his full power back.

Arceus: We're going back in time to 1,000 years to destroy Marcus.

Me: Okay. Lets get him!

Arceus then opened up a portal and we went back in time to the year 1000 A.D.

MICHINA - 1,000 A.D.

We arrived in the city of Michina in the year 1,000 A.D. and it was an amazing place.

We landed in the castle.

Me: Wow. So this is Michina in the past.

Nico: Incredible.

Lana: It's amazing.

Lola: Wow.

Me: It's hard to imagine that this is what it looked like back then.

Laney: It's amazing.

?: It is a pretty sight huh?

We then saw a figure come out. It was SLICKAGON from episode 9 of Jungle Fury!

---

Slickagon is an old friend of Camille. Camille called Slickagon to terrorize the city and keep Jungle Fury Rangers busy while Dai Shi returns with Carnisoar. A prankster who holds the spirit of the Eel, Slickagon is able to generate energy-based slime all over his body that can let him slip past any attack. Camille sent him to wipe out the city with his slime. In the first encounter Slickagon easily defeated the Rangers because their weapons were not able to do any damage to him, and he washed them away with his slime. In the second battle, Casey cleaned him up by rubbing off all his slime with a kite, allowing the Rangers to defeat him with the Claw Cannon. Slickagon grew but was destroyed by Jungle Pride Megazord with Elephant Power.

---

Jungle Fury Camille: Slickagon!

Slickagon: Been a while Camille my friend.

Jungle Fury Camille: And here I thought we were friends.

Slickagon: I thought we were more than friends.

Jungle Fury Camille: Not anymore!

Me: I remember this slimy freak! He was used as a distraction while Dai Shi gets Carnisoar.

Slickagon: That's right. Like my new friend?

Lord Drakkon then appeared.

Me: Oh great. Lord Drakkon.

Lord Drakkon: That's right. I came here to kick your ass J.D.

Me: And I thought Dark Spicer is the only one that says that.

I fired energy blasts at Slickagon and because of his energy based slime, the blasts slipped off of him.

Me: Whoa!

Lincoln: Even energy blasts are slipping off him!

Nico: There's only one thing to do. (grimaces) One of us has to sacrifice his diginity and… lick the slime off him!

Me: EW!

Courage: Oh boy. That is gonna leave a really bad taste in your mouth.

Lana: Count me in. I'll do it too.

Me: I'll face Drakkon.

Nico: (Gulps) I know I'm not gonna like this.

Courage: And I'm usually the only one that says that.

Nico and Lana then started licking Slickagon and they were really licking him! YUCK!

I engaged Drakkon in a powerful sword fight and I punched him in the face and kicked him in the stomach and punched him in the face again and clashed with his sword. Sparks were flying everywhere and setting the whole castle on fire.

Nico and Lana licked him dry.

Slickagon: UGH! You two are disgusting!

Nico: (cries hysterically) I'm just as happy as you are about this! (continues licking)

Lord Drakkon: (laughs) Well, that's one way to get rid of one of our minions!

Tommy Oliver: Nice to see that you've retained my sense of humor!

Me: I agree.

I punched Drakkon in the face and leg swept him and kicked him into the air.

Nico and Lana then finished licking him and Lincoln fired a massive energy blast at Slickagon and it hit him and exploded!

KRABBBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Slickagon fell down and exploded.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Slickagon was dead.

Nico was crying hysterically and May was comforting him.

Me: That was really weird and disgusting, but it worked.

Lord Drakkon: (chuckles) Well, now that you've humiliated yourself, I think my work here is done. (teleports out)

Then a spirit ring appeared on Lori's finger. It had an aqua blue gem with an eel in it.

Lori: Wow. The Eel spirit is mine.

Isabelle: The Eel Spirit Totem is perfect for you Lori. It shows that you have the ability to survive anything that comes your way.

Lori: Wow. Thanks Isabelle.

Then a blue light was seen and it landed in Lori's hand and it was the Electric Eel Wild Zord. It was a blue snake-like zord that emits over 500 trillion volts of electricity.

Lori: Wow! It's the Electric Eel Zord!

Taylor Earhart: I've never see this kind of Zord before.

Cole Evans: Me neither. This is a totally new one.

Kira Ford: That is amazing.

Me: Next time we go all out against Drakkon.

?: If you live long enough to see him.

Me: I thought you were dead after 150,000 years Suzumebachi Kamizuru.

A figure came out and it was DARK SUZUMEBACHI KAMIZURU!

Suzumebachi (in Japanese: スズメバチ, Suzumebachi) is an anime-exclusive villain in Naruto, serving as the main antagonist of the Bikōchū Search Mission arc.

She was voiced by Rica Matsumoto in the Japanese dubbed version, and by Cindy Robinson in the English dubbed version.

Years ago, Suzumebachi's grandfather, the First Tsuchikage hid away the Kamizuru's clan's secrets after they were humiliated by their defeat at the hands of the Hidden Leaf's Aburame clan.

As the new head of the Kamizuru clan, Suzumebachi led her brothers, Jibachi and Kurobachi in search of the bikōchū beetle, hoping to restore her clan's name. She has her clan kidnap Hinata Hyuga and demand the beetle in exchange for her safety.

When Naruto and his teammates try to save Hinata, Suzumebachi has her swept away down a river, stuck in a cocoon. As the team is cocooned by Suzumebachi's skullduggery, Hinata escapes and uses Byakugan and Protecting Eight Trigrams Sixty-Four Palms to defeat the insects.

With her brothers defeated, Suzumebachi angrily tries one last attack using a Giant Bee, but was blown away by Naruto's Rasengan. Whether she survived or not remains ambiguous.

---

Dark Suzumebachi: So you know me even after all this time.

Me: It's weird seeing you here in this time after all these years.

Qin: Who is she?

Me: That's Suzumebachi Kamizuru. She was once a member of the Hidden Rock's Kamizuru Clan. Like the Hidden Leaf's Aburame Clan, they were known as some of the great insect handlers in all of the Land of Earth and the Kamizuru and Aburame clans were considered equals for decades. But all that changed when they fell from grace after Suzumebachi's grandfather, the 1st Tsuchikage hid their clans prized secrets after being dealt a humiliating defeat decades ago by the Aburame. In the time I was in 150,000 years from our time in 2020, We were trying to find the Bikochu Beetle, an insect with an incredible sense of smell, so that we could use it to hunt down Kabuto Yakushi and bring him to justice. But Suzumebachi and her brothers wanted to use the Bikochu to restore the Kamizuru Clan's name. It was a brutal fight and in the end The Knights of the New Fire won. Suzumebachi and her brothers were declared dead as a result and the Kamizuru Clan was made extinct.

We succeeded in getting the Bikochu and we got it to the tracking squad of the ANBU. Kabuto was arrested and brought to justice.

Qin: Wow! That bug must have an amazing nose.

Me: It does. This is what it looks like.

I showed her a holographic image of the Bikochu Beetle. It looked like a black beetle with an elephants truck for a nose.

Qin: Wow. Interesting bug.

Lana: I've never seen a bug like that before.

Lisa Loud: Very fascinating specimen.

Dark Suzumebachi: And it was because of you J.D. that you ruined my clans name!

Me: They brought all that on themselves because of their own fucked up petty little competition. But as far as I can see, you aren't even worth our time.

I fired an energy blast at Dark Suzumebachi and it slammed into her and exploded. Killing her instantly.

Nicole: Nice shot dad. The Suzumebachi we know would never become this evil.

Me: No she wouldn't.

Nicole: I'm glad we helped save her from herself. But her brothers weren't so lucky.

Naruto: You said it sis.

Dark Suzumebachi's evil spirit appeared.

Me: And you don't even deserve to have a clan or anything.

I held my hand to her face.

Me: HAKAI!

Dark Suzumebachi glowed purple and she screamed in pain as she was completely obliterated. She was erased from existence for all eternity as if she was never born at all.

Me: Good riddance.

Clapping was heard and then out came MARCUS!

Marcus: Good work. Now I can destroy you all and kill Arceus.

Me: So you are Marcus.

Marcus: Yes. That's right.

Me: You will pay for your crimes against Arceus. Because you have just incurred the wrath of the Pokemon God.

Arceus: That's right. Prepare to face Judgement!

Troy: Damos, it's time you learned all about the Power Rangers.

Megaforce Rangers: Legendary Ranger Mode: Wild Force!

The Megaforce Rangers turned into the Wild Force Rangers.

Me: Lets get him!

We went at Marcus and I punched him in the face and kicked him in the stomach and Lincoln fired a powerful blast of lightning and electrocuted Marcus. Laney fired a powerful blast of fire and burned him all over.

Me: Try this fire on! RISE! PHOENIX - LEGENDARY TITAN OF REBIRTH!

A massive explosion of fire appeared behind me and out of the fire came a massive firebird! It was THE PHOENIX!

Nico: WHOA! So that's the Phoenix!

Lincoln: Wow. It's power is incredible!

Me: It sure is.

Marcus: GUARDS! KILL THEM ALL!

The guards came.

Me: Phoenix, incinerate them!

Phoenix fired a massive wave of fire and it hit a bunch of guards and incinerated them!

Dana: I've had enough of these clods! ICE STYLE NINJA ART: RUINA IMPERII!

Dana went into the air as a raging snowstorm appeared behind her and the song Ruina Imperii by Sabaton played.

Budet kom på en kall vinternatt

Carolus finns ej mer

Hemåt fränder

Över fjäll, genom bitande köld går marschen

De går med sänkta huvuden

Återvänder

Död, vänter Armfeldt och män

Död, kungens män, vänder hemåt igen

Fränder, bröder, vår stormaktstid är över

Vårt rike blöder, fanan står i brand

Aldrig, aldrig, aldrig återvända

Svea stormaktstid till ända

Ambition och en strikt religion

Drev svensken uti krig

Hårda tider

För sitt land, tog han vapen i hand

Ett liv för rikets väl

Karoliner

Krig, givit allt vi förmår

Krig, dödens år, satt sitt spår, vi består

De togs förgivet

Bragda om livet

Vem lät det hända

Stormaktstid til ända

The snowstorm fired a massive wave of ice and it turned into the soldiers of the Great Northern War and they slashed, blasted and froze the guards in blocks of ice.

Me: Whoa! That was awesome!

Jessie K.: Wow! Those were the soldiers from the Great Northern War.

Qin: Wow! When did that happen?

Jessie K.: It lasted from 1700 to 1721 and it was a battle that would decide if the Tsarhood would rise to power. And it did so at the end of the war.

Nico: Wow. I didn't know that war happened back then.

Lincoln: Lets see if they like this one! TWILIGHT STYLE NINJA ART: THE ART OF WAR!

A curtain of light and darkness appeared behind him as the song The Art of War by Sabaton played.

I stand alone

And gaze upon the battlefield

Wasteland

Is all that's left after the fight

And I'm searching a new way to defeat my enemy

Bloodshed

I've seen enough of death and pain

I will run - they will hunt me in vain

I will hide - they'll be searching

I'll regroup - feign retreat they'll pursue

Coup de grâce I will win but never fight [mercy killing]

That's the Art of War!

Breaking the will to fight among the enemy

Force them to hunt me

They will play my game

And play by my rules

I will be close but still untouchable

No more will I see suffering and pain

They will find me no more

I'll be gone

I will have them surrounded

They will yield without fight overrun

Overrun

Coup de grâce

I will win but never fight

That's the Art of War

Broken and lost

Tired of war

They'll surrender to me

Caught in my trap

There's no way out

Fail never again

I will run - they will hunt me in vain

I will hide - they'll be searching

I'll regroup - feign retreat they'll pursue

Coup de grâce I will win but never fight [mercy killing]

That's the Art of War!

Blasts of light and darkness fired and they turned into the soldiers of many wars from all over history and they went at the guards and blasted, slashed them and skewered them all over and killed them all.

Me: Whoa! Those were soldiers from wars that were fought in from all over history.

Jessie K.: They sure were. I've known all about those kinds of soldiers.

Laney: And I know the famous book The Art of War done by famous Chinese Military philosopher Sun Tzu. He said this: "If you know the enemy and know yourself, you need not fear the result of a hundred battles. If you know yourself but not the enemy, for every victory gained you will also suffer a defeat. If you know neither the enemy nor yourself, you will succumb in every battle."

Me: I know that saying all too well. "Know Your Enemy." That is a very prominent and very powerful quote from Sun Tzu back then.

Jessie K.: That's right dad. That saying has been very helpful in all of our battles and very influential over the centuries.

Ben: Lets see how it likes this.

Ben then turned into a new Ultimate Alien. It was ULTIMATE EATLE! He was taller and he had 4 arms and he had much bigger beetle horns and he had bigger claws and a powerful and thick blue armor shell and he had powerful cannons in his arms.

Ben: ULTIMATE EATLE!

Me: WHOA! An Evolved Oryctini!

Shanan: Wow! I've never seen this one. This is amazing!

Riley: Wow! This is awesome!

Ultimate Eatle: Watch this.

He sucked in a bunch of rocks and he fired powerful laser blasts from his hands and they hit some of the guards and the blasts hit them and exploded.

KRABBBOOOOOOOOOMMM! KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM! KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOMMM! KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOMMM! KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOMMMM!

Me: Whoa! Awesome!

Ultimate Eatle: Watch this one.

Ben then turned into another alien we haven't seen before. It was a turtle alien.

Ben: SHELLHEAD!

Me: Whoa! I've never seen this one.

Shanan: Wow! That's a Morrocon from the planet Aldabra!

Lincoln: One of Terraspin's planet?

Shanan: Yep. They have amazing durability and can survive anything. Even extreme cold, underwater, heat and even the endless vacuum of space as long as they are inside their shells.

Nico: Wow! That is amazing!

Shanan: And their jaw strength is powerful enough to destroy any kind of metal.

Me: WHOA! That is cool!

Shellhead: It is. Watch this. Kick me will you Nico?

Nico: Got it.

Shellhead went into his shell and Nico kicked him and he slammed into a bunch of guards and smashed them into a million bloody pieces. Shellhead then bounced off the wall of the castle and slammed into more guards and killed them.

Me: Whoa! That is awesome!

Lily: That's what I call a 100 Point Slice and Dice! (Rimshot)

We laughed at Lily's joke.

Me: (Laughs) Good one Lily.

Luan: (Laughs) That was a good one Lilster!

Eddy: (Laughs) That was a good one!

Nico: That was funny.

Me: Lets show this monster some teamwork!

Hardhead: Righto boss! CYBER KEY POWER!

The Earth Cyber Planet Key went into his back and enhanced his Shatterblasters 100-fold.

Vixen: Lets see how he likes the power of the Animal Kingdom! ANIMATRON CYBER KEY POWER!

The Animatron Cyber Planet Key went into her right arm device and enhanced her powers 100-fold. She activated the strength of 10 elephants.

Hardhead and Vixen: MEGA STRENGTH SUPER SHATTERPUNCH!

Hardhead fired his shatterblasters and Vixen had a deadly punch ready! The blasts from the shatterblasters merged with her punch and she punched Marcus with devastating force and he was sent flying and he crashed into the wall of the castle.

Sixshot: Time for some real pain! CYBER KEY POWER!

The Earth Cyber Planet Key went into his back and enhanced his Jet Propelled Laser Pistol 100-fold.

Teresa: Lets see how he likes this! EARTH CYBER KEY POWER!

The Earth Cyber Planet Key went into her right arm device and enhanced her sonic blasters 100-fold.

Sixshot and Teresa: SUPERSONIC LASER BLAST RAY!

The fired their blasts and they slammed into Marcus and exploded.

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Emerald: Lets get this monster Leni!

Leni: I am like, totes with you Emerald!

Leni fired a powerful blast of gravity lightning and Emerald fired a powerful blast of energy from her sword.

Leni and Emerald: GRAVITY UNICORN STAMPEDE!

The blasts combined and turned into a unicorn made of gravity lightning and it slammed into Marcus and exploded.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Me: Time for some real firepower!

Sophie: I agree! FIGHT WITH US! SABRIEL!

Sabriel came out and she was ready to fight!

Me: Ready Phoenix, lets team up and get him!

I fired a powerful fireball blast and Phoenix fired a massive wave of fire and Sophie fired a massive blast of lightning and Sabriel fired powerful blades of energy from her sword.

Me with Phoenix and Sophie with Sabriel: FIRESTORM LIGHTNING BLADEDANCE!

The blasts combined and turned the blades of energy into a powerful shower of blades that packed a deadly wallop. They hit Marcus and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO
KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO
KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO
KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMMMM!

Nico: Whoa! That was powerful!

Carol: No kidding.

Hunter: (German Accent) Ja. That was awesome!

Breach: Lets see how you light this!

Karai: (Japanese Accent) Indeed.

Breach fired her portals and Karai had her sword ready.

Breach and Karai: DIMENSION SWORD TELEPORT SLASH!

The portals merged with Karai's sword and turned it into a 4th Dimensional Portal Blade and she slashed off Marcus's arms and the sword sent them into the sun. Marcus screamed in excruciating pain.

Me: Time for some Final Smash power!

Ash: Lets do it! LIGHTNING SUPERBOLT FIRESTORM!

Ash fired a massive blast of lightning and it slammed into Marcus and electrocuted him all over with 726 Quadrillion volts of electricity.

Dawn (Pokemon): This is for trying to kill us the first time! COSMIC STAR STORM BARRAGE!

Dawn fired a massive barrage of stars and they hit Marcus all over and exploded.

Nico: Lets see how he likes this! Dialga lets do it!

Nico called forth his Dialga.

Arceus: I'm amazed that you have a Dialga as one of your Pokemon, Nico.

Serena: Lets see how he likes this! FLOWER FIRESTORM BURN!

Serena fired a massive blast of pink fire and it turned into a massive wave of flowers and they slammed into Marcus and burned him all over.

Nico: Thanks Arceus. ROAR OF TIME MEGABLAST!

Nico and Arceus fired a powerful Time Ray and it slammed into Marcus and aged him. He looked like he was now 115 years old.

Carolyn Hope: Try this one! ROAR OF TIME CHRONO BLAST!

Carolyn fired a massive blue energy blast an it hit Marcus and aged him more. He looked like he was over 259 years old.

Me: Whoa! He's really old now.

Olivia Pensgammon: Feel the power of Space! SPATIAL RIFT STARSTORM!

Olivia fired a blast of pink energy into the air and it rained down a massive barrage of stars and they hit Marcus all over and exploded.

KRABBBBOOOOOOOOMMMM! KRABBBBOOOOOOOMMMM! KRABBBBOOOOOOOOMMM! KRABBBOOOOOOOOMMM! KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOMMM!

Lanalda: How about these Dimensions? 12TH DIMENSION RAY BURST!

Lanalda fired a powerful blast of purple energy and it slammed into Marcus and exploded.

KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Me: Time for you to burn! Lets hit him Phoenix! PHOENIX FIREBALL INFERNO!

I fired a fireball blast and Phoenix fired a massive wave of fire and the blasts hit him and exploded!

KRABBBBBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Yveltal: Time for some Destruction Power! OBLIVION WING PETRIFIER!

Yveltal fired a powerful red energy ray and it slammed into Marcus and turned him into a Stone statue!

Ash: It's tempting to kill you right now! But, we'll let Arceus decide your fate. And we mean that literally.

Me: That's right.

Arceus: And I'm more than happy to oblige. Marcus, you have been found guilty of abuse of my power and treachery. Your punishment is death and eternal imprisonment in the Book of Vile Darkness. JUDGEMENT BLAST PUNISHMENT!

Arceus fired a massive blast of yellow energy and it slammed into Marcus and completely obliterated him in an instant and sent his spirit into the Book of Vile Darkness.

Me: Whoa!

Nico: Marcus you have failed this timeline.

We later went back to our time in 2020.

Arceus: Thank you all so much for helping me.

Me: Anytime Arceus. You helped us beat Team Galactic.

Arceus: So now we are even.

Me: Indeed.

Arceus: Shall we ever face Team Plasma, I will gladly help you all out when needed.

Me: Thank you.

Arceus left.

Ash: (To the viewers) It was awesome helping out Arceus. Just don't betray the power of the powerful God Pokemon.

Me: Amen to that.

We later went back to the estate and we rested.

THE END

---

Another awesome Pokemon Movie done and another Pokemon Villain destroyed.

Arceus and the Jewel of Life was an awesome movie and it was the 12th movie of Pokemon that aired in November of 2009 and it was wicked awesome! Facing a Pokemon like Arceus would be absolute suicide. If all of Team Loud Phoenix Storm faced him, it would be a total stalemate that would destroy the entire universe. They don't call Arceus the God Pokemon for nothing. He is the strongest and most powerful Pokemon of all! Wicked and deadly! But what Marcus did was completely unforgivable. Suzumebachi was the main bad guy in the Bikochu Beetle Arc in Naruto and she was mean and bad. Next up is Orochimaru's right hand man Kabuto Yakushi! And I'm going to make sure that he enjoys Oblivion with Orochimaru. NicoChan11 gave me the ideas for this one. Thanks man. Let me know what you all think. Next up is the first villain for The Legend of Korra. Get ready because we're going to face the ruthless Bloodbender of the Equalists - Amon! He's gonna pay for his crimes!

See you all tomorrow.

A Future Avatar of The Elements

In the Saturn Insane Asylum, we were there to have Qin visit and kick the living crap out of Lila Rossi. Things haven't gotten any better for Lila. Her whole time in the Saturn Insane Asylum has made her worse than ever and it was a nightmare from hell. After Marinette and Adrien's win in the Pluto Race, Lila became really unhinged and extremely unstable and she started showing more of her true colors and the level of insanity she had. After that, she had her mental health get worse as she was stabbing 2 voodoo dolls that looked like Marinette and Adrien. She had a full mental breakdown and lost all trust in the Saturn Insane Asylum Staff as well as all of the doctors there to help her. But she was really paranoid and she was afraid that they would turn on her just like Hawk Moth did. But then she had lost it completely when she was starting to have schizophrenic episodes in seeing her mother in the mirror and she told Lila that all her life she had used lies, fear, hatred and good looks to control people to get what she wanted. Her own mother thought of her as a monster and that Lila wanted nothing more than to see the entire planet burn. Lila told her that friendship and love is for ignorant fools and that fear is the only reliable way to get what she wanted and that Marinette, Adrien and Team Loud Phoenix Storm ruined everything for her and costed her everything. Then she had a major episode where she saw us, Marinette and Adrien and we tormented her with verbal lines saying that she was a disgusting human being and a pathetic waste of life. And then Lila went FULL PSYCHO! Lila destroyed her whole room and everything in it and she killed some of the staff that tried to restrain her and her screams were turning into desperate and pathetic cries. She had lost everything in her life. Her friends, her family, her home, her lifestyle, her freedom, and now her mind. After she was restrained, Lila had to be placed in Solitary Confinement for the rest of her life and watched 24/7 to make she she doesn't escape or do anything bad. As she was now locked in a padded cell, she continued to have schizophrenic episodes envisioning her mother, Marinette, Adrien, Hawk Moth and us and she then came to the crazy conclusion that all of France was to blame as well as the whole world. She thought that everyone on Earth played a massive part in everything that lead to Lila's downfall. She was declared a massively extreme danger to everyone around her and even to herself and she had to be kept in a straitjacket at all times with chains wrapped around her.

We were walking to Lila's cell. With us was Neuropsychologist Dr. Nicholas Zemarova.

Me: So Lila is much worse than Margaret White doctor?

Dr. Zemarova: (Estonian Accent) She is the most dangerous and most violent patient we have ever seen J.D. Lila is one of the most dangerous human beings I have ever encountered. She wants nothing more than to burn the whole planet and kill everyone.

Me: Boy Lila is worse than before.

Laney: I can't believe she became like this.

Marinette: I know. Lila is in every way a monster.

Adrien: Worse than that.

Sophie: (British Accent) I can't believe that Lila Rossi is so dangerous. I heard that she tried to assassinate the mayor of France.

Chloe Bourgeois: I know. That's my dad. She is a monster.

Zhalia: Boy news about that spread all over Europe. I'm glad that Lila was brought to justice.

Then a lunatic ran up to me. It was Lunatic Gary from Quahog and he ran up to me and shouted in my face!

Lunatic Gary: YOUR MOTHER'S A WHORE!

POW!

I punched him in the face and sent him crashing into a wall.

Me: No one talks about my mother that way you fuckpot!

Joe Swanson: Ah he's always like that J.D. He said the exact same thing to me.

Me: Really Joe?

Cleveland: Oh yeah. I remember that. That was Lunatic Gary. He is so fuckin' screwed up that it is unbelievable.

Hunter: (German Accent) Ja. I can tell.

Me: What a fucked up lunatic.

Nico: Yeah.

Me: Next time he says that I'm going to fucking kill him

We walked up to Lila's cell and it was a heavily guarded cell. 2 guards were guarding it. They saw us.

Guard 1: J.D. Knudson. Welcome sir. What brings you here?

Me: Just here to have a word with Lie-la.

We laughed at her name.

Guard 2: That's a good one.

Qin: I want to beat the crap out of her.

Guard 1: All righty.

They opened the door and Qin went in.

Qin: Hello Lie-la. How nice to see you again.

Lila: You make me sick Qin!

Qin: You should be sick of me because I hate your fucking guts.

Lila: You know, you only have yourselves to blame for Marinette's stupid mom and that idiot mayor getting shot! If you hadn't exposed me recklessly, I wouldn't have been forced to shoot the two of them, everyone else wouldn't have saw it, and they wouldn't have been Akumatized. So, by that logic, I was the one who nearly destroyed

Team Loud Phoenix Storm!

POW!

Qin punched Lila in the face with incredible force and it broke her nose.

Qin: You are a fucking liar Lila! You are the one that brought all this on herself! Because of your own selfishness and hatred and your own pathological lies, you ruined your life!

Nico: Wait Qin. It's true. I was in charge of that whole mission and we did expose her. But recklessly. But it worked and did it.

Qin: But being reckless always gets it done.

Me: That's right! I don't give a flying fuck what Morton and Rotwood say. If they think that we're reckless then that's their fucking problem. As long as we get the job done.

Everyone agreed.

Nico: (Sighs) You're right.

Qin: Yeah! And I don't listen to pathological liars like you Lie-la.

Qin then had a ball of fire ready and she threw it into her face and it hit her and burned her. Lila screamed in pain as she was burned and we left.

Back at the estate on Earth we were watching one of my favorite shows: The Legend of Korra. It was the sequel to Avatar: The Last Airbender. We were following the adventures of the next Avatar: Korra - a Waterbender that was chosen to be the next Avatar after Aang.

---

Korra is the current incarnation of the Avatar and immediate successor of Avatar Aang. Born and raised in the Southern Water

Tribe, where she mastered waterbending, earthbending, and firebending, she later relocated to Republic City to attain a similar proficiency with airbending under the tutelage and guidance of Tenzin as well as overcome her aversion to the spiritual aspects of the bending arts. With the assistance of Aang's spirit, Korra gained the ability to energybend, and after connecting with her past lives, she gained the capacity to enter the Avatar State at will, marking her transition into a fully realized Avatar. However, due to her temporary separation from Raava during the Harmonic Convergence of 171 AG, she no longer has a connection to her past lives. After defeating Kuvira and bringing an end to the Earth Empire, Korra started a romantic relationship with her best friend, Asami Sato.

Korra was born to Tonraq and Senna in the Southern Water Tribe following the death of Avatar Aang in 153 AG. At the age of four, she proudly introduced herself to the Order of the White Lotus as the new Avatar by performing water-, earth-, and firebending before them. She honed her waterbending under the tutelage of Katara, though her instinctive aggressive style was nothing like the calm, slow movements the elderly master tried to pass on.

After Chief Unalaq learned that his niece was the Avatar, he constantly sought Tonraq's permission to train Korra in the spiritual ways of the Water Tribe, but his estranged brother shot him down. Since he secretly desired to indoctrinate Korra in the ways of the Red Lotus and coerce her to reopen the long-dormant spirit portals to release Vaatu, Unalaq commissioned Zaheer, Ghazan, Ming-Hua, and P'Li to kidnap her in 158 AG. However, due to the efforts of Tonraq, Chief Sokka, Fire Lord Zuko, and Councilman Tenzin, the attempt was thwarted and the criminals were apprehended, although Unalaq's involvement remained unknown. After the incident, Tonraq and Tenzin decided to seclude the Avatar in the Southern Water Tribe compound, away from the public eye as she pursued the bending arts.

Meeting Naga

As a young girl, during one of her waterbending training sessions with Katara, Korra accidentally knocked the elderly woman to the ground by bending a pile of snow on her and quickly apologized. However, their session got cut short by Tonraq, who noticed a snowstorm was heading their way. When the winds carried the howls of a pack of polar bear dogs across the frozen tundra, Korra desired to go play with them but was forced to return home with her parents for safety.

During the night, however, she sneaked out and braved the storm, intending to track down the pack and play with them. Stumbling upon a sole pup, which got separated from the pack in the storm, she gained the animal's trust by offering it some fish jerky and started to hop around on all fours around her, desiring to play together.

When the young Avatar realized after a while that she too had gotten herself lost in the raging storm, Korra urged the animal not to fear as she was the Avatar and proceeded to build a rudimentary igloo with her waterbending. Sheltered from the wind, she attempted to bend a small flame for heat but subsequently lost control of it, startling herself and the polar bear pup. She quickly apologized to the animal, noting that she was not a good firebender yet due to Katara discouraging her to bend the other elements until she mastered waterbending. Musing that being the Avatar was not as fun as she thought it would be due to the abundance of rules, she found herself cheered up by the pup as it started licking her hand. Huddled together, the two youngsters eventually fell asleep.

The next morning, Korra and the pup awoke from their slumber when Tonraq found and cracked open their shelter. She promptly introduced the polar bear dog to them as Naga and asked if she could keep her, as she had lost her pack and needed a new family. Korra happily played with Naga in the snow while Tonraq and Senna discussed Naga's fate with Katara. Much to their mutual enthusiasm, Korra was allowed to keep her, and they all returned home where the youngsters continued to play together.

Inseparable during the following years growing up, Naga became Korra's best friend, animal guide, and main means of transport, while Korra demonstrated a prodigious talent in the arts of waterbending, earthbending, and firebending during her training sessions at the Southern Water Tribe compound.

170 AG

By 170 AG, at the age of seventeen, Korra had mastered all the elements save for airbending, which she was set to be taught by Tenzin as soon as he moved to the Southern Water Tribe. However, after Tenzin's move to her home fell through, Korra took matters into her own hands and stowed away on a ship, traveling to Republic City. Roaming though the city in search of Air Temple Island, she discovered that the bustling metropolis was not all that she was told to be; she learned that there was a great deal of imbalance among its citizens with triads and Equalists running around. After defeating some members of the Triple Threat Triad, she found herself in trouble with Lin Beifong and her Metalbending Police Force. She was cleared of all charges due to Tenzin's intervention and eventually allowed to stay with him at the air temple to commence her airbending training there. However, progress was slow and the Avatar grew frustrated. To unwind, she joined the Fire Ferrets pro-bending team and befriended her teammates, the brothers Mako and Bolin.

When Bolin got kidnapped by the Equalists, Korra helped his brother find him. They tracked him down to an abandoned warehouse where they witnessed firsthand Amon's ability to strip a bender of their bending abilities. Although they managed to save Bolin, Amon left a deep impression on Korra, who grew fearsome of the Equalist leader. Regardless, she joined Councilman Tarrlok's task force.

While she worked to rid the city of the Equalists, she also kept training with the bending brothers to win the Pro-bending Championship. Although they had some hard matches due to internal romantic struggles, they managed to reach the finale. However, after their match against the White Falls Wolfbats ended with their defeat due to cheating of the other team, Amon and his Equalists attacked the Pro-bending Arena, effectively destroying the building.

Soon after, Korra discovered that Hiroshi Sato had ties with the Equalists, and as such, she invited both Asami Sato and the bending brothers to come live with her at the island. There, feeling insecure about herself as the Avatar, she and her friends formed a team with the purpose of patrolling the city and apprehending Equalists. As such, she angered Tarrlok, and the Councilman broke up their team by arresting all of Korra's friends. When she confronted Tarrlok about his actions later on, the discussion erupted into a duel. As the Avatar was about to overpower the councilman, Tarrlok revealed himself to be a bloodbender and subdued her with the ability. Korra was locked up in a secluded cabin in the mountains surrounding the city. In isolation, unable to escape, she meditated and connected with Aang, discovering the truth about Tarrlok's heritage. However, when Amon and his Equalists ambushed the cabin, she managed to escape.

In the aftermath of her escape, Amon launched his grand attack on the city. Korra and her friends fought back for a while, but the sheer number and power of the Equalists forced them on the run. Korra retreated into the tunnel system of the city, where she would await the arrival of reinforcements in the form of General Iroh and his United Forces. However, he too proved to be no match for the Equalists machines, and Korra pulled the injured general out of the water. After this incident, she vowed to take the battle to Amon, and together with Mako, she set out to confront him. After having learned that he truly was a waterbender from the Northern Water Tribe, they eventually found him at the Pro-bending Arena, where he was holding a victory speech. The Avatar freed Tenzin and his children, though when she faced Amon, the Equalist leader managed to take away her bending. However, as she witnessed Amon on the verge of taking Mako's bending as well, she unlocked her airbending and managed to overpower Amon.

After the Equalists' defeat, Korra traveled to the Southern Water Tribe, hoping that Katara could undo Amon's action. The old healer was unable to, however, and a heartbroken Korra ran off to grieve on her own. There, she finally managed to connect with her spiritual side, and as such, Aang and the other previous Avatars helped to restore her bending, as well as bestow upon her the ability to restore other people's bending. Having regained her bending and mastered the Avatar State, Korra and Mako became a couple.

After the Anti-bending Revolution, Korra extensively used energybending to restore the bending of the innocent benders Amon victimized with his bloodbending and trained with Tenzin to perfect her skill in airbending, achieving the status as a Fully Realized Avatar.

Although Tenzin wanted her to accompany him on a journey to visit all the air temples, Korra was adamant about first attending the Glacier Spirits Festival. However, after she learned there from her uncle, Unalaq, that it had been Tenzin and Tonraq's decision to keep her secluded in the compound, she broke with her airbending master and accepted Unalaq's offer to become her spiritual guide. As a first step in her training, Korra journeyed to the South Pole and opened the Southern spirit portal, causing the spirit lights to return to the South. When they made their way back to the Southern Tribe, Korra discovered that in the meantime the Northern Navy had arrived and occupied the harbor. Although Unalaq claimed it was an attempt to reconnect both tribes, the Southerners were not pleased with the Northern presence and Korra was forced to mediate between her own people, causing her to be seen as a traitor by some.

When Korra learned of Varrick's plan to kidnap Unalaq, she feared that her father was involved. She thwarted the attempt and discovered Tonraq had nothing to do with the Southern Water Tribe rebels. However, her parents were arrested and tried for treason nonetheless, a trial during which only her mother was acquitted. In an attempt to free her father, Korra confronted Judge Hotah and learned that the entire tribe and Tonraq's initial banishment of from the North had all been orchestrated by Unalaq. Enraged, Korra and her friends, with the help of Varrick, freed Tonraq and the other rebels from Northern custody, effectively commencing a Water Tribe Civil War.

Korra and Team Avatar journeyed back to Republic City in an attempt to persuade President Raiko to deploy the United Forces fleet to aid the South. With tensions rising between the two tribes and the pressure to do something on Korra increased, she also began to have relationship troubles with Mako and, after he had informed Raiko of her plan to go to General Iroh behind his plan, they broke up. In a last attempt to gather support for her tribe, Korra left for the Fire Nation to ask the Fire Lord for help. However, she never reached her destination as she was first attacked by her cousins, Desna and Eska, and later ambushed and swallowed by a dark spirit.

Korra washed ashore on an island inhabited by the Bhanti Tribe, though the attack of the spirit had infected her Avatar Spirit, leaving her without her memory. She was lowered by the tribe into a pool of spirit water, where she reconnected with her Avatar Spirit by learning how Wan became the first Avatar by fusing with Raava during Harmonic Convergence in 9,829 BG and how they defeated Vaatu. With the warning of the shaman that Harmonic Convergence was nearly upon them again, Korra tracked down Tenzin and his family at the Eastern Air Temple and asked for his help to enter the Spirit World in order for her to close the Southern spirit portal and prevent Vaatu's escape. It was with Jinora's help, however, that she managed to cross over, though soon after they arrived, the girls got separated. Korra found herself in a dark forest, where she reverted to her four-year-old self, though with the guidance of Iroh, she was able to revert the change. Making her way over to the spirit portals, she discovered that Jinora had been captured by Unalaq, who threatened to destroy the girl's soul if Korra did not open the Northern spirit portal as well. Korra complied, though as opposed to earning Jinora's freedom, she was attacked by Unalaq and dark spirits. Korra managed to escape with the help of a dragon bird spirit and returned to the physical world.

Having gathered reinforcements in the form of Team Avatar and Varrick's battleship, Korra made her way to the South to enter the Spirit World through the portal there and close the portals from the inside before Harmonic Convergence started. Although their initial attempt to breach through the Northern defenses at the portal ended up with their capture, the Team managed to escape due to Bumi's intervention. While Tenzin, Kya, and Bumi would look for Jinora, Mako and Bolin would hold Unalaq back while Korra closed the portals. She did not manage to close them in time, however, and Vaatu managed to escape at the start of the celestial event. Although she tried to re-imprison the spirit of darkness, she could not prevent him from fusing with Unalaq and becoming the Dark Avatar.

With the fate of the world at stake, Korra engaged Unalaq in battle, though knew her defeat when Vaatu extracted Raava out of her and destroyed the Light Spirit, effectively severing Korra's connection to all her past lives. Upon Tenzin's instance, Korra meditated within the Tree of Time to connect with the cosmic energy and astral project an enormous apparition of her own spirit. Traveling via the spirit lights toward Republic City, Korra engaged Unalaq, who had taken on enormous proportions as well and was laying siege to the city. During the fight, Korra searched the Dark Avatar for a sign of Raava, as she knew that dark could not live without light and upon the destruction of one spirit, it would always live on in the other. However, she could not find a trace of Raava and the Dark Avatar took advantage of her unguarded moment to trap Korra's soul within a spiritbending move. Right before Korra's spirit was on the verge of being corrupted, Jinora's spiritual projection appeared and revealed Raava within Unavaatu. Korra pulled the Light Spirit out, before employing spiritbending to purify Unalaq, destroying him. With Harmonic Convergence nearing its end, Korra, Raava, and Jinora returned to the Spirit World, where she and Raava fused back together as the convergence ended.

Upon her return to the physical world, she declared the Water Tribe Civil War over and the South as an independent nation with Tonraq as its chief. She also announced that she had left both portals open, ushering in a new era in which humans and spirits coexisted.

Red Lotus insurrection

Shortly after the Unalaq Crisis, Korra temporarily lost her bending due to being attacked by chi blocking darts. On a quest to regain her abilities, she fought off the Triple Threat Triad and the residual Equalists, who had all been enlisted by Hundun, as well as hordes of dark spirits. She eventually tracked Hundun down to the Spirit World, where she learned that he was out for vengeance due to the actions of one of her past lives. Despite facing fierce mental and physical challenges, she eventually managed to regain her ability to enter the Avatar State and overpowered Hundun, using her spiritbending to dissipate him and his brother.

In the following week, Korra continued to struggle with the changes that Harmonic Convergence brought. The spirit vines created by the Dark Avatar had taken over parts of Republic City, leaving countless citizens homeless, and her failure to remove them caused for tension between her and President Raiko. Additionally, the shift in the world's energy gave several people across the Earth Kingdom the ability to airbend. After her clash with Raiko reached its zenith and he banished her from the city, Korra and her allies set out to scour the Earth Kingdom in search of these new benders to offer them training and guidance.

Despite initial failures to persuade the new airbenders to abandon their lifestyle in order to rebuild the Air Nation, they eventually managed to persuade Kai to young them. They journeyed to Ba Sing Se, where they eventually discovered that Earth Queen Hou-Ting had been conscripting the airbenders into her army, holding them captive underneath the Earth Queen's Temple. Before they could formulate a plan to free them, Lin joined them and informed them of the escape of four dangerous criminals who were after Korra. She dismissed the threat, however, and decided to stay focused on freeing the airbenders. Successfully fighting off the Dai Li and escaping the city, the airbenders and Tenzin traveled to the Northern Air Temple, while Korra, her friends, and Lin continued the search for more benders.

Their search led them to Zaofu, where they met up with Suyin Beifong, Lin's half-sister, whose daughter Opal had become an airbender. Although the plan had been to send Opal to the Northern Air Temple, the team stayed at Zaofu for a while on Suyin's suggestion. While training Opal in the basics, Korra was taught metalbending by Suyin, becoming the first metalbending Avatar. The threat Lin warned her about eventually caught up with her, and Korra was kidnapped by Zaheer and his three companions, Ghazan, P'Li, and Ming-Hua. Before they could escape, however, she was saved by her friends, and after discovering that Aiwei had led the criminals inside the city, Team Avatar left the Metal Clan in order to track him down and find out why Korra was being targeted.

Following him to the Misty Palms Oasis, the team discovered that Aiwei was meeting Zaheer at Xai Bau's Grove. In an attempt to follow them, they staked out Aiwei's room at the Misty Palms Inn, though eventually discovered that the grove was located in the Spirit World. Korra entered the Spirit World via mediation herself and found Aiwei being confronted by Zaheer. Zaheer promptly disposed of Aiwei by throwing him into the Fog of Lost Souls, leaving the two of them to talk. Being allowed to ask questions, Korra discovered that Zaheer and his associates were part of the Red Lotus, who desired to radically change the world by doing away with the separation of the four nations. Meanwhile, Korra's meditating form was taken by Asami on Naga, as Ghazan and Ming-Hua attempted to kidnap her. Although they managed to escape the Red Lotus, however, they were captured by Earth Kingdom soldiers, since the Earth Queen had declared them enemies of the kingdom.

Korra and Asami eventually managed to free themselves and prevent being taken back to Ba Sing Se. Their escape left them and the airship crew stranded in the Si Wong Desert, forcing them all to work together to reach the safety of the Misty Palms Oasis, where they once again met up with Mako, Bolin, Lin, Tonraq, and Zuko and learned that Zaheer had killed the Earth Queen and threatened to do the same with the airbenders at the Northern Air Temple lest Korra surrendered herself to them.

Their forces strengthened by Suyin and her security force, the team set course for the Northern Air Temple. On the way, Korra decided that she would give herself up, as it was the only way to save the airbenders. As such, she met Zaheer atop Laghima's Peak, while Asami, Mako, and Bolin would check on the airbenders at the temple, and Tonraq and the metalbenders would scale the mountain to be her back up. Zaheer double-crossed them, however, and despite P'Li's demise in the ensuing battle, he managed to escape with an unconscious Korra.

When she woke up, Korra found herself suspended in chains in an underground prison hold and was administered a poison through her skin. She was told the poison would force her body into the Avatar State, enabling the Red Lotus to end the Avatar Cycle if they killed her in the Avatar State. She tried to fight it off, though she eventually succumbed to the poison's influence, and the Avatar State was triggered. The moment she remained in the state, she was attacked by Ghazan and Ming-Hua. Using her enhanced strength and bending abilities, she managed to free herself from her chains and confronted Zaheer in a duel, while Bolin and Mako took care of the others.

With the Avatar State, Korra was able to hold her own against Zaheer, even force him on the defense, though she could not keep up battling both him and the poison, eventually succumbing to its effect. Rendered defenseless, Zaheer took the opportunity to suffocate her, though before he could finish his attack, they were both trapped in a tornado created by Jinora and the novice airbenders. Freed from Zaheer's hold, Korra managed to ensnare Zaheer and pull him down with her, enabling Lin and Suyin to trap him in an earthen prison. Despite her victory, Korra was left on the verge of death due to the poison within her. When Jinora recognized the poison to be a metallic solution, Suyin tried to bend it out of her, saving her life. However, the poison had taken a great toll on her, confining her to a wheelchair in a physically and emotionally weakened state.

171 - 173 AG

After Jinora's ceremony, Korra changed into her normal attire and was set to board the steamship heading toward the Southern Water Tribe, together with her parents, Naga, and Kya. Before boarding, she was given a letter by Bolin, who expressed his delight over becoming pen pals with her. Although Asami inquired if she would be fine on her own as the business woman would be happy to accompany her, Korra declined the offer, stating that some weeks by herself to heal would do her good. Tenzin reassured her that he, Jinora, and the Air Nation would try their best to take care of things in her absence so she could focus all her energy on healing.

Three weeks later, while staying at the Southern Water Tribe Royal Palace, Korra had a nightmare about Zaheer asphyxiating her. She woke up, severely distressed and breathing heavily. Korra went out on the balcony for some fresh air and to look at the spirit lights, where she was found by her mother. Senna approached her, worried about her well-being, and urged her to seek help from Katara. She agreed and received a hug from her mother, who expressed her love for Korra.

While being healed by Katara, Korra was told that the mercury poison had caused considerable internal damage. Inquiring if the elder could fix it, Korra was told that her recovery was dependent on her own efforts, though Katara would help guide her through the process. Korra expressed her desire to recover and was urged to visualize her big toe moving, a feat she managed to accomplish, much to her delight. Korra subsequently moved to the parallel bars in order to try walking. Leaning heavily on the bars, she managed to keep herself standing, though before she could take a step, she was overwhelmed by the memory of herself being poisoned by the Red Lotus, causing her to lose her balance and fall down. Although Katara comforted her, emphasizing that she was safe there and urging her to use her mind to overcome her pain, Korra refused to try again, declaring herself done for that day. Throughout her stay in the South, Korra received and read the letters sent to her by Asami, Mako, and Bolin.

Korra kept up her intensive physiotherapy training, though nearly six months later, she lost patience due to a lack of significant progress. Lamenting about her inability to take more than a few steps without collapsing, she snapped at Katara in her frustration over being dependent on others for everything, while her friends were helping the world and the elderly woman could not heal her. Immediately realizing that she should not have addressed Katara that way, she apologized and was told to let go of her anger and frustration. Upon admitting that she was tired of her situation and the senselessness of it all, Katara tried to comfort her by sharing the sense of loss Aang felt over losing his entire culture and telling her he had tried to find meaning in the suffering and eventually even succeeded to find peace. When Korra asked what she would find, she was offered the response that whatever it was, it would be interesting to find out. Korra subsequently tried to walk again with the aid of the parallel bars and managed to walk the short distance toward Naga, falling happily against the polar bear dog's chest.

Korra continued to improve and by the time Tenzin arrived at the Southern Water Tribe compound, Korra had improved to the point where she could once again run around and fight. As the airbending master climbed off Oogi, she warmly embraced him, exclaiming how much she had missed him. Upon receiving the compliment that she looked great, she dragged Tenzin off toward the training grounds, eager to show him how much she had improved. She sparred against three firebenders and although she started strong, she was knocked down after she was once again overcome with a vision of Zaheer flying down upon her. Helped back to her feet by Tenzin who declared the sparring match to be over, she angrily stated that she believed she had been ready. As Tenzin tried to put her at ease by pointing out that there was no shame in taking the time needed to make a full recovery as her duties as the Avatar could wait, Korra asked about the Earth Kingdom, since she knew it was still in chaos. Hearing that the situation had been stabilized by Kuvira, she grew sad, stating that the metalbender was doing her job. Before Tenzin could tell her that she merely needed to be patient, Korra glared at him, threatening that if he would voice the thought, she would "water-smack" him in the mouth. Frustrated about the situation, she left the sparring ring.

For two years, Korra continued her training and recovery at the Southern Water Tribe. At one point, she wrote a letter back to Asami, in which she apologized for not having written before. She revealed that the past couple of years had been the hardest of her life and even though she had recovered physically, she still could not enter the Avatar State and was often plagued by memories of Zaheer and the Red Lotus attack. She admitted that she worried that she might never fully recover, despite her best efforts. Korra implored Asami to not inform Mako and Bolin about the letter, as she did not want to hurt their feelings and felt like they would not understand her as opposed to Asami.

While having a meal with her parents, an absent-minded Korra was playing with her food until her mother's inquiry about her well-being snapped her out of her thought. She expressed her desire to return to Republic City, hoping that it could speed up her recovery due to it being the place of action and where her friends were. Korra declined Tonraq's offer to get the White Lotus to prepare for her departure, insisting on going alone as it would give her the chance to clear her head.

En route, Korra briefly stopped at a beachside village to purchase supplies. Upon requesting the local fishmonger for two lobster crabs, she was recognized as the Avatar and asked to pose for a picture, just like Avatar Aang had done decades before. The man's ramblings about Avatars were cut short when another vendor shouted about a robbery in progress and the fishmonger pushed Korra to intervene. Although she intercepted the thieves, the two men easily defeated her, leaving Korra lying on the beach in shame. Korra eventually made it to Republic City, though as she neared Air Temple Island, she saw herself in the Avatar State standing atop one of the rocks near the island, glaring menacingly at her. Realizing she was not ready to return, she turned her boat and left Yue Bay, docking somewhere in a deserted area, where she obtained Earth Kingdom clothes, shed all her Water Tribe identifiers, and cut her hair.

Korra traveled to the Spirit World through the northern spirit portal and made her way to the Tree of Time. Her meditation in the hollow of the tree was interrupted by chattering spirits, who were debating among themselves whether or not she was the Avatar. When Korra verified her identity as such, she revealed to them that she had been away for a while due to sustaining severe injuries in her last big battle, which had left her unable to contact Raava. She admitted to meditating in the Tree of Time since the last time she had done so, it had shown her a myriad of images and she had hoped it would be the case again, figuring it could help her to reconnect with Raava and access the Avatar State. When it proved to be unsuccessful, she declined the spirits' help, deciding that she needed to figure it all out on her own since the help of others had not borne any fruit so far.

In order to keep people from worrying about her, Korra wrote letters to her parents, telling them she was pleased to have returned to Air Temple Island and see her friends again. In reality, however, Korra was roaming the physical world by herself, crossing icy seas, hiking up volcanoes, and traversing the desert, all the while seeing an apparition of herself in the Avatar State. While she was wandering the desert, Korra saw Raava atop a nearby dune, though by the time she had scampered to the top, the Light Spirit was gone, having been only a mirage.

Six months after having left the South Pole, Korra made her way to a small Earth Kingdom town at night, where she was once again haunted by her Avatar apparition. Determined to end the haunting, Korra confronted the apparition, though lost. When she encountered a puppy in the middle of the road, she decided to follow the dog after it had chased away her apparition and ended up at the Foggy Swamp. Losing track of the animal who turned out to be the light spirit whom she had met at the Tree of Time, she was once again attacked by her apparition, who dragged her down in a hallucinatory pool of mercury. She eventually woke up in the home of Toph Beifong, who had found her unconscious in the mud.

Desiring to get back into Avatar fighting shape, Korra asked Toph for help and eventually learned that she was still carrying around traces of mercury. When she was plagued by another vision of Zaheer trying to asphyxiate her in the Avatar State as Toph tried to remove the mercury, Korra was told that she would have to bend the metal out herself, since she was subconsciously fighting Toph's attempts to remove it out of fear of getting injured again. When Korra made her way through the swamp two days later, she was haunted by visions of her old enemies once again, though with Toph's help, she figured out that she needed to face her fears and stop fighting her old enemies if she ever wished to be able to deal with future threats. In order to speed up her recovery, Toph took her to the banyan-grove tree, where she reconnected with herself and the world. After being found by Jinora, Ikki, and Meelo, they all returned to Toph's dwelling in the swamp, where Korra eventually managed to bend out all of the residual poison out of her system.

In order to let Kuvira and the rest of the world know that the Avatar was back, Korra and the three airbenders traded the swamp for Zaofu, though they discovered that the military of the Earth Empire was already camped at its gates. Believing that conflict had only made things worse in the past, Korra set out to negotiate with Kuvira though was urged to convince Suyin to give the city up. Upon her return to the city, Korra learned that Suyin had left with Wei and Wing to sneak into Kuvira's camp and deal with the threat themselves. When Kuvira announced over the city's communication system that Suyin and the twins had been captured, Korra tried to reason with the army commander though ended up being challenged for a one-on-one duel for the fate of Zaofu. Kuvira had the upper hand until Korra entered the Avatar State. On the verge of ending Kuvira, however, she was plagued by another hallucination of herself in the Avatar State, allowing the army commander to recover and defeat her. As Kuvira moved to kill her, she was saved by Jinora and Opal and escaped from Zaofu with them, Ikki, and Meelo.

Returning to Republic City, Korra met up with Asami and Mako, though there reunion soon became tense due to their three-year separation. When Prince Wu was kidnapped, the trio gave chase, tracking the royal down to a train departing from Central City Station. Despite the team's continuous bickering, they found Wu and freed him, though were soon after forced on the defense by several Earth Empire agents. Working together, however, they managed to hold them off and escape. The three friends made amends before Mako retreated to the Sato estate with Wu, and Korra and Asami returned to Air Temple Island. As Korra mulled over her past experiences, she became doubtful over her abilities as the Avatar, though with the support of Asami and Tenzin, she became once again determined to restore balance in the world.

When Jinora asked for her and Opal's help to search for Ryu, who had gone missing with his tour group in the Spirit Wilds, Korra discovered via the plants that Kuvira was harvesting roots from the Foggy Swamp. Splitting for Jinora, she left to warn the world leaders about the impending danger, though she was soon contacted by Jinora again, who called for help as she was being attacked by the vines. With Mako's help, Korra discovered that Jinora, Ryu, and the other tourists' souls had been trapped in the Spirit World, though after failing to meditate in, being blocked again by Zaheer's memory, she concluded that she needed to face the Red Lotus leader. When Zaheer noted that her spiritual block was a conscious choice, Korra snapped at him for having created the "worst dictator the Earth Kingdom [had] ever seen", which lead Zaheer to offer to guide her into the Spirit World. Although Korra initially refused his help, she let him guide her through her traumatic experience, and she managed to make it into the Spirit World, where Raava's spirit lit up within her. Together, they found and rescued the trapped souls.

Baatar Jr. and Korra

Korra managed to force Baatar Jr. to try to talk Kuvira out of conquering the United Republic of Nations by threatening to keep them apart forever, which was something he could not live with.

To help the United Republic prepare for battle, Korra asked the spirits to help defend their new home, though they refused to take part in human wars. When she later learned that Kuvira's attack was imminent, Korra and Team Avatar set out to destroy the train tracks with which they presumed Kuvira would transport her spirit energy cannon to Republic City. Much to her shock, however, she discovered that Kuvira was already nearing the city and had mounted the weapon on an enormous mecha suit instead. While the Earth Empire military forced the United Forces to surrender, Korra formed an airbender stealth team and kidnapped Baatar Jr. in order to force him to try and talk Kuvira out of conquering the United Republic of Nations. The plan failed, however, and then were nearly all killed when she blew up the Future Industries factory in which they were hiding.

While it was decided that Asami and Varrick, with the help of Hiroshi and Zhu Li, would adjust the prototypes of the hummingbird mecha suits in order to cut through platinum, Korra and the other benders faced Kuvira's enormous mecha suit in an attempt to slow it down. After Asami and Hiroshi managed to cut a hole in the suit, which cost Hiroshi his life, Korra, Mako, Bolin, Lin, and Suyin infiltrated the mecha suit. While Lin and Suyin took down the cannon, which ended up being discarded in the Spirit Wilds, Korra faced Kuvira, though their battle was interrupted when Mako and Bolin caused the engine to explode. The two women continued their fight inside the Spirit Wilds, where Kuvira fired the spirit energy cannon at Korra. Although she dove out of the way of the beam, the cannon charged itself with the surrounding spirit vines and overloaded. When the beam threatened to kill Kuvira, Korra jumped in front of her and, entering the Avatar State, held the beam at bay, though the enormous surge of energy expanded around them and exploded, creating a new spirit portal.

Korra and Kuvira were thrown into the Spirit World. Seeing her opportunity, Korra explained that she saw a lot of herself in Kuvira, stating that they were both fierce and determined to succeed, sometimes even without thinking things through. When the metalbender snapped that she had been merely trying to help her people in the absence of the Avatar, Korra understood that Kuvira had only been trying to create a place where she and her people would never have to feel vulnerable again and sympathized with the hardships that come from a life as an orphan. She managed to convince Kuvira to surrender, and when they both exited the Spirit World via the portal, Kuvira gave herself up to Lin and Suyin, acknowledging that the Avatar had saved her life and possessed a power beyond what she could ever hope to achieve.

Later, Korra attended Varrick and Zhu Li's wedding at Air Temple Island, during which she learned that Wu planned to abolish the earth monarchy and establish independent states with democratically elected governments akin to the United Republic of Nations instead, a cause for which she pledged her support. When Korra later distanced herself from the party and gazed over the skyline of Republic City, she was joined by Tenzin. Talking about how much she had already changed the world and how much more she desired to do, they were eventually interrupted by Asami, and Tenzin left the two women to themselves. Korra apologized to Asami for having been absent for three years and tried to comfort her for the loss of her father. When Asami stated that she did not feel like returning to the party and could use a vacation, Korra offered to go with her anywhere she wanted. The two decided to journey to the Spirit World and, upon stepping into the spirit portal, they turned to each other and held both hands while gazing lovingly into each other's eyes, starting their romantic relationship together.

Vacation in the Spirit World

Korra and Asami proceeded to enjoy a series of adventures in the Spirit World, which was cut short when the mountain they began climbing revealed itself to be a spirit. This spirit was displeased with Korra's accidental creation of the Republic City portal, resulting in the couple being thrown into the air. Korra quickly used her airbending to soften their landing and apologized to Asami for letting their getaway result in them almost getting killed. Asami reminded her that they had been through worse on previous occasions, and she insisted they not let one disgruntled spirit ruin all the fun they had had until that moment. Noting that all their supplies were ruined, they were forced to cut their vacation short. Before leaving, however, Korra leaned in and kissed, both stating that it had been a wonderful few days.

While walking through a forest, Korra and Asami discussed when they realized their feelings for each other. Korra told Asami that when the two had gone race car driving together she felt like somebody was able to understand her wild, excited nature. Asami told Korra that the years Korra was gone had been the longest of her life; and Korra told her that after her injury she had realized her feelings for Asami but had not included it in any letters. When questioned, Korra told Asami that she had been so confused she had not known if what she was feeling was real. As they finished speaking, the same dragon bird spirit who had helped Korra three years prior appeared to give them a lift. Rather than go back to Republic City, Korra asked the spirit to take them to the Southern portal, but wanted to keep it a surprise to Asami. As they arrived, Korra told Asami of her intentions to tell her parents about their relationship; while Asami was initially hesitant, Korra urged her forward. Later on, while having dinner with Tonraq and Senna, Korra and Asami came out about their relationship, and Korra's parents both expressed their happiness for the couple. However, Tonraq subsequently suggested they keep their relationship private when they return to Republic City, which upset Korra. Although Senna reasoned that not everyone would be so accepting, Korra derided her parents as narrow-minded and agreed with Asami's suggestion to leave.

On their way back, Korra apologized to Asami for her parents' behavior, but to Korra's surprise Asami sympathized with them. She explained to Korra that they were most likely worried about her safety, and this was something she understood because part of her wanted to keep Korra to herself. Korra apologized, realizing she had accidentally ignored Asami's feelings on talking to her parents. Asami said it was okay, she was just worried that people would not see their relationship as something special and rare like she did. Korra promised Asami that no matter what people said, she was going to protect Asami, and Asami agreed.[58]

Return to Republic City

Upon exiting the spirit portal to Republic City, Korra and Asami walked directly into Jinora and the airbenders arguing with Wonyong Keum, whom Asami identified as a former business associate of her father's. Jinora told the two that Keum intended to build an amusement park around the portal, but Keum insisted that he was simply trying to give every common person a chance to visit the Spirit World. While Korra initially hesitated making a decision, Asami told Keum that the Spirit World was sacred, and people like him should not be allowed to enter it. At the same time, the dragon eel spirit, who previously refused Korra's request to fight Kuvira, asked the Avatar to close the portal to keep the likes of Keum from exploiting it. Korra refused, stating her belief that keeping the portal open would ensure harmony between humans and spirits; the spirit said he could not force her to close the portal, but that he would hold her responsible for the portal's safety. When the spirit left, Keum tried to order everyone off his property, but Korra went into the Avatar State and demanding he leave, effectively scaring Keum away from the site. She was subsequently assured by Opal that she would not be alone in defending the portal, as the new Air Nation would be assisting her in that task.

Korra and Asami later arrived to the temporary evacuee camp, interrupting Zhu Li's speech to the airbenders and Kya. Warmly welcomed back by everyone, Korra asked Tenzin how things were in the city. Tenzin answered that, thanks to Zhu Li's efforts, they could regulate the relief efforts for the evacuees while President Raiko was being completely preoccupied with his presidential reelection campaign, at the expense of the evacuees. Korra noted that he had never been the most compassionate person toward, and was not surprised at Raiko's lack of action. When Kya interrupted, suggesting that Korra talk to the evacuees to boost their morale, Korra immediately agreed with her. She asked Asami if she wanted to accompany her while giving the speech to the evacuees; however, Asami said she preferred to stay at the tent helping Zhu Li with practical things. Taking offense at this, Korra retorted, but Asami told her that she felt people would want to see the Avatar, not her. Tenzin urged Korra on to meet the crowd and offered to join her.

As Korra and Tenzin walked through the camp, soon a huge crowd of evacuees quickly surrounded Korra as she apologized for their living conditions, offering them her service. Several evacuees made requests, making her nervous under the pressure. Tenzin joined her side and suggested they head back; however, Korra was not ready to go back without being able to help. She earthbent a podium, and begun holding a speech, using Tenzin's words about change's capability to be both good and bad toward the evacuees, and that she hoped that the changes brought by Kuvira's invasion would give them a chance to start anew, and promised she would work to get the evacuees new homes. Korra's speech was met with loud cheers from the crowd, and Tenzin and Korra returned to the tent where Asami had started to work on plans for new housing developments. Curious about what she had in mind, Korra joined her and suggested showing the plans to Raiko in order to get money from the city to realize the housing plans; Zhu Li agreed, saying she would set up a meeting for the trio and him.

Korra, Asami and Zhu Li met with Raiko at his campaign headquarters to ask him for funding, but Raiko turned the trio down, and told them that the city was broke. Zhu Li and Asami offered money from Varrick Industries and Future Industries respectively to start the project, upon which Raiko's campaign manager, Wenyan, interfered and attempted to convince Raiko to help, explaining to him that this would help his poor reelection ratings, resulting in Raiko's agreement to the plans. As they left, Korra paused to address the spirit portal, and suggested the government buy the land from Wonyong Keum, so they could turn it into a spirit sanctuary. Raiko rejected this idea, repeating that the city was broke and ordered them to leave, making Korra angry, but Asami lead her out of the room, and said that they would find another way to solve the issue.

Korra and Asami later arrived to Air Temple Island, and stood enjoying the sunset from the gazebo. Kya arrived and complimented the two, noting that they made a good couple, surprising Korra and Asami, as they had not told her about their relationship. She explained to couple that she had had her suspicions ever since Tenzin had told her the two of them had left for their vacation together, as it reminded her of the first romantic getaway she enjoyed with her first girlfriend. Korra told her that she had not known about Kya's romantic preferences, and Kya answered that she preferred to keep it private, and that only her friends and family knew. She asked the two if they had told anyone yet, and Asami answered that Korra's parents knew, although Korra promptly stated that they had seemed worried about the reaction of the rest of the world. Kya told them that it was Water Tribe tradition to keep family matters private, all though most families would not judge their children for coming out. Intrigued, Korra asked how Aang reacted when she came out to him and Kya fondly recalled that her father had been very supportive, she described to the new couple that the Air Nomads were very accepting, and that each nation had their own customs when it came to same-sex couples, and that their story was their own to made public when and if they desired to do so. Upon hearing that many nations were poorly receptive toward same sex-couples, Korra told the two that she felt worried she would never be able to enact change, but Asami told her that times were changing, and that people in Republic City were very accepting. The couple's conversation with Kya was interrupted when Bolin and Mako appeared. Kya left the four friends to themselves, though not before letting the young women know that she would be always there for them if they needed advice. Reunited, the four friends caught each other up their lives within the past few weeks, and the Korra and Asami debated whether to share the news of their relationship, before ultimately deciding to do so. However, the moment was cut short when Jinora's spiritual projection appeared, and she informed Team Avatar that the Triple Threats were attacking the airbenders at the spirit portal.

Team Avatar boarded on a flying bison, and flew to the spirit portal as fast as they could to the spirit portal. Mako told Korra and Asami that the Triple Threat Triads had a new leader, Tokuga, who he had been trying to unsuccessfully catch. As they approached the portal, Korra was ready to attack the triad members; but to her horror, spirits begun emerging from it, angered and ready to attack humans. Korra attempted to reason with the angry dragon eel spirit, and told the spirit that attacking humans would only make things worse. Her attempts to reason with the spirits were unsuccessful, and she flew alongside them on her glider attempting to stop them from attacking somebody. However, as she flew overhead, she saw that Asami had been knocked unconscious by some of the triad members, and immediately dropped and ran toward her girlfriend's defense. She fought off all of the attacking triad members, and held Asami in her arms. As she looked up, she saw the dragon eel spirit attacking Tokuga by flying through his body, to her dismay. As Asami awoke, Korra embraced her with a kiss, viewed by all of her allies in the fight. As the two stood up, they explained what they had been trying to tell Mako and Bolin was that they were a couple. Bolin was excited, and said he looked forward to double dates between him, Opal, and the new couple, and Jinora told the couple she thought the news was wonderful. Mako was shocked and froze, taking time to process the events. Letting his brother take the news in, Bolin wondered why the Triple Threat Triad had been near the portal in the first place. Korra, thinking back on the conflict with Wonyong, replied that she had a feeling who had sent them there.

The morning after the battle at the spirit portal, Korra and some of the airbenders flew to the Spirit World in an attempt to reassure the spirits that she was still on their side. Upon entering the Spirit World, however, the group was shocked to find the area surrounding the portal completely destroyed and empty of spirits. Korra was visibly upset by the destruction of the area she had shared with Asami, and Tenzin approached her informing that he knew the area was special to her, and congratulated her on her new relationship with Asami, saying that he was happy for them.

Looking at the destroyed land around the spirit portal, Jinora remarked that only the spirits were powerful enough to cause such destruction in their realm. When Kai asked why they would do so, Korra suggested that they had done so to warn humans to stay out of the Spirit World. Ikki reached forward touching one of the dead plants, and Korra attempted to stop, but was too late. Ikki's touch caused thorned vines to sprout from the ground and attack the airbenders. Korra held off the plants with her firebending, before the group managed to flee through the portal on Oogi. Upon their reappearance in Republic City, Korra and the others noticed General Iroh arriving with a detachment of the United Armed Forces to fortify the portal. Fearing that such a thing would anger the spirits further, Korra urged Iroh to withdraw his troops, but the general explained that President Raiko wanted the spirit portal locked down following last night's battle between the airbenders and the Triple

Threats, and that it was not his goal to upset the spirits. Upon hearing this, Tenzin requested that Iroh allow the Air Nation to keep watch over the portal, but Iroh replied that he had his orders, and suggested that if he and Korra wanted the United Forces to leave, they should take the matter up with Raiko.

Korra and Tenzin left to meet Raiko at the housing construction project being overseen by Asami and Zhu Li, where the president and Wenyan were attempting to curry favor with the evacuees. Upon seeing Korra arrive, Wenyan tried to tell her that Raiko was busy and that she should book an appointment if she wanted to speak to him, but Korra responded by bending a scrap of earth over his mouth and walking past him. She and Tenzin urged Raiko to pull back the United Forces from the spirit portal, but Raiko refused. When Korra tried to argue that his actions would cause another spirit crisis, and that this would drastically reduce his election chances, Raiko retorted that the situation had only happened because of Korra's creation of the spirit portal. Korra tried to defend herself on the basis that she had only done so accidentally, while trying to save the city from Kuvira's out of control spirit weapon, but Raiko pointed out that her actions had nevertheless left many people homeless. He then turned to the refugees, informing them of the vacation she had taken while they were trying to recover from what had happened, despite claiming to have their best interests at heart. Raiko continued that he was once again having to deal with the consequences of her recklessness and selfishness; these remarks bought swift condemnation from Tenzin and Asami, who pointed out that it was Korra's leadership and actions that had stopped Kuvira from taking over the United Republic. However, Korra sadly told them not to worry, and that they should leave.

As Korra, Asami, Tenzin and Zhu Li walked toward Asami's office on the construction site, they discussed the possibility of having Zhu Li run for president in the upcoming elections, Korra remarked that it would be good to have a president she could get along with. Tenzin and Zhu Li left to return to the refugee camp, while Korra followed Asami into her office. Inside, Korra told Asami about what had happened to the land around the spirit portal, and lamented about the current situation, feeling that nothing had changed since the couple got together. Asami responded by moving close to her and telling her that one thing had changed; while there would always be problems to deal with, the couple could overcome anything as long as they stuck together. Korra blushed and started trying to tell Asami something, but she grew too nervous and she left the office, saying that she knew Asami had a lot of work to get back to.

Korra paid another visit to Asami's office the next morning, noticing a number of security guards around who had not been there yesterday. When Korra asked about this, Asami revealed that last night she had been visited by Jargala Omo and the Creeping Crystal Triad, who had attempted to extort her. Furious, Korra offered to go and intimidate Jargala into leaving Asami alone, but Asami urged her to let her handle the situation herself. When Korra insisted that she wanted to help Asami, her girlfriend replied that she did not need it, prompting Korra to turn away with a cold look. Recognizing her girlfriend's anger at her perceived ingratitude, Asami clarified that she simply did not want Korra to have to act as the Avatar every time she had a problem; Korra replied that she was not protective because she was the Avatar, but because she cared about Asami more than anyone and could not bear the thought of anything happening to her. Asami assured her that nothing would happen, and the couple embraced each other.

After the emotional moment, Asami offered to take Korra on a date that evening, suggesting that they could dine at Fan's Dumplings and perhaps enjoy a ride in a turtle-duck boat afterward, with Korra happily accepting the offer. Asami failed to show up for the date, and after Korra was unable to contact her by phone, she suspected that something had happened to her date. Calling Mako and Bolin, the trio went to Asami's office, discovering that it had been attacked and that Asami was nowhere to be seen. Suspecting that the Creeping Crystals had kidnapped her, Korra led the two brothers in attacking the Creeping Crystals' hideout and confronting Jargala. The triad leader denied kidnapping Asami, and allowed the trio to search the hideout if they needed proof. After they failed to find Asami, Jargala ordered them to leave before she and her triad forced them to, with Korra leaving while replying that she would like to see them try.

The team got into Mako's Satomobile, and Mako revealed that Wonyong had also gone missing and hypothesized that he had been kidnapped by the Triple Threats due to Korra's hunch about business between the two. Korra guessed that the same thing had happened to Asami, but before they could investigate, Lin called them with the news that Tokuga and the Triple Threats were attacking a police depot containing the tanks, airships and mecha suits that had been taken after the Earth Empire's attempted invasion of Republic City. Traveling to the depot with the other two to stop the attack, Korra discovered that Tokuga had been mutated by the dragon eel spirit, disfiguring his face and turning his right arm into a tentacle and that the triad leader blamed her for what had happened to him. Korra explained that she had been trying to stop the spirit from attacking him, but Tokuga replied that she should have tried harder, and warned her that her actions would have consequences. He then revealed that he had kidnapped Wonyong, and forced the developer to work for him.

The members of Team Avatar tried to convince Tokuga to surrender, but Tokuga responded by noting they were missing a forth member, hinting that he had taken Asami. Enraged, Korra attacked him with a powerful airbending blast, demanding he reveal her location, but was briefly overpowered by the mutated triad leader, while Mako and Bolin were subdued by a pair of stolen mecha-suits soon afterward. After Tokuga demanded that they and the police stand down and allow him and the Triple Threats to leave, Korra stood up and entered the Avatar State, preparing to fight Tokuga and the Triple Threats. Tokuga replied that if she refused to comply with his demands, Asami would die, indicating a captured airship with a chained Asami being held at the point of a fire dagger by one of Tokuga's men. Unwilling to risk Asami's life, Korra exited the Avatar State and allowed the Triple Threats to leave, sadly whispering to herself that this was all her fault.

Tracking down Asami Sato

After discovering her girlfriend had been kidnapped by Tokuga, Korra joined the police force in tracking down the Triple Threat Triad. Korra stood on a rooftop with Bolin, Mako, and Lin Beifong and remarked frustratedly that the police had the Triple Threat Triad surrounded, and they should strike now. Lin told her they could not, as Tokuga was holding the civilians in nearby apartment buildings hostages, threatening their lives should the police make a move. Despondent, Korra asked if she should do nothing to help, and Lin came over to talk to Korra saying she had heard about the two, and that they would work to get Asami out of harms way. Korra said that the two had been through many rough situations together, but this time it felt different.

Shortly after, some police had news for Lin and she moved away from the group, leaving the three remaining members of Team Avatar standing on a rooftop, and Mako approached Korra. Korra asked if his arm was feeling any better, but he told her that he had been seeing Kya for treatments but was still unable to bend with it. Mako asked Korra how she was doing, and Korra responded that she was not holding up much better either. She continued that Tokuga's words about her actions having consequences had been on her mind, and she could not help but feel as though maybe if she had continued to protect Tokuga instead of rushing to save Asami the entire situation could have been avoided. Mako dismissed Korra's worries, saying that Tokuga had simply been trying to get into her head; he also said that he knew what Korra was going through, as he had felt a similar way when Korra had been kidnapped by Tarrlok three years prior, and added that he thought he knew a way to find Asami as long as he waited for Lin Beifong to leave.

Korra hugged Mako, and thanked him for being understanding. After exiting Korra's embrace, Mako said that he had been acting a little weird, because he had never had two of his exes date each other before, and it was taking a little time to adjust to. However, he said that he thought the two of them were perfect for each other and that he felt he was the most qualified person to say that.

Shortly after, the remainders of Team Avatar left in Mako and Bolin's cop car to an abandoned building Mako claimed the police had gotten reports of Creeping Crystal activity inside. Korra urged the group to go inside, as Mako clarified to Bolin that they were not here to take the triad down, but to ask them for help. Some of Jargala's men let Korra in, and Korra told Jargala she had realized who had truly taken Asami. Mako furthered that they wished to make a deal, and Korra asked Jargala if she knew of any secret passages throughout Republic City, and in exchange, she promised Jargala she would lead her to where Tokuga's hideout was. Jargala agreed to these terms, and led the trio through some of the old passages in Republic City.

Team Avatar and the Triple Threats immediately sprung into combat, as Korra used a large air gust to knock over several of the mecha suits watching over Asami and Wonyong Keum. Korra continued to fight off several of the Triple Threats in mecha suits but noticed that Tokuga, Asami, and Wonyong were escaping in an airship. Korra ran after them with Bolin and Mako, and called for Jargala to follow her, but the triad leader elected to stay behind instead. Bolin called for Korra to hop onto his motorcycle, but Korra said she had her own ride and created an air scooter she used to chase down Tokuga. She said she had a hunch he was going back to where all of this started and led the two brothers toward the spirit portal.

Korra rushed through the barricades that had been set up, and checked up on the airbenders who had been protesting the United Republic's military occupation. Korra told Tenzin she needed to borrow Oogi, and as Tenzin called after her to be careful, dismissed him saying that Tenzin had known she was never careful. Korra flew up on the bison heading toward Tokuga's airship. She landed on the ship and jumped inside, to see that the pilot's room had been filled with poisonous gas. Korra airbent a sphere of air around herself to help keep the gas away, and seeing Asami in danger, bent one around her as well. Korra offered to drive the airship, but Asami dismissed the suggestion due to her poor driving ability, and said she would fly as long as Korra distracted Tokuga. Korra agreed with Asami's analysis, saying that was probably for the best, only to be interrupted by Tokuga arriving and shattering the glass, allowing the poison gas to leak out of the ship.

Korra shouted to Asami, and Asami decided to land the ship in the Spirit World since the gas was not affecting Tokuga due to the fact he was half spirit, and assumed the poison gas would not affect spirits. Korra and Tokuga continued to fight, as Tokuga swatted at her with his tentacle arm and Korra kicked a gust of air at him; Korra moved from her attack and told him he was done terrorizing Republic City. However, Tokuga smirked and declared he had only just begun, as he chi blocked Korra, and left her without her bending. Just as he was about to land a fatal strike on Korra, Asami turned the airship, knocking both combatants off their feet, as she demanded that Tokuga keep his "slimy scales off her girlfriend". Tokuga was about to fall out of the shattered windows of the air ship, before he wrapped his tentacle around the window bars, saying that it would take more to get rid of him. Just then, Wonyong Keum appeared holding a hatchet, and cut Tokuga's tentacle arm leaving him to fall, and keeping Korra safe from his attack.

As soon as the ship hit the ground, Bolin, who had followed the ship into the spirit portal, ran over to make sure Korra was okay. She responded that she was, but that some of the Triple Threats were in pretty poor shape. Asami told Korra the landing was rougher than she would have liked, causing Korra to remark that the landing was better than anything she would have done, to which Asami jokingly agreed. Korra also told Asami that she was right, and that together the two could do anything, causing each other to embrace. As soon as the two women released their embrace, the dragon eel spirit came toward the two and accused them of bringing more trouble to the spirits' realm. The spirit claimed that as long as the portal was open, men like Keum would always attempt to exploit it. Korra started to agree, questioning her decisions in keeping the portal open, until Wonyong agreed to cease construction at the portal, saying that he owed his life to Korra and Asami and was willing to do whatever he could to help keep the peace. The dragon eel spirit and others returned to their normal forms, and told Korra they could accept this proposal, but that from now on the spirits would be keeping an eye on her and the rest of humanity. Bolin approached Korra and said that he could not find Tokuga, and that he had not been spotted leaving the portal or in the area surrounding the crash or his drop. Korra proposed that he would lie low for a while, but that he would be back eventually.

Three weeks later, Korra attended an event for Zhu Li's political campaign on the night of the announcements of the results. While there, she saw her parents and her father asked how Asami was doing. She remarked that she had thought he did not want to know, but that she understood because of the historic Water Tribe culture.

He remarked that he did care, and knew that their culture could be somewhat stifling, but that she and Asami had his support no matter what. Korra thanked her dad, and approached Asami, asking to talk. Asami asked if it could wait one minute, because they were about to announce the election results. Shiro Shinobi announced that Zhu Li had won in a landslide victory, and invited her to the stage to make an acceptance speech. As Zhu Li begun speaking, Korra and Asami stood next to each other. As Zhu Li neared the end of her speech and begun to quote Avatar Aang, Korra invited Asami to follow her out onto the balcony, where the two held hands and embraced, and Korra told Asami that she loved her, and Asami responded in turn that she loved Korra too.

Gaoling crisis

Three months after her defeat of Kuvira, Korra attended a speech of Wu's alongside Zhu Li, Varrick and the other members of Team Avatar, in which Wu, now the king of the Earth Kingdom announced the impending democratic elections taking place in Gaoling. She later watched as Kuvira was bought before a tribunal to answer for her crimes as ruler of the Earth Empire, and witnessed the argument between Kuvira and Suyin after the tribunal session was over.

After Kuvira's trial, Korra and the rest of Team Avatar met with Zhu Li and Wu in Zhu Li's office, where she learned that Commander Guan, the leader of a small army of Earth Empire holdouts, was supposedly planning to disrupt the elections in Gaoling. She agreed to Zhu Li's suggestion that she go with Wu as a symbol of balance and peace, with the rest of Team Avatar joining her. As she and Asami left Zhu Li's office, Korra suggested that the two of them talk to Kuvira and ask her about Guan, but after learning that Asami did not want to be in the same room as the woman who killed her father, Korra agreed to meet with Kuvira on her own.

Travelling to Kuvira's prison, Korra informed her former enemy about Guan, and asked the other woman how she would handle him if she were in Korra's position. Kuvira offered to come and talk Guan into surrendering, but Korra refused and left the prison, claiming that she could handle Guan without Kuvira's help, despite Kuvira warning otherwise.

Korra later learned from Wu and Zhu Li that Guan's army was on the move while meeting up with them and the rest of Team Avatar in a sauna (Wu not wanting to delay informing the others or miss his morning steam bath). As the others discussed what to do, Korra informed them of her meeting with Kuvira and suggested they take her offer, much to the shock of Asami and the skepticism of the others, all of whom had their own grievances with Kuvira. Accepting that Kuvira had wronged them all, Korra nevertheless reminded the others that she had once been the captain of Zaofu's security force and an ally against the Red Lotus, and admitted feeling indebted toward her after she saved Tonraq's life. When Asami argued that they could not be certain of Kuvira's trustworthiness, Korra replied that being blasted into the Spirit World had served as a wake-up call for her. She further added that, having visited Kuvira in her prison, she got the impression that Kuvira was a broken woman who genuinely wanted to redeem herself, and that she (Korra) wanted to give her a chance to do so. Asami asked if Korra truly thought that bringing Kuvira along would work, and after Korra replied that she did, Asami and the others agreed to follow her plan.

After Zhu Li signed papers for Kuvira's temporary release, Korra traveled to the prison and took Kuvira into her custody, before leading her onto the Future Industries airship where Wu and the rest of Team Avatar waited. When the other woman tried to convince her to be less formal now that the two of them were partners, Korra replied that although they were working together, they had no such bond, and that she would not hesitate to take Kuvira down if she attacked her friends or stepped out of line. Korra later convinced Asami to not lock Kuvira inside a platinum cell for the journey to Gaoling, assuring her girlfriend that she would do so herself if Kuvira made a wrong move, though Asami insisted that she would not take her eyes off Kuvira.

Once at Gaoling, Korra backed Kuvira up when the latter suggested she be allowed to go unshackled and change into some smarter clothes, fearing that Guan would refuse to meet with them if Kuvira looked like a prisoner. Leaving Kuvira to get changed, Korra left with Wu and Naga to meet with Mayor Rhee at the Gaoling City Hall, where the voting for the elections would take place. To her dismay, she learned that the only two candidates in the election were a pair of elderly chief magistrates, Ling and Bak. Though Rhee assured her that either of the two would make a fine governor, an unimpressed Korra remarked that she did not know how the voters would be able to decide between them, and left with Wu.

Talking with Wu afterward, Korra correctly guessed that he had not been anticipating candidates like Ling and Bak when he planned to have the states elect their leaders, with the king admitting that he had hoped the process would bring in new political leadership, rather than keep the Earth Kingdom's outdated bureaucracy alive. Korra tried to assure him that the first election would not be perfect, and that it had taken the United Republic a long time to sort itself out politically, but Wu replied that there would be no point to the elections if all of the candidates were like Ling and Bak, as things would not change no matter who won.

At that moment, their conversation would be interrupted by the arrival of Guan and his army at the city hall. Korra radioed her friends about this and told them to bring Kuvira over, before walking down to confront Guan, informing him that the Earth Empire had disbanded and that she was there to ensure the surrender of him and his troops. Guan replied that he had other plans, to which Korra, having anticipated such a response, revealed that she had bought over Kuvira, much to the commander's shock. Korra watched as Kuvira tried to convince Guan to abandon his plans, before the negotiations failed and Kuvira attacked her former commander with her bending. As a battle with Guan's troops threatened to break out, Korra demanded that Kuvira stand down, only for Kuvira to suddenly be electrocuted into unconsciousness with a remotely triggered electrode belt Asami had given her, in anticipation of such an incident. After thanking Asami and having Kuvira taken back to the airship, Korra warned Guan that she would not let him interfere with the election in Gaoling, with Guan revealing that he planned to participate in the election and have Earth Empire supporters elected in other states, thereby legally restoring the Earth Empire to power. He and his army then left, Korra watching them go with a look of surprise.

Korra, and the rest of her group then returned to the airship where, true to her word, Korra had Kuvira locked up in the platinum cell to prevent any more ill-advised actions on her part. When Kuvira woke up, Korra revealed Guan's plan to restore the Earth Empire through politics to her, and listened as the others discussed what to do. After Asami asked if they should hope for the victory of a candidate other than Guan, Korra replied that such a prospect was unlikely, having seen the uninspiring Ling and Bak for herself. When Kuvira suggested that they field a candidate more popular than Guan, an optimistic Korra proposed that they go with Toph, claiming that she was the perfect person due to her reputation and her dislike of the Earth Empire, along with Gaoling being her hometown and the "unique" governing style she would bring. Bolin warned that Toph was not keen to get involved in world affairs the last time he met her, but Korra refused to lose hope, claiming they would just have to convince her otherwise.

Leaving the others to take Kuvira to Zaofu, where she would be imprisoned until the election was over, Korra and Wu left for the Foggy Swamp on Naga to recruit Toph, Korra sharing a kiss with Asami before her departure. The trio headed into the swamp, whereupon Korra used energybending to get a reading on Toph's location through the vines of the Banyan Grove tree. Once she had done so, she discovered Wu cowering in fear, later learning that he had had a vision of Hou-Ting criticizing him for his decision to implement democracy in his kingdom, the deceased queen claiming that people preferred safety and stability as opposed to change and progress.

Arriving at Toph's cave, Korra initially had to find her, the old earthbender having hidden herself in the cave walls with her bending. Once Korra had done so, she tried to convince Toph to stand for election, only for Toph to initially refuse despite her disdain for Guan, due to her dislike of politics and misanthropic nature, as well as the fact that she had not enjoyed growing up in Gaoling. Hearing her refusal, Wu stood up to leave, believing that Hou-Ting might have been right. Hearing this gave Korra an idea, and she whispered into Wu's ear that he should ignore the vision he had experienced. Toph became agitated upon learning of this, believing that ignoring the wisdom offered by the swamp was terrible advice, and had Wu tell her of his vision. Korra recalled how Toph had once told her that the swamp would teach one what they needed to learn, if they were willing to listen, convincing Toph to run, albeit reluctantly.

The four of them returned to Gaoling City Hall the next day, where they discovered that Guan had somehow acquired a large number of supporters from among the public, meaning that Toph's victory in the election was no longer guaranteed. After registering Toph as a candidate, Korra and the others set off to return to the airship.

While riding Naga back to the airship, Korra found a disguised Kuvira driving toward them in a jeep. Seeing her free and dressed in an Earth Empire uniform, Korra threatened her with firebending and did not believe her when Kuvira told her that Mako, Asami and Bolin had been brainwashed, until Toph stepped in and verified that Kuvira was telling the truth. Korra was worried about the safety of her friends, and expressed uncertainty when Wu proposed calling off the election to stop Guan from being elected. When Kuvira told the group not to head back to city hall, as Guan would stop them, the group spotted a Metal Clan airship in the distance, Kuvira explaining that she radioed Suyin.

As the others greeted Suyin, Opal, Wei and Wing, Korra told her party that she would not leave without the rest of Team Avatar as Guan's forces encroached on the airship. With Asami, Mako, and Bolin on the front lines, Korra tried to reason with her girlfriend, but she kept advancing. She tried to capture her brainwashed friends by working with Opal to stun them with airbending and having Suyin, Wei and Wing snag them with metal cables, but Guan snapped them and Asami tried to attack Korra with her electric glove. Korra apologized to Asami as she encased her in earth cuffs, and tried to recover Mako and Bolin before seeing them try and destroy the earth wall that Toph, Su and Kuvira had bent. Korra ordered Kuvira to bring Asami to the ship, and they quickly left with a brainwashed Asami, but having lost Wu to Guan's soldiers and Mako and Bolin still in his army.

Upon the group's arrival in Zaofu, Korra escorted Asami inside the Beifong estate and released her from her platinum pod, her brainwashed girlfriend temporarily confined to Suyin's residence. After Baatar Jr. angrily confronted Kuvira and left for his room, Korra knocked on his door, telling him she understood why he did not want to help Kuvira, but hoping she would help her, adding that the future of the Earth Kingdom depended on it. Baatar Jr. opened his door and invited her in.

Korra joined Suyin's family for a meal, informing Kuvira that Baatar Jr. had agreed to temporarily put aside his anger toward her for the greater good, and that he still felt guilty for everything he did when he was part of the Earth Empire. Kuvira was delighted about his offer to help, but Korra clarified that Baatar Jr. never wanted to see his ex-fiancée again after they recreated the brainwashing device. As Korra watched Kuvira and the Beifongs discuss the political situation in Gaoling, Baatar Jr. entered the room, asking Kuvira to get started on the project.

In the evening, Korra visited Asami in her quarters, telling her that Baatar Jr. and Kuvira had been working all day, and that the nightmare would be over soon. As she reached out to comfort her girlfriend, the other woman angrily swatted her hand away, demanding not to be touched. At that moment, Suyin knocked on the door, informing Korra that Baatar Jr. was ready to begin the process.

Korra was present throughout Baatar Jr. and Kuvira's attempts to undo the brainwashing, but despite Kuvira reading statements to Asami under many different settings, Asami still affirmed her loyalty to Guan. Eventually, Baatar Jr. and Kuvira considered testing the process on a subject who had not been brainwashed. Korra immediately volunteered to be the subject so she could help Asami, but Baatar Jr. cautioned her, noting that the process could cause memory loss and that he would not be responsible for the Avatar's mind getting scrambled. Kuvira then volunteered to be the test subject, noting that it was her responsibility to clean up the messes of the Earth Empire and Guan.

Baatar Jr. confirmed that he had the results he needed from Kuvira, and the next time they attempted the process, Asami's brainwashing was undone. Korra comforted her, with Asami stating that she remembered nothing about when she was brainwashed. The Avatar embraced her girlfriend, but then, Opal, Wei and Wing entered, telling the group to turn on the radio, as Guan had just won the election.

Korra proceeded to call Zhu Li and inform her about the situation. The president confirmed that she had just heard about the election, asking what happened, and why Wu moved up the date of the election. Korra told her that Guan developed new brainwashing technology and used it on Wu, along with many others. Zhu Li was shocked, but Korra told her that Baatar Jr. had successfully found out how to counteract the brainwashing, and asked the president for backup to face Guan. Zhu Li denied Korra, telling her that there might be even more chaos if word should get out that the Earth King had been compromised. She told Korra that she would speak with Su and other world leaders about their options, and ordered for Kuvira to be brought back to Republic City, having proven herself as more of a hindrance than a help.

Korra changed into her pyjamas in a bedroom shared with Asami, and the Avatar asked if her girlfriend was coming to bed as the other woman contemplated by a window. Asami confessed that she could not get over what happened, with it being so strange to not remember entire days of her life. She asked if she said or did anything she may have regretted, but Korra told her that it did not matter, as it had not been her talking. Though Asami was still uncertain, Korra embraced her and told her to put it all behind them. Asami accepted, and the couple headed to bed, but were interrupted by a knock at the door, Suyin entering. Korra asked how her meeting with President Moon went, but Su immediately alerted her that Kuvira had escaped.

When Korra, Asami and Su walked outside the estate, the nonbender raised that Kuvira must have just been waiting for the right moment to escape. Korra disagreed, telling Asami that it was thanks to Kuvira she was free, having warned Korra about Guan's brainwashing in Gaoling and volunteering to be tested on, much to Asami's surprise. Su asked Korra if she had any idea where Kuvira may be heading, and she speculated that she was returning to Gaoling.

Korra headed to Gaoling on Juicy alongside Asami, Suyin, Toph and Opal. When Su spotted Kuvira being attacked by Mako and Bolin at the reeducation camp, Korra stunned the brothers with airbending. At the end of the fight, Kuvira managed to force Guan into surrender, with the entire Earth Empire finally standing down.

Korra read aloud commands to reverse-engineer Mako, Bolin and Wu's brainwashing, she and Asami happily looking on as their friends were freed. She later joined Rhee, Wu, and Kuvira in Gaoling City Hall, where the mayor congratulated her on freeing the state's citizens from Guan's control. Korra told the mayor that he ought to thank Kuvira for taking matters into her own hands, but told her that she was not off the hook, and that she had her orders to take her back to Republic City, which the metalbender accepted. Korra later gathered outside Gaoling City Hall when Wu gave his speech proclaiming that the Earth Empire would need more time to move to democracy, with each state setting its own timetable according to its citizens' wishes.

After Team Avatar returned to Republic City, Korra attended the end of Kuvira's trial, and saw the metalbender take responsibility for her actions by pleading guilty. As White Lotus sentries escorted Kuvira out, Korra told her that she respected her for everything she said in the courtroom, and believed that Kuvira had redeemed herself.

Legacy

By 174 AG, Republic City Park had been renamed Avatar Korra Park in commemoration of Korra's acts of heroism and a statue of her was erected there as well.

We watched all 52 episodes and they were so awesome!

When it was done we cheered wildly.

Me: That is so cool!

Katara: It sure is. I'm glad that Korra is the next Avatar.

Lincoln: What year is The Legend of Korra set in.

Me: It said it was set 70 years after the Great War ended.

Zuko: So it takes place in the future.

Nico: It sure does. I think this is so cool that Korra is capable of doing all that.

Laney: It sure is. I like the part where Korra and Asami went into the Spirit Realm together.

Luna: Me too Lanes.

Sam S.L.: And I strongly support her and Korra's relationship.

Me: I do too Sam.

Simon: I support it too.

Azula: It is a really admirable adventure that Korra was on.

Eion: It sure was.

Hunter: (German Accent) Ja. Und it would be so cool to meet Korra and her friends.

Me: Team Avatar of the 100 Year War and Team Avatar of the Korra Alliance. But it is good that the Airbenders are fully back.

Aang: It sure is.

Katara: Yeah.

Lincoln: I'm guessing we're going to face one of Korra's enemies.

Me: Yep. His name is Amon.

I pulled up Amon's information and history.

Amon

Amon, born as Noatak, was the main antagonist in the first season of The Legend Of Korra. He is the charismatic and mysterious leader of the anti-bending terrorist organization known as the Equalists, whose ultimate goal is allegedly to create equality by ridding the world of bending and is Korra's first archenemy. A nimble and stealthy fighter, Amon was fearless in facing his opponents, regardless of their bending skills. In reality, Amon was a Bloodbender the son of the notorious crime lord Yakone who was hellbent on destroying the Avatar and conquering Republic City, unkowingly following his father's legacy.

Amon was born as Noatak to the former notorious crime boss, Yakone, along with his younger brother, Tarrlok. The two brothers remained happy during their younger years unaware of their father's true identity, until they both realized their waterbending abilities, prompting Yakone to display a harsher personality towards the two, particularly Tarrlok. Noatak would regularly defend his brother against his father whenever he lashed out on Tarrlok. Eventually, they were both taught to bloodbend, when Yakone revealed his criminal life to them, declaring that they would avenge him and become bloodbenders of the highest order.

Noatak used his profound abilities to perform extraordinary feats, such as manipulating an entire pack of wolves. Unfortunately, he carried the burdens of his father's expectations and eventually became cold and detached. Tarrlok, however, was more often opposed to the idea of bloodbending and found it to be cruel and sinister in nature. Yakone later forced the two to bloodbend each other, and while Noatak showed little restraint in doing so, despite his brother's agonizing screams, he defended Tarrlok when Yakone lashed out on him for refusing to do the same. Noatak then bloodbent his father, and declared that bloodbending was not the most powerful weapon, but that the Avatar was and reminded his father that the Avatar had removed his bending through energybending. He then ran away, despite Tarrlok's pleas, and lead a life of his own, blaming bending for all the events that had caused his life such trauma. Yakone and Tarrlok believed that Noatak died in the harsh tundra of the North Pole.

At one point, Noatak discovered that Bloodbending could be used to permanently block a person's chi-paths which leaves them unable to use Bending, effectively replicating the Avatar's use of Energy Bending to remove a Bender's power. Using this technique, he claimed the alias of Amon and began an anti-bending revolution within Republic City through the organization known as the Equalists. Amon fabricated a fake backstory for himself and dyed a fake scar over his face as a means to justify his use of a mask. Over time the Equalist movement grew in power as most non-Benders in Republic City lived in poverty and were frequently extorted by criminal gangs ran by Benders, which Amon took advantage of to gain more supporters.

Republic City

When Korra announced her official relocation to Republic City during a press conference at the City Hall, Amon heard her responding to questions through the radio. When his second-in-command inquired him about how he was going to handle Korra's arrival, Amon replied that since the Avatar had arrived early, they would have to "accelerate" their plans.

During an event he held known as "The Revelation", Amon claimed he was born on a small farm to a family of non-benders. The family was then apparently harassed by a firebender. When Amon's father confronted the supposed assailant, the firebender ruthlessly murdered his family and severely deformed Amon's face, prompting him to wear a mask to conceal his facial scars. Amon then claimed that the spirits determined the Avatar to be a failure and blamed every war in history on Bending thus they granted him the power to remove people's Bending in order to bring a new balance to the world. He set forth a demonstration to remove Lightning Bolt Zolt's bending, though allowed him to fight for it. Amon was successful, and removed his bending in the presence of his followers, along with Korra and Mako, who had infiltrated the event.

He later defeated more benders, including Shady Shin. However, before he could remove Bolin's bending, Korra let out a steam screen into the room, allowing Bolin to escape with his brother, Mako. As the brothers and Korra later escaped, Amon elected to leave them be, so he could allow word of his power to spread. Amon had made a severe impression on Korra, as she was plagued by nightmares of him taking away her bending.

Once he heard that the United Republic Council had proclaimed him public enemy number one, he spread a message over the radio to his fellow Equalists, using the actions of the council as proof of the oppressing nature of benders. However, he declared that their goals would not be stopped from this problem. After Councilman Tarrlok and Avatar Korra successfully executed a raid on an Equalist training facility in the Dragon Flats district, he was publicly challenged by Korra to a midnight duel on Aang Memorial Island with the condition that the island would be exempt of the task force and chi blockers. Amon didn't show up on time, nor did he come alone. As Korra was on her way to leave the island, many Equalists reeled in Korra inside the island's museum. There, Amon emerged from the shadows and revealed to her that he got her message. Amon told Korra that their showdown is inevitable but is premature at that moment, declaring that rather than taking her bending, he told would "save [her] for last", but would nonetheless "destroy [her]". He then knocked out her and let her retain her bending.

On the eve of the Pro-bending championship match, Amon demanded that the council shut down the Pro-bending Arena and put an end to the tournament, threatening that there would be "severe consequences" if they did not. The council voted to keep the arena open, which Amon revealed to be in line with his plans for the situation. He invaded the arena after the Wolfbats won by cheating and called out Republic City and stripped Tahno of his bending. After making a speech to the audience and partially destroying the arena, Amon airlifted out of the arena, narrowly escaping Korra's attacks.

Several days later, Amon, accomponied by several Equalists, appeared to Tarrlok in his hideout deep within the surrounding woodland of Republic City. Despite Tarrlok's unique bloodbending skills, Amon was minimally affected by the bending, taking a momentary pause to regain control, and was eventually able to counteract his bending completely. Tarrlok, confused that his bloodbending had been deflected, was then swiftly subdued by Amon and had his bending removed, paralyzing him for a period of time. At that moment, Tarrlok noticed that Amon's Bending removal process felt identical to that of Noatak's Bloodbending, making him realize that Amon was actually his long lost brother in disguise. Aware that Tarrlok figured out his identity, Amon held his brother in a solitary prison.

After the United Forces battle fleet arrived during the battle for Republic City, Amon's forces engaged them with a surprise attack, with an aerial assault led by Hiroshi Sato destroying the fleet after it ran into a minefield. Later on, when Korra and Mako infiltrated Air Temple Island to locate Amon, they instead found Tarrlok's private prison. Tarrlok proceeded to tell the two about Noatak's backstory and how he was actually using Bloodbending to remove a person's bending. With that knowledge, Korra and Mako vowed to expose Amon as a fraud during the victory rally.

When Korra challenged Amon's story of his past at the rally in the pro-bending arena and claimed that he's a waterbender, Amon revealed his face to the crowd, showing what appeared to be a firebending scar stretching across his face, thus making Korra look like she was lying. As Amon turned his attention to Tenzin and his children to "wipe out Airbending," Mako shot lightning at the stage, allowing Korra time to free Tenzin and his family. Amon, his Lieutenant, and several other chi blockers attempted to fight back but were all blown off the stage by Mako and Tenzin.

Amon pursued and eventually found Korra, subduing her with bloodbending. When Mako arrived to help, he too was stopped by Amon's bloodbending. With the Avatar and her friend helpless, Amon took away Korra's bending. This action was witnessed by the Lieutenant, who, after seeing Amon use bloodbending, denounced him as a traitor and attempted to attack, although Amon was able to stop him easily with his bloodbending power and hurled him through the air.

The distraction, however, allowed Mako to struggle into position and blast Amon with lightning, buying time for him and Korra to escape. Amon caught up with them and again used his bloodbending to stop them. He prepared to take away Mako's bending, musing over the fact that no one else had been able to resist him so, and that it was almost a shame to take bending away from one so talented. Korra, however, seeing Mako in danger suddenly unlocked her airbending and used it to to knock Amon away from Mako. As she unleashed a barrage of air attacks upon him, Amon attempted to fight back with bloodbending, but the narrow corridor allowed Korra to keep on attacking and blast him out a window into the harbor below.

Defeat and death

A crowd of Amon's followers witnessed him fall into the ocean and soon after saw his mask rise from the water, they denounced Korra as a tyrant believing she had just killed Amon. Amon, about to drown, arose from the sea on a giant column of water out of instinct, unaware that his followers witnessed him Waterbending and that this fake scar was washed away by the ocean thus confirming the Avatar's accusations of him being a fraud. Realizing that he had lost everything, Amon dodged Mako's blasts of fire and fled, deciding to reconcile with Tarrlok and start over. They escaped out to sea on an Equalist speedboat. Amon, now going by his true name, happily spoke of how there was nothing they could not do together, and shed a tear. Tarrlok, however, used an Equalist glove to ignite the fuel tank, causing the boat to explode, killing them both and putting an end to Yakone's vengeance plans for good. Over the course of the next 6 months Korra used Energybending to cure all of Amon's victims.

Legacy

Amon returned in Book 3 as one of Korra's hallucinations when the Red Lotus administered mercury poison into her body. During this visage, Zaheer 's face slowly crumbled, revealing Amon's mask, telling her the world didn't need her anymore.

Toph's Opinion

Amon was mentioned by Toph, when she explained to Korra that even through Amon fought for the wrong side, his intentions of wanting equality for all was a reasonable motive. After the Anti-Bending Revolution, Republic City abolished its un-elected United Republic Council, because of it's unfairness among non-benders. Instead Republic City had a democratically elected president that gave non-benders a voice above benders and finally equalizing non-benders and benders.

The Equalists

The Equalists are a revolutionary and terrorist organization in the animated series The Legend of Korra serving as the main antagonistic force of Season 1/Book 1: Air and Video game with same name. They are directed against the art of bending and as a direct result, against benders themselves. They serve as one of the main conflicts in the series.

The Equalists utilize chi blocking as a means to counteract bending and its advantages. They also utilize long-range weapons, which they use to tie together and hold down the arms and legs of their enemies, similar to a meteor hammer. Other tools and equipment that the Equalists use include smoke grenades, motorcycles, electrified gauntlets, and mechanical suits.

They were lead by the masked revolutionary, Amon, whose main goal was to ultimately rid the world of bending. Through difficult training, the chi-blocking Equalists were skilled enough to defeat both Korra and Mako in combat, avoiding their bending strikes and successfully subduing both expert benders. They also share the same belief and intentions as that of their leader.

However, after Amon was exposed as a waterbender and a bloodbender, the Equalist lost their belief in "equality". It's implied that Amon's true goal wasn't equality for non-benders, but rather conquering Republic City.

In order to fulfill their goal, the leader, Amon, decided to accelerate the plans after the early arrival of the Avatar to the city, a reason why an Equalist assembly called "The Revelation" was scheduled to be carried out. For this purpose, they kidnapped some Triple Threat Triad members and Bolin. Mako and Korra witnessed the Equalist ride away in a truck with their hostages. The duo gave chase on Naga, and the Equalists were forced to evade some firebending and earthbending attacking. Eventually, two Equalists on motorcycles, stayed behind to face their pursuers. With a well-aimed throw, one Equalist fighter tripped the polar bear dog by tying her legs together with a rope. As the animal's riders were thrown free, the two Equalists prepared for a hand-to-hand combat with the two benders. With their superior agility, the two Equalist fighters were able to immobilize Korra and Mako with chi blocking, but they retreated when Naga untangled herself and came to the rescue of her friends.

Later, at the rally, Amon gave a speech, telling the audience about his life story and his motivation to lead the revolution. He blamed the benders of the world to be the cause of every war that has ever been and showcased his plans for all the benders in the world on the prisoners by demonstrating an ability the spirits had granted him, the ability to take away a person's bending permanently. Unknown to the attendees at the time, however, Korra and Mako had infiltrated the rally, and just before Amon could remove Bolin's bending, Korra released vast amounts of steam from the water boilers, creating enough of a distraction and cover for Mako to overpower an Equalist fighter, grab Bolin and get out before anyone could react.

Amon's second-in-command, the Lieutenant, defeated the two brothers rather easily with his electrified kali sticks while they were trying to escape, however, Korra arrived and earthbent him into a wall before he could do more damage. As the trio escaped on Naga, the Equalists wanted to give chase, but Amon gave the order to let them go, stating that the Avatar was the best person to spread the word of his power.

The Equalists and their leader has made a profound impression on the Avatar, as Korra had nightmares about being attacked by them after witnessing their skill at the rally. When Korra later aided a special task force led by Councilmen Tarrlok to raid a secret underground training facility in the Dragon Flats district, an Equalist ambushed her when she was in pursuit of two trainees. However, Korra managed to evade his attack and immobilize him by bending a rock straight into his stomach. A second Equalist member was frozen to the wall when Tarrlok came to Korra's rescue. The raid resulted in the defeat and capture of four Equalist members.

At the ensuing press conference, Korra challenged Amon to a duel on Aang Memorial Island at midnight, without the presence of the task force or the chi blockers. However, Amon didn't hold up on his end of the deal, and as Korra was heading home, believing he didn't turn up, several Equalists engaged in a fight with the Avatar and quickly overpowered and immobilized her. It was only then that Amon emerged from the shadows and explained part of his plan to eradicate all benders. Knocking Korra out cold, but without doing further damage, the Equalists left her in the island's museum.

Amon later demanded a shutdown of the pro-bending arena via radio, prompting the Council to abide and cancel the championship tournament in order to avoid conflict. However, Chief Lin Beifong arrived, offering the arena extra security during the match, which the Council agreed to. The Equalists somehow managed to enter the arena, regardless, disguised as arena spectators. After the match, they sprang into action, having hidden electrified gauntlets in their various belongings, and began using them on numerous spectators, including the police sent to secure the arena. Amon and several Equalists quickly evaded and subdued the White Falls Wolfbats (who were still present on the playing field), while the Fire Ferrets (Korra, Mako, and Bolin) were seized by the Lieutenant and tied together. The Wolfbats were then flung into the surrounding water after having their bending removed. Amon then gave a speech to the arena's audience, declaring war on all benders, while several Equalists used the gauntlets to keep the spectators in place.

Advocates

Advocates of the Equalist revolt have seized Republic City in the thousands. This is particularly noticeable when Korra first enters Republic City and later when she and Mako infiltrate The Revelation lead by Amon, where thousands of anti-benders are seen gathering to hear Amon's speech, much to the surprise of Mako.

The first sign of anti-bending propaganda appears with a man who was attempting to persuade passersby in a park in Republic City to join Amon in his Equalist revolt, when Avatar Korra and her polar bear dog, Naga, passed by as well. She challenged his bold remarks about bending being "tyrannical" and that those who practiced it forced the non-benders of the city to become "lower-class citizens, because of which the protester focused his attention on her. Quickly singling her out to be a bender herself, he used Korra's hotheaded attitude to his advantage, and gained the support of the passersby when he alleged that benders like her "only use their power to oppress [non-benders]". Unable to come up with a better response to refute these accusations, Korra claimed that he was "oppressing [himself]", a statement that didn't make sense according to the man, and rode away under loud protest of the crowd.

He later encountered Korra a second time, this time with Mako by her side. When he announced an event regarding a revelation, Korra forced him to reveal when and where it was.

Rising threat of Equalist revolution

When Amon got his chance to rise to power, he, together with his rank-and-file of Equalists, orchestrated a revolt against all benders alike. They fought benders with chi blocking to counter-act bending and held resentment towards the current Avatar, Korra. The Equalists' main revolt was in Republic City, a large metropolis populated with people from all four nations.

Eventually, when the news of Amon's ability to remove bending surfaced in the city, Councilman Tarrlok set up a task force in order to combat the Equalist threat. After recruiting Avatar Korra to the team, the force raided a chi blocking training school, defeating and capturing all the Equalists there and sent them to jail.

Fall of Republic City

The next day after Tarrlok was captured by the Equalists, an emergency meeting was to be held and was orchestrated by councilman Tenzin. On the eve of the meeting, however, the Equalists sent in their operatives who infiltrated Republic City and eventually found and captured almost all members of the United Republic Council except for Tenzin, leaving him as the sole leader of both Republic City and the United Republic as a whole. Short afterward, the Equalists launched their attack and began their assault in Republic City, bombing various buildings and sending in ground troops supported by Mecha-Tanks. As a result of the bombardments from their airships and their army, the Metalbending police was unable to protect the city and was eventually overrun and defeated.

During the invasion, an airship was sent to Air Temple Island and began assaulting the island and the air temple where Tenzin and his family resided their as well as Avatar Korra. Since Tenzin and his family were the last known air benders still alive at the time, the island held great significance and was invaded. Despite the best efforts of Lyn Beifong and the White Lotus Sentries, Air Temple

Island had fallen and was used by Amon as his own personal base of operations. Tarrlok was imprisoned there and Republic City had fallen to the Equalists. Prior to the fall of the city, however, Tenzin managed to contact the United Forces, the armed forces of the United Republic of Nations, and they sent in a naval division lead by General Iroh to retake the city. The division, however, was attacked and bombed to ruins by Equalist biplanes lead by Hiroshi Sato and they wiped out the fleet, killing many of the crew members, and capturing General Iroh, leaving Republic City in Equalist hands once again.

Equalist Victory Rally

Following their victory over the United Republic and by extensions benders, the Equalists had begun to celebrate their victory as they've conquered the capital of the United Republic and were preparing for the next counter-attack. To celebrate, Amon and the Equalists held a victory rally at the Pro-Bending Arena and all known members of the movement and their supporters had gathered inside the arena to celebrate. The rally was protected by Mecha-Tanks and other Equalist troops while the arena was decorated with Equalist banners both inside and out. On the eve of the rally, Korra and Mako managed to steal Equalist uniforms and sneak onto Air Temple Island where they found out about the rally as well as where Tarrlok was imprisoned at and that Amon himself is actually his brother, Noatak, and is actually a bloodbender. Korra and Mako went to the arena and infiltrated the rally where they saw Amon take center stage and give a speech about his life and the victory he and his fellow Equalists had over the oppressive benders of the world. Korra however, revealed herself and interrupted Amon's speech where she revealed the information about Amon being a bloodbender as revealed by Tarrlok in an attempt to discredit him.

Amon however, took off his mask and revealed a large scar on his face as evidence that he's correct. Korra was taken by surprise but was later interrupted when she saw Tenzin and his family captured and ready to have their bending taken away as part of the revolution. Korra and Mako intervened however and saved the remaining airbenders. Amon and Korra fought across the stadium and when they were left alone, Amon used his bloodbending revealing that Tarrlok was right all along. Mako and Korra fought Amon where the latter took away the former's bending and supposedly eliminate the Avatar for good, but she had mastered airbending and threw Amon out the window. His followers saw his mask and thought that he was dead, but he used waterbending to fly up to the surface and his scar wore off as it was really makeup. With the truth out, Noatak fled and freed his brother where the two of them fled to start a new life, but Tarrlok ended up electrocuting the engine of the speedboat they were in, killing both of them in the process.

Hundun's arrival and revenge

After Amon's true identity was exposed, most members ended up returning to their former lives while some more radical members refused to and continued the equalist plan of bringing equality to the world through the elimination of bending despite the revelation of Amon's true identity. All remaining equalists now occupied abandoned quarters. After a year of Equalist Revolution and few weeks after Unalaq Crisis a mysterious man named Hundun bribes remaining Equalists to get revenge on Korra for bringing "Inequality" to the world since Unalaq Crisis.

For most of the rest of game have Korra and Naga fight with this group again with Triple Raid Triad that Hundun. Until end that they back out as Hundun was purified from Korra's Waterbending. This is seemly the very last time we see this group afterward.

Aftermath and Legacy

The Equalists never appear again after their second defeat at the hands of Avatar Korra, but it's implied that they're still alive and remaining members remain active throughout Republic City. After the Spirit wilds had re-emerged, the remnants of the Equalists fled into the forests and used it as their new base where they remain in hiding attempting to rebuild and continue their quest for equality despite Amon's revelations. While damage had been done to Republic City, the Equalists were not completely forgotten as their goals of equality were actually achieved, but in a different way. The United Republic Council had been dissolved in the aftermath of the Anti-Bending Revolution and was instead replaced by the office of the President who was democratically elected by the people. Raiko became the first president of the United Republic and since he was a non-bender, he became a symbol for equality between both benders and non-benders, effectively achieving the ideas of equality espoused by the Equalists, but to a less extreme route instead. 3 years later, Toph Beifong mentioned the Equalist revolution when lecturing Avatar Korra about how Amon, Unalaq, and Zaheer all had the intention of improving the world despite their radical measures and despicable actions.

Organization

The Equalists originally followed the teachings of Amon, who originally received them allegedly from a spirit in a vision which stated that the Avatar had failed humanity and that bending was a curse that needed to be eradicated. According to the teachings of Amon, bending is the main cause of imbalance in the world and was the sole source of all conflicts and wars in the world as well as bending only being used as a means of oppressing non-benders due to their genetic differences. In order to fully achieve equality, bending must be eradicated with all bending abilities taken away from benders, who he believed was used to oppress the non-bending majority, and for the "bending elite" to be overthrown in a large-scale social, political, and military revolution. By eliminating bending, the divide between the two groups would be eliminated and equality would finally be restored with no one having an inherent advantage over another person and a free society would be created.

As noted by Tarrlok, a large amount of the Equalist ideology was a facade made by Amon in order to obtain supporters, as Noatak's true goal was to destroy the Avatar and conquer Republic City where his father had previously failed. Nonetheless Amon did geniunely believe that bending was the cause of every major conflict in history and the world would be more peaceful if bending were to become extinct. Likewise Amon's followers genuinely believed in the goal of ending oppression towards non-benders, a goal that would ultimately be acheived albeit not through force as Amon intended.

We gasped in sheer shock and horror!

Me: What a heartless monster! The senseless slaughter of innocents just to end Bending. What a fucked up, blind and delusional man.

Lincoln: Indeed.

Lucy Loud: He deserves nothing but death.

Me: Yes he does. At our hands.

Silver Banshee: (Scottish Accent) Aye. That he does lads.

Me: Lets head to the Simulator for this.

Everyone cheered.

We went to the simulator.

---

We got ready and we were in for an amazing fight in Republic City. We went into the Simulator and it activated and we found ourselves in Republic City.

---

Republic City is the capital city of the United Republic of Nations as well as one of the largest and most modern cities in the world, with a population of millions. Located on the shores of Yue Bay, it is built upon what was once the territory of a Fire Nation colony and was founded by Fire Lord Zuko and Avatar Aang after the conclusion of the Hundred Year War as a haven for immigrants from all across the four nations. Being a modern urban center, Republic City boasts significant high-rise development as well as the widespread use of automobiles, motorcycles, and airships.

Republic City is home to a variety of iconic landmarks. These include a monumental statue of Avatar Aang in Yue Bay, a spacious city park, many suspension bridges, and skyscrapers. The Metalbending Police Force utilizes metalbending for civil law enforcement. Pro-bending is the city's most popular sport.

Republic City faced high levels of crime and civil unrest and during the time of Avatar Korra, several major events which occurred in the city, such as the Anti-bending Revolution led by the Equalists, the assault of the Dark Avatar, which created an enclave of Spirit Wilds within the city, and the invasion by the Earth Empire, which devastated the area of the Spirit Wilds and the surrounding cityscape, though also resulted in the creation of a spirit portal within the ruined remains of the downtown district.

Silver Banshee: So this is Republic City?

Me: Wow. It's amazing.

Nico: It sure is an amazing city.

Hunter: Ja. It's so amazing.

Stella (Loud House): It's hard to imagine that it's that advanced.

Lincoln: Look over there!

We saw a statue of all of us on an island and it showed that we had our wings spread and we were watching over the island

Nicole: Wow! That's a Statue of us.

Aang: So they erected a statue in our honor.

Me: Because we are the ones that overthrew Fire Lord Ozai.

Zuko: That's right.

We walked around the city and we saw a lot of amazing buildings and so much more. We got to the park and we saw an amazing statue of Avatar Korra. It was a beautiful statue.

Me: Wow. It's a statue of Avatar Korra.

Zuko: Amazing.

Katara: Wow. She did an amazing job as the Avatar.

Aang: Just like me.

Nico: She sure did.

Qin: What did Korra do that was so powerful that got her this statue?

Me: She defeated an evil terrorist group called the Red Lotus.

I went over their history.

The Red Lotus, also known as the Order of the Red Lotus, is an antagonistic faction founded by Xai Bau after the Hundred Year War, who broke off from the White Lotus after they came out of secrecy and openly served the Avatar as bodyguards and trainers. They believe in true freedom and the destruction of governments (like anarchists), and desire to undo the actions of Avatar Wan and have humans and spirits coexist once more. They are the true (albeit unseen) antagonists of Book 2 of Legend of Korra, and also the main antagonists of Book 3.

When news that Korra was the new Avatar spread, Unalaq planned to kidnap her to release Vaatu, presumably to create chaos. He sent Zaheer and his band out to abduct her, but they were stopped and imprisoned by Sokka, Zuko, Tenzin and others. Unalaq covered his involvement with the abduction and helped to imprison them, going on to follow his own ambitions by merging with Vaatu and become the Dark Avatar, which was never part of the original plan.

13 years later, after Harmonic Convergence, Zaheer discovers that he is an airbender, and his hope in achieving his goals is restored. He escapes prison and frees his friends, and planned to kidnap Korra once again. They also planned to kill the world's leaders. Once they succeeded in capturing Korra, they planned to poison her, which would trigger the Avatar State, which is when they would subsequently kill her, thus ending the Avatar cycle forever. They fail in their mission, however, and everyone except for Zaheer dies in the ensuing battle. Zaheer is instead incarcerated, no longer a feasible threat on his own. Even after the main members of the group are taken down, Zuko still thinks that there are other Red

Lotus members out there. After the incarceration of Zaheer, President Raiko declared the Red Lotus a terrorist organization in the eyes of the United Republic of Nations.

---

Everyone gasped.

Qin: That is horrible!

Me: It is. They were out to kill the Avatar and all benders.

Nico: Pure evil.

Then a yellow beam of light appeared and out came Avatar Korra and Asami!

Me: Avatar Korra!

Korra: Wow! Team Loud Phoenix Storm! It's such an awesome honor to meet all of you.

Me: It's a pleasure to meet you too Korra. We were told so much about you.

Korra: I know.

Stink Bomb (Skylanders): It's so awesome to meet you, Korra!

Weirdwolf: Did you and Asami enjoy your time at the Spirit World?

Asami: We sure did. Thank you.

Korra: Yeah.

Chromedome: We're okay with you and Asami being in a relationship. Some of us just happen to be lesbians as well.

Korra: We appreciate that.

Asami: It's really amazing.

Me: I'm happy for both of you.

Sam S.L.: Me too. Luna and I are in a relationship as well.

Luna: That's right.

Me: And I fully support them. And if anybody has a problem with that, then they can go fuck themselves.

Korra: Thank you J.D.

Lincoln: Well said.

Korra was reunited with all her friends: Jinora, Mako and Bolin.

I then sensed someone hiding in the bushes. Someone evil.

Me: You can't hide from us that easily.

I fired an energy blast at some bushes and it hit the base of the bushes and exploded.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Out of the explosion came AMON THE BLOODBENDER TERROR!

Amon: I'm impressed you were able to flush me out J.D. Knudson of Team Loud Phoenix Storm.

Me: I sensed your evil from a mile away.

Korra: I can't believe that you're still alive Amon. I thought I was rid of you for good after you nearly killed me.

Azula: (to Amon) You go around robbing benders of the one thing that makes them who they are? And people called me a monster back then.

Amon: (Gasps) Princess Azula!? But that's impossible! You were lost forever in the Forgetful Valley.

Me: No she wasn't.

Azula: But I am very much alive.

Me: But this time we will not let you get away.

Amon: (restrains me) Oh, don't be a baby. You don't need your bending abilities. You have other powers. (places two fingers on my forehead with his other hand on the back of my neck)

Me: I don't think so.

I flared up my power and sent him flying and he crashed into a wall.

Me: You are a monster Amon.

Amon: How did you stop me!?

Me: None of your fucking business.

Korra: Things have changed since we last fought, Amon!

Dark Spicer and Vanitas came out.

Me: Oh great. Dark Spicer and Vanitas.

Lok: Why can't you guys leave us alone!?

Vanitas: Because we vowed that we wouldn't stop until we killed all of you.

Me: Good luck with that.

Dark Spicer: (to Korra) Here's your warning: Your ass is about to be kicked!

Me: Not if Korra kicks your ass first.

?: Then I'll help him out.

I recognized that voice.

Me: I didn't think you would survive after all these years. Kabuto Yakushi.

Out came KABUTO YAKUSHI and he was in his Sage Mode!

Kabuto Yakushi (in Japanese: 薬師カブト, Yakushi Kabuto) is the secondary antagonist of Part I of the Naruto series and a major antagonist in Part II, Naruto Shippuden. He is a rogue ninja who originally worked with Orochimaru before striking out on his own and becoming a more dangerous threat to the protagonists in his own right, until he found his true self and became a valuable ally, along with Obito Uchiha against Madara and Black Zetsu.

During the course of the series, Kabuto acted as a supporting antagonist in the Chunin Exams Arc and in the Konoha Crush arc, the secondary antagonist in the Search for Tsunade Arc and in the Tenchi Bridge Reconnaissance Mission Arc, the main antagonist in the Three Tails' Appearance Arc, the secondary antagonist in the Fourth Shinobi World War: Countdown Arc and in the Fourth Shinobi World War: Confrontation, the main antagonist in the Power Arc and a supporting antagonist in the Fourth Shinobi World War: Climax Arc.

In the Japanese dubbed version, he was voiced by Nobutoshi Canna as an adult, and Mariko Mizuno as a child. In the English dubbed version, he was voiced by Henry Dittman (who also voices Craniamon) as an adult, and Tara Sands as a child.

When Kabuto was a child, he was found outside a destroyed village with a head injury and no memories.

He was brought to an orphanage where a nun named Nonō Yakushi treated him and due to his shyness, said nothing to anyone, not even thanking Nonō for her kindness.

Thus one of the other orphans, Urushi, asked if Kabuto had any manners, before putting a helmet on his head to protect his head wound. Urushi said his lack of a name was annoying and Nonō, taking inspiration from the helmet, decided to call him "Kabuto". That night, Kabuto, feeling guilty because he didn't thank Nonō, got out of bed to look for her. However the other wards caught him and he got in trouble for being up past curfew.

They brought Kabuto to a clock to teach him the time of curfew and at first, it seemed like he was too young to know how to tell time.

However Nonō saw he was squinting and gave the boy her glasses, letting him figure out the curfew time. Since the orphanage couldn't afford to get glasses for Kabuto, Nonō allowed him to keep hers. The boy started crying in gratitude, thanking her over and over as she consoled him.

As he grew up, Kabuto learned medical skills from Nonō, helping her heal shinobi and raise money for the orphanage. This led to his first meeting with Orochimaru, who suggested that he become a shinobi, but Kabuto wasn't interested. But later, the boy overheard Nonō talking with Danzō Shimura, who wanted an orphan in exchange for his funding the orphanage.

Kabuto took him up on the offer and would be assigned to missions, infiltrating hidden villages. On one of these missions in Iwagakure, Kabuto's cover was blown and he had to retreat, accidentally attacking Nonō as he did so. She was unable to recognize him, even as he was healing her injuries, and Kabuto started to reflect on and question his purpose in life.

Kabuto was again approached by Orochimaru, who told him that his fight with Nonō had been orchestrated by Danzō as Kabuto has become to mush of a liability due to his skills. Furthermore, having been show photos of what she was made to think was Kabuto, Nonō was tricked into killing him on the promise that Root would release him from his position. Orochimaru went on reveal his position to kill the survivor and enraged Kabuto by pointing out that Root's missions have made him devoid of an identity to truly called his own.

However, admitting he sees a bit of himself in the the youth, Orochimaru offered him a new identity and a position as his right-hand man in the Hidden Sound village. Orochimaru did indeed give Kabuto his new identity, that he'd been found at the Battle of Kikyo Pass and he'd been raised by a captain in the Konoha Medic Corps.

Kabuto was later sent to spy on Sasori for Orochimaru, however the Akatsuki member used a technique to make him his own sleeper agent. But Orochimaru was able to break Sasori's control over Kabuto, who would continue to pretend to be the Akatsuki member's servant so as to find out about the Akatsuki's plans.

During Kabuto's time in Konoha, he attained the rank of genin and took part in the Chunin Exams, so as to gain information on the other participants for Orochimaru. Also Kabuto helped Orochimaru with his human experiments, gaining more knowledge on the human body over the next few years.

Invasion of Konoha

Before the Chunin Exams, Kabuto befriended the Rookie Nine by giving them information on the other competitors. In the second phase, Kabuto teamed up with Team 7, so he could get through it with as little effort as possible.

They eventually faced off against Team Oboro and Kabuto saved Naruto from an attack, which caused his glasses to get knocked off. He briefly lost his composure and his Killing intent appeared, paralyzing Team Oboro, as well as Sasuke and Sakura.

However Kabuto allowed Naruto to defeat Team Oboro and afterwards, he met back up with his team, Yoroi Akado and Misumi Tsurugi, before giving his report on Sasuke to Orochimaru. After his master went to observe Sasuke himself, Kabuto forfeited from the Chunin Exams. He made the excuse to Naruto that he was tired, weakened, and afraid to risk his life anymore, but in reality, he feared that he might show his real abilities and expose himself.

Eventually, Orochimaru had learned all he wanted about Sasuke and commanded Kabuto to capture him. The defector genin was able to defeat the eight ANBU guarding Sasuke, but was forced to retreat by Kakshi Hatake.

After this, Kabuto talked with Baki about the imminent Sunagakure and Otogakure invasion of Konoha. However they realized that Hayate Gekko was eavesdropping and Kabuto offered to deal with him, but Baki did it instead.

During the finals of the Chunin Exam, Kabuto killed an ANBU member and disguised himself with his garb, hiding in the audience. After Sasuke wounded Gaara, Kabuto used a technique to make the audience fall asleep to start off the invasion of Konoha.

He sent an Otogakure ninja after Naruto, while he pursued Sasuke, thinking that he could be a problem if he wasn't dealt with quickly. However, Kabuto seemed to expect the Oto ninja to fail, since he only wanted to test Naruto's abilities. After the invasion was stopped, Kabuto retreated from the village.

Search for Tsunade

Due to Orochimaru being badly wounded from the invasion, he and Kabuto searched for Tsunade, hoping she could heal him. They managed to find her and apparently convinced her to help them, but as she was healing Orochimaru, Kabuto realized her healing techniques had killing intent in them and stopped her. After Tsunade revealed her intent, Kabuto resolved to beat her into complying. Though outmatched even after a Military Rations Pill to strengthen himself, Kabuto used Tsunade's hemophobia against her before Shizune arrived, easily beating her.

When faced by Naruto, surprised that he was working for Orochimaru, Kabuto overwhelmed the youth and insulted his dream as he managed to land a mortal blow on his heart. However Naruto hit Kabuto with a Rasengan, gravely wounding him and leaving him unable to fully heal as he helped Orochimaru summon Manda before retreating from the fight. Later when Orochimaru was waiting for Sasuke to come to their base, Kabuto advised him to take Geny'maru as his new host while talking Kimimaro into risking his life to bring Sasuke to them.

Further Missions with Orochimaru

Almost three years later, Kabuto encountered the reformed Team Kakashi under Yamato when arrived at a meeting with Sasori's spy and found that agent was Kabuto. However, ordered to kill Sasori, Kabuto destroyed the Hiruko puppet before Orochimaru revealed to him that their opponent was not Sasori.

While Orochimaru fought Naruto, forced to be at the sidelines, Kabuto healed Sakura after she was accidentally attacked by Naruto in his four-tailed form and told her that they had a mutual enemy in the Akatsuki. After the fight, Kabuto, along with Orochimaru and Team Kakashi's new member, Sai, went back to their base. He was also commanded to leave a corpse in Sai's likeness so no one would follow them.

After Sai's capture, Kabuto came to help him, but he found himself captured by Sai instead. With no means of escape, Kabuto was willing to divulge information, but he told Naruto not to try and get Sasuke back. As Team 7 searched Orochimaru's base, Kabuto was left on his own and managed to escape, joining up with his master and Sasuke.

Soon after this, Orochimaru realized he would need to change bodies soon and sent Kabuto to get Guren. He found her, but she attacked him, to test if he was worthy of attending to Orochimaru, and he succeeded in proving himself. Kabuto then brought Guren to Orochimaru's base, where he assigned her to testing prisoners so as to form a team.

After Guren and her team failed to kill a group of Konoha ninjas, Kabuto made them help him in summoning Isobu the Three-Tailed Beast. He had Guren try to restrain it with her Crystal Release technique, but this failed and Kabuto decided he needed to think of a different method, withdrawing for the time being. After this, as he was working on his final attempt to capture Isobu, he had a secret meeting with Rinji, a spy working under him.

Kabuto found out that Konoha had been trying to seal Isobu and went to get back Guren and Yūkimaru to stop their attempts. He succeeded, but the Konoha ninjas managed to get Yūkimaru back and Kabuto became very distressed. He made Kigiri, Kihō, and Nurari believe they were dying from the wounds they'd received in their fight with the Konoha ninja. Thus Kabuto was able to make them undergo an operation, where they had Orochimaru's cursed seals placed on them to grant them additional power.

Kabuto then disguised himself as Rinji and tricked Yūkimaru into using his powers to unleash Isobu's full powers, despite how weakened he was at the time. Kabuto tried to make Yūkimaru send the Three-Tailed Beast go on a rampage, but when this didn't work, he revealed to Yūkimaru that Guren had killed his mother. However much to Kabuto's shock, he forgave her and Kabuto attacked the two with scalpels, but Naruto intervened. He managed to reveal the defector's deception and fought Kabuto.

Naruto, having improved his skills, was able to gain the upper hand over his opponent at first and when Guren tried to escape with Yūkimaru, Kabuto summoned Rinji to stop her. However Guren sacrificed herself to kill Rinji, causing Yūkimaru to let Isobu go on a rampage and Kabuto withdrew, satisfied.

Kabuto's Evolution

After Orochimaru was defeated by Sasuke, Kabuto used his genjutsu to find out what happened. Kabuto took his master's remains and proceeded to infuse them into his body, but found the foreign cells attempting to take over his body as he tried to assert dominance over them. Kabuto eventually encountered Naruto and explained why he'd done such a dangerous thing to himself; so he could become strong enough that he'd no longer have to be anyone's minion.

Kabuto thanked Naruto for inspiring him to do so and gave him a book that held all of Orochimaru's information on the Akatsuki. He also told Naruto that he'd settle things with him after he killed Sasuke as revenge for his former master.

While still in the middle of his metamorphosis, Kabuto attempted to use the Reanimation Jutsu that he was still mastering at the time to use Deidara and other deceased ninja to conquer Tonika Village so he could use its unique waters to enhance his cellular snakes' ability to reconstruct a living ninja's body to suit his needs. However, while he successfully gained control over a recreated Hidan, Kabuto found it more difficult to control a clone of Naruto in his Four Tails state. Sometime after that and later, Kabuto discovered Ryuchi Cave where he dabbled in Snake Senjutsu. Ultimately, Kabuto obtained a true Sage Mode and exceeded his master by perfecting the Reanimation Jutsu in a revolutionary fashion.

Later, after mastering his full power and killing Takigakure ninja, Kabuto set out for the Mountains' Graveyard, killing people along the way so that Anko and her Infiltration and Reconnaissance Party would follow him. When Kabuto arrived at the graveyard, he found Tobi, who was pretending to be Madara Uchiha. Tobi, remembering that Kabuto had once been a spy of Akatsuki, tried to kill him for being a traitor.

However, Kabuto used the Renimation Jutsu to revive five of the Akatsuki's deceased members with the promise of an army of reanimated ninja for the upcoming Fourth Great Ninja War with Sasuke as payment. Though Tobi refused, Kabuto convinced him to accept the proposal when he summoned a sixth coffin, containing the real Madara Uchiha. Accepting on the grounds that he turn Sasuke over once the war ended, Tobi allowed Kabuto into his inner circle. Accompanied by Deidara, though more interested in Yamato, Kabuto headed out to capture the final two Tailed Beasts beyond Tobi's grasp, Gyuki and Kurama.

Though they used Deidara's clay clones to distract the Third Tsuchikage as they drew close to the Island Turtle, they find Onoki tricked them with a rock clone as he and his allies confronted them. But Kabuto used Manda II to slow the Island Turtle and had Deidara hit it with an explosive clay squid, finally stopping it. While Deidara dealt with Onoki, Kabuto went ashore with Kurotsuchi hot on his heels. Yamato showed up and tried to help Aoba Yamashiro get close enough to Kabuto that he could read his mind. However he shed his body, taking on a snake form, and captured Yamato, before he withdrew into Manda II's nose and returned to Tobi, returning Deidara to his coffin. Tobi asked if he'd failed, but Kabuto said that by studying Yamato, he could increase the power of their White Zetsu Army. Tobi accepted this and was talked out of using his Human Path ability to get information from Yamato, before allowing Kabuto to make the modifications.

Great Ninja War

After getting their army ready and modified, Kabuto sent out his revived ninjas to the battlefield, except his surprise attack and diversion unit. He gave the unit specific instructions, before engaging Anko and defeating her. Though ordered to kill her, Kabuto explained he needed her alive to increase his power over the reanimated ninja by absorbing her Curse Mark's chakra. Realizing that Kabuto arranged Anko's appearance and compromised their location, Tobi demanded that he show him the function of the Reanimation Jutsu.

Kabuto proceeded to demonstrate the jutsu in a step-by-step method, with Fū sacrificed to revive Torune, and a few means of stopping it. Kabuto then left an apparently satisfied Tobi, still having a few other tricks up his sleeve and on the verge of learning the Sage of the Six Path's secrets. With his power boosted, seeing some of his revived ninjas' emotions getting the best of them, Kabuto began rendering those remaining into mindless beings save those whose individual emotions could prove useful. He only took part in the fighting if needed, eventually having Gari and Pakura summon the previous Seven Ninja Swordsmen of the Mist to help the Akatsuki retain the upper hand. But, much to Kabuto's shock, Zabuza Momochi was defeated, even with his Hiding in Mist technique. Kabuto then had the Second Tsuchikage, Mu, summon the Fourth Kazekage, Second Mizukage, and Third Raikage as more of his forces battled the First Division.

After Tobi took extra effort to obtain the items containing sealed Gold and Silver Brothers, Kabuto suspected he was trying to get the chakra from Kurama, which was inside them. However he realized that Tobi had only one of the tails from Gyuki, so he couldn't figure out what he really was after. In the war's second day, Kabuto was surprised when Naruto used his Nine-Tails Chakra to instantly beat Toroi. However he was excited by the chance to track down Naruto and Killer Bee before Tobi could find them. Kabuto sent Itachi Uchiha and Nagato after them, hoping to use them as leverage against Tobi. But much to Kabuto's shock, Itachi summoned the crow he'd planted in Naruto to break Kabuto's control over him and attacked Nagato, who ended up sealed.

Deciding to take the fight up a notch, Kabuto played his trump card and unleash Madara Uchiha, erasing the Third Raikage's personality so he could distract the Fourth Divison to make preparations while attempting to capture Naruto as well. Once he revived Madara, using Mu as a medium, Kabuto updated the reanimated ninja on the events and how he knew he survived his fight with Hashirama before sending him to fight the Fourth Division.

However, as Madara engaged the Kage, Kabuto was found by Itachi and congratulated him for doing so, despite the barrier he'd put in place. He reminded the former ANBU captain that he couldn't die if Itachi wanted to stop the Reanimated Jutsu. Kabuto then sensed Sasuke and began laughing crazily, saying that his luck had changed. He then then tried to get Sasuke to join his side, trying to play on his hatred, but he chose to fight with Itachi.

Kabuto closed his hood, saying he was unsettled by so many people staring at him, before attacking the two brothers with snakes. Though they fought the snakes off, Kabuto hid in one of his snakes and assumes Sage Mode to battle the brothers. During the fight, while trying to turn Sasuke on Itachi, Kabuto revealed he augmented his body with the cells of Jugo so he maintain Sage Mode indefinite, Suigetsu Hōzuki's ability to liquidify his body, and Karin's abilities.

After the brothers' attempt to pin him down resulted in him losing one of his horns, Kabuto admitted the brothers worked together well. After trying to play on Sasuke's desire to destroy the Hidden Leaf Village, using his background story to show how alike they were, Kabuto summoned his chakra scalpel while using the cave itself against Itachi and Sasuke.

He managed to incapacitate Itachi and prepared to get rid of his personality, but Sasuke stopped him with a ring of Amaterasu. Though Kabuto gloated that he was the closest to the Sage of the Six Paths in power, Itachi told him he would fail as he no idea who he truly was. As he thought about his past, Kabuto explained that everything he had done was to create an identity and assimilating Sasuke into him would make him the ultimate being. As the fight continued, Kabuto revealed that he assimilated the DNA of Kimimaro and the Sound Four, using a manifestation of Sakon through his kekkei genkai to access his team mates' ability.

Kabuto then created a manifestation of Orochimaru's true form to finally capture Itachi Uchiha and Sasuke, confident he was going to win. However he began to weep when the brothers fought off the snake and finally, emerged from Orochimaru's mouth to suddenly slash Itachi in half. Kabuto said that a genius in everything wouldn't understand his goal of finding who he was and no one would stop him. He quickly tried to erase Itachi's personality and was attacked by Sasuke, but caught the sword he threw at him and escaped to the cave roof to evade another attack. Kabuto then used a water technique to counter Sasuke's fireball, knocking him away as well.

However a regenerated Itachi attacked him, cutting off his horn, and Kabuto scolded him for using the same tactic he used before. However he eventually realized that he was under the effect of Itachi's Izanami, trapping him in his mind in a time loop. With his plan falling apart, Kabuto cursed Itachi as Itachi used another genjutsu to make him reveal the seal needed to deactivate the Reanimation Jutsu.

As a result, the army Kabuto had created faded back to the afterlife, except for Madara, who had severed his contact with the Reanimation technique. Sasuke then brought back Orochimaru using Anko's Cursed Seal of Heaven, who absorbed all of his chakra from Kabuto, changing him back to normal though still trapped in his personal hell.

After some time had passed, Kabuto was able to break out of Izanami by finally accepting who he is. He realized that deep down he was actually a good person, and had a home at the orphanage in Konoha, where he was initially raised.

Later, Kabuto went to the battlefield where he tended to a badly injured Sasuke. Kabuto has since inherited Itachi's will to protect Sasuke and was able to successfully heal Sasuke. After Sasuke returned to his battle against Madara and some time passes, Kabuto along with everyone else (with the exception of the original Team 7 and the revived Hokage) was caught in Madara's Infinite Tsukyomi. After some time passed, Kabuto and everyone was released by the genjutsu with the help of Naruto and Sasuke.

Years after the war, it is shown that Kabuto has followed in his adoptive mother Nonō's footsteps and is now running the orphanage he grew up in. After Naruto, Sasuke and Sakura defeat Shin Uchiha, he agrees to adopt Shin's clones as his own sons, intending to name every single one of them.

Kabuto Yakushi: I'm impressed that you remember me after so long J.D.

Me: Times have changed, memories don't.

Qin: Who is he?

Me: That is Kabuto Yakushi, he is Orochimaru's right hand man and most trusted subordinate. During my time in the world of Shinobi when we were the Knights of The New Fire, we met Kabuto during the Chunin Exams and at first we were suspicious. But I dove into Kabuto's mind and saw a troubled past. I found out that Kabuto is a survivor from a terrible battle called the Battle of Kikyo Pass and he had a really bad head injury and he also had amnesia. He couldn't remember anything. He was adopted by the caretaker of the Hidden Leaf Orphanage, Nono Yakushi. She raised him like he was her own son and gave him his glasses. But then came a dark day for him. Nono Yakushi was sent on an ANBU Mission to attack him and Kabuto accidentally killed Nono in self defense and she had a genjutsu placed on her that made her not remember him. As we were on our way over to the Forest of Death for the second part of the Chunin Exams, I told Kabuto that Nono Yakushi was really his biological mother and that Orochimaru and Danzo Shimura were the ones responsible for her death.

Qin gasped.

Qin: Why would they do that to him!?

Nico: That is pure evil!

Me: It was. It was so that Orochimaru would use Kabuto's grief and recruit him as his subordinate. But I was able to snap him out of being with Orochimaru and I promised to resurrect Nono.

Naruto: That's right. I remember that.

Me: Yep. I kept my promise. But the darkness in Kabuto's heart separated from him and turned into this ugly monstrosity that you see before you. He is a mixture of some of Orochimaru's followers. He has all of the abilities of Tayuya, Kidomaru, Sakon & Ukon, Jirobo, Kimimaro, Karin, Suigetsu, Jugo, and even Orochimaru himself.

We gasped in sheer shock!

Nico: He's a freak!

Lori: He is literally a disgusting abomination!

Lisa Loud: Indeed.

Lily: How did he become like this?

Me: Orochimaru had a blood sample that was mixed together with the blood of all of his followers that I said.

Vince: That is completely inhumane!

Me: Orochimaru was known as the king of fucks. He loved fucking around with little boys. I'm glad I erased him from existence forever.

?: That is sick even for me.

A figure came out and it was JESTER THE PESTER from episode 14 of Mystic Force!

---

Jester the Pester is a gremlin/jester-like monster and is one of the many monsters of the Underworld. He is the first monster to be summoned by Imperious. He serves as one of two main antagonists (alongside Imperious himself) of the episode "Long Ago".

Jester was called forth by Imperious to use Dark Magic and attack the city. He was also given a Dark Pen to use in the city. With his first attack on the city, he terrorized the citizens of Briarwood, all the while drawing fake mustaches on people's faces, until the Mystic Force Rangers showed up. The Rangers fought as best they could, but the monster was too fast for them, and after the Madison saves two people, he managed to get away. However, before he did so, he placed a strange marking on the ground with the pen he had been given which caught the Ranger's attention. When he returned, he was about to place another symbol on the Earth. But before he could, the Mystic Rangers came by and the Blue Ranger used her Water Power to blast Jester away and washed the marking off, she realized that he was planning on creating a giant Dark Seal on the city that will destroy the people of Briarwood. Jester explained the rest of his plans and attacks the Rangers, now highly annoyed, the Blue Ranger tried to battle the monster alone, but she was outmatched and after being hit hard, she demorphed.

Right before Jester could finish off Madison with his Right Arm Three Bladed Claw, a frog jumped on him, and (Jester hates frogs) distracted him. This allowed the other Rangers time to get into the fight, but Jester was still too powerful. While the other Rangers fought Jester, Madison kissed the frog that had saved her. That kiss broke the spell on the frog, and returned him to Daggeron. Once freed, Daggeron set out to take on Jester and the Hidiacs that had been summoned. The hero morphed into the Solaris Knight and took on the Undead Warriors with the Laser Lamp. The Hidiacs were defeated easily, Jester tried to escape through a wormhole in the ground, but the Solaris Knight used his Laser Lamp to force him out of the ground, Jester was finale destroyed by Jenji's Shinning Attack fired from the Laser Lamp by Daggeron.

Nick Russell: Jester the Pester!

Daggeron: (British Accent) Not this guy again.

Jester: That's right. Didn't expect to see me again.

Me: I remember this guy! He was the first monster ever destroyed by you Daggeron.

Daggeron: That's right.

Jester: You were watching us on TV huh?

Me: Never missed an episode.

Jester: (to Daggeron) I didn't like that frog scare that you pulled on me.

Daggeron: How was I supposed to know that you hate frogs?

Me: That was an unexpected shock.

Dark Spicer: I have more aliens to show you.

Dark Spicer then turned into a Vaxasaurian Mutant. He was a purple Vaxasaurian with an Ankylosaurus tail and he had deadly spikes all over him and his muscles were huge.

Stompasaurus Rex: Meet Stompasaurus Rex!

Shanan: A Mutant Vaxasaurian. Ugly.

Edzilla: ED SMASH BAD HUMUNGOUSAUR! (charges at him)

Stompasaurus Rex: (grabs Edzilla by the throat) I told you. It's Stompasaurus Rex! (throws Edzilla at Pharaoh Man)

Pharaoh Man caught him and helped him.

Me: Very impressive.

Stompasaurus Rex: Try this one.

Dark Spicer then turned into an Aerophibian Mutant. He looked like Jetray except he was purple and he had eyes all over his body which gave him 360˚ Vision and he had fur all over him.

Killjet: I call this form Killjet! (flies through the air)

Shanan: A Mutant Aerophibian. Jeez.

Me: And he has eyes all over his body. Weird.

Lincoln: How about I call it Toast?! (flies towards him but he zaps him with a Neuroshock Blast)

Killjet: Surprised?! I can fly just as fast as all of you now! (fires Neuroshock Blast at Xion)

Xion deflected the blast back and it hit him and knocked him down.

Me: Nice! You guys face Amon and the others. I'll face Kabuto.

Nico: Right.

Jake Holling: We may not have bending. But we can still kick ass!

Megaforce Rangers: Legendary Ranger Mode: Goggle V Squad!

The Megaforce Rangers turned into the Goggle V Rangers from 1983.

Me: Lets get them.

We went at them.

---

Battle 1: Kabuto Yakushi

---

I was facing Kabuto and I snapped my fingers and we were on the volcano planet Ngauruhoe.

---

Planet Ngauruhoe is a volcano planet located in the Unknown Zone. It is named after Mount Ngauruhoe in New Zealand and is one of the most volcanically active planets in the universe.

---

Kabuto: So you decided to face me on this world.

Me: Figured it would fit you perfectly for all the pain and suffering you've caused in 150,000 years. Also for the record, I'm not the same as I was when I faced you last. I am far more powerful than ever before and I have some new tricks and powers that are stronger than anything you've ever seen before.

Kabuto: Then lets see how powerful you are.

Me: All right. But just so you know, you've had this coming for 150,000 years.

I then flared up my rainbow aura and flared up my maximum power and the 10-Tails sprouted and I grew wolf ears and I flared up my maximum power and more and I was now in my Super Angel-Ebonwu 100,000 Elemental Moonlight Phoenix form.

Me: (Divine Voice) Well? What do you think?

Kabuto was shaking. He never felt anything like my power before and he never saw a creature with 10 tails before.

Kabuto: What are you?

Me: Your worst nightmare.

I went at Kabuto and punched him in the stomach with devastating force and kicked him in the face and sent him crashing into a rock and he got up and went at me. I went at him and punched him in the face and kicked him in the stomach and grabbed him with one of my tails and slammed him into the ground and I fired a massive blast of energy and it slammed into Kabuto and exploded.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Kabuto was laying in the ground.

Me: I know your bluffing Kabuto. I sense that you are behind me.

I fired a powerful blast of moonlight fire and it slammed into him and exploded.

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

I teleported and sucked all of the jutsu Kabuto had and made them my own and Kabuto was on his last legs and I fired a massive blast of fire right at him at point blank range and it made him explode into nothing but a massive pillar of fire and incinerated him completely. Kabuto's spirit then appeared.

Me: You and Orochimaru have tormented the lives of so many innocent people for far too long Kabuto. It's time for you to pay for your crimes.

I held my hand up to his face.

Me: HAKAI!

Kabuto then glowed purple and he screamed in excruciating pain as he was erased from existence forever. Like he was never born at all.

Me: Never again. Now to help everyone else.

I went back to everyone else.

---

Battle 2: Eddy, Xion, Pharaoh Man, Luan and Mako VS Dark Spicer

---

Dark Spicer was ready for a fight.

Eddy: Try this on fat boy!

Eddy fired a powerful blast of light and it slammed into him and exploded. Xion fired 14 elemental blasts and they hit Dark Spicer and Luan and Pharaoh Man fired powerful blasts of light and fire and they hit Dark Spicer and exploded.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM!

Mako fired a massive blast of fire and it slammed into Dark Spicer and exploded.

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMMMM

Dark Spicer was knocked down.

---

Battle 3: Jester the Pester

---

Nico and the Rangers were facing Jester the Pester.

Nico: You are a failure to this universe Jester.

Nico fired a powerful blast of energy and the Megaforce and Mystic Force Power Rangers blasted him all over and he fell down and exploded.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Troy Burrows: Yeah!

---

Battle 4: Vanitas

---

Spiderman, Keito and Leni were facing Vanitas.

Spiderman: We got to stop meeting like this Vanny.

Vanitas: We won't keep meeting till you are dead Spidey.

Keito: I think not.

Leni: Totes!

Leni smashed Vanitas all over with a powerful hammer and Keito and Spiderman wrapped him up in spiderwebs.

---

Battle 5: Amon.

---

We were now facing Amon. I appeared.

Me: It's over Amon. You are through.

Korra: Now you will pay for your crimes Amon.

Nico: That's right. Amon you have failed this world.

Lincoln: And you will pay.

We went at him and I punched him in the face and kicked him in the stomach and wrapped one of my tails around him and slammed him into the ground and Lincoln fired a massive blast of lightning at him and electrocuted him all over. Laney fired poison barbs at him and he was poisoned with Strychnine Ω. Korra and Zuko blasted him with fire and air and Lori blasted him with wind and Carol fired a powerful blast of atomic energy and it hit him and exploded all over in powerful explosions of fire.

Ben: Lets see how he likes this!

Ben then turned into a new alien. It was a predator called SLUGFEST! It looked like a giant slug.

Ben: SLUGFEST!

Me: Wow! I've never seen this one.

Shanan: Wow! That is a predator called a Nudicambralia Promenadian! They are the natural predators of the Ickthyperambuloid's, Walkatrout's species from the planet Gilli-Perambulous Promenade.

Nico: Wow! This is a first. I've never seen Ben turn into a predator creature before.

Laney: That is amazing. I've never seen a predator like this before.

Lana: It looks like a really big slug.

Riley: It sure does. But how did Ben get this ability to turn into Alien Creature predators?

Gwen Tennyson: One of our enemies had a dog that had an Omnitrix-like device that enabled him to turn into the predators of Ben's aliens.

Kevin Levin: Yeah it was called the Nemetrix. Ben now has the ability to turn into the Predators of his aliens.

Me: That is incredible!

Nico: That is amazing.

Slugfest: And watch this.

Slugfest fired a wave of slime and it hit Amon and stuck him to the ground like a powerful super glue.

Laney: Yuck.

I touched it and it was a really sticky slime.

Me: Yuck! (Grunts) This slime is really sticky and strong stuff.

I pulled my hand out and I went flying and I crashed into Nico!

CRASH!

Nico: Ouch.

Me: Sorry Nico. That slime is really strong. It's like powerful super glue.

Slugfest: It sure is J.D. Are you both okay?

Me: Yeah I'm fine.

Nico: Same here.

Slugfest: Lets see how he likes this.

Ben then turned into a new alien we haven't seen before. It was a purple sparkling gas cloud alien.

Ben: DREAMCATCHER!

Me: Whoa! I've never seen this one before.

Shanan: Wow! That's a Hypnonebulas from the Morpheus Nebula!

Nico: Wow! This is a completely different one.

Riley: Wow! What can this one do?

Shanan: They have the power to make people fall asleep and can even alter dreams.

Laney: Wow! That is a powerful ability to have for this one.

Natilee: And it sounds really dangerous.

Me: And very deadly from the looks of things.

Shanan: It sure is. But they also have the power to form illusions.

Dreamcatcher: Yep. Watch.

Dreamcatcher formed an illusion over Amon and he saw that he was in the very fires of hell and he saw all the people that he had stripped of their bending and killed and they said all kinds of terrible things to him and they were so horrifying that it defied all forms of logic.

Lola: Whoa! That is terrifying!

Lana: No kidding!

Riley: That was so awesome!

Ben then turned into a new Ultimate Alien. It was ULTIMATE CLOCKWORK! He looked really awesome. He had an anti-gravity orb body with a hoverlegs body and he had a pendulum in his chest and he had a green body and his head had a giant wind-up key on it.

Ben: (Swedish Accent) ULTIMATE CLOCKWORK!

Me: Whoa! An Evolved Chronosapien!

Shanan: Wow! This is amazing! I've never seen something like this before.

Clyde: That has to be the coolest version of Clockwork ever.

Syd Chang: It sure is.

Ultimate Clockwork: Lets see vhat he can do.

He fired a time ray at Amon and it hit his arms and reduced them to dust in an instant.

Me: Whoa! That was powerful!

Lincoln: It sure was.

But then a roar was heard and a powerful blast of energy hit Amon. What we saw was incredible it was a scary and huge Skeleton Dragon Pokemon! It was the legendary Gigantic Pokemon ETERNATUS!

Me: Whoa! What is that!?

I looked it up on my device.

Pokedex: Eternatus: the Gigantic Pokemon. This is the largest species of Pokemon ever known. It came crashing to the world on a meteor over one thousand of years ago. It's deadly ability the Eternabeam is powerful enough to destroy an entire moon in an instant.

Me: Whoa! That is unbelievable!

Lincoln: Wow! I've never seen a Pokemon like this one before! It's amazing!

Nico: Incredible! It's power is enormous.

May: Unreal! I've never seen a Pokemon like that one before.

Serena: It's incredible!

Me: I think I'll catch it and tame it.

I went up to it and tamed it and I caught it with a Master Ball.

Me: Yeah!

Nico: Way to go J.D.!

Me: Thanks guys. Lets finish this monster. Boy we haven't caught any new Pokemon in a long time.

Nico: No kidding. That must have been one of the new Pokemon.

Me: I guess so. Time to finish this monster.

Stella (Loud House): Let me start. SCORCH STYLE NINJA ART: MIDWAY!

The Dry Sahara Desert appeared behind Stella and it was on fire as the song Midway by Sabaton played.

Send them over the waves our sentinels

They report in the news

Position of our foes

This battlefield's been chosen tactically in advance

Time to alert our fighters

We're soon in range

Midway

We'll meet at midway, Naval war

Calling all men to deck, got to be airborne

Head out into the sun

Descending on our foes

This is a crucial moment in the heat of the war

To fly and hit our targets

Down in the waves

Midway (Display their mind, ordering carriers, admirals at war)

We'll meet at midway (To win the fight, tactics are crucial) Naval war

Far from shore, a Pacific war

Bombs are falling from the skies

It's a bomb-run day, it's the naval way

A blood-red sun is on the rise

Far from shore, a Pacific war

Bombs are falling from the skies

It's a bomb-run day, it's the naval way

A blood-red sun is on the rise

Midway (Display their mind, ordering carriers, admirals at war)

Midway (Display their mind, ordering carriers, admirals at war)

We'll meet at midway (To win the fight, tactics are crucial) Naval war

Midway

The fire send a massive wave of scorching vapor and it turned into the army from the Battle of Midway in World War II and it blasted and smashed Amon all over as it dried him up.

Me: Whoa! That was awesome Stella!

Jessie K.: That was so cool! The Battle of Midway was a big naval battle that happened during World War II in 1942.

Me: I remember that one. That was a very big and decisive battle in the Pacific Ocean back 78 years ago.

Hunter: Ja. Und it was a huge victory for the American's.

Me: Yep.

Chromedome: Lets see how he likes this. CYBER KEY POWER!

The Earth Cyber Planet Key went into his back and enhanced his speed and strength 100-fold.

Stink Bomb: Time for some Stink Power! (Ninja Call) CLEAR THE AIR! SKYLANDS CYBER KEY POWER!

The Skylands Life Element Cyber Planet Key went into his right arm device and enhanced his powers 100-fold.

Chromedome and Stink Bomb: STINKY SMOKESCREEN CAR SURPRISE!

Stink Bomb fired a massive stink blast at Amon and covered him in a think stink cloud and Chromedome rammed Amon with devastating force and sent him crashing into a wall.

Nico: That must've hurt.

Weirdwolf: Not as much as this will. CYBER KEY POWER!

The Animatron Cyber Planet Key went into his back and enhanced his Thermal Sword 100-fold.

Silver Banshee: Eat this lad! JUSTICE LEAGUE CYBER KEY POWER!

The Justice League Cyber Planet Key went into her right arm device and enhanced her sonic powers 100-fold.

Weirdwolf and Silver Banshee: THERMAL SUPERSONIC SLASH!

Silver Banshee formed a sword of Sound and they both slashed Amon all over.

Maria: Try this one!

Teresa: Yeah!

Maria fired a blast of water and Teresa fired a sonic blast.

Maria and Teresa: SUPERSONIC DELUGE BURST!

The blasts hit Amon and exploded.

KRAAAABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMMMM!

Lily Loud: Lets do it! OWLA! SPREAD MY WINGS!

Lily Loud turned into Night Owl!

Lily: This is gonna be good.

Piper: It sure is. FLY PHOENIX FLY!

Piper fired a powerful blast of fire and it turned into a Phoenix and Lily fired a powerful blast of star energy.

Lily and Piper: STAR FIRE PHOENIX BLAST!

The star energy merged with the Phoenix and it slammed into Amon and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Nico: Time for some awesome power! MANIFEST! UMBRA - LEGENDARY TITAN OF DIMENSIONS!

A massive blast of shadow and darkness erupted out of the ground and out came UMBRA - LEGENDARY TITAN OF DIMENSIONS!

Umbra was one of the Titans of Casterwill's first son. This Titan was found by Hernán Cortés. His Amulet remained in Cortés' tomb, guarded by another Titan, Conquistador, and a magic barrier. S2E41 The Pied Piper of Hamelin's magic flute was used to control the guardian Titan, which then deactivated the barrier. Later, Umbra bonded with Dante Vale. Umbra's power was then used to escape from being crushed by Conquistador.

His teleportation power was only able to be used a few times, so Dante used Copykind to be able to use Umbra's power again to reach the castle of Vlad Dracul without weakening the Titan.

Umbra later transported Lok, Sophie, Dante, and Den to the Spiral Mark to stop the Nullifiers. Umbra then played a small, but crucial, role in preventing the return of the Nullifiers by transporting Dante and Phoenix up to the Red Comet. After stopping the Red Comet, Umbra then transported Dante's ashes, endowed with the ability of Phoenix, back to the Spiral Mark.

Lok: And I'll help you too. AWAKEN! QUETZALCOATL - LEGENDARY TITAN OF SUMMONS!

A powerful blue star came out and it called forth QUETZALCOATL - LEGENDARY TITAN OF SUMMONS!

Quetzalcoatl was the Titan of the elder daughter of Casterwill. Originally, the Amulet of this Titan was stored inside the Willblade. Pendragon's Amulet later took the place of that of Quetzalcoatl inside the Willblade, and Quetzalcoatl's Ring was sealed by itself in the Temple of Sun in Teotihuacan, Mexico.

In the Temple of Sun, Lok Lambert managed to awaken Quetzalcoatl when Den ignited the blue powder stored within the temple. The Titan then became the Blue Star to summon together the members of the Casterwill family against the Blood Spiral.

In Tír na nÓg, Lok's father Eathon told him that Pendragon might not be enough the defeat the Spiral and that Lok would require more. The Blue Star of Quetzalcoatl then briefly appeared. After heeding his father's words, Lok later managed to summon back Quetzalcoatl from the Blue Star form to use in battle against the Betrayer. After placing his Ring back in the Willblade, Lok was able to defeat Demigorgan, the Titan of Betrayal and destroy his Amulet for good.

Nico with Umbra and Lok with Quetzalcoatl: BLUE SHADOW STAR BLAST!

Nico fired a powerful blast of darkness and Umbra fired a blast of purple fire and Lok fired a powerful blast of blue fire and Quetzalcoatl fired a massive blast of blue energy and the blasts combined and they slammed into Amon and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Breach: Lets do it Sophie!

Sophie: Right! YOUR SPEED AND MIGHT ARE MINE TO COMMAND, VALIANT WARRIOR! COME FORTH, CAVALIER!

A flame blast came out of the ground and out came CAVALIER!

---

Cavalier was a Titan who was the strongest in Camelot. It would only bond with noble, worthy, loyal men. Cavalier's Amulet was used in England, and he bonded with Sir Lancelot.

Both the Huntik Foundation and the Organization became aware of Cavalier's Amulet and went to the Mausoleum of Sir Lancelot recover it. After overcoming many traps and obstacles, Lok Lambert and Dante Vale reached the room where Cavalier's Amulet kept along with numerous ancient Casterwill tomes. However they were ambushed by Rassimov who went and reached the Amulet. When this worthy Titan refused to bond with Rassimov, Cavalier was destroyed by Rassimov's Darkvoid spell along with the room of books, with Rassimov declaring that if he could not have the power then no one would. Sophie later studied Cavalier on the Cypherdex and deduced that it was no surprise that Cavalier would not bond with an evil man like Rassimov, while Dante hauntingly confirmed to Guggenheim that, without a doubt, Cavalier had been destroyed by Rassimov's devastating power.

Breach and Sophie with Cavalier: DIMENSIONAL FIRESTORM SLASH!

Sophie formed a Sword from her portals and Sophie had a sword of fire ready and Cavalier had his swords ready and they slashed Amon all over the place.

Me: Time to finish you for good Amon!

Bomb Man: You died in an explosion before. But this time, I'm adding my own twist!

Me: We all are.

Korra: I've had it with this monster. ELEMENTAL AVATAR SPEAR!

Korra fired a massive blast of the four elements and they hit Amon and bisected him and he screamed in excruciating pain.

Azula: This monster is a menace to all benders everywhere. FIRESTORM FURY BLAZE!

Azula fired a massive wave of blue fire and it hit Amon and burned him all over.

Aang: You are a monster and a disgrace!

Jinora: You said it Aang!

Aang and Jinora: WHIRLWIND DRAGON CYCLONE!

Aang and Jinora fired a massive tornado of wind and it turned into a powerful dragon of wind and it slammed into Amon and blew him all over the place.

Zuko: You have no honor and no soul!

Mako: That's right!

Zuko and Mako: INFERNO FIRESTORM BLAZE!

Zuko and Mako fired a massive blast of fire and it slammed into Amon and burned him some more.

Toph: You give all benders everywhere a really bad name!

Bolin: You said it Toph!

Toph and Bolin: EARTHWAVE SUPER SMASH!

They both stomped and sent a powerful wave of rock and earth and it slammed into Amon and crushed him all over!

Katara: Lets get him Lily.

Lily: With pleasure.

Katara and Lily: MAELSTROM DRAGON DELUGE!

They fired massive blasts of water and they turned into a deadly dragon of water and it hit him and drenched him all over.

Me: Now you will pay.

Katara: For all of your crimes Amon!

Me & Katara: HYPER WATERBENDER MAELSTROM!

Me and Katara did some stances and we fired a massive blast of water and it slammed into Amon with the massive force of a powerful megatsunami and sent him crashing through a wall and Bomb Man threw bombs at him and they hit him all over and exploded.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOMMMMM!
KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM!
KRABBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!

Amon was on the ground completely burned and butchered. But he was still alive. I went over to him.

Me: You will never be welcome in this world again.

I held out my hand to his face.

Me: HAKAI!

He glowed purple and he screamed in excruciating pain as he was being completely obliterated from existence. He was erased from existence for all eternity as if he was never born at all.

I powered down and we all regrouped and everyone cheered wildly for all of us.

Me: You're welcome people of Republic City.

Nico: Just doing our job.

Korra: That's right.

Dark Spicer and Vanitas came.

Dark Spicer: Before today's battle, there was a nice restaurant that me and Vanitas ate at. You should go there before returning to Gotham Royal York.

Maria: We'll do that. Thank you.

Vanitas: And Nico? Next time, don't lick one of our minions!

Nico: I'll keep that in mind.

Me: Yeah don't ever make him do that again.

Dark Spicer: We'll try not to.

With that, Dark Spicer and Vanitas teleport out.

Me: Whew.

?: HA!

?: HA!

?: HA!

Me: Huh?

We turned and we saw BOOGEDY BONES!

---

Boogedy Bones is a three-headed zombie. The left head is light green, has has red eyes, black hair and no nose with big teeth; the middle one is white, has red eyes with black pupils, no nose and sharp teeth; and the right head is green, has black hair, a crooked nose, two sharp bottom teeth and small red eyes.

* * *

Shaggy: ZOINKS! It's Boogedy Bones!

Me: Whoa man! I remember this ugly Three-Headed Zombie!

Qin: What is his story?

Me: He was really Molly the Moll, notorious accomplice of notorious bank robber and burglar Manny the Mauler. He was a dangerous criminal that broke out of the county prison. He and Molly stole a massive amount of loot and buried it in a house in Coolsville. It was worth over $50,000,000.00 in gold and cash.

Lincoln: Wow! That's a lot of money.

Me: It was. Molly heard that Manny escaped and he tried to steal all the money for herself before he could get there.

Nico: Boy talk about the ultimate double-cross.

Me: No kidding. After we recovered all their stolen money, Manny the Mauler was returned to prison and he now is in Solitary Confinement for life. Molly the Moll got 75 years in prison for her crimes without parole.

Nico: Wow. They deserved it.

Qin: Were they involved in the conspiracy?

Me: Nope.

Qin: Good.

Lucy Loud: I got this.

Lucy fired a powerful blast of black lightning and obliterated Boogedy Bones into nothing.

Me: Good riddance.

Korra: Yep.

We moved all of Republic City to our Earth and it now lives on Lake Huron. Korra and her friends are gonna love living on Earth.

Korra: (To the viewers) Never mess with the laws of Bending or else you'll answer to me and Team Loud Phoenix Storm.

Me: You said it Korra.

We had an awesome time in Korra's world.

THE END

Another Fanfiction Complete and another awesome series done.

The Legend of Korra was an awesome series and sequel to the Avatar series and it was so awesome! It won all kinds of awards and more. Kabuto was really bad throughout the whole Naruto Series. But not in Boruto. No Naruto villain next. NicoChan11 gave me the ideas for this. Thanks man. Let me know what you all think. Get ready for an ultimate and awesome adventure as we take down the evil cult of Kali in Darkhai's Requested chapter for Indiana Jones and The Temple of Doom. It's gonna be an awesome adventure as we send that evil cult to Hell!

See you all tomorrow.

Sacrifices to Kali Ma

At the Gotham Royal York Mall, it was being overtaken by the evil KOBRA Cult!

---

Kobra, also known as the Followers of Kali-Yuga, Kobra Organization, the Kobras and the Cult of the Kobra God, is a cult originating in Kobra Vol.1 1, enemies of the Justice League, Outsiders, Wonder Woman and Chekmate.

Originally a cult in India, Kobra had a prophecy that one day someone would lead them to greatness. Finding this someone as one of a set of twins, they selected one at random and took him to be raised by them. This baby, named Jeffrey Burr by his parents, grew to be a formidable warrior and a criminal mastermind. As he took control of the organisation, he was awarded the title "Naga Naga".

Under Burr, Kobra began using cutting-edge science and terrorist tactics to fulfil it's ultimate goal of bringing about the Kali Yuga - the Age of Chaos, in which the imperfect world will be swept away by a divinely-inspired, better version.

Kobra's members are religious fanatics that will fight to the death, and will commit suicide rather than be captured. As a result the organisation has been able to maintain a veil of secrecy for decades - possibly centuries.

Jeffrey Franklin Burr

Kobra is an international terrorist and mad scientist who has crossed paths with the majority of Earth's costumed heroes during his attempts to usher in the Kali Yuga (an age of chaos). His real name is Jeffrey Franklin Burr, and he was born part of a set of siamese twins, but was stolen at birth by the Cult of the Kobra god, since a prophecy claimed he would lead them to rule the world. Under their teaching, he became a dangerous warrior and a sadistic criminal mastermind. He led the cult into using advanced technology to menace the world. Followers of Kobra would frequently address their master as "Naja-Naja", "naja naja" being the binomial name for the Indian Cobra. This later became "Nāga-Naga", a meaningless title which translates from the Sanskrit as "snake-snake". Whether this change was intentional or an error is not known. However, unknown to the cult, he had a psychic link to his twin brother, Jason, who knew nothing of Kobra. As a result, one felt what the other felt, including pain. Because of this, his brother was recruited by an international agency to help them combat Kobra. At first, Kobra was unable to even hurt or kill his brother; eventually, however, he used a device that "shut off" the psychic link, and gave him the chance to kill Jason. However, Kobra was subsequently haunted by visions of his brother. Whether it really was his ghost or just Kobra's imagination was never revealed. In subsequent years, Kobra would clash with assorted superheroes, including Batman, whom he first met over a Lazarus Pit of his own creation. Kobra had learned to build modified Lazarus Pits, which allowed him to control the minds of those he killed and resurrected. Kobra is the only person in the DC universe ever to decipher the formula for the Lazarus Pits. Kobra had special concerns about Wonder Woman and sought to ensure her death, first by hiring a cartel of international assassins led secretly by corrupted UN Crisis Bureau chief Morgan Tracy (also Diana Prince's boss), then by kidnapping and irretrievably damaging environmental activist Deborah Domaine, forcibly transforming her into a new Cheetah, and ultimately, facing her in combat in Egypt, faking his own demise after being defeated by the Amazon Princess. A short while later his various Strike Force Kobra teams would fight two different incarnations of Batman's Outsiders. Kobra also fought the third Flash, the Suicide Squad led by Amanda Waller, the original incarnation of Checkmate, Captain Atom, a Superman whose personality had been swapped with Ambush Bug's by exposure to red kryptonite, and others. Kobra is one of a very small number of individuals that has the capability of defeating Batman in hand-to-hand combat, and actually did so on one occasion. The only organization ever to rival Kobra in the old DC Universe (Pre-Crisis I) was SKULL. There were frequent recorded clashes between the two groups, the last occurring in Outsiders Annual #1 story "The Skull… The Serpent… and The Outsiders". After the betrayal of his lover Eve during the Strike Force Kobra fiasco, she split Kobra in two and established her own splinter group. In the Power Company: Sapphire #1 the Justice League rushes to San Diego to prevent disaster as two rival factions of the Kobra Cult prepared to go to war. One faction was led by Eve; the other was led by Kobra himself. He kidnaps the former hero Air Wave and uses him to seize control of the world's media and satellite resources, intending to destroy a number of major world cities. However, in a demonstration of his power, he incidentally kills Terri Rothstein, Atom Smasher's mother, ensuring the Justice Society of America's involvement. (Mrs Rothstein's life would later be saved through time travel; Atom Smasher replacing her with the villain Extant). He appeared again in JSA #45, which featured his trial. He shrugs off claims of terrorism, claiming to be an enlightened soul (a bodhisattva) trying to free souls from their karmic debt by random acts of violence. Following this, his followers threatened to kill the media outside the courthouse with bioengineered suicide bomb implants. Holding everyone hostage with this tactic, he was allowed by the JSA to escape, leading to an outraged Black Adam and Atom Smasher, who both subsequently choose to leave the team. In JSA #51, Atom Smasher, Black Adam, Northwind, and Brainwave track Kobra down to his headquarters in the Himalaya Mountains. After killing his guards, Black Adam rips his heart out and he is dead instantly.

Jason Burr

Jeffrey's twin brother Jason is re-animated by the Kobra Cult in Faces of Evil: Kobra #1 (March 2009), possibly through the use of Kobra's Lazarus Pits. This involves the death of an entire facility of Checkmate agents, including several of Burr's old friends. Within the one-shot Jason reveals that he is re-structuring the organization and killing off all the old members. Before revealing himself as the new Kobra, Jason spent some time undercover as a Checkmate agent learning their secrets.

Batman Beyond

A future version of Kobra (or, at least, his organization) appeared in four episodes of Batman Beyond. Its members appeared not to be warriors but scientists who have an obsession with reptiles. They also made virus tests on people who were kidnapped. They in turn became reptilian creatures that obey Kobra's every command. Little is known about the origins of Kobra, but they had long admired the power of the dinosaurs. They envisioned them as the only life form capable of ruling the world once again. So, for years Kobra sought a way to splice human genes with dinosaurs' DNA. Until they could achieve their main goal, Kobra used cutting edge technology for robberies, extortion and terrorism, which led them to clash with Batman (Terry McGinnis) on a few occasions. Kobra was ruthless and unforgiving. Every member of Kobra was expected to have complete allegiance and devotion to the organization, and any protocol breach was punished with a gruesome death in a pit of vipers. Among their interrogation techniques, Kobra used a sensor that turned one's thoughts into pictures. This way they could weed out traitors among their ranks (however, this instrument was proved to be fallible, as a young kid deceived it by sheer force of will as seen in "Unmasked"). There were several Kobra branches around the world, and each cell seemed to have its own Main Operator. The hierarchy of Kobra was depicted by color and garments. The ones on the bottom were foot soldiers, identified by their green spandex uniforms. They responded to members who donned an orange variation of the same spandex uniform, with golden bracelets on their forearms and forelegs, and a green exomis or hooded cloak. There were also scientists, technicians, or assistants who wore these garments. However, Main Operators usually had a chin beard. Within the infantry there were assassins that ranked above the rest. They were trained in specific fighting techniques, or armed with special weaponry, such as electrical flail or edge weapons. Altogether, these combatants were more dangerous and deadlier than the average foot soldier. Kobra's first appearance was in "Plague", where it continued executing fiendish schemes to gain an edge and thrive. In the episode, they had developed a deadly super virus capable of complete biological devastation. They hired a criminal named False-Face to smuggle the virus from Saint Denis to Gotham City, and then broke into Gotham Plastics, where they planned to coat millions of cred-cards with the virus, thus transmitting it by hand-to-hand contact. In case that plan failed or the government resisted their demands, Kobra secretly turned Falseface into a virus carrier. Kobra planned to demand a ransom of 10 billion credits. Their actions were eventually intercepted by the NSA that had enlisted Stalker to track down and retrieve the virus. Kobra's plans were foiled by an unlikely alliance between Stalker and Batman. In the "Curse of the Kobra," it's revealed that despite having a resolute goal, Kobra lacked cohesive leadership. Therefore, they decided to genetically engineer the perfect Kobra leader. In the long run, they created Zander (voiced by Alexis Denisof).

They carefully monitored and controlled his gestation, striving to create a healthy and resilient makeup. Right from early infancy, Kobra started to groom Zander to become the perfect leader. They brainwashed and trained him in military strategies and tactics. When Zander finally reached adolescence and was ready to assume his leadership, Kobra could finally move on with their plan. They stole a vial from Dr. Padu Banjahri, a paleontologist who had been recovering dinosaur DNA, and used its contents to help splice their lackeys into dinosaur hybrids. However, there was still the problem of adaptability: Dinosaurs were cold-blooded, so they could only survive in a tropical environment. In order to raise the planet's temperature, Kobra had stolen the R12 thermal bomb from the Nova Research Center. They planned to plunge it into a dormant volcano standing on a rift that went down to the Earth's core. This would start a chain reaction that would raise the temperature of the whole planet. However, thanks to the combined efforts of Batman, Max and Kairi Tanaga (Zander's martial arts teacher and a former fellow student of Bruce Wayne's own sensei), Kobra's supreme goal was brought to naught, and in the process they lost their perfect leader.

Batman: the Brave and the Bold

The Kobra organization appears in the Batman: The Brave and the Bold episode "Requiem for a Scarlet Speedster" with the Kobra Leader voiced by Robin Atkin Downes. They are shown as a cult where they planned to sacrifice a woman in order to prepare for their world domination only to run afoul of Batman and the Outsiders (consisting of Black Lightning, Katana, Metamorpho, Geo-Force, and Halo). Though they managed to defeat Kobra and save the woman, Batman learned that the Outsiders forgot to blow up the bridge that was to prevent other Kobra soldiers from arriving.

Young Justice

The Jeffrey Burr version of Kobra (alongside his cult) appears in the Young Justice episode "Drop Zone" voiced by Arnold Vosloo. The cult is in conflict with Bane over the production of the drug Venom and ultimately revealed to be combining it with the Blockbuster Formula to create a more powerful and permanent transformation for the Light. With the inclusion of some unnamed members, Kobra is served by Mammoth (who was created from the Venom/Blockbuster formula) and Shimmer. He and his cult ended up fighting Bane and Young Justice at the time when the Light's operative Sportsmaster came to pick up the formulas. He does fight Robin in the climax of the episode but manages to get away.

---

It was a brutal fight as we were killing and blasting members of Kobra all over the place and killing them and saving hostages. But I charged in and blasted a member of Kobra and a hostage got hurt. I was healing her.

Sheila: You guys ok?

Nico: Yeah. But one of the hostages got shot in the shoulder just as J.D. was charging at the terrorists. Fortunately, J.D. healed said hostage. But now, I'm worried about him.

Tom Lair: Don't be. Knowing J.D., he'll move on from this.

Commander Mars: I don't know. He and the Loud Kids look pretty shaken up.

Mars' Bronzong: (worried) Bronzong.

---

Back at the estate, with the Kobra Cult immobilized for the time being, things were not looking good.

Lincoln: This is all our fault.

Cornelia: Lincoln, that's not true.

Nico: Yeah it's not our fault.

Lincoln: YES, IT IS! If we hadn't charged in recklesssly, maybe that hostage wouldn't have gotten wounded. Normally, when we charge in like that, it gets the job done. But not this time!

Elena: What are you saying?

Lincoln: I'm saying that all this time, whenever we were reckless when dealing with criminals, there was a good chance that someone could've gotten hurt. And today just opened our eyes. Well, you know what? No more. ME AND MY SISTERS QUIT!

Me: (Sighs)

Mindwipe: You're quitting as well, J.D.?

Me: Sorry, Mindwipe. But Foop, Rotwood, and Morton are right. I am a reckless brute. Not to mention that most of the people getting Akumatized in Paris all at once were because we recklessly exposed Lila when there was another way to do it. Even if she did deserve it. If I can't think of a plan before I make an action, then I shouldn't be out there at all.

Nico was shocked. He didn't expect me to do this even after that pep talk he gave us in Paris.

Nico: I'll be leader just in case they don't come back.

G1 Brainstorm: How about we watch some Indiana Jones movies to cheer you guys up?

Nico: Good idea.

In the kitchen I was talking to Lincoln.

Me: Now guys we can't quit. I only said that stuff as part of my plan.

Lincoln: Me too J.D.

Lori: So what is your plan?

Me: My plan is to prove everyone wrong by having them wait for their next mission and then we'll watch them from the shadows and step in when the time comes to prove my point. It's takes recklessness to win the battle even when the odds are against you.

Laney: That's a brilliant plan.

Lola: I like it.

Lily: Yeah.

Me: Okay. We'll wait.

Back in the living room, everyone else was watching the Indiana Jones Movies. First from 1981 was Raiders of The Lost Ark. That one was about how they found the legendary Ark of the Covenant.

In 1936, American archaeologist Indiana Jones braves an ancient booby-trapped temple in Peru to retrieve a golden idol. He is confronted by rival archaeologist René Belloq and the indigenous Hovito people. Surrounded and outnumbered, Jones is forced to surrender the idol to Belloq and escapes aboard a waiting water plane.

Two Army Intelligence agents later interview Jones at Marshall College, where he holds a teaching position, and inform him that the Nazis are searching for his old mentor, Abner Ravenwood, whom Jones studied under at the University of Chicago. The Nazis know that Ravenwood is the leading expert on the ancient city of Tanis in Egypt, and that he possesses the headpiece of an ancient Egyptian artifact known as "the Staff of Ra". Jones deduces that the Nazis are searching for the Ark of the Covenant, believing it will grant their armies invincibility. The agents authorize Jones to recover the Ark.

He travels to Nepal to discover that Ravenwood has died and the headpiece is in the possession of Ravenwood's daughter Marion. Jones visits Marion at her tavern before a group of thugs arrive with their Nazi commander Arnold Toht, seeking the headpiece. A gunfight erupts, the bar is set ablaze and the headpiece lands in the flames. Toht severely burns his hand trying to retrieve it and flees the bar in agony. Jones and Marion escape with the headpiece, and Marion decides to accompany Jones in his search.

The pair travels to Cairo, Egypt, where they meet up with Jones' friend and skilled digger Sallah. He informs them that Belloq and the Nazis are digging for "the Well of Souls", believed to lead to the Ark's location, with a replica of the headpiece created from the scar on Toht's hand. They realize the Nazi headpiece is incomplete and that the Nazis are digging in the wrong place. After a confrontation with Belloq in a local bar, Jones and Sallah infiltrate the Nazi dig site; Jones finds Marion bound and gagged in a tent but does not set her free in fear of alerting the Nazis, and promises to come back for her later. Jones and Sallah use their staff to locate the Ark in the snake-infested Well of Souls. Belloq, Toht, and Nazi officer Colonel Dietrich arrive and seize the Ark from Jones, before imprisoning him and Marion in the crypt. The two escape to a local airstrip, where Indy gets into a fistfight with a mechanic and destroys the flying wing that was to transport the Ark to Berlin, Germany. The panicked Nazis load the Ark onto a truck, but Indy manages to catch up on horseback, hijack the truck, and make arrangements to transport the Ark to London aboard tramp steamer Bantu Wind. In the cargo hold, an unseen force burns the Nazi symbols painted on the wooden crate containing the Ark.

The next day a Nazi U-boat intercepts the ship. Belloq, Toht, and Dietrich seize the Ark and Marion but cannot locate Jones, who stows away aboard the U-boat and travels with them to an island in the Aegean Sea. Once there, Belloq plans to test the power of the Ark before presenting it to Hitler. Jones reveals himself and threatens to destroy the Ark with an anti-tank rocket, but Belloq calls his bluff and Jones surrenders.

The Nazis take Jones and Marion to an area where the Ark will be opened and tie them to a post to observe. Dressed as an Israelite kohen gadol, Belloq performs a ceremonial opening of the Ark by invoking a standard Sabbath prayer, and finds it full of sand, possibly all that is left of the Ten Commandments. As Jones warns Marion to keep her eyes shut, spirits emerge from the Ark, eventually revealing themselves to be angels of death. Flames then form above the opened Ark and bolts of energy shoot through the gathered Nazi soldiers, killing them all. In the extreme heat, Dietrich's head shrivels up; all the flesh on Toht's face melts off his skull; and Belloq's head explodes. Flames then engulf and vaporize the remains of the doomed assembly, save for Jones and Marion, in a whirlwind of fire before the Ark seals itself shut. Jones and Marion open their eyes and find the area wiped clean along with their ropes burned off, and embrace.

Back in Washington, D.C., the Army Intelligence agents inform Jones and Marcus Brody that the Ark is someplace safe and will be studied and monitored by "top men". It is then shown being sealed in a wooden crate and stored in a giant government warehouse among countless other crates.

Next from 1984 was Indiana Jones and the Temple of Doom.

In 1935, Indiana Jones narrowly escapes the clutches of Lao Che, a crime boss in Shanghai, China. With his eleven-year-old Chinese sidekick Short Round and the nightclub singer Willie Scott in tow, Indy flees Shanghai on an airplane that, unbeknownst to them, is owned by Lao Che. While the three of them are asleep on the plane, the pilots dump the fuel and parachute out, leaving the plane to crash over the Himalayas. Indy, Shorty, and Willie discover the sabotage and narrowly manage to escape by jumping out of the plane on an inflatable raft just before it crashes into the mountainside. They ride down the mountain slopes and fall into a raging river, eventually arriving at the village of Mayapore in northern India. The impoverished villagers believe the three to have been sent by Shiva to retrieve the sacred lingam stone stolen from their shrine, as well as the community's missing children, from evil forces in the nearby Pankot Palace. During the journey to Pankot, Indy hypothesizes that the stone may be one of the five fabled Sankara stones that promise fortune and glory.

The trio receive a warm welcome from the Prime Minister of Pankot Palace, Chattar Lal. The visitors are allowed to stay for the night as guests, during which they attend a lavish but grotesque banquet given by the young Maharaja, Zalim Singh. Lal rebuffs Indy's questions about the villagers' claims and his theory that the ancient Thuggee cult is responsible for their troubles. Later that night, Indy is attacked by an assassin, leading Indy, Willie, and Shorty to believe that something is wrong. After Indy kills the assassin, they discover a series of tunnels hidden behind a statue in Willie's room and set out to explore them, overcoming a number of booby-traps along the way.

The trio eventually reach an underground temple where the Thuggees worship Kali with human sacrifice. They watch as the Thuggees chain one of their victims in a cage, and the high priest Mola Ram uses his evil magic to rip out the victim's still beating heart. While the victim is still alive, he is slowly lowered into a lava pit, burning him alive, with his heart held in Mola Ram's hand burning as well. They discover that Mola Ram, who has plans for world domination, and the Thuggees are in possession of three of the five Sankara stones, which were hidden in the catacombs by a priest when the British invaded, and have enslaved the children to mine for the last two, as well as to mine jewels to fund their operations. As Indy tries to retrieve the stones, he, Willie, and Shorty are captured and separated. Indy is whipped and forced to drink a potion called the Blood of Kali, causing him to enter a trance-like state and mindlessly serve the Thuggees. Willie is prepared for sacrifice, while Shorty is whipped and put to work in the mines alongside the children. Shorty breaks free and escapes back into the temple, where he burns Indy with a torch to bring him back to his senses. After fighting off the guards and defeating Lal, Indy stops Willie's cage and cranks it out of the pit just in time to save her from the fire, while Mola Ram escapes via a trapdoor under the Sankara stones' altar. Indy retrieves the stones, and the three return to the mines to free the children. As Indy fights a hulking overseer, Singh-also under Mola Ram's control-tries to cripple him with a voodoo doll. Shorty knocks the doll away and burns him to break the trance, and a restored Indy escapes and leaves the overseer to die in a steamroller (His attempts to save him however were futile). Singh then tells Shorty how to get out of the mine.

The trio escape from the temple in a mine cart, pursued by Thuggees, while Mola Ram orders a huge water cistern dumped in an attempt to flood them out. After barely escaping the deluge, they are again ambushed by Mola Ram and his henchmen on a rope bridge high above a crocodile-infested river. Indy cuts the bridge in half with a sword, leaving everyone to hang on for their lives. As he and Mola Ram struggle over the stones, he invokes the name of Shiva by proclaiming him to be a traitor, causing them to glow white-hot. Mola Ram burns his hand on the stones, causing him to lose his grip and fall to be devoured alive by the crocodiles down below; Indy catches the last one safely as the other two fall into the river and climbs up as a company of British Indian Army riflemen, summoned by Singh, arrive and open fire on the Thuggee archers trying to shoot him. Indy, Willie, and Shorty return to Mayapore with the children and give the missing stone back to the villagers.

Next from 1989 was Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade. That was where they try to find the legendary Holy Grail.

---

In 1912, thirteen-year-old Henry "Indiana" Jones, Jr is horseback riding with his Boy Scout troop at Arches National Park in Utah. While scouting caves, Indy discovers a group of grave robbers who have found a golden crucifix belonging to Coronado and steals it from them, hoping to donate it to a museum. The men give chase through a passing circus train, leaving Indy with a bloody cut across his chin from a bullwhip and a new phobia of snakes. Indy escapes, but the local sheriff makes him return the cross to the robbers, who immediately turn it over to a mysterious benefactor wearing a Panama Hat. Impressed with Indy's bravery, the leader of the robbers gives Indy his fedora to encourage him to not give up.

In 1938, Indy battles "Panama Hat" and his henchmen on a ship off the storm-blasted coast of Portugal, and escaping overboard just before the ship explodes, he recovers the cross and donates it to Marcus Brody's museum. Later, Indy is introduced to Walter Donovan, who informs him that his father, Henry Jones, Sr., has vanished while searching for the Holy Grail, using an incomplete inscription from a stone tablet as his guide. Indy receives Henry's Grail diary via mail from Venice, Italy, and heads there with Marcus, where they meet Henry's Austrian colleague Dr. Elsa Schneider. Beneath the library where Henry was last seen, Indy and Elsa discover a set of half-flooded catacombs that house the tomb of a First Crusade knight, which contains a complete version of the inscription that Henry had used, revealing the location of the Grail. They flee when the petroleum-saturated waters of the catacombs are set aflame by the Brotherhood of the Cruciform Sword, a secret society that protects the Grail from evildoers. Indy and Elsa capture one of the Brotherhood, Kazim, who tells Indy where Henry is being held after Indy explains that his only goal is to find Henry, not the Grail. Marcus reveals a map drawn by Henry of the route to the Grail, which begins in Alexandretta. Indy removes the map from the diary, gives it to Marcus for safekeeping, and sends him to İskenderun, the city built on the ruins of Alexandretta, to rendezvous with their old friend Sallah.

Indy and Elsa head to a Nazi-controlled castle in Austria where Henry is being held. Indy finds Henry, but learns that both Elsa and Donovan are actually working with the Nazis and are using the Joneses to find the Grail for them. Marcus is captured in Hatay while meeting with Sallah. After escaping from the castle, Henry tells Indy that the Grail is guarded by three booby traps and his diary contains the clues needed to pass them safely. Indy recovers the diary from Elsa at a book burning rally in Berlin, briefly coming face-to-face with Hitler. They board a Zeppelin to leave Germany, but the Nazis discover the Joneses are aboard. The Joneses escape in a parasite biplane, and crash while engaging in a dogfight with Luftwaffe fighters.

The two meet up with Sallah in Hatay, where they learn of Marcus' abduction. The Nazis have been equipped by the Sultan of Hatay and are already moving toward the Grail's location, using the map possessed by Marcus. Indy, Henry, and Sallah find the Nazi expedition, which is ambushed by the Brotherhood. During the battle, Henry is captured by SS Colonel Ernst Vogel while attempting to rescue Marcus from a tank; Kazim and his comrades are killed. Indy pursues the tank on horseback and, with the aid of Sallah, saves Henry and Marcus. He is caught up in a fight with Vogel, and barely escapes before the tank goes over a cliff, sending Vogel to his death.

Indy, Henry, Marcus, and Sallah catch up with the surviving Nazis, led by Donovan and Elsa, who have found the temple where the Holy Grail is kept but are unable to get past the three protective traps. Donovan shoots and mortally wounds Henry in order to force Indy to risk his life in the traps to find the Grail and use its healing power to save his father. Using the information in the diary and followed by Donovan and Elsa, Indy safely overcomes the traps and reaches the Grail's chamber, which is guarded by a knight. He has been kept alive for 700 years by the power of the Grail, which is hidden among dozens of false grails; only the true Grail grants eternal life, while a false one will kill the drinker. Elsa selects a golden chalice studded with emeralds for Donovan, who rapidly ages into dust after drinking from it, proving it to be false. Indy picks a simple wooden cup, and the knight tells him that he has "chosen wisely," proving it to be the right one but warns that the Holy Grail cannot be taken beyond the temple's entrance, in accordance with the Law of God.

Indy fills the Grail with holy water and gives it to Henry, healing him instantly. Elsa disregards the knight's warning and tries to take the Grail with her, causing the temple to collapse around them. When the Grail falls into a chasm in the floor, Elsa plummets to her death trying to recover it, due to her being unable to let go of her obsession with it. Indy nearly suffers the same fate before Henry urges him to leave it. The Joneses, Marcus, and Sallah escape the temple and ride off into the sunset.

And lastly from 2008 was Indiana Jones and the Kingdom of the Crystal Skull. Where they find the legendary Crystal Skull of Pre-Colombian Legend.

In 1957, Indiana Jones and his partner George "Mac" McHale are kidnapped from Mexico where they were digging for trinkets by Soviet agents under Colonel Dr. Irina Spalko, who infiltrate a secret Nevada warehouse labeled "Hangar 51" and force Jones to locate a mummified corpse (implied to come from the Roswell UFO incident,10 years earlier, on which he was forced to work). Upon its discovery, Mac reveals he has become a double agent working for the Soviets. After an unsuccessful attempt to retrieve the body and a fight with Spalko's henchman Dovchenko, Jones escapes to a model town at the Nevada Test Site, minutes before an atomic bomb test. He takes shelter in a lead-lined refrigerator and is rescued, decontaminated, and interrogated by FBI agents, who suspect him of working for the Soviets. Though freed by the recommendation of General Ross, he ends up put on indefinite leave of absence from Marshall College. His leaving also causes the dean's resignation to keep Indiana's job at the college.

Jones is approached by greaser Mutt Williams, who tells him Harold Oxley found a crystal skull in Peru and was later kidnapped. Jones tells Mutt about the legend of crystal skulls found in Akator, and Mutt gives Jones a letter from his mother, containing a riddle written by Oxley in an ancient language. KGB agents attempt to capture them, but Jones and Mutt escape and, finding and following the riddle's meaning, reach Peru. At the local psychiatric hospital, Oxley's scribbles on the walls and floor of his cell lead them to the grave of Francisco de Orellana, a Conquistador who searched for Akator. They find the skull at the grave, with Jones reasoning Oxley had returned it there.

Jones and Mutt are captured by Mac and the Soviets and taken to their camp in the Amazon jungle, where they find Oxley and Mutt's mother, Marion Ravenwood, who reveals that Mutt is Jones' son, Henry Jones III. Spalko believes the crystal skull belongs to an alien life form and holds great psychic power, and finding more skulls in Akator will grant the Soviets the advantage of psychic warfare. Spalko uses the skull on Jones to enable him to understand Oxley and identify a route to Akator. Jones and his allies try to escape, but Marion and Jones get caught in a dry sandpit, and are recaptured by the Soviets. While on their way to Akator, Mac tells Jones he is a CIA double-agent to regain Jones' trust. Jones and his team fight their way out of the Soviets' clutches, while Dovchenko is devoured by siafu ants. After surviving three waterfalls in an amphibious vehicle, Jones and Oxley identify a skull-like rock formation that leads them to Akator, unaware that Mac lied about being a CIA agent and has been dropping transceivers to allow the surviving Soviets to track them.

Jones' team evade the city's guardians, gain access to the temple, and find it filled with artifacts from many ancient civilizations, identifying the aliens as extra-dimensional "archaeologists" studying the different cultures of Earth. They find and enter a chamber containing thirteen crystal skeletons, one missing its skull. Spalko arrives and presents the skull to its skeleton, whereupon the aliens reanimate and telepathically offer a reward in ancient Mayan through Oxley. Spalko immediately demands to know everything and the aliens transfer their knowledge into her mind. A portal to their dimension becomes activated, and the other remaining Soviets are drawn into it. As Jones, Marion, Mutt, and Oxley (who has regained his sanity) escape, the thirteen beings fuse into one, and in the process of receiving the overwhelming knowledge, Spalko is disintegrated and sucked into the portal. Mac is sucked in too after he willingly lets go of Jones' whip. Jones' team escape and watch as the city crumbles, revealing a flying saucer rising from under the ground and vanishing into the "space between spaces", while the hollow in the valley floor left by its departure is flooded by the waters of the Amazon.

The following year, Jones is reinstated at Marshall College and made an associate dean, and he and Marion are married.

We found out that there is another movie for Indiana Jones coming out in 2021. When they were done, everyone cheered wildly.

Nico: Whoa! That is so awesome!

Maria: I know! I love Indiana Jones.

James Maxfield: I know. It's so awesome.

Seia: Yeah!

Nico: I know. But it was so cool that Indiana Jones faces the forces of Anti-God in these movies. It's hard to imagine that he goes through so much danger and so much peril to show the world awesome artifacts.

Naruto: I know. It's just amazing that he is that daring.

Sophie: (British Accent) It sure is amazing. I've always been very fascinated with all stuff in archaeology as well.

Sakura Avalon: My dad is an archaeologist and he is an amazing professor as well. But he's not as daring as Indiana Jones is.

Hunter: (German Accent) That's still a great job though. Und I think it's really amazing.

Nico: It is an amazing job. But what that cult was doing was beyond all words horrible. They need to be stopped.

Lok: I agree. They need to pay for their crimes.

Nico: Lets see what it says about them.

Nico pulled up the history of the Thuggee cult.

---

The Thuggee are an evil cult that served as the primary antagonistic faction of the film Indiana Jones and the Temple of Doom.

History

A twisted and evil group the Thugee worshipped the goddess Kali with human sacrifice and terrorist acts. Soldiers of the British Empire wiped out the Thuggee in the 19th century.

The British Empire were assumed to have wiped out the Thuggee cult. However the Thugee survived the British attacks and continued in secret, based out of caves underneath Pankot Palace. In the 1930s they were led by Mola Ram, and the group had come to possess two of the five Sankara Stones. The group stole a third stone from a nearby village and kidnapped the village children to mine for the remaining two stones so that with the five stones they could summon Kali and take over the world.

The group was defeated due to the timely intervention of Indiana Jones, who set the children free and destroyed the mine.

Summoning the power of Shiva, Jones defeated Mola Ram when the stones burned his hand. Two of the stones fell into the river below them, while Jones caught the third stone. Mola Ram fell into the river, devoured by hungry crocodiles.

The remaining Thuggee tried to kill Dr. Jones, however a detachment of British soldiers arrived to assist Dr. Jones. Many of the Thugee were killed and the remaining cult members were arrested by the British.

---

They gasped in horror.

Kira Ford: That is pure evil.

Sasuke: No kidding.

Ed: Yeah.

Nico: Lets head to the simulator and stop them.

Everyone: YEAH!

They went to the Simulator.

Me and the Loud's would follow later.

---

In the Simulator they got ready and then the Simulator activated and they found themselves in the world of Indiana Jones and the Temple of Doom. They were over in Northern India and it was a dense jungle. They were over near Pankot Palace.

Nico: Wow. So this is Pankot Palace.

Elena: It sure looks beautiful.

Dante: It sure is.

Venom: But this place is filled with evil.

Sakura Haruno: Yeah. I can sense it.

Nico: A perfect place for those fuckers of Kali.

Eion: Yeah. And it's a perfect place for them to burn.

Chloe Bourgeois: It sure is.

Then a man came swinging on a vine and they saw that it was Indiana Jones!

Nico: Whoa! Indiana Jones!

Lok: Wow! There he is!

Carly Beth Caldwell: So awesome!

Indiana Jones: Team Loud Phoenix Storm. It's a true honor to meet all of you.

Nico: Same here. It's an honor to meet you too. We love all of your adventures and we think it's so awesome how you risk everything to show the world awesome artifacts.

Indiana Jones: I know.

Nico: I'll never forget how you found the legendary Emerald Idol of Quetzalcoatl.

Ronnie Anne: That was so awesome.

Indiana Jones: That was a piece of cake compared to what we're going to do now.

Nico: We came to help you all kill those Kali fuckers.

Syd Chang: Yeah and make them pay for their crimes.

Mark Rowe: J.D. had his heart ripped out by a monster man that used the same thing they did.

Nico: Yeah but his heart exploded in his face and killed him.

Indiana Jones: Speaking of which, where's J.D. and the Loud Kids?

Maria: They're… preoccupied right now.

Nico: We're obviously here for the same thing you are. To kill the Thuggees.

Indiana Jones: That's right.

They were off to the palace and in a sacrificial room they saw the Thuggees and they were sacrificing to the evil goddess Kali Ma.

Nico: That is completely barbaric.

Nicole: You know, if Dad were here, we'd be charging at those cult members with a Phoenix Cry.

Nico: Well, J.D.'s not here, is he?

Sophie: I wish he was.

Indiana Jones: Ok. I want the truth. Why aren't J.D. and the Loud Kids with you here?

Venom: There was a hostage situation this morning. But the minute J.D. charged in recklessly, one of the hostages got shot.

Lea: Because J.D. and the Loud Kids felt that it was their fault, they decided to throw in the towel and appoint Nico as the new boss of Team Loud Phoenix Storm.

Nico: Well, maybe this can be a lesson for them to not act recklessly and actually think of a plan before they act.

Indiana Jones: Look, I agree that you need a plan most of the time. I know I need a plan whenever I go on one of my treasure hunts. But you know what I do whenever there's no time to think of a plan?

Nico: What's that?

Indiana Jones: I actually do act recklessly and hope for the best. There's a time to be reckless and a time to think of a plan. You need to balance those two out or else you're definitely screwed.

Nico: Huh. Didn't think of it that way.

Indiana Jones: That's right.

Nico: Lets see how many we got here.

Nico looked them all over and saw that there was a lot of them and more.

Nico: We're really outnumbered. I think J.D. and the Loud's splitting up with us was a bad idea.

Maria: I agree. But lets take them down anyway.

Naruto: Right.

They fired energy blasts at the cult members and blew most of them apart. They landed and were ready to fight.

Mola Ram: Team Loud Phoenix Storm! And Indiana Jones!

Nico: Mola Ram, you have failed this world!

Maria: Now you will die!

Zs'Skayr and Number 7 came out.

Ed: Oh no.

Number 7: Hey where are J.D. and the Loud's?

Maria: Not here.

Zs'Skayr: So where's J.D. and the Louds?

Sandman: They're not coming. They've given up. And I think it's for good.

Number 7: That can't be right. Usually, they go on a mission, we usually show up to stop them, we usually fight, they usually win, we usually retreat, and the whole thing begins again. (looks down) But now that you've told us this, that can't happen anymore.

Mola Ram: (smirks) So, should I kll them now or-

Zs'Skayr: Fall back to the temple.

Mola Ram: But we have them right where we want them and-

Number 7: We said. Fall. Back.

Mola Ram: (nervously) Right away.

Zs'Skayr: (the cult members fall back) Without J.D. and the Louds to stop us, our lives have truly become empty.

Arpeggio: (British Accent) You two still have Double D and Ed.

Number 7: But it's just not the same anymore.

Nico: Guys, if you can hear me, I'm sorry. All I wanted was for you to not act recklessly all the time. I didn't mean for you to quit. And now, I don't know what to do without you guys. So, if you all are still willing to help us out, we've got some Cult Members to take out. Are you guys with me?

Laney: Guys, Nico's right. We can't just sit here moping while the others need our help!

Lincoln: What's the point? The only way of fighting that we know is acting without a plan and charging in recklessly.

Laney: (determined) Then I think it's time that we didn't act recklessly and actually think of a solid plan for once. So, are you guys with me? Or do I have to do this by myself?

Me: We're with you Laney.

We went to help them.

Nico: Oh man.

But then a massive fiery explosion blasted a bunch of guards apart and a phoenix cry was heard.

We arrived and punched and blasted a lot of cult members.

Me: Sorry we're late to join the party.

Nico: Perfect timing!

Me: We would never leave you.

Lincoln: Speak for yourself.

Lori smacked him on the back of the head.

Lincoln: Ow!

Lori: You need to literally get over it bro.

Luna: Yeah dude.

Indiana Jones: Nice to finally meet you, J.D. I knew you wouldn't let us down.

Me: Same to you Indiana Jones. I love all your treasure hunts and adventures. Especially the one where you went after the Ruby Amulet of Sobek.

Indiana Jones: You all have been watching my adventures.

Nicole: And reading your books.

Lincoln: Really awesome.

Troy: Now that the team's back together, there's only one thing left to do.

Megaforce Rangers: Legendary Ranger Mode: In Space!

The Megaforce Rangers turned into the In Space Rangers.

Me: Lets get them!

We went at them and we blasted them with elemental energy blasts and all that and we were blowing many members of the cult apart in a massive bloodbath. Lincoln slashed a mans head off and slashed another man's stomach open and disemboweled him and then he blasted him with lightning and electrocuted him until he exploded. Lori blew a man all over in a massive tornado of wind and shredded him apart into nothing. Leni fired blasts of gravity lightning and blew many cultists apart in explosions of blood and gore. Luna fired blasts of water and sent many cultists into the sacrificial pit and they were incinerated. Luan fired a powerful blast of light and incinerated some cultists and burned them. Lynn fired globs of molten lava and burned them and Linka fired lightning and electrocuted many of them and Liberty fired blasts of magic and destroyed many cultists. Lyra and Lee and James Maxfield and Seia smashed and bashed and blasted a bunch of cultists and blew them apart into massive piles of blood, guts and carnage and splattered their guts all over the place. Lucy fired massive blasts of black lightning and electrocuted many of them and Laney fired poison barbs and poisoned them with Strychnine Ω and killed them. Lana froze many cultists in blocks of ice and Lola incinerated them and Lisa blasted them with a nuclear disintegration ray and Lily blasted them with water and sent them flying. The Megaforce Rangers and the Power Rangers blasted them with all kinds of weapons and destroyed many of them and the body count was skyrocketing.

Carol: Try this one! ATOMIC STYLE NINJA ART: NUCLEAR ATTACK!

Atomic particles appeared behind Carol and they spun all around her as Nuclear Attack by Sabaton played.

Dropped from Enola, a city erased, threat of the future displayed

A power unheard of a power unseen

Flash out of nowhere, the sky is burning

At 8:16 AM Tokyo control realized something was wrong

Reports of explosions, destruction and pain

Air raid from hell city gone in a blaze

August in black, B-29's coming back

Prepare for nuclear attack

Warned but did not heed

Prepare for nuclear attack

Extermination

Strike back

Chose not to believe

Another nuclear attack

From the southeast came the second attack, threat of tomorrow unveiled

11:02 on the 9th of August

Over the valley, like ball lightning

The bomb detonates and the land turns to waste, barren for decades to come

The factories burning, the steelworks destroyed

Surrender your war else you'll perish in flames

Second attack, B-29's turning back.

Carol fired two powerful balls of atomic energy and they turned into the Atomic Bombs that destroyed Nagasaki and Hiroshima back in 1945 and they hit the cultists and exploded.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

They were obliterated in an instant.

Me: Whoa! What power!

Vince: Wow! Carol that was amazing babe!

Carol: Thanks Vincey.

Jessie K.: And that was cool. Those bombs that the blasts turned into were from Hiroshima and Nagasaki back in 1945.

Laney: Almost 75 years ago.

Me: That's right.

Jessie K: Yeah.

Me: And we learned all about that when we were in Japan.

Nico: Try this!

Nico grabbed a cultist's neck and snapped it and he grabbed another man and ripped his head off.

Homer: Lets see how he likes this! SIMPSONS STYLE NINJA ART: WHY YOU LITTLE!?

Homer fired a blast of energy and it caused the cultists to choke in strangleholds and then their heads were ripped off and blood splattered everywhere.

Nico: That was awesome!

Bart: Better them than me. Lets see how they like this. SIMPSONS STYLE: AYE CARAMBA!

Bart fired a blast of fire and it turned into demonic fireballs and they hit the cultists and burned them into ash.

Ben: Time for some predator power!

Ben then turned into a wicked scary worm alien! It was SLAMWORM!

Ben: SLAMWORM!

Me: Whoa! That's a wicked one.

Shanan: Whoa! That's a Terraexcavan Burrowworm from the planet Terraexcava!

Laney: Wow! That is a scary one.

Shanan: They feed on Talpaedon's, Armodrillo's species and they have deadly acid that can destroy even the strongest of metals.

Nico: Wow! That is lethal!

Aylene C.: It sure is.

Slamworm: And watch.

Slamworm fired a wave of acid and it covered a bunch of cultists and they screamed in pain as they were being dissolved to death.

Ben then turned into a new alien we never saw. He looked like Thor but with an axe hammer.

Ben: (GODLY VOICE) THUNDERSTRUCK!

Me: Whoa! Ben turned into an Asgardian!

Nico: Whoa! He looks awesome as an Asgardian.

Riley: (Entranced) Wow! He's really sexy and hot. (Purrs)

Thunderstruck: And watch this.

He swung his axe hammer and fired a massive blast of lightning at the cultists and electrocuted many of them into dust.

Lincoln: That… Was… AWESOME!

Linka: It sure was bro!

Ben: But watch this.

Ben then turned into a new Ultimate Alien. He turned into ULTIMATE EYE GUY! He had bigger muscle mass and blades on his arms and he had more eyes and a big eye in the middle of his chest and he had 6 eyes floating around him.

Ben: ULTIMATE EYE GUY!

Me: Whoa! An Evolved Opticoid!

Shanan: Wow! This one is really unique. I've never seen this one before.

Luan: Now Eye see you all over the place. (Laughs) Get it?

Most of us laughed while everyone else groaned.

Me: (Laughs) Good one Luan!

Eddy: (Laughs) Good one! That was funny!

Ed: (Laughs) That was a good eye joke!

Ultimate Eye Guy: Watch this!

He fired lasers from his eyes and they hit a bunch of Cultists all over and killed them.

Me: Time for some teamwork!

Mindwipe: With pleasure! CYBER KEY POWER!

The Animatron Cyber Planet Key went into his back and it enhanced his viper pistol 100-fold.

Commander Mars: Lets do it! ANIMATRON CYBER KEY POWER!

The Animatron Cyber Planet Key went into her right arm device and enhanced her Bronzong's powers 100-fold.

Commander Mars: Use Confuse Ray!

Mindwipe and Commander Mars: PSYCHIC BURST BLAST!

They fired powerful rays of energy and they slammed into the Cultists and exploded.

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

G1 Brainstorm: Time for some energy! CYBER KEY POWER!

The Earth Cyber Planet Key went into his back and enhanced his Photon Pulse guns 100-fold.

Cornelia: Time for some Earth Power! CANDRAKAR CYBER KEY POWER!

The Candrakar Cyber Planet Key went into her right arm device and enhanced her Earth Powers 100-fold.

G1 Brainstorm and Cornelia: LIGHTNING EARTH STORM SHOWER!

They fired blasts of lightning and earth and they hit the cultists and exploded all over.

Venom: Lets do it!

Venom fired a massive barrage of Symbiote matter and Elena Validus formed a lightning ray and fired a lightning blast.

Venom and Elena Validus: LIGHTNING SYMBIOTE ELECTROCUTION!

The blasts combined and they slammed into the cultists and burned and electrocuted them.

Zhalia: Try this one. OPEN THE DOOR BETWEEN DIMENSIONS - JANUSEEA THE GATEKEEPER!

Zhalia summoned Januseea the Gatekeeper!

---

Zhalia obtained the Amulet of Januseea the Gatekeeper sometime after the defeat of the Professor and prior to the discovery of the Nexus in Peru. On the mission Fate of the Father, Dante Vale stated that Titans sensitive to Seeker energy like Januseea would be most appropriate. Zhalia used Januseea to create a link to the Spirit World via the Nexus in the waterfall cave to form a projection of Eathon Lambert. After the Nexus exploded, she teleported to Dante's side and protected him against Hoffman.

Januseea was used by Zhalia again in Klaus' bookshop to fight Wilder's Gigadrone. She reflected Gigadrone's blasts and pushed it into some bookshelves but it managed to recover and defeat her.

Abilities

Highly sensitive to Seeker energy, Januseea the Gatekeeper possesses the ability to track one's energy, absorb an attack and release at the caster, and create an energy link between a human and their possession to create astral projection of that person, as with Eathon Lambert and his Holotome. She is also able to teleport short distances.

---

Marinette: Time for some power! TIKKI! SPOTS ON! HA!

Marinette turned into Ladybug! She formed her Lucky Charm into a Scythe.

Zhalia with Januseea the Gatekeeper and Marinette: DIMENSIONAL SCYTHE FIRESTORM!

They fired blades of fire and red energy and they hit a bunch of cultists and exploded.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM!
KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!
KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM!
KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM!

Arkayna: Try this one!

Laney: Yeah!

Laney and Arkayna fired powerful blasts of fire.

Arkayna and Laney: FIRESTORM DRAGON BURSTFLAME!

The blasts of fire hit man cultists and incinerated them into ash.

Ben then turned into Slamworm again!

Riley: Lets do it!

Ben as Slamworm and Riley: ACID DRENCHING DELUGE!

Slamworm fired a blast of acid and Riley fired a wave of sulfuric acid and it melted a bunch of cultists and dissolved them.

Gwen Tennyson: Lets do it!

Gwen and Blackfire fired energy blasts at them.

Gwen Tennyson and Blackfire: ANODITE TAMARANEAN FIRESTORM!

Their blasts hit a bunch of the cultists and destroyed them all. All that was left was Mola Ram.

Me: Time to finish this monster off for good!

Korra: Lets do it! FIREBENDER PHOENIX BURN!

Korra fired a powerful blast of fire and it turned into a powerful phoenix and it slammed into Mola Ram and exploded.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Chloe Bourgeois: This guy will feel the sting! POLLIN! BUZZ ON!

Chloe turned into Queen Bee!

Chloe Bourgeois: BEE STING FIRESTORM!

Chloe fired a massive blast of purple fire and it slammed into Mola Ram and burned him and he swelled up.

Nicole: You make me sick Mola Ram! STAR STORM DRAGON WRATH!

Nicole fired a massive blast of star energy and it turned into a dragon and slammed into Mola Ram and exploded.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Indiana Jones: You are a bad leader Mola Ram! TREASURE HUNT WHIPLASH!

Indiana Jones lashed him all over with a massive barrage of lashes from his whip.

Me: Feel the burn! RISE, LEGENDARY TITAN OF REBIRTH - PHOENIX!

In a massive wall of fire around PHOENIX - LEGENDARY TITAN OF REBIRTH!

Me: Mola Ram, prepare to meet Kali, in Hell! (ECHOING) RAGE OF INFERNO! 超弾動閃煌斬

I swung my sword and fired a massive vortex of fire and light and Phoenix fired a massive firestorm blast.

Me: PHOENIX INFERNO MEGA FIRESTORM!

The blasts combined and they slammed into Mola Ram and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Nico: Mola Ram, you have failed this world, you dumbass.

Mola Ram's evil spirit then appeared.

Me: You are not welcome in our universe.

I had my hand in front of his face.

Me: HAKAI!

He glowed purple and he screamed in excruciating pain as he was being obliterated. He was erased from existence for all eternity as if he was never born at all.

Me: Good riddance.

May: Nico, now that Mola Ram's dead, it's time that you and J.D. have that heart to heart.

Nico: Good idea.

Me: Okay.

Me and Nico went to the side for a bit.

Me: Nico, you did really well leading the team. I'm very proud of you. I made the right choice naming you as one of my second in command.

Nico: Thank you, I appreciate that J.D. And I was wrong.

Me: What do you mean?

Nico: Indiana Jones talked to me and he said that many fights don't always require a brilliant plan. Sometimes they require reckless action whenever the situation calls for it. But we should always balance good brains and really brute force.

Me: Yes I see what you mean. And I understand.

Nico: Good. I'm glad.

Chloe Bourgeois: (smiles) It's good to know that you two appreciate each other's fighting styles now.

Nico: You said it. (to Indiana Jones) You were right. Sometimes, being reckless is necessary.

Indiana Jones: Good. You have to balance both to come out on top. But only be reckless whenever the situation calls for it.

Me: All right.

Number 7: Now that you all have defeated the two of us and the cult, we should be going.

Zs'Skayr: And J.D.?

Me: Yeah?

Zs'Skayr (genuinely smiles): It's good to have you back. (he and Number 7 teleport out)

Me: Thanks Zs'Skayr.

Lincoln: J.D.?

Me: Yes Lincoln?

Lincoln: I'm sorry.

Me: Aw it's all right buddy.

Indiana Jones: (To the viewers) Never be reckless in battle unless the situation calls for it.

Me: Yep.

We went back home and Indiana Jones is now part of the local University.

THE END

Another Fanfiction complete and awesome adventure done.

Indiana Jones and the Temple of Doom from 1984 was a really awesome movie and Harrison Ford did a great job in all those movies! Awesome! Darkhai requested that I would do this chapter for him and I hope you like it man. NicoChan11 gave me the ideas for this. Thanks man. Let me know what you all think. Next up is Wrestlemania Scooby-Doo and we're going to help our favorite wrestling stars take down THE GHOST BEAR! We haven't seen them since we faced Jackie The Jackal and we're going to kick some butt together!

See you all tomorrow.

Wrestling Mystery Mayhem

In the Saturn Insane Asylum, Me, Laney, Natilee, Lincoln and Qin were there to see the Loud Kids from the Cult Lincoln's universe.

Qin: So these are the Loud Kids from another universe?

Natilee: That's right Qin. These are the Loud Kids from another universe where because of Lynn's dumb superstition, Lincoln ran away while everyone else was out and he joined an evil cult that we destroyed in our universe called the Project At Eden's Gate.

Me: It's really a Christian terroristic extremist doomsday cult that was out to destroy the entire planet. Their leader was a Christian Extremist named Joseph Seed.

I went over his history.

Joseph Seed (also known as "The Father") is the main antagonist of Far Cry 5 and the leader of the Project at Eden's Gate - a militaristic doomsday cult that has overtaken rural Hope County in Montana. Believing the end of days is upon the world, Seed believes that he has been chosen by God to save the souls of Hope County (whether they like it or not) and uses torture, kidnapping, intimidation, drugs and violence to achieve his goals.

Joseph Seed once again appears as an anti-hero in the sequel Far Cry: New Dawn as the leader of a successor group called New Eden, who unlike their predecessors, choose to live in peace and live off the beauty of post-war Hope County. Despite their neutrality, Joseph's New Eden remains locked in a war with the Highwaymen.

He was portrayed by Greg Bryk.

Joseph was the second-oldest brother of the Seed family with Jacob being the oldest and John the youngest. According to him, their family was broken apart by reasons unknown which led his parents to abuse John and Jacob to defend the two of them.

At some point in his life, Joseph was married to an unnamed woman who was pregnant with his daughter. After a car accident that ended with her death, Joseph was handed a pink bundle of tubes that was his daughter, presumably supplying oxygen based on his description of her reaction. Claiming this was his test from God, Joseph removed the tubes and killed his own daughter.

Increasing in power and followers through his own religious organization - the Project at Eden's Gate ( the members pejoratively referred to as "Peggies" by locals), Seed claimed dominance of a rural Montana town called Hope County which is run by him and his Heralds - his siblings. Seed's iron-fisted rule sparked the attention of the authorities, none of whom could do anything to stop him as he had informants in the law enforcement and National Guard which made it impossible to arrest him or help the locals. Nevertheless, Hope County sparked a Resistance with the goal of eliminating the Peggies.

Any new members of the cult are broken by John whom forces them to confess and atone their sins through torture, then are trained and brainwashed further by Jacob. Resistance is further destroyed by Faith who supplies the inhabitants with "Bliss", a euphoric drug that keeps the user zombie-like and obedient.

Events of Far Cry 5

The Junior Deputy, Hudson, Pratt, Sheriff Whitehorse and Marshal Burke all enter Hope County with a warrant for Joseph Seed's arrest. Upon landing they are met with hundreds of well-armed cultists.

They enter a church where a shirtless Seed is in the middle of a passionate sermon where he forewarns his followers of the oncoming "Collapse". He stops, however, when he realises the police with the intent to arrest him. Despite the hostility of his followers who also realise this, Seed calmly sends them outside with the exception of his siblings and awaits his arrest, confident that God will not allow his "savior" to be taken. When he is handcuffed and marched to the helicopter, the Peggies become much more aggressive - one desperately clings onto the leg of the chopper and even allowed himself to be sucked into the spinning blades to stop the Father being arrested. In this chaos, Seed remains calm and continues his hymn.

The Deputy awakens upside-down whilst still strapped into the helicopter, in front of him is a serene Seed who calmly repeats what he told them in the church - that God wouldn't let them take him. He contacts dispatch, who is a follower and she tells the authorities the situation is under control, making it clear to the deputies that no-one will come to save them. Exiting the helicopter, Seed is greeted with his followers and uses the attempt to arrest him as a sign of the Collapse is coming true and "begins the reaping". As the helicopter burns, Seed claims it's their punishment from God, though Burke and the Deputy escape.

As the Deputy and Whitehorse escape and join the Resistance, Hudson is kidnapped and tortured by John, Pratt is mentally enslaved by Jacob and Burke is held hostage by Faith using an overdose of Bliss.

During the Deputy's atonement, Joseph reprimanded his younger brother for using the ceremony to sadistically torture his enemy further, calmly and subtly threatening him about being locked out of Eden's Gate. Joseph looks at the Deputy and believes they are not above salvation, leaving them at the mercy of John.

Joseph appears to the Deputy in a Bliss-induced hallucination in the middle of a sermon with his cultists, one of which is Marshal Burke. Despite the individuals actions, Joseph greets them with the same serenity and kindness. He attempts to explain the goals of himself and his followers, claiming that he was chosen by God for this mission and did not ask for it. Elaborating further, Joseph shows the Deputy his vision of the Collapse by a massive explosion and the entire world bathed in fire - he ends this vision by explaining his goals of wanting to return to the pure ways in his new Eden with as many saved souls as possible.

After having Jacob kidnap the Deputy, Joseph explains his backstory about when he was poor and how he and his wife were expecting their first child. After an accident that killed his wife, Joseph rushed to the hospital and was handled a pink bundle of tubes that was his daughter. Realising that God was giving him a test to show his faith, Joseph "sacrificed" his own daughter by holding the tubes to her mouth until she stopped kicking and realised his calling in life. He uses this story to explain that the Deputy must now sacrifice and leaves them in Jacob's hands.

With Holland Valley, Whitetail Mountain and Henbane Valley all liberated and John, Jacob and Faith all dead, Joseph is deeply outraged at the deaths of his family and calls the Deputy for a final showdown to where it all began - the church the marshals where they first tried to arrest him. Waiting for the Deputy, The Father has many Bliss containers ready and their brainwashed allies have kidnapped Hudson, Pratt and Whitehorse at gunpoint. When the Deputy arrives, Joseph offers the Deputy a final chance to walk away with his friends unharmed if they leave him and Eden's Gate alone.

Alternate Endings

Resist Ending

If the Deputy chooses to decline Joseph's offer, he furiously declares their sin, to not be "Wrath" as John believed but "Pride". As Joseph repeats a bible quote, the wind becomes much more violent and he turns over the Bliss containers causing the Deputy to hallucinate. In the vision they are trapped outside the church in the middle of a severe thunder and lightning storm and have to fight their Bliss-brainwashed Marshals, Gun For Hires and allies throughout Hope County before the combined manpower and effort are all able to defeat Seed. A neutralised Joseph continues his bible quote as an air raid siren can be heard and the birds begin fleeing - a massive nuclear bomb goes off in the distance, The Collapse that The Father predicted has come to pass and Joseph begins sing a hymn as the end of the world he foretold has come true. The Deputy, Whitehorse, Pratt and Hudson all attempt to escape the blast via truck with the captured Joseph and take shelter in Dutch's bunker as the sky becomes blood red, the birds all die and the trees catch fire. The car eventually crashes in front of a tree, which kills Whitehorse, Pratt and Hudson, but a freed Joseph and the unconscious Deputy both survive. When the Deputy awakens

Joseph has commandeered Dutch's bunker, murdered Dutch and handcuffed them to the bed. Joseph is satisfied with the end of his world as he was correct though he does express a desire to kill the Deputy for murdering his family but instead chooses to make them a part of his "family" so they can reclaim and rebuild the world anew once The Collapse is over. It is possible that by considering him his "family," he intends to indoctrinate the Deputy.

Walk Away Ending

If the Deputy decides to walk away, Joseph thanks the player for their decision, and they leave with Sheriff Whitehorse and Hudson and Pratt whilst Joseph Seed stays in Hope County with their brainwashed friends. Whilst Hudson is angered by this directions and nearly refuses to leave, Pratt is happy to go and vows to never return to Hope County. Whitehorse accepts the Deputy's decision as he vows to return with the National Guard, save the civilians and destroy the cult and Joseph Seed. While in the car Sheriff Whitehorse turns on the radio which happens to be tuned to a station playing "Only You" performed by The Platters. As the screen turns red this proves that Jacob Seeds brainwashing of the Junior Deputy using Classical Conditioning was successful. The song, serving as the stimulus, leads to the reflexive response of the Junior Deputy assumedly killing all of his police comrades.

Secret Ending

In the prologue if the Deputy does not arrest The Father immediately and spends around 5 minutes waiting, Whitehorse, who was against apprehending Joseph head on knowing that they would be ambushed and possibly killed, lowers Joseph's hands and orders the group to leave. Despite Burke's objections to this and claiming that he will have the Sheriff and Deputy arrested, Whitehorse asserts that it is "better to leave well enough alone" and the group leaves the church (he also states this during the walk away ending).

Far Cry: New Dawn

Joseph has been confirmed to appear in the new Far Cry game New Dawn. The "Resist" ending and the nuclear holocaust have been confirmed as canon, with the game taking place in Hope County seventeen years after the nuclear war. Joseph appears in the trailer, expressing disappointment in the new world that has emerged after the Collapse.

New Eden's alliance with Hope County's Scavengers has turned the tide of the war against the Highwaymen. Joseph believes the Security Captain is the one destined to lead the new world back to prosperity and will shepherd Eden when he is gone. Joseph is also aware that his son Ethan covets power and acclaim, and most likely desires thepower of their sacred fruit. However, he knows that Ethan's soul is not pure and has tried his best to keep Ethan from partaking of the fruit. Joseph, driven by the will of the Voice, believes it is his destiny to aid the Security Captain and help them unlock the mystical powers hidden inside them; serving as a guide during their time together. Ethan betrays New Eden however and has enticed the Twins Mickey and Lou to eradicate New Eden. After the Captain defeats the Twins at the ruins of New Eden, Joseph and the Captain found Ethan at the sacred apple tree. Ethan expressed his resentment at being replaced by an outsider and in an act of defiance, Ethan ate an apple and was corrupted by it; forcing the Captain to put him down. Joseph mourns the death of his son, and stated that his only fault was that he was his. Joseph then burns down the mystical apple tree and finally acknowledged that he was not the messiah God had promised, but rather the true "shepherd" was the Captain. Joseph states his soul has become a cancer and knowing he doesn't deserve to live for the monstrous crimes he's committed, asks the Security Captain to kill him. If the Security Captain fails and refuses to kill him near the end, he completely loses what's left of his sanity and screams out to God to release him out of his misery.

Qin: (Gasp) That's insane!

Lincoln: I know. I was horrified that I would join a malevolent cult like that.

Laney: I know. It's just terrible that cults like that even exist.

Me: I know. For centuries cults have been around both good and bad. The worst one that I remember reading about the most was the Manson Family.

Qin: Whoa! I've read about them too. They were terrible! I'm glad that we don't have to see them again.

Me: Good news for us and the world.

Laney: Yep.

Qin: I heard that Stacy's ex-boyfriend is related to Manson.

Me: Yep. But I found out that he is not like his father. His father was called The Devil Incarnate. And he was denied parole more times than any inmate that we know.

Qin: That's what I heard. 12 Times I think.

Me: Yep. And in the end, he met his date with death on November 19th, 2017.

Qin: Good. I'm glad he's dead and burning in hell.

Lincoln: We all are.

Me: Yep. After we destroyed the Anti-Christ we decided to show everyone what happened to the Cult Lincoln's sisters minus Lily. We put them in here in the Saturn Insane Asylum.

We arrived at their cells.

Me: These are them.

We looked into the Cult Lori's cell. Inside she was really broken. She was still crying and her hair was a mess and she was dripping her makeup.

Qin: Man what happened to Lori?

Me: Well (Chuckles) She got beaten up by Arpeggio and Teresa. After they threw the Lori in that dimension in here, Bobby broke up with her and never wanted to see her again and all of her friends at school now hate her guts to the core. They called her a murderer, a monster bitch, and a brother killer.

Qin: Boy that is harsh!

Me: Yeah. But blame the Cult Lincoln's version of Lynn for all this. She was the cause of all this.

We then saw the Cult Leni and she was making awesome clothes for everyone in the prison.

Qin: Wow. The Leni in here hasn't lost her touch.

Me: Nope. She hasn't. She's now a model prisoner.

Natilee: At least she's improving.

We saw the Cult Luna and she was singing blues music.

Qin: The Luna in here is singing blues music.

Me: Yep.

We saw the others minus Lynn and it was awful. The Cult Lola took a bad beating with Acid being dumped in her face.

Qin: But what happened to the parents?

Me: Lynn Sr. and Rita of that dimension were stripped of their custody of their kids. The whole city of Royal Woods made them all outcasts from humanity.

Qin: Geez. That is taking things way too far.

Lincoln: I agree.

Me: Just wait till you see the Lynn from there.

We arrived at a Solitary Confinement cell that had chains on it and it had a bunch of symbols of hatred and evil slogans drawn on it.

Qin: Whoa! It's covered in hate speech!

Me: Yep. After the whole incident, the Cult Lynn was made an outcast from humanity. Because of Lynn's mental state and egomaniacal and delusional nature, we had to place her in this cell that has a 20 inch thick adamantium metal door and we had to electrify it with 20,000 volts of electricity. The Lynn from the Alternate Lincoln's dimension is the most dangerous inmate here at the Saturn Insane Asylum Prison next to Lila Rossi. We placed her in this cell because of how wild she is and we also had to chain her to the wall with shackles and trust me, she is very dangerous.

Qin: Whoa.

Me: It's worse on the inside.

We went over and I turned the electricity off. Qin looked in and she saw Cult Lynn shackled to the wall and in the cell on the walls there were pictures of Cult Lincoln being killed in numerous ways and the words Bad Luck, Jinx, Stinkoln Dies, and more all over the cell. The Cult Lynn had a cast on her leg covered in blood.

Qin: Geez!

Natilee: I know. We were horrified that the Cult Lynn could turn into this monster.

Qin: What happened to her leg?

Me: Well. (Chuckles) Venom ripped her Achilles Tendon out and crippled her for life.

Lincoln: They said it was extreme but she deserved it.

Qin: No kidding. Ouch!

Laney: I know.

I turned the electricity back on and we went back to Earth.

---

Back at the estate we were watching TV.

Animorphs Rachel: (As Poromon) Hey, Poromon! Can I go flying with you?

Poromon: You bet Rachel.

They went on a great flight.

Nico: Have fun guys. Just be careful.

Poromon: Will do.

In the Boxing Ring in the gym, Lynn and Drederick Tatum were sparring in the ring and Lightning was watching!

Lynn: (Punches at him) (GRUNTS)

Drederick Tatum: You are really good Lynn!

Lynn: (Grunts) Thanks Drederick.

They were really going at it.

Lightning: Whoo! That's my girlfriend!

Lynn and Drederick were going at it and really sweating up a storm. It was a big workout.

Lightning: WHOO! Yeah!

Back in the living room, we were watching Itchy & Scratchy. We were watching the episode The Battle of Slaughter-loo, which is a parody of the Battle of Waterloo in 1815 during the Napoleonic Wars.

It was about Itchy and Scratchy who are leading two armies against each other. As they run towards each other on the battlefield, they pull out bigger and better weapons. Like spears and mace clubs, chainsaws, shotguns, and tanks and biplanes. It was a massive and brutal fight full of blood and guts and gore spilling and we were laughing our heads off. It was awesome!

Me: (Laughs) That was so funny!

Bart: (Laughs) It sure was.

Lisa Loud: (Laughs) That is a delightfully entertaining form of animation.

Me: Yep. Here's another episode.

We then watched Burning Down the Mouse.

Bart: Ooh! This is the episode we didn't see when we were in Springfield!

Me: I've read about this one! This is where Scratchy finally gets Itchy.

Lisa Simpson: Yeah but we missed part of it because of nerds living in our house at Springfield.

Me: Well it looks like you're gonna get your second wind.

We watched the episode.

Itchy was tied to a pole while Scratchy places large amounts of explosives on and around him:

Sticks of dynamite jammed into Itchy's eyes and ears (Scratchy then lights the fuses),

A hat and beard molded from plastic explosive and stuck onto Itchy,

Two hand grenades hung from Itchy's ears like earrings,

Two nuclear bombs aimed directly at Itchy's eyes,

Crates of TNT and nitroglycerin, bundles of dynamite sticks, and other assorted explosives stacked around and under the two bombs,

Scratchy lights the fuse on a bundle of dynamite sticks, hails a cab, gets in, and drives away. Itchy frantically struggles to escape while the fuses on the dynamite burn shorter and shorter.

Bart: My purpose in life is to witness this moment.

Me: Here we go.

We saw the explosives go off!

KRABBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

The explosives killed Itchy in an instant as THE END formed in the mushroom cloud.

We cheered wildly.

Me: Whoa! That was awesome!

Lincoln: That was really funny though.

Bart: You said it Lincoln. That was the most awesome episode ever!

Lisa Simpson: You said it Bart.

Nico: Also from what I remember Bart, Krusty said that they weren't going to show that one ever again.

Bart: I know.

Me: But now that Springfield is gone, all the Itchy and Scratchy cartoons belong to someone else in good hands.

Laney: Yep. I'm glad. Springfield doesn't deserve to have anything.

Me: You got that right Laney. They didn't call Springfield, Oregon "The Meanest Town In America" for nothing. In my opinion Springfield was full of nothing but brainless idiots and douchebags. Like Quahog. No offense Homer.

Homer: None taken J.D. But yes I know what you mean. In all honesty I don't know what I was thinking living there. My boss Mr. Burns was a jerk and I didn't get paid anything at all.

Me: I'm sorry Homer. But Mr. Burns brought all that on himself. The War in Springfield was mostly caused by him and Mayor Quimby and in the end, they paid the ultimate price.

Keith Parkinson: You said it J.D. And we can't thank you all enough for destroying Springfield.

Me: No problem Keith.

Lynn and Lightning came to the TV dripping sweat.

Me: Wow. Did you guys have a great workout?

Lynn: Yep. Awesome!

Ramon Hernandez: Glad you all had fun.

Lasher: Yep.

Poromon and Animorphs Rachel came back and she turned back.

Lasher: How was your flight, Poromon?

Poromon: Yep. We had a lot of fun.

Irma: Poromon, how did you and Nico first meet?

Me: That's what I was wondering as well.

All of us nodded.

Nico: Well it is a great story.

Young Nico was walking through the Digital World. He had just acquired his Digivice and he was looking at the sheer beauty and majesty of a world of Digimon.

Nico: (Narrating) I was only 7 years old when I came to the Digital World. I was there to get my first Digimon and it was gonna be awesome. I was on the very place where Tai and the others began their adventure to save the world: File Island. And it was there that I went to the very place where all the Digimon are born: The Primary Village.

Young Nico was walking through an amazing village and there he saw hundreds and hundreds of Digimon eggs. All Digimon start out as eggs. The eggs looked so much like Easter Eggs and came in many different patterns and colors, except they weren't filled with candy. In them were Fresh Level Digimon.

Young Nico: Wow. This is so cool! I can't believe that all Digimon start out like this.

His Digivice then glowed neon red and it pointed to an egg. He went over to it and picked it up and rubbed it and out came Pururumon!

Pururumon: Hello Nico. It's a pleasure to meet you.

Young Nico: Wow. Who are you?

Pururumon: My name is Pururumon. It's a pleasure to meet you at long last.

Young Nico: You are an awesome Digimon.

Nico: Ever since that day, me and Poromon have been very close. We did all kinds of awesome adventures.

---

Nico: And that's how we met.

Poromon: Yep. For 8 years we've been together.

Lincoln: Wow! That is awesome!

Me: That is so cool.

Varie: It sure is.

Hook: So, when did you first Digivolve to help Nico in battle?

Poromon: Oh man. That is a tough one. It was during one of the battles against Ken.

Nico: Yep. It was during when we we first met Davis, Yolei, Cody, T.K. and Kari. It was during the time when T.K. and Kari got the Digi-Eggs of Light and Hope. I was learning more about my Saiyan heritage back then. I found out that I am really a Saiyan from watching the episodes of the Dragonball Series and reading the mangas. That's how I mastered my Saiyan heritage and training so quickly.

---

When Nico turned 10 years old, he and Poromon were flying through the Digital World.

Nico: (Narrating) When I was 10 years old, I had fully mastered my Saiyan powers through intense training and it was time to put some of what I learned to the test.

As they flew through the Digital World, they saw Davis, Yolei, Cody, Kari and T.K. fighting a pack of Tyrannomon and controlling them was Ken Ichijouji as the Digimon Emperor!

Young Nico: Looks like we arrived just in time! Lets get him Poromon!

Poromon: Right!

They flew at him and Nico slammed a powerful kick into Ken's face and Poromon then pecked a Tyrannomon and destroyed a dark ring. Then Poromon started Glowing!

Young Nico: Whoa!

Poromon: POROMON DIGIVOLVE TO…

He turned into Hawkmon for the first time!

Hawkmon: (Echoing) HAWKMON!

Nico: But back then, my Hawkmon was really special.

Hawkmon: Time for some bigger power!

Hawkmon digivolved again!

Hawkmon: HAWKMON DIGIVOLVE TO…

He turned into AQUILAMON!

Aquilamon: (Echoing) AQUILAMON!

Nico: It turns out, Poromon is immune to Ken's Black Digivice and his Control Spires.

Nico's Aquilamon went at all the Tyrannomon.

Aquilamon: (Echoing) BLAST RINGS!

He fired a stream of energy rings and destroyed all the dark rings around the Tyrannomon.

Nico then leg swept Ken and fired a wind blast that sent him into the air. An Airdramon caught him.

Ken: You may have one this round, But I will kill you for this defeat if it's the last thing I ever do!

He flew away.

Young Nico: That will be the day.

Nico: That's how we met Davis and the others. We've been very close friends ever since then.

FLASHBACK 2 ENDS

---

Me: Wow! That is awesome.

Highbrow: Well, I'm glad that Nico hatched you from that Digi egg.

We agreed.

Qin: That is so cool how you met Poromon. But I just can't believe that because of Myotismon that Ken was only a pawn in a diabolical plot to destroy the planet.

Me: I know. It's so awful.

Nico: I know.

But we had to remain vigilant.

---

Later in Los Angeles, we were called by Mystery Inc. to help in the mystery of THE GHOST BEAR!

---

It was an enormous bear, with red glowing fur and yellow eyes. He had a skeletal face, sharpened teeth, and visible rib bones around his chest.

---

Mr. Krabs: You're kidding me! You want to recruit SpongeBob and Patrick to help take down this wrestling criminal? After how you guys scolded me for that wrestling mess I got them into in the first place?

Maria: This time, it's for a good cause.

Me: That's right Mr. Krabs. We need their help and Patrick is said to know a good move that put the Bikini Bottom Crushers down.

Lily: That's right J.D.

SpongeBob: That's right.

Patrick: We're ready for this!

Me: Lets do it.

We went into the WWE Wrestling Stadium and we saw Mystery Inc.

Me: Hey guys.

Fred: Hey J.D.!

Velma: Glad you're all here.

Daphne Blake: Same here guys.

Shaggy: Like, yeah.

Scooby Doo: Ruh huh.

Crystal: Like, groovy.

Amber: Yeah.

Scrappy Doo: We're going to splat this bear!

Nico: Wouldn't miss this for anything.

Kim Possible: So what's the Sitch?

Fred revealed everything.

Me: I see. Then we got to help stop this Ghost Bear.

Then we saw all our favorite wrestling stars: John Cena, Hulk Hogan, Triple H, A.J. Lee, Kane, Sin Cara, Naomi, Santina Marella, Sergeant Slaughter, and all our favorite wrestlers.

John Cena: Hey guys!

Me: John, guys!

Nico: Awesome! Good to see you all again.

Hulk Hogan: We wouldn't miss helping you all for anything.

A.J. Lee: Yeah. You guys are true wrestling stars in our hearts and that is true spirit.

Naomi: That's right.

Me: Thank you all.

Ruben: John and everyone told me everything about what happened and I would be honored to help you guys.

Me: Thanks Ruben.

John Cena: Last time we helped you guys was during the fight with Jackie the Jackal.

Me: That was unforgettable.

William: Alright, guys. You know the drill. Let's find some clues that will help us find out this guy's true identity. Then, we take him down!

Me: Lets do it William. Like Fred always says…

Me and Fred: Well gang, looks like we have another mystery on our hands.

We laughed.

We got to work and it was like what happened during the 2014 Scooby Doo movie WrestleMania Mystery.

---

Scooby-Doo and Shaggy win an all-expenses-paid stay at WWE City to watch WrestleMania after beating the hardest level of the organization's latest video game. At the insistence of the duo, Fred, Daphne, and Velma agree to join them on the trip to WWE City. Upon their arrival, the Mystery Machine crashes on a ditch after Fred narrowly avoids a crossing raccoon. The gang meets John Cena, his trainer Cookie, and Cookie's nephew Ruben before Cena lifts the Mystery Machine back on the road. They also encounter Bayard, a hunter who despises WWE for building their city in his forest. Cena gives the gang VIP tickets to the next event to make up for their altercation with Bayard.

At the show, Mr. McMahon unveils the WWE Championship belt, which has been held vacant since Kane's last match was overturned. The title is up for grabs over the weekend at WrestleMania. The gang is then offered a tour of WWE's training camp before arriving at their cabins. Later that night, Daphne and Velma overhear Ruben arguing with Cookie over not becoming a WWE wrestler because of Cookie's leg injury. Meanwhile, Scooby has a dream about wrestling giant food monsters when Shaggy wakes him up and they both encounter a monster called the Ghost Bear before running for their lives. The WWE wrestlers intervene during the chase, but Triple H and Brodus Clay are overpowered by the monster, which disappears after throwing Sin Cara's hot rod toward a water tower. The next morning, the gang is briefed by WWE executive Ms. Richards that the city has been terrorized by bear attacks over the past few weeks. Mr. McMahon asks the gang to solve the Ghost Bear mystery to ensure the security of the WWE belt. Cena and Sin Cara explain to the gang that the legend of the Ghost Bear started over 100 years ago with a wrestling bear named Vicious, who was defeated by Sin Cara's great-great-great grandfather Sin Cara Grande at the grounds that would be WWE City. Furious over its loss, Vicious vented its frustration on the town until Sin Cara Grande warded it off to a cave at the cost of a career-ending leg injury. It is believed by Sin Cara that the spirit of the bear has been stirred by WrestleMania.

Next morning, the gang is notified by Ms. Richards that the WWE belt has been stolen, and Scooby is arrested after being caught with it around his waist, with security footage showing him caught in the act. Velma, however, proves Scooby's innocence by showing that he was in a deep state of hypnosis when he stole the belt. Ruben then deduces that the WWE video game contains light flashes that implanted post-hypnotic suggestions to Scooby's brain. Mr. McMahon offers Scooby and Shaggy a chance at freedom if they defeat Kane at WrestleMania. The duo receive a crash course training from Cookie and AJ Lee. That night, the gang and Cena wander along the forest until they reach the bear cave. Inside, they discover a room with books on hypnotism, schematics of an EMP device, and a calendar indicating that the culprit plans to target WrestleMania. Suddenly, the Ghost Bear appears and chases the gang through a storm drain. They escape after Cena slams the Ghost Bear away from them before realizing that the storm drain is directly underneath WWE City. After the gang gives Ms. Richards details on their encounter with the Ghost Bear, Cookie advises that WrestleMania should be cancelled, much to Ms. Richards' disapproval. Fred suggests that the gang uses WrestleMania to nab the Ghost Bear.

During the main event, Velma deduces that the WWE belt is the EMP device. After the gang discovers that the belt is a fake and the EMP device is set to go off in 30 seconds, Cena tries to get rid of it, but it activates and shuts off the underground power generator. When the Ghost Bear appears and wreaks havoc all over the arena, the WWE wrestlers ignite green pyrotechnics to light up the stage while Scooby uses his dance moves to throw Kane off guard. The Ghost Bear arrives at ringside, but is confronted by Ruben in his wrestling attire before both combatants are launched into the ring by a floor catapult. The ring is then enclosed inside a steel cage before Cena, Sin Cara, Kane, and Ruben pin down the monster for Scooby to land a belly bomb off the top rope, leveling the ring in the process.

It took some doing but we caught the ghost bear and John Cena and Sin Cara were holding him.

Me: Now lets see who this Ghost Bear really is.

Fred: I was gonna say that.

Me: Sorry.

We revealed the culprit and it was Ruben's uncle COOKIE! Everyone gasped in shock!

John Cena: Cookie!?

Vince McMahon: Cookie!?

Everyone: Cookie!?

Me: I'm just as shocked as anybody.

Ruben: Uncle Cookie? Why? WWE is your life.

Velma: W.W.E. was his life. But sadly your uncle never got the glory.

Daphne Blake: And his injury put him out of the spotlight.

Fred: Permanently.

Me: This was all a plot for vengeance.

Daphne Blake: He started to truly resent the W.W.E. because he knew he could never be the champion he always dreamed of being.

Velma: That resentment grew into hatred over the years as he trained others to be what he could not.

Fred: That's when he developed his plan for revenge.

Daphne Blake: But that wouldn't be enough. He needed a pawn to steal the Championship Belt.

Me: The W.W.E. Championship Belt is worth millions of dollars and he was gonna steal it and keep it all for himself.

Velma: That's when he devised the idea of hacking into a video game and placing post-hypnotic suggestions into it.

Daphne Blake: That game would become part of a contest, which Cookie set up with fake emails he sent throughout W.W.E.

Velma: That's why he used the bear to attack your video game studio. To cover his tracks.

Fred: The contest assured that only the most skilled pawn would arrive at W.W.E. City to aid in the theft. Cookie then used flashing lights to activate Scooby's Post-Hypnotic Programming. When Cookie identified the belt in Scooby's bed as the Championship Belt, he was lying. He had already switched them.

Velma: With Scooby taking the blame, Cookie was free to carry out his ultimate plan.

Me: His plan was to use an Electromagnetic Pulse device to disable the stadiums power.

Fred: And with the help of the Ghost Bear, create so much panic and injury that Wrestlemania would be completely ruined and W.W.E. would never recover.

John Cena: But thanks to Fred, J.D. and everyone else here, we got the lights back on pretty quick.

Me: We sure did John.

Vince McMahon: And the real Championship Belt, where is it now?

Me: I think I know.

Velma: Yep. Cookie is wearing it.

I went over and opened Cookie's suit and found him wearing it. I took it off him.

Me: You don't deserve to wear this.

John Cena: Sorry Cookie, but the Championship Belt isn't for cheaters, it's for champions.

I handed the belt to John Cena.

John Cena: Thanks J.D. You all have saved all of wrestling.

Me: And people who have honor. True heroes like us. Also Cookie, for your crimes: Assault and Battery, Computer Hacking, Fraud, Theft, Destruction of Public Property and 1st Degree Attempted Murder, you're looking at spending Life in Federal Prison without possibility of parole.

Everyone booed at Cookie as he was being taken away.

Cookie: AND I WOULD'VE GOTTEN AWAY WITH IT TOO IF IT WEREN'T FOR YOU MEDDLING KIDS AND YOUR GAME CRAZY DOG!

Me: TELL IT TO THE JUDGE COOKIE!

Nico: Cookie, you have failed all of the sport of wrestling!

Lynn: Yeah!

Me: I have a feeling that our job is not done yet.

?: You got that right!

We then saw a figure come out and it was the TIRE ORG from episode 5 of Wild Force!

---

Tire Org was one of the ancient Orgs that served Master Org and tried to take over the Earth 3,000 years ago. He took the form of a tire. He first appears giving chase to a bunch of people on motorcycles and bounce around on cars, he was stop by Jindrax and Toxica, for he didn't realize that they were Duke Orgs. The Taylor, Danny and Max, the Wild Force Rangers confronted the Org, but the Org was too powerful, he was about to make a beat down on them until he was stop by Jindrax and was order to kidnapped Princess Shayla. he confronts her along with Cole and Alyssa, the White Ranger try to fight the Org, but the Org was able to over power her and throws her off to the side, allowing him to take Princess Shayla hostage, Cole and Alyssa morphed and give chase with the Org (along with the Taylor, Danny and Max), but he was too fast and manages to out run the Rangers, but it didn't last too long as the Rangers had gain a new vehicle called the Savage Cycles. Tire Org try to slow them down by jumping on rocks to hinder them, but it was not enough, the White Ranger was able to get on top of the Org and slowed him down, they destroyed him with the Savage Cycles' Savage Strike attack, freeing the Princess, Toixica enlarge Tire Org and the Rangers summon the Wildzords to form the Wild Force Megazord, they try to use the Shark Surge and Tiger Furry Attack, but it had no effect on the Org, the Org made a beat down on the Megazord. Alyssa Enrilé: Tire Org!

Tire Org: Its been a long time rangers.

Taylor Earhart: I haven't forgotten you.

Me: I remember this guy! He overpowered you Alyssa, and thanks to the Savage Cycles, you beat him.

Alyssa Enrilé: That's right.

Tire Org: Good memory on you. You've been watching us fight on TV huh?

Me: We sure have.

Tire Org: Last time, you Rangers destroyed me with your bikes. But this time, you're fighting me up close and personal!

?: Save some fun for me.

A figure came out and it was MYOTISMON!

Myotismon (also known as Vamdemon in the Japanese version) is the third main antagonist for most of the half in the Digimon Adventure, and the final antagonist in Digimon Adventure 02. He is the Digidestined's arch-nemesis, as well as Kari and Gatomon's archenemy. He also reappeared in the videogame Digimon World Data Squad and in the anime Digimon Fusion (season 3). In Digimon Fusion, NeoMyotismon is one of the major antagonists in Season 2 of Digimon Fusion and one of the Dark Generals.

After Etemon was defeated, Myotismon emerged as the third main villain of Season 1. There, he sent his pathetic servant, DemiDevimon, to try and defeat the Digidestined, but each of his plans failed. He tried to find the eighth Digidestined and take over both the Digital World and the real world. He and his servants departed from his Castle in the Digital World and entered the real world, but one Digimon, Wizardmon, who was only pretending to be following Myotismon, attempts to get the tag and crest for the eighth digidestined and double-crossing him along with Gatomon. Myotismon had his bats throw him into the ocean. Gatomon, initially one of Myotismon's servants, remembers that he enslaved her while she was searching for the eighth Digidestined as Salamon.

Often Myotismon would bite people and suck their blood, as vampires do. Also he would only come out at night, as he is weaker during the put up a fog barrier and captured all the inhabitants of the city. The Digidestined fought against him and his many minions. It soon became revealed to the Digidestined that Tai's sister Kari was the eighth Digidestined all along. TK and Joe find Wizardmon and soon a battle begins between the Digidestined and Myotismon. Myotismon appears to be more powerful than the others, with only Angemon able to damage him. Myotismon shoots an energy wave at Kari and Gatomon, but Wizardmon jumps in front of them and is killed by the blast.

Upon his death, Kari gets her Digivice back from DemiDevimon, allowing Gatomon to Digivolve into her Ultimate form, Angewomon and hit Myotismon with a Celestial Arrow, defeating him.

Upon his defeat, the DigiDestined thought it would be over. However, everyone didn't believe that Myotismon's spirit lives on and his fog was still around. Gennai suddenly appears and told the prophecy about the king of the undead. Bats would blanket the sky in darkness, the fallen would chant the king's name and at the stroke of the hour of the beast, the king's true form would appear. DemiDevimon used Myotismon's bats to resurrect his master by collecting the data of his defeated henchmen.

Everything that Gennai mentioned started to happen and soon, Myotismon was reborn as VenomMyotismon. He had an insatiable hunger, at one point devouring his own servant, DemiDevimon.

MetalGreymon and WereGarurumon both attacked VenomMyotismon, but the giant monster easily wiped them out. Angemon and Angewomon distract VenomMyotismon while Izzy plans a miracle. He is the first Mega Digimon to be introduced in the series and it's because of his appearance that the DigiDestined learn about the Mega level.

Though he is much more powerful than his previous form, he is also much less intelligent. He is quick to anger and is solely motivated by his desire to devour life. The only thing he retains from Myotismon being a strong hatred of the Digidestined. When WarGreymon tunneled though VenomMyotismon's abdomen, his true form, "The Beast Within" reveals himself. He is defeated when the Digidestined seize the giant beast with their Digivices, WarGreymon clogs his true body with a water tower and WarGreymon and MetalGarurumon finish him off with their combined attacks, obliterating him.

Digimon Adventure 02

He returns in season 2 as the main antagonist.

It's revealed that Myotismon's spirit once again continues to live on and discovers that Oikawa requests to go to the Digital World. He possessed Oikawa and took control of his body in order to grant his wish.

While confronting Oikawa, BlackWarGreymon takes the fatal attack by Myotismon's powers used by Oikawa. Much to BlackWarGreymon's horror, it was revealed that Oikawa was actually being controlled like a puppet by Myotismon, then leaves. BlackWarGreymon sacrifices his life to seal the gate to Highton New Terrence in order to prevent Myotismon from entering the Digital World.

After Oikawa and the Dark Spore children grieve about not going to the Digital World and instead enter the World Of Dreams (thanks to BlackWarGreymon sealing the gate), the mouth of Myotismon appears, speaking with Oikawa, telling him that he'll never see the Digital World again. Gatomon suddenly recognizes his voice, revealing to the Digidestined it was her old arch nemesis, Myotismon all along. After Oikawa realizes that the evil Digimon took control of his body all this time three years ago, Myotismon exits Oikawa's body and takes the form of an Oikawa duplicate himself, thus leaving Oikawa weakened, then feeds on the Dark Flowers from the Dark Spore children while his henchmen, Arukenimon and Mummymon distract the Digidestined.

After Myotismon completes his hunger, he transforms into his reincarnation, MaloMyotismon. He first tests out his newfound strength by grabbing Arukenimon and torturing her twice just before killing her with one of his shoulders. Mummymon, infuriated by this, attacks MaloMyotismon to avenge Arukenimon's death, but was killed too by his Crimson Mist attack, disintegrating him. Horrified by this, the Digidestined were scared to fight him, but Davis, refusing to stand down, encourages his friends to stand up for themselves and fight for courage.

ExVeemon attacks MaloMyotismon, but then all of a sudden was interrupted when MaloMyotismon banishes the Digidestined into several illusion dimensions, causing them and their Digimon partners to be separated. Luckily, Davis and their Digimon partners were able to reunite them, noting the illusions weren't real. When Davis, Ken and the others returned from the illusions, they summond all of their Digimon's forms then launched an assault on MaloMyotismon, which opened a hole to the Digital World, presumably destroying MaloMyotismon. Unfortunately, MaloMyotismon survived the assault and thanked the Digidestined for bringing him to the Digital World, and attacks Imperialdramon, Silphymon, and Shakkoumon, knocking them down easily.

MaloMyotismon unleashes his power of darkness to open up the gate to the Real World. Suddenly, several Digimon gathered around to call help to their human partners from all around the world, while MaloMyotismon tries to drive them away with his Screaming Darkness attack. Suddenly the Digidestined from all over the world were summoned to the Digital World, witnessing the battle against MaloMyotismon, being blinded by the light. MaloMyotismon attempts to undo the damage by feeding the Dark Spore children's doubts and despair to get stronger, but Davis and the other chosen Digidestined encourage the children to overcome their negative emotions and embrace their dreams, destroying MaloMyotismon's physical form. With his body destroyed, Myotismon's spirit rises into the sky in an attempt to spread the darkness everywhere, and Imperialdramon calls to the Digidestined to use their Digivices to create his Ultimate Weapon, the Giga Crusher, and obliterates Myotismon for good.

After Myotismon was defeated, a badly weakened Oikawa finally sees the Digital World, and apologizes to the Digidestined fof his previous actions, then sacrifices himself to restore the damaged Digital World.

Attacks

As Myotismon

Crimson Lightning (Bloody Stream in Japanese): Uses one or more lightning-like streams of blood like a whip.

Grisly Wing (Night Raid in Japanese): Manipulates a countless swarm of Familiar Bats and begins a surprise attack.

Nightmare Claw (Dead Scream in Japanese): Sends out a black, ghost-like winged entity that turns the victim black and paralyzes them.

Nightmare Wave: Fires eletricity which amplifies the target's doubts and mistrust.

Cloud Minion: Throws a spiral of dark mist.

Blood Punch: Attacks with continuous strikes using both hands.

As VenomMyotismon

Venom Infusion (Venom Infuse in Japanese):

Tyrant Savage: Attacks and slashes with its long arms.

Inferno: Breathes flames from its mouth.

Chaos Flame: Breathes dark flames from its true form that lurks within its abdomen.

As MaloMyotismon

Crimson Mist (Melting Blood in Japanese)

Screaming Darkness (Pandemonium Flame in Japanese): Fires an extremely high-temperature beam of darkness from Sodom and Gomorrah on its shoulders.

Mental Illusion (Mind Illusion in Japanese): Using its evil mental magic to locks his prey into a dream of their perfect world.

Chaos Crusher (also known as Howling Blood in Japanese and erroneously referred to as Screaming Darkness in English): Produces two spheres of black energy in his hands and thrusts upwards with them, or fires large black energy spheres from Sodom and Gomorrah on its shoulders.

Soul Shield: Uses a magical shield of darkness to absorb energy from projectiles.

Pandemonium: Emits a thick fog of darkness in the environment which confuses the opponent.

Black Rain: Leaps into the sky and spins around, releasing a spinning column of small dark orbs from his cape.

Familiar Bats (in Japanese: 使い魔のコウモリ, Tsukaima no Koumori), also sometimes referred to as Night Raiders (in Japanese: ナイトライダー, Naitoraidā) are a very dangerous species of digital organism that resemble small pitch-black or dark-brown colored bats, usually with each red letter of the Roman alphabet on each of their foreheads and they also almost or completely resembled the infamous Mark of Evil, the recurring evil symbol in the Digimon universe which is also seen engraved on Myotismon's faux-Victorian coach carriage and on the frontal lid of his iconic coffin.

They are tamed by the cruel Myotismon and they loyally served as his pets. They tormented the bat-like Digimon DemiDevimon for failing his lord Myotismon numerous times. They can be used in attacks (such as Myotismon's Grisly Wing technique and even possibly LadyDevimon's Darkness Wave attack move) and they often linger around dark Digimon.

Some can also possess venom to cause temporary blindness upon their prey as they did to Zeromaru, the Digimon partner of Yagami Taichi (Taichi "Tai" Kamiya's V-Tamer counterpart) in Digimon Adventure V-Tamer 01.

The Familiar Bats are possibly all extinct after they sacrificed themselves and the defeated bodies of Myotismon's other Digimon minions in order to transfer all that mass life energy onto the late Myotismon's bewitched bad-shaped eye mask along with his shadowy spirit connected to and to ultimately unleash VenomMyotismon due to themselves being part of an odd primitive prophecy from the Digital World concerning Myotismon's return from the dead. They never seen again after; except flashbacks with their master.

Kari Kamiya: Myotismon!

Nico: Myotismon!

Myotismon: Its been a long time Nico. I see you still haven't forgotten me.

Me: So you are Myotismon. Nico told us so much about you and all the pain and suffering you caused.

Myotismon: That's right. I'm honored that you know all about me J.D. Knudson.

Nico: Hey, Myotismon. How's Digital Hell been treating you?

Myotismon: It was horrible! Because of you I was in Digital Hell for all eternity.

Nico: You brought all that on yourself Myotismon!

?: I want to dance to.

I recognized that voice.

Me: Oh shit on me, fuck me sideways and send my fucking corpse into the sun. I haven't heard that pure evil voice in over 150,000 years. Its been a long time Madara Uchiha.

A figure came out and it was one of the founding fathers of the Hidden Leaf: MADARA UCHIHA!

Madara Uchiha is one of the main antagonists in the manga and anime series Naruto. He is the co-founder of the village of Konohagakure (the Village Hidden in the Leaves) and its first Rogue Ninja. Though thought to have died, Madara survived and planned to rule the Ninja World as a god, making Obito Uchiha into his apprentice.

He is eventually resurrected as an indestructible undead ninja and takes part in the Fourth Great Ninja War, during which he succeeds in his plan. He was thought to be the main antagonist in the series, due to manipulating Obito as a pawn and causing the Fourth Great Ninja War, but was later just another pawn when the true main villain is revealed.

In the Japanese dubbed version, he was voiced by Naoya Uchida, and Gō Inoue as a child. In the English dubbed version, he was voiced by Neil Kaplan, who also voices Hawkmon in the English dubbed version of the Digimon anime and Emperor Zarkon in Voltron: Legendary Defender. As a child, he was voiced by Xander Mobus.

Childhood

Madara Uchiha was born around a century before the start of the story. In these times, ninja were organized as clans of mercenaries hired by the lords of warring nations. The most powerful clans in existence were the Uchiha and the Senju, both descendants of Hagoromo Ōtsutsuki: the legendary Sage of the Six Paths. While the Senju descended from the younger son, who inherited his father's strength and ideals, the Uchiha descended from the elder brother, who inherited the Sage's eyes and power. Through the brothers' conflict for succession after their father's death, the Senju and the Uchiha were bound by conflict throughout history as mortal enemies. (It was later revealed that their feud was manipulated by Black Zetsu from behind the scenes.)

This was an era of permanent war, in which ninja were forbidden to tell their last names to strangers and were forced to fight and risk their lives at a very young age, many of them never going past childhood with many children also dying in the process. As a child, Madara befriended Hashirama Senju, both unaware that the other was their family's mortal enemy at the time. Like Hashirama, Madara hated the senseless slaughter of children forced to fight in the battlefield. Unfortunately, upon learning of the other's identity, they were forced by their fathers to stage an ambush, while managing to warn the other. Seeing that the conflict was inevitable, Madara immediately relinquished his friendship with Hashirama and declared him his enemy, as he valued his family and his last living brother more.

Madara in his Prime

Madara Uchiha and his brother Izuna eventually awoke their clan's greatest ability, the Mangekyo Sharingan, and became their leaders. As the leader of the Uchiha, Madara had to fight countless times against Hashirama, who had become leader of the Senju. Hashirama repeatedly offered a truce but Madara refused it, as he came to regard their past friendship as a mistake. (Tobi has said however that many Uchiha shared Hashirama's feelings and tried to push Madara to accept.)

During a battle with the Senju clan, Madara fought evenly against Hashirama, but Izuna was fatally wounded by Hashirama's younger brother Tobirama. Madara refused Hashirama's offered truce at Izuna's request and fled with his brother. Later, as the Mangekyo Sharingan was making him blind, he accepted Izuna's dying request and transplanted his eyes, awakening the Eternal Mangekyo Sharingan. After Madara was once again defeated in spite of his newfound power, he finally accepted peace upon seeing that Hashirama was willing to kill himself to prove his resolve. This led to the creation of Konohagakure, the Village Hidden the Leaves (a name Madara chose), the first of the Five Shinobi Nations.

Though considered to become the First Hokage (Lord of Konoha) by Hashirama, Madara was robbed of the title when Tobirama stated that it should be decided via popular vote, a vote that elected Hashirama (as many were wary of Madara's thirst for power). Taking great offense to the act, Madara attempted to rally his kin to stand against the Senjus, but his clan regarded his mistrust as lust for violence and turned their backs on him, incensing him even more. Madara knew that Hashirama would be unable to name him his successor and that Tobirama would become Second Hokage. He rejected Hashirama's suggestion of proving himself worthy of the title to the village and promptly left Konoha, while telling Hashirama that he intends to make his dream a reality.

Madara's Madness

Having studied the Sage of the Six Path's legend, Madara devised the "Eye of the Moon Plan" to create his ideal "utopia" (a world where he would control everyone and everything). This involved gathering the nine demonic Tailed Beasts to revive the nightmarish Ten-Tailed Beast from which they were born, to become its jinchuriki (host). He would then be able to cast a spell called the Infinite Tsukuyomi spell that allow him to alter reality and unite every mind under his control, in order to become a god in every sense of the word.

Madara took control of Kurama, the mightiest Tailed Beast, to destroy Konoha out of revenge. This ultimately led to the final battle between him and Hashirama, which terraformed the area the Valley of the End. Despite Hashirama's pleas, Madara refused to back down.

In the end, Kurama was sealed within Hashirama's wife Mito and Madara was presumed to have died in battle. Since then, the people of Konoha carved two immense statues of Hashirama and Madara in the cliff wall, permanently facing one another at both sides of a waterfall, as a symbol of their never-ending rivalry. However, having obtained a sample of Hashirama's DNA during the battle, Madara could use the Sharingan's special power Izanagi to cheat death and flee, leaving a clone instead of his corpse and went into hiding.

Madara's Final Years

By the time Madara gained Hashirama's Mokuton power over wood from the DNA he stole, which in turn evolved his Sharingan into the Sage of the Six Path's Rinnegan, he had become too old and withered to use it. Madara brought down the Demonic Statue of the Outer Path on the world, being forced to continuously infusing himself with the Statue's chakra to survive. He also used the Statue to harvest Hashirama's DNA and create plant-like humanoids from it, one of which became Zetsu. (It would later be revealed that the Zetsus were in fact humans merged with the God Tree, source of all creation, and that Madara only thought he created them.) Later, Madara secretly transplanted his Rinnegan to Nagato as part of a scheme to revive himself, knowing that he needed someone to carry out his work.

During the Third Great Ninja War, Madara saved the life of Obito Uchiha and eventually manipulated events so that the boy would fall into despair and become his apprentice. Unbeknownst to Obito, Madara had planted several mind-control devices inside him to make sure that he would not rebel. Madara trained Obito and passed on his vast knowledge relating to the Sage of the Six Path's legend, eventually turning him into the villain known as Tobi.

Shortly before his death, Madara infused Zetsu with a part of his will that would become Black Zetsu. (In fact Black Zetsu is a manifestation of Kaguya Ōtsutsuki's will, who was manipulating the Ninja World for centuries and faked his "birth" to further his goal.), and instructed Tobi to resurrect him with Nagato's power when the Eye of the Moon plan would come into fruition. Using his mentor's name as his own, Tobi altered Akatsuki from its intended purpose into tools to fulfill the Eye of the Moon Plan; (Although he had no intention of resurrecting Madara, whom he despises).

Cryptical Mentions

Madara Uchiha is not mentioned in the first part of the series, as Orochimaru serves as the primary antagonist while the Akatsuki only serves as an upcoming threat, but he is cryptically mentioned several times: In Sasuke Uchiha's flashbacks about the Uchiha Clan Massacre; when Itachi Uchiha tells Sasuke about the Mangekyo Sharingan, he says that should Sasuke awake it there would be three to share this "blessing", mentioning a yet unknown wielder. (Although he believes said wielder to be Madara, he in facts refers to Tobi.) Later, when Sasuke defects from Konoha, he and his former best friend Naruto Uzumaki (the series' eponymous primary protagonist) do battle at the Valley of the End, near the two giant statues of the founders of Konoha. If the yet unnamed First Hokage can be recognized, nothing is told about the second. In the second part of the story, when Sasuke and Naruto meet again, Sasuke manages to see Kurama sealed inside Naruto and Kurama states that Sasuke reminds him of Madara Uchiha, mentioning his name for the first time.

Madara's story would later be explained by Itachi and Tobi through flashbacks. Finally, after Nagato sacrifices himself to revive his victims, Tobi lament that this resurrection spell was meant for "him", referring to Madara who he is impersonating. (Tobi used his mentor's name to inspire fear to the Shinobi Nations, in order to further his goals.)

The Fourth Great Ninja War

Shortly after his war declaration to the five Kage, the leaders of the five Shinobi Nations, Tobi is approached by Orochimaru's former apprentice Kabuto Yakushi, who offers him an alliance. As Tobi attacks him, Kabuto reveals that he perfected Orochimaru's Reanimation technique and used it to revive many powerful ninja as indestructible undead, which he offers to add to Tobi's army. Kabuto then forces Tobi to accept by displaying another one of the ninjas he resurrected, who is eventually revealed to be none other than Madara Uchiha.

Later, as the Ninja Coalition is gaining the upper-hand, Kabuto decides to release Madara on the battlefield. Madara quickly realizes that he was not brought back by Nagato as expected, and Kabuto explains the situation to him through another undead. Madara proceeds to utterly annihilate most of the coalition's Fourth Division, but Naruto (acting through one of his Shadow Clones) engages him with back up from Ōnoki, the Tsuchikage (lord of Iwagakure, the Village Hidden in the Rocks) who met Madara ages ago. Madara blocks their attack with Susanoo, but Gaara the Kazekage (lord of Sunagakure, the Village Hidden in the Sand) manages to drag him away from it. Madara then uses the Rinnegan to nullify Naruto's attack, before conjuring a monumental meteor. As Ōnoki attempts to lessen the impact, Madara conjures a second one, wiping out almost everyone in the Fourth Division.

Madara attempts to summon Kurama, only to learn that he was sealed within Naruto as the Nine Tails help his Jinchuriki out of loathing for Madara. Shortly after, A the Raikage (lord of Kumogakure, the Village Hidden in the Clouds), Mei Terumi the Mizukage (lady of Kirigakure, the Village Hidden in the Mist), and Tsunade, the Hokage and granddaughter of Hashirama Senju, are teleported on the battlefield. The five Kage resolve to defeat Madara and they order Naruto to find and get rid of Tobi.

The Kage seem at first to hold their own against Madara through teamwork, but he conjures a forest of flowers with sleep-inducing pollen, and a tremendous fire attack, which they barely escape. He recognizes Tsunade as a Senju and resolves to kill her first, seeing her as a stain on her name, but she attacks him with renewed resolve and they manage to seal him… or so they thought. In fact, Madara used a substitution technique to change place with a wooden clone and attacks her from below. Tsunade then manages to shatter Susanoo's blade and strike Madara with it while Ōnoki's blasts him from behind, but he effortlessly cancels their attacks.

Madara reveals that he was toying with them and creates an army of wooden clones, five for each Kage, to overwhelm them. Against all odds, the Kage manage to defeat Madara's clones and combine their elemental powers to trap him, but he releases the complete form of Susanoo and breaks free from their grasp. Just as he is about to obliterate them, Itachi Uchiha defeats Kabuto and forces him to cancel the Reanimation technique, sending every undead back to the afterlife. Unfortunately, Madara performs the technique hand seals and releases himself from Kabuto's control, managing to remain resurrected.

Now bored, Madara swiftly crushes the Kage to near death and joins the fight opposing Tobi (whose identity was just revealed) to Naruto and his allies, who are trying to prevent the resurrection of the Ten-Tailed Beast. Unfortunately, Naruto's team's efforts end in failure.

Battle Against The Ten-Tails

As Tobi takes control of the Ten-Tails and uses it to brush off all the protagonist's attacks, the remaining troops of the Ninja Coalition barge in and launch a wave of collective attacks to trap the demon into a pit, before attacking the rogue Uchiha… in vain. The Ten-Tails matures into its second form, escapes the pit, and launches several Spheres of Destruction that obliterates random locations across the world, before destroying the Coalition's Headquarters and every ninja of the Intelligence Squad within.

Madara suggests ending it once and for all but Tobi silences him, reminding him that he needs his cooperation to accomplish his plan (while voicing his disgust at having to die to revive his mentor). Since Madara is forced to let Tobi handle the fight, he oversees his apprentice decimate most of the alliance and commends the breaking lecture he delivers on a grieving Naruto.

However, Naruto is put back on track and he infuses all his allies with Kurama's power, launching a collective assault that injures the Ten-Tails and separates it from Tobi and Madara. Although angry over having lost control over the Ten Tails, Madara continues to fight along with Tobi and launches attacks that would have killed the alliance several times over had it not been for Naruto's chakra. As the coalition struggles to contain the Ten-Tails who has begun to run amok, Madara expresses an insane delight when sensing the chakra of Hashirama, whom a recently resurrected Orochimaru revived as an undead along with the three following Hokage, to give Sasuke the answers he needed. Shortly after, a redeemed Sasuke barges in with his team and the four Hokage to take part in the battle. Hashirama rebuffs his old rival and the four Hokage manage to seal the Ten-Tails in a force-field. He then creates several clones to direct an attack against it, including one to settle his score with Madara once and for all, but the villain is not satisfied with a mere clone and decides to wait until he can engage him at full strength.

After easily defeating the clone, Madara notices that Tobi has been fatally injured. Deciding that Tobi is no longer useful, Madara seizes control of his body using his chakra receiver rods to force him to sacrifice himself and resurrect him. However, Tobi saw him coming and hijacks the process to become the Ten-Tailed Beast's jinchuriki. Although frustrated by this setback, Madara still has a trump card left but in case it fails, fights the now free Hashirama to gain Senjutsu Chakra to be used against Tobi after lamenting that he could have enjoyed watching Tobi humiliate the reanimated Hokage. While he fights his former rival, Madara refuses to allow Hashirama to stop fighting him whenever Tobi has the alliance in ropes, likely as it would weaken the alliance for him to have an easier win. As his Susanoo matches Hashirama's Wood Golem, Tobi finally begins the Infinite Tsukuyomi, which deprives Madara and Hashirama of their ability to use powerful techniques and renders them only capable of fighting in melee. Madara finally reveals at this moment the reasons behind his defection from Konoha: having known how Shinobi came to be, Madara had became disillusioned entirely from Hashirama's ideals, earning him Hashirama's disgust. Madara is eventually defeated and restrained at the same time as his apprentice gets the Tailed Beasts pulled out of him.

Madara's Revival

With Tobi defeated and left weakened, Madara calls Black Zetsu who fuses with Tobi and forces him to once again use the resurrection technique, this time successfully. Given that Hashirama got pierced and incapacitated by Madara's chakra spears; he cannot prevent his old rival from siphoning his ability to use Senjutsu and his healing techniques.

Gaara confronts the villain alongside the seven Tailed Beasts, who pummel him to near death, but a White Zetsu arrives on the battlefield and gives Madara the right Rinnegan, which Tobi had hidden away. Madara is able to summon the Demonic Statue of the Outer Path from within Tobi and seal all nine Beasts, putting Naruto to the verge of death. Tobirama Senju the Second Hokage confronts Madara, but gets incapacitated as well. Sasuke then attacks Madara from behind, only to get fatally wounded. With all his foes disabled, Madara is manages to become the new jinchuriki of the Ten-Tails with surprising ease. (It is later revealed that Kaguya Ōtsutsuki let him absorb it to better resurrect through him.)

Madara makes his way to the place where Black Zetsu is using Tobi to fight Naruto's teacher Kakashi Hatake and Minato Namikaze, the fourth Hokage Naruto's father, spitting back the relics that Tobi used as a substitute to Kurama to resurrect the Ten-Tails. Since Tobi, who starts calling himself Obito Uchiha again, is still able to keep Black Zetsu from taking his Rinnegan, Madara attempts to talk him back into serving him, but he only feigns to accept and manages to steal a part of the nine Tailed Beasts' chakra from him.

Obito then seals the half of Kurama that Black Zetsu stole from Minato Namikaze into Naruto in order to save him. Meanwhile, Kabuto who had a change of heart saves Sasuke's life and Madara is confronted by Kakashi's comrade Might Guy, who manages to heavily hurt him by pushing his body to its utmost limit, putting himself on the brink of death. As Madara is about to finish Guy off, Naruto (who got in contact with the Sage of the Six Paths' spirit and gained half of his power) simultaneously sends him flying and damages the God Tree. Sasuke (who gained the other half of the Sage's power) then joins the fray and they submit Madara to a throughout and well-deserved beatdown.

Madara then hear a voice from the God Tree (in fact Kaguya's) advising him to absorb it. Madara steals Kakashi's Sharingan to enter the Kamui Dimension and steal the last Rinnegan from Obito, before casting the Infinite Tsukoyomi, despite the protagonists' best efforts. After Madara successfully catches everyone in the world into an everlasting illusion, save for Naruto, Sasuke, Sakura and Kakashi who were protected by Sasuke's Susanoo, and the four undead Hokage who cannot be affected; the roots of the God Tree (under Kaguya's control) start encasing all victims of the spell in a cocoon.

As Madara prepares to deal the finishing blow, he gets stabbed in the back by Black Zetsu, who reveals that he only let Madara succeed in his plans in order to use him to resurrect Kaguya Ōtsutsuki, the Sage of the Six Paths' mother and the tyrant of the ancient world. With that, Madara is painfully assimilated by Zetsu the same way Obito was, and serves as the evil princess' new vessel.

Madara is released after Kaguya's defeat, only to die from having the Ten-Tails extracted. Madara tells Hashirama in his dying breath that in the end, his dream has died while Hashirama's continues to live on, grudgingly admitting having been wrong all along. Hashirama uses this as an example of the merits of unity, before telling Madara that despite all that happened, he still considers him a comrade. Madara concedes -far too late- that it is not so bad, but dies before he can finish his sentence.

Madara: I'm impressed that you remember me even after all these years J.D. Knudson.

Me: Not a day has gone by since we fought and I killed you.

Qin: So he is Madara Uchiha.

Me: That's him Qin. Madara Uchiha is one of the Founding Fathers of the entire Hidden Leaf Village and he is the most evil and most dangerous traitor in the entirety of the 5 Great Nations to ever terrorize the world. He is the ultimate personification of pure evil and is also one of the masterminds responsible for trying to destroy the entire planet. He was going to use the power of the Infinite Tsukuyomi to destroy the entire planet and annihilate all Shinobi on the planet. He is beyond pure evil and he makes even the devil himself cringe in fear.

Qin gasped.

Me: I know. When we fought during the 4th Great War, it was a battle that shook the entire fabric of the Universe to the brink. It was a battle that would've destroyed the entire planet.

Nico: Whoa!

?: He's not the only one.

Our geiger counters were clicking like mad and then a green glow was seen and out came DEREK POWERS A.K.A. BLIGHT!

---

Derek Powers, later known as Blight, is the main antagonist in the first season of Batman Beyond and in the DC comics version as a recurring villain. He was a corrupt businessman, chairman of the board of directors of Wayne-Powers, who later transformed into an extremely dangerous and toxic supervillain after a fated encounter with the neo Batman, Terry McGinnis, who's father Powers had murdered in order to hide one of his black market deals. He is based on the DC character Doctor Phosphorus.

Powers started out as the CEO of a small business called Powers Technology which later gained power and influence after he acquired Wayne Industries in 2019. Although Bruce Wayne prevented the corporate takeover on several occasions Wayne was forced to accept the merger on account of his failing health. After accepting Power's offer the company was renamed Wayne-Powers which and placed under Power's unscrupulous care and supervision. Some 20 years later Powers began taking over more of the business, now a powerful conglomerate corporation. Powers became known in the financial world as a "financier czar" and a "corporate kingpin" for the numerous downsizes, layoffs and hostile takeovers of several other industrial firms. Among other things Powers fired Lucious Fox Jr., the son of Lucious Fox, from his position of president of the company. The Foxes were one of Bruce Wayne's closest friends during his glory days, thus Powers gained further distrust from Wayne. Powers would interact only indirectly with Wayne, such as delivering to Wayne baskets with oranges for Christmas and very briefly ever talking with him. Aside from his questionable ethics Powers was cruel to his son, Paxton Powers, whom he often neglected and eventually had him exiled to South America to run the local Wayne-Powers division, a job which Paxton regarded as "grunt-work". However, Derek's methods of running a business rubbed-off on his son, which lead Paxton into becoming just as corrupt and ruthless as his father was.

Rebirth, Part I

In the year 2039, Powers had developed a dangerous, viral nerve gas that slowly eats away at the victim's flesh. To test the compound, he infected an employee, Harry Tully, with it (Powers calimmed that Tully's infection was do to an accident). Tully passed the information along to his co-worker, Warren McGinnis. Tully later died from exposure to the nerve gas, but not before Powers could document the effects to show to potential buyers. Desperate to retrieve the information, Powers sent his assistant, Mr. Fixx, to kill McGinnis and make it appear the latter was the victim of The Jokerz gang. However, Fixx did not obtain the disc of information, which had been earlier found by Warren's son Terry. Terry gave the disc to Bruce Wayne, whom Terry discovered was once Batman.

Rebirth, Part II

Derek Powers planned to ship the nerve gas to Kaznia, a Balkan country, and promoted it to Kaznian ambassador and minister of commerce Vilmos Egans, showing him gruesome pictures of Harry Tully's gradual death at the hands of the gas. Egans accepted the offer so Powers began its shipping schedule immediately. Terry McGinnis would break into Wayne Manor and steal the newest version of the Batsuit and take up the guise of Batman to avenge his father's death. The shipment of nerve gas was stopped by Batman who caused the carrier to sink in Gotham Harbour, with Mr. Fixx still inside, causing Fixx to drown. During a brief scuffle with Powers, Batman threw a container of the gas at Powers. Powers shot at the canister which caused the nerve gas to spread all over his body, thus infecting him. In order to save himself from the gas's effects Powers had to undergo radiation-therapy in secret. And although the radiation had destroyed the virus, the gas was revealed to have mutagen properties which had combined with radiation used to treat him, thus transforming Powers into a radioactive metahuman with his skeleton showing.

Black Out

Despite reveling in his newly acquired powers, Powers wore artificial skin on a daily basis to hide his condition and hired doctors to find a possible cure for his condition. When the government decided to build a new lunar station, the two possible contractors for the job were Wayne-Powers and Foxteca. Powers hired saboteur Inque to hinder Foxteca. Batman interfered with Inque's missions, so Powers contracted Inque to kill Batman and any of his associates, but she failed and was sent to a holding facility.

Meltdown

As Powers's anger began intensifying so did his metahuman abilities, his radiation grew stronger and his fake skin would thusly fall apart, barely able to last a day. The recently added member of Power's medical team Dr. Stephanie Lake made the bold suggestion of using his baseline DNA to clone a new body and transfer his neural patterns (id est his mind) into it. Before proceeding with the plan Dr. Lake decided to test the procedure first on another individual who also had mutated DNA. To that end she tested the procedure on Mr. Freeze, whose cryogenic head was kept in Wayne-Powers laboratories. After the procedure proved to be a success, Powers presented Freeze on the Net (television of their era) as a hoax campaign towards a new form of medical treatment. But when Freeze began reverting to his cryogenetic state, Powers and Dr. Lake decided to perform a biopsy on him. However, Freeze escaped and came back for revenge inside a larger freeze suit. He exacted his revenge by freezing both Powers and Dr. Lake and then planned to have the laboratories blown-up, killing himself in the process as well. Powers freed himself from the ice by means of his radiation, though at the expense of his skin. In his glowing skeletal form Powers introduced himself as Blight and brutally crippled Mr. Freeze. After a heated battle with Batman, Freeze used the last of his energy to save Batman from Blight and sent Blight flying out of the laboratories and into a frozen lake. The laboratories were only partly destroyed with Freeze still inside, left to die. Blight was able to pull himself out of the frozen lake and was picked-up by his medical team, but not before mocking them for their stupidity.

Shriek

At this point Powers had bought Shreev Industries, small-time business that was developing various sound-based technologies, including a suit that used low-frequency sounds to shatter solid matter, its initial purpose being for mining operations. Powers claimed that Shreev's business was failing do to poor management and instead appropriated its technologies for criminal activities, convincing its owner and namesake, Walter Shreev, to use his sound suit for assassinations. Powers wanted to bulldoze Gotham's historical district for profit, but Bruce Wayne opposed the movement. In order to overrule Wayne, Powers hired Walter Shreev to assassinate Wayne. Batman intervened and Shreev failed to assassinate Wayne, but Wayne was wounded enough that he had been rushed to a hospital for recuperation. As a backup plan Shreev implanted a sound device inside one of Wayne's bandages in order to fool him into thinking he had gone mad and force him into committing suicide. Batman was able to locate Shreev and expose him as a criminal to the police and later removed the sound device from Bruce's bandage. When Shreev sought revenge, Powers convinced him to become the supervillain Shriek, telling him that fear was a better method of gaining respect and casually ordered him to murder both Bruce Wayne and Batman. Shriek failed and lost his hearing after Batman destroyed one of his sound amplifiers. With Shriek in prison and Wayne still alive, Powers was overruled by the company shareholders and the historical district was saved.

Ascension

When it looked like he couldn't control transforming into Blight, Powers handed over the operations to his son, Paxton, but only as a puppet since Paxton would be acting chairman of the board while receiving orders from his father. During a meeting of the company shareholders (which Bruce Wayne was also attending) where Derek was announcing his temporary leave of absence a group of citizens of the South American nation of Verdeza broke in to protest against Paxton. They had managed to enrage Powers to such an extent that his radiation took its effect and pealed away his skin. In a violent rage Powers began attacking the men. Bruce Wayne tried to stop him, but this only angered Powers even more and tried to murder Wayne on the spot, something Powers had always dreamed off. After a brief fight with Batman and after having his "Blight" side exposed, Powers went into hiding. Only his assistant, Miss Winston, knew of his whereabouts - Powers hid in an old nuclear submarine that would conceal his radiation trail. After following her to the location, Batman confronted Blight. Blight demanded to know who Batman was and Batman replied "You killed my father". But Blight, having killed countless people, found this information useless.

Paxton also showed up, along with the Verdeza citizens from the meeting, and revealed his plan to kill Blight with a pinch cell, a device which would drain him completely of his radioactive energy. Paxton also explains that he had orchestrated his father's breakdown at the meeting in order to incriminate him simply out of spite and in order to establish himself as Wayne-Power's sole chairman of the board. Before they could finish Blight off, Paxton also ordered his men to kill Batman in order to cover his tracks. But Blight's rage and radiation went out of control and the submarine had a reactor breach, causing the submarine to sink into the harbor. Blight's body was never found and Paxton became the new chairman of the board, with Batman threatening to eventually have him exposed, and of the possibility Blight might come back for revenge.

Seasons Two and Three

Blight made no more appearances after his apparent death, although the memory of his actions continued to be told. His son, Paxton, was reminded twice of his father and his abilities, once by reporter Ian Peek, who referred to Derek as Paxton's "blighted father", and another time by Commissioner Barbara Gordon as Paxton's "father who glows in the dark". More noticeably, Blight had also gained respect from half of the children of Gotham as an idol do to his attitude of not letting anyone stop him and for getting what he wanted.

Comics

Derek Power would later appear in the mainstream DC comics as a recurring villain.

Powers and Abilities

Derek Powers was a highly intelligent man in the fields of economics, business and black-market racketeering. He was able to acquire power in the financial world after buying out other companies and imposing high demands from them. To that end he would fire anyone who apposed him, but under clever pretenses of either disobedience or incompetence. A notable example was buying out Walter Shreev's sound based technology firm, claiming that Shreev lacked the practicality to properly run a business. Another example of cooperate takeover was when he fired Lucious Fox Jr. do to the man's ties to Wayne, whom Powers had already severed ties from their mutual company. On one instance of an attempted takeover of yet another firm, Powers kept a late-night meeting in order to harangue the owners into selling him their company. Under Wayne-Power's legitimate earnings Derek Powers also dabbled into illegal waste disposal, for instance dropping radioactive materials into a Gotham harbor and out at open sea.

Derek Powers would often hire thugs, crooks and even terrorists for his more radical actions. He enlisted the muscle Mr. Fixx to murder Warren McGinnis after realizing that McGinnis was withholding the data regarding his nerve gas. He also hired industrial saboteur Inque to destroy his competitors's factories. Powers was also charismatic and resourceful enough in order to convince Walter Shreev into using his sound-based technology for assassinations.

As Blight, Derek Powers was a walking radiation emitter, able to produce balls of radioactive fire from his hands, or cascading waves of radiation from his entire body. These blasts were able to melt heavy metal constructs and even damage Batman's high-tech suit despite its incredible durability. Powers was able to use these blasts of energy with pin-point accuracy. The heat created by the radiation was able to protect him from intense levels of cold which would normally be lethal to humans. He even broke out of Mr. Freeze's ice prison without sustaining any damage. As a drawback of his condition, Powers could not hold back the radiation on his own, as such he was forced to wear a suit of artificial skin in order to maintain a resemblance of normality. Worse still, the radiation intensified with anger, thus pealing away at his artificial skin more and more until it could hardy last a day.

Me: Derek Powers! What the hell are you doing here!?

Riley: Whoa!

Nico: My god! What happened to him!?

Blight: Not a day has gone by since you put my flesh self in prison!

Qin: Who is he?

Me: That's Derek Powers and he often goes by Blight when he turns into this. He was the former co-founder and co-president of Wayne-Powers Industries. He was a partner of Bruce Wayne and he became like this when he was exposed to an experimental nerve gas he made. The only way to cure him was to expose him to tremendously high levels of gamma radiation. There was an unexpected side effect however and this happened to him. It made him translucent and his skeleton showed. But he is now tremendously radioactive. He's like a living Nuclear Fuel Rod.

Qin: Whoa!

Nico: Geez! This guy is too hot to handle!

Lincoln: He is.

Blight: That's right. Now I'm back to get revenge on all of you! For ruining me!

Me: Vypra must've brought you back to help her.

Blight: That's correct.

?: And I will help you.

We then saw a DARK SIDESHOW BOB! He looked like Sideshow Bob but with Red Eyes!

---

Robert Underdunk Terwilliger Jr., or better known as Sideshow Bob, is one of the main antagonists of the adult animated TV series The Simpsons.

He is a former television personality on The Krusty the Clown Show turned criminal mastermind. He is the archenemy of Bart Simpson, and Krusty the Clown and desires to kill them both, the former for foiling his schemes and the latter for constantly abusing him in the show. He doesn't want to just go after Bart, he wants to go after the rest of the Simpson family and kill them.

He has constantly come up with multiple evil plans, such as framing Krusty for robbery, hunting down Bart and attempting to become mayor and continues to serve as a murderer and a criminal.

He is voiced by Kelsey Grammer, who later played Stinky Pete in Toy Story 2, Rothbart in Barbie of Swan Lake, Harold Attinger in Transformers: Age of Extinction, and Hunter in Storks.

Sideshow Bob started out as the mute sidekick of children's show host Krusty the Clown. Bob abusively went through an act that involved being shot out of a cannon by Krusty himself, all the while being deemed hilarious to the child audience.

Finally having enough, Sideshow Bob disguised himself as Krusty and robbed the Kwik-E-Mart and framed him, resultng in the clown being arrested and Bob being made the new host of his show. The only main character who witnesses the act in the Kwik-E-Mart was Homer Simpson.

However, Bob's victory was to be short lived. Not long after the robbery, Bob began shooting an interview on Krusty's condition with Bart Simpson, Homer's son. As Bob began a speech on Krusty's 'behalf', it was then that the pieces of the puzzle finally connected in Bart's brain, slowly figuring out that Sideshow Bob was behind the robbery all the time and that he framed Krusty for it. The young Simpson then exposed Bob to the authorities and had him arrested.

This was not the end, however, as Sideshow Bob swore revenge on Bart as he was taken away, becoming the boy's nemesis.

Here is Bob's rivalry with Bart Simpson on some of his episodes.

Krusty Gets Busted

The rivalry between Bart and Sideshow Bob began in the season 1 episode "Krusty Gets Busted", when Bob framed his partner Krusty for robbing the Kwik-E-Mart with a gun. A man named Homer Simpson was there when Bob committed the robbery, and reported Krusty to the police, and got him thrown in jail. After Krusty's arrest, Bob gained control of the Krusty the Clown Show, renaming it Sideshow Bob's Cavalcade of Whimsy. Fortunately for Krusty, Homer's son Bart foiled the scheme after realizing that Krusty could not be responsible for the crime and he exposed Bob to the audience by revealing that, like the Kwik E Mart robber, he had abnormally large feet, and Krusty was released while Bob was thrown in prison. This began Bob's rivalry with Bart as he swore revenge on Bart for this.

Black Widower

In the season 3 episode "Black Widower", For his next evil plan, he was released from jail and married Bart's aunt Selma. Later, he tried to blow her up to gain her inheritance from the stock market, but Bart caught on to his plan and Selma was rescued and Bob was arrested again.

Cape Feare

Later In the season 5 episode "Cape Feare", Sideshow Bob began sending death threats written in his own blood to Bart in the mail. Bob was later released and drove around an ice cream truck reading a list of the people he would spare (Bart was not on the list). In response, Bart and his family moved from Springfield to another town and changed their surname to Thompson. However, Bob latched himself onto the Simpson's car and resumed his pursuit after Bart, but was hit by rakes, which allowed Bart to flee and alert his parents. Later that night, Bob located the family in a boat used as a home and upon boarding, he cut the rope holding the boat to the dock and tied up Bart's parents and sister. Bob eventually cornered Bart on the port, but Bart stalled for time by distracting Bob by convincing him to sing the entire score from the Gilbert and Sullivan play The H.M.S. Pinafore, long enough for the boat to reach Springfield. Bart's plan to defeat Bob again was successful, and the police freed Bart's family after the boat arrived in Springfield and arrested Bob yet again.

Sideshow Bob Roberts

In the season 6 episode "Sideshow Bob Roberts", Bob was released again and ran against Mayor Quimby for mayor of Springfield (with the help from Mr. Burns and the Springfield Republican Party). Bart and his sister Lisa ran for Quimby, but despite that, Bob rigged the election against Mayor Quimby by putting in dead people and pets as people who voted for him and won the election. After becoming mayor, Bob put the Simpson's house in front of his expressway to demolish it and demoted Bart to kindergarten. Bart and Lisa desperately tried to find evidence that Bob rigged the election, to no avail. However, Bart discovered one of the names of the people who voted for Bob on a tombstone with help from Waylon Smithers. Bart and Lisa placed charges against Bob and put him on trial, where they tricked him into confessing his crime and Bob was arrested. His evil plans had failed again.

Sideshow Bob's Last Gleaming

Later In the season 7 episode "Sideshow Bob's Last Gleaming", Bob was placed on duty in a local Air Force Base, but escaped and stole an A-bomb to threaten Springfield to rid itself of television, and the Air Base was evacuated, but Bart and Lisa were separated from their parents and decided to stop Bob. The National Guard soldiers searched for Bob, but were unable to locate him. Bob was broadcasting from an airship and was able to evade capture easily. However, Bob discovered that Krusty began televising himself from a fallout shelter in the desert. This outraged Bob, but not before Bart and Lisa tracked him in the cockpit. Angry, Bob attempted to detonate the A-bomb, but it turned out to be a dud and did not explode. Lisa quickly used the airship's electronic ticker to send a message to the police. When the police tried to capture Bob, Bob kidnapped Bart and deflated the airship. Bob then stole the Wright Brother's plane to escape and crash into Krusty's shelter. However, Bart freed himself and Bob crashed the plane near the shelter where the police arrested him.

Brother from Another Series

In the season 8 episode "Brother from Another Series", Bob was the anti-hero. He was released into the care of his younger brother Cecil, who began constructing a dam. Bart and Lisa snuck in to investigate, but Bob caught them and returned them to their parents.

However, Bob, Bart and Lisa learned that Cecil is planning to flood Springfield by blowing the dam and frame Bob for it to cover his embezzlement (mostly out of spite against Bob for being chosen as Krusty's sidekick), Having no choice, Bob, Bart and Lisa were forced to work together to stop Cecil from flooding Springfield. However, as the police arrest Cecil for his crimes, they believe that Bob is involved in the plot and arrest him as well, even though the plan was entirely Cecil's doing. Cecil then tricks Bob into swearing revenge on Bart and Lisa, thereby incriminating himself once again, much to his horror. As such, Bob gets angry at Cecil for making him become Bart's nemesis again.

Day of the Jackanapes

In the season 12 episode "Day of the Jackanapes", Bob escaped prison and tracked down Bart to Springfield Elementary School and lured him into a shed where he hypnotized him. Bob planned to use Bart to kill Krusty. Eventually, Bob strapped explosives to Bart to kill Krusty and kill Bart himself so Bob could finally have his revenge. However, Bob develops a change of heart when Krusty makes a public apology for the horrible treatment that he gave to Bob that turned him into a life of crime in the first place. Also, Krusty's monkey detached the explosives and destroyed the TV executives' chamber, which also forced Bart out of his hypnotic state. Though Bob makes amends with Krusty and apologized for the attempted murder, he was arrested.

The Great Louse Detective

In the season 14 episode "The Great Louse Detective", Bob served as the secondary antagonist/anti-hero. He was released to help the Simpsons find out who was trying to killing Homer, despite Bart's concerns. In order to prevent him from killing Bart, The police chief Clancy Wiggum attached an electric collar to Bob's leg and gave the Simpsons it's remote so they could shock him with it. Wiggum taped it to Bob's hairy leg so Bob would not take it off because it "really hurts". Eventually, Bob discovered the assassin was Frank Grimes, Jr., the son of Frank Grimes, Homer's co-worker in the season 8 episode Homer's Enemy. Grimes Sr. hated Homer and accidentally electrocuted himself to death while mimicking Homer's habits. His son wanted revenge on Homer for killing his father. But Bob and Homer caught Frank and he was arrested. After Frank's imprisonment, Bob returned to his goal to kill Bart, and attempted to murder him in his own room, but didn't because he had "grew accustomed to his face". After singing a song, He let Bart go and went out his window ready to escape in the shadows, but the bird activated the shock remote that Bob threw out earlier, and electrocuted Bob.

The Italian Bob

It is revealed in the season 17 episode "The Italian Bob" that Bob fled to Italy and married a Italian woman named Francesca, and they had a son named Gino. Eventually, Bob became mayor of a Italian village after they realized how effective his large feet were at making wine. In the episode, The Simpsons soon arrived there to buy a new car for Homer's boss, Mr. Burns, and once again ran into Bob, who begged them not to expose him. However, Lisa became intoxicated with wine and exposed Bob's criminal past of the village, which infuriated Bob, and he swore vendetta on the Simpsons. Bob pursued the Simpsons on a Ducati, but failed to catch them. Later, Bob cornered the Simpsons in the Colosseum with his family, but the Simpsons were rescued by Krusty and they returned to the U.S., leaving Bob stranded in Italy.

Funeral for A Fiend

Eventually in the season 19 episode "Funeral for A Fiend", Bob snuck into the U.S. where he lured the Simpson family to a fake restaurant called "Wes Doobner's World Famous Family Style Rib Huts" and dressed up like it's cowboy owner, Wes Doobner. After Bob trapped the Simpsons in the restaurant, revealed his true identity and tied the family to chairs, Sideshow Bob reveals he will kill the family with a large pile of TNT, which he'll set off using a laptop with a defective battery, which will overheat and explode. While gloating, Bob incorrectly quotes a phrase from Macbeth and Lisa corrects him and says the correct quote. Bob sets up the bomb and leaves the room but Lisa urges him to come back in and look up the Macbeth quote on the laptop. He returns and tries to use the laptop to find the correct phrase on Wikipedia, but the laptop explodes in Bob's hands. He is then arrested and taken to court. However, Bart was put on trial as well by Bob. Bob's father, Dr.

Robert Terwilliger Sr., is brought to testify. He explains Bob has a rare heart condition, and also suggests that Sideshow Bob is insane because of his long-standing feud with Bart. However Bart calls Bob out on his lies and demands he be returned to jail. Bob then pulled up what appeared to be an explosive, but Bart threw it out the window. Bob then collapses on the floor. Bob's mother - Shakespearean actress Dame Judith Underdunk says that what Bob was holding was medicine for his heart medication and Dr. Hibbert walks over, examines Bob and says that Bob is dead. At Bob's funeral, his brother Cecil insists Bart pays his respects to Bob before he is cremated. Bart visits Bob at his coffin however to his surprise, Bob pops out of the coffin alive and well and throws Bart into the coffin. Meanwhile at the Simpson house, Lisa discovered that Bob faked his death and his family planned the whole thing out. Bob is getting ready to cremate Bart, but the Simpsons arrive with the police and rescue Bart and arrest Bob. When Bob asks Lisa how she figured out he faked his own death, she explains that she was suspicious that Bob's coffin had extra room for his large feet, which the family would not have bothered to pay to have put in "for the comfort of a dead man". Bob and his family are later locked with Snake Jailbird.

Sex, Pies and Idiot Scrapes

In the episode Bob briefly appearedin the episode escaping from Springfield Penitentiary, where Homer is sent to for a day after skipping bail for his role in a St. Patrick's Day brawl.

Wedding for Disaster

Bob appeared in "Wedding for Disaster", where Homer was kidnapped from attending his second wedding ceremony with Marge (as their marriage was declared invalid due to a lapsed ministerial certification held by Rev. Lovejoy). At first, Bart and Lisa initially suspected Sideshow Bob as he escaped from prison and that they found a keychain with the initials "S.B.", so they confront him for kidnapping their father. However, it turns out that Bob is innocent, as Krusty gave an alibi that he was with Bob the whole time when Homer got kidnapped. Eventually, Bob soon deduced that the keychain actually belonged to his ex-wife Selma, the very same person he tried to kill for her money. It was then Bart and Lisa realized that Patty and Selma kidnapped Homer and planned to keep him cooped up until Marge forgets about him. At that point, Bart and Lisa confront their aunts and threaten to tell their mother about what really happened, forcing both Patty and Selma to concede defeat and pay for the remarriage ceremony. Despite Bob's innocence being proven, he was last seen sent back to prison for unknown reasons.

The Bob Next Door

Later in the season 19 episode "The Bob Next Door", Bob's cell mate, Walt Warren, was scheduled for release, so Bob drugged him unconscious. Bob used plastic surgery to switch his face with Warren's face. Using Warren's identity, Bob escaped prison while Warren stayed in prison, as the police mistook him for Bob. Bob then bought the house next to the Simpson's house, but Bart immediately discovered who he really was. Bart made several attempts to blow Bob's cover, but with little success. Later, his mother Marge took Bart to see Bob, who was really Warren, still in jail, which appeared to satisfy his concerns. That night, Warren escaped from jail to alert the Simpsons of the danger. Later, Bob bought an extra ticket to the baseball game. Bart agreed to go and went to get his cap. Bart then left with Bob in his car, where Bob revealed he was indeed who he was and proceeded to take Bart to Five Corners to kill Bart. Once he arrived at Five Corners, Bob revealed his plan: Bob would stand in one state, fire his gun in the second state, where the bullet would travel through the third state, hitting Bart in the fourth state, and Bart falls dead in the fifth state, so his murder cannot be prosecuted and even quotes greater than when "Snape killed Dumbledore." However, Warren, attacks Bob and stopped him. The police then arrived to capture Bob, and Chief Wiggum revealed that Bart was never truly convinced that Bob was Warren, and before his capture, Bart reported to the police about Bob and told them to track the car. However, Bob jumped to the others state, but more police appeared there as well. Eventually, Bart was freed and Bob was arrested and Warren with them to return their faces to normal, and Bob was seemingly placed in high security shortly after.

At Long Last Leave

In the Season 23 episode "At Long Last Leave", the show's 500th episode, he later speaks briefly during the town meeting to banish the Simpson family from Springfield.

Moonshine River

In the season 24 premiere "Moonshine River", he attempts to kill Bart while in New York City, only to be hit by a train.

Dark Knight Court

In the other season 24 episode "Dark Knight Court", Bob was later seen during Bart Simpson's trial, assuming the mantle of one of the "Unfriendly Witnesses".

The Man Who Grew Too Much

In the season 25 episode "The Man Who Grew Too Much", While still serving out his sentence at Springfield Penitentiary, Sideshow Bob was recruited as a human test subject by Monsarno Corporation. His original purpose was to ensure that the experiments wouldn't be too painful for the test monkeys. After publishing the results of the tests he was subjected to, he eventually rose up the ranks to become Chief Scientist at the Monsarno Research Campus, where he created over 5000 patents. One day, the Simpson family visits the lab to learn more about genetically modified organisms and are shocked to find Sideshow Bob working there. Bob swears that he has changed and that he truly is working to make a better world. During their visit, Lisa learns that she and Bob share a common passion for Walt Whitman, poetry, and art. Believing that a mind that thinks so much like hers could not possibly be completely evil, she begins visiting Bob at the campus on a regular basis. Eventually, Monsarno Corporation allows Bob an hour of freedom to spend with Lisa at the Springfield Metropolitan Museum. While there, a Calder Mobile almost falls on Lisa, but Bob saves her by catching the mobile and throwing it aside. When Lisa demands to know how Bob got the strength to lift the massively heavy sculpture, Bob confesses that he had been altering his DNA to give himself various superhuman abilities. Further, he admits that he had only come to the museum to collect DNA from the personal effects of famous historical persons (such as George Washington, Albert Einstein, and Florence Nightingale) and splicing them with his own so that he might become a superhuman dictator. Eventually, Bart shows up at the museum and Bob is provoked to attack the Simpson children, due to DNA from Zombie Ant Fungus. During the chase scene that follows, Bob demonstrates the abilities of grasshopper-like leaping, sonar, and cranial kinesis. He eventually corners the children at the Springfield Dam and intends to throw them off of it. However, when Lisa recites a quote by Whitman, Bob finally realizes what kind of person he has become and attempts suicide by leaping from the dam himself. He survives on account of having given himself gills.

Clown in the Dumps

In the season 26 premiere "Clown in the Dumps", When Krusty's father dies, Bob makes a brief appearance at the funeral reception to offer his condolences to Krusty. He is then confronted by a drunken Sideshow Mel, who reveals that Krusty is always telling him that he will never live up to Bob's comedic genius. Mel goes on to say that all of Krusty's sidekicks have thought about killing him.

Blazed and Confused

Later, In the other season 26 episode "Blazed and Confused", Bob meets Jack Lassen, a sociopath who took a job as a prison guard at Springfield Penitentiary after Bart gets him fired from his job as the new fourth grade teacher at Springfield Elementary. Realizing that they both share a deep hatred of Bart Simpson, Lassen offers to break Bob out of prison so they can team up and take their revenge on the boy together. Bob ultimately rejects the deal as he does not want to have to take turns gutting Bart.

Treehouse of Horror XXVI

In the first segemt of the season 27 episode "Treehouse of Horror XXVI", he seems to trapped Bart with a text on Milhouse cellphone, he tell Bart he will finally kill him with a gun, Bart tell he could not kill him same with a X on his head, but Sideshow Bob shot him in the heart and successfully killing him, but after Lisa and her family found Bart body and revived him, Sideshow Bob shows up with a gun and gets beheaded by Homer, Bart revived him, but on the body of a frog.

Treehouse of Horror XXVII

In the opening scene of season 28 episode "Treehouse of Horror XXVII", the show's 600th episode, he teams up with other Simpsons villains to crush the family. The villains he enlists are Kang, the ghost of Frank Grimes Sr. and Lepurcon. However Maggie kills them all. One of the villains who was with him in the promo was Russ Cargill from The Simpsons Movie.

Gone Boy

In the season 29 episode "Gone Boy", After Bart goes missing, the entire town goes searching for him. Bob learns that Bart is missing and plans to find and kill him. When Bart is presumed deceased, Sideshow Bob sets out to find Bart alive and kill him. Bob confronts Bart's best friend Milhouse, who confesses that Bart is alive. Bob then demands Milhouse lead him to Bart. Milhouse refuses at first but gives in after Bob starts singing light opera. Milhouse takes Bob to where Bart is, in a hole in the ground. Bob kicks Milhouse down the hole and follows him. Bob finds Bart and ties him and Milhouse to a giant missle, planning to kill them both. When Bart questions Bob's motives, he ponders what his life in he could be good. Bob calls his therapist and asks him if he should kill the boys. The therapist calls he already knows the answer. Bob then has a vision, and unties Bart and Milhouse before the missle blasts off. When Bart asks Bob why he saved them, Bob confesses he doesn't want to kill Bart anymore. And the two of them hug.

In the post credits scene. Bob (now an elder due to the scene taking years later in the future) lives in a lighthouse and is shown to write "Die Bart Die" in the sand every time the tide goes out, meaning that he hasn't completely gotten over his desire to kill Bart.

Bart and Lisa: (SCREAMS!) DARK SIDESHOW BOB!

Me: It's the dark evil inside Sideshow Bob! The very person responsible for everything!

Sideshow Bob: (British Accent) My god! I can't believe that I was like this!

Dark Sideshow Bob: Yes I am what you should've been!

Me: You brought all that on yourself and thank goodness we helped get rid of you. For over 32 years you've caused so much pain to Bart and his family.

?: Indeed he has.

Homer: Oh crap.

Out came MR. BURNS!

---

Charles Montgomery Plantagenet Schicklgruber Burns, or better known as Charles Montgomery Burns, Mr. Burns, Monty, or simply known by his surname Burns, is one of the main antagonists of the famous long-running adult animated comedy television series The Simpsons.

He serves as a minor antagonist in the 2007 theatrical film The Simpsons Movie and as the main antagonist and final boss of the popular beat-em up video game The Simpsons Arcade Game.

He is an extremely greedy, cheap, tyrannical and egotistical businessman, and is the richest and most powerful citizen of Springfield. He is the oppressive founder and chairman of the Springfield Nuclear Power Plant, a member of the inner circle of the Springfield Republican Party, the boss of Homer Simpson, Lenny, Carl and Waylon Smithers and, finally, the archenemy and former friend of Abe Simpson and Homer Simpson.

He was voiced by the late Christopher Collins (who also played Starscream and Cobra Commander) in his first appearance, and then by Harry Shearer for the rest of the series.

Charles Montgomery Burns was born on September 15, 1886 to Clifford and Dephane Burns. Unlike his current personality, Young Charles was so happy he was nicknamed "Happy", until his grandfather, Colonel Wainwright Montgomery Burns, lured him away from his parents and raised him as his own son. Although he was seemingly born poor, he was raised in luxury by his grandfather (he later reveals to Bart that he grew up in a wealthy family), who molded him into the heartless man that he is today. When growing up, Burns attended Yale University and studied nuclear physics and business. He graduated in 1914 and went on to pursue business interests including Confederated Slaveholdings.

In the mid 1930s, Burns fell in love with a woman named Lyla, and, after proposing to her, gave up on her promise that he dedicate five minutes a day to others.

In 1939, he met Lily Bancroft at his 25th Yale reunion. They would procreate and Lily would give birth to Larry Burns, who would enter Mr. Burns' life years later.

Later that year, Burns enlisted in the Schutzstaffel when Germany invaded Poland. However, when Germany and America declared war, Burns, who came from America, defected against the Nazis, and enlisted in the United States Army in 1941. By 1943, he had been forced to serve in the Flying Hellfish, under Abraham Simpson, when he was caught in a romantic scandal involving blocking a probe from J. Edgar Hoover. He entered a tontine where the last surviving member of the Flying Hellfish would gain a group of priceless German paintings, which he would break when he was discharged from the group after trying to murder Abraham Simpson. In 1945, Burns (likely because of his service and wealth) was hired by President Harry S. Truman yo transport a trillion dollar bill to Europe. Burns absconded with the bill, and kept it in his possession for many years until it was lost to Fidel Castro. Burns subsequently lied about the bill's transportation to the government, which kept it believing Europe had received the bill and was rebuilt until 1998.

By 1950, Burns, who was still serving in the Army, began to serve in the Korean War with the original Flying Hellfish. He was released from military service in 1956. In 1960, Mr. Burns purchased a germ warfare lab, effectively becoming its chairman. Subsequently, his fortune grew. By 1965, he worked as a biochemist and started developing diseases to use against the people of Springfield. His germs were killed when a group of hippies set off and antibiotic bomb in the lab. When they trampled over him, one of the hippies, Mona Simpson (Homer's mother and Abraham's wife), went to help him up, he saw her and angrily threatened her with a long prison sentence. In 1966, he hosted a fundraiser to help finance the construction of his nuclear power plant. At his fundraiser, he got into a fight with Homer Simpson, who wanted to give his stuffed Isotope to his dog Bongo. Burns tried to get Bongo euthanized after he bit him, but gave up and employed Abe Simpson to make sure he wouldn't come back after them. Eventually, his nuclear plant finished construction 2 years later.

In 1968, when Homer (12 years old), Lenny, Carl, and Moe camped out near the Springfield Nuclear Power Plant, it suffered a near meltdown and almost exploded. However, the meltdown had been averted through unknown means. It was later revealed that during that time, Waylon Smithers Sr., Burns' best friend and assistant, sacrifice himself to save the plant, and his infant son, Waylon Junior.

In 1974, the plant began handing out employee pamphlets to Springfield High School, one of which Homer took (his counselor stated that the plant was opening soon, implying that Mr. Burns was renovating and re-opening it).

In 1980, Burns hired Homer Simpson at the plant as a technician after the latter dramatically stormed into his room and demanded a job, promising to be a perfect employee. Burns asked Smithers who he was, and Smithers replied "Homer Simpson". It was also at this time that Burns' catchphrase "Simpson, eh?" originated. He promised to remember that name, although due to his role in the series, he has broken his promise.

In 1989, Homer (who had found a new job as a pinmonkey at Barney's Bowlarama) quit working at the plant, and practiced his newfound freedom by abusing Mr. Burns. However, when Maggie was born, Homer was forced to crawl back to Burns for his nuclear-safety job. Burns and Smithers took pleasure in this, and gave him a wall plaque that read "Don't Forget, You're Here Forever".

Burns currently owns and manages the power plant, although he had lost control over it many times, including when he sold it to a German conglomerate, when it was taken over by hip-hop mogul

Jay G, and when he lost his fortune to the Rich Texan.

He had a very difficult childhood and has a large desire of various goals. He is the boss of Homer Simpson, the main protagonist of The Simpsons.

At some points, Mr. Burns has done non-evil plans. He rewarded Homer for saving his life from a water fountain just to retrieve a penny, he paid for Homer's emergency liposuction in "King Sized Homer" as a reward for saving the city from a nuclear meltdown, and achieved his goal of winning a snowboard competition, which he always wanted to do as a child.

Mr. Burns is rarely shown to have a 'human' sense of feeling however he has been shown to miss things such as his teddy bear Bobo who he lost during his childhood. However, the way he must get Bobo back alternates back to his usual self when he tries to steal the teddy bear back from Maggie Simpson who has grown attached to him. In the end when all hope seems lost Maggie gives Bobo back to Mr. Burns and is later shown being tucked into bed with Bobo by Mr. Smithers. Here, Mr Burns. says he will never let Bobo out of his sight again and drifts off to sleep and a scene begins set sometime in the distant future when humans are replaced by robots and Mr. Burns and Mr. Smithers are both robots themselves. It shows the robot Mr. Burns telling Bobo once more that he will never let him out of his sight again.

Homer sometimes accidentally called Mr. Burns on the telephone and Burns didn't know it was Homer, such as Lisa's Date with Density and Bart Star. He is voiced by Harry Shearer (originally Christopher Collins AKA Chris Latta AKA G1 Starscream and Cobra Commander).

In many episodes of the Simpsons, Mr. Burns is shown to be a villain particularly in the Treehouse of Horror episodes. In one particular episode "Treehouse of Horror IV", Mr. Burns was a vampire and no one but Lisa knew the truth. However Lisa and Bart find Mr. Burns' secret lair however when Bart is enticed by the 'fun slide' he gets turned into a vampire and when the family find out they are worried he will get worse, and decide that they must killed the head vampire, Mr. Burns. Homer takes a stake and after many fails kills him (while getting fired by Burns), however it is revealed at the end when all seems again that the h4ead vampire is Marge Simpson.

Ironically, Mr. Burns became a superhero in one episode called "Dark Knight Court" and helps clear Bart's name by capturing the real culprit, Groundskeeper Willie.

Health

Due to his unnaturally long lifespan, Mr. Burns is shown to have numerous physical ailments that has passed up to him throughout most of the series, such as being infertile with a green glow due to many years of running his plant. Because of this, he is shown to be physically weak in nature as he is unable to perform any normal physical tasks, such as wrestling a teddy bear from an infant, taking a picture of several school students, or even crushing a tiny ant with his foot. However, his physical strength depends on the episode.

Despite his poor health, Mr. Burns has utilized his wealth to provide himself the best health care in Springfield that anyone can receive; he even had to provide himself painful medical treatments that involves chiropractics and painkillers which leave him disoriented in order to cheat death every single week. In the episode "The Fool Monty" after having amnesia, a recovering Burns is surprised to learn that the feeling of spite is what keeping him alive due to his enjoyment of making people's lives miserable and earning their hate.

Villainous Acts

These are the Villainous Acts Mr. Burns has committed.

The underlined episodes are where Mr. Burns serves as the main antagonist of that episode.

Season 1

In the very first episode of the series Simpsons Roasting on an Open Fire, Burns cancelled all of his workers' Christmas bonuses, which left a disappointed Homer to work as a mall Santa after learning that Marge blew all of the family's Christmas money to remove a tattoo from Bart's arm.

Season 2

In Two Cars in Every Garage and Three Eyes on Every Fish, Burns ran for Governor against incumbent governor Mary Bailey in hopes preventing his plant from being shut down after it was proven to be the cause of a three-eyed fish. This is the first episode where he was the main antagonist.

In Bart Gets Hit by a Car, Burns accidentally hits Bart with his car. Burns wanted to give Bart a nickel and leave, showing no remorse over accidentally hitting a kid. To avoid a lawsuit, Burns offers to pay $100 to Homer, but Homer refuses as it barely covers Bart's medical bills and that he wants to sue Burns (with the help from the quacky lawyer Lionel Hutz) to get a $1 million settlement. To that end, Homer and Hutz get Bart to exaggerate his minor injuries on trial in order to win the jury's favor, much to Burns' dismay. Summoning Homer and Marge to his residence, Burns attempts to rectify his actions by offering a sum of $500,000. However, he soon withdraws it after overhearing Homer's refusal and Marge's 'shifty lawyers and phony doctors' statement, realizing their true plan to win the jury's favor by lying in court. To that end, Burns gets his lawyer to put Marge on the stand and make her confess of the perjury that Homer and Hutz committed, resulting Burns to win the trial and leave the Simpsons with nothing.

Season 3

In "Stark Raving Dad", Burns deemed Homer insane due to wearing a pink shirt to work (due to Bart putting his red hat in the white laundry) and has him committed to an insane asylum, though Homer would later be released by Marge.

In "Bart the Murderer", Burns learns of an event that Bart, along with Fat Tony and the Springfield Mafia, are being arrested for the disappearance and supposed murder of Principal Skinner. Burns relishes on the fact that Bart is going to be tried as an adult and convicted, though Skinner turns out to be alive and clears both Bart and the Mafia's names by confessing that he was actually trapped in a huge pile of newspaper over a week.

In "Dog of Death", Burns adopted the Simpsons family dog Santa's Little Helper (who ran away after being unappreciated by the Simpsons due to the losses over a hospital operation they had to pay to fix his twisted stomach). Burns puts Santa's Little Helper through torture to become a bloodthirsty killer dog to attack any intruders on Burns' property. However, Bart comes by to rescue Santa's Little Helper by reminding the latter of the good times they had, prompting Santa's Little Helper to snap out of his trance and return back to the Simpsons in peace.

Season 4

In "Marge Gets A Job", Marge gets a job at the nuclear plant, and Burns attempts to woo her for himself until he learns that she is married to Homer, and fires her on the spot.

In "Marge vs. the Monorail", Burns was caught dumping nuclear waste into the park by the EPA and was forced to pay a fine of $3 million, much to his dismay. He later attempts to trick the town into giving the money back to him under the guise of "Mr. Snrub", but fails and escapes with Smithers.

In Last Exit to Springfield, he opposes the union and takes away their dental plan, resulting in Lisa having horrific braces. When the union goes on strike, he shut off the power to the entire city.

In So It's Come to This: A Simpsons Clip Show, Homer is in a coma (due to a April Fools joke engineered by Bart), and Burns attempts to pull the plug on Homer's life support system to avoid paying for Homer's health insurance (to no avail).

Season 5

In "Burns' Heir", he picks Bart as his new heir to the fortune, and attempts to separate him from his family to ensure of it. However, Bart refuses to leave his family behind and instead drops Burns through a trapdoor before reuniting with his family.

In "$pringfield (Or, How I Learned to Stop Worrying and Love

Legalized Gambling)", he recalls a memory of the time he crippled an Irishman with a bumper cart. This causes him to spend hours laughing.

In "Lady Bouvier's Lover", Burns falls in love with Marge's mother Jacqueline and wants to marry her, much to Marge's disapproval. However, Jackie decides to forget about it due to Burns' boorish behavior.

Season 6

In "Sideshow Bob Roberts", Burns and the Springfield Republican Party took in Sideshow Bob (Bart's archenemy) as their new candidate for the mayoral election, to which Bob managed to win. However, unknown to Burns and the rest of the party, Bob secretly rigged the election by putting in deceased people as active voters. Eventually, Smithers found out about the electoral fraud and secretly informed Bart and Lisa, who then tricked Bob into confessing his crime at court, resulting Bob's arrest.

In " Two Dozen and One Greyhounds", he takes the 25 greyhound puppies and plots to kill them for their fur except one who can stand on its hind legs, though he decides to change his mind after seeing how lovely they are, and instead decides to raise them as racing dogs.

In "Who Shot Mr. Burns Part One", he commits many villainous acts that causes trouble for his fellow Springfield citizens. He steals an oil well buried beneath Springfield Elementary, which caused so many budget layoffs, shuts down Moe's tavern, makes a sinkhole that destroys the local retirement home, and injures the Simpson family dog. He also creates a sun-blocking device to raise prices for the electricity he's supply for the town, much to everyone's horror. When Smithers protests against him, Burns angrily fires him. Eventually, in the end of the episode, Burns gets shot in the chest by an unknown assailant.

Season 7

In "Who Shot Mr. Burns Part Two", Burns is in a coma as the authorities attempt to find out who shot him while the citizens manage to destroy his sun-blocking device for good. Much of the evidence points out to Homer (due to his anger towards Burns for his inability to remember his name, and Homer's fingerprints found on the gun that fired the shot), but Burns wakes up from his coma and reveals that Homer's youngest daughter Maggie was the one who shot him. As it turns out, Burns spotted Maggie inside the Simpsons' car holding a lollipop and attempts to steal it, but his gun accidentally fell into Maggie's hands after he snatched the lollipop, causing the gun to misfire. Both the gun and the lollipop fell into the bottom seat, where Homer would unknowingly leave his fingerprints. Burns demands that Maggie be arrested, but Chief Wiggum states that it's unlawful to arrest a baby for a crime. Marge also adds that it was an accident as Maggie doesn't know how to handle a gun at her age (though it may be told otherwise due to Maggie's shifting eyes and sucking noises sounding like gunshots).

In "Mother Simpson", it was revealed that he was responsible for turning Homer's mother Mona into a wanted criminal, due to her involvement of shutting down his germ warfare factory by releasing antibiotics. To that rate, he gets the FBI to track down Mona while riding a tank, though she escapes (thanks to Homer and Chief Wiggum).

In "Raging Abe Simpson and His Grumbling Grandson in Curse of the Flying Hellfish", he crosses the Moral Event Horizon as he attempts to murder Grampa Simpson to get a collection of stolen German paintings, even attempting to drown Bart. However, Grampa saves Bart and defeats Burns while the stolen paintings are returned to the German government, leaving Burns empty-handed.

Season 8

In "The Old Man and the Lisa", Burns temporarily loses his fortune due to bad investments and turns to Lisa for help. She taught him how to recycle, which allowed Burns to open up a recycling plant to get his fortune back, but is revealed he's using his new plant to catch tons of sea creatures to make a new multi-purpose edible compound, much to Lisa's horror. When he sells the plant, he even offers to pay Lisa 10% of the profits as thanks, but Lisa declines it.

Season 9

In "The Trouble With Trillions", Burns stole a trillion dollar bill from the U.S. Government during World War 2, and kept it under his possession until he was ratted out to the FBI. Burns, Smithers and Homer were forced to evacuate to Cuba, where they lost the bill to Fidel Castro, who then banishes them back to the States, much to their dismay.

Season 10

In "Monty Can't Buy Me Love", Burns attempts to capture the Loch Ness Monster in order to win the heart of Springfield's population. Though he manages to capture the monster (who turns out to be friendly), the veiling of the monster turns out to be a disaster due to a fire caused by camera flashes, leaving Burns unloved. However, Homer cheers him up by saying that being loved means you have to be nice to people everyday but being hated means you do not have to do anything.

Season 11

In "Grift of the Magi", Springfield Elementary School was closed down after suffering a series of budget cuts. Much of the townspeople put out their pleas to Burns to provide a donation to reopen the school, but he flatly refuses and evicts them via trap door (and they suddenly fall from the ceiling). Eventually, a toy company called Kid First Industries bought the school, as they intend to use it take down the competition of other toy companies. However, Burns has a change of heart after having an epiphany and donated enough money to restore Springfield Elementary to normal before having Christmas dinner with the Simpsons and Gary Coleman.

Season 12

In Homer vs. Dignity, the Simpson family is facing money woes, so Homer asks Burns for a raise. Taking advantage of this, Burns hires Homer as his prank monkey to perform embarrassing tasks in exchange for money. One of which, ends with Homer being raped by a panda. However, Lisa learns of this and convinces Homer to stop, saying that dignity is more important than money. Mr Burns then takes Homer's place as Santa Claus in a Christmas parade and starts throwing fish guts at the crowds before they get attacked by seagulls.

In "The Computer Wore Menace Shoes", Homer learns that Mr. Burns is providing uranium rods to terrorists for profit. Out of disgust, Homer (taking on the name Mr. X) uses his website to expose the uranium scandal to the public, and Mr. Burns ends up being taken by the FBI to answer for his crimes, much to his dismay.

Season 13

In "She of Little Faith", Homer accidentally damaged the local church with his flying rocket, and Burns offers to pay for the damages by turning the church into commercial business, complete with advertising signs, a Lard Lad statue, and a Jumbotron. This motivated a disgusted Lisa to leave the church and find a new path in Buddhism.

Season 14

In "C.E. D'oh", Homer formulates several solutions to improve safety in the nuclear plant, but Mr. Burns rejects them all without even reading them. This angers Homer in plotting to overthrow Burns, and finds an opportunity that Burns owns a canary that acts as the legal owner of the plant because this protects Mr. Burns from responsibility for any wrongdoing by the power plant. To that end, Homer releases the canary and tricks Burns into handing over the ownership under the ruse of an incoming inspection, resulting a victorious Homer to fire Burns on the spot. As such, Burns plans to kill Homer by burying him alive, but fails as he is too weak and old to finish the wall before Homer wakes up. He decides to forget about it when Homer gives the plant back, as he finds himself more miserable being the nuclear plant's owner.

Season 15

In "My Mother the Carjacker", Burns learns that Mona has been arrested and plans to have her convicted on court for her crimes. However, due to Mona's record of community service acts and Homer's heartfelt testimony, Mona became rightfully acquitted, much to Burns' anger. Not wanting to give up, Burns transforms his germ lab into a museum, which is nothing more than a ruse to successfully trick Mona into confessing her crime of signing false names while visiting state and national parks. With this evidence, Burns gets the FBI to arrest Mona and have her locked up in prison, but she escapes again (thanks to Homer's help), much to Burns' dismay.

In "Simple Simpson", Homer served as Springfield's local hero known as the "Pie Man" who is giving wrong-doers their 'just desserts' by throwing pies in their faces as punishment for their crimes. He eventually threw a pie at Mr. Burns for bullying him and his co-workers, but Burns soon learns about his identity and makes him his 'personal hitman', threatening to expose his identity to the public if otherwise. As Burns give Homer his next mission to throw a pie at the visiting Dalai Lama, Homer decides that he has had enough and reveals himself to the public, though none of the citizens believe that Homer could be the Pie Man. This left Burns upset, realizing that Homer is no longer under his control anymore.

In "Fraudcast News", after surviving a rock slide, Burns learns that everyone in Springfield hates him, so he decides to buy every media outlet in Springfield to improve his image. As Lisa produces her own newspaper to combat against Burns' media ownership, Burns manages to learn about Milhouse's crush on Lisa and exposes this to the public, prompting a depressed Lisa to concede defeat. However, Lisa gets cheered up when Homer creates his own newspaper, inspiring other citizens to create their own newspapers to combat against Burns' media. Realizing now that he can't control the entire media for himself, Burns decides to put that behind by going on a shopping spree with Smithers for relief.

Season 16

In "Midnight Rx", Burns cancels the plant's prescription drug program out of pure greed, prompting other drug companies to follow his lead. This caused an outraged Homer and Grampa to smuggle drugs from Canada, and Burns eventually realized his mistake after learning that Smithers is suffering from a goiter. To that end, Burns helps Homer and Grampa smuggle a large case of a drugs to Springfield in order to save Smithers. During which, he leaves Homer and his dad to die, but they survive. After saving Smithers, Burns reinstates the prescription program, much to everyone's delight. However, he makes it so only full time employees get prescription drugs and he makes Homer and other employees part-timers to save money.

In "The Seven-Beer Snitch", Burns bought an abandoned concert hall built by Frank Gehry (due to the town's hatred of classical music) and turns it into a maximum-security prison to lock up more convicts based on old laws. After Homer was sent there after committing an 'illegal transportation of litter' by kicking a can five times down the street, Burns made him the local prison snitch after Homer unwittingly foiled Snake Jailbird's escape attempt. As reward for his snitching, Homer receives special treatment from the guards (led by Officer Krackney), but the other inmates soon catch on to Homer's intents and planned to kill him during a prison riot. Having realized his mistake in ruining the inmates' lives in the prison, Homer decides to take action by confessing to the Governor Bailey about the prison's deplorable conditions, resulting Governor Bailey to close down the prison and send the inmates into a garbage barge to fight, much to the inmates' delight.

Season 17

In "The Last of the Red Hat Mamas", Burns promised to donate $1 million to the Cheery Red Tomatoes for a children's hospital, but it turns out to be a joke for his own pleasure before releasing the hounds on them. As such, the Red Tomatoes plan to steal Burns' Faberge Eggs as revenge, and Marge (who became a member herself) manages to do the job herself, much to their delight.

Season 19

In "Mona Leaves-a", following Mona's death, Homer was told to bring her ashes to the highest point at Springfield Monument Park and scatter them at exactly 3:00. However, Homer gets caught over Burns' next plot to send a nuclear missile (filled with the city's nuclear waste) into the Amazon rain-forest, and Burns contains Mona's ashes in a vacuum bag to taunt Homer. As Burns and his men are about to initiate the launch, the rest of the Simpson family came to rescue Homer, who managed to stop the launch by inadvertently setting the launch base to self-destruct before escaping with his family and dispersing his mother's ashes for good, leaving a dismayed Burns in utter defeat.

Season 24

In "To Cur, With Love", the Simpson family confronted Homer for neglecting Santa's Little Helper by locking him in the pantry. Grampa revealed that Homer once had a dog named Bongo, whom he wad very close to during his childhood. As Mr. Burns was hosting a kid's fundraiser in the flashback, he insulted Homer, resulting an angry Bongo to attack Burns in retaliation. Unfortunately, this incited an angry Burns to have Bongo euthanized by all means necessary. Knowing that this would break Homer's heart if he let this happen, Grampa gave Bongo away to an old neighbor named Ms. Viola for safety before doing extra work for Mr. Burns to make amends for the incident. Unfortunately, this only strains Grampa's relationship with Homer as a result, as he feels that Bongo will never remember him, which may explain his neglectful behavior towards Santa's Little Helper. Eventually, Grampa gave Homer an old photo of Bongo sleeping on an old sweatshirt that he once wore, realizing that Bongo still remembered him and that Grampa did a favor to protect him from Burns. After reconciling with each other, Homer and Grampa shared a nap together with Santa's Little Helper.

The Simpsons Movie

Burns serves as a minor character in The Simpsons Movie. He is first seen getting his toothbrush filled with toothpaste from help by Smithers during the movie intro. The paste apparently added more weight that the already fragile Burns could not handle, as he falls down with his toothbrush.

Burns was later seen with the angry mob along with Smithers, as they want to kill Homer for polluting the Springfield Lake and forcing Russ Cargill and the Environmental Protection Agency to imprison the city in a strong unbreakable dome.

His most notable appearance in the movie was when Apu, Police Chief Wiggum, and Dr. Hibbert asked him for electricity and Burns asked for reasons why he should share it with them, warning that behind his desk, he has two buttons. One that will give the town electricity and the other that will release the hounds. Dr. Hibbert said he needed the electricity to perform an operation. Wiggum said he needed it to power up the electric chair so they could execute a convict; Burns seemed he was about to cooperate with that one. However, Apu ticked him off by trying to appeal to Burns' conscience and Burns pushed the button that released the hounds and they chased the visitors out the door, with Burns telling them to take the "first door on the right".

Mr. Burns was last seen relieved that the explosive bomb left the dome area of the city. During the credits following Cargill's defeat, it is shown that his mansion has been ransacked, and sits on the staircase with Smithers and says, "Smithers, I don't believe in suicide, but if you try it, it might cheer me up to watch."

Me: Mr. Burns!

Qin: So that old fucking codger is Mr. Burns.

Me: That's him. He was the owner of the Springfield Nuclear Power Plant. He's also one of the sources of corruption that lead to the destruction of Springfield.

Mr. Burns: That's right! I HATE YOU ALL SO MUCH!

Our auras flared up with incredible power! His hatred was just as powerful as when I absorbed all the hatred out of the Kisenian Blossom. Our auras looked like fire.

Me: WHOA! His hatred is incredibly strong.

John Cena: Whoa! That was powerful.

A.J. Lee: Is that what happens when someone hates you?

Me: Yep. We get more powerful from hatred and negative energy.

Homer: You never cared about me at all Mr. Burns! All you did was make people all around you so miserable and did nothing but make people suffer!

Bart: That's right you old fucker!

Nico: You tell him Bart.

Me: Yeah! But Mr. Burns, you don't give a flying fuck about anyone but yourself! You would rather make enemies than have friends.

Vypra: And now he has us.

We saw Vypra, Lord Drakkon and Professor Calamitous.

Me: I figured you all would come. I guess Zs'Skayr and Number 7 told you about what went down with what happened yesterday.

Professor Calamitous: They did.

Me: Well that was a minor disagreement.

?: Soon it will be your last.

We then saw a bunch of figures come out and it was THE BLACK DAFFODIL GANG!

Me: The Black Daffodil Gang!

Qin: So they are the Black Daffodil Gang.

Me: Yep. They are the villains that we defeated over in Michigan that made us recognized as National Heroes. But this was before we became Team Loud Phoenix Storm.

Lynn: They appeared on the day I got my powers after Betsy Davis broke my leg.

Qin: Whoa!

Sophie: (British Accent) I've heard so much about that. That's amazing.

Zarya: It sure is.

Tone: I know. But Gaz why aren't you with us anymore!?

Shannon: Because revenge is pointless and a one way ticket to death! My parents are now in prison and I am happy that I am a member of the Loud Family. And I am not Gaz anymore. My name is Shannon DeLuth Sanderson Loud now.

?: Then you will die.

We saw two more figures come out and they were enemies from Lori and Luna's pasts. They were Tyler Corso and Nate Krensikov.

Lori: Tyler Corso!?

Luna: Nate Krensikov!?

Tyler: Long time no see Firebabe.

Me: You two know these guys?

Lori: Oh that's right. You didn't know about this, but that guy is Tyler Corso. He was the worst bully I've ever known in High School. It was 1 year before you moved to Michigan, J.D. Tyler Corso was the worst bully in school. He tormented all of us and literally made us all look like a bunch of idiots. He loved picking on me.

Bobby Santiago: But one time when he was picking on Lori, I stepped in and punched him in the face.

Lori: Bobby got him expelled and sent to prison. But we also found out that he had a criminal history a mile long.

Me: Lets see.

I pulled up his rap sheet and what I saw was awful! He was part of a ruthless gang in Detroit called the Blue Killfish and they were a terrible gang that terrorized all of Detroit before the FBI got them. Tyler Corso was thrown in jail for numerous crimes including murder, arson, vandalism and more.

Me: Jeez! That is terrible!

Lori: It is.

Luna: And then there's Nate. He's from Russia and he's is also part of a gang.

Me: Lets see.

I pulled up Nate's rap sheet and he is part of a ruthless street gang called The Red Bloodmaces. They kill people for sheer pleasure and they a nasty White Supremacist group that absolutely despises same sex couples with a merciless vengeance.

Me: Whoa! This is terrible!

Sam S.L.: Yes and Nate is my ex-boyfriend.

Me: Oh shit.

Nate Krensikov: (Russian Accent) Indeed Sam. But I wasn't happy when I found out that you were dating that bitch Luna.

Sam S.L.: Because of your hatred!

Me: If there's one thing I despise above all others it's a fucked up White Supremacist.

?: And don't forget me.

We then saw another figure come out. It was BELLE MULDOON!

Me: Belle Muldoon!

Leni: Why are you here?!

Belle Muldoon: To get revenge on you Leni!

Qin: Who is she?

Me: That's Belle Muldoon. In high school, she used to be one of Leni's best friends. But then Jackie and Mandee came and Belle became a jealous monster. She was jealous of Leni's looks and they fought and Leni cut that X shaped scar into Belle's face. Leni got Belle expelled from school and ever since then, Belle has hated Leni with a merciless vengeance. She hates her so much that she painted the words Kill Leni all over her room.

Belle Muldoon: That's right! And now I will get my revenge!

Me: Even after all this time you just will never learn. All right lets split them up and take them down! John, guys, would you like to help us?

John Cena: We would be honored J.D.

Hulk Hogan: Yeah!

Me: Lets get them!

Jake Holling: Let's get ready to rumble!

Megaforce Rangers: Legendary Ranger Mode: Turbo!

The Megaforce Rangers turned into the Turbo Rangers.

I snapped my fingers and we were on the gas giant planet QUEZTELEXANTIA.

---

Planet Queztelexantia is a super gas giant planet in the unknown zone. It is 25 trillion kilometers or 15,534,279,803,933 miles in diameter and is one of the largest planets in the universe. It is also one of the most electrically charged and coldest and windiest planets in the universe. It emits 13 billion lightning bolts ever 1/2 a second, the temperature deeper in the planet is -428˚Fahrenheit and the winds blow at 200 million miles per hour, making it the most electrically charged, windiest and coldest planet in the universe. It also has 9 planets orbiting around it along with 18,000 moons.

---

Nico: Whoa! Look at this planet.

Laney: Wow! I've never seen a planet like this.

Me: We're going on different planets than just this one. Lets get them!

We went at them and it was a big Interstellar Battle!

---

Battle 1: Me, John Cena, Zarya and Naruto VS Madara Uchiha.

---

Me, John Cena, Zarya and Naruto were facing Madara Uchiha on the dark planet FIENDRONOMICA.

---

Planet Fiendronomica is a Dark Planet located in the galaxy GN-z11 13.4 billion light-years away from Earth. It is known as the ultimate planet from Hell and it's like something out of your worst nightmares that would scare you forever.

---

We looked at the surface of the planet and we saw that it was a nightmare planet of unimaginable horror.

Me: Wow. Look at this planet.

Zarya: It's really horrifying.

Naruto: My god. This planet is really scary.

John Cena: I know. I would not want to be here ever.

Me: Me neither. And it's amazing that it's so far away from home.

Zarya: No kidding.

Madara: But it will be your tomb when I kill you all.

Me: Don't be so sure Madara. I am now far more powerful than I ever was when we fought the last time.

Madara: How so?

I then flared up my rainbow aura and unleashed the full extent of my power and sprouted my 10 tails and I then became a Super Angel-Ebonwu 100,000 Elemental Moonlight Phoenix! My power was so incredible that it was unbelievable!

Me: (Divine Voice) You always have proclaimed yourself to be a god Madara. But you don't know what the true power of a god is capable of until you face me.

Madara was shaking in fear. He had never felt the full extent of my power until now.

Madara: Wha… What the hell are you!?

Me: Your worst fucking nightmare!

Madara was shocked and then without warning he got a devastating punch to his stomach courtesy of me and it knocked the wind out of him and then I kneed him in the face and kicked him in the chest and sent him crashing into a rock. I then fired a massive blast of fire and it hit him in the face and exploded with incredible power.

KRABBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Madara got out of the rubble and I flew at him and he used FIRE STYLE: GREAT FIRE ANNIHILATION!

The pinnacle of Uchiha Fire Release techniques, chakra kneaded inside the body is converted into fire, and then expelled from the mouth and shaped into a literal sea of flames, which covers a wide range as well. This makes the technique extremely difficult to either avoid or contain, with it requiring the combined efforts of several Water Release users in order to extinguish the flames.

I fired a massive blast of fire and the blasts collided and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

I then teleported and punched Madara in the face and sent him crashing into the ground and I fired a massive barrage of energy blasts at him and they hit him all over the place and exploded.

KRABBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO
KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM!

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!
KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!

KRABBBBOOOOOOMMM!

Madara then got up and flew at me and I went at him and kicked him in the face and stomach and punched him in the mouth and knocked out some of his teeth and then I kicked him to John Cena and he punched him in the face with incredible force and Zarya fired massive energy arrows at him and they hit Madara and exploded.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Naruto then slammed a Wind Style: Rasenshuriken into Madara's back and it hit him and exploded!

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Madara was down on the ground.

Me: There's another thing you didn't count on Madara.

Madara: What is it?

Me: My powers have evolved far beyond anything ever imagined ever since the last time we fought. And thanks to my immortality and invincibility, I can open all 8 Chakra Gates without any fatal repercussions.

Madara: You wouldn't dare! You'll destroy your ninja career!

Me: Don't be so sure. First Gate Open!

I felt my power increase and so did my speed and I went at Madara and kicked him in the face with devastating force and punched him high into the air and I grabbed him and used the Primary Lotus and smashed him into the ground.

KRASMASSSHHH!

I opened the 2nd gate: Gate of Rest and my energy and strength was enhanced.

Me: Now things are about to get serious! 3RD GATE: GATE OF LIFE, OPEN!

My power flared up 1,000-fold and my aura exploded out!

Me: 4TH GATE! GATE OF PAIN, OPEN!

My speed and strength were increased 10,000-fold!

I went at Madara with massive speed and punched him all over with incredible and relentless fury! The punches had massive fiery blasts explode out of them with incredible power!

The explosions were so massive and so devastating that they were shaking the entire planet and the universe!

Me: Try this! 5TH GATE! GATE OF CLOSING, OPEN!

My speed increased 100,000,000-fold!

I went at Madara with incredible speed and power! My punches were so fast and massive that they were making Madara helpless.

Me: 6TH GATE! GATE OF JOY, OPEN!

All my powers were increased dramatically!

Me: Taste this! ASAKUJAKU!

The Morning Peacock is a certain-kill taijutsu born from the philosophy of Might Guy. The principle of this taijutsu is to rapidly increase the body's abilities by opening up to and including the sixth of the Eight Gates, and then to strike the enemy down with countless punches.

I struck Madara all over with incredible speed and strength and fire exploded out all over from each punch!

Me: Now for this one! 7TH GATE! GATE OF SHOCK, OPEN!

My power increased more.

Me: HIRUDORA!

After opening the seventh of the Eight Gates, the user places a palm facing forward in front of their face with one hand and then taps it with his other hand, formed into a fist, which creates a massive amount of air pressure. Next, the user forms a unique hand seal resembling a tiger. This launches the air pressure at the opponent in the shape of one by leaving a gigantic tiger-shaped impression into the initially built-up air pressure with the hand seal. The air pressure will condense as it's moving and be focused into a single point. The technique then explodes on command, releasing the built up air pressure in an instant. A massive explosion - one that dwarfs Island Turtle - is created which can be felt a significant distance away.

It slammed into Madara and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Me: Now for the grand finale. 8TH GATE! GATE OF DEATH, OPEN!

My power and strength and skills were increased 500 Quintillion-fold and my power was far beyond anything ever known.

Me: Now you die Madara.

I went at Madara with unbelievable speed and shook the ground as I went and punched Madara all over with incredible power!

Me: EVENING ELEPHANT!

This technique is a continuous assault of five punches, with each "foot" - as they are referred to - being performed faster than the one before. It creates a cannon of pressurised air which bears the appearance of an elephant's leg, causing devastating damage to the opponent. The first punch alone was capable of creating a massive and deep tunnel in the ground. The final punch is strong enough to break through Madara Uchiha's chakra shell. The strength of several of these punches was enough to temporarily immobilize Madara Uchiha as the Ten-Tails' jinchūriki.

I landed 50 powerful and massively devastating blows to Madara that looked like Elephant feet.

Me: Now for this! Amass!

I was then enveloped in a massive red aura and it looked a lot like a powerful dragon of incredible ferocity and unbelievably incredible power!

Me: M IDNIGHT DRAGON!

When the user initiates the technique by saying "amass" (積, seki), they emit an enormous amount of red steam, the so-called "Steam of Blood" (血の蒸気, Chi no Jōki), and their chakra manifests into a red burning dragon around their body. Shouting "flow" (流, ryū), they then dashes forward at such an extreme speed that the space within the immediate vicinity of the technique is distorted, making it impossible for the target to defend against it. The user then deals an immensely powerful kick which carries such incredible force that it is capable of obliterating the target's body, as well as creating a devastating shockwave linear to the kick.

The recoil was such that it completely shattered the bones in Guy's striking leg when he used it. As a result of opening the Eight Gates, the fatal repercussions of doing so soon left Guy on the brink of death; slowly turning into ash, crumbling from the immense discharge of his chakra.

I went at Madara with such massively unbelievable speed that it distorted everything around the area and I slammed a massive punch into Madara with incredibly devastating force that it completely obliterated him in an instant!

Zarya: WHOA! That was unbelievable!

John Cena: No kidding! That was incredible!

Naruto: Wow!

His evil spirit appeared and I closed the 8 gates and went up to him.

Me: Your crimes are unforgivable Madara. For years you've let your hatred over the entire planet ruin so many lives all because of your own fucked up delusional ways and you've destroyed countless lives. For that, you don't deserve to live or be remembered.

I held my hand up to his face.

Me: HAKAI!

Madara glowed purple and he screamed in agony as he was being completely obliterated. He was erased from existence for all eternity as if he was never born at all.

Naruto: Good riddance.

Me: You said it bro. Now lets go help the others out.

John Cena: Okay.

We teleported.

Battle 2: Nico, Hulk Hogan and Sasuke VS Myotismon

---

Nico, Hulk Hogan and Sasuke were facing Myotismon on the dark planet MALEFRA!

---

Planet Malefra is a dark planet located in the Black Eye Galaxy, 24 million light-years away from Earth. Malefra is known as the Ghostfire Planet and is a banishment planet for some of the worst criminals in the universe. The planet has blue lava that glows with blue fire and the souls of the damned orbit the planet like mindless wanderers.

---

The planet was flowing with many souls of the damned and it was really scary.

Nico: Whoa! This planet is really creepy.

Sasuke: No kidding. I would not want to be on this planet.

Hulk Hogan: It sure is a scary place.

Myotismon: So this is where you chose for your final resting place.

Nico: You haven't changed at all my old nemesis. But I have changed a lot.

Nico then went Super Saiyan 4!

Myotismon gasped.

Nico and Hulk Hogan: LET US TELL YOU SOMETHING MYOTISMON! YOU WILL PAY FOR YOUR CRIMES AGAINST THE WORLD OF HUMANS AND DIGIMON!

Sasuke: You said it!

Nico: Myotismon, you have failed our worlds!

Nico teleported and kicked him in the face and sent him flying.

Myotismon: (Echoing) CRIMSON LIGHTNING!

Myotismon fired a stream of blood red lightning and sent it at Nico.

Nico: NUOVA STAR!

Nico fired a massive fireball at him and it slammed into him and exploded into a massive pillar of fire.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMMM

Myotismon exploded out of the blast and Nico kicked him in the face.

Hulk Hogan punched him in the face and kicked him in the stomach and Sasuke used a Chidori blast and electrocuted him all over.

Myotismon was knocked down.

Nico: You know what the funny thing is Myotismon?

Myotismon: What is it?

Nico: I unlocked my Super Saiyan Transformation when you were MaloMyotismon and I helped the Digidestined destroy you once and for all. So in a way I should thank you for making me more powerful than ever before. Even as a Super Ultimate Digimon, you were still powerless against me as you are now. You will just be nothing more than a waste of data.

Sasuke: And even after all this time, you still won't take a hint.

Myotismon: I will have my revenge on you Nico! (Echoing) GRISLY WING!

Myotismon sent a massive wave of his bat familiars and Sasuke fired a massive blast of the black flames of Amaterasu and Nico fired a powerful energy blast and it slammed into Myotismon and exploded.

KRABBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Myotismon was down.

Myotismon: You may have won this round Nico, but I will be back.

He teleported out as a flock of bats.

Nico: And we'll be ready for you.

Sasuke: That's right.

Hulk Hogan: Yeah!

Me: Great job guys!

Nico: Thanks man. Is Madara dead?

Me: Hakaied forever.

Nico: Good riddance.

Me: Lets go.

We teleported.

Battle 3: Lori Loud and A.J. Lee VS an Tyler Corso

Lori Loud and A.J. Lee were facing Tyler Corso on the mountain planet KILIMONCAGUA

Planet Kilimoncagua is a mountain planet located in the galaxy NGC 5548 approximately 245 million light-years away from Earth. The mountains cover the planet and are 40,000 to 50,000 feet high and the temperatures can drop to -100˚ Fahrenheit. The winds can reach 110 miles per hour and there are lots of birds and animals.

Lori: Whoa!

A.J. Lee: Wow! I've never seen a planet like this.

Lori: It's literally amazing.

Tyler: But I don't understand why we're here.

Lori: Because it's payback time! I'm going to literally turn you into a human pretzel for all the pain you caused me!

A.J. Lee: And I'm going to help her.

They went at her and Lori kicked Tyler in the face and A.J. punched him in the stomach and lifted him up and broke his back on her knee and he screamed in excruciating pain. Lori then kicked him into the air and kicked him in the stomach with a devastating spinning axe kick and sent him crashing into the ground. Tyler was down and permanently paralyzed for life.

Lori: To quote Nico Chan, Tyler Corso, you have failed this world!

Nico: You tell him Lori.

Me: You both did really well. I think it's a nice long one way trip in our space prisons for him.

I snapped my fingers and Tyler Corso was placed into the Uranus Prison.

Me: That takes care of him. Now lets help Leni.

Lori: Right.

We teleported.

---

Battle 4: Leni Loud and Triple H VS Belle Muldoon

---

Leni and Triple H were facing Belle Muldoon on the storm planet SPRIELEC!

---

The planet Sprielec is a storm planet that lives in the Pinwheel Galaxy approximately 21 million light-years away from Earth. The planet sits in the middle of an extremely powerful Radioactive Energy Belt that constantly bombards the planet with incredible levels of Cosmic Radiation, causing the planet to be blanketed in an extremely powerful and violent electrical storm.

---

Lightning and thunder crashed all over the skies of the planet as Belle Muldoon looked at Leni with incredible fury and hatred. The storm was acting like it was an outward manifestation of the storm of hatred that was inside Belle's heart.

Belle Muldoon: I will never forgive you Leni! You ruined my life and I will make sure that you suffer for it!

Leni: I never wanted to steal your thunder Belle! I may have good looks but you were jealous!

Belle Muldoon: Because you are prettier than me! I hate you Leni!

Her aura flared up and Leni punched her in the face and kicked her in the stomach and Triple H grabbed Belle and threw her into the sky. Then Lightning struck Belle and electrocuted her all over as she screamed in excruciating pain. Belle fell to the ground and she was burned all over.

Leni: Oooh! Ouch.

Triple H: No kidding. That must've really hurt.

Me: Sheesh no kidding.

Nico: Ouch. Belle Muldoon, you have failed this this world again.

Me: Yep.

I snapped my fingers and beamed her to the Uranus Prison.

We teleported to help Luna.

Battle 5: Luna Loud and Santino Marella VS Nate Krensikov

---

Luna and Santino were facing Nate Krensikov on the volcano planet NGORONGORO!

---

Planet Ngorongoro is a volcano planet located in the Unknown Zone. It is named after the Ngorongoro Caldera in Tanzania. Its most notable feature is a giant lake of lava in the middle of a volcano range and the planet is covered in constantly erupting volcanoes and storm clouds and lava cascades and rivers flow into the lake.

---

Santino: Wow. This planet is terrifying.

Luna: No kidding dude. But this is amazing.

Nate Krensikov: So this is the planet you chose to die at bitch.

Luna: I'm not gonna die you fucker! YOU ARE!

Luna punched him in the face and Santino kicked him and grabbed him and spun him around like a top and it was a massive spin that made Nate so dizzy that it was unbelievable. Santino then threw him into the ground and pile drove him and knocked him out.

Luna then kicked him in the crotch with a devastating kick.

Santino: (Winces) Ouch.

Me: Yikes. But you did it guys.

Luna: Thanks dude.

Santino: This monster is not welcome in our society.

Me: Yep.

I snapped my fingers and beamed Nate Krensikov to the Uranus Prison.

We then teleported.

Battle 6: Luan Loud, Stella and Kane VS Vypra

---

Luan, Stella and Kane were facing Vypra on the flower planet LILLY!

---

Planet Lilly is a flower forest planet located in a planetary system around a Dark Gas Giant Planet in the galaxy IDCS 1426, 10 billion light years away from Earth. It has lots of fairies, butterflies, and the most prominent creatures: Lillymon, Digimon of Flowers. They are very friendly and nature reveals its amazing beauty on this world. The most beautiful marvel of this world is the Aurora that graces the sky with the colors of pink, light blue and light green.

---

Luan: Wow! This planet is amazing!

Stella (Loud House): It sure is breathtaking. I wouldn't mind coming here for a vacation.

Kane: It's amazing.

Vypra: It sure is a a pretty world though. But too bad we have to fight here.

Stella (Loud House): Yeah. But like Nico, I too have a Digimon Partner!

Stella then took off a wristband and she had a beautiful flower tattoo on her left wrist.

Stella (Loud House): THE NATURE OF SINCERITY EXPRESSES AMAZING BEAUTY! (ECHOING) LILLYMON BLOOM!

A massive vortex of flower petals formed around Stella and the smell was incredible and then out of the Crest of Sincerity, a beautiful flower arose and it bloomed and out of it came Lillymon!

Stella's Lillymon: Hey there Stella.

Stella (Loud House): Hey Lillymon. We're helping Luan and Kane the wrestler face Vypra.

Stella's Lillymon: I see. Lets get her.

Luan: Lets!

Kane: Yeah!

They went at her and Luan formed a sword of light and she clashed with Vypra and Kane picked her up and threw her into the air.

Stella's Lillymon: (ECHOING) FLOWER CANNON!

She formed a flower and fired an energy blast at Vypra and it hit Vypra and exploded.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM

Stella fired a blast of fire at Vypra and burned her.

Luan fired a blast of light and burned her.

Vypra was down.

We arrived.

Me: Whoa! That was awesome! Wow! Stella, I didn't know you have Lillymon as your partner.

Stella (Loud House): Yep. We have been partners ever since I was 5 years old.

Me: Wow! That is so awesome!

Nico: No kidding. That is awesome and J.D. has a Lillymon as his partner too.

Lori: That's right.

Me: Yep. Wow. This planet is amazing. It looks likes something I saw in a dream I had.

I looked at the landscape and it was very familiar.

Me: Wow! It IS a planet I saw in a dream.

Lori: This planet is literally beautiful.

Nico: It's magnificent. I think this would be an awesome vacation spot.

Luan: I said the exact same thing.

Stella's Lillymon: It would make a great spot for vacation.

Stella (Loud House): I agree.

Me: You'll have to tell us how you and Lillymon met later on. Lets get to Lynn.

We teleported.

Battle 7: Lynn Loud and Drederick Tatum VS Tire Org

---

Lynn and Drederick were facing the Tire Org on the planet VIOLENCE!

---

The planet Violence is part of a really strange system of 9 planets that are named after the 9 Circles of Hell in the Divine Comedy. Violence is a terrifying planet that is divided into 3 parts. The 1st part is Violence Against Others and the damned there are forever scalded in a river of boiling hot blood. The 2nd part is the Wood of Suicides and the damned are turned into nasty gnarled up trees and they are really scary. The 3rd part is the Abominable Sands and it is home to the Blasphemers where they did Violence Against God. They are constantly bombarded with fire from the skies.

---

They were in the Abominable Sands and it was scary.

Lynn: Whoa! This planet is really scary!

Drederick: No kidding. This place is horrifying.

Lynn saw the river of blood.

Lynn: What is this?

Lynn stuck her hand into the river of blood and it burned her.

Lynn: OW! Wow! That is hot!

Lynn looked at it and rubbed it and smelled it.

Lynn: It's blood! This is a river of scalding hot blood!

Tire Org: Scary place though.

Lynn: Perfect for you to die.

Tire Org: (to Drederick Tatum) This has been fun. But I'm getting really tire of messing around with you. (laughs) Get it? Tire?

Lynn: Dude, you need to use more than tire puns.

Tire Org turned into a tire and charged at the two of them.

Lynn and Drederick punched the Tire Org and sent him flying and Lynn fired a powerful blast of lava and melted him and he exploded.

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM!

Lynn: Yeah!

Me: Nice job guys!

Nico: Yeah.

Me: Whoa! This planet is really terrifying. Reminds me of the project me, Lincoln and Linka did for school.

Nico: I remember you told me about that. That was terrifying and scary.

Luan: This place is really terrifying.

Luna: No kidding dude.

Me: Yeah. Lets go.

We teleported.

Battle 8: Lincoln Loud, Paige and Vince McMahon VS Lord Drakkon

---

Lincoln, Paige and Vince McMahon were facing Lord Drakkon on the planet JURASSICIA!

---

Planet Jurassicia is a prehistoric planet located in the Sunflower Galaxy approximately 29 million light-years away from Earth. It's a planet home to everything that existed in the Jurassic Period from 202 to 145 million years ago. It is a very prominent example of what Earth looked like back then on land, in the sea and in the air.

---

Lincoln: Wow! Look at this planet!

Paige: It's breathtaking! Aylene would love this planet.

Lincoln: She sure would. She loves everything about dinosaurs.

Vince McMahon: I can tell.

Lord Drakkon: This planet is an amazing world.

Lincoln: Lets dance Drakkon.

They went at him and Lincoln fired a massive blast of lightning and electrocuted Drakkon and Paige fired a blast of fire and burned him and Vince McMahon lifted Drakkon and slammed him into the ground and he was knocked down.

Me: Nice job guys.

Lincoln: Thanks J.D.

Nico: Wow. Look at this world. It looks so much like the Land Before Time.

Me: It sure does.

Lincoln: Yeah.

Me: Lets go guys.

We teleported and Lord Drakkon went with us.

---

Battle 9: Lucy Loud, Shannon, and Sgt. Slaughter VS The Black Daffodils

---

Lucy, Shannon and Sgt. Slaughter were facing the Black Daffodils on the gas giant planet XITHORXIA!

---

Planet Xithorxia is a gas giant planet located in the Antennae Galaxies approximately 65 million light-years away from Earth and it is the size of the planet Uranus and it has violent storms that produce winds that blow at 90,000 miles per hour and it has flames that blow up from the liquid surface.

---

Lucy Loud: Whoa! This is a wicked planet.

Shannon: No kidding. I don't think I've ever seen a gas giant planet like this.

Sgt. Slaughter: It's so amazing though.

Tone: Lets dance.

Lucy Loud: I got this guys. DARK STYLE NINJA ART: GHOST DIVISION!

A wall of darkness formed behind Lucy and the song Ghost Division by Sabaton played.

Fast as the wind, the invasion has begun

Shaking the ground with the force of thousand guns

First in the line of fire, first into hostile land

Tanks leading the way, leading the way

Charging the lines with the force of a furious storm

Fast as the lighting phantoms swarm

200 miles at nightfall, taken within a day

Thus earning their name, earning the fame

They are the panzer elite, born to compete, never retreat (ghost division)

Leaving or dead, always ahead, fed by your dread

Always ahead, as the blitzkrieg rages on

Breaking morale the with the sound of blazing guns

First in the line of fire, first into hostile land

Tanks leading the way, leading the way

Leaving a trail of destruction to a foreign land

(Waging war with conviction)

Massive assault made to serve the Nazi plan

(Wehrmacht's pride, ghost division)

Communication's broken, phantom's are far away

Thus earning their name, earning the fame

They are the panzer elite, born to compete, never retreat (ghost division)

Leaving or dead, always ahead, fed by your dread

Pushing the frontline forth with a tremendous force

(Far ahead, breaks resistance)

Reaching the way for panzer corps

(Shows no fear, self-subsistent)

First in the line of fire, first into hostile land

Thus earning the name, claiming the fame

They are the panzer elite, born to compete, never retreat (ghost division)

Leaving or dead, always ahead, fed by your dread

Panzer elite, born to compete, never retreat (ghost division)

Leaving or dead, always ahead, fed by your dread

The darkness fired a powerful blast of dark energy and it turned into the 7th Panzer Division from 1940 in World War II and it slammed into the Black Daffodils and blasted and slashed them and knocked them out.

Shannon: Whoa! That was awesome!

Me: It sure was. Awesome job!

Lucy Loud: Thanks J.D.

Me: Wow. Great planet.

Luna: It sure is dudes.

Me: Lets get to Laney.

We teleported.

---

Battle 10: Laney Loud and Jerry Lawler VS Derek Powers A.K.A

Blight

---

Laney and Jerry Lawler were facing Blight on the flower planet ORCHIDARA!

---

Planet Orchidara is a flower planet located in the galaxy cluster Stephan's Quintet, Approximately 340 million light-years away from Earth. It's a planet completely covered in orchid flowers of many different shapes, colors, sizes and have numerous fragrances.

---

Laney: Wow! Look at all the orchids.

Jerry Lawler: Beautiful planet.

Blight: And it will be your tomb.

Laney: I think not you radioactive freak.

Laney fired an energy blast at him and it slammed into him and carried him out into space and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Blight was dead.

Laney: Good riddance.

Jerry Lawler: Yep.

Me: Good job guys!

Laney: Thanks J.D.

We then teleported.

---

Battle 11: Qin, Lana & Lola and Naomi VS Mr. Burns

---

Qin, Lana & Lola and Naomi were facing Mr. Burns on the jungle planet MEDUSA VII.

---

Planet Medusa VII is a planet located in the Sombrero Galaxy. It is a jungle planet that has oceans filled with algae and forests cover the land and the air is saturated with humidity and it is teaming with life.

---

Qin: Whoa! Look at this planet.

Lola: Amazing!

Lana: Really cool!

Naomi: It's beautiful.

Mr. Burns: And it will be your tomb.

Mr. Burns came up to Qin and slapped her. It didn't affect her. But because of his advanced age and his feeble body he got his hands broken.

Mr. Burns: Ow! You are really tough! Release the hounds!

Nothing happened.

Lana: You are pathetic.

Lola: I can't believe that you are that senile!

Qin: You are just really pathetic and not worth our time.

Me: I agree.

I appeared.

Me: In all honesty, I don't know what Vypra was thinking bringing you back Mr. Burns. You've cheated death far too many times.

Qin flicked him on the head and knocked him out.

Me: Well we can always keep him around for comic relief.

Qin: Yep.

Naomi: Good idea.

We teleported to Lisa.

---

Battle 12: Lisa Loud and Big Show VS Professor Calamitous

---

Lisa Loud and Big Show were facing Professor Calamitous on the machine planet C-12

---

Planet C-12 is a machine planet located in the Pinwheel Galaxy. It has a continent-wide city and it's a place where humans and robots work together and it's an advanced civilization planet that's 500 million years ahead of Earth.

---

Lisa Loud: (Gasp) Sweet mother of amazing science!

Big Show: Wow! What a planet!

Professor Calamitous: It is a beautiful place for your doom.

Lisa Loud: I think not.

Lisa formed energy chains and they wrapped around Calamitous.

Me: Nice job. Whoa! This planet is amazing.

Lincoln: It sure is. Wow! I've never seen a planet like this.

Nico: It's breathtaking and so advanced.

Linka: Yeah.

Me: Lets go after Dark Sideshow Bob.

We did so.

---

Battle 13: Lily Loud, Piper and Sin Cara VS Dark Sideshow Bob

---

Lily, Piper and Sin Cara were facing Dark Sideshow Bob on the planet BRION!

---

Planet Brion is a canyon planet located in the galaxy M87. It is loaded with deep canyons, tall mountains and rushing rivers. Lots of rocks, rock pillars, formations and numerous geological wonders are on this planet.

---

Lily: Wow. What a planet!

Piper: No kidding.

Me: Lets get him!

We all went at him and I punched Dark Sideshow Bob in the face and Bart kicked him in the crotch and punched him in the stomach and Nico kicked him in the head and Lola blasted him with a blast of fire and burned him and Lily blasted him with water and drenched him. Lisa blasted him all over with energy and Lucy and Lincoln electrocuted him all over. The wrestlers were smashing him all over the place.

Ben: Lets see how he likes some predator power!

Ben then turned into a new predator. It was called HYPNOTICK! Hypnotick is a large insectoid creature resembling a bee or moth. It is purplish-grey in color, has sharp fangs, four legs, two sharp teeth, a dual-stinger on her tail, two antennae on her head, and four wings.

Ben: HYPNOTICK!

Me: Whoa! I've never seen this one.

Shanan: Wow! That's a Psycholeopterran! That's the natural predator of Necrofriggians from the planet Kylmyys.

Chione: Whoa! I would not like that one.

The Necrofriggian Babies agreed.

Lana: Me neither.

Hypnotick: Lets see how he likes this.

Hypnotick hypnotized Dark Sideshow Bob and grabbed him with his long tongue and smashed him all over the place.

Me: Whoa! That is awesome!

Ben: How about this one.

Ben then turned into a new alien. It was THRILLER WHALE! He looked like an anthropomorphic whale.

Ben: THRILLER WHALE!

Me: Whoa! I've never seen this one before.

Shanan: Wow! That's a Cetacustician from the planet Pierra!

Luna: Wow! This is a really cool one!

Riley: It sure is Luna.

Thriller Whale: Watch this.

He fired a massive and powerful blast of water from his blowhole and it hit Dark Sideshow Bob and it really hurt.

Ben then turned into a new Ultimate Alien! It was ULTIMATE SPITTER! He looked the same except he had a bigger mouth and more spikes on his back.

Ben: ULTIMATE SPITTER!

Me: Whoa! An Evolved Sphoeroid!

Shanan: Wow! I've never seen this one. It's really awesome.

Ultimate Sphoeroid: But watch this.

He fired a massive blast of water from his mouth and drenched Dark Sideshow Bob all over.

Patrick: Lets see how he likes this! IRON BUTT!

Patrick jumped and hit butt turned into a metal iron hard butt and Patrick slammed into Dark Sideshow Bob butt first and smashed into his face.

SMASH!

Shaggy: The Iron Butt? Like, never saw that wrestling move before!

Me: That was awesome! Time to finish him with teamwork!

Hook: Right! CYBER KEY POWER!

The Earth Cyber Planet Key went into his back and enhanced his laser blaster 100-fold.

Lasher: Lets get him! SYMBIOTE CYBER KEY POWER!

The Symbiote Cyber Planet Key went into his right arm device and enhanced his powers 100-fold.

Hook and Lasher: LASER SYMBIOTE BOMB STORM!

They fired symbiote matter and laser blasts and they hit Dark Sideshow Bob all over and exploded.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM!

Irma: Feel the water! CANDRAKAR CYBER KEY POWER!

The Candrakar Cyber Planet Key went into her right arm device and enhanced her water powers 100-fold.

Highbrow: Try this! CYBER KEY POWER!

The Earth Cyber Planet Key went into his back and enhanced his acid 100-fold.

Irma and Highbrow: CORROSIVE ACID DELUGE!

Irma and Highbrow fired blasts of water and Acid and burned him all over.

Roxas: Lets get him!

Rubberband Man: YEAH!

Roxas fired a light blast and Rubberband Man formed a long fist.

Roxas and Rubberband Man: LIGHT FIST SMASH!

The light blast merged with the fist and it smashed him all over.

Dante Vale: Lets do it! INCINERATE! IGNATIUS!

A massive wall of lava formed and out came the lava titan Ignatius!

---

Ignatius Titans are incredibly common in Chile, as they commonly appear around the volcanoes, but are rare to see outside of Chile. Apparently, when a weak Seeker tried to summon an Ignatius, the Seeker lost control, and the Ignatius rampaged. It took three water-based Titans to extinguish the flames and defeat the Ignatius.

Dante's Ignatius

Ignatius was brought specially on a mission to Iceland by Dante, where it was used to melt Ymir's Ice Creature army. Dante later used it together with Lok's Kipperin to make a ring of fire in the air in order to help form the Rainbow Bridge to Thor's temple.

While infiltrating Klaus' bookshop, Dante called upon Ignatius again. This time, Ignatius was used to burn away a swarm of Mutant Flying Spiders created by Klaus, while Dante and his team were protected by the spell Chillskin.

Ignatius was summoned yet again for a fight against the Professor due to being immune to Araknos' mind control. However, the Professor summoned his Titan, Nordrake, who proceeded to defeat and send Ignatius back to his Amulet.

Whilst exploring Cortés' Vault with Metagolem, Dante invoked Ignatius to defend him from Hernán Cortés' traps.

Upon arriving at the Castle of Vlad Dracul, Dante summoned Ignatius to stop Tantras from gaining the power of the Heart of Vlad Dracul. By using Copykind, Dante used Ignatius' burn ability to distract Tantras and defeat Powerbonded Antedeluvian.

Kiel's Ignatius

Another Ignatius Titan was used by Kiel when attempting to steal the secrets of the Casterwill family from Focauld Casterwill. It fought against LeBlanche's Albion before being sent by his Amulet by an energy wave from the Huntik jet's power amplifier.

Abilities

Ignatius are capable of creating and controlling fire, and are always ablaze. This grants them immunity, or a certain protection from some attacks. He also has a certain physical strength. He can breathe fire, which is capable of destroying hoards of small insects. Being made of fire, he is also immune to Araknos´ mind controlling webs.

---

Lola: Lets get him!

Dante and Ignatius and Lola fired massive blasts of lava and fire.

Dante Vale with Ignatius and Lola: VOLCANIC FIRESTORM BURN!

The blasts combined and they hit Dark Sideshow Bob and exploded.

KRABBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMMM!

Lisa: Lets bring this maniac down!

Emerald: Yeah!

Lisa fired a blast of energy and Emerald fired a pink energy blast from her sword.

Lisa Loud with Emerald: UNICORN LASER FIRESTORM!

The blasts combined and turned into an energy unicorn and it slammed into Dark Sideshow Bob and exploded.

KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Stella (Loud House): Lets get him Lillymon!

Stella's Lillymon: Right!

They both fired powerful energy blasts.

Stella and Lillymon: FLOWER ENERGY BURST!

The blasts hit Dark Sideshow Bob and exploded.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Me: Lets get him Sophie!

Sophie: With you all the way.

Me and Sophie fired powerful fire blasts.

Me and Sophie: FIRESTORM SPIRIT BLAST!

The blasts hit Dark Sideshow Bob and exploded and burned him all over.

Me: Time for the final blow!

Shaggy: Like, yeah! HAMBURGER BOMBSTORM!

Shaggy threw of bunch of hamburgers and they hit Dark Sideshow Bob and exploded.

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOM

Scooby Doo: And feel this too! PIZZA SLICE AND DICE!

Scooby Doo threw a pizza and it slashed Dark Sideshow Bob all over.

John Cena: Time for a grand finale!

A.J. Lee: Yeah!

Hulk Hogan: Lets get him!

W.W.E. WRESTLERS: WRESTLER SUPER PILE DRIVE!

The W.W.E. Wrestlers went at Dark Sideshow Bob and smashed him with a devastating pile drive and squished him and killed him!

I powered down and we went back to Earth.

Back on Earth we were in the stadium. Shaggy and Scooby were given the belt for beating Cookie.

Hulk Hogan: Haven't had a good fight like that since Jackie the Jackal.

Nico: You said it Hulk. It was awesome!

Me: It sure was. This was so awesome having you guys help us again.

A.J. Lee: You said it J.D. I have a feeling that we'll be helping you all more often.

Me: That would be awesome A.J.

Laney: It sure would.

Shaggy: (To the viewers) Wrestling is like, awesome. But don't do it in ways that might hurt people. It's all for fun.

Me: It sure is.

Vypra: I'm glad you guys aren't quitting anytime soon. If you did, me and my team would be out of a job.

Nico: You know what? I'm glad to hear that.

Lord Drakkon: (to Lincoln) Sorry that we didn't get any archenemies for you and the rest of your sisters. But don't worry. That'll change when Dark Spicer shows you all his Celestialsapian form.

With that, the Masters of Evil teleport out.

Cookie was sentenced to life without parole and Tyler, Nate and the Black Daffodils got life in the Uranus Prison without parole. The planet Lilly was now beamed to Earth Orbit and it was awesome. Qin and Nico now have Archnemesises.

---

Another Fanfiction Complete and another Scooby Doo movie done.

Scooby Doo WrestleMania Mystery was an awesome movie! I watched it before and it was awesome! The Planet Lilly is a planet I saw in a dream in real life and it was a beautiful planet! It was awesome! It was a beautiful world where humans and Lillymon could live together in harmony and have fun everywhere. Madara Uchiha was beyond a shadow of a doubt the worst ever Naruto villain of all time. He deserved to die. No Naruto Villain next. NicoChan11 gave me the ideas for this one. Thanks man. Let me know what you all think. Next up is Banjo Kazooie and we're going after the evil witch Gruntilda and make her pay for her crimes.

See you all then.

Bear, Bird and Phoenixes VS Witch

At the estate we were watching TV and playing card games and board games. I was on the computer holo-phone with Chris McLean. Total Drama Galaxy - the grand series finale of the entire series was going to start on March 18th and it is gonna be an awesome adventure through the stars.

Chris McLean: (to me) Of course the rest of Team Loud Phoenix Storm can be in Total Drama Galaxy! I want this last season to be extra exciting.

Me: We all sure can Chris. It will be so cool having us all be there and kicking some bad guy butt. Especially those of the losers.

Chris McLean: Awesome! Looking forward to it.

Me: You know we'll be there.

Circe (Generator Rex): So you two are going to work for S.H.I.E.L.D. after this last season?

Chef Hatchet: Yep. Fury was impressed by how we managed the previous seasons that he offered us jobs.

Me: I'm happy for you guys. Can't wait for the show to start. Later dude.

The call ended.

Nico: This is gonna be awesome!

Qin: Boy it sure is. I can't wait till we get onto Total Drama Galaxy and kick some butt.

Lincoln: Me too. We're going to kick Billy McLean's butt into next week. And in the Aftermath Special, we're going to have everyone see the true monster he really is.

Me: Yep and under Canadian Law, he will be declared a Dangerous

Offender.

Qin: What is a Dangerous Offender?

Me: Under Canadian law, if someone is declared a Dangerous Offender, that means that they are a total danger and menace to society and they will remain in prison for life without possibility of parole.

Qin: Geez.

Me: Yep. It's the only punishment fitting for him. He has had this coming ever since Total Drama began. If Canada had the Death Penalty, they would gladly give it to him.

Laney: I agree J.D. Canada needs to have tougher laws like us and different parts of the world.

Me: Yep.

Aqua came down and she had an old blue shirt and blue shorts.

Aqua: Hey guys.

Me: Hey Aqua. What's with the new clothes?

Aqua: Oh these are old clothes I found and I want to see what it's like to be the legendary Pokemon, Kyogre.

Me: Ah. Okay then. But lets head to the lake.

We went to the shores of Lake Huron.

On the beach of Lake Huron we were ready. Aqua was standing in the water.

Me: Okay Aqua, you ready?

Aqua: Ready.

Me: This is gonna hurt really bad. But you'll only be a Kyogre for 15 minutes.

Aqua: That's plenty of time.

Nico: Good.

Me: Okay. Here we go.

I snapped my fingers and Aqua was groaning in excruciating pain.

Aqua was on the floor in pain as she was about to transform.

Aang: Aqua! Are you ok?

Aqua: Not… really! (starts to grow)

Ventus and Sora were comforting her.

Her skin turned blue and her eyes turned yellow with black sclera. Her hands turned into fins.

Aqua: My hands are fins!

Her hair fell out.

Aqua: There goes my hair!

Her clothes ripped and her legs turned into a fin and she had two fins grow from her back. She had red lines form on her skin.

Her body turned into that of KYOGRE!

Bonecrusher: How do you feel, Aqua?

Aqua: I feel amazing! I feel like I can do anything as a Kyogre.

Me: It sure is neat though. You look really awesome as a Kyogre.

Aqua: I sure do.

Sora: Yeah I agree Aqua. You look incredible.

Aqua: Thanks bro. Lets see what I can do as a Kyogre.

Aqua then went swimming and she did some awesome whale jumping tricks and more and they all landed with huge splashes.

Me: Whoa! That is awesome!

Nico: No kidding!

Laney: Yeah!

Lincoln: Wow! How much time do we have?

I looked at my watch.

Me: 3 more minutes.

Sora: Okay.

We watched Aqua.

Me: 15 seconds.

We watched some more.

Me: Cover your eyes boys. 3… 2… 1…

We covered our eyes as time was up and Aqua was in excruciating pain and then she was reverting back. But when it was done, she was naked.

Aqua: That was awesome!

G1 Cerebros: Is this your first time being naked after a transformation?

Aqua: Yeah.

Maria: I came prepared.

Maria pulled out a blue towel and Aqua wrapped it around her.

Aqua: Thanks Maria.

Nico: Glad you had fun Aqua.

May: That was so cool for you being a Kyogre.

Nico: It sure was.

We later went back home.

---

Later we were in Lana's Jungle Greenhouse relaxing and enjoying some awesome beauty of the scenery of Lana's plants and more.

Me: Ahh. Nothing like relaxing and enjoying the sounds of nature.

Nico: You said it.

Aqua: Yep. I love it.

Me: It sure is beautiful.

Stella (Loud House): Yeah.

Lola: Hey Stella, how did you and Lillymon meet?

Stella (Loud House): That is an amazing story. We met when I was five years old.

---

In San Francisco at the Napa Valley Wine Country, Stella was with her mom and dad and she was looking at all the awesome grapes used to make wine.

Stella (Loud House): (Narrating) I was looking at all the grapes over in the wine country of Napa Valley. They were awesome grapes.

Young Stella then saw a light.

Stella (Loud House): That's when I saw a light coming from a cave underground. It was located in a dry patch of grapes.

Young Stella climbed into the cave and went into an incredible cave. She kept exploring and came across a beautiful room filled with flowers.

Stella (Loud House): That's when I saw Lillymon.

She walked up to a big pink flower and touched it and it bloomed open and out of it came Lillymon. She was amazing and she saw Stella. Ever since then they bonded and became awesome partners. Stella had a flower tattoo on her wrist.

FLASHBACK ENDS

Stella (Loud House): That's how we met.

Me: Amazing.

Nico: It sure is.

Lily: I think that is so cool that you and Lillymon became awesome friends.

Stella (Loud House): Yeah.

---

Later in Homer's room, me and Bart and Laney were talking to Homer.

Me: So Homer, what was the hardest challenge you've ever done?

Homer: That was an easy one. I faced the tallest mountain in Springfield. It was called the Murderhorn.

Me: Whoa! I would not want to meet a mountain like that.

Laney: The Murderhorn. (Gasp) I've heard about that mountain. It's the most perfect straight up mountain in all of Oregon and the U.S.A.

Laney told us all about it.

---

The Murderhorn is the highest mountain in Springfield that Homer climbed to promote the Powersauce bar.

According to Bart, the Murderhorn is over 20,000 feet (6144m) high.

There are two smaller Mountains next to it meaning that there is (or was) possibly underground volcanic activity pushing the mountains up. Both smaller mountains, which remain unnamed, look minuscule compared to the mountain that is larger than it. If the Murderhorn is 20,000 feet high, then the mountain that precedes it would be around 11,000 feet.

* * *

We gasped.

Me: Whoa! That's intense.

Bart: No kidding. I was amazed myself.

Nico: That sounds like a terrifying mountain.

Homer: It was. But I represented the Powersauce Bar and made it all the way to the top.

Grandpa Simpson: Ah shut your traps!

Me: You shut up Abraham Simpson!

Homer: Yeah dad!

Grandpa Simpson: You will always be a stupid and ugly disappointment Homer!

Me: You're a bigger disappointment Abe! No wonder you left McAllister on the Murderhorn to die after you ate his arm.

Laney and Nico gasped.

Me: What a crazy old codger.

Nico: Yep.

We laughed.

* * *

Back in the Living Room, me and Lincoln were playing one of my favorite video game series from my past: We were playing Banjo-Kazooie. Banjo-Kazooie is about a bear named Banjo and his bird friend Kazooie. Kazooie lives in his backpack and they go on adventures together. First I was playing Banjo-Kazooie from 1998.

---

Banjo-Kazooie is the first game in the Banjo-Kazooie series. It was developed by Rareware and released in 1998 for the Nintendo 64. In 2008, Banjo-Kazooie celebrated its 10th Anniversary. In this game, Banjo and his friend Kazooie must save Banjo's sister Tooty from the evil witch Gruntilda before she steals Tooty's beauty. The game was followed by a sequel called Banjo-Tooie in 2000.

The evil witch of Spiral Mountain, Gruntilda Winkybunion, is inside her lair, asking her cauldron Dingpot questions about who is the 'nicest and fairest of them all', to which Dingpot reluctantly answers, "You are, mistress". She gloats over her "beauty", until Dingpot finally breaks his 'silence' and tells the witch that Tooty, another inhabitant of Spiral Mountain, is actually the prettiest and the fairest of them all. Grunty reacts angrily and decides to kidnap Tooty in order to steal her beauty. She grabs her broom and sets off immediately.

Meanwhile, Tooty is running around Spiral Mountain, when she is greeted by Bottles in front of Banjo's House. She eagerly tells Bottles that she is going on an adventure with her brother, Banjo. Inside the house, Banjo is sleeping soundly, with his breegull friend, Kazooie, sleeping in his backpack, which is hanging on a nearby coat rack. Tooty and Bottles are still talking, until Bottles spots Grunty in the distance, but confuses her for Banjo (due to his short-sightedness). Grunty immediately goes for Tooty, and a struggle ensues. Kazooie, eager for action and adventure, overhears the clamor outside as well as Bottles' cries for help and tries to wake Banjo up. Banjo and Kazooie leave their house, only to discover that Grunty has gone off and kidnapped Tooty! Bottles tells the bear and bird that they must venture to Gruntilda's Lair to rescue Tooty. Bottles offers to prepare the duo to fight Gruntilda by teaching them some basic moves and repairing the bridge leading to the lair's entrance. Banjo and Kazooie set off on an adventure into the lair to save Tooty.

Once inside the lair, Banjo and Kazooie find a Jiggy, which is used to open and unlock levels around the lair by completing Jigsaw Puzzle pictures. They soon find a painting that fits their first Jiggy, opening the first level of the lair, Mumbo's Mountain. Banjo and Kazooie enter the first world and find that their quest is not as easy as they had anticipated. They discover that they need to rescue Jinjos imprisoned by Grunty throughout each of the worlds as well as collect Musical Notes, which are needed to open up Note Doors, to progress through the deeper areas of Gruntilda's Lair. They also meet Mumbo Jumbo, a skull-faced shaman who offers his services to the bear and bird by transforming the adventurers into different animals with new abilities. The two continue progressing through the lair, gathering musical notes, Jiggies, and other collectibles along the way, as well as rescuing the Jinjos of each world. They also encounter Mumbo Jumbo and Bottles several times, who continue to help the heroes by transforming them and teaching them new moves, respectively. Banjo and Kazooie also get help from Gruntilda's nicer sister, Brentilda, who gossips interesting facts about her ugly sister.

After successfully surviving through all nine worlds in her lair, Banjo and Kazooie eventually reach Gruntilda but are forced to play her quiz show, Grunty's Furnace Fun. Thanks to the information provided by Brentilda's gossips, Banjo and Kazooie win Grunty's game and save Tooty. With Tooty rescued, they return home and celebrate with a barbecue. However, Tooty reminds our heroes that Grunty had escaped shortly after the game show and was still at large, plotting her wicked schemes.

Banjo and Kazooie make their way back up the lair until they finally reach the roof with a little help from Dingpot. On the roof, Gruntilda challenges them to a more direct confrontation and an epic battle ensues. But, with the help of the Jinjos they rescued in the various worlds of Gruntilda's Lair, Banjo and Kazooie defeat Gruntilda and ultimately knock her off her tower. She crashes into the ground, creating a crater of her shape, which is then covered by a large boulder that falls from the tower and traps her beneath it. Banjo and Kazooie finally take a well-deserved break at the beach, where the bear and bird and their friends anticipate a sequel, Banjo-Tooie. Meanwhile, Gruntilda, whose loyal minion Klungo is trying to rescue her, swears her revenge.

Gruntilda looked so much like the evil Wicked Witch of the West from The Wizard of Oz from 81 years ago and it looked so frightening. Next from the year 2000 was Banjo-Tooie.

---

On a dark and stormy night, two years after Gruntilda's defeat, Klungo continues his ongoing two-year effort to free the witch from beneath the boulder that crushed her following the final battle with Banjo & Kazooie in the previous game. Meanwhile, Banjo, Kazooie, Bottles, and Mumbo Jumbo are playing poker together at Banjo's house, with Kazooie constantly cheating, such as claiming Grunty's return so that she could steal some poker chips.

Suddenly, Spiral Mountain experiences tremors like that of an earthquake, which disrupts Banjo and friends' game. The tremors were caused by a massive digging machine called the Hag 1, piloted by Grunty's sisters, Mingella and Blobbelda, who have come to rescue their sister. After the quake, Banjo says someone should go investigate. Kazooie claims to be too scared, so Mumbo bravely decides to go. Kazooie then reveals she was faking so she can steal some of his chips.

When the witches arrive, Klungo expresses his grief of failing to save his mistress, but her sisters assure they got it covered. They use a spell to destroy the boulder trapping Grunty, but as she climbs out, they realize she has withered away to nothing but an animate skeleton with robes. Grunty is not pleased about being a walking corpse, but Mingella and Blobbelda reassures their sister that they have a plan to restore her body, and she must come with them back to their castle. Having witnessed Grunty's escape from the boulder, Mumbo bolts back to the house, but is seen by the witches.

The skeletal Grunty runs after him, firing spells rapidly. Upon reaching the house, Mumbo rushes inside to warn Banjo, Kazooie and Bottles. Grunty then starts charging a powerful spell to destroy them all. Banjo & Kazooie see Gruntilda, and leave at once with Mumbo, but Bottles, believing it to be another trick, stays put and ends up getting obliterated along with the house. The witch sisters then leave Spiral Mountain in the Hag 1, heading for their castle, leaving behind some minions to destroy the area as well as Klungo.

The next morning, Banjo, Kazooie and Mumbo observe the damaged state of Spiral Mountain and their house. They witness Bottles crawling out of the ruins, dying and becoming a ghost. Mumbo is outraged by this turn of events and swears revenge. He tells Banjo and Kazooie to go after the witch before leaving behind the duo. Kazooie is excited to have another chance to beat Grunty again, but Banjo worries that this new adventure will not be as easy as the last one.

Adventure

The duo follow the Hag 1's tracks into a cave, encountering Klungo, who attempts to impede them. After defeating the dim servant, who leaves to be violently punished by Grunty, they contitnute following the Hag 1's trails, leading them through various areas of the Isle O' Hags, the island on which Spiral Mountain & Grunty's lair is located, and the game's hub world. They arrive in Jinjo Village, where the Hag 1 has also caused trouble, flattening the house of the grey Jinjo family (one of the ten families residing in the village), and killing them. Banjo and Kazooie continue on, to the Royal Jinjo Palace, where King Jingaling, resides. The ravaging of Hag 1 scared the jinjos off, and King Jingaling requests the duo's help in gathering them back in the village. He informs them of Master Jiggywiggy and the ancient order of the Crystal Jiggy, which is crucial to their quest. He then gives them a Jiggy to help them get started, and opens a secret passage to the Isle O' Hags.

While Banjo & Kazooie stop to discuss the encounter, Gruntilda and her sisters have arrived at Cauldron Keep, their lair. Mingella and Blobbelda introduces the B.O.B., Big O' Blaster, which can suck the life force out of any living thing. They intend to store large amounts of life force in a tank, and have Grunty shower in it, restoring her old body. Grunty decides to steal King Jingaling's life-force, as he just helped Banjo and Kazooie, and decides to deal with the rest of the Isle later. A beam is fired, making Jingaling's golden palace dead as a rock, and turning Jingaling into a zombie. Grunty reassures her sisters that with Bottles dead and Jingaling zombified, Banjo has no hope of reaching Cauldron Keep in time. Banjo and Kazooie, still outside the palace, narrowly miss the beam, and realize that the situation is much more desperate then previously anticipated.

They continue to Bottle's house, where his family are waiting for him. Kazooie has no problem telling the family about Bottle's death, but Banjo convinces her not to. Using the passageway King Jingaling opened, they make their way to the Isle O' Hags.

The two soon find the (closed) entrance to the first level, Mayahem Temple, and Master Jiggywiggy's sacred shrine. They learn that Jiggywiggy is a powerful sorcerer (with a Jiggy-shaped head), who will help them on their adventure by opening worlds, but they need to gather jiggies to prove themselves worthy. With the first Jiggy at hand, they can start, and Mayahem Temple is opened.

On their journey they collect a total of 90 Jiggies, and receive help from old and new friends. They often stumble upon Mumbo's hut, where he agrees to go out and use his magic to solve puzzles and open passages for them. They also encounter Drill Sergeant Jamjars, Bottles' military brother, who agrees to teach the duo new attacks (if, of course, they can present the proper number of musical notes). They also meet Humba Wumba, a female shaman and Mumbo's arch-rival, who requests magical Glowbos in exchange for transforming Banjo and Kazooie into something else (thus taking on the role Mumbo had in Banjo-Kazooie). They travel to various locations, such as Glitter Gulch Mine, Witchyworld, Jolly Roger's Lagoon, Terrydactyland, Grunty Industries, Hailfire Peaks and Cloud Cuckooland.

Final Showdown

Finally, the pair reaches Cauldron Keep. After facing her henchman Klungo for the last time, Grunty traps the duo in her "Tower of Tragedy" quiz, where where she asks a series of questions based on the Banjo's current adventure (much like in Grunty's Furnace Fun), but only ends up mercilessly killing off her sisters for losing. After surviving the lethal game show, they hurry upstairs to reverse the effects of B.O.B., thus reviving Bottles and Jingaling.

They then rush to the top of the tower and face off against Grunty with both her magic and Hag 1 machine, as well as answer a few more questions. After the duo eventually disable the Hag 1, Grunty resorts to using her most powerful spell (likely the same one she used to destroy Banjo's house and kill Bottles (and maybe even the same one she tried to use as she fell from her lair in the first game)), but they shoot one last egg at her, causing the witch to drop her spell in the Hag-1. The explosion destroys the machine along with most of her weak, skeletal body, leaving her nothing more than a talking head.

Banjo and Kazooie return to the Isle o' Hags to celebrate with their friends, including the now reformed Klungo, but they arrive too late as the party was already over. Kazooie then suggests a new fun idea: kicking around Grunty's head atop Cauldron Keep, much to their joy and her disgust. She vows to have her revenge in the game's sequel, "Banjo-Threeie"

Gruntilda was a witch that didn't know how to quit. Lastly from 2008 was Banjo-Kazooie in Nuts and Bolts.

---

Set eight years after the events of Banjo-Tooie, and due to Banjo and Kazooie's lack of adventures over the past few years, the duo have gained many pounds, and are now overweight and very unhealthy. When Banjo and Kazooie reunite with the decapitated head of Gruntilda, Banjo and Gruntilda compete to determine who is the true owner of Spiral Mountain. Banjo wishes to preserve his home while Gruntilda hatches an urban development scheme to replace the vegetated area with towers and malls. A new character named Lord of Games (also known as L.O.G.) attempts to settle the conflict between the two by devising a series of worlds and challenges. LOG transports the other characters to Showdown Town, his headquarters, and starts the contest. The winner would be set to own Spiral Mountain; the loser must endure eternal hardship working at L.O.G.'s game factory. While Banjo and Kazooie seek to win by completing the challenges, Grunty uses a slew of vehicles she presumably has built, as well as an army of mechanical Gruntbots to stop the duo from succeeding.

After entering different game worlds created by L.O.G., Banjo and Kazooie collect the amount of Jiggies needed to return home. There, they will face Gruntilda to terminate this crazy adventure, but the witch will not be willing to lose.

However, as usual, Grunty fails miserably and is forced to work in L.O.G.'s factory until the end of her days, as agreed at the beginning of the game. Gruntilda promises that she will launch her own game, since she has all the necessary tools.

When it was done we cheered wildly.

Me: That is always so awesome!

Lincoln: It sure is. I didn't know Banjo Kazooie was real.

Me: It sure is. He was also added to the Super Smash Bros. Ultimate roster.

I showed him and Lincoln was amazed!

Lincoln: That… is… AWESOME!

Me: It sure is. I just don't think it's fair that Banjo and Kazooie are not part of the Nintendo Switch Universe. It just doesn't seem complete without them.

Lincoln: Yeah and Nintendo did make them.

Me: They sure did. But that Gruntilda is really a bad witch.

Lincoln: Yes she is. I hate witches like her. No offense to Lucy.

Lincoln had a ghost sense.

Lincoln: Hey Lucy.

Lucy Loud: Hey Lincoln. And none taken by the way.

Me: She sure is. Lets see what it says.

I went over to the computer and pulled up Gruntilda's info.

Gruntilda Winkybunion, also more commonly known as Grunty for short or better known by her first name Gruntilda, is an evil witch and the main antagonist of the Banjo-Kazooie series. She has appeared in every game in the series yet, causing trouble for her archenemies, Banjo and Kazooie. She is one of four sisters; her other sisters are Brentilda, Mingella and Blobbelda.

In the first game, Gruntilda played the the role of the stereotypical "evil witch". She spoke only in rhymes and was known for being extremely vain, which is odd considering how ugly she appears. She had a bad habit of picking her nose, as seen in the Banjo-Kazooie intro cutscene. Like most witches, she used a broomstick for transportation. When her cauldron Dingpot revealed that Tooty, Banjo's sister, was the "prettiest and fairest in the land", Gruntilda became infuriated and kidnapped Tooty. She selfishly plotted to use a "Beauty Transfer Machine" to drain Tooty's youth and beauty and transfer it to her own ugly self, resulting in Gruntilda turning into a pretty and thin which and Tooty turning into an ugly and fat green bear. Banjo and his pal Kazooie chased the witch through her massive lair, where she had created several worlds filled with her minions and various challenges to stop the duo. Throughout the game, Gruntilda spent most of her time saying annoying rhyming taunts and various insults in an attempt to keep the pair away. However, with the help from various sources, including her nicer sister Brentilda who told Banjo and Kazooie interesting secrets regarding Gruntilda, the bear and bird duo were able to complete the worlds and reach Grunty's last challenge before rescuing Tooty: a twisted game show called Grunty's Furnace Fun. After the duo won the game show, Gruntilda ran away and Banjo and Kazooie rescued Tooty. Later, the bear and bird journeyed to the roof of Gruntilda's Lair and faced off in a battle with Grunty.

Despite her comical nature, Gruntilda proved herself to be Banjo and Kazooie's strongest enemy when they first battled each other, with her boss fight being long and tough. She spends most of the fight riding her broomstick. During the first phase, she flies down fast and tries to impale Banjo and Kazooie with the teeth on her broom. However, her broom starts to slow down after a few passes, leaving her vulnerable to the Rat-a-Tat Rap. After every successful attack from the player, Gruntilda will attack with an easily dodged fireball.

After taking enough damage, she starts to hover in place and throw fireballs. In a rare moment, she displays some intelligence when doing this, because if the player tries to run away from the fireballs before she fires, Gruntilda will throw them into the player's path. After throwing four fireballs, she will take a short pause, leaving her vulnerable to Eggs.

After repeating this process four times, Gruntilda flies high into the air to avoid being shot at, but fortunately Bottles comes to the duo's aid and creates a Flight Pad for them to use. Banjo and Kazooie can hit Gruntilda at any time with the Beak Bomb, but it's best to attack her when she's not moving. Try not to attack her from above, otherwise the player risks falling off the tower to their doom.

After taking another four hits, Gruntilda will create a force field around herself that Banjo and Kazooie cannot break through. At this point the Jinjos realize the two of them need their help and intervene by creating four statues around the area. After a number of eggs are shot into the statues, a Jinjo will fly into the air like a missile and break through Gruntilda's barrier. The witch, however, does not remain idle during this time and will continue to attack the pair with fireballs. Unfortunately, Banjo and Kazooie cannot take cover behind the Jinjo statues as Gruntilda's attacks fly through them.

After all four Jinjo ram into the witch, Gruntilda's broomstick will break and she will fall to the edge of the tower. She is still standing, however, and her force field still renders her immune to any of Banjo and Kazooie's attacks. At this point a larger statue containing The Mighty Jinjonator appears. This statue has four holes that the player must shoot eggs into. Like the smaller Jinjo statues, the statue provides no cover and Gruntilda's attacks will still pass through it. She is quite possibly at her most dangerous in this phase, partly because she will attack with several consecutive fireballs followed by a homing shot. After each homing shot, she will take a short breather, allowing Banjo and Kazooie to shoot eggs into the holes.

Once the Mighty Jinjonator is activated, he will attack Gruntilda and knock her off the tower.

Gruntilda falls off the tower and crashes into the ground below. Seconds later, a large falling rock lands in the same spot where she crashed, trapping her beneath the surface. Banjo, Kazooie, and Tooty take a vacation to celebrate Grunty's defeat, during which Gruntilda's minion Klungo attempts to move the enormous boulder and save Gruntilda. Before the game ends, Grunty vowed to get her revenge on the pair one day.

Banjo-Kazooie: Grunty's Revenge

Two months after Gruntilda was crushed under a rock, Klungo created a mechanical suit called "Mecha-Grunty" which allowed the witch's spirit to possess it via a spell and live free once more. Desiring revenge, Gruntilda flies to Banjo's House and kidnaps Kazooie before traveling back in time to rewrite history. Banjo followed Mecha-Grunty back in time and managed to rescue Kazooie after defeating the witch at Breegull Beach. The duo continued to encounter Mecha-Grunty many times throughout the game before having a showdown atop her newly constructed lair. During the final battle, the Mecha-Grunty suit is completely destroyed, leaving only Gruntilda's ghost to fight before the spell used to eject it from her original body wore off. Grunty's ghost was forced back into her body in the present (which was still lying underneath the rock), where she laments her defeat and tells Klungo to send a message to her sisters, thus setting up the events of Banjo-Tooie.

Banjo-Tooie

After two years had passed since her defeat in Banjo-Kazooie, Gruntilda was suddenly freed from her underground prison by the sudden arrival of her sisters, Mingella and Blobbelda. The combined power of their evil spells levitated the rock that trapped Grunty and destroyed it, finally freeing her. However, they discovered that two years of decay had degenerated Grunty's body into a skeleton. Furious at her new bony body, Gruntilda asked her sisters for help in restoring her. "Mingy" and "Blobby" had already planned for such an event, and the three prepared to leave Spiral Mountain. Before they did, when Mumbo had wandered out of the Banjo's house to find the source of the ruckus caused when Mingella and Bloddelda entered with Hag 1, Grunty chased him and tried to kill him. Seeing him enter Banjo's house, she prepared a bigger spell to destroy it, and while Banjo, Kazooie, and Mumbo escaped, Bottles stayed behind assuming Mumbo was lying and trying to win at their poker game, resulting in him being killed by the blast, which also ruined Banjo's house.

The trio of witches then used the Hag 1 digging machine to reach Cauldron Keep on Isle o' Hags, where Gruntilda's sisters forced her to stop rhyming if she wanted to learn more of their plan, as they found it "annoying". Mingella and Blobbelda revealed to her their B.O.B. machine, which was designed to suck the life out of anything captured in its beam; Gruntilda practiced this on King Jingaling, reducing him to a zombie. Pleased with the result, Gruntilda desired to use B.O.B. on the whole island, but is informed it will take time before that can happen, as the machine needs to charge up enough power first. For the rest of the game, Grunty will usually talk to Banjo and Kazooie whenever they enter a mini-game, are performing a side-quest, or exploring areas under her control.

The heroes eventually meet her again in person after reaching Cauldron Keep, where she makes an attempt to destroy the duo with another game show called "Tower of Tragedy". This time Grunty has Banjo and Kazooie compete against her two sisters, and the loser would have a 1-ton weight dropped on top them. But her plan failed, as she ended up killing both her sisters for losing the first two rounds and declares Banjo and Kazooie's victories "invalid due to the faulty scoring equipment" after she loses the final round. Not sure of what to do next, Gruntilda takes Kazooie's advice to "escape in a cowardly fashion like in Banjo-Kazooie", and tells the duo she'll be waiting for them at the top of Cauldron Keep. Banjo and Kazooie eventually confront Gruntilda, who is controlling the monstrous Hag 1 digging machine. But despite having the digger's destructive power on her side, Gruntilda failed to defeat the heroes yet again, and is reduced to nothing more than a talking skull after accidentally dropping one of her most powerful spells. Grunty is last seen being kicked around like a ball by Banjo, Kazooie, and their allies while she swore that she would get her revenge in "Banjo-Threeie".

Gruntilda is also a playable character in the multiplayer games "Targitzan's Temple Shootout", "Ordnance Storage Shootout", and "Clinker's Cavern Shootout". In these games, Gruntilda is the tank character, with her health at sixteen honeycombs. This enables her to endure four Grenade Eggs, but at the cost of being the largest target and moving the slowest.

Banjo-Kazooie Nuts & Bolts

Grunty continues her role as an antagonist in this game as well, and has gone back to talking in rhymes. She makes her way back to Spiral Mountain, but because she is still a skull it takes her eight years to do so. She finds both Banjo and Kazooie are now overweight and challenges them to another showdown. However, before they are able to duel, a powerful figure called the Lord of Games pauses the battle as it was about to begin, and explains that he wants to end the rivalry between them one and for all. He states they shall fight in true Banjo-Kazooie style, by collecting "random useless objects", but soon grows impatient with them running around and decides to try something different.

He restores Banjo and Kazooie to fighting fit shape and gives them a Magical Wrench, while giving Grunty a robotic replica of her original body (with a jar attached for her head) and a cat named Piddles. The three characters go to Showdown Town, where Gruntilda tries to stop Banjo and Kazooie from earning Jiggies and returning to Spiral Mountain. After that fails, she fights the duo in a final showdown, but is defeated yet again. Banjo and Kazooie try to finish her off, but they're stopped by the Lord Of Games who instead sends Grunty and Piddles to his video game factory, where they will work at as punishment. Grunty is last seen working in the factory with Piddles, where she talks to the player claiming that they have made a great mistake by sending her to work there and that she plots to make her own "devious" game, followed by an evil laugh.

Me: Whoa! What a monster.

Lincoln: Gruntilda is worse than anything.

Me: Yep. Now it's time to get rid of her for good. We have our next mission.

We went to the Training Simulator.

---

In the Simulator we were getting ready. The Simulator activated and we found ourselves at the Isle O Hags. It was the home of Banjo, Kazooie and their friends.

Me: Wow! So this is the Isle O Hags. It's amazing.

Laney: It sure is.

Arkayna: I wouldn't mind coming here more often.

Emerald: Same here.

Nico: It sure looks awesome.

We walked around the entire island and it was amazing.

Me: Wow. What an island.

Nico: It sure is amazing.

Lana: Yeah. I think this is awesome.

Lola: Me too.

?: Then here comes more fun.

We then saw Banjo and Kazooie!

Me: Whoa! Banjo!

Lincoln: And Kazooie!

Laney: Wow!

Banjo: Team Loud Phoenix Storm! It's really nice to meet you guys.

Kazooie: Yeah we heard so much about you all.

Me: We get that all the time.

Kazooie: What do you guys think of our home so far?

Me: Amazing. It is a beautiful place.

Sophie: (British Accent) It sure is.

Lok: Yeah.

Lynn: It is an amazing place. I would mind coming here to help battle your enemies.

Luan: Yeah. They are Battling it out. (Laughs) Get it?

Most of us laughed while everyone sighed.

Me: (laughs) Good one Luan!

Eddy: (Laughs) Good one!

Sophie: That was a good one.

Me: Yep. We also came here to help deal with Gruntilda.

Banjo: We thank you for that J.D. Yes she has been a major nuisance.

Me: But she will pay for her crimes.

Kazooie: She will pay for her crimes all right! Lets get her!

Me: I know where she's at.

Mumbo Jumbo: Let Mumbo help too.

We saw Mumbo Jumbo.

Me: Mumbo Jumbo!

Lucy Loud: It's a pleasure to meet you Mumbo.

Mumbo: Same you Lucy. Mumbo help you all.

Me: Awesome. Lets go!

We flew up to the top of the highest mountain on the island and we arrived at the castle of Gruntilda.

We were on top of the castle tower and we saw GRUNTILDA!

Me: Gruntilda Winkybunion!

Grunty: So Team Loud Phoenix Storm has come. I see you have the bear and bird with you.

Me: That's unusual. Usually you talk in rhyming.

Grunty: I had some changes.

Stewie: You were gonna run out of things to say right?

Grunty: Indeed.

Vypra: That would be because of us.

We saw Vypra, Mr. Burns and Waffle Woman.

Vypra: In case you're wondering, I've adjusted Gruntilda's speech pattern so she talks normally.

Stewie: Why do that?

Waffle Woman: (to Stewie) You said it yourself. People run out of things to rhyme with eventually.

Tara: That's true. Also there are a bunch of words that nothing rhymes with.

?: I agree.

A figure came out and we saw that it was DATASCAMMER from episode 32 of In Space!

---

Datascammer was a robotic data-gathering lizard monster used by Astronema. Datascammer could emit blasts from his mouth and scanned information from the Power Rangers. He gave the information to Astronema. He was destroyed by the Mega Voyager. He served as the primary antagonist of the episode "Carlos on Call".

---

Carlos Vallerte: Datascammer!

Datascammer: Been a while rangers.

Me: I remember this guy! He gave the information on all of you to Astronema!

Datascammer: That's right. I have an amazing computer brain.

He fired a scanning laser at us. Datascammer just scanned Lincoln and the Loud Sisters except Luan.

Lincoln: What did you just do?!

Datascammer: Relax. I just scanned your data and sent it to the hideout's computer for a secret project of Vypra's.

Me: I see.

Emma Goodall: Let's bring down this wicked witch!

Megaforce Rangers: Legendary Ranger Mode: Ranger J Platoon!

The Megaforce Rangers turned into the Battle Field J Rangers from 1979.

Me: Lets dance!

We went at them!

---

Battle 1: Vypra

---

Luan and Vypra were clashing with their swords and it was a brutal clash.

Luan: You sure are a good swordswoman Vypra.

Vypra: I appreciate that Luan. But try this one!

Vypra fired powerful blasts of darkness and Luan deflected them all over and they hit the Castle and exploded.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!
KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!
KRABBBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM!

Luan fired blasts of light and Vypra deflected them all over and the castle exploded all over.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!

The explosions blew Vypra into the wall and knocked her down.

Luan: Looks like I Knocked Your Lights out! (Laughs to Rimshot) Get it?

(LAUGHTRACK)

---

Battle 2: Mr. Burns

---

Qin was facing Mr. Burns. The 140-year-old stick of an old man has always been a problem to everyone.

Qin: You are a despicable old man Burns. You don't care about anyone but yourself and money. No wonder everyone hated your fucking guts and you made everyone miserable!

Mr. Burns: SHUT YOUR MOUTH!

Qin: Make me!

Mr. Burns went at her and punched her. But when his fist made contact with her face, the impact of the punch broke all his bones in his hands and they were sticking through his hand! He screamed in pain and Qin giggled.

Qin: (Laughs) That tickles!

Mr. Burns: YOU BROKE MY ARM!

Qin: You are a monster Burns.

Qin then flicked his head and knocked him down.

Qin: Jerk.

Battle 3: Waffle Woman

Tara threw a bunch of rocks at Waffle Woman and they smashed into her.

Waffle Woman: You sure like waffles Tara.

Tara: My favorite breakfast. Now here's a new breakfast.

Waffle Woman: What's that?

Tara: PANWAFFLES!

Tara formed a waffle-pancake rock and it slammed into Waffle Woman and it hurt.

Battle 4: Datascammer

---

Nico and the Megaforce Rangers were facing Datascammer.

Nico: Datascammer you have failed this world.

Nico and the Megaforce Rangers blasted him and blew him apart in a huge fiery explosion.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM

Troy Burrows: Yeah!

---

Battle 5: Gruntilda.

---

Lastly we were facing Gruntilda.

Me: You will pay for your crimes Gruntilda Pukeybottom.

Kazooie: Nice one.

Grunty: It's WINKYBUNION!

We all went at her and I punched her in the face.

POW!

Grunty: OW! Didn't anyone ever teach you to respect your elders!?

Me: Not if they are bad guys out to ruin everything. And you are not my grandmother.

I punched her in the stomach and kicked her in the face and Nico punched her in the face and Lincoln and Linka fired blasts of lightning and electrocuted her all over.

Ben: Lets show some predator power!

Ben then turned into a bird creature! It was OMNIVORACIOUS! Omnivoracious is a tall alien that looks like a cross between a Dromaeosaur and multiple large birds. Her body is mostly covered in ruffled, Byzantium purple feathers with her head sporting the most ruffled feathers. The areas that are bald, being the long neck and the are of the legs under the femur, are a pale shade of wisteria purple and have visible horizontal fissures. Her torso represents that of an emu and has a tuff of feathers under the neck.

Her legs are structurally similar to that of an emu but with a longer pair of tarsi and Dromaeosaur-like feet with hook-like 'big toes'. Her feet have three toes along with an inner toe just below each ankle. Each toe ends in black talons. Her arms represent the wings of a hawk. Each arm is equipped with a bat-like hooked finger that shares the same color with the feathers. Her actual tail is quite long compared to a bird's and also terminates in four strips of even longer, streamer-like tail feathers.

Her head and neck highly resemble that of a stork. It has a long, crooked greyish blue beak along with a long, pale teal tongue. The beak also act like gums and holds tiny, almost randomly-placed sharp teeth that are the same color as the beak. The beak itself is textured with small bumps and has four shark fin-like horns with the very front and the second to back being longer than the other two. The beak also has an extension that sports the nostrils and runs up to the back of the scalp. The head has two black indents made from the eye orbits in the skull. Each eye orbit holds two red (naturally green for her species), cat-like eyes with black pupils. The back of the head also holds feathers that are longer than the rest found on the head.

Ben: OMNIVORACIOUS!

Me: Whoa! I've never seen this predator.

Shanan: Wow! That's an Omnivoracious! It's the predator of the Galvin from the planet Galvin Prime.

Laney: Whoa! That is a terrifying predator bird.

Nico: It's a really terrifying bird.

Lincoln: Yeah.

Grunty: Lets see what this bird can do against this!

Grunty called out her drill machine.

Omnivoracious: Lets do it!

Omnivoracious then bit the drill and lifted it and then he chomped it and smashed it into shrapnel!

Nico: Whoa! What powerful jaw strength!

Linka: Powerful!

Ben reverted back.

Ben: How about this one?

Ben then turned into a new alien. It was a purple alien with two big blade arms and eyes all around its head and he eyes on its chest and legs.

Ben: ULTRAVIOLENT!

Me: Whoa! This is a new one.

Shanan: Wow! That's a Laceritter from the planet Spetropica!

Luna: Wow! This one is really cool dude!

Riley: Amazing!

Ultraviolent: Watch this!

He fired a massive blast of purple light and it slammed into Grunty and burned her all over.

Ben: And how about this?

Ben then turned into a new Ultimate Alien! It was ULTIMATE THE WORST! He was now more human-like and he was taller.

Ben: ULTIMATE THE WORST!

Me: Whoa! An Evolved Atrocian!

Shanan: Wow! This one looks amazing! He is more human like.

Nico: He sure is.

Riley: Awesome!

Ultimate The Worst: Lets see what it can do.

He went at Gruntilda and smashed his punches into her all over the place and more and smashed her all over.

Me: Wow!

Luna: Try this one you ugly dude! METAL STYLE NINJA ART: PANZER BATTALION!

Luna floated in the air and a steel mill appeared behind her as the song Panzer Battalion by Sabaton played.

Under this sun no shadows will fall

Piercing our eyes as we charge

An armored battalion on course to the east

Closing the end of it's march

This time we're here to finish a job

Started a decade ago

Driving the animals out of their holes

To bury them 6 feet below

Armored tanks of mass destruction

Killers in the east

Rats who dares to stand before us

Feel our guns go live

Death in the shape of a panzer battalion

Insect of terror don't run face your fate like a

Man cannot outrun our panzer battalion

Thousands of tons of armor and guns

Making it's way through the sand

Our panzer battalion is back for revenge

Artillery sweeping the land

First strike is ours no mercy is shown

There's rivers of blood in our track

Breaking their waves of defense with our tanks

Infantry watching our back

Blow their SAM sites clear for air strike

Ready for the storm

Minefields swept there's no surrender

Feel our napalm burn

Death in the shape of a panzer battalion

Insect of terror don't run face your fate like a

Man cannot outrun our panzer battalion

Death in the shape of a panzer battalion

Insect of terror don't run face your fate like a

Man cannot outrun our panzer battalion

Under this sun no shadows will fall

Piercing our eyes as we charge

An armored battalion on course to the east

Has reached the end of it's march

Armored tanks of mass destruction

Killers in the east

Rats who dares to stand before us

Feel our guns go live

Panzer battalion

Insect of terror don't run face your fate like a man

Panzer battalion

Waves of molten steel went at Grunty and they turned into the Panzer Battalion in the Gulf War and they blasted and burned Grunty all over.

Me: Whoa! That was awesome Luna!

Jessie K.: No kidding. That was the famous Panzer Battalion from the Gulf War and they were part of a big battle in the Battle of Medina Ridge back in 1991.

Laney: Wow! That was something.

Lily: It sure is.

Hunter: (German Accent) Ja. I've heard about that battle. It was wicked.

Me: Lets see how she likes some team power!

G1 Cerebros: Lets do it! CYBER KEY POWER!

The Autobot Cyber Planet Key went into his back and enhanced his Laser Rifle 100-fold.

Aang: Lets do it! AIR NOMAD CYBER KEY POWER!

The Air Nomads Cyber Planet Key went into his right arm device and enhanced his Airbending 100-fold.

G1 Cerebros and Aang: TORNADO LASER FIRESTORM!

Aang fired a powerful blast of air and Cerebros fired a blast of lasers and the blasts hit Grunty and exploded.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!

Bonecrusher: Time for some action! CYBER KEY POWER!

The Earth Cyber Planet Key went into his back and enhanced his laser pistol 100-fold.

Circe: This is gonna be good! PROVIDENCE CYBER KEY POWER!

The Providence Cyber Planet Key went into her right arm device and enhanced her E.V.O. Powers 100-fold.

Bonecrusher and Circe (Generator Rex): LASER SONIC BOOM BLAST!

Bonecrusher fired a massive laser blast and Circe grew her sonic mouth and fired a massive blast of sound and the blasts hit Grunty and exploded.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

William: Try this one!

Sandman: And this!

William and Sandman fired blasts of fire and sand.

William and Sandman: GLASS FIRESTORM SHOWER!

The fire turned the sand into glass and the shards hit Grunty all over the place and cut her.

Zarya: Feel the wolf!

Lily: And water!

Zarya fired a massive barrage of energy arrows and Lily fired a blast of water.

Zarya and Lily: WATER WOLF BLITZ!

The blasts combined and turned into a wolf of water and Grunty dodged it.

Lok: Try this! CHARGE! IRONSQUIRE!

Lok summoned Ironsquire!

---

Ironsquire is an amber and steel-blue robotic Titan that is closely related to Freelancer. Bearing a large shield, Ironsquire specializes in defense. This Titan is used by members of the Huntik Foundation, notably Lok Lambert and Clements.

Clements' Ironsquire was possessed and controlled by Arc, along with his other Titans, Freelancer and Hoplite. After initially defeating Lok's Freelancer, Ironsquire fought against Powerbonded Baselaird who chipped his shield. Lok then used the Willblade on the chip to destroy Ironsquire's shield rendering him defenseless to be defeated by Sophie Casterwill's Sorcerel.

Lok's Ironsquire

Lok Lambert invoked his Ironsquire on the roof of the Cloisters, USA, to fight against a pair of Casterwill Hunters where he was attacked by Midnight Rook. Ironsquire then fought against Dark Pharaoh, with the two Titans eventually defeating each other after colliding at full speed.

Lok summoned Ironsquire in the vault of the Fortress of Iron Will to fight alongside Sophie's Sorcerel against the fear monsters generated by the Trial of Courage. After fending off a number of the creatures, Ironsquire was defeated.

Lok later used Ironsquire during the war against the Blood Spiral at the foot of Iron Will where he saved Dante Vale from a group of Silent Soldiers. S2E40

Lok invoked Ironsquire on the longest night of the year to fight against Psikofen in the wreckage of the Huntik team's plane. After being disarmed of his shield, Ironsquire was entrapped along with Sophie's Kelpie in Psikofen's chains before Cherit defeated the Blood Spiral Titan.

Abilities

Ironsquire is a mighty knight, specializing in the defense of his Seekers. He is especially useful for defending against multiple opponents. His giant shield is used to block high even power attacks such as Overslam and Kindlestrike.

Lok with Ironsquire: BOLTFLARE SUPER SLASH!

Lok and Ironsquire slashed and burned Grunty all over.

Me: Time for some Final Smash power!

Banjo: You got it!

Kazooie: Lets do it!

Banjo and Kazooie: JINJONATOR!

Banjo and Kazooie summoned the Jinjonator and it slammed into Grunty and smashed her all over the place with incredible force!

Mumbo Jumbo: Mumbo ready to smash! MUMBO VOODOO SHOCKER!

Mumbo fired a powerful blast of lightning from his staff and electrocuted Grunty all over.

Jinjo King: This is for all of your crimes! JINJO FIRESTORM SMASH!

The Jinjo King sent a massive barrage of Jinjo's of all the colors and they slammed into Grunty all over and exploded.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Grunty got up.

Maria: Hey Grunty Pimplepopper!

Grunty saw her.

Maria: Think fast!

Maria blasted her with water and drenched her all over!

Grunty: (Screams) YOU CURSED BRAT! LOOK WHAT YOU'VE DONE! I'M MELTING! MELTING! OH! WHAT A WORLD!

Maria: Oh, c'mon! Take your death like a mature person, will you?!

Nico: Gruntilda Winkybunion, you have failed this universe.

Me: And more.

Grunty melted into pulp and she was dead. Her spirit appeared.

Maria: You have caused so much pain that you don't deserve anything.

Maria held her hand to her.

Maria: HAKAI!

Grunty glowed purple and she screamed in pain as she was being obliterated. GRunty was erased from existence forever as if she was never born at all.

Maria: Good riddance.

Banjo: Yep.

Vypra: Well, I hope you all had fun fighting us today. Because we'll be taking a break until Total Drama Galaxy.

Nico: Really?

Waffle Woman: Of course. We have to save our strength for that upcoming event. And we have to review the data Datascammer sent us. (she and Vyrpa teleport out)

Me: Well that was interesting. But this was awesome!

Banjo: You said it J.D. (To the viewers) These guys are just that good. Not even witches can stop them.

Me: Yep.

We beamed the Isle O Hags to Lake Huron and it was perfect there.

THE END

Another Awesome Video Game covered.

Banjo-Kazooie has been one of my favorite video games for a long time ever since I was in my teens. It was so funny and awesome! NicoChan11 gave me the ideas for this. Thanks man. Let me know what you all think. Next up for Saint Patrick's Day is a land version of the SpongeBob Episode It Came From Goo Lagoon and we're going to make sure that Ophelia Shroud doesn't destroy the city with deadly super ooze.

See you all tomorrow.

It Came From Lake Huron

HAPPY SAINT PATRICK'S DAY 2020 EVERYONE!

---

At the estate, it was Irish fun.

Poromon, Manaphy, Poliwag, and Horsea: HAPPY ST. PATRICK'S DAY, EVERYBODY!

Nico: Happy St. Patrick's Day to you all too.

Everyone was dressed in green and all things Irish.

Lori: This is literally a fun day.

Natilee: (Irish Accent) Tis a beautiful day lads. Love Ireland and the Luck of the Irish.

Lincoln: It's beautiful.

Nico: It sure is.

Me: (Slurred speech) Hey guys!

In came me and I was drunk as a loon! I had a bottle of Guinness Beer in my hands.

Me: (Drunk) Hey buddies.

I went over to the couch and sat down and I was crazy drunk.

Nico: Oh, fuck me. J.D.'s drunk!

Laney: How much has he drank!?

Lana: I think this much.

Lana came in with a bunch of cans and bottles of Guinness Beer.

Me: (Drunk) So I says "Yeah? If you want that money, come and find it. Cause I don't know where it is ya Baloney! You make me want to Wretch!" (BARNEY GUMBLE BELCH)

Barney Gumble: Man I can't believe that I sound like that when I'm drunk.

Homer: No kidding.

Me: (To Lincoln) YOU STINK! (Hiccup) YOU AND YOUR WHOLE LOUSY OPERATION STINKS! (BARNEY GUMBLE BELCH) I've been wanting to tell you all for years. I QUIT!

Nico: Okay J.D. I think you need a nap.

Me: You shut up!

Nico: Lets go big guy.

Me: Shut up! It's my car and I say we're going to the lost city of gold!

Nico grabbed me and took me to my room.

Nico put me into my bed and I went to sleep. He came back.

Nico: Well, guys. It looks like I'm the temporary leader of the team now. Again.

Lincoln: Okay.

French Narrator: ["The Lake Huron" sign is shown at Lake Huron] Ah, Lake Huron. A relaxing retreat for the citizens of Gotham Royal York. [The scene starts to pan through a wide shot of Lake Huron] A place for fun and frolic, but soon fun shall turn to fear, [The panning stops at the lake itself] for deadly danger creeps their way [creepy-looking words appear that read "IT CAME FROM LAKE HURON!"] and IT CAME FROM LAKE HURON! [A female scream is heard]

[The scene changes to show the bottom half of Dale exiting the lagoon. The scene pans up to reveal that he is licking a pink ice cream cone. The scene widens to show that he is passing Tommy with a red shovel and orange pale digging up sand and putting it in the pale, Scooter and Bill sunbathing, Nat rubbing sunscreen on Abigail-Marge's back, and Dennis playing volleyball with Nazz-Mimi. He stops just in time to see Lincoln wearing his red swim suit and Leni wearing her light green swim suit and green swim cap pass by him. The scene follows Leni and Lincoln until they stop. They give each other excited faces and start laughing with excitement. They Run away from an oncoming tide. They chase the receding tide. They go back and forth two times. The scene zooms into show just their faces. They continue to laugh. The giant shadow of a giant wave emerges]

Leni and Lincoln: Uh-oh.

[The scene pans out to show the giant wave. The two get submerged in the wave. The scene changes to the open lagoon. Lincoln and Leni's bottom halves float into the scene. Lincoln gets up and gasps. He turns Leni right-side-up]

Leni: Hey, Lincoln?

Lincoln: Yes, Leni?

Leni: Do you know how to swim?

Lincoln: Yes.

Leni: I don't.

Lincoln: Hmm, I wonder why you're not sinking to the bottom of the lake. [A big round purple object lifts Leni into the air. Leni screams] Lincoln, you're floating! And usually that's with your powers!

Leni: Oh. [another one lifts Lincoln in the air] Hey, you're floating too! What happened?

Lincoln: [He looks down at his object] These weird bubbles saved us.

Leni: These are totes weird bubbles. [She pokes on his bubble] It's all purple and sticky.

Lincoln: [He sticks his hand on the bubble and stretches it a little] And it's really stretchy. It's some kind of ooze bubble.

Leni: [She smells the goo bubble] Well, the smell makes my nose tickle. [She sneezes which causes the bubble to bounce on the lake's surface. She giggles.] Hey, it bounces!

Lincoln: That is a strong bubble.

[Lincoln and Leni smile at each other signifying that they are thinking of doing the same thing. Lincoln and Leni bounce on the Lake's surface like they're playing on hopping balls while laughing. Lincoln bounces above Nat, who is in a doughnut-shaped pool floaty that has red and white stripes on it. Nat sighs. Leni bounces on him causing him to go under the lake's surface. He emerges through the floaty and gasps for "air"]

Leni: Sorry!

[The scene changes to show on a surfer, who is normally the lifeguard, wearing Leni like pants surfing on a wave. Lincoln goes through the top of the wave and hits him on the head. This causes him to lose his balance and wipe out. The surfer reaches the surface and gasps for "air". Leni also bounces on him, causing him to go back under the surface of the lake. The scene changes to show a group of water ski acrobats and Thaddeus is driving the boat. The group consists of: on the bottom, Blue Fred, Sadie, and an orange fish; in the middle, Sandals and Nazz-Mimi; on the top, Dale, who is holding two red flags. Leni comes and bounces on the group, knocking them over. The scene changes to show Ophelia Shroud, Lisa Loud's arch nemesis, selling chum food in a cart on the beach, while wearing a farmer's hat and a red bandanna]

Ophelia Shroud: Chum! Get your red, hot chum here! What's the deal? According to my algorithm, [She takes out a calculator with the number "102682" on it.] beach-goers should be famished [She throws the calculator behind her] and looking for a treat. A treat like chum! Hello? It's perfectly edible, people! [A volleyball destroys Shroud's chum cart and causes her outfit to fly away] Oh, come on, man! This is my livelihood!

[The scene widens to show Mr. Grouse, wearing a blue swim suit, behind an orange beach chair putting up an orange and yellow umbrella.]

Mr. Grouse: [opens his umbrella] Ah, a beautiful day beachside. I couldn't think of a thing that could ruin this. [lays down on his chair]

Shroud: I could think of a few.

Mr. Grouse: [puts tanning lotion on his nose and lays down to tan with his tanning mirror. A big shadow appears above Mr. Grouse] Hey, you're blocking my light. [Lincoln appears from the sky, laughing, and crashes into Lincoln with his ooze bubble. This causes Mr. Grouse to go under the sand and to destroy both the umbrella and the chair. Mr. Grouse pops out of the sand] Loud? [Another shadow appear and Leni's laughter is heard. Leni appears and also crashes onto Mr. Grouse, who screams, with his ooze bubble. Again, Mr. Grouse goes under the sand. Mr. Grouse pops out of the sand with his tanning mirrors stuck to his head like a flower's petals. Shroud walks up to Mr. Grouse.]

Shroud: Ah, sweet karma. It can come from the most boneheaded of places. [She notices Lincoln and Leni bouncing on their ooze bubbles while laughing] Wait a second. What are those bouncing blobs of ooze?

Mr. Grouse: Boy I don't know. I've never seen something like them before. But I'm gonna find out. [Lincoln and Leni continue to bounce and laugh on their ooze bubbles until Mr. Grouse steps in front of them] Hold it! [Lincoln and Leni stop bouncing and their bubbles drop to the ground]

Lincoln: Oh hey Mr. Grouse. Long time no see.

Mr. Grouse: Same to you Lincoln. You too Leni. What I want to know is why you two have those?

Lincoln: Oh, sorry, Mr. Grouse. We're riding on these cool [He steps off the bubble and lifts it] ooze bubbles. They're floating out of Lake Huron.

[A strange robot comes out of the water and everyone screams and runs away in horror, except for Lincoln, Leni and Mr. Grouse who are too shocked to move. The robot opens itself revealing that it was just a suit controlled by Lisa Loud, Lincoln's little sister.]

Lisa Loud: Stop! [She exits the suit] Those bubbles are dangerous!

Lincoln: Dangerous?

Shroud: Dangerous?

Lincoln: [The scene changes to show Mr. Grouse, and Leni and Lincoln are holding their bubble separately] Fascinating. Tell us more.

Leni: Yeah, but with visual aids.

Lisa Loud: O-kay… [pushes a button on the front of her watch that opens up a projection screen while a robot arm from her backpack holds a projector. The projection says "DANGER" (in red letters) "BENEATH THE LAKE FLOOR" (in gold letters). The visual is of a normal lake background] My scientific investigation has [the camera cuts to the projection screen] revealed that deep beneath the lake floor is a volcanic pocket of super ooze. [The visual changes to show 5 layers: the top is the lake, the second is an light orange straight section that is probably the floor of the lagoon, the third is a red straight section that might be lava, the fourth section is straight and light brown and slightly smaller than the second layer, the fifth layer is a blackish straight layer that is about double the size of the third layer. The fifth layer also contains a purple section in the middle that has the words "SUPER OOZE" in gold letters. The visual aid then shows a zig-zag section that goes from the super ooze section all the way to the top of the second layer/bottom of the lake] A crack has formed releasing bubbles of the ooze to the surface which are toxic and very unstable. [The visual aid changes to show the crack at the bottom of the lake floor releasing super ooze that forms a bubble. The bubble starts to morph and then it pops all over the visual aid.] At any moment, it could lose its integrity and boom! It'll explode!

Lincoln: WHOA!

Leni: Like, that is dangerous!

Mr. Grouse: Geez!

[The scene changes to show Shroud next to a red phone booth with a button panel on it.]

Shroud: Loud is right. A giant goo bubble could really level the playing field. If someone were able to control its power, they'd control all of Gotham Royal York. And I'm going to be that someone. [lifts the panel's cover and pushes a red button on the Phone Booth and door opens. The exterior is barely shown, but of what is shown, it looks similar to the Pasta Bowl's lab interior. She goes inside and the door closes. The Phone Booth sinks into the sand and a purple and light purple clam-shaped sub flies out and dives into the lake.]

Lincoln: We got to be careful with these bubbles Leni.

Leni: Okay Linky.

Mr. Grouse: I agree.

[The bubble transition appears and the scene changes to show Shroud's clam-shaped sub in the depth of the lake surrounded by ooze bubbles. The scene changes to Shroud on the interior. She is sitting on a reddish brown seat and holding a yoke with a red button and a green button on it]

Shroud: [continues her search for the crack formed from the super ooze under the lake. She lets go of the yoke] I can't find this thing anywhere. [pulls out her binoculars and looks to the left of the vehicle] Come on, now. Think, Shroud. [she looks up] If you were a giant bubble of dangerous ooze, where would you be? [she goes back to the left]

Fiona Shroud: [pops up] Ophelia, this ship wasn't designed to reach these depths.

Shroud: That's great, sweetheart.

Fiona: If you continue this search much longer, your power supply will deplete and you'll sink.

Shroud: All right, Fiona. I'll make sure I write that down in my book, titled, Insignificant Things My Computer Told Me.

Fiona: Whatever. Go get stuck at the bottom of Lake Huron. It's your funeral.

Shroud: What did you say?

Fiona: I said, "Go get stuck at the bottom of Goo Lagoon."

Shroud: That's it, Fiona! The ooze bubble must be stuck at the bottom. We just have to get down there. Fiona, cut the power to the entire ship. [Fiona cuts the power and the ship starts sinking] Yes! [laughs evilly as her ship continues to sink until it finds the crack where the ooze bubbles are coming from] Look, there it is! Fiona, fire up the engine power. [Fiona restarts the ship] With my mechanical clam digger, I'll crack open this ooze-cano easy as a egg! Which is what it was built for, so… You know, that makes sense. [the ship lands into the crack as Shroud laughs evilly. Shroud pushes the button and the ship widens the crack] Yes! Yes! Bubble forth, my gooey wrath! [the lake floor begins to shake] And now to get the ding-dang out of here! [Shroud makes her getaway in her escape pod while the remains of her ship get swallowed up by the massive purple ooze rising from the crack]

Lincoln: Look! [a giant purple ooze bubble forms out of the water] Giant ooze bubble! [Lisa pops out from the sand under Lincoln]

Lisa: See, I told ya! [breaths crazily] Run for your lives!

Lincoln: Lisa calm down!

Leni: Lisa's really getting out of hand. [cuts to black screen]

Katherine Mulligan: This is Katherine Mulligan reporting live from Lake Huron where I'm standing in front of what appears to be some sort of gigantic purple gooey bubble rising out of the water. With me is Lisa Loud.

At the estate Nico was watching!

Nico: Hey guys! Look at this!

Everyone else came over.

Double D: Is that a giant bubble?

Lana: Whoa! Look at the size of that bubble!

Lola: It's massive!

Lily: It's huge!

Laney: I've never seen a giant bubble like that.

Nico: This sounds like it requires some investigation.

Aqua: Turn the three of us into Pokemon again. I can be a Kyogre again.

Sora: I want to be a Groudon.

Kairi: And I'll be a Rayquaza.

Maria: Are you sure you, Sora, and Kairi want to become Legendary Pokemon again, Aqua? You just became a Kyogre a few days ago.

Aqua: I know. But I want to help stop this bubble if it causes trouble.

Kairi: Me too.

Sora: Yeah.

Nico: Okay.

They were by the lake.

Kairi: Nico can you hold my ring for me until I'm human again?

Nico: Sure.

Kairi gave Nico her ring and he put it in his pocket.

Nico: Here we go.

Nico snapped his fingers and Aqua, Kairi, and Sora were on the ground, writhing in pain.

William: Are you guys ok?

Aqua: I'm gonna be fine.

Sora: Same here!

Kairi: Yeah!

Aqua bloated up.

Aqua: I feel gassy.

Kairi's legs turned into a long tail.

Kairi: Now I don't have to get those shoes.

Sora then sprouted Groudon's tail.

Sora: Yike! That is hot!

They turned into the Legendary Dinosaur Pokemon: Groudon, Kyogre and Rayquaza!

May: This time, Kairi's a Rayquaza. And Sora's a Groudon!

Laney: Wow! You guys look awesome as the Legendary Dinosaur Pokemon.

Lola: Just what I was thinking.

Nico: Yeah.

Optimus Prime: You sure you three will be okay like this for a while?

Aqua: We'll be fine.

Kairi: I can watch from the air like this.

Sora: I'll watch from the ground.

Aqua: And for me I'll watch from the air.

Sophie (OC): Sora you look awesome as a Groudon.

Leia (OC): And you look awesome as a Kyogre.

Mina (OC): I agree. And you look amazing as a Rayquaza, Kairi.

Kairi: Thanks.

Lori: I'll go with Kairi.

Lynn: I can go with Sora.

Maria: And I'll go with Aqua. They're gonna need towels after all this.

Nico: Good idea girls. [Pulls out blue, red and pink towels.] Here's some towels for you guys.

Maria: Thanks Nico.

Lynn: We'll hold on to them.

Lori: Okay.

Katherine Mulligan: Miss Loud, as Gotham Royal York's resident scientist of Team Loud Phoenix Storm, we look to you for answers. Who, what, how, why, when?

Lisa Loud: Well, Katherine, I won't really know anything until I run some tests, but I can tell you it's pretty serious. Now, if you'll excuse me, I need to get going. [reveals that Katherine is sitting in the boat with her along with Leni and Lincoln]

Katherine Mulligan: Oh, yes. Of course. [Katherine jumps into the water and pops up while her microphone is short circuiting] This is Katherine Mulligan and I'm soaking wet. Back to you.

Lincoln: Wow, it's so big!

Leni: It's huge!

Lisa: That is one massive size bubble. [picks up one of the oars] First, we'll check its ductility strength. [taps on the bubble a few times] Tight as a drum.

Lincoln: Really tough.

Leni: [takes the oar from Lisa] Oh, I want to play the drum! [attempts to hit it until Lisa grabs the oar]

Lisa: No, Leni, don't! That thing's volatile! There's no telling what kind of damage it'll cause if it pops!

Leni: Oh, fine. Here. I don't need that old stick anyways. [jumps onto the bubble, but bounces back causing her to crash into Lincoln and fall in the water. Water splashes onto Lisa]

Leni: Sorry.

Lisa: [pulls them out and back into the boat] Come on, elder siblings. We still have more tests to perform. I need a sample. Be a darling and hand me that bucket Lincoln.

Lincoln: Sure.

[Lincoln gets up and has a bucket stuck on his bottom. Leni giggles at that as Lisa takes the bucket and grabs a bit of ooze from the bubble] Ok, Lincoln, put a little bit of that ooze into this analyzer.

Lincoln: Okay.

[Lincoln pours the ooze in the mouth of Lisa's analyzer. The analyzer scans the ooze but goes haywire as a paper spits out]

Lisa: This is worse than I thought.

Lincoln: Look, Lisa. [makes a painting of Lisa out of ooze with Leni and giggles with him]

Lisa: How many times do I have to tell you that stuff's dangerous? Now, how are we gonna clean that gunk off?

Lincoln: [both Lincoln and Leni's hands are covered with ooze] Oh, yeah. Gross.

Lily and everyone else appeared.

Lily: I think I can help. [blows bubbles on Patrick's hands and the bubbles clean the ooze off]

Leni: Oh, they shine!

Lisa: Well, it seems to have stabilized. As long as it doesn't get any bigger, there's not too much to worry about. [ground rumbles]

Nico: Uh oh!

Lisa: That ain't good. [the force of the rumble causes a tidal wave which sends everyone flying while screaming and crashing onto the beach and onto Aqua.]

Katherine Mulligan: So, Miss Cheeks, what's the prognosis?

Lisa: Well, Katherine, it's my considered opinion that now would be a good time to- [ground rumbles] -run like hell! [everyone runs and screams]

Katherine Mulligan: [on tv] Well, there you have it. This is Katherine Mulligan about to be swallowed by a giant wave. [the wave crashes onto Katherine and the TV goes into color bars screen. Everyone at Lake Huron is running for their lives and screaming as the giant ooze bubble rolls on the beach.]

Leni: [runs to an outhouse] I'll catch up! I've gotta use the can! [close the door until the giant ooze bubble rolls onto it]

Lincoln: [trips over a rock] Whoa! [lands on his head in the sand and Lisa pulls him out. The giant ooze bubble almost rolls over Lincoln and Lisa and begins to float in the air above them]

Kairi: It's floating!

Lisa: Phew, that was a close one.

Leni: Help, help! Help! [punches through the door] I'm out of toilet paper in here! [the outhouse begins to slide off]

Lincoln: Look out! [Lincoln and Lisa run as the outhouse crashes onto the ground. Leni hangs on for her life but she begins to slip while some of the ooze sticks on her. She screams. Lincoln is flying and reaching out for Leni] Hang on, sis! Just a little bit more! [grabs Leni by her foot] Gotcha! [tries to pull her down but loses his grip] I don't gotcha! Whoa! [Lincoln and Lisa fall over as Leni, who is still stuck on the ooze, stretches up as the ooze detaches causing her to fall right on top of the ooze bubble]

Leni: Help! [sobs as the ooze bubble drifts away]

Lincoln: Now what do we do?

Lisa: We need to fly after it and fast! [Mr. Grouse is seen riding on his recumbent bicycle until Lisa grabs him be the arms] Mr. Grouse, I apologize but it's an emergency! We're gonna need your help! [They flew into the air] Follow Me!

They were back at the estate.

Mr. Grouse: Sheesh, you'd think the sky was falling. [Ooze then splatters on top of Mr. Grouse] Yuck! I am need going to learn to keep my big mouth shut. [the ooze bubble floats by the estate as Leni continues to scream until she begins to play with the ooze. She then make an ooze sculpture of Ed.]

Leni: Hey Ed! I'm so glad you could stick around. [giggles] Glad. [Lincoln and Lisa arrive in a ship]

Lisa: [through her communicator] Hold on, Leni! We're here to rescue you!

Leni: Oh, go rescue somebody else. Can't you see I'm playing with my friend, EdBlob? [Lincoln and Lisa look at each other in confusion. Everyone else shrugs. They fly above Leni and release a grappling hook] Don't worry. I'll never leave you. [the hook grabs Leni's swimsuit] Huh? [the hook pulls Leni off the ooze] No… ! Good-bye, EdBlob! [Leni gets pulled safely into the ship as the hook left a dent on her waist] Hi guys. [the Ooze bubble flies towards Gotham Royal York]

Lincoln: So what do we do now, Lisa? That thing is headed straight for downtown Gotham Royal York.

Lisa: If that thing pops, we can kiss our beautiful city goodbye! [the townspeople takes Lisa's words too literally and starts to kiss the streets and the buildings and say goodbye to them. The ooze bubble continues to fly above the city and rains ooze on the townspeople and buildings. Everyone starts screaming. The bubble bends two skyscrapers. Cuts to the Gotham Royal York City Hall where a bride and a groom are getting married at the steps and the front door while everyone is cheering. A pile of ooze splatters on top of the groom]

Groom: Help me, my beloved.

Bride: Don't touch me, you disgusting freak! [a drop of goo stains her wedding dress and she cries] My dress is ruined! [Lisa's ship flies underneath the bubble as it splatters ooze on Nancy Suzy after she gasps]

Nancy's baby: [giggles] Mommy goopy! [ooze splatters on Nancy's baby. Nancy runs away screaming with her baby while Nat takes cover in a nearby trashcan. Once its safe, he sighs and climbs out covered in filth. The bubble continues to fly but this time towards the statue of us]

Lincoln: Oh, no! It's headed right for J.D.'s Sword!

Lisa: I was afraid it might come to this. In order to save the city, we must destroy public property. [activates missiles at the bottom of her sub]

Lincoln: Uh, Lisa, why do you have missiles in your ship?

Lisa: You know, in case I get stuck in traffic. Here goes! [pushes button and launches the missiles. The missiles make a direct hit on the statue, but they instead make it into a skeleton form] Dang it! [the ooze bubble approaches and they all scream. However, the bubble flies above the statue] Huh? What the-?

Lincoln: That's weird. It's like that bubble has a mind of its own.

Lisa: Or the mind of someone else. Look! [it is revealed that Ophelia Shroud has been moving the bubble by pushing it from behind while she is inside the escape pod. He sighs] Ophelia Shroud! I knew it!

Shroud: Yeah, it's me.

Lisa: What are you up to this time Shroud!?

Shroud: Well, that's for me to know and for you to shut the fuck up!

Lincoln: [gasps] Rude!

Nico: You won't win Shroud!

Shroud: Let's just say I've got big plans for this little bubble. [laughs evilly as they all stare at her in disgust] Now, if you'll excuse me I have to go. [proceeds in pushing the ooze bubble. They all pursue her until she activates a continuous track on her escape pod. They continue to chase her around the bubble until Shroud laughs and speeds up]

Lisa: Dang it! We'll never catch her at this rate!

Shroud: Ha! They'll never catch me at this rate! [yelps as she sees everyone coming towards her at the front]

Lisa: [comes out of her sub] Oh, no, you don't! [throws a laser lasso on Shroud's pod and ties the rope on the hook] Come here, you little monster! You stay right there! Yippee! We got him now! [They all jump out and run towards her]

Shroud: That's right, come to Papa.

Lisa: When we get you out of there, you've got some explaining to do!

Kairi: It's all a trap guys!

Shroud: That's right you fools! (Laughs Evilly and presses a red button)

Lisa: Retreat! Retreat!

Shroud: Aw, don't go so soon. [pushes a yellow button. The pod activates a giant plug] I hope you brought your dancing shoes! [the plug stabs onto the bubble cornering them all] 'Cause it's time to do the electric goo-boogaloo! [pushes a green button and the plug electrocutes them except for Lincoln, which causes the townspeople below to scream in fear as Shroud laughs evilly. Everyone but Lincoln and Linka are fried and Shroud pushes them off with the wind from his pod's rudder. But Lincoln stays on.]

Lincoln: Nice try Shroud! Lightning makes me and Linka stronger!

Shroud punched Lincoln off the bubble.

As everyone else falls, Shroud continues to push the bubble. Everyone falls and scream until they crashed to the ground. But they were unscathed]

Lisa: Shroud, you fucking monster! Give me back my ship! [Plankton throws Lisa's ship at them as it crashes to the ground. Lisa gasps] My ship!

Lincoln: There, there Lisa.

Leni: Shroud, you're- you're a big meanie-weenie! You won't be such a tough girl without that big old bubble!

Lily: Tough guy? Bubble? Leni! Eureka! Inspiration!

Leni: Really? [smells herself] Do I need deodorant?

Lily: No, but you're close. What we need is [pulls out his bubble bottle from her pocket] liquid soap. It's time to fight bubble with bubble!

Leni: [scoffs] Bubbles. That's your answer for everything.

[cuts to Lynn's Table]

Lynn Sr.: Thank you, come again! [Ooze splatters onto Lynn Sr.'s eyes] Hey, who turned out the lights? [wipes off the ooze and looks up to see the giant ooze bubble in front of his restaurant]

Shroud: Hello, down there, Mr. Loud! Look, I brought you a pretty balloon! And in return, you can give me the All of your Recipes!

Lynn Sr.: Why in the world would I want to do that?

Shroud: Cause if you don't, [her pod pulls out a needle] I'm gonna pop this disgusting thing and destroy all of Gotham Royal York and kill you all! [then her pod holds out her computer with the picture of Lynn's Table and Gotham Royal York on it] As you can see, I projected the blast radius of this ooze-bomic balloon and it's gonna cover pretty much everything in the whole city.

Lynn Sr.: Oh, yeah? Well, I can't see nothing from down here!

Shroud: Oh, yeah? Well, look again, you dingus! [throws his computer down at Lynn Sr.]

Lynn Sr.: I won't be blackmailed! There's no way I'm giving you all of my recipes! You can take them OVER MY DEAD BODY!

Shroud: You heard him, Gotham Royal York! It's time to kiss this clean city goodbye! [prepares to pop the goo bubble as she laughs evilly, but is stopped by Lily's voice]

Lily: [standing on the sign of Lynn's Table] Hey, you! Yeah, you! Hold it right there, little miss!

Shroud: Eh, not again.

Lincoln: Prepare to meet your match, you big, bubble bully freak! [Lisa is standing on the bubble bottle and stirs the liquid soap with a giant bubble wand]

Shroud: [her pod puts its needle away on its head] Well, this is interesting. Let's see where it goes.

Lisa: Thank goodness for the Supermarket buck discount! [gives Lily the giant bubble wand]

Lily: Here goes. [jumps off the sign] Geroni-blow! [the bubble wand creates a big bubble which takes the form of a bubble giant] Pretty slick, huh? Get her! [the bubble giant runs towards Shroud]

Shroud: [gasps] Uh-oh.

Leni: [slides down the pole] Whoo! [laughs] Oh, boy! Get him, you big bubble bruiser! [runs up in the middle of the confrontation] Whoo! [laughs] You're the man! Yay! [the bubble giant steps on Leni with a sewing needle in her hand and begins to deflate and fly around]

Shroud: Okay, where were we? Oh, yeah! [grabs the needle and proceeds but the deflating bubble giant flies under and lifts the goo bubble higher and higher]

Lincoln: There goes a real hero. She gave her life so we could stay clean. [the bubble giant lifts the ooze bubble so high that it flies out of the sky and into outer space. The bubble giant begins to evaporate as Shroud's face gets distorted a little while she grunts until she reaches space. The ooze bubble bounces on the moon and hurdles back to Earth and into the city] Oh, no, she's coming back!

Lisa: And she's headin' right for us!

Nico: That monster won't quit!

[Shroud parachutes the bubble safely and slowly to the ground. The city people flee as everyone screams until the bubble stops on top of them]

Shroud: Whew! That's it, no more messing around! Give me that recipes or I'll destroy this stinkin' town all kill you all! [hold out the needle]

Lynn Sr.: Make me!

Nat Peterson: You'd better do what she says or we'll tear your restaurant apart and give it to her ourselves!

Bill: Yeah!

Martha Smith: I just washed my car!

Bill: Yeah!

Nico: You all will do no such thing!

Laney: You all will have to go through all of us!

Lori: You even touch dad's restaurant and I will literally turn all of you into a human pretzel!

Lincoln then flipped the bird at Shroud!

Shroud: THEN DIE! [everyone gasps and Shroud ruthlessly pops the bubble and the town is covered in purple ooze as she laughs evilly. Everyone is all covered in ooze]

The whole town was covered.

Nico: You ruthless little fucking brat!

Kairi: You haven't won yet Shroud!

Shroud saw Kairi, Aqua and Sora as a Groudon, Kyogre and Rayquaza!

Shroud: Oh no!

Aqua, Kairi and Sora fired a powerful Hyper Beam Blast and it went at Shroud's pod.

Shroud: CURSE YOU TO FUCKING HELL, TEAM LOUD PHOENIX STORM! [the blast hit the pod and explodes. Destroying the pod and it crash lands on the roof of the Pasta Bowl] Ow. [Lynn Sr. laughs at Shroud's failure with joy]

Lisa: [annoyed] Well, I don't see what you're all so happy about! This is a catastrophe!

Nico: Don't worry. I got this.

Superman: Considering what we've gone up against, this shouldn't be a problem.

Nico snapped his fingers and the town was fixed and cleaned up. Everyone was clean.

Aqua, Kairi and Sora reverted back and Lori, Lynn and Maria gave them their towels.

Shroud was in the hospital wrapped in a full body cast.

---

Back at the estate later that day, I woke up in my bed.

Me: (Groans) What happened?

I had a splitting headache from a nasty hangover.

Me: (Groans) My aching head! What the hell happened to me!?

I grabbed an ice bag and put it on my head and went down to everyone.

Me: Hey guys.

Nico: Hey J.D. Feel better?

Me: Yeah but I have the worst ever headache. What happened?

Laney: Well you were drunk as a loon.

Lincoln: Yeah.

I saw the pile of cans and bottles.

Me: I drank all of that!? (Groans) I'm never touching another bottle or can again.

Barney Gumble: That's okay J.D. But you did have fun on Saint Patrick's Day. (Belch)

Me: Easy for you to say Barney.

Nico: But a lot of things happened today.

Nico told me everything.

Me: Holy shit. But I'm proud of you all.

Qin: Thanks J.D. Sorry you missed it.

Me: It's okay. But Shroud got what she deserved like when I blew up Rigel 7.

Nico: I hope that's not the alcohol talking.

Me: No it's not. But give me a breathalyzer test just in case.

Sheila handed him a Breath Tester.

Sheila Castille: Here Nico.

Nico: Thanks Sheila.

Nico had me do the test and read it.

Nico: .73 Blood Alcohol level. Really drunk. If you were driving you would be arrested for D.W.I. But thank goodness you weren't.

Me: No kidding. But I blew up Rigel 7. It's true. Bart told me all about Rigel 7 3 days ago and I fired the Superlaser and blew up the whole planet and completely destroyed it and killed them all.

Bart: It's true guys.

Laney: Good riddance.

Homer: At least we don't have to see those ugly freaks.

Nico: Good riddance. I heard a lot about the Rigellians and they were ugly and don't deserve to live.

We laughed.

Me: (To the viewers) Don't do what I did and please drink responsibly.

Nico: Good point.

We rested.

Another Fanfiction complete and Another Awesome SpongeBob episode done.

It Came From Goo Lagoon was a really funny episode that aired on February 17th, 2014 and it was really awesome! And funny. NicoChan11 gave me the ideas for this. Thanks man. Let me know what you all think. Now for the moment you've all have been waiting for! Next up is part 1 of the 9 part saga for Total Drama Galaxy! Get ready as we journey across the stars in an awesome Out Of This World adventure dealing with the evil twin brother of Chris McLean and expose his crimes. The first part is gonna take place on the planet Pandora from 2009's Avatar!

See you all tomorrow and Happy Saint Patrick's Day.

TDG 1 - Battle of Pandora

At the estate, we were getting the ship ready for the start of the last season of the greatest show in all of Canada: Total Drama. But this is no ordinary season of Total Drama. This is the first ever season done in the blackness of space. We're gonna have challenges all done on distant planets and it's gonna be an awesome and great adventure across the stars. This is also gonna be the big season where we expose all of the crimes of Billy McLean, Chris McLean's evil twin brother.

Me: This is gonna be so awesome!

Nico: You said it buddy. I can't wait to kick some butt. Especially those fucking sore losers like Heather, Jo and Max.

Harold: And I want to bring my sister back.

Me: I already have that planned out Harold.

Lincoln: This is gonna be so cool! I can't wait to see what Chris has planned for us on Total Drama Galaxy.

Me: Me too. But this is also the final season and we're going to make Billy fuck his pants.

Vince: I like it.

Nico: We're going to make him pay for his crimes.

Me: I know.

We got on board the U.S.S. Valorous Phoenix and we were ready for takeoff.

Me: We're all set. Lets let Chris do the introduction.

Laney: Okay.

Chris McLean then appeared.

Chris McLean: Yo everyone! This is Chris McLean coming to you live inside the ship of Team Loud Phoenix Storm, the U.S.S. Valorous Phoenix! This is gonna the most awesome season of Total Drama ever! Last season J.D. Knudson and everyone on Team Loud Phoenix Storm joined us in one of the most action packed World Tour seasons of all time. We travelled all over the world and faced the losers out for revenge as well as some of the most dangerous villains in history. In the end, J.D. and everyone on the team dominated the whole competition and won. Now get ready for the biggest and most awesome season ever! We're going into the depths of space as we go to distant planets across the galaxy and who knows what will happen when we see all kinds of things that live in the Great Unknown. Great ready for action and adventure because this is TOTAL… DRAMA… GALAXY!

(TOTAL DRAMA THEME SONG PLAYS)

Dear Mom and Dad I'm doin' fine,

You guys are on my mind.

You asked me what I wanted to be

And now I think the answer is plain to see,

I wanna be famous.

I wanna live close to the sun,

Go pack your bags, 'cause I've already won,

Everything to prove, nothing in my way

I'll get there one day.

Cause, I wanna be famous!

Na na na na na na na na na na na na na na na!

I wanna be, I wanna be, I wanna be famous

I wanna be, I wanna be, I wanna be famous

---

The U.S.S. Valorous Phoenix was flying through space.

Me: Captain's Log, Stardate 2797.4: It's day 1 of Total Drama Galaxy and we are heading to the 1st planet of the competition where we will have our first challenge. We don't know what's in store for us during this whole competition, but it's going to be awesome and dangerous.

Chris came to the bridge and all the contestants were with him.

Chris McLean: Welcome to Total. Drama. Galaxy!

Me: It's so awesome to be here again Chris.

Gwen (Total Drama): I'm so excited to win.

Me: Me too Gwen. I hope we get to destroy some bad guys like always.

Chris McLean: You sure will J.D. It's gonna be awesome like always.

Heather: (to us) Great! I'm finally free from that prison and I run into you losers!

Me: Oh shut your fuckhole loser Heather.

Nico: Boy that bitch just never learns.

Leshawna: No she doesn't.

Lincoln: Karma always gets her in the end.

May: It sure does.

Blackfire: So, what's our first challenge?

Chris McLean: I'll get to that in a few minutes when we get there.

Numbuh 2: Can we hang out with everyone here before the challenge starts?

Chris McLean: Sure.

Numbuh 2: Awesome!

Me: Yeah.

?: Psst.

Me: Hmm.

I turned and saw a figure at the door to the bridge and it called me over.

Me: Be right back.

I followed it to its quarters. Surprisingly it was Deep Drama.

Me: You called for me? Wait a second. Deep Drama?

Deep Drama: That's right. And I said that I would reveal myself.

She revealed herself and she was really a female version of Chris McLean. She had long black hair, blue eyes, a teal blue shirt and brown pants black shoes.

Crystal McLean: My name is Crystal McLean and Chris McLean is my uncle.

Me: So you were the one that gave me all that incriminating evidence on Billy.

Crystal McLean: That's right. Billy McLean is my father. I watched everything he did on Total Drama over the years and after seeing all the torture and abuse he caused to all those people, I came to the conclusion that he is not my father anymore, but a monster out to kill people.

Me: So you want to help us show the world the kind of monster he is.

Crystal McLean: That's right. I hate my father and want to send him to prison.

Me: You called the right people Crystal and we will gladly help you.

Crystal McLean: Thank you so much J.D. And for the record, I am not like my evil father.

Me: That's good. We appreciate you giving us that evidence.

Crystal McLean: You're welcome.

We later went back to the bridge.

Lisa: We arrived at our first destination.

Me: On screen.

We saw that we were at the planet Pandora in the Alpha Centauri System.

Me: We're at Pandora.

Nico: Wow. So that is Pandora. It's beautiful.

Laney: It sure is. But the atmosphere is poisonous to human life.

Me: But we found out that because of our powers we can breathe in worlds with inhospitable environments.

Lincoln: It's true.

Lori: Yeah.

Lily: This is gonna be awesome!

Me: And it's also home to a race of humanoids called the Na'Vi. They have a culture and style that is very similar to the Native American Indians.

Lincoln: That's right. I remember seeing that.

Laney: It's really cool.

Luna: That is so awesome dudes!

Energon Scorponok: We Cybertronians have interacted with the Na'Vi before.

Me: Wow. That is awesome.

Chris McLean: It's challenge time!

Me: Here we go!

Chris McLean: First lets go over the teams for this season. J.D. You and everyone minus the loser villains will be known as the Interstellar Retribution!

Our team logo was a purple disk with a warrior angel with a sword going through the stars and she had a look of justice on her face.

Me: I like it Chris. Good name.

Chris McLean: I know. And my niece Crystal McLean will be joining you guys.

Lori: Wow.

Crystal went up to us.

Crystal McLean: This is gonna be awesome!

Me: It sure is Crystal.

Chris McLean: And Heather and her team will be known as The Interstellar Vengeful!

Their team logo was a red disk with a demon out for vengeance as it slashes stars in half.

Heather: We will have our revenge on all of you!

Me: Not if we kill you first you bitch.

Fortress Maximus: Fortress Maximus is ready!

Chris McLean: Now for your first challenge. We're here at Pandora because we're going to help the Na'Vi take down the Mining Colony and kill Colonel Miles Quaritch.

Me: Oh boy. This is gonna be awesome!

I pulled up his history.

Colonel Miles Rick Quaritch, simply known as Miles Quaritch, is the main antagonist of the 2009 science-fiction blockbuster film Avatar, and possibly its 2021 sequel Avatar 2. He is the villainous head of the RDA (Resources Development Administration) corporation's security detail, a fierce colonel that follows almost obsessively his military code.

He was portrayed by Stephen Lang, who also played Increase Mather in the TV series Salem, Norman Nordstrom in Don't Breathe, Percy "King" Dimplewade in The Nut Job, The Party Crasher in The Hard Way, Khalar Zym in Conan the Barbarian, and Shrike in Mortal Engines.

Miles Quaritch was the headstrong leader of the RDA security force. The government has gone through even more searches of valuable resources in the year 2154. He sent Marines and soldiers to the planet Pandora. In the universe of the movie, humans have advanced technology allowing them to even travel farther into space, even outside the solar system. They find Unobtainium, a valuable resource costing $20 million per kilogram, which is found only on Pandora, the home planet of blue-skinned humanoid aliens called the Na'vi who are taller than the humans.

2 years ago, Quaritch revealed the company's actual hostility toward Na'vi by tries to wipe out Na'vi children whom responsible for setting one of their bulldozer ablaze and destroyed Grace's school for Na'vis. Though Grace managed to save most of the children, Sylwanin and few children were killed during the gunfire and thus, Quaritch had the school closed for good.

One of the marines whom coming for Pandora was Jake Sully, whose legs were paralyzed. His organization created scientific technology that allowed troops go into new bodies mixed with human DNA and Na'vi DNA called Avatars (which is what the movie is named after). He ordered Jake Sully, female scientist Grace Augustine, and xenoanthropologist Norm Spellman into the Avatar operation, where Quaritch planned the three to trick the Na'vi to move out of the area where Unobtainium is found.

However, Jake, Grace, and Norm believed that stealing the land of the Na'vi was wrong, and tried to persuade the RDA to close the operation, but RDA's president Parker Selfridge had no feelings for the Na'vi, ordering almost all of his troops using large helicopter-like vehicles to destroy the Hometree of where the Na'vi clan, the Omayatica, lived. Quaritch later imprisoned Sully, Augustine, and Spellman into a cell chamber after releasing them from the Avatar system chambers. Later, two other humans named Trudy and Dr. Max Patel also decided to help the Na'vi by releasing the three in the cell chamber and escaped in one of the flying helicopter-like vehicles. Miles Quaritch noticed this and used a gun trying to shoot them, but was only successful at shooting Grace Augustine.

Grace slowly died, which left Jake, Norm and Trudy left, while Max stayed at the home base where the humans had landed their vehicles on Pandora. Jake later formed an alliance with the other Na'vi, along with the leader's daughter, Ney'tiri. The next day, Quaritch and all the soldiers came up ready for the war.

A conflict/war started between the RDA human squad and the Na'vi clans. The RDA squad had AMP suits that soldiers control with a large gun, giant flying vehicles that shoot missiles, several soldiers were on the ground with guns, and a few giant flying battleship vehicles. The Na'vi clans rode on bird-like animals called Banshees, including a giant bird-like animal named Toruk Macto, horse-like animals named Direhorses, and were prepared with bows and arrows. While Quaritch and his soldiers manage to kill off Trudy and Tsu'Tey, one of the Na'vi, all the soldiers were killed off except for Quaritch. He was on a giant flying battleship, which Jake destroyed by destructing the ship's flying generator, despite Quaritch's best efforts to stop him. Quaritch then quickly went onto an AMP suit and jumped out of the battleship before it crashed, saving himself. Now alone, he advanced to the Tree of Souls to destroy it himself once and for all.

Neytiri attacked and fought Quaritch by dispatching a giant panther-like animal called the Thanator. Quaritch lost his missile gun, but found a knife and quickly killed the Thanator by stabbing it with the knife. Before he could do the same to Neytiri, Jake came in his avatar body, declaring it all to be over.

Quaritch did not agree with the answer ("Nothing's over while I'm breathing!"), and attacks Jake with his knife while Jake used a broken part of the missile gun to shield himself from the knife. An intense fight to the death erupts between the two, in which they appear evenly matched. Quaritch also lost the blade of the knife, the only weapon he had. He then tries to destroy the avatar body system chambers to disable Jake in his avatar body, but does not get the chance to when Jake almost stabs him with a knife at his right shoulder. Soon, Quaritch held Jake on his hair and was about to kill him in his Avatar body with the new knife.

However, Neytiri managed to aim two arrows at Quaritch, which killed him and caused his AMP suit to fall to the ground. Jake and Neytiri united, with the Na'vi winning the war after Quaritch died. The RDA surrendered and returned to Earth, while Norm and Max also stayed on Pandora with Jake Sully.

Quaritch will return in the sequel, meaning that he possibly survived his fate.

Me: Geez!

Qin: I've watched the movie Avatar and it's awful that Quaritch wants to kill the Na'Vi for his own selfishness.

Me: Yep.

Chris McLean: That's right. And it was terrible. Your challenge will be to kill Quaritch.

Me: Right. And what will happen to the loser that doesn't?

Chris McLean: They will be sent to the brig for the rest of the season.

Me: As long as it's not into the endless vacuum of space. That would be something your brother would do.

Chris McLean: Yep. Lets do it!

Me: Yeah! Lets land.

We landed on Pandora.

Me: Chris, you'll need this.

I handed him a 22nd Century Exopack.

Me: Pandora's atmosphere is poisonous. So you'll need to breathe in this.

Chris McLean: Oh thanks.

Me: You're welcome.

I went over to everyone.

Me: Guys you might need these. The atmosphere of Pandora is poisonous. We can't take any chances.

Owen: Oh thanks J.D.

Sammy: Thank you.

The Total Drama Contestants took the Exopacks and put them on.

Chris put it on and the door opened and we went outside. It was a beautiful world and loaded with incredible beauty and danger.

We breathed in the air and it was weird and different.

Me: Wow.

Lori: Literally amazing.

Nico: Wow. So this is the planet Pandora. It's amazing.

Lily: It's breathtaking.

Laney: Wow. Just as beautiful as I remember.

Lynn: It sure looks incredible.

Varie: It sure is.

Hunter: (German Accent) It sure is amazing here.

Me: Yeah. Last time we were here we saw a massive mining operation.

Lana: Hey what's that over there!?

We saw smoke and it looked like something was there before.

Nico: Looks like the mining colony destroyed whatever was there.

Me: No kidding.

We heard helicopter rotors and we saw an Aerospatiale SA-2 Samson helicopter and it had a mobile home unit of some sort.

Me: Wow. That's an Aerospatiale SA-2 Samson helicopter.

Vince: Amazing.

Lola: Where is it going?

Me: It's heading (Points to the North) that way. But there's also a huge energy signal cluster 50 klicks northwest. Lets head to the Mobile unit first.

Nico: Okay.

We trekked into the jungle and it was immensely think and full of vegetation. It was beautiful and amazing. It was full of life and more.

Me: Wow. The jungles on Pandora are more amazing than what we first thought.

Laney: It's amazing.

Sam Manson: It's much more lush and denser than Earth's jungles.

Carol: Wow. This is all incredible. It's like home but more amazing.

Vince: It sure is breathtaking.

Aylene C.: I know.

Jasmine (Total Drama): (Australian Accent) It sure is amazing mates.

Lynn: The rock formations are amazing.

Luan: Wow. It sure is. How big is Pandora compared to Earth?

Me: It's about the same size as the planet Venus.

I went over everything about Pandora.

---

Pandora is the fifth moon of the gas giant Polyphemus (both names reference figures in Greek mythology), which orbits Alpha Centauri A in the Alpha Centauri System, the closest star system to our own sun.

Discovered by space telescopes at some point between 2050 and 2077, Pandora has been the single most interesting thing to happen to the human race in hundreds of years. The news services love to run clips of the wild scenery on Pandora and its bizarre flora and fauna.

To the cultures of Earth, Pandora is mysterious, primal and terrifying. Even from orbit, the scope of florae present on the surface indicates a moon brimming with life. One of the creatures on Pandora is the direhorse, a gray-skinned, hexapodal horse-like animal with bioluminescent qualities that the Na'vi ride when hunting. The Na'vi also ride the mountain banshee to hunt from the air, but the hunter can become prey in the presence of the great leonopteryx. In the canopy below, other deadly yet exotic animals roam: vicious packs of viperwolves, thick skinned hammerhead titanotheres and the most fearsome creature of all, the thanator. Other than the richness of varying colors, the trees resemble those of Earth. They have the familiar trunks, branches and leaves, though due to the difference in gravity, many of the shapes appear strange to humans and the proportions are greater because of the lower gravity. The trees and plant life of Pandora have formed electrochemical connections between their roots and effectively act as neurons, creating a moon-wide "brain" that has achieved sentience, which is known to the Na'vi as Eywa.

Pandora, despite being almost as large as Earth, is only a moon of the gas giant Polyphemus, which has thirteen other moons. However, due to the smaller size, its gravity is 20% less than Earth's. Due to Pandora's lower gravity, most creatures on Pandora are hexapods (six-legged), although the Na'vi resemble humans and have only two legs. Creatures roam the air and forest canopy below, similar to Earth's animals, but on a scale several times larger. Pandora's wildlife also have bioluminescent qualities. Depending on the position of the various moons, Pandora can have two or even three moons in its sky at once. Pandora and the other moons cast large black shadows on Polyphemus.

Pandora looks like a lush paradise by Earth standards during the day, but at night, virtually all life on the moon exhibits bioluminescent qualities in various shades of blue, purple and green. This possibly explains the Na'vi's blue skin color, which most likely provides them better camouflage at night on Pandora.

Pandora's atmosphere is a mixture of nitrogen, oxygen, carbon dioxide (18%), xenon (5.5%), methane, and hydrogen sulfide (1%) and is about 20% denser than the atmosphere on Earth primarily due to the high percentage of Xenon; a heavy, colourless, odourless, and generally unreactive noble gas. The high concentration of carbon dioxide in the Pandoran atmosphere makes it extremely poisonous to humans, rendering them unconscious in about 20 seconds and causing death in about 4 minutes when they venture out unprotected by specialized breathing masks. The hydrogen sulfide present is also quite poisonous; concentrations over 1000 ppm (0.1 %) can cause immediate collapse with subsequent loss of breathing, even after inhalation of a single breath.

The increased air resistance within this denser atmosphere has a number of effects:

Lower terminal velocity. Combined with Pandora's twenty-percent lower gravity, a freely falling object's maximum speed is significantly less than on earth. A Na'vi who happens to fall from a flying mountain banshee has a good chance of surviving uninjured if they are over a forested area. Even over water, falling spread-eagled can reduce their speed sufficiently to allow an impact with the surface that will not knock them unconscious.

The increased mass of the denser air means that more force is required to accelerate it as it is moved out of the path of a moving object. Humans on Pandora experience this when they try to run - it feels like there is a wind blowing against them, even though the air is still. They are further hampered by the fact that the reduced gravity causes their boots to slip more readily on paved or smooth surfaces, giving them less traction to force their bodies forward. The Na'vi compensate for this loss of frictional force by curling their large toes into the soft ground, and Pandoran six-legged animals use their many feet to gain a purchase on protruding rocks or small crevices.

Flying animals can take advantage of both the lower gravity, which reduces the weight of their body, and the increased air density, which requires more force to displace with the downward/rearward stroke of their wings, and thus gives the animals body more impetus with each flap. The downside is that the denser air is harder to move through, and requires highly-efficient streamlining to achieve high flight speeds.

Plants are subject to greater wind force, as the greater air density means that the moving air carries more kinetic energy and more momentum, and the plants, leaves, stems, branches, and trunks must all have a greater strength and/or flexibility to resist it.

Day-Night Cycle

Pandora receives significant light from Alpha Centauri B (ACB). As a result, Pandoran nights are never dark during half of the Polyphemian year, but instead are more like Earthly dusk. At the closest point in its orbit, ACB is about 2,300 times as bright as Earth's full moon; at its furthest point, it is still one hundred and seventy times as bright. During the other half of the year when ACB is in the daytime sky, many Pandoran nights are illuminated by both Polyphemus's huge disk and the reflected light from other nearby moons. Truly dark nights are uncommon. Polyphemus occasionally eclipses ACB at night for about one hundred minutes, but the light reflected by the planet still keeps the night from being dark.

When ACB shares the daytime sky with ACA, at its closest it adds about half a percent to the total illumination. When the 2 stars are close together in the sky, the effect of ACB's more orange light is unnoticeable. But, as they separate over the years, an orange tint may be seen in areas shadowed from ACA's direct illumination. At its most distant, ACB is about 2,700 times dimmer than ACA and does not produce noticeable lighting effects. However, it still appears as a blindingly-bright tiny orange disk in the sky.

Because of its high axial tilt (29°), Pandora exhibits considerable annual variation in the day-to-night ratio. In addition, its elliptical orbit produces seasonal temperature variations and a range in daytime illumination of about ten percent.

Geography

The terrain on Pandora differs somewhat from place to place, as do the Na'vi clans that inhabit them. The humans have settled in the jungle region which is home to the Omaticaya clan. There are different ecosystems within each region, and many species such as the mountain banshee are present over a much wider range of biomes than their name would suggest. It also appears that floating land masses are not only isolated to the jungle region, but are widespread as suggested in Avatar: The Game. The Pandoran surface features jungles, mountains, volcanoes, plains (savanna), and oceans. A desert also exists in Anurai mythology.

Like on Earth, the forests of Pandora contain a wide diversity of flora and fauna. These are all part of the giant neural network that covers Pandora. The forests are full of bioluminescent life that glows in shades of blue, green, indigo and violet during the night.

Natural Resources

Pandora is a treasure trove of both living and nonliving natural resources. It is the first celestial body to host intelligent sentient lifeforms away from Earth and is also home to a plethora of diverse and spectacular species unlike anything ever speculated by humanity. In terms of nonliving resources, several large areas of the moon's surface contain the extremely rare superconducting mineral unobtanium. This mineral is worth twenty million standard dollars per unrefined kilogram and twice that in its refined state. The mineral's superconductivity makes it a baffling scientific discovery.

---

Qin: Whoa.

Carol: That is amazing.

Nico: And those miners came here for Unobtanium. Hard to imagine that they let their greed go that far to destroy them.

Naruto: No kidding.

Naruto: How much is Unobtanium worth?

Me: Worth more than its weight in gold and diamonds bro. It's worth over $20,000,000.00 per kilo.

Lola: Whoa!

Sakura Haruno: $20,000,000.00 per kilo!? That's amazing!

Nico: No kidding.

Me: I know.

Qin: Wow. What year did the movie Avatar take place in?

Me: It takes place in the year 2154. 134 years into the future.

Liberty: That's a long time from now.

Me: I know. But not nearly as long as all the other times we went into.

Lily: I think we're here.

We saw the Mobile unit and the Samson helicopter.

Me: Lets go.

We went up to it and I knocked on the window.

Jake Sully answered it.

Me: Whoa. Are you Jake Sully?

Jake Sully: That's right. Team Loud Phoenix Storm. It's such an honor to meet you.

Me: Same to you.

Norm Spellman: J.D. it's good to see you. You have to take a look at Grace. She was shot by Quaritch.

Me: Oh man! Sakura, better help her.

Sakura Haruno: Right.

Sakura went into the mobile unit and found Grace. She was shot in the liver. Sakura got to healing her with her medical jutsu.

Sakura Haruno: You're gonna be okay Grace. I'm a doctor and healer.

Grace: Thank you.

Me: You're welcome Grace. You'll be fine. Jake, what has been happening since the last time we were here?

Jake Sully: I'm afraid it's not good.

Jake Sully told us that the situation with the humans and the Na'Vi has escalated from bad to worse.

Jake Sully was born in August 24, 2126 and raised on Earth and grew up hearing about Pandora, a small moon orbiting the gas giant Polyphemus in the Alpha Centauri System. Though nothing is known of his childhood, he joined the Marines as an adult for the hardship involved and a cause to fight for. He suffered a spinal injury in an unnamed war while fighting in Venezuela. The injury was severe, leaving him paralyzed from the waist down.

Since his veteran benefits are not enough to pay for the surgery to repair his spine, he has no choice but to live out his life in a wheelchair. After a night of drinking, Jake starts a bar fight with a man who strikes a woman. After breaking up the fight, the bouncers throw him out into the street where he is approached by two RDA agents. They confirm his identity and inform him that his identical twin brother, Tom, had been killed in a mugging. His brother was one of the selected few scientists chosen to participate in the Avatar Program and one of even fewer avatar "drivers." Tom had trained on Earth for three years in preparation for a tour on Pandora. He represented a significant investment on the part of the Resources Development Administration due to the inherent link between the pilot and the avatar he controls, as well as the enormous cost of creating an avatar. Since Jake is genetically identical to his brother, he can link with the avatar, saving the company the cost of creating a new one. After being offered significant compensation, he apprehensively agrees to take over his brother's contract and is put in cryosleep for the trip to Pandora.

Arrival on Pandora

After five years, nine months and 22 days of travel, Jake awakens from cryosleep aboard the ISV Venture Star as it orbits above Pandora. Jake, along with the other new arrivals, disembarks from a Valkyrie shuttle at Hell's Gate, where he has his first contact with Pandora's hostile climate. Upon landing, Jake and the other passengers are briefed on the use of exopacks: personal rebreather units that filter the toxic Pandoran atmosphere. Exopacks are required for survival outside of internally pressurized RDA facilities.

When he enters the RDA facility, Jake meets Colonel Miles Quaritch, a seasoned ex-military officer who is in charge of Pandora's entire paramilitary defense force. In a security briefing for the new comers, he explains to them all the dangers of Pandora, stressing that the biggest threat is an indigenous population of humanoids called the Na'vi. He makes it clear that he is not willing to tolerate any resistance from the Na'vi and has very little patience for the scientists working on the avatar project.

The Avatar Program

Jake meets Norm Spellman, a biologist who arrived on the same rotation as he did and was also a friend of his brother. Jake is later introduced to Dr. Grace Augustine, a botanist as well as the leader of the Avatar Program. The avatars are genetically engineered human/Na'vi hybrids which are controlled remotely by avatar "drivers". Using the avatars, Grace and her team have made considerable progress in teaching some Na'vi the English language as well as learning the Na'vi language and culture. However, Grace is not pleased with RDA administrator Parker Selfridge's decision to use Jake to replace his brother's avatar position, as she will have to spend time training him in Na'vi culture and language as well as teaching him how to control his avatar. Quaritch, however, sees this as a valuable opportunity and decides to take advantage of Jake's military training, giving him the task of finding out all he can about the Na'vi, pretending to be in league with the avatar team, and reporting his findings to the RDA. In return, Quaritch tells Jake that if he succeeds, he will see to it that Jake gets the surgery needed to regain the use of his legs.

Returning to the link room with Norm, Jake is prepped by Grace to link with his avatar for the first time. When Jake first enters his avatar, he begins to move about, trying to get a feel for his avatar. Realizing that he finally has the use of his legs for the first time in years, he immediately gets up and starts trying to walk, much to the dismay and annoyance of the lab team. He is told to sit back down or he will be sedated, but he refuses and heads for the exit. He runs from the lab, enjoying his first chance to do so since being paralyzed. He ends up at the Avatar Compound, where he meets Dr. Grace Augustine's avatar. Grace is impressed by his motor reflexes, which were far above the standards expected of a first time avatar driver.

First Contact With Pandora

Grace brings Norm and Jake (as security) on an expedition to retrieve samples of Pandoran flora. Trudy Chacon is their assigned pilot for the expedition along with Lyle Wainfleet serving as additional non-avatar security. Jake, Grace and Norm visit Grace's closed school. Upon seeing bullet holes in a wall, Jake asks Grace what happened, but she changes the subject and the three continue on with the expedition. While Grace and Norm study the wildlife, Jake wanders away and, while playing around with the nearby flora, stumbles across a group of hammerhead titanotheres, a rhinoceros-like animal species. However, the titanotheres flee from a thanator, a terrifying land predator. Jake runs for his life from the thanator, losing his equipment and weapon in the process. He narrowly escapes death from the predator by leaping from the top of a cliff into a river below. After failing to locate Jake, the avatar team is forced to abandon the search for him as night operations were deemed too dangerous by Quaritch.

As Jake travels through the forest of Pandora alone, Neytiri, the princess of the Omaticaya clan, discovers his presence and prepares to kill him with her bow. However, just before she releases her arrow, a woodsprite, a pure spirit from the Tree of Souls, lands on the tip of her arrow. Taking this as a sign from Eywa, the godlike spirit of the forest and deity of the Na'vi, she eases her bow back and lets Jake live. She continues to follow him until darkness falls. Jake creates a torch using a makeshift spear, his coat, and sap from the trees. When he lights his torch, he discovers he is surrounded by a pack of viperwolves. Jake fights until he is pinned by a viperwolf, at which point Neytiri saves him, having to kill several viperwolves in Jake's defense. Jake tries to communicate with Neytiri as she speaks over the dead viperwolf, but she seems to ignore him and walks away. Jake pursues Neytiri and tries to thank her for killing the viperwolves, which angers Neytiri. She tells him that the unnecessary killing of the creatures is not something to be grateful for. Jake asks Neytiri why she saved him. Her response is that Jake has a strong heart and no fear. Jake follows Neytiri, but she rejects him, as he is one of the Sky People (the Na'vi term for humans) and cannot go with her. Suddenly, dozens of woodsprites appear and land on Jake's body. Neytiri, amazed, recognizes the woodsprites' actions as a sign and decides to take Jake to her village to allow Mo'at, the Omaticaya clan's Tsahìk (spiritual leader), to interpret the will of Eywa and decide what should be done with Jake.

Becoming one of "The People"

When Jake and Neytiri arrive at Hometree, the massive tree that the Omaticaya clan lives in, Jake meets with Eytukan and Mo'at, the leaders of the clan and parents of Neytiri. Jake also meets with the finest warrior and leader of the Omaticaya clan's hunters, Tsu'tey, who is betrothed to Neytiri and chosen to one day become the future clan leader. Jake presents himself as a warrior with the intention to learn from them. Tsu'tey insists on killing Jake but Eytukan wishes to find out more about the warriors of the Sky People. Mo'at, as the spiritual leader, orders Neytiri to teach Jake how to be one of The People. Reluctantly, Neytiri submits to her mother's command and teaches Jake about the Na'vi culture and language.

Back at Hell's Gate, Jake reports to Selfridge and Quaritch on information about the natives. Quaritch seems impressed and claims that he wished that he "had ten more like you (Jake)". Grace becomes aware of their interest in Jake's information and arranges for the avatar team to be transferred to a remote camp in the floating Hallelujah Mountains in order to continue their program without military involvement. Jake knows that Grace disapproves of Quaritch and Selfridge's interference and that is why she moved the team. Jake continues to check in remotely with Quaritch over the next three months, though check in become less and less frequent. It is during this time that Jake receives instruction. He is taught the Na'vi language. While learning how to ride Pale, a direhorse, he fails tremendously with Tsu'tey and another hunter watching. He is taught how to walk and hunt silently. During this time, Jake's relationship with Grace also improves. Grace and Jake become friends, and Grace comes to the point of even putting Jake into his bunk after a late night video-log contribution and forces Jake to eat, even if he does not want to. Grace tells Jake about the slaughter at her school where many young Na'vi were killed by RDA soldiers, including Neytiri's sister, Sylwanin, and the pain that it brought her. Norm also tutors Jake in the Na'vi language. Jake and Neytiri's relationship grows and an attraction between the two develops.

Following a successful hunt in which Jake makes his first clean kill after stalking a hexapede and performing a ritual, Neytiri, greatly impressed, tells Jake that he is ready to choose his own banshee (Ikran ). Led by Tsu'tey, he and two other Na'vi hunters undertake the ritual of Iknimaya and climb the path to the banshee's nest. There, Jake learns how to bond with (tsaheylu) and control his banshee, much to the annoyance of Tsu'tey. Once Jake masters his banshee, he joins Tsu'tey and the other young hunters, along with Neytiri, on several flights. He participates in a hunt for sturmbeest and elegantly kills one of them with his bow, proving himself as a "stone cold aerial hunter". Later, he and Neytiri fly together and, on a hunt, are attacked by a great leonopteryx, known to the Na'vi as toruk ("last shadow"), and narrowly escape. That evening, Neytiri explains the significance of the toruk and tells him of her great-great-grandfather, the mighty Toruk Makto (Rider of Last Shadow). She talks about how he was the last of only five Toruk Makto in the history of their tribe, how he delivered The People from the time of Great Sorrow, and how much she admired him.

At the end of the three months, Jake reports back to Quaritch as ordered. The Colonel informs Jake that his assignment is over and he is to be transferred immediately back to Earth to receive his promised surgery to restore the use of his legs. However, Jake is now more concerned with the welfare of the Omaticaya and especially the welfare of Neytiri, whom he has fallen in love with, than his desire to walk again. He is now reluctant and wary of his fellow humans trying to exploit the moon's resources. He convinces Quaritch to give him more time in order to convince the tribe to relocate peacefully. He tells the Colonel that once he completes that night's ceremony, he will be made part of The People (an honor never granted to an avatar before) and that they will trust him. That night, Jake undergoes the ceremony where Eytukan makes him one of their own and forever a part of The People, with Grace and Neytiri looking on. Neytiri takes Jake to one of the clan's most sacred places, the Tree of Voices, a holy place where he can connect to the trees and hear the voices of all the spirits of deceased Na'vi. Neytiri tells Jake that now that he is one of the Omaticaya people, he can carve his bow from the wood of Hometree and he can choose a mate, and suggests a few different Na'vi women. Jake tells her that he has chosen her but Neytiri must also choose him. She informs him that she already has and becomes his mate. Once they are mated to each other, they are mated for life. After Jake returns to his human body, he realizes the predicament he put himself in.

The Destruction of The Hometree

After spending the night with Jake, Neytiri is awakened by a huge bulldozer. She watches it destroy the Trees of Voices. Neytiri tries to wake Jake, but he is in his human body preparing to enter his avatar. Neytiri drags Jake's avatar body slowly while pleading with him to wake up. When Jake finally awakens, he tries to stop the bulldozer by standing in front of it. It stops momentarily but starts up again when Parker Selfridge orders the driver to keep going. When it starts again, Jake grabs a rock, climbs to the top of the bulldozer and smashes the array of cameras, disabling the vehicle and narrowly avoiding the gunfire from the patrols. Jake and Neytiri return to Hometree, where Eytukan and Tsu'tey are preparing a war party to avenge the loss of the sacred trees. Jake is confronted by Tsu'tey when he realizes that Jake and Neytiri have mated. Tsu'tey attacks Jake in a fit of rage, attempting to kill him. Jake is able to subdue him and is about to explain his original mission to the Omaticaya, but before he can, Jake and Grace's avatars collapse when they are suddenly sent back to their human bodies by Quaritch, who learned from the Hell Truck's video log that it was Jake who destroyed the cameras. Tsu'tey angrily reminds the clan that Jake is one of the Sky People, but Neytiri stops him from killing Jake's avatar.

When they are brought back to Hell's Gate, Grace tells an unbelieving Parker that the trees and plant life make up a huge network like the synapses of a human brain, and that the Na'vi can access all the information within this network, and so the trees must not be destroyed. After some extensive persuasion, Jake and Grace are allowed by Parker to return to their avatars for one hour to try and get the Na'vi to evacuate. Jake and Grace beg the clan to leave because the Sky People are coming to destroy Hometree, but when Jake reveals his mission, and that he knew that the RDA would attack, the clan is outraged. Neytiri, heartbroken at Jake's revelation, furiously rejects him. Eytukan orders them to be bound and prepares the Omaticaya warriors for the defense of the Hometree. A large strike force led by Quaritch drives the Na'vi from their home with gas and incendiary rounds, consuming Hometree in flames. A desperate Mo'at releases Jake and Grace from their bindings and pleads with them to save her tribe. As the Na'vi begin to flee, Quaritch orders his strike team to switch to high-explosive missiles and to open fire on the roots of Hometree, causing it to collapse onto many of the fleeing Na'vi. Eytukan, who was evacuating the Na'vi that were still inside the burning Hometree, is impaled by a piece of wood sent flying by the rocket explosions. Neytiri finds him, and Eytukan gives her his bow, telling her to defend the clan before succumbing to his wound. Jake finds them and tries to comfort Neytiri, but she rejects him again and leaves with the surviving Omaticaya.

While leaving the ruins of Hometree, Jake and Grace are forcefully returned to their real bodies and placed under arrest for treason along with Norm, who assaulted one of the marines who was trying to disable the link units. Trudy and Dr. Max Patel rescue the avatar team from prison. Before they get outside, Jake asks Dr. Patel to stay behind and be his man on the inside. Trudy hijacks her Samson and flies them to safety, but not before being fired upon by Quaritch. He fails in stopping the avatar team from escaping, but shoots Grace in the stomach. The team flies the camp container holding the avatar link units from Site 26 into hiding near the Tree of Souls, where the remaining Omaticaya have fled to safety.

Jake returns to his avatar form at the ruins of Hometree. His banshee finds him amidst the ashes and Jake decides that the only way to regain the trust of the Na'vi and save Grace is to "take it to a whole new level". They fly at high altitude until they find the great leonopteryx, at which point Jake leaps from his ikran onto the back of the leonopteryx and bonds with it, becoming the sixth Toruk Makto. After bonding with the creature, he persuades it to form a temporary partnership with him to save Pandora. They confront an RDA soldier in a Scorpion Gunship before heading out to find the Omaticaya clan. To the initial panic and astonishment of the Na'vi, he lands at the Tree of Souls, where the amazed Omaticaya people, including Tsu'tey, recognize him as Toruk Makto. When Neytiri sees him, she knows who Jake has sided with, and is grateful to see him return. Jake reaffirms his love for her and says "I See you", a Na'vi greeting. After earning the respect of Tsu'tey, now the clan leader, who agrees to help him stop the Sky People, Jake then makes a plea to Mo'at to save Grace from dying.

We gasped in shock and horror.

Me: The Omaticaya Clan hometree was destroyed!?

Lana: That explains the smoke we saw earlier.

Nico: Quaritch. He will pay for this.

Kira Ford: He sure will.

Linka: He won't get away with this.

Me: We should've come earlier. But time was not on our side.

Vince: It's not your fault J.D.

Me: Feels like it. But I will not let myself get down. We were supposed to also kill the ghost of Heather.

Norm Spellman: That was actually a Na'Vi from a rival clan of the Omaticaya. She was using an illusion to make herself look like Heather. I took care of her for you J.D.

Me: Oh. Thanks Norm. We owe you one. Okay Jake, here's what we do. We're gonna need you to go into your Avatar Body.

Jake Sully: Okay.

Jake got into the Subconscious transfer machine.

Me: Also we're gonna need all the help we can get from every clan of the Na'Vi. I'll meet you over to where your avatar body is.

Jake Sully: Okay.

Norm closed it.

Norm: Launching.

I flew over to where Jake's Avatar body was and it was located in the burned remains of the Omaticaya Clan hometree. I landed and it was all charred and burned.

Me: Whoa! Looks like this whole tree was bombed with Napalm.

I saw Jake as a Na'Vi-Human hybrid.

Me: Wow. Jake you look awesome as a Na'Vi.

Jake Sully: Thanks J.D. But how are you able to breathe in a poisonous atmosphere like this?

Me: Our powers enable us to live in any kind of atmosphere no matter how inhospitable the environment. I found that out when we were here almost a year ago.

Jake Sully: Wow. That's amazing.

I looked at what was left of the hometree of the Omaticaya Clan. It was all torched and burned.

Me: My god. I can't believe that Quaritch did this. He ruined the Omaticaya Clan's home.

Jake Sully: Yeah he did and we won't let him get away with it.

Me: And we'll gladly help you Jake. Team Loud Phoenix Storm never abandons anybody in need.

Jake Sully: I'm glad. Lets do it.

Jake's Banshee came and it recognized him and I was flying with him. We found a famous creature called the Great Leonopteryx. It was a famous creature that the Na'Vi called Toruk - the Last Shadow. It was a breathtaking creature.

Me: Whoa!

Jake Sully: And here I go.

He jumped onto the creature and bonded with it and got the title of Toruk Makto - The Rider of Last Shadow, which is said to be a mythical hero in Na'Vi lore who will lead the Na'Vi to victory in a time of great sorrow.

Me: He did it!

I flew by Jake.

Me: Wow! That was awesome Jake!

Jake Sully: Thanks J.D. We have to help the clan.

Me: Right.

I contacted everyone else and made Trudy Chacon an Avatar Body and she was part of it now. Grace and Norm got into their bodies and they went with us.

At the Tree of Souls, the Omaticaya Clan was in sorrow over the loss of their home and then suddenly they saw the Great Leonopteryx and it landed by them and they saw Jake and us with them!

We landed.

Me: I see you.

That was the greeting of the Na'Vi.

Jake and Neyteri were reunited.

Jake Sully: I see you.

Neytiri: I see you.

Me: Neytiri, I'm sorry about what happened. We should've come sooner but time wasn't on our side.

Neytiri: I know. But you've come back just like you promised.

We talked to the Omaticaya Clan and rallied them together.

Jake Sully: The sky people have sent us a message, and they can take whatever they want and no one can stop them. Well we will send them a message. You ride out as fast as the wind can carry you, you tell the other clans to come. You tell them Toruk Makto calls to them! And you fly now with me!

Me: And us!

Jake Sully: My brothers, sisters! And we will show the sky people that they cannot take whatever they want! And that this, THIS IS OUR LAND!

Me: AND THEY ARE NOT WELCOME HERE!

Tsu'Tey was translating for us.

The clan people cheered in having hope.

We then set out to gather as many of the clans as we can. We were gonna need all the help we can get. Throughout the night into the morning we gathered all the clans and more and we had a massive number.

---

Back at Hell's Gate, Colonel Quaritch was gathering his forces. But what he didn't know was that we were on Pandora helping Jake.

Colonel Quaritch: Everyone on this base, every one of you, is fighting for survival. That's a fact! There's an aboriginal horde out there massing for an attack.

An infrared map screen came on and it showed how many of the Na'Vi there are at the Tree of Souls.

Colonel Quaritch: Now, these orbital images tell me that the hostiles' numbers have gone from a few hundred to well over 4,000 in one day. And more are pouring in.

The numbers of us and the Na'Vi have have grown exponentially.

Colonel Quaritch: In a week's time, there could be 20,000 of them. At that point they will overrun our perimeter. Well, that's not gonna happen! Our only security lies in pre-emptive attack. We will fight terror with terror.

The next image showed the arch rock formation of the Tree of Souls.

Colonel Quaritch: Now the hostiles believe that this mountain stronghold of theirs is protected by their… (Scornfully) Their deity.

The soldiers snickered.

Colonel Quaritch: And when we destroy it, we will blast a crater in their racial memory so deep, that they won't come within 1,000 klicks of this place ever again. And that, too, is a fact.

The soldiers cheered.

The soldiers loaded over 1,000 tons of napalm and C4.

Max Patel was talking to us.

Max Patel: Jake, guys, it's crazy here. It's full mobilization. They're rigging the shuttle as a bomber. They've got these huge pallets of mine explosives. It's for some kind of shock-and-awe campaign.

Trudy Chacon: Fricking daisy cutters!

Me: These guys are really fucking around with us.

Lincoln: No kidding.

Max Patel: Quaritch has taken over. He's rolling, and there's no stopping him.

Jake Sully: When?

Max Patel: 0600 tomorrow. I got to go.

Me: Oh shit.

Norm: We're screwed!

Me: No shit.

Trudy laughs.

Trudy Chacon: And I was hoping for some sort of tactical plan that didn't involve martyrdom. We're going up against gunships with bows and arrows.

Jake Sully: I have 15 clans out there. That's over 2,000 warriors. Now, we know these mountains. We fly them. You all fly them. They don't. Their instruments won't work up here. Missile tracking won't work. They'll have to fire line of sight. If they bring the fight to us, then we have the home-field advantage.

Me: We can use energy blasts and elemental blasts to bring them down. It's gonna be one fiery battle.

Trudy Chacon: Good thinking. You know he's gonna commit that bomber straight to the Tree of Souls.

Jake Sully: Yeah, I know.

Norm: They get to the Tree of Souls, it's over. That's their direct line to Eywa, their ancestors. It'll destroy them.

Me: Not if we destroy them first. Team Loud Phoenix Storm has a tendency to rush in recklessly. But in these circumstances, because we have a massive army, we're gonna be ready for them.

Nico: Yep.

Me: We'll have to attack from the Ground and the Air. We can take them both on. Nico, you will handle the ground units. Lincoln, you and me will handle the air.

Lincoln: Okay.

Me: Okay.

We got ready and we had a powerful force field generator ready for protecting the Tree of Souls mountain. The Force Field will be completely invisible and when something hits it, it will glow blue. We were ready for battle.

At the crack of dawn, we were flying to the fleet that was coming. The Force Field was ready.

Me: This is it guys. No turning back.

Lincoln: Here we go.

Lily: This is gonna be good.

Laney: Yep.

Qin: Quaritch picked the wrong people to fuck around with.

Lana: He sure has.

We were flying and we found the fleet moving towards the Tree of Souls Mountain.

Me: Targets sighted. ATTACK!

I fired a blast of fire and lightning and blew many helicopters apart into fiery explosions.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!

I set my sights on the bomber.

Me: Lets see how you like this one Quaritch! SPECIAL BEAM CANNON!

I fired a Special Beam Cannon blast at the bomber and blew it completely apart in a massive fiery explosion!

KRABBBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Me: Bullseye!

Quaritch saw this and he was enraged.

Lana fired blasts of ice lightning and froze some of the soldiers on the ground in blocks of ice and Lola and Liberty blasted them with fire and magic and blew them apart in fiery explosions!

Luan and Eddy fired blasts of light and blinded the soldiers piloting the suits and they shot the other soldiers and Leni and Lucy blasted them with Gravity and Black Lightning and blew them all apart and Maggie incinerated them all with blasts of black fire.

Lori: Try this one on! WIND STYLE NINJA ART: SCREAMING EAGLES!

Lori floated into the clouds and a powerful storm of tornadoes formed behind her as the song Screaming Eagles by Sabaton played.

Crack of the lightning splitting the ground

Thunder is sounding, artillery pounding

Wrath of the Nazi's cast on Bastogne

Facing their forces alone

Alone, alone

Sent from the skies jumped into the unknown

The march to Berlin has begun

Spearhead the charge surrounded by foes

Eagles are leading the way

France is still under enemy rule

Push, axis retreat

Thrown towards Arnhem a bitter defeat

They're stretched out just one bridge too far
Turn of the tide, it's breaking away
Losing momentum, retreat
Go to Bastogne, the crossroads must hold
Stand, alone in the cold
Crack of the lightning splitting the ground
Thunder is sounding, artillery pounding
Wrath of the Nazi's cast on Bastogne
Facing their forces alone
Alone, alone
Dig your own foxholes or dig your own grave
The storm is about to begin
The siege has begun, there's nowhere to run
Panzerkampfwagen emerge
Tanks and mortars are shaking the ground
Prey of man and machine
Crack of the lightning splitting the ground
Thunder is sounding, artillery pounding
Wrath of the Nazi's cast on Bastogne
Facing their forces alone
Chill of the winter bite to the bone and Christmas is drawing near Soldiers are freezing, the death toll increasing

They're dying in their holes

There's no surrender, there's no retreat, the Wehrmacht is drawing near

There's no reinforcements, they're fighting all alone

Sent from the skies ended up in Bastogne

As easy, as hard as they get

Nazi command request and demand

Offer surrender, declined

Nuts! The generals word echo clear

Nuts! The Nazi's shall hear

Crack of the lightning splitting the ground

Thunder is sounding, artillery pounding

Wrath of the Nazi's cast on Bastogne

Facing their forces alone

Crack of the lightning splitting the ground

Thunder is sounding, artillery pounding

Wrath of the Nazi's cast on Bastogne

Facing their forces alone

The tornadoes formed into a massive armada of planes that were of the 101st Air Division in the Battle of Bastogne in 1944 and they blasted and blew many choppers away.

Jessie K.: Whoa! That was the 101st Air Division from the Battle of Bastogne in 1944 during World War II!

Hunter: (German Accent) Ja, I know that battle all too well. Really amazing.

I then set my sights on Quaritch's ship.

Me: You're history Quaritch! Cyber Key time guys!

Energon Scorponok: Right boss! CYBER KEY POWER!

The Animatron Cyber Planet Key went into his back and enhanced his laser firepower 100-fold. And in his space fighter form it enabled him to get more laser blasters and napalm blasters.

Blackfire: Time for some Tamaranean power! TAMARAN CYBER KEY POWER!

The Tamaran Cyber Planet Key went into Blackfire's right arm device and enhanced her powers 100-fold.

Scorponok and Blackfire: SCORPION STING BARRAGE!

Scorponok and Blackfire fired laser and energy blasts at Quaritch's ship and blew the engines apart.

Fortress Maximus: Time for this! CYBER KEY POWER!

The Autobot Cyber Planet Key went into his back and enhanced his gun turrets and laser blasters and he got more guns and lasers.

Numbuh 2: Time for me to kick some 22nd Century Butt! KIDS NEXT DOOR CYBER KEY POWER!

The Kids Next Door Cyber Planet Key went into his right arm device and enhanced his weapons 100-fold.

Fortress Maximus and Numbuh 2: SUPER LASER FIRESTORM STRIKE!

They both fired massive laser blasts and blew a massive hole into Quaritch's ship in a fiery explosion.

KRABBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

The explosion caused Pandora's poisonous atmosphere to pour in.

Quaritch grabbed an exopack and went into the jungle.

Me: He's mine.

I flew down and faced him.

Colonel Quaritch: J.D. Knudson!?

Me: That's right. Didn't expect me to show up, did you?

Colonel Quaritch: You have a lot of nerve helping Sully and everyone here.

Me: Because what you're doing is wrong on so many levels. All for your own greed and self-gratification.

Colonel Quaritch: I'm doing what I can to save our home!

Me: By ruining a population of people that is as peaceful as the Native American Indians!? I think not!

I went at Quaritch and punched him in the stomach with devastating force and kicked him in the face and knocked his exopack off!

Me: Hope you can hold your breath for a long time.

I punched him in the face and kicked him in the neck and broke his Adam's Apple!

Lola: Time for you to burn!

Zhalia: I agree! PUT THEM IN THEIR PLACE! KING BASILISK!

Zhalia summoned King Basilisk!

---

King Basilisk inspired myths of the basilisks throughout Greece, Rome, Europe, Africa, and South America. According to the ancient Romans, it was a lizard-like creature that could kill at a distance.

King Basilisk's Amulet came to rest at Basilisk House, within a network of ancient catacombs in present-day Vienna, Austria, hidden behind a basilisk statue which was protected by a petrification trap. After being awoken by the new age of Seekers, his Amulet was acquired by Zhalia Moon once the trap was deactivated by Lok Lambert and Sophie Casterwill during a confrontation between the Huntik Foundation and the Organization, though bonding proved difficult. Afterwards, the Titan was used to help defeat DeFoe and his men, though the attack took longer than usual to charge.

While on a mission on Sutos Island, King Basilisk was used in the recovery of Jason's logbook and Hoplite Titans. Later upon entering Austria, King Basilisk was used to take out an Organization helicopter. As Zhalia's loyalties to the team and to Dante Vale were put to the test, King Basilisk was invoked to use his Stonegaze to turn Klaus to stone.

After Zhalia returned to the Huntik team after a leave of absence, King Basilisk was used to petrify several of Rassimov's Suits in Atlantis to deal a major blow to his forces within the Organization. While in the Central Desert of Ethiopia after the Ring of Tao, King Basilisk was used to defend against the Colossi guarding King Solomon's mines.

While under attack from Shauna and Wind following a confrontation with the Professor, King Basilisk was used to defend but was unable to prevent the Amulet of Will and Eathon Lambert's journal from being taken. Upon going to the Professor's castle, King Basilisk was invoked during a quarrel between Zhalia and Sophie over Dante's decision to hand his Legendary Titans over to the Professor. When under attack by the Professor's Undergolems, King Basilisk again was invoked to permit Sophie and Lok to enter the invocation chamber, though King Basilisk was defeated in the process.

After the defeat of the Professor and during the search for the Willblade, King Basilisk's Stonegaze was used in an attempt to stop Wilder's men, but Divine Mirror Kagami was used by Wilder to reflect the attack and to petrify both King Basilisk and Dante. With King Basilisk then sent back to his Amulet by Hoffman's Redcap, LeBlanche allowed King Basilisk to be reinvoked, through Newlife, to bring back Dante.

Under attack from Lucas Casterwill and his team while investigating the Casterwill Library in Paris, France, King Basilisk was hidden by Zhalia's Thoughtspecter, along with Gar-Ghoul and Kilthane, in order to halt the offensive without risking damages. As both teams formed an alliance to recover the Amulet of Void from the Organization, King Basilisk was called upon by Zhalia in order to reanimate Klaus to gain intel. With the new threat of the Blood Spiral and their recent acolytes, King Basilisk was summoned to battle Jericho and to protect the Amulet of Vigilante.

With Zhalia being sent to infiltrate the Blood Spiral, she kept King Basilisk's Amulet but did not summon him against the Huntik Foundation. During the battle against the Betrayer, Zhalia's need to remain incognito was overshadowed, and she invoked King Basilisk to protect the rest of Dante's team from Demigorgan, the Betrayer's Legendary Titan. However, King Basilisk was quickly defeated.

Lola and Zhalia with King Basilisk: FIERY PETRIFICATION BURST!

Lola fired a powerful blast of fire and burned Quaritch all over and King Basilisk fired a laser and it instantly turned Quaritch into stone.

Me: Wow! That was awesome!

Nico: Yeah! Colonel Miles Quaritch, you have failed this planet.

Me: Make that both of our planets.

Jake Sully: He gave all of us a bad name.

Me: Agreed.

?: And here's a worse name.

We saw Vypra and Dark Spicer.

Me: Vypra and Dark Spicer!? What are you 2 doing here?

Dark Spicer: Here to fight. (to Jake Sully) Here's your warning: Your ass is about to be kicked!

Jake Sully: Are these two part of the Masters of Evil?

Me: Yep. The woman with the dragon wings is Vypra. She's the enemy of the Lightspeed Rescue Power Rangers and the leader of the Masters of Evil. The one with the red hair and the red eyes is Dark Spicer. He's Vypra's second in command. But I show respect for him because he helped us on some occasions. All the Masters of Evil did.

Jake Sully: I see.

Me: How can you two breathe here on Pandora? This planet has a poisonous atmosphere.

Vypra: I used my magic to make us breathe here without exopacks.

Me: Very clever. I take it you want to join in on the competition as well?

Vypra: That's right. Billy McLean is paying us to fight you.

Nico: So we have seen just now.

?: I'm amazed you all can breathe here.

We then saw a figure came out and it was STRIKEOUT from episode 39 of Turbo!

---

Strikeout made his first major appearance with Porto when he accompanied the main villain to the Spacebase's bridge. He confronted the Rangers at the Park and convinced Justin to stand up to him with the Turbo Blade, He easily wiped out the Ranger with his curve ball and mocked the others. None of the Rangers were able to hit the curve ball, especially T.J . who was dealing with other curve ball issues stemming from a rival pictcher named Heath. Bored of winning, he batted against TJ with a lesser attack but had it deflected into his face where he went down hard in the playground. When TJ launched his curve ball, the monster happily obliged which wiped out the cocky Ranger. He then pitched against the rest of them as well, all going down, but he retreated because he ran out of "ball ammo." When Heath nearly plummets off the edge of a mountain while trying to outrun T.J. on his bike, T.J. saves him, and Heath pays T.J. back by helping him hit his curve ball. Carlos got a call in the meantime that the monster had returned and went to fight. He lead the others in TJ's absense but they were easily thrashed by his unbeatable curve ball. Eventually T.J. did hit it, and then he left to take on Strikeout once again. Strikeout, who was attacking the other Rangers while waiting on T.J., launched another lethal curve ball at T.J., but now T.J. was ready. He struck the ball out of the Earth's atmosphere where it was obliterated, leaving Strikeout in tears. Strikeout was made giant and he launched his "knockout pitch", sending multiple balls flying at the Turbo Megazord at rapid speed. The Rangers deflected back the energy balls with their Spinout and Strikeout was destroyed for good by the finishing slash.

---

T.J. Johnson: Strikeout!

Strikeout: Long time no see rangers.

Me: I remember this guy! He told Justin to stand up to Porto with the Turbo Blade! And he easily overpowered you all.

T.J. Johnson: That's right.

Strikeout: You've been watching us on TV huh?

Me: Yep. Never missed an episode.

Strikeout: (to Lynn) I hear you like sports. Well, let's see how you handle me!

Lynn: Oh it is on!

Troy: Here's a blast from the past, Vypra!

Megaforce Rangers: Legendary Ranger Mode: Lightspeed Rescue!

The Megaforce Rangers turned into the Lightspeed Rescue Rangers.

Vypra: (chuckles) Oh, big mistake, Megaforce Rangers. I know this Ranger Team's moves like the back of my head.

Dark Spicer: And I have new aliens to show you.

Dark Spicer then turned into a Necrofriggian Mutant. He looked a lot like Big Chill except he was green and he had 4 sets of wings with skulls on them and he had 2 sets of arms.

Owen: It's an evil version of Big Chill!

Cold Death: Big Chill? I prefer… Cold Death! (uses freezing breath on the Loud Kids except Lana, freezing them in blocks of ice) Why don't you girls chill out?

Shanan: That's a mutant Necrofriggian.

Cold Death then uses his freezing breath on Ember McLain.

But Ember fired a blast of fire and blew at the ice breath and sent it back at Cold Death and burned him.

The Loud Kids broke out of the ice.

Dark Spicer: But check this out.

He then turned into another new mutant. It was a mutant Crystalsapien. He looked a lot like Chromastone except he was blue and black and he had eyes all over his body and he had crystals all over him and he was radiating with a dark aura.

Prionrock: I call this form… Prionrock!

Shanan: A Mutant Crystalsapien. Ugly.

I fire an energy blast at Prionrock but he easily absorbs it.

Prionrock: (chuckles) Those energy blasts only tickle me now! (fires energy beam at Shockwave)

Shockwave deflected it back and it hit him.

Prionrock: You know, Eddy. We might be on opposite sides, but you're the closest thing I have to a friend on Team Loud Phoenix Storm. Even in impossible odds, you keep on fighting and never give up. Too bad it's the end for you!

Eddy: Glad you think that about me Dark Spicer.

Luan: Shall we fight Vypra?

Vypra: Gladly Luan.

We went at them and it was a brutal fight.

---

Battle 1: Vypra.

---

Luan and Vypra were clashing all over and sparks and light blasts were flying everywhere and setting some of the forests on fire. It was a powerful fight and it was brutal.

Zarya: Let us help Luan!

Laney: Lets!

Zarya fired a powerful barrage of energy arrows and Laney fired a powerful blast of fire.

Zarya and Laney: WOLF FIRE ARROWSTORM!

Their blasts hit Vypra and knocked her down in a massive and powerful explosion.

---

Battle 2: Dark Spicer.

---

Eddy was facing Dark Spicer and he kicked him in the face and punched him in the stomach and kicked him in the face again and fired a blast of light at him and burned him.

Jinx: Time for some Bad Juju.

Circe (Generator Rex): Yeah!

Jinx and Circe (Generator Rex): BAD LUCK SONIC BURST!

Jinx fired a massive purple blast of energy and Circe fired a massive sonic blast and the blasts hit Dark Spicer and exploded.

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

The explosion knocked him down.

---

Battle 3: Strikeout

---

Lynn punched Strikeout in the face and kicked him in the chest and threw a powerful glob of lava at him and burned him all over.

Ben: How about he tries this one!

Ben then turned into a new alien. It was a polar bear with 4 eyes and it looked like it had solar cells for shoulder pads, knee pads and a chest pad.

Ben: SOLAR BEAR!

Me: Whoa! I've never seen this one.

Shanan: Wow! That's an Ursidian from the planet Polorpus!

Me: Whoa! I've never heard of them.

Shanan: They use solar energy to make themselves stronger and use it to power them to fight or use for flight.

Me: Whoa!

Riley: That is so cool!

Solar Bear: It sure is.

The solar cells glowed green from the Alpha Centauri sun and charged him and he viciously pounded Strikeout all over the place.

Ben then turned into a new predator! It was VICETOPUS! Vicetopus is a large, dark red octopus-like creature with a long body and many long tentacles along its stomach. It has a beaked mouth, two large red eyes and brown spots covering its back.

Ben: VICETOPUS!

Me: Whoa! That one is freaky!

Shanan: Whoa! That's a Vicetopus from the planet Encephalonus IV! They are Brainstorm's natural predator.

Nico: Whoa! That is amazing!

Laney: Really wicked!

Me: Deadly too. From the looks of things, those tentacles and jaws can crack open a Cerebrocrustacean like an egg.

Shanan: That's right dad. Their strength is so strong that they can do just that.

Me: Whoa!

Vicetopus grabbed Strikeout and slammed him into the ground and crushed him badly.

Ben then turned into a new Ultimate Alien. It was ULTIMATE TERRASPIN! He had a dark green shell with spikes on it and his body was white and he had flippers had spikes as well and he had a tail with a spike ball club on it.

Ben: ULTIMATE TERRASPIN!

Me: Whoa! An Evolved Geochelone Aerio!

Shanan: Wow! I've never seen this one before.

Riley: That is so awesome! This is a cool one.

Ultimate Terraspin: And watch what he can do.

He blew a massive blast of wind at Strikeout and sent him into the air and he flew up to him really fast and slammed his tail into him and sent him crashing into the ground.

Me: Lets finish him with our Final Smashes!

Gwen (TD): Time for some Dark Power! DARKNESS OF FEAR!

Gwen fired a powerful blast of darkness and it slammed into Strikeout and exploded.

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM

Courtney: Feel the burn! FIRESTORM BLADEDANCE!

Courtney fired a massive barrage of fire blades and they slammed into Strikeout and cut and burned him.

Lincoln: This will shock you! LIGHTNING DRAGON THUNDERSTRIKE!

Lincoln fired a massive blast of lightning and it turned into a dragon of pure lightning and slammed into Strikeout and electrocuted him.

Jake Sully: Taste this! NA'VI ARROW FIRESTORM!

Jake Sully fired a massive barrage of arrows and they skewered Strikeout all over.

Neytiri: You are not welcome here! ARROW ENERGY BURN!

Neytiri fired a blue arrow and it turned into an energy arrow and it slammed into Strikeout and exploded.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Norm: You won't hurt anyone else again! AVATAR OF BLUE FIRE!

Norm fired a massive blast of blue fire and it formed into a massive group of banshees of blue fire and they hit Strikeout and burned him in a huge explosion!

KRABBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Trudy Chacon: Feel this you bastard! LIGHTNING PANDORA RAYBURST!

Trudy Chacon fired a powerful lightning blast and it slammed into Strikeout and exploded.

KRABBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Grace Augustine: Never torment our friends here! XENOBURST FIRESTORM!

Grace Augustine fired a massive blast of blue fire and it hit Strikeout and exploded.

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

The Megaforce Rangers blasted Strikeout all over and he exploded.

KRABBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!

Me: Yeah!

Chris McLean: Way to go guys! The Interstellar Retribution wins!

We cheered wildly!

Heather: NO! I won't lose again!

Me: You just did Heather.

Vypra: Well, you've won this challenge. But there are still plenty to come! (she and Dark Spicer teleport out)

Me: We have that to look forward to.

Courtney: You know what? Why don't we just leave Heather here? She's in unfamiliar territory anyway.

Me: No Courtney. Heather wouldn't last more than 10 minutes out here.

Courtney: You're right.

We then drove all the people of the mining colony back to Earth and told them to never come back. Max Patel and a couple others were chosen to stay. We decided to form an alliance and special educational program to help the Na'Vi and more. We stayed to watch as Jake Sully was made a permanent member of the Na'Vi. He had his soul transferred into his Na'Vi body. It was a very amazing Ritual to watch. Jake was now a full fledge Na'Vi. Same with Norm Spellman, Trudy Chacon and Grace Augustine and the others who are part of the Avatar program. We put the technology from the 22nd century onto the ship for our own use.

Jake Sully: Thanks for the help, guys.

Me: It was our pleasure Jake. I'm sorry that Quaritch hurt you all like that.

Jake Sully: It's all right J.D. But thank you all for helping us. And good luck to all of you on Total Drama Galaxy.

Me: Not that we'll need it but thanks Jake. Just be careful here.

Jake Sully: Will do.

We left in the U.S.S. Valorous Phoenix.

Jake Sully: (To the viewers) It was an honor helping J.D. and all of Team Loud Phoenix Storm. We'll be starting a new life here on Pandora. It's gonna be great.

Neytiri: It will be amazing.

On the ship, Heather was confined to the brig for the rest of the season.

End of Part 1

Part 1 done.

Avatar from 2009 was the most awesome movie I've ever seen and it was awesome of all time! It was awesome! James Cameron made an awesome masterpiece that brought in more than 2.79 billion dollars and it is now the 2nd highest grossing movie of all time! Awesome! Sam Worthington, Zoe Saldana, Sigourney Weaver, Michelle Rodriguez and many big stars all did a great job in that movie. A sequel for it is coming out in 2021 and it's going to take place in the year 2166, 12 years after the first movie. Awesome! NicoChan11 gave me the ideas for this one. Thanks man. Next up for part 2 is the Battle of Klendathu where we help the Terran Federation destroy all of the Arachnids in the Klendathu System.

See you all tomorrow.

TDG 2 - Klendathu Extermination

The U.S.S. Valorous Phoenix was heading to the 2nd location of Challenge 2 of Total Drama Galaxy.

Me: Captain's Log, Stardate 2798.6: It's day 2 of Total Drama Galaxy and we are heading to the 2nd location of the competition. We have a feeling that it's going to be good and we can't wait. Heather the sore loser bitch is down so that brings us to Amy next. We don't know how we're going to put up with her.

We saw Brickhouse and Thing going at it in an arm wrestling contest.

Sunny Tennyson: Looks like it's an arm wrestling contest of our two brick skinned members.

Me: Oh yeah!

Nico: Awesome!

Luan: Looks like they are Arm-ed and ready! (Laughs) Get it?

We laughed at Luan's joke.

Me: (Laughs) Good one Luan!

Eddy: (Laughs) Good one!

Gale: C'mon, Brickhouse!

Murray: You can do it, Thing!

Human Torch: F.Y.I., Ben, I'm rooting against you.

Thing: (Sarcastically) Thanks a lot, matchstick!

Brickhouse: HA!

She pinned down Thing's arm.

Brickhouse: I win!

Thing: OW!

Me: Way to go Brickhouse!

Brickhouse: You know, Thing. You and I have a lot in common.

Thing: Yeah. I noticed that. But I hope you realize that I have a girlfriend.

Brickhouse: I know. My love interest is probably gonna be either Fade or Tech.

Me: Cool!

Nico: That was awesome though.

Me: It sure was.

Bart Simpson: I wish I had a girlfriend though.

Me: Didn't you already have a bunch of girlfriends Bart?

Bart Simpson: Yeah but I could never find one that is the right one for me.

Me: Lets see here.

I pulled up the history of Bart Simpson and his love interests. What I found out was shocking! He had a lot of girlfriends and they all didn't work out at all!

Me: Whoa! Bart you have to be the most unluckiest boy in the world.

Nico: No kidding.

Me: Lets see here.

I looked up the backgrounds of all of Bart's girlfriends.

Laura Powers.

Laura Powers is a tomboyish teenage girl that lived next door to the Simpsons and the only child of single-parent divorcée Ruth Powers who is understood to be the first crush of Bart Simpson.

Laura and Ruth Powers (Laura's mother) moved into the house next door when the Winfields moved out. Marge Simpson and Ruth became fast friends; so did Laura and Bart Simpson. After Laura made Bart faint, Bart developed a crush on her, but he later had his heart broken when he found out that she and Jimbo Jones were in a relationship. After Bart prank called Moe's Tavern, Laura chose that Jimbo was no good for her and said that she would date Bart if he were a little older: "If you had a bad teenage mustache, I'd go out with you in a second." She then kissed Bart. Ever since the events of "New Kid on the Block", Bart and Laura have not been in contact again.

Laura appears to be no longer living with her mother, but she is still in Springfield. According to "The Strong Arms of the Ma", Marge exclaims her surprise when she sees Ruth again at Springfield's muscle beach, calling Ruth an old neighbor, which implies they had moved out sometime after "New Kid on the Block". Near the end of the Trappuccino incident, she throws rocks at Homer Simpson when he returns to Springfield and raggedly appears in the crowd alongside her mother upon the climax of the dome's destruction.

Jessica Lovejoy

Jessica Lovejoy is the rebellious daughter of Reverend Lovejoy and Helen Lovejoy. She is Bart's biggest crush after Laura Powers and first girlfriend as well. Nelson Muntz thinks she's innocent. She was featured as both Bart Simpson's love interest and the main antagonist of Bart's Girlfriend.

While appearing sweet and calm on the outside, Jessica actually has a penchant for mischief and chaos, and can cross the line farther than Bart himself, despite her being raised by very religious parents. Among boys smitten by her, she falls right into the role of femme fatale, and isn't afraid to use it. She has been portrayed as having the ability to draw young men under her spell; one, a library assistant, rode on a bicycle to pick her up as she hoodwinked Bart into cleaning the church steps in her stead. She uses her beauty to manipulate boys and uses timidity to manipulate adults and girls.

Jessica went to a boarding school, but was allegedly expelled for destroying school property including toilets, supposedly with a pipe bomb, and stealing from the school collection plate. After her expulsion, she briefly dated Bart Simpson. According to Bart's experiences with her, Jessica encouraged his negative behavior and eventually pushed him down an extremely steep hill littered with truck accidents on his skateboard. Later, Jessica went as far as to activate the fire alarm at Springfield Elementary during the school day as a prank, causing a mass panic at the school. It is stated (by Bart) that she has an IQ of 108, and that "she's like a Milk Dud; sweet on the outside, poison on the inside." She inevitably went too far, however, by stealing the collection money from the First Church of Springfield (where her father is minister) and blaming it on Bart. Lisa, however, brought her to justice. After showing the evidence that Jessica is bad, her father actively ignores the fact that his daughter is a criminal, and continues to blame the theft on Bart until Jessica finally admits to her crime. Later, Bart is once again taken in by her charms as he works to scrub clean the church steps (a punishment meant for Jessica) while she rides off on a date with another boy, one unidentified (yet allegedly well read) library volunteer, but comes to do a sub-par job on the steps to punish her further.

Despite the fact that she's a wicked, misbehaving, antisocial girl, she does try to get attention from her father, who is shown to ignore and deny her behavioral problems. She also explains that her behavior, in part, is because of her desire for attention from her father.

Jessica has since made cameos throughout the series. She and her father were participants in Robot Rumble. Their creation, a centipede-like machine by the name of Kill-a-Puss, was defeated by "Chief Knock-A-Homer", Homer and Bart's entry. Jessica makes a cameo appearance as a player in a soccer game where she gets the ball past Sherri and Terri. However she is unfairly accused of committing a foul when Lisa unsuccessfully attempts to get the ball from her and trips. She was also taken to Weasel Island by her father on Mother's Day. When Springface was introduced to Springfield, she became one of Lewis' online friends. She then appeared in a photo that Bart kept alongside the photos of his other past girlfriends. It can be assumed that Bart actually didn't visit Jessica, unlike the rest of his ex-girlfriends, because of what happened between them during their relationship. She also appears in The Simpsons Movie sitting the front row at church when Reverend Lovejoy says, "Lord hear our prayer."

Jessica also appears in the new opening sequence, playing the flute in the school's music class.

Mary WrestleMania Spuckler

Mary WrestleMania Spuckler is one of Cletus' many children. She is forced to marry Bart in order to save Lou. Bart and Mary end up not getting married, but develop a genuine attraction which leads to an on-and-off romance. Their relationship has been explored in three episodes, making her the most prominent of Bart's love interests and Bart's first serious relationship.

She seems to be the most intelligent of Cletus' children, speaking in correct English (in contrast to the rest of her family) and showing a strong talent for music and performing.

Mary is first seen at the 4-H, sorting out chickens, when she sees Bart having difficulty in feeding and taking care of Lou. After she introduces herself, she points out that Bart's calf, "Lulubelle" (Bart's original name for his calf), is actually a boy, Mary suggests that Bart should call him "Lou" (which Bart says rhymes with "moo"). After Bart and his sister, Lisa, save Lou from being killed in a slaughterhouse, Lisa suggests taking Lou to Mary's family's farm, which Bart agrees to. Upon arriving at Mary's home, Bart and Lisa discover that Cletus Spuckler is Mary's dad-after Bart asks Mary if Lou can live with Mary and her family, Cletus and Brandine (Mary's mom) get really excited by this. When Lisa asks what the big deal is, Cletus and Brandine explain to her and Bart that "according to the 'Law of the Hill-folk'," by giving Mary a cow, Bart's made a formal proposal of marriage-Bart's obviously reluctant to do this, but some convincing from Lisa gets Bart go through with it to prevent Lou from being slaughtered. However, just before Bart and Mary are legally married, Bart and Lisa's mom, Marge, stops the wedding and points out that Bart and Mary are just children and are way too young to get married-Mary's parents call off the wedding, and as a result, Lou's taken back to the slaughterhouse. However, this was actually part of Lisa's plan: the "Lou" in the truck was actually Homer in a costume while the real Lou was put on a plane and sent to India, where cows are considered sacred.

She reappeared in the Season 24 episode Moonshine River as a major character. In the episode, she is deemed as Bart's last hope in his quest to find true love (in the form of one of his many former dates). When Bart arrives at the Spuckler house, Cletus informs him that she ran away after he scheduled her for marriage again. Dubya Spuckler tells Bart that Mary ran away to New York City and gives him her address. Bart and the rest of his family arrive at New York, and he eventually finds her at her address, finding that she has changed, becoming slightly taller and slimmer. Bart and Mary realize that they truly like each other and are about to kiss when Cletus arrives, having somehow discovered Mary's new location, and orders her to return to Springfield with him. While Cletus is occupied, she and Bart sneak away to another train and share their first kiss before Mary departs on the train. When Cletus finds out, he demands Bart to tell her where Mary is going, but Bart, not wanting to ruin this chance of love, refuses. Cletus then accepts the fact that he must let his daughter go.

Mary reappears for the second time in the season, in the episode Love Is a Many-Splintered Thing, again as a major character. In it, Bart, not knowing it is her, puts a bug down her dress, but recognizes her when she angrily calls out for the person who pranked her. She reveals that she was allowed back into the Spuckler household after her career as a model took a downturn, only allowing her thumb to appear in advertisements. Mary then allows him to push her into a pool of mud in order to satisfy Jimbo, Kearney, and Dolph. The two start dating, but Bart spends all of it by playing video games. Despite Lisa's warnings, Bart continues to ignore Mary when she sings a song she wrote for him, and the two break up, much to Bart's dismay. He attempts to win her back, but she turns him down again, saying that she has already started dating a Brazilian boy. By the end of the episode, it is revealed in an assumed future that she has married someone, apparently the same Brazilian, but when Bart sees that her relationship status has become 'Single' seconds later, he sends her a message reading, "I miss you." She responds to Bart's message (in the process revealing that she was widowed) but the exact nature of her reply is unknown. It is not revealed what became of the two afterwards.

Gina Vendetti

Gina Vendetti is a young girl and a former girlfriend of Bart who is in a juvenile prison for girls. She and Bart escape from juvie after going to a dance. She has anger issues, a seemingly permanent stern look on her face and some of her locks have purple hair dye and highlights.

Gina was sent to the Springfield Juvenile Correctional Facility for pushing Snow White off the parapet at Disneyland. Bart Simpson was sent to a boys' juvenile prison right next to the juvenile prison Gina is in, and is immediately attacked by Gina while hanging out near the fence on the girls' side. They later get partnered (and handcuffed) together for ballroom dancing, but Gina spotted a way to escape, and dragged Bart with her and he tried to called the guards to stop her. Bart and Gina at first hated each other but started to gain each other's trust and eventually kissed. Once freed from their handcuffs, Gina and Bart go separate ways, but Gina, having nowhere to go starts crying and reveals to Bart when he spots that she doesn't have a family to go to (whereas she previously told Bart she did have one) before attacking him in anger. The two started fighting and are captured by the police. Gina, not wanting Bart's life to be ruined because of her escape, confessed that the entire thing was her idea and Bart is released from prison although he still had time to do. Later, the Simpson family visited Gina in prison and they eat together and Gina asked Bart who is the nerd who's sitting next to her. She seems to still be in juvie hall, as shown in her cameo in Moonshine River, and is also shown to be angry at Bart maybe because he didn't visit her for a while.

Sherri and Terri

Sherri and Terri Mackleberry are a pair of identical twin students of Springfield Elementary School. Terri is younger than Sherri by two seconds. They are in the same class as Bart, by Edna Krabbapel. They are a little bit strange and sometimes they speak in their own language. They will also not hesitate to berate Bart as seen in various episodes. No one knows whether one twin is Terri or Sherri. However, it has been hinted that they may actually be triplets and the third one is out for revenge, but this has yet to be confirmed on the show, and should be considered non-canon at present. Sherri and Terri have long, purple hair and always wear the same clothes.

Greta Wolfcastle

She is first seen getting bullied by Jackington and two other bullies, who play keep-away with her backpack. She is saved by Bart and they started to go out. After Bart thought she was becoming too needy, he broke up with her, which led to Greta dating Milhouse to get back at him. Bart, now jealous, planned to do everything he could to win her back and followed her to Canada where he and Milhouse got into a fight during a curling game. In the end, Greta broke up with both Bart and Milhouse and agreed to stop dating for several years so that she could co-produce her father's movies. She was later seen standing in line with her dad for ice cream in the episode "Ice Cream of Margie (With the Light Blue Hair)". She also made a cameo in the episode "Special Edna".

Jenny

Bart first met her after seeing her volunteer at the Springfield Retirement Castle. She was a Christian and prayed to God at school. At first, she thought Bart was a nice guy, but then she dumped him when he admitted his bad side to her when Milhouse began to jeopardize their relationship without her knowledge. Jenny is about 11 years old, as she is in the fifth grade. She reappeared in a cameo in Moonshine River, where Bart visits her at her house to ask for another chance. She is obviously still angry at him for lying to her; and reverting back to his mischievous behaviour. She says "Eat my shorts!" upon seeing him before slamming the door.

Nikki McKenna

When Mrs. Krabappel takes a leave of absence, Bart's class has to share a room with the school's other fourth-grade class. Bart ends up having to sit in the back of the class with Nikki, and he gently flirts with her. At first glance, Nikki seems to be bothered by Bart until he asks to draw on her shoulder. Bart asks Grandpa for advice, and his recommendation was to plant a kiss on Nikki. The next day, Nikki and Bart go freestyle on their skateboards, and they end up on top of a slide, where Bart steals a kiss. However, Nikki freaks out and yells in disgust. Nikki's parents later have a meeting with Homer and Marge, and Principal Skinner decides to make a policy of no-physical-contact in Springfield Elementary, or "Hands-Off".

After a disastrous school meeting, Nikki surprises Bart at his locker and they smooch. The couple later see First Lady Michelle Obama at the school roof while on the roof. Bart reveals his feelings for Nikki, but she rejects his feelings again. As a result, Bart stumbles off the roof, causing her to worry until he starts breathing. She performed CPR emergency mouth-to-mouth to save Bart, despite the Hands-Off policy. In the last moments of their relationship, Bart asks why she kept changing her mind about him, to which she states there are things Bart has yet to learn about women, and that is why she will never tell him. Bart then says he will smell her later and she kisses his cheek; as she walks off, he says he loves her.

She is later seen with her father at Springfield General Hospital, trying to get a vaccine for the "Housecat Virus", only to make way for Mr. Burns when he addressed the crowd. She is seen with her parents as background characters in the school (after he sees his parents in school auction). She reappears in a cameo in "Moonshine River", where Bart's visit her house to ask for another chance, but once again, she continues to flip-flop between loving and hating him. Finally, Bart gets frustrated and simply leaves.

Annika Van Houten

Annika Van Houten is a character who debuted in the Season 26 episode, "Let's Go Fly a Coot".

She is one of Milhouse's cousins from the Netherlands. In her debut episode, she smokes e-cigarettes and sparked a "romantic" interest in Bart.

Me: Wow. All good backgrounds. We'll have to talk to them all later on.

Lisa Loud: We appeared to have arrived at our destination.

Me: On screen.

We were over at the Klendathu System at 85,000 light-years away from Earth.

Me: We're in the Klendathu System.

Laney: Wow. The system from Starship Troopers.

Me: Look there.

We saw the planet Klendathu, the homeworld of the Arachnids.

Me: It's the planet Klendathu.

Carol: Me and Vince visited this planet before.

Me: I remember that.

Vince: That was an epic battle.

Chris McLean then appears.

Chris McLean: All right everyone. It's time for our next challenge. It's something I call Klendathu Extermination.

Me: I had a feeling that's why we're here. To destroy the bugs of Klendathu.

Chris McLean: Bingo.

Courtney: Awesome!

Sammy (Total Drama): Yeah!

Me: Lets do it!

Omega Supreme: Omega Supreme is ready.

Motormaster: Stunticons, merge into Menasor!

The Stunticons merged into G1 Menasor.

G1 Menasor: Menasor is ready.

Me: Hey look!

We saw a bunch of Terran Federation ships and they were above the planet and getting ready to drop the crew for the big battle.

Me: Whoa! It's the big Klendathu drop.

Carol: I remember this while watching Starship Troopers with Vince. The Battle of Klendathu was a total failure because they underestimated the threat of the bugs. They were smarter than us.

Me: This is bad guys. This is gonna be really bloody. Nathaniel, when the ships are under attack teleport all of the crews of the ships hit on board.

Nathaniel: Copy grandpa.

Me: We're going down to Klendathu and squish some fucking bugs.

Lana: Yeah!

Me: Lets move!

We stationed the ship above the planet and we saw plasma being shot at the ships.

Me: Shields up.

We went down to the planet.

Me: This is it.

We arrived and flew above the battle and saw the Terran Soldiers firing at the bugs and there were millions of them.

Me: Holy shit!

Nico: These guys have no idea what they are messing with.

The Arachnids (more commonly known as "Bugs", and "Archies" as well as called "Pseudo- Arachnids" in novel) are an alien race that has evolved and conquered several planets outside Federation space in the Starship Troopers franchise. They are believed to be mindless hive creatures controlled or instructed by a Brain caste.

In novel, Arachnids are more portrayed as alien invaders that similar with other advanced races like Martians or Harvesters as, while living in social structure similar with ants or bees, possesses advanced technology such as spacecraft, beam and missile weapons that their non-novel incarnations mostly lacks of. Their kind of technology is unexplained whether was organic or purely mechanical.

Much like in non-novel medias, Arachnids society is based on a caste system in which they can coexist prosperously. It is theorized they don't have emotions - at least of the human sort - and they never retreat unless they know they can't win. The individuals of the lower castes, such as Warriors, are telepathically connected to the Brain Bugs. The Bugs won't hesitate to kill their own kind of any caste should the situation demand it; they are ready to expend thousands of Workers in a diversionary action, or to wipe out their ruling castes to prevent their capture.

Thanks to sheer numbers and ability to breed in faster rate, Arachnids views death with little to no meaning. Combined with the large numbers of Warriors and enhanced parthenogenesis ability, they favor large swarm tactics, and human-wave attacks (or "Bug-wave" attacks) to overwhelm their enemies. At one point in the book, a Mobile Infantry trooper notes that "they expend Warriors like we expend ammunition". This, combined with their advanced technology, making them a deadly invasive race.

They are described as looking like "a madman's conception of a giant, intelligent spider." Also, the Bugs can see into the infrared spectrum: though pitch dark to human eyes, the underground corridors of a Bug colony are well-lit when viewed through the infrared "snoopers" of the Mobile Infantry's Marauder Suits.

We saw them firing bullets at the bugs.

Me: It's gonna take more than a few bullets to kill them.

Carol: Not if we blow them apart all at once.

Me: Right. Lets get them!

Nico: COME ON YOU APES! YOU WANNA LIVE FOREVER!?

We fired energy blasts and elemental blasts at the bugs and blew many of them all apart in massive fiery explosions and blew them to pieces. We were blowing apart bugs all over the place as flaming bug bodies were piling up. Above the planet Nathaniel had the teleporter going as ships were being blasted apart by the plasma and he was teleporting many crew members of the ships onto the Valorous Phoenix and they were being saved by the thousands. Energy blasts and lasers from the ship were blasting plasma bolts and the shields were working well. We blasted millions and millions and millions of bugs at a massive level and tearing them all apart and reducing them all to flaming carnage. We fired energy blasts, fire blasts, jutsu, chakra blasts, elemental energy blasts, lightning blasts, wind blasts, Atomic Ray blasts and more as we were turning the whole planet into a raging and massive inferno of epic proportions as the ground was being littered with the flaming carcasses of bugs. We were also blowing tankers, flyers and warriors and so many kinds of castes of bugs of many kinds and more and it was a brutal fight. We practically unleashed the entirety of the 9 Circles of Hell onto the bugs and killing them all at an accelerated rate. Ben, Riley, me and Bella got new DNA samples from the bugs and we now have the ability to turn into the bugs.

Me: We're gonna need some Teamwork!

Omega Supreme: You got it! CYBER KEY POWER!

The Autobot Cyber Planet Key went into his back and enhanced his weapons 100-fold.

Murray: The Murray is ready to smash some skulls! EARTH CYBER KEY POWER!

The Earth Cyber Planet Key went into his right arm device and enhanced his strength and powers 100-fold.

Omega Supreme and Murray: FLAMING FIST LASER BURST!

Omega Supreme fired his laser blasts and Murray lit his fists on fire and punched some bugs all over the place and incinerated them.

Menasor: Time for action! CYBER KEY POWER!

The Decepticon Cyber Planet Key went into his back and enhanced his Cyclone Gun 100-fold.

Sunny Tennyson: Feel the power of mana! ANODYNE CYBER KEY POWER!

The Anodyne Cyber Planet Key went into Sunny's right arm device and enhanced her powers 100-fold.

G1 Menasor and Sunny Tennyson: MANA WIND CYCLONE SHREDDER!

They fired their blasts and blew a bunch of bugs apart in a massive tornado of energy.

Tundra Man: The show must go on!

Dive Man: Yeah!

Tundra Man fired a massive blast of ice wind and Dive Man fired his Dive Torpedoes.

Tundra Man and Dive Man: SUBZERO TORPEDO BLIZZARD!

The blasts hit the bugs all over and froze them in blocks of ice and the bugs exploded when the torpedoes hit them.

Dust Man: Feel the crush!

Dust Man fired his Dust Crusher and Tundra Man fired a blast of ice.

Dust Man and Tundra Man: SUBZERO DUST CRUSH!

The blasts hit the bugs all over and destroyed many of them.

Emerald: Ready to smash some bugs!

Lana: Yeah!

Emerald fired a massive pink energy blast and Lana fired an Ice Lightning blast.

Emerald and Lana: SUBZERO UNICORN MEGABURST!

The blasts combined and turned into an Ice Unicorn and it rammed a bunch of bugs and destroyed them.

Qin: Feel the burn of the dragon!

Sophie: (British Accent) This is gonna be a bad ending for the bugs! ROAR! LEGENDARY TITAN OF VALOR! MYTHRAS!

In a blast of fire came Mythras, Legendary Titan of Valor!

Mythras is the Legendary Titan of Valor. He resembles a blue, lion-like centauroid with hair of blue-hot flames. He rides into battle with golden, plate-mail armor adorned with red gems. Mythras will only bond with someone with a courageous heart, and, as such, his Ring was the prize of the Casterwill family's Trial of Courage.

Mythras was the Titan of the younger son of Casterwill. Bonding with Mythras was the goal for any Casterwill noble attempting the Trial of Courage at the Fortress of Iron Will, a test to determine if they are worthy of leading the elders.

In order to make claim for leadership of the elders, Sophie Casterwill embarked on the test accompanied by Lok Lambert and Cherit. After battling fear monsters and overcoming her feelings of self-doubt, Sophie was successful in bonding with Mythras.

Upon returning from the test, the elders were still hesitant to support

Sophie's wishes. During the Blood Spiral attack on Iron Will, Sophie failed to invoke Mythras as she lacked confidence in her heart. However, after the sacrifice of Nimue Casterwill, Sophie again tried and was able to invoke Mythras against Kiel. Mythras defeated Balenpyre but was beaten by Efreet King, Kiel's strongest Titan. Following the battle, Sophie gave the Ring of Mythras to Vivian Casterwill to reveal Vivian's own latent courage in the wake of her grandmother's death.

Vivian later used Mythras to protect herself against Shauna and save White and Mallory in the battle against the Betrayer at the Spiral Mark.

---

Sophie Casterwill with Mythras and Qin: FIRESTORM VALOROUS MEGABLAST!

They fired a massive blast of fire and incinerated many bugs in an instant.

Lok: Lets do it! RAISE ME UP! KIPPERIN!

Lok summoned Kipperin!

---

Kipperin is a helpful moth-like Gaia-Titan and the primary Titan of Lok Lambert. He's not quite as fast as Icarus, but he is strong enough to carry people or even large Titans. Lok has the same Kipperin that his father had, when he found Eathon's Kipperin Amulet alongside Eathon Lambert's journal. Kipperin is friendly, and is often eager to help out Seekers that have bonded with him, whether that is by flying the bonded seeker or the seeker's allies.

According to the Huntik Foundation records, there were once hundreds of Kipperin Titans used by Seekers; however, most of their Amulets became either lost or hidden.

A Kipperin previously belonged to the father of Lok Lambert, Eathon Lambert, who at some point hid Kipperin's Amulet, along with his journal, inside of an old vase. The Amulet was uncovered by Lok when the vase accidentally was knocked down by Lok, attempting to stop Sophie Casterwill from taking the vase down. Kipperin's power later saved his life by guiding him safely through the air as he ran from the Suits of the the Organization.

Kipperin first was invoked by Lok in the Golem's Attic on the Road of Alchemists when Dante Vale's team was nearly defeated by DeFoe. Lok flew in on Kipperin's wings to take out an Organization operative and help the team to recover Metagolem's Amulet.

Lok invoked Kipperin during the battle in the Cavern of the Gargoyle to help dodge the high-powered water blasts from the magical Gargoyle trap. After getting hit, Kipperin returned to his Amulet. Kipperin later saved Lok's life after he fell into a trap accidentally set of by Peter while venturing into a hidden chamber. Kipperin was used in the French catacombs to help Lok escape a group of Suits.

Kipperin was used in Iceland to lift Ignatius to make a rainbow, forming the Rainbow Bridge to the Temple of Thor. Lok later used him to dodge Ymir's attacks in the Temple of Thor while buying Dante and Montehue time to utilize Mjolnir.

Kipperin was invoked by Lok to save Dante from falling into a blazing fire whilst battling Rassimov at the Professor's castle. He was however defeated by Rassimov's Drybite power. Lok used Kipperin to return to the final battle against the Professor but was hauled down by the Mastermind power of Araknos. After Cherit broke Araknos' control, Kipperin lifted Lok to speak to face to face with Overlos, now under the control of Dendras's string, and banish him to the Spirit World with three other Legendary Titans.

Following the defeat of the Professor, Kipperin became Powerbonded with Lok during the Huntik team's mission to Peru to find out Eathon Lambert's fate. Although at first surprised at Kipperin's sudden transformation, Lok was quickly able to tap into their newly strengthened mental link and immediately went about defeating a group of Suits under Wilder's command.

Me: KIBAL! LETS HOWL!

I turned into Wolf Moon!

Lok had Kipperin latch onto him and he formed into wings.

Me: The wolf and the flying moonlight!

Lok with Kipperin and me as Wolf Moon: MOONLIGHT MOTH SWARMSTORM!

I fired a massive blast of wolf fire and Lok fired a powerful blast of energy and the blasts turned into a massive swarm of fire moths and they hit the bugs all over and incinerated them all over.

When the battle was down to a slow fight, we were slowly killing bugs as some stragglers were coming at us.

I fired an energy blast at a bug and blew it apart in a fiery explosion.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMMM

Me: Yeah!

Carol: Try this on! ATOMIC RAY EXPLOSION!

Carol fired a massive blast of Godzilla's Atomic Ray and blew the bugs apart in a massive explosion of fire.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!
KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!

Vince: Feel the Crystal Power! CRYSTAL POWER PRISM MEGABLAST!

Vince formed a powerful cluster of crystals and they fired a powerful rainbow blast of light and killed many bugs.

Lori: Try this wind blast! HURRICANE WINDSTORM BURST!

Lori fired a massive blast of wind and blew the bugs all over the place.

Johnny Rico: Lets see how you bugs like this! This is for my home in Buenos Aires! FEDERATION SOLDIER FIRESTORM!

Johnny Rico fired a massive blast of energy and bullets and they hit all the bugs all over and killed them all over.

Johnny Rico: Nice job! We owe you guys for helping us.

Me: Anytime Rico.

Shanan: Be careful guys. The Bugs of Klendathu don't give up.

Dizzy Flores: I can see that.

Ben: Time to fight bugs with bugs.

Ben turned into a new predator. It was called a TERRORANCHULA! Terroranchula is a giant four-legged spider with a body of a silverfish with four pincers with one claw on each and a silver colored exoskeleton, the lower half of her legs and back of her head is covered with light brown hair. Her eyes are red, reptile-like head with an open mouth smile.

Ben: TERRORANCHULA!

Me: Whoa! That is a scary predator!

Shanan: Wow! That's a Terroranchula! They are Ball Weevil's natural predator.

Nico: Wow! That is a scary one.

Riley: No kidding. It sure is terrifying.

Laney: Yeah.

Terroranchula was slashing and cutting apart many bugs all over with his claws and using force field webs to block tanker blasts and he slashed them apart at an incredible level.

Vince: Wow! He's really powerful as this.

Nico: Yeah.

Hunter: (German Accent) Ja.

Ben: And check out this one!

Ben then turned into a new alien. It was VENTRILOSQUID! He looked like a squid but with a visible brain and a holographic face.

Ben: VENTRILOSQUID!

Me: Never saw this one.

Shanan: Wow! That's a Craniosquid from the planet Encephalonus IV!

Me: Another creature from Brainstorm's planet. Wow.

Shanan: Yep.

Rin Nohara: That is amazing!

Riley: It sure is.

Ventrilosquid: Watch this.

He fired a massive blast of lightning from his brain and it hit many bugs and electrocuted them and killed them.

Ben then turned into a new Ultimate Alien. It was ULTIMATE KICKIN HAWK! He was a bigger version of Kickin Hawk but with a bigger muscle mass and he had a huge tail feather and spiked bracelets and he had shoulder feathers and a bigger crest of feathers.

Ben: ULTIMATE KICKIN HAWK!

Me: Whoa! An Evolved Akatorian!

Nico: Wow! That is a really cool one!

Shanan: It sure is.

Nico: Yeah.

Ultimate Kickin Hawk: Time for some fighting.

He mercilessly thrashed a bunch of bugs all over and killed them.

Lincoln: Lets see how the bugs like this. LIGHT STYLE NINJA ART: CAROLUS REX!

Lincoln floated off the ground and a curtain of light shined behind him as the song Carolus Rex by Sabaton played.

All embrace me

It's my time to rule at last

Fifteen years have I been waiting

To sit upon my throne

No allegiance

I will swear no oath

Crowned by god not by the church

As my power is divine

They thought I was too young to rule the land

Just as they failed to understand

Born to rule

My time has come

I was chosen by heaven

Say my name when you pray

To the skies

See Carolus rise

With the lord my protector

Make them bow to my will
To the skies
See Carolus rise
To the skies
See Carolus rise
Proved in battle
Led my men to victory
No man alive or dead commands me
I answer to the lord
Hear my orders
Question me and die
What I say was said in heaven
And so it shall be done
I know I was destined to rule alone
All for myself I have claimed the throne
Born to rule
My time is now
I was chosen by heaven
Say my name when you pray
To the skies
See Carolus rise
With the lord my protector

Make them bow to my will

To the skies

See Carolus rise

To the skies

See Carolus rise

Framåt Karoliner

Fiendens dom är här

Låt oss krossa dom

Kasta in dom genom helvetets portar

All that's thine

Shall be mine

There's no stopping me

All over Europe my rule shall be questioned by none

All I see

Give to me

That is my decree

My will be done

They thought I was too young to rule the land

Just as they failed to understand

Born to rule

My time is now

I was chosen by heaven

Say my name when you pray

To the skies

See Carolus rise

To the skies

With the lord my protector

Make them bow to my will

To the skies

See Carolus rise

To the skies

See Carolus rise

The light fired at the bugs and turned into the army of King Charles XII of Sweden from the late 17th and early 18th centuries. It was the army of the Great Northern War. They slashed and blasted many bugs and blew them apart.

Me: Whoa! That was the army of Sweden from the Great Northern War!

Jessie K: Wow! That was a terrible war that established the Tsarhood in Russia.

Nico: Wow!

Hunter: Ja. Und it also lead to the fall of the Swedish Empire and the Polish-Lithuanian Commonwealth.

Me: Wow! That was terrible!

Jessie K.: It lasted from 1700 to 1721 and it was awful.

Hunter: Ja.

?: Then you also will deal with us.

We turned and we saw three of Bart Simpson's enemies: Jimbo Jones, Dolph Starbeam and Kearney Zzyzwicz!

---

Jimbo Jones

Corky James "Jimbo" Jones, is one of the minor antagonists in the TV animated series The Simpsons. He is one of the bullies at Springfield Elementary, with Dolph Starbeam, Kearney Zzyzwicz and Nelson Muntz.

Jimbo is the unquestionable leader of the bullies, although he seems to be on par with Nelson, who has no interest for hierarchic systems. Jimbo is the tallest bully, and before it turned out that Kearney is actually 23, Jimbo was also considered to be the oldest of the gang. He was once beaten and bullied by Lisa Simpson. He is also the on & off boyfriend of Shauna Chalmers.

A real low-life, Jimbo is acknowledged as the leader of the bully gang in the absence of Nelson. Jimbo is often seen hanging out with fellow bullies Dolph, Kearney, and sometimes Nelson and his girlfriend Lisa Simpson. He is quite popular with girls his age, despite the fact that he attends an elementary school, and they seem to consider him more of an outlaw than the scum-bag he usually behaves as. Despite his reputation as a bully, Jimbo is Christian, and sometimes shows strong moral standards. At one point, when he reveals to Martin that the "paint" vendor he got the unicorn tattoo from was actually a tattoo parlor at the Skewed Over event, he notably showed hesitance at beating up Martin at that point as he "had it rough already", even stating to the other bullies that it might not be a good idea to beat him up. However, he ultimately chooses to beat Martin up with the other bullies. He has been kicked out of all four Space Mutant movies.

Jimbo's parents are Mr. Jones and Carol Jones. It is often implied that his mother is sexually promiscuous, possibly working as a prostitute. It is also stated that Jimbo's mother and Kearney have been sexually involved sometime in the past. She sometimes walks around topless, which impresses Kearney and Dolph. Jimbo has a sister; he, Nelson, Kearney, and Dolph use the case from her retainer as an ingredient in a pumpkin pie for Bart at Thanksgiving.

Jimbo used to have a skateboard, just like Bart. He smokes cigarettes and drinks alcohol with Dolph and Kearney. Jimbo also sometimes uses marijuana and other narcotics. It is also implied that Jimbo has a job as a police informant . When Lisa saves Bart from the bullies one time, Jimbo says to Bart, "It's a lucky coincidence you happen to be your sister's brother.". Another time, Jimbo laughs at Bart's pajamas, and mockingly asks if "his mommy bought them for him". When Bart replies with "Of course, she did. Who else would have?", Jimbo looks blank for a while before declaring that Bart has won ("this time").

Jimbo enjoys intimidating his classmates and shoplifting. His best friends are Dolph and Kearney, and he often hangs out with Nelson too. Jimbo sometimes shows a decent friendship with younger, yet more popular fellow troublemaker Bart, although Bart is more of a rebel than a bully, and Jimbo is just as likely to bully him as any other smaller, weaker person. It is hinted that his family is moderately well-off when, during the time a teacher's strike closed the school, he and his mother watch soap operas and sip tea together in a very nice living room. Given that Jimbo's father, Mr. Jones, seemed to be a beer-drinking lowlife when seen in another episode, it may be that Jimbo is an illegitimate child. His mother may be involved with "bad boys". He was kidnapped by Stewie Griffin in "The Simpsons Guy".

Dolph Starbeam

Dolph Starbeam is a bully and student at Springfield Elementary School.

He is voiced by Tress MacNeille.

Dolph is recognized by his asymmetrical haircut which covers one eye and wears cutoff shorts and basketball shoes. He is left-handed and does not talk as much as the other bullies. He usually comes across as very intelligent and speaks a variety of languages including Esperanto, Swahili, and Klingon. It turns out Dolph is Jewish and attends Hebrew school. Despite the fact that he appears to be wholly Caucasian, in the episode "Little Big Girl" he shows up to multicultural day with a disliked lower lip, suggesting some African or South American descent. He lied to his friends about not having a Bar Mitzvah, later claiming it had been "just family". He has also mentioned the fact that he has two fathers.

Kearney Zzyzwicz

Kearney Zzyzwicz is a minor antagonist of the TV animated series The Simpsons. he is one of Springfield Elementary's many bullies.

He was voiced by Nancy Cartwright.

It is often drawn to the viewer's attention that Kearney is much older than any of the other children at Springfield Elementary, and moreover he doesn't seem to be ashamed of it. One of his random Level-Up lines in Tapped Out suggests that Kearney remains in school simply because he can't be bothered to pass as he says school is an easy place to procrastinate. He's been seen shaving in the school bathrooms, smokes, has a driving licence, and owns an old-style Hyundai - Principal Skinner once attempted to pry off Kearney's hood ornament to replace the 'H' stolen from Superintendent Chalmers' Honda. He's also on the Church Council (along with Marge Simpson, Ned Flanders, Agnes Skinner, Helen Lovejoy and Jasper) and considers it an important part of the community, and is a member of the NRA, attending their meetings and practising on their range, so presumably he legally owns a gun.

Despite being 19 years old, Kearney still requires a fake ID to buy liquor and smokes, meaning his official ID may be invalid, presumably due to buying liquor and smokes for minors (like Jimbo and Dolph). He was in the third grade with Otto Mann[1] and while Jimbo and Dolph finally managed to pass from the fifth grade into the sixth (just as Bart passed from the third into the fourth), Kearney has remained in the fifth grade and seems to have given up on ever passing.

Another thing frequently drawn to attention is that Kearney has married, divorced, and had two sons, one of whom attends Springfield Elementary with him. Interestingly, before Kearney's status as a father was revealed, in Bart Gets an "F" it was Bart's nightmare that he would still be going to school with his sons.

Kearney, however, seems to be okay with it. Regarding divorces, he also was shown to sympathize with those who were the victim in any way with a divorce, such as when expressing his condolences to Milhouse when he learned that his parents had divorced.

In The Simpsons: Tapped Out, Kearney mentions he has a son called Jason, and 'Kearney Jr' has not yet been named in the show.

He has another possible son mentioned in the episode Eeny Teeny Maya, Moe.

---

Bart Simpson: Jimbo, Dolph, Kearney!? What are you doing here?!

Jimbo: What else? To kill you Bart.

Sam S.L.: I killed all three of you shortly before the war began.

Kearney: That's right you bitch!

Dolph: You will pay for that you dumb freak!

Sam S.L.: Sticks and stones you freaks.

Bart's girlfriends came and defended him.

Jessica Lovejoy: You want to get to Bart, then you'll have to go through us!

Laura Powers: Yeah!

Nelson: You picked the wrong person to fight!

Jimbo: Had I known you were gonna side with Bart, Nelson, I would've just snapped your neck the day I first met you!

Sam S.L.: You have a lot of problems! Lets dance!

Sam spread her wings of fire and she was ready to fight.

Johnny Rico: How many enemies do you all have J.D.?

Me: Numerous. We have a massive reputation on Earth and all over the universe.

Dizzy Flores: Wow.

Nico: But those three are really bad bullies.

We then saw an elephant shaped figure in the shadows.

Ben: Trumbipulor?

?: Sorry. I'm not him.

The figure stepped out to reveal himself and It was ELESTOMP from Episode 6 of Lightspeed Rescue!

---

Elestomp is an strong elephant themed monster, that was created by Loki to destroy Mariner Bay and the Lightspeed Rangers. Elestomp attacked the city. He sent shock waves through the ground to destroy the city. When the Rangers came they tried to battled Elestomp, but they were out matched. He charged through the rangers with full force. Elestomp was finally destroyed with a single shot of the Rescuebird.

---

Elestomp: But me and Trumbipulor do look alike.

Carter Grayson: Elestomp!

Kelsey Winslow: You have a lot of nerve coming here.

Me: I remember this guy! He was gonna destroy the city by stomping all over.

Elestomp: Anyone who makes a joke about me eating peanuts gets their head ripped off!

Me: That was proven to be just a myth.

Jake Holling: Ok. We may not have peanuts. But we do have this!

Megaforce Rangers: Legendary Ranger Mode: Race Force!

The Megaforce Rangers turned into the Japanese version of the Turbo Rangers.

Me: Try this.

Me and the Megaforce Rangers blasted him all over and Elestomp fell to the ground and exploded.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM

Sam punched Jimbo in the face and Bart kicked him in the crotch and kicked him in the face and Jessica and Laura kicked and punched Dolph and kicked him in the face and crotch and Bart and Jenny punched and kicked Kearney in the crotch and stomach and more.

They smashed them all over and knocked them down.

Amy then appeared.

Amy: You ruined everything for me Samey and you will pay for this!

Nico: You should know, Amy, that because of you impersonating Sammy, Technus ended up getting freed by you. So, anyone he seriously hurts in the future is your fault!

Amy: It's not my fault Lucy Loud didn't have a better security system.

Nico: She does have a point.

Me: What a bitch. We'll get Technus later.

Waffle Woman: And you have us to deal with.

We saw Number 7 and Waffle Woman.

Sammy: Great. We have to fight two girls of the Masters of Evil.

Number 7: We would've included Vypra. But she already had her shot yesterday.

Me: That's true. Lets dance!

We went at them and Tara and Edzilla smashed Waffle Woman and Number 7 and knocked them down and then Sammy set our sights of Amy.

Sammy: I will never forgive you for everything you've done to me Amy!

Amy: You are a worthless loser Samey!

Sammy: It's Sammy you loser!

Sammy fired a powerful blast of aura energy and it slammed into Amy and it hit her and exploded.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Amy was knocked down.

Chris McLean: The Interstellar Retribution wins!

We cheered wildly!

Amy: NOOOOOOO!

Waffle Woman: You may have won this challenge. But you still have 6 more to go!

With that, Waffle Woman's group teleport out.

Me: Always ready.

Vince: It was great being on this planet again.

Me: It sure was.

Johnny Rico: You guys ever need my help, just call me.

Me: Will do Johnny.

We shook hands and went back to the ship and we were with the fleet on Fleet Battlestation Ticonderoga.

Johnny Rico: (To the viewers) Do you have what it takes to join the Federation? Come join the Federation and win.

We later blew up the entire Klendathu System with the Superlaser and destroyed all the planets that were infected by the bugs and more and went to the next planet for the next challenge. Sam Sharp Loud and Bart and his girlfriends now have Jimbo, Dolph and Kearney as their arch nemesis's in the Masters of Evil.

Part 2 of the Total Drama Galaxy Saga is done.

Starship Troopers was an awesome story and it was awesome! NicoChan11 gave me the ideas for this. Thanks man. Next up for part 3 is where we face General Grievous from Star Wars on the planet Geonosis and we're going to make sure that he never escapes and dies.

See you all tomorrow.

TDG 3 - Space General Chaos

The U.S.S. Valorous Phoenix was flying through space.

Me: Captain's Log, Stardate 2800.3: It's day 3 of Total Drama Galaxy and we are all on our way to Challenge 3 of the most amazing competition ever. It'll be a dangerous competition, but we are ready for anything.

Laney: This is gonna be awesome.

Nico: It sure is.

We saw Roy and Stacy making out.

Me: Aww.

Arkayna: How did Roy and Stacy become a couple?

Beast Wars Scorponok: Would you believe it was during a storm?

Me: Yeah it was awesome. We were evacuated during a powerful storm and some of us were making out. It was before we met you guys.

Brock: The storm was the first time the Masters of Evil worked together with any of us.

Brock's Croagunk: Croagunk!

Me: Yep. That was awesome how they helped Lincoln, Clyde, Laney and Lily out. They got our respect then.

Nico: Yep.

Metroplex: (to Stacy) (Scottish Accent) It's like we told you, lass. You would find someone to love eventually. And you did.

Stacy Bolton: Thanks Metroplex.

Me: It was adorable though.

---

It was during the events of Last Loud On Earth and everyone was at the mall with everyone scared.

Stacy Bolton: This is a bad storm.

Roy Fitzgerald: I know Stacy. But look on the bright side, at least we still have each other.

Stacy: You're right Roy.

They got to kissing and making out.

FLASHBACK ENDS

Bart: It sure was. Hey J.D., I heard that Jimbo, Dolph and Kearney are now Sam's arch enemies in the Masters of Evil.

Me: You heard right Bart. From what I remember, they really loved making everyone's lives in Springfield miserable. Kid wise.

Bart: That's right.

Me: Boy those 3 bullies are a couple of grade "A+++" douchebags.

Lincoln: Yeah I've heard about Jimbo, Dolph and Kearney. They are monsters and true menaces of society.

Laney: Good way to describe them Lincoln.

Carol: I know. If I had an Arch Nemesis. I would have the entire Springfield Mafia.

Me: Oh yeah. Fat Tony, Legs and Louie. I've always liked those three. Fat Tony would be the next James Gandolfini on The Sopranos. He is the leader of the Springfield Mafia.

I went over their history.

Springfield Mafia

The premier family among the Springfield Mafia is the D'Amico Crime Family. Springfield Mafia members include Don Vittorio DiMaggio, Marion Anthony "Fat Tony" D'Amico, Michael D'Amico, Legs, Louie, Johnny Tightlips, Frankie the Squealer, Jimmy the Snitch, Joey, Nicky Bluepants Altosaxophony, and on specific occasions Bart Simpson and Homer Simpson. Like the real Mafia, they control various corrupt businesses, discreetly perform unsavory tasks for individuals in exchange for heavy payments that they are very aggressive in later collecting, and battle and frequently kill their enemies, who are mostly law enforcement and other criminals. The Springfield Mafia often non-lethally punish people for minor, petty things. For instance, when Homer ended up borrowing money from Fat Tony and losing it in a football game, Fat Tony hammered down a payment plan by having Louie hammer Homer's hand (using two hammers if he mentioned Professor Pigskin). Notable episodes featuring the Mafia include "Bart the Murderer", where Bart inadvertently stumbles upon the mob's hideout and is forced to become their bartender, and later is thought to have caused Principal Skinner to be killed by the mob (which turned out to be a misunderstanding), "The Twisted World of Marge Simpson", where Homer hires them to help with Marge's pretzel business and destroy her competitor's business, and when they return to collect their payment, they get into a fight with the Yakuza which the said rivals of Marge had also hired, and "The Mook, the Chef, the Wife and Her Homer", where Lisa makes friends with Fat Tony's son Michael, leading to the Simpsons again becoming involved with the Mafia. When Fat Tony is injured in an attack by a rival family, the Calabreses, and Homer briefly becomes the acting leader. Later, the Calabreses come to the Simpsons' house for dinner, and are poisoned and killed by Michael. In the recent episode "Donnie Fatso", Fat Tony dies of a heart attack and is replaced as leader of the mob by his cousin "Fit Tony", who as his name implies is much leaner and handsomer than Fat Tony. However, due to the new pressure of running the mob Fit Tony soon gains a lot of weight, and becomes identical to the original Fat Tony, making it as if nothing had happened.

Fat Tony

Marion Anthony "Fat Tony" D'Amico is a recurring antagonist in The Simpsons. He is the resident mafia crime lord. Although a comical take on the typical Italian-American stereotype he can be a genuine threat to other residents of Springfield and has varied from being used for comedy to being a fairly serious character, depending on the story.

He is voiced by Joe Mantegna, who also played Joey Zasa in The Godfather, Part III, and Grem in Cars 2.

Fat Tony's life seems to revolve around crime, in a similar fashion to Snake, however unlike the anarchic Snake - who commits crime at random and is often imprisoned - Fat Tony is a more subtle but no less dangerous criminal who commits his crimes (largely) in secret.

Fat Tony and his minions have had a few run-ins with Homer Simpson and his family, sometimes coming very close to killing the icon but always having their schemes foiled in some way or other.

In the season 22 episode "Donnie Fatso", Fat Tony dies of a heart attack. However, he is somewhat "revived" when his cousin Fit Tony takes over his job, gains weight, and is soon given Fat Tony's name.

Louie

Louis "Louie" Walters is a member of the Springfield mafia. He accompanies Fat Tony and Legs. He has curly black hair. Louie, Legs and Johnny Tightlips are the muscle. Fat Tony is his boss and he always listens to him, doing whatever told. He isn't afraid to kill or wound anyone who gets in his way.

Legs

Max Legman, better known as Legs is a member of the Springfield mafia. He accompanies Fat Tony and Louie.

Legs is the muscle, as are Louie and Johnny Tightlips. Fat Tony is his boss and he always listens to him, doing whatever told - including eating people or shooting at them.

Legs is an experienced mob doctor as he sews Homer's thumb back on after Marge cut it off by accident [1]. Legs mentions that he has a sister, and says that Barney takes pictures of her, and it is implied that he hates Barney for that.

---

Qin: Geez! Those guys are pure evil.

Me: The Mafia usually is pure evil. But they are formidable foes.

Nico: Indeed.

Lisa Loud: J.D., we have appeared to have arrived at our destination.

Me: On Screen.

The screen turned on and we were at the planet Geonosis.

---

Geonosis, referred to as Geonosia by some natives, was the desert home planet of the Geonosians. It was the Confederacy of Independent Systems' first capital and hosted its major battle droid foundries. It was the site of the Battle of Geonosis, the opening conflict of the Clone Wars, as well as the subsequent invasion by the Galactic Republic. Following the cessation of the Clone Wars, the Death Star would be constructed above the planet and placed under the command of Grand Moff Tarkin. Five years after the conflict's conclusion and transformation of the Galactic Republic, the Galactic Empire would garrison the planet heavily and attempt to mine the planet's asteroids for minerals. At least five years after the Clone Wars, the Empire moved the Death Star to another construction site and the planet was sterilized by the Empire as a security measure, an act which resulted in the virtual elimination of the planet's native population.

At some point in the ancient history of Geonosis, a comet crashed in one of the planet's many moons. The collision debris not only formed the famous rings of Geonosis, but also formed a field of small asteroids which would sometimes rain down on the planet's surface.

Under the Republic

Galactic colonizers were attracted to Geonosis when the Tatoo system was discovered due to its close proximity to Tatooine. When the Galactic Republic made first contact with the Geonosians, it was successful and beneficial to both groups. Due to this, the Geonosians became interested with Republic technology and became skilled in adapting and improving advanced technology. As such, Geonosians exported droids and other technology to the rest of the galaxy, although this didn't last long. Once Tatooine was almost abandoned by the first wave of colonizers, Geonosis suffered from its distance from the Core Worlds as visitors to the planet grew smaller and smaller until visitors stopped traveling to Geonosis altogether. Geonosian exports were more easily met by other manufacturers closer to the Core.

Geonosians became split over the idea of working with offworlders, and with the planet's economy in ruins, wars erupted throughout the planet for millennia, while the rest of the galaxy largely forgot the planet and left it to its endless wars. A few hundred years prior to the Separatist Crisis, the world was rediscovered by the Galactic Republic and manufacturing deals were made to sell and distribute their advanced technology and droids.

Meeting of the Separatists

In the later years of the Galactic Republic, Geonosis became a major base of operations for the Confederacy of Independent Systems, an alliance of separatists that spread across the galaxy. The enormous Geonosian droid factories began manufacture of tens of thousands of different types of battle droids, thus maintaining their own Geonosian droid army. During that time, Geonosis built droid armies for large corporations such as the Trade Federation. Ten years after the election of Sheev Palpatine as Supreme Chancellor of the Republic, the Archduke of Geonosis, Poggle the Lesser, hosted a summit of the heads of the Confederacy. During that meeting, the trade barons pledged their military forces to Count Dooku, a defrocked Jedi Master and head of the Confederacy. While the Separatists were ready to wage war, their plans were overheard by Obi-Wan Kenobi, a Jedi Master.

The Geonosians took Kenobi captive, but he managed to dispatch a distress call to his superiors on Coruscant, the Jedi High Council. The Council then dispatched an assault team of Jedi to Geonosis. Meanwhile, the Geonosians sentenced Master Kenobi to death in the Petranaki arena along with his apprentice Anakin Skywalker, and the Republic senator Padmé Amidala. Eventually, the Jedi reinforcements arrived, and quickly dealt with the Geonosian warriors. However, the immense droid army of the Confederacy was laying in wait, and many Jedi fell under enemy fire. When all seemed lost, even more reinforcements arrived, in the form of the newly created Grand Army of the Republic, which made use of the clone troopers. Upon the arrival of the clone army, the Republic and the Confederacy engaged in the first battle of what was soon known as the Clone Wars.

Second invasion by the Republic

After Geonosis was again under the control of the Separatists, and following the Battle near Dorin, the Republic sent Jedi Generals Ki-Adi-Mundi, Obi-Wan Kenobi, Luminara Unduli, and Anakin Skywalker to take Geonosis with a massive invasion. As they made their descent, Kenobi's and his Clone Commander's, Cody, force boarded their gunships and flew to secure the rendezvous point. However their gunships came under heavy fire from the Geonosians and their defenses. Mundi and Commander Jet's forces followed him but they were forced to land their AT-TEs away from the rendezvous due to the heavy fire. Skywalker's, Jedi Commander Ahsoka Tano's, and Clone Captain Rex gunships were shot down and all their AT-TEs were destroyed. Despite that, they continued towards to the rendezvous point and were met with heavy resistance from the Geonosians. Mundi's gunship was shot down and he was wounded. Cody was able to land his AT-TEs, but the landing area came under fire from the Geonosians and their AATs. Kenobi's gunship was then hit and crash landed away from the landing zone. Only Kenobi and Trapper survived the crash and were then rescued by clone troopers Waxer and Boil. Kenobi, Cody and their troopers then held the rendezvous awaiting Skywalker's and Mundi's forces.

As Mundi's forces made their way through the Caltrop field to the rendezvous point, Jet contacted Republic Admiral Wullf Yularen for air support. The Admiral however, could not divert any air support with risks to other units. Jet then left a squad with the AT-TE walkers and with Mundi and his clone flametroopers continued to the rendezvous. Skywalker and his force then came to a fortress that blocked their path. Skywalker and Tano then scaled the wall. They were able to destroy the battle droids, but they were then confronted by Droidekas who they were able to defeat with Rex's help. They then placed their explosives inside the wall and their way was cleared. Skywalker's forces were then able to meet up with Mundi's forces. Skywalker then contacted Yularen for air support and Yularen was able to provide a squadron of BTL-B Y-wing fighter-bombers.

As Kenobi's forces were being overrun, the bombers then took out the Geonosians' forces surrounding the rendezvous. Skywalker's and Mundi's forces then joined Kenobi's to plan the last part of their attack. Skywalker would attack the defenses of the Deflector shield generator while AT-TEs were brought in and Mundi brought in the remaining troops and the gunships. Skywalker, Tano and a squad were able to penetrate the shield. They then threw droid poppers at the defending proton cannons, which disabled the cannons. Kenobi then brought the AT-TEs in range of the shield generator and destroyed. After the shield went down, Mundi brought in the gunships and captured Geonosians still at this location. Kenobi and Mundi, along with the rest of their wounded, left to recuperate, leaving Skywalker, Tano his Padawan, and their force to destroy the factory.

Destroying the factory

To help Skywalker, Tano and their forces in destroying the factory, Unduli, along with her apprentice Barriss Offee and Commander Gree's 41st Elite Corps came to assist in the attack. They devised a plan to destroy the primary droid factory. Unduli and Skywalker then marched their troops across the bridge, without cover to get Poggle's forces' attention. During his time their, Poggle and his tactical droid, TX-21 were running the factory at 50% capacity and had ten garrisons of droids ready to be deployed. The super tanks were not finished yet but would be ready. The droids were then deployed, marching across the bridge to fight the clones. As the two forces fought, TX-21 then sent in geonosians to attack from above. Despite this, Skywalker's and Unduli's forces were able to defeat the droids. However, Poggle, at the urging of TX-21, deployed the super tanks. As they moved in on the clones, Skywalker ordered their cannons to fire at it, to no affect. The super tanks rolled over the clones as they made their way across the bridge.

As battle raged above, Offee and Tano were able to make their way through the catacombs to the main reactor. Unfortunately, Offee inadvertently woke one of the Geonosians, who informed Poggle and TX-21 of this. After planting the bombs, Offee and Tano were then confronted by Poggle, TX-21, their Geonoisans and a super tank. Tano then destroyed TX-21, but failed to even dent the super tank. Offee and Tano then fought the Geonosian to get their bombs back, but failed. When Tano was knocked out, Offee took the droid drivers and took control of the super tank. Both of them decided to use the tank to destroy the factory.

As the super tanks moved across the bridge, Unduli and Skywalker planted explosives to make the tanks fall into the ravine. They were succesful in destroying the tanks. However, they were then confronted by more battle droids. Skywalker then contacted Tano, telling her to set the bombs off. However, they then used the tank, knowing it might kill them. They fired the tank at the reactor, and the factory collapsed, burying them inside the wreckage. Despite that, Skywalker and Unduli were able find their apprentices alive.

Searching for Poggle

Following the successful invasion, Jedi Master Luminara Unduli went in search of Poggle the Lesser, who had retreated into the catacombs of an ancient temple. While she and a trooper searched the temple, a sandstorm prohibited reinforcements from reaching their positions. While communicating with Masters Kenobi and Mundi via hologram, Unduli's clone trooper was killed by the undead hordes of the mysterious Hive Queen Karina the Great. Having been knocked unconscious and captured, the Jedi Master was taken before Karina. Jedi Kenobi and Skywalker came to her rescue; they were not far off when Luminara regained consciousness and wrestled her way out of the zombies' reach. Realizing what they were up against, she contacted Kenobi to warn him not to come after her, but was cut off as the zombies overwhelmed her. The Jedi disregarded her warnings and continued their search until they came upon Karina's abode, where they found Luminara in an energy trap for her to be infested with brain worms. With Kenobi and Cody delaying the zombies and the Queen, Skywalker freed Unduli and the two captured Poggle. Cody and his troops shot down the cave support, burying the Queen and taking Poggle prisoner.

Sabotage

Circa 18 BBY, Sith Lord Darth Vader arrived on Geonosis under command of Governor Wilhuff Tarkin. While Vader was on the planet, he and Director Orson Krennic nearly fell victim to a series of acts of sabotage. As a result, Vader began to investigate the situation, and discovered that a Geonosian egg had been shipped to Galen Erso. Vader then executed a Geonosian queen, who was responsible for breeding the group of Geonosians at fault for the sabotage.

Sterilization

At the end of the Clone Wars, the Galactic Republic was replaced by the First Galactic Empire, a tyrannical, autocratic regime led by the Dark Lord of the Sith Darth Sidious. Subsequently, the Death Star's construction was commenced above Geonosis. The Empire utilized numerous construction modules operated by slaves of various species to construct the battlestation.

In 14 BBY, the Imperials attempted to mine the asteroids of Geonosis for minerals, but the project proved unfeasible. Geonosis was the site of the Death Star's construction site and was supplied by a chain of marshaling stations including Rampart Station, Desolation Station, and Sentinel Base. Following the suppression of Berch Teller's rebel cell, the newly appointed Grand Moff Wilhuff Tarkin enacted procedures limiting contact between workers (including contractors, employees, and slaves) and the wider galaxy, cancelling leaves and strictly monitoring communications. After Tarkin returned from a tour of his homeworld Eriadu, the Grand Moff ordered for the station's sublight engines to be activated, taking the Death Star into deep space.

After the rebel Partisan Saw Gerrera came close enough to discovering the station, the Empire was prompted to move it from Geonosis to Scarif in 10 BBY. All that remained were a series of Imperial construction modules orbiting the planet Geonosis. The Empire also used poison canisters to sterilize the planet as a security measure, killing all but one of the Geonosians.

In 3 BBY, the Lothal rebel cell along with retired Clone trooper Rex were sent on a mission to one of the construction modules after rebel intelligence discovered the Empire had been building something above the planet, which unknown to them was the Death Star. Upon arriving above Geonosis, the rebels conducted a planetary scan and discovered there was no life on the planet, much to their confusion. Once they arrived at the construction module, they were ambushed by ISB Agent Kallus and several stormtroopers. After a brief skirmish aboard the station, the rebels escaped, however Kallus and the rebel Zeb were still locked in combat. Zeb boarded an escape pod and Kallus followed him in. The pod soon experienced an engine malfunction, causing it to crash on the icy moon of Bahryn. Striking the beginning of an unlikely friendship, the Imperial agent and the rebel managed to overcome the cold and fend off two bonzami to survive. After a few hours, the rest of the rebels managed to locate them by tracking their transponder, however Kallus decide to stay behind and wait for the Empire. After saying their farewells Zeb left for the ship.

Rescue of Saw Gerrera

In 2 BBY, Gerrera and his Partisans undertook a mission on behalf of Rebel Command to investigate the disappearance of the Geonosian species. During the course of their mission, they were attacked by the Geonosian Klik-Klak, who mistook them for hostiles. Most of Saw's team were killed, leaving Saw as the sole survivor. After losing contact with Saw, Senator Bail Organa dispatched the Spectres rebel cell and Captain Rex to complete Saw's mission. Upon arriving, they discovered that Imperial construction modules and debris they had seen the last time had been cleared away.

While Hera stayed aboard the Ghost, Rex, Ezra Bridger, Kanan Jarrus, and Chopper searched the catacombs for Saw while Sabine Wren and Garazeb Orrelios investigated a deflector shield generator, which turned out to be the power source that Saw's team had reported before losing contact. After finding Saw, the Spectres and Rex agreed to help him capture Klik-Klak in order to find out what happened to the Geonosians. Following a prolonged pursuit, the rebels managed to capture Klik-Klak while Sabine and Zeb managed to recover the generator's deflector core.

While Saw was hostile to Klik-Klak, Ezra managed to win the trust of the Geonosian. The rebels subsequently learned that Klik-Klak was the custodian of the last Geonosian queen egg. After some discussion, Kanan convinced Saw to return Klik-Klak to Geonosis after they had finished questioning him. The rebels' presence on Geonosis attracted the attention of an Arquitens-class command cruiser led by Captain Brunson. After escaping two TIE bombers, Hera, Zeb, and Sabine flew the Ghost into an air shaft and rendezvoused with the other rebels and Klik-Klak.

A fierce disagreement soon broke out between the Spectres, Rex, and Saw. The Spectres and Rex disagreed with Saw's plan to take Klik-Klak offworld for interrogation and harsh methods which included electrocuting him with a shocker. Following a struggle, Saw threatened to shoot the Geonosian queen's egg in order to obtain information from Klik-Klak. Before the argument could escalate, the rebels and Saw were forced to join forces to repel an Imperial boarding party consisting of Jumptroopers. To flee the Imperials, Hera took the Ghost into the depths of Geonosis.

Upon reaching the bottom, the rebels and Saw discovered that the Imperial weapons division had perpetrated genocide against the Geonosians using poison canisters. Saw, experiencing a change of heart, freed Klik-Klak and allowed him to retreat underground with the Geonosian queen egg. The rebels then loaded some canisters as evidence for the Imperial Senate. The Ghost then managed to escape the shaft by firing proton torpedoes at Bronson's light cruiser. Despite fleeing into space, they lost the canisters in the process.

Following their mission, the rebels were debriefed by Senator Organa and Commander Jun Sato. Despite losing the canisters, Organa reassured them that the images they took of the poison canisters could sway more systems to the rebellion. Sato also congratulated them for rescuing Saw and obtaining a deflector core. While Saw was disappointed that they had not discovered what the Empire was building on Geonosis, Kanan reassured them that they soon would.

Capturing the droid factory

Following the Battle of Yavin, Skywalker, now the Sith Lord Darth Vader, returned to Geonosis. Having been one of only a few individuals to survive the destruction of the Death Star, Vader had been sanctioned by the Emperor, both as punishment and as part of a test for Vader. Finding himself in need of guaranteeable personal assets free from Imperial oversight; troops, credits and the like, Vader recruited the rogue archaeologist Doctor Aphra and the assassin droids BT-1 and 0-0-0 to assist him in building an army of unquestionably loyal battle droids. Vader soon arrived on the planet and his team infiltrated the lair of Karina, who had hatched from the egg protected by Klik-Klak. An injury that she had suffered before hatching had rendered her sterile, but her instinct to reproduce had influenced her to create a droid factory to produce modified B1 battle droids as her "children". While BT-1 fired on the queen's droid workers, Vader and Aphra severed the queen from her factory, and Aphra used her starship, the Ark Angel, to blow a large hole in the roof of the lair so that Vader's own starship could then extract both the factory and Vader's team with a large crane. The captured droid factory began producing BX-series droid commandos for Vader, which he used to assault the research base of a rival Imperial operative named Cylo.

Me: The planet Geonosis!

Laney: Wow! From Star Wars.

Nico: Cool!

Chris McLean then appeared.

Chris McLean: That's right everyone. The next challenge is on the planet Geonosis! Here you all are going to be fighting the ruthless

General Grievous!

We gasp in shock!

Me: General Grievous!? I remember him.

Anakin: But that's impossible! You killed him didn't you Obi-Wan?

Obi-Wan: Yes I did. Blasted a hole through his heart.

Me: Wow. Lets see what it says about him.

I pulled up his history.

General Grievous is the cyborg supreme commander of the CIS Droid Army, and a major antagonist in the Star Wars universe.

He appeared as the secondary antagonist of both Star Wars: Episode III - Revenge of the Sith and the 2008 TV series Star Wars: The Clone Wars, and as a posthumous antagonist in the 2019 video game Star Wars Jedi: Fallen Order. He also served as a minor antagonist in Season 2 of the Legends 2003 miniseries Star Wars: Clone Wars, as well as the main antagonist of Season 3.

Grievous has an extremely ruthless and undemonstrative personality. He often loses his temper and becomes argumentative and impatient with battle droids that serve him when they do not fulfill his desires to the point into destroying one of them. It is not uncommon for him to destroy one of his droids in his anger. Although General Grievous is strong, he underestimates the power of the Republic and the Jedi which leads to his loss in some of the battles.

He was voiced by Matthew Wood throughout most of his appearances in Star Wars related media while also being voiced by John DiMaggio in Season 2 of Star Wars: Clone Wars and Richard McGongale in Season 3 of the same series.

Grievous was known as a fearsome warrior that has killed a countless number of people throughout the galaxy. Originally a

Kaleesh warlord that hailed from the Kalee, the man who would come to be known as General Grievous quickly became a feared force on the battlefield.

As a commander, Grievous lead his people to victory over those who had invaded their home. However, during the battle, he was involved in a violent crash when his speeder was destroyed, injuring and even mutilating his body. Despite this, Grievous' tactical prowess had attracted attention from the Sith Lords Darth Sidious and Count Dooku, who, with the help of the InterGalactic Banking Clan and the willing approval from Grievous himself, rebuilt Grievous as a cyborg to become more powerful. The cyborg body included versatile mechanized extremities, leaving only a select few internal organs as well as his eyes, brain, heart, and lungs organic.

Dooku trained Grievous in the ways of the Sith and Jedi (despite Grievous being neither), especially in the art of lightsaber combat. Grievous excelled in his mastery of the weapon, leading it to become one of his primary weapons aside from his blaster sidearm.

Star Wars: The Clone Wars

During the war, Grievous was put in charge of the Separatist warship called the Malevolence, a Subjugator-class heavy cruiser that possessed two powerful mega-ion cannons capable of obliterating entire Republic fleets on both the starboard side and port side of the ship. Grievous destroyed several fleets while in command of the Malevolence, even Jedi General Plo Koon eventually took a fleet to deal with Grievous, but his fleet was no match for the Malevolence's ion cannon.

Koon and a few of his troops survived but were faced with ships sent by Grievous to destroy the Republic escape pods. Koon and his men were eventually rescued by Jedi Knight Anakin Skywalker who then delivered news of the weapons to the Republic.

Count Dooku later gave Grievous permission to attack a Republic medical station in the Kaliida Nebula. However, upon arrival, Anakin and a fleet of Republic ships emerged from hyperspace to defend the medical station and destroy the Malevolence. Grievous had no choice but to engage Anakin's fleet in battle, then aimed the ion cannon at the medical station and ordered his droids to open fire. Before they could fire, however, the Republic fleet attacked and disabled the ion cannon and caused it to explode, even damaging the hyperdrive, angering Grievous. Grievous demanded his battle droids to repair both the ion cannon and hyperdrive immediately, which they complied to do.

Eventually, Obi-Wan Kenobi, a Jedi that Grievous faced countless times throughout the war, attacked the Malevolence with a fleet of three Star Destroyers, including the Resolute, Anakin's flagship. The general ordered that they jump to hyperspace so they would be safe in Separatist controlled space, however, a battle droid told Grievous that the hyperdrive took some damage during the attack. Contacted by Dooku, the Sith Lord was informed by the cyborg that the Malevolence had taken heavy damage from the destruction of the weapon, which led to Dooku informing Grievous that the Naboo Senator, Senator Padmé Amidala was onroute to the battle that she was unknowingly heading to, where the general would capture her and cause the Republic to stop firing on the warship, though Amidala suggested that they continue their attack and destroy it once and for all.

However, Padmé Amidala overloaded her ship's engines to self-destruct to destroy the cyborg general. The ship blew up, taking two battle droids with it, however, Grievous survived and began searching for the senator, eventually being informed that the damage that was dealt to the hyperdrive was not as bad as once thought and that they would be able to repair it and get underway shortly.

Anakin and Obi-Wan eventually arrived on board the Malevolence to rescue the Senator and C-3PO so the Republic ships could continue firing upon the monstrous warship. The Jedi both split separate ways and they learned from Padmé that the battle droids were almost finished repairing the hyperdrive, which prompted Obi-Wan to go to the hyperdrive control room and sabotage it to delay their escape and buy the Republic more time for another nearby Republic fleet led by Jedi Master Luminara Unduli to reinforce them after she finished fighting Separatist forces in a battle nearby the Kaliida Nebula. However, Kenobi was ambushed by a small squad of battle droids and his nemesis and was forced to escape from the room without sabotaging the hyperdrive and Grievous told his droids to guard the hyperdrive before he pursued the Jedi.

After the Malevolence was destroyed, Grievous secretly planned a surprise attack on the cloning facilities of Kamino with Asajj Ventress, where they would end the production of clone troopers to be victorious in the war, so Grievous sent a squad of new Separatist battle droids, BX-series droid commandos, to the Republic listening post on the Rishi Moon and keep the all-clear signal active to succeed in the attack on Kamino without the Republic knowing until it was too late. However, Hevy, Echo, Fives, Cutup, Droidbait, Sergeant O'Niner, Nub and the other clones that maintained the base, fought back against the droids with the help of Commander Cody and Captain Rex, though some of the clones were killed at the beginning of the attack, including O'Niner, Droidbait and Nub.

Grievous' next target was the planet Bothawui, which housed a Republic intelligence center. The Jedi Council dispatched Anakin Skywalker and his Padawan learner, Ahsoka Tano, with a newly-christened fleet of Venator-class Star Destroyers to stop the cyborg. Grievous cut the Jedi out of their hyperlanes and engaged the Jedi three times in open space before Skywalker and his fleet escaped and took a direct course to Bothawui.

Grievous fled from his ship in Soulless One, a Belbullab-22 starfighter and was pursued by Skywalker but Grievous was able to jump to hyperspace and retreat away from the battle due to Skywalker's fighter crashing into debris, destroying his fighter.

Grievous confronted Tano and her clone squad on listening post after ordering his IG-100 MagnaGuards to guard R2-D2. The general killed all the clones but Rex and Denal. Ahsoka defended herself against Grievous's blows and retreated to a room filled with spare droid parts to hide, only for a traitorous astromech droid to give her away. Grievous destroyed her comlink, and she managed to escape through a vent.

Upon his arrival at his fortress on the third moon of Vassek, Grievous was confronted by Jedi Master Kit Fisto and Jedi Knight Nahdar Vebb along with their squad of clones, who were led there by a homing device that was attached to a Consular-class cruiser that was stolen by Asajj Ventress to escape with the Viceroy Nute Gunray, however, they were misled to the moon by the homing beacon and the Viceroy was safe elsewhere. Suddenly, Count Dooku appeared on a hologram and indirectly mentioned that Nute Gunray was indeed somewhere else in the galaxy and also indirectly proclaimed that the Separatists' second-in-command, General Grievous, was an alternative for the Viceroy of the Trade Federation. Soon thereafter, a door was activated by a button that was remotely pressed by the Sith Lord, revealing a room that contained statues of Grievous' transformation into a cyborg and at least 15 Jedi Padawan braids, showing the Jedi how many members from the Jedi Order were murdered by Grievous.

After entering his fortress, Grievous called out for Gor, a Roggwart which he considered his pet, and was confronted by the Jedi and Clone troopers. He quickly engaged his intruders but lost his legs to Fisto, however, he still managed to kill a few clones with his legs cut off and proceeded to escape to the fortress' control room, where he was repaired by EV-A4-D, his droid doctor. Grievous then asked the droid what happened to his bodyguards and was told that for recharge, they were remotely deactived, leading the droid to assume that his master was the one who deactivated them and Grievous immediately reactivated them and ordered them to secure the perimeter of his fortress. Fisto asked the two clones that were guarding the ships, Niner and Bel, to send a transmission to the Republic to bring reinforcements to Vassek 3, although they were killed inside the Nu-class attack shuttle after one of Grievous' MagnaGuards destroyed the shuttle with a rocket launcher.

Grievous left the intruders at the mercy of his pet Roggwart, Gor, before being contacted by Dooku, who confirmed to Grievous that this was a test for him since his defeats had shaken Dooku's faith in the general. Grievous decided to play along and Fisto and Vebb soon found the entrance to Grievous' control room. But as they tried to sneak in, Vebb chose to confront Grievous instead, despite Fisto trying to convince him otherwise. In the midst of their argument, EV-A4-D locks Fisto away from Vebb and the Jedi defeated all five of Grievous' guards.

Vebb proceeds to attack Grievous, but the general killed the young Jedi by pulling a blaster on him as they fought. Grievous engaged Fist in combat, but he started to gain the upper hand until some of Grievous' MagnaGuards arrived, turning the odds against him. As R6-H5 arrives with his starfighter, Fisto escaped and returns to the Jedi Temple on Coruscant.

Grievous eventually captured Jedi Master, Eeth Koth, and then contacted the Jedi Temple. In his message, he declared his victory over the Jedi to show one of the MagnaGuards torturing Koth promising that the Jedi Master's death would be slow, much to the horror of the Jedi watching.

However, Plo Koon and Commander Wolffe noticed a coded message made by hand gestures of Koth, which was decoded by Obi-Wan, telling them that Grievous was in the Saleucami system.

Obi-Wan Kenobi, Anakin Skywalker and Adi Gallia thus departed to rescue Eeth Koth and capture Grievous. Kenobi entered the Separatist ship and fought the MagnaGuards and eventually Grievous.

Count Dooku secretly instructed General Grievous to order a group of explosive droids disguised as sanitary units on Coruscant to conduct sabotage on Coruscant power generator. Grievous contacted the droids and ordered them to proceed. Grievous's units were successful in making the Republic deregulate the banks.

After the destruction of the moon post on Rishi, General Grievous and Asajj Ventress planned an attack on the cloning facilities on Kamino Grievous attacks the barracks to kill all the clones he can find there, while Ventress heads for the main DNA storage to grab the prime DNA sample of the clones' template. Grievous ordered his droids to throw the other clones out of there but was confronted by Obi-Wan Kenobi, and the two engaged in a lightsaber duel. Grievous escaped with Ventress when a Trident-class assault craft unit broke the platform they were fighting on.

Soon afterward, Grievous suffered a humiliating defeat when he attempted to invade Naboo. Jar Jar Binks (posing as Gungan Boss Lyonie) distracted Grievous in a series of negotiations long enough for the Gungan Army to shut down Grievous's invasion force. As Grievous pursued Jar Jar, he slaughtered many Gungan Grand Army soldiers. At that moment, General Tarpals intervened and engaged Grievous in a duel. Although he was mortally wounded by the cyborg, Tarpals impaled Grievous through his chest which allows the Gungan Army to bombard the wounded general with energized projectiles and capture him. However, Grievous was freed in a prisoner exchange with Skywalker between Dooku and Padmé Amidala.

After Savage's trumpery, Grievous was ordered by Count Dooku to wipe out Asajj Ventress, Mother Talzin, and her fellow Nightsisters on Dathomir. Grievous took a Separatist Fleet to Dathomir and landed his forces. The Separatist forces successfully defeated the Nightsisters, with Grievous himself killing Old Daka while Mother Talzin escaped through the use of her magic. The Separatists were unable to capture or kill Asajj Ventress, who also escaped.

After forcing Kenobi to a retreat on Floruum, Grievous and his forces took Ohnaka's base as retribution for previously holding Dooku to ransom. Grievous prepares to board the Jedi's speeder tank, which forces R2 to execute some risky maneuvers in an attempt to shake him off. However, this move leaves the tank crashed instead. The stunned Jedi recover just as Grievous moves in for the kill when Ohnaka's escape ship, the rebuilt Slave I, arrives on the scene to pick him up. Ahsoka sends her youngling charges to the craft and engages Grievous in combat to cover their escape. She then barely escapes onto the ship on her own, and before Hondo has a chance to properly repay Grievous for his cordiality, though two Armored Assault Tanks soon forced them to withdraw from the planet and force Hondo into heading for Coruscant, where he would return Ahsoka and the younglings to the Jedi Temple, their home.

Grievous appears as a major character in the four-part comic series, Son of Dathomir, an unproduced story arc intended for The Clone Wars season six. The cyborg general is sent by Dooku to hunt down the rogue Sith Lord Darth Maul, who has become a significant threat to Sidious's plans. Grievous is ordered to only wound Maul's forces, but not kill him; this is in order to draw out Mother Talzin, who is later revealed to be Maul's blood mother. Though he thinks it foolish to keep Maul alive, Grievous does as he is told. He takes a huge army of droids to Zanbar and attacks Maul's army of Death Watch warriors. Despite heavy casualties, Grievous' droids ultimately win the battle. During the battle, Grievous briefly fights Maul and wins, forcing him to flee. Later, Grievous and Dooku are lured into a trap by Maul and his minions and are taken prisoner in order to draw out Sidious. However, Grievous soon escapes and rejoins Sidious, who orders Grievous to attack Dathomir again, where Maul and Talzin are planning using Dooku as a sacrifice to restore Talzin to full strength. Sidious fights Talzin while Grievous duels Maul again. Maul eventually overpowers Grievous and Force-pushes him through a wall. Grievous quickly reappears, however, and after Sidious and Dooku have subdued Talzin (who has thrown Maul out of the battle to save his life), Grievous stabs her through the chest with his lightsabers, killing her.

Star Wars: Episode III - Revenge of the Sith

Near the end of the war, General Grievous led a daring mission in the kidnapping of Chancellor Palpatine in the Battle of Coruscant under the orders of Count Dooku. Keeping his prisoner in the custody of Dooku aboard his flagship, Grievous was unsurprised when Jedi Obi-Wan Kenobi and Anakin Skywalker arrived to stage a rescue.

The Jedi proved victorious, with Anakin killing Dooku and freeing the Chancellor, but were soon apprehended by Grievous' droids. Brought before him, Grievous took their lightsabers, boasting that they would make a fine addition to his collection.

Thanks to some of R2-D2's clever trickery, however, the Jedi regained their weapons and cornered the droid army leader. In a last-second move, Grievous shattered the bridge viewport and escaped into space.

Grievous headed for a major Separatist base on Utapau. Speaking with Darth Sidious, he was assured that the war was coming to an end, and the Separatists would be victorious. Still, it would prove to be short-lived comfort for the walking terror. Obi-Wan soon arrived with a battalion of clones, and the Battle of Utapau began.

General-Grievous Lightsabers

The General and Obi-Wan duelled, and despite wielding four lightsabers at once, Grievous was dismembered and once again tried to flee. Obi-Wan gave chase, and the two eventually fought in a knock-down drag-out fist fight.

The Jedi had lost his lightsaber and found himself dangling from a cliff, and Grievous appeared to have the upper hand. As the General menacingly lurched forward, prepared to deliver the final blow, Obi-Wan used the Force to draw Grievous' blaster into his hand. He shot Grievous in the chest, five times, igniting what remained of his organic matter, and the menace was no more.

Legacy

Years after Grievous' death, a Mon Calamari named Karbin was modified with cybernetic enhancements by an Imperial researcher named Cylo, who intended to create people such as Karbin to replace Darth Vader as the Emperor's new apprentice but will be killed by Vader himself. In Karbin's case, he was modified after the late Grievous.

After the Battle of Endor, it was implied that when building Mister Bones, Temmin Wexley had use some of Grievous' programming to create him.

Overall role in the plan of the Sith

Palpatine, who was actually in control of Grievous, intentionally had the General perform horrible war-crimes throughout the war, such as brutal bombing's of civilian world's and the use of chemical warfare, that would strike fear into the hearts of the public. This would help the civilians accept the new role of Galactic Empire, that would protect them from future threats like him.

Grievous, like most of the key most Separatist-leaders, was also a non-human, which helped the Empire's humans-first policy, as so many of the war-criminals were non-humans.

Grievous was continually used in Imperial propaganda as a reminder for the horror's of the war, and many rebellions were often compared to the late general's achievements in the news.

Qin: Whoa! That is awful! But I thought that Obi-Wan killed him.

Me: Yeah.

My dark orb detector beeped. It showed a Dark Orb on Geonosis.

Me: He must've been brought back with a Dark Orb.

Nico: Oh yeah! Now we can kill him.

Me: This is gonna be awesome!

Eva: Not if I kill him first.

Me: Oh great. Eva. You haven't changed at all you bitch.

Eva: I hope you brought a towel.

Maria: Why?

Eva: To clean up your blood when I'm done killing all of you!

Me: You're insane Eva.

Chris McLean: Now we know who is going next.

Trypticon: Trypticon is ready.

Me: Lets do it!

We landed on Geonosis and got out and we saw that it was a huge desert planet.

Me: Wow.

Qin: So this is Geonosis. It's amazing.

Nico: It sure is. It's a desert planet.

Me: I sure is beautiful though. Lets head for Petrinaki Arena.

We walked around and we saw much of the landscape and it was a scary world. It was amazing though.

Me: Wow. Lincoln, from what I remember you were here when you fought Count Dooku.

Lincoln: That's right. And it was a powerful fight.

Nico: Wow.

We arrived at Petrinaki Arena.

Me: Wow. So this is Petrinaki Arena. It's just as amazing as what we saw on Earth.

Lana: It sure is.

Lincoln: Yeah.

Nico: It's hard to imagine that this is also the spot where Anakin, Padme and Obi-Wan were about to be executed.

Ahsoka: No kidding. But it's good that they escaped.

Padme: Thanks to me.

Nico: I remember that. It was awesome.

We were in the middle of the arena.

Me: Wow. This looks like the coliseum from Rome. But on another planet.

Lisa Loud: Indeed it does.

Then we heard a gun cock was we saw FAT TONY, LEGS AND LOUIE! Fat Tony had a gun pointed at Carol's head!

Fat Tony: (presses gun at Carol's head) (Italian Accent) One shot to the head is all I need.

Me: Well well well. If it isn't Fat Tony and his two mobster cohorts.

Legs: Get in my way and I'll whack you in the labonza.

Me: Get in my way Legs and I'll kick you in the fucking balls.

Legs: What did you say to me!?

Me: You heard me you fucking ballbusting fuckpot!

Carol then punched Legs in the face and kicked Louie in the chin and she grabbed Fat Tony and flipped him onto the ground and she grabbed his gun and shot Legs and Louie in their crotches.

BANG! BANG!

We winced as they screamed in pain.

Me: OOOHHH! That's gonna hurt!

Vince: No shit. But that was awesome Carol!

Louie got up.

Louie: You got a beef with me?

Me: Yeah I got a beef with you Louie.

I put on Brace Knuckles with Spikes.

Me: And it's really gonna hurt.

?: (Cyborg Voice) Then you will be hurt even more.

We turned and then we saw GENERAL GRIEVOUS!

Me: General Grievous!

Anakin: I thought you were dead!

General Grievous: Skywalker. How long has it been since our last battle?

Anakin: Too long. I was turned to the dark side of the Force because of people like you. Palpatine turned me into a monster.

Me: And he's dead now.

General Grievous: So you killed Emperor Palpatine.

Me: And he deserved to die. Just like you will.

?: And you will die with him.

We saw a figure come out and it was NEEDLENOSE from the Wild West Rangers special!

---

Needlenose was a cactus monster created by Lord Zedd from a rare species of cactus (classified as cactal vocifera spinoctera) that Tommy gave to Kimberly as a gift. Needlenose used paralyzing needles to weaken his opponents. Zedd wanted Goldar & Needlenose to act quickly, traveling back in time to 1880 through a time hole, where they encountered Kimberly (who had previously fallen through said timehole) and the ancestors of the modern-day Power Rangers. After being almost defeated, Needlenose and Goldar traveled back to the present. After being made huge by Zedd, Needlenose began throwing his sharp cactus-like projectiles at the Mega Tigerzord, although they were soon bounced back by a shield barrier created by the zord. Needlenose is destroyed by the Mega Tigerzord's Firebird attack. When Needlenose was destroyed, the cactus he was created from was returned to normal.

---

Kimberly Ann Hart: Needlenose!

Needlenose: Long time no see Pink Ranger. Things have changed since the old west.

Me: I remember this guy! You met him after accidentally traveling back in time to the old west and you met your Wild West Ancestors.

Nico: Boy I remember watching that! That was so cool that you got to meet the Rangers Great-Great-Great Grandparents.

Tommy Oliver: I remember that! That was amazing!

Billy Cranston: It sure was.

Trini Kwan: Yeah.

Laney: That was amazing! I remember seeing that as well.

Kimberly Ann Hart: Yeah it was cool.

Needlenose: It was a touching moment. You watched us on tv huh?

Me: Yep. Never missed an episode.

William (to Needlenose): So, what were the Wild West Rangers like?

Needlenose: They're annoying like all Power Rangers. But I prefer to fight the Rangers of modern times.

Me: Welcome to the 21st Century.

Vanitas: I'm glad you caught up.

We saw Vanitas and Zs'Skayr appear.

Duncan: Great. It's the creepy duo.

Total Drama Gwen: Oh, c'mon! I kinda think they're cool.

Vanitas: Thanks for the compliment. But I'm not interested in dating girls on opposite sides.

Nico: That would be nice if you had a girlfriend.

Me: Yeah.

Vanitas: I'll find one eventually.

Eva: (to the bad guys) You want those losers? You can have them! Little Miss Backstabbing Traitor Bitch is mine! I have a score to settle with her!

Me: You mean Bridgette?

Nico: Why can't you just leave her alone?

Lincoln: Yeah you heartless psychopathic freak!

Me: Lets dance!

I ignited my lightsaber and the Jedi did the same and so did Nicole and Riley.

Troy Burrows: We may not have Wild West Ranger Keys. But we have Ranger Keys just as good.

Megaforce Rangers (except Orion): Legendary Ranger Mode: Starforce Pentasquad!

The Megaforce Rangers turned into the 5-Star Squadron Great Rangers from 1994!

Orion: Legendary Ranger Mode: Mighty Morphin White!

Orion turned into the White Tiger Ranger.

Needlenose: (sees the Starforce Pentasquad suits) I have to admit. Those suits look impressive. (to Rocky) Why couldn't your suits look like that when you Rangers faced me the first time?

Rocky DeSantis: Because we don't have that kind of power like the Megaforce Rangers do.

Me: It's complicated.

Anakin: (to Obi Wan) You killed Grievous before. Any ideas?

Obi-Wan: We have to destroy his heart under his chest plate. It's his only weakness.

Me: Easier said than done.

General Grievous: If you can get to it.

He had his arms split into four arms and he ignited 4 red bladed lightsabers.

Me: Now it's good.

We went at them.

Battle 1: Vanitas

Spiderman, Leni, Lynn, Kira Ford, Trypticon and Beast Wars Scorponok were facing Vanitas.

Spiderman: Come on Vanny, can't we all be friends?

Vanitas: You know the rule Parker. I'm bad and proud of it.

Lynn: Good try though.

Vanitas: Indeed.

They went at him and Lynn punched him in the face and Spiderman kicked him in the stomach and punched him in the face and Kira fired a sonic scream at him he was in pain as it hurt his ears and she punched him in the face and Leni kicked him in the face and fired a blast of Gravity Lightning at him and it exploded when it hit his armor.

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!

Lynn: Try this one! EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: CLIFFS OF GALLIPOLI!

Lynn floated into the air and a massive canyon formed and the song Cliffs of Gallipoli by Sabaton played.

Hear them whisper,

Voices from the other side

Hear them calling

Former foes now friends are resting side by side
They will never leave our hearts or fade away
Live forever
They were far to you to die in such a way
how many wasted lives
How many dreams did fade away
Broken promises
They won't be coming home
Oh mothers wipe your tears
Your sons will rest a million years
Found their peace at last
As foe turned to friend
And forgive
And they knew they'd die
Gallipoli
Left their letters in the sand
Such waste of life
Gallipoli
Dreams of freedom turned to dust
Hell is waiting where the ocean meets the sand
Cliffs of burden
Where the soldiers rushed into a certain death

At the shoreline

Blood of heroes stains the land

Light a candle

One for each of them who fought and died in vain

There is no enemy

There is no victory

Only boys who lost their lives in the sand

Young men were sacrificed

Their names are carved in stone and kept alive

And forever we will honour the memory of them

And they knew they would die

Gallipoli

Left their letters in the sand

Such waste of life

Gallipoli

Dreams of freedom turned to dust

how many wasted lives

How many dreams did fade away

Broken promises

They won't be coming home

Oh mothers wipe your tears

Your sons will rest a million years

Found their peace at last

As foe turned to friend

And forgive

And they knew they would die

Gallipoli

Left their letters in the sand

Such waste of life

Gallipoli

Dreams of freedom turned to dust

The canyon threw rocks and they turned into the soldiers of the Battle of Gallipoli in World War I from 1915 and they blasted and slashed Vanitas all over with powerful earth fury.

Kira Ford: Wow! That was awesome!

Jessie K.: Wow! That was the army of the Battle of Gallipoli from 1915. One of the battles that lead to the fall of the Ottoman Empire in Constantinople.

Lynn: Yep. Really intense.

Kira Ford: It sure was.

Beast Wars Scorponok: Lets see how he likes the Scorpions Sting! Scorponok, TERRORIZE!

He transformed.

Scorponok fired missiles at Vanitas and they hit him all over and exploded.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOMMM! KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOMMM! KRABBBOOOOOOOOOMMM! KRABBBOOOOOOOMMMM! KRABBBOOOOOOOMMM!

KRABBBBOOOOMMM!

Lynn: Try this one on! LEAF STYLE NINJA ART: MIT DEM WIND!

Lynn rose into the air and a jungle appeared as the German song Mit dem Wind by Faun played.

Der Winter hielt uns lange hier, die Welt war uns verschneit.

Das Land war still,

die Nächte lang,

der Weg zu dir so weit.

Doch endlich kehrt das Leben

zurück in unser Land.

Du trafst mich heut im ersten Grün und nahmst mich bei der Hand.

Lass uns ziehn mit dem Wind,

denn wohin er uns bringt,

werden Zweifelzu Rauch,

weil du hier bist.

Lass uns gehn und wir sind,

endlich frei wie der Wind,

wie die Vögel ziehn wir,

weit übers Meer.

Im Winter noch da fragte ich wer mich im Fallen fängt.

Im Sommerwind nun fliegen
wir bis an den Rand der Welt.
Und wer denn auf den Wegen
mit uns gemeinsam zieht,
den halten keine Fesseln,
wenn der Wind im Sommer weht.
Lass uns ziehn mit dem Wind,
denn wohin er uns bringt,
werden Zweifelzu Rauch,
weil du hier bist.
Lass uns gehn und wir sind
endlich frei wie der Wind
wie die Vögel ziehn wir
weit übers Meer.
Einmal folg ich ihrem Flug,
in das Land das in der Ferne ruft.
Lieder habens' mir erzählt.
Einmal hält mich nichts zurück,
folge mir, begleite mich ein Stück.
Komm mit mir in jene Welt
Lass uns ziehn mit dem Wind,
denn wohin er uns bringt,

werden Zweifelzu Rauch,

weil du hier bist.

Lass uns gehn und wir sind

endlich frei wie der Wind

wie die Vögel ziehn wir

weit übers Meer.

Lynn fired waves of leaves and they hit Vanitas and cut him all over the place.

Beast Wars Scorponok: Wow! That was awesome Lynn!

Lynn: Thanks Scorponok.

Trypticon: Well done Lynn.

Kira Ford: That was German for With The Wind. One of my favorite songs from Germany.

Lynn: Hunter got me into learning all about songs from Germany. It's really something. But watch this one. FLOWER STYLE NINJA ART: WILDE ROSE!

Lynn rose into the air and a field of beautiful roses appeared behind her and the German Version of Siuil A Ruin by Faun played.

Weh, weh, mein Herz ist schwer

Gab für immer meinen Liebsten her

Seine wilde Rose blüht nicht mehr

Weh, weh, mein Herz ist schwer

Gab im Frühling meinen Liebsten her

Seine wilde Rose blüht nicht mehr

Seine wilde Rose blüht nicht mehr

Mein Liebster zog in die Schlacht dahin

Und rief „Solang ich siegreich bin,

Wird diese wilde Rose blühen"

Ich gab der Blume seinen Nam'

Sie blühte stolz und unbeugsam

Bis eines Nachts dann der Winter kam

Weh, weh, mein Herz ist schwer

Gab im Frühling meinen Liebsten her

Seine wilde Rose blüht nicht mehr

Werd' ich sehen ihn bald, mir bangt so sehr

Es kam ein Brief in dem es stand

Er starb als Held im fernen Land

Eine Rose fest in seiner Hand

Weh, Weh, mein Herz ist schwer

Gab für immer meinen Liebsten her

Seine wilde Rose blüht nicht mehr

Weh, Weh, mein Herz ist schwer

Gab für immer meinen Liebsten her

Seine wilde Rose blüht nicht mehr

Mir ist, oh, so kalt, er kommt nie mehr

A wind of flower petals blew and it formed into the soldiers of the Glorious Revolution from 1688 and they slashed Vanitas all over in a massive blizzard of roses.

Leni: Wow! That was totes beautiful!

Kira Ford: It sure was. That was the German version of the Irish Ballad Siúil a Rún.

Spiderman: Amazing!

Scorponok: It sure was beautiful. Lets use Teamwork!

Trypticon: Lets do it!

Beast Wars Scorponok: CYBER KEY POWER!

The Animatron Cyber Planet Key went into his arm and it enhanced his missile launchers 100-fold and more missile launchers were added.

Trypticon: Lets do it! CYBER KEY POWER!

The Animatron Cyber Planet Key went into his back and enhanced his weapons and all of them popped out and he had a massive full scale assault ready to fire!

Trypticon and Beast Wars Scorponok: MISSILE AND LASER FIRESTORM ASSAULT!

They both fired their weapons and hit Vanitas and the surrounding area all over in a massive assault of missiles, lasers and more. They were setting the entire arena on fire and blowing much of it apart and they knocked Vanitas down.

Battle 2: Eva

---

Bridgette was facing Eva and she was gonna make sure that Eva pays for her crimes. Eva was boiling mad and she was so pissed off that it was beyond all words.

Eva: When I'm done with you, they'll have to put you in a garbage can!

Bridgette: Did you really think you could sell us out?!

Eva: It was all so I can kill you!

Bridgette: I will never forgive you Eva! You turned my life into a living hell! Ever since I voted you off on Total Drama Island, all you have ever done was made my life a living nightmare! Now you will pay for it! It's payback time!

Eva: I will kill you if its the last thing I ever do!

Bridgette: Not if I kill you first you bitch!

Eva and Bridgette roared and the two engaged in a mercilessly ferocious fistfight! It was a ferocious fight! Bridgette punched Eva in the face and kicked her in the stomach and punched her in the face again! Bridgette punched her in the face and kicked her in the stomach and Eva punched Bridgette in the face and Bridgette kicked Eva in the face and she kicked her in the stomach and Bridgette punched her in the stomach and Eva punched her in the face twice and Bridgette dodged her third strike and punched her in the face and Eva kicked at her and Bridgette dodged her strike and punched her in the face and kicked her in the stomach. Eva came at me with a ferocious flurry of deadly fisticuffs and she punched and kicked Bridgette in the face and kicked her in the chest and punched her in the face again! Bridgette got up and went at Eva and punched her in the face and kicked her in the stomach with devastating force and Eva rebounded with the same moves and Eva belched up a huge amount of blood and Eva punched Bridgette and kneed her in the stomach and she belched up a huge amount of blood and she crashed into a rock and belched up a huge amount of blood. She grabbed Bridgette and threw her down and pile drove her and she belched up even more blood and it got on her face and she was screaming in pain as it blinded her and Bridgette punched her in the face and kicked her and punched her in the face and she punched Bridgette in the face with devastating force and knocked out some of her teeth and she was thrown to the ground by Eva and she jumped and just as she was about to smash her head in, Bridgette grabbed her foot and threw her into a rock and Bridgette kicked her with devastating force and she grabbed her arm and broke it. But she got up and punched her in the stomach and she belched out a huge amount of blood and Bridgette punched her away.

Bridgette: YOU CAN'T WIN EVA!

Eva: I WILL KILL YOU IF IT'S THE LAST THING I DO YOU FUCKING TRAITOR!

Bridgette: DREAM ON YOU BITCH!

They went back to fighting and they were mercilessly thrashing each other and they weren't gonna give up until one of them dies! Bridgette punched her in the face with devastating force and she belched up a huge amount of blood and Bridgette kicked her in the stomach and punched her in the face! Eva punched her in the stomach and kicked her in the face with devastating force and Bridgette belched up a huge amount of blood and Bridgette dealt her a deadly uppercut and kicked her in the face. She growled ferociously and punched Bridgette in the stomach and dealt her a deadly uppercut!

Edzilla: ED SMASH EVA!

Edzilla punched Eva in the face with incredible force and sent her crashing into the wall. Knocking her out.

Eva was badly mangled up.

Nico appeared and tied up Eva.

Nico then went over to Bridgette and Geoff was with him.

Geoff: Bridge, you're gonna be all right.

Nico: Eva really did a number on her!

Geoff: No kidding. Eva is a monster!

Nico: Worse than that.

Geoff picked Bridgette up.

Geoff: Bridgette will be healed up on the ship.

Nico: Okay.

Battle 3: Zs'Skayr

The battle with Zs'Skayr was on.

Iron Boy: You won't possess us Zs'Skayr!

Zs'Skayr: We'll see about that.

Iron Boy fired powerful blasts of energy at Zs'Skayr and they hit him all over and exploded.

KRABBBBBOOOOOMMMM! KRABBBOOOOOOOMMMM! KRABBBBOOOOOOMMM! KRABBBBOOOOOOOOMMMM! KRABBBBOOOOOOOMMMM! KRABBBOOOOOMMMM!

Metroplex: Time to show some teamwork lad!

Brock: With pleasure!

Metroplex: CYBER KEY POWER!

The Gigantion Cyber Planet Key went into Metroplex's club and the sawblade turned into a deadly axe.

Brock: Time for some action! POKEMON CYBER KEY POWER!

The Pokemon Cyber Planet Key went into his right arm device and enhanced his Croagunk's powers 100-fold.

Brock: Use Poison Sting!

Metroplex and Brock: POISON AXE SUPER CHOP!

Croagunk fired poison needles and they merged with Metroplex's axe and made it glow purple and Metroplex slammed the axe onto Zs'Skayr and sent him plowing into the ground with devastating force.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Zs'Skayr was defeated!

Metroplex: You give ghosts everywhere a bad name lad.

Iron Boy: You said it Metroplex.

---

Battle 4: Springfield Mafia

---

Carol was facing the Springfield Mafia and she punched Louie in the face and sent him crashing into the ground. Louie got up and fired his gun at her and she grabbed all the bullets out of the air and his gun was empty.

She dropped the slugs onto the ground.

Carol: I believe these are yours.

She then put a bullet slug into her thumb and flicked it and fired it and it hit him in the shoulder and broke his arm. Legs went at her and Carol kicked him in the crotch and he screamed like a little girl! Louie got up and put on brass knuckles and he punched at Carol and she dodged it and broke his arm and flipped him onto the ground and punched him in the face and pile drove him and knocked him out. She then went at Fat Tony and kicked him in the stomach with incredible force and knocked him out.

Carol: How is that for girl power?

Battle 5: Needlenose

---

Next was Needlenose and Nico and the Megaforce Rangers were facing him.

The Megaforce Rangers fired energy lasers and Nico fired a blast of fire energy and the blasts hit Needlenose and exploded!

KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!

Needlenose fell to the the ground and exploded.

KKKRRRRRAAAABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Needlenose was dead.

Nico: Needlenose, you have failed this universe.

Troy Burrows: In both times

Emma Goodall: Yeah!

---

Battle 6: General Grievous

---

We were now facing General Grievous.

Me: You will pay for your crimes Grievous.

General Grievous: We'll see about that you fool. The only one paying is you.

Obi-Wan: We'll see about that.

General Grievous spun his lightsabers around like deadly sawblades and they were burning the ground as sparks were flying all over the place and I fired a blast of deadly Force Fire at him and it blew him back and sent him crashing into the wall. Grievous got up and Obi-

Wan and Anakin slashed him all over and I slashed his chest plate and Nico fired energy blasts at him and they hit him and exploded.

KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!
KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM!
KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM!

Lincoln fired a Force Lightning blast and electrocuted Grievous all over.

Nico: General Grievous, you have failed this universe!

Obi-Wan fired a Force Blast and blew Grievous back and Laney grabbed him with plants and threw him into the ground and Courtney fired a blast of fire and burned him all over.

Demolisher: Try this one!

Demolisher and Dive Man fired laser blasts and torpedoes.

Demolisher and Dive Man: LASER TORPEDO FIRESTORM!

The blasts and torpedoes hit Grievous and exploded all over.

KRABBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!

Grievous was knocked down. But he was far from finished.

General Grievous and me looked at each other with eyes blazing with powerful hatred. My eyes were glowing red.

General Grievous: Army or not, you must realize you are doomed.

Me: Oh I don't think so. Because you don't have any idea who you are fucking around with.

I fire a blast of Force Fire and burned him all over in a powerful explosion.

KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!

Ben: Lets see how he likes this!

Ben turned into a new predator! It was CRABDOZER! Crabdozer is a huge, rock-based life form with a crab-like body and a rhino-like face. Crabdozer walks on six crab-like legs and has spikes on its legs. It has a long horn and small ears. Crabdozer has a dark purple/grey color scheme with sunken red eyes.

Ben: CRABDOZER!

Me: Whoa! That is a wicked predator!

Shanan: Wow! That is a Crabdozer from the planet Pyros! They are Heatblast's natural predator. That shell makes them invulnerable to the extreme heat of Pyros.

Alan Albright: Whoa! I would not want to have one of those go after me. And I'm half Pyronite.

Nanette Allbright: No kidding. Alan I just noticed something.

Alan Albright: What's that Nanette?

Nanette: We almost have exactly the same last name.

Alan Albright: We sure do. Except my last name has one L in it. Yours has 2 L's.

Nanette: That's true.

Crabdozer: Watch this.

Crabdozer smashed into General Grievous with incredible force and sent him crashing into the arena wall.

Ben then used a new Ultimate Alien. It was ULTIMATE NANOMECH! He had another set of arms and he had a darker body and he had what looked like butterfly wings and he had glowing arms and chest parts.

Ben: (Tiny Voice) ULTIMATE NANOMECH!

Me: Whoa! He's now an Evolved Nanochip/Human Hybrid!

Nico: Wow! This is a cool one!

Riley: Really awesome!

Ultimate Nanomech: Watch this.

He flew into General Grievous and blew part of his circuitry apart with enhanced lasers and speed and it was powerful enough to make General Grievous a head and chest.

Me: Whoa! That was cool! Lets finish him with Combos and Final Smashes!

Piper: Lets do it!

Luna: Yeah dude!

Piper fired a powerful blast of energy and it turned into a phoenix and Luna fired a massive blast of water.

Piper and Luna: WATER PHOENIX MAELSTROM!

The water turned the phoenix into a water phoenix and it slammed into General Grievous and drenched him in a massive water explosion. He was short circuiting.

Dante Vale: Lets get him!

Lincoln: With pleasure!

Dante Vale and Lincoln fired powerful blasts of lightning!

Dante Vale and Lincoln: BOLTFLARE LIGHTNING ELECTROCUTION!

The blasts of lightning electrocuted General Grievous all over and he was overloading.

Me: Time to show him the power of the wolf! KIBAL! LETS HOWL!

I turned into Wolf Moon!

Me: Lets do it Anakin!

Anakin: Right!

I fired a massive blast of Wolf Fire and Anakin fired a powerful blast of Force Lightning.

Me and Anakin: WOLF FORCE FIRESTORM!

The blasts hit General Grievous and exploded.

KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Nico: Lets get him Master Obi-Wan.

Obi-Wan: With pleasure Nico.

Nico fired a powerful blast of Fire and Obi-Wan fired a powerful Force Energy Blast.

Nico and Obi-Wan: FIRESTORM FORCE BURST!

The blasts hit General Grievous and Exploded.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Laney: This is gonna be awesome Ahsoka.

Ahsoka: You said it Laney!

Laney fired a powerful cloud of leaves and Ahsoka fired a powerful blast of Force Lightning.

Laney and Ahsoka Tano: LEAFSTORM LIGHTNING FORCE WIND!

The blast of Force Lightning merged with the Leaves and the leaves cut General Grievous all over.

Lana: Grievous may have been taught by Count Dooku. But he is a terrible Jedi.

Yoda: Agreed Lana. Grievous may have been taught by Dooku. But love and good he has not.

Lana fired a massive blast of Ice Lightning and Yoda fired a blast of Force Lightning.

Lana and Yoda: SUBZERO LIGHTNING FORCE FREEZE!

The blasts combined and froze General Grievous in a block of ice.

Rose Lavillant: Lets see how he likes this! NOOROO! LIGHT WINGS RISE!

Rose Lavillant turned into Undermoth!

Lily: OWLA! SPREAD MY WINGS!

Lily turned into Night Owl!

Lily: Lets do it! OWL STAR BLADEDANCE!

Lily fired a powerful barrage of star blades from her sword and they cut up General Grievous good.

Rose Lavillant: Time for the power of the Flower to dominate! OWL MOTH WHIPLASHER!

Rose lashed General Grievous all over with her whip and it really hurt.

Anakin: Time for some Jedi Power. TATOOINE LIGHTSABER SLASHSTORM!

Anakin threw his Lightsaber and it slashed General Grievous all over.

Obi-Wan: This time he will stay dead. STEWJON FORCE LIGHTBEAMS!

Obi-Wan fired laser Force blasts and they hit the Dark Orb inside General Grievous's chest and destroyed it and we got a massive negative energy power boost.

Me: Whoa!

Then General Grievous exploded.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

General Grievous was dead and history!

Me: Yeah!

Chris McLean: Team Interstellar Retribution wins!

We cheered wildly!

Rose: Let's take Grevious' lightsabers. They could come in handy.

Me: Good idea Rose. I know just who to give them all too.

I picked up all his lightsabers he took and gave them to all the members of the Miraculous Celestial Union.

Marinette: Thanks J.D.

Adrien: This is awesome!

Chloe Bourgeois: Yeah!

Alya: This is amazing.

Me: Glad you like them.

Eva was really badly beaten and tied up.

Vanitas: (to the defeated Eva) You stupid brute. At least J.D. and his friends use their brains sometimes.

Me: Word.

Vanitas saw Geoff carrying a badly hurt Bridgette.

Vanitas: I hope Bridgette is okay. Eva really did a number on her.

Geoffs: Not as much as Bridgette did on Eva. But thanks for your concern Vanitas.

Vanitas: Well don't get used to it. But you're welcome.

Zs'Skayr: You may have won this round. But you all still have 5 challenges left! (he and Vanitas teleport out)

Me: We know that Zs'Skayr.

We went back to the ship and took off for the 4th challenge.

In the infirmary on the ship Bridgette woke up and she was in a bed wrapped in bandages and casts.

Me: Hey Bridgette.

Geoff: You feeling all right?

Bridgette: I think so. Eva really hurt me bad.

Me: Yeah she sure did. But the good news is we won the 3rd challenge.

Bridgette: That's awesome.

Little Bridgette: But I'm glad you are all right big sis.

Bridgette: Thanks little sis. I'll be fine now.

Me: Good. You get some rest Bridgette. But you'll be out for the rest of the competition.

Bridgette: I know. But it was worth it.

Qin: But get well soon all right?

Me: We'll heal you when we get back. Sora left his potions at the estate and we'll heal you when we get back.

Bridgette: Okay.

We went back to the bridge.

Me: Well that's 3 down and 5 to go.

Chris McLean: Yep.

Anakin: (To the viewers) Never underestimate the love and strength of the friendship and bonds of the Jedi.

Me: Indeed Master Anakin.

We went on to the next challenge.

---

Part 3 done.

General Grievous was a dangerous villain on Star Wars III: Revenge of The Sith and he was a tough one! But he was cool! NicoChan11 gave me the ideas for this. Thanks man. Next up for part 4 is the ultimate battle with the evil Star Trek villains called THE BORG COLLECTIVE! We're going to make those evil cybernetic monsters pay for their crimes and make sure that they never conquer the universe and destroy all life in it.

See you all tomorrow.

TDG 4 - Destroying a Cyborg Race

The U.S.S. Valorous Phoenix was flying through the depths of space.

Me: Captain's Log, Stardate 2801.5: It's day 4 of Total Drama Galaxy and we are on our way to Challenge 4 of the most amazing competition ever. Chris said that we're in for one dangerous challenge and we're in for a wild ride.

Qin: Star Lord, how did you first meet your teammates?

James: I've been wondering that myself.

James' Carnivine: Carnivine!

Star Lord: Well it's a really interesting story.

Star Lord went through everything that happened when he formed the Guardians of The Galaxy. He met Gamera, Rocket and Groot on planet Xandar and he met Drax in an intergalactic prison called the Kyln. It was a grand union that brought them together. Also they busted out of prison as a result of working together.

Maria: So you guys broke out of prison? (chuckles) I've done that before back when I was still a Bang Baby.

Nico: Wow.

Molly Malloy: It was really nice of Yondu to make you part of the Ravagers instead of taking you to his boss, Peter.

Star Lord: Thanks Molly.

Thunderblast: How did the rest of you get thrown in that prison?

Gamera: We all went there.

Drax the Destroyer: I wound up in there for killing people affiliated with Ronan the Accuser.

Gamera: I used to work for Thanos.

Star Lord: I took the orb that contained the Power Infinity Stone.

Rocket Raccoon: We were gonna capture Peter but we got caught as well.

Groot: I am Groot.

Rocket Raccoon: He says that's right.

Me: Wow.

Qin: That's intense.

Me: No kidding.

Optimus Prime: Was anyone seriously injured during that prison break?

Star Lord: Nope.

Drax: We all made it out safely.

Me: That's a relief.

Lisa: J.D., sensors are showing an unknown ship heading right at us.

Me: On screen.

The screen turned on and we saw 3 strange cube shaped ships and they were weird and strange.

Me: Oh shit on me and fuck me sideways!

Nico: What kind of ships are those?

Me: Those are the ships of the BORG COLLECTIVE!

We gasped in horror!

The Borg were a pseudo-race of cybernetic beings, or cyborgs, from the Delta Quadrant. No truly single individual existed within the Borg Collective (with the possible sole exception of the Borg Queen), as they were linked into a hive mind. Their ultimate goal was perfection through the forcible assimilation of diverse sentient species, technologies, and knowledge. As a result, they were among the most dangerous and feared races in the galaxy.

The precise origins of the Borg are unclear - with several possible origins mentioned over time. While not identified with certainty, they were possibly responsible for an attack on the Whale Probe and it's creators over 250,000 years ago.

The Collective made decisions as a single entity. However, the Borg Queen played an as yet not totally understood role in ordering the chaos of the Collective and the information flowing in from its trillions of drones.

The voice of the collective had a multi-track resonant quality, the sound of the trillions of drones that comprised it speaking as one.

The collective form of organization allowed for tremendous efficiency in action and deliberation. With each drone functioning separately according to its instructions, it could at any time be processing information, performing physical actions, or focusing its energy toward other collective goals. The vast resources thus presented to the collective organization allowed for simultaneous execution of a nearly infinite number of tasks as well as nearly limitless calculations. This in turn allowed the Borg to consider multiple courses of action before committing to any one course. The best example of this was the Borg ability to "adapt" nearly instantaneously to any type of attack or threat. By focusing its resources on the threat at hand all possible outcomes and responses could be explored within an extremely short period of time. The result was that the Borg were able to bring a tremendous amount of force, or computational power, to bear on any single problem and overwhelm any opposition by sheer volume of numbers. The collective state of organization also greatly decreased the chance of error that exists with the decision making of individuals or the conflicts of opinion that are a factor in hierarchical organizations.

One consequence of the collective state, noted by Jean-Luc Picard who had more dealings with the Borg than anyone in the Federation except Kathryn Janeway, was that the Borg were utterly without mercy or compassion. In this totalitarian existence, only the needs of the collective as a whole are considered, and in this utilitarian calculation the needs of the unrivaled number of Borg would nearly always override any other considerations.

Borg Queen

The Borg Queen is the main antagonist of the film Star Trek: First Contact, and a recurring antagonist in Voyager. She is also the main antagonist of the Voyager series finale, "Endgame". She was the female ruler of the pseudo-race of biomechanical entities known as The Borg, resulting in her transformation into one of the main antagonists of the entire Star Trek series due to the fact that almost all atrocities committed by The Borg throughout the course of the series could be contributed to her influence.

She was portrayed by Alice Krige in Star Trek: First Contact and the series finale episode "Endgame", and Susanna Thompson in Voyager.

It is unknown when a Borg Queen first appeared within the Collective, but it is known that she was assimilated around the age of 7-8 and was already present in 2354.

A Borg Queen defined herself as, "I am the beginning… the end. The one who is many. I am the Borg." Although this might suggest she would be an individual within the Collective (while addressing them, she referred to drones as "my drones"), she was not. The purpose of a Borg Queen was to bring order to chaos.

Her appearance was that of a humanoid female of Species 125. In accordance with the Borg pursuit of perfection, a blending of the organic and synthetic, very little of her original humanoid form remained. Her face and upper torso were organic while the rest of her body, including her skull and spinal cord, were synthetic. Because of her disembodiment she saw herself as the epitome of perfection. The Queen had her own chambers within the Borg Unicomplex from which she could oversee and control the Borg via command interface. Whether she had her own ship or not is unknown, but she used different Borg vessels to travel, such as a Borg cube, sphere, or diamond. When her physical presence was not necessary her organic part resided above this chamber while her synthetic parts were stored below it, under the floor. If she desired to do so both could be brought together and in doing so create a humanoid form for herself.

In Human terms, a Borg Queen could be characterized as ruthless. She would do anything to protect the Borg Collective. Where drones showed no emotions, the Queen herself did. When necessary she would employ psychological tactics, like extortion or plain intimidation to get what she wanted. The Queen even displayed self-preservation when she was held at gunpoint by Captain Janeway, who threatened to kill her. On a personal level she considered Seven of Nine her favorite drone, because the Queen considered her to be unique. This had to do with Seven's experiences as an individual when she served aboard USS Voyager. The Queen's goal was to re-assimilate Seven into the Collective to enhance the Borg's, and so her own, perfection. She launched her vessel and followed the Delta Flyer into a transwarp conduit. The attempt failed, but she survived.

The death of a Borg Queen did not seem to affect the Collective or its hive mind. When a Borg drone died, its memories would still be within the hive mind. There was no evidence that a Borg Queen would be more than a drone. Borg drones were capable of functioning without a queen for any length of time by forming a hive mind of their own.

It was thought by Federation exobiologist Erin Hansen that the Borg Queen functioned like the queen of an insect hive, to coordinate the drones. Evidence of this was later seen when the Queen countermanded the Collective's judgment about assimilating Voyager. While the Collective felt that assimilation was warranted, the Borg Queen countermanded them justifying the decision due to the fact that Voyager didn't compromise their security. The Queen, while providing coordination for the drones she commanded, also provided other functions such as regulation of the Borg's transwarp hubs and interspatial manifolds. She effectively brought "order to chaos" for all things.

The Borg Queen that was present in 2377 was assimilated when she was a child, together with her parents. Years later she could still hear them.

The existence of a Borg Queen was first established sometime prior to 2365 by the exobiologists Erin and Magnus Hansen. However, because the Hansens were assimilated, their discovery never reached the Federation. It was not until 2373 that the Federation became aware of her when the Federation starship USS Enterprise-E prevented the assimilation of Earth. This was the second attempt by the Borg, also known as the Battle of Sector 001. They traveled back to Earth's past to During this conflict, while Captain Jean-Luc Picard was trying to destroy the Borg, the Queen claimed to have been present during the Battle of Wolf 359, and even admitted that Locutus of Borg - the assimilated Picard - was intended to be a singular intelligence - her counterpart, intended to ease the burden of loneliness. However, when Picard continued to resist, even when he could not control Locutus' body, she was regretfully forced to turn him into the form in which Starfleet encountered him, a glorified drone. Whether or not she physically took part in the Battle of Wolf 359 is unknown.

Picard killed the Borg Queen after she tried to persuade Lieutenant Commander Data to give her the encryption code by which he had locked the Enterprise's computer. Data then sides with Picard, stating the Borg credo, "resistance is futile," this time deciding to keep his robot persona, and that the Borg army was too dangerous to be kept alive. After a climactic fight with both Picard and Data, the Borg Queen is brought down by Data. Nerve gas from the warp core plasma coolant released by Data destroyed her organic parts, after which Picard broke her cybernetic spinal cord, ensuring she could no longer function.

The second encounter with a newly revived Borg Queen was in 2375 in the Delta Quadrant. Here the lost Federation starship USS Voyager tried to rescue the former Borg drone Seven of Nine, who was then part of Voyager's crew, when the plan to steal a transwarp coil from a Borg sphere did not work out as planned. The Queen also revealed that the drone Seven of Nine was not really freed by Voyager from the Collective, but allowed to leave by the Borg. During this encounter the Borg Queen hoped to assimilate Seven of Nine again, who experienced life as an individual for two years, and so add to her own perfection. However, Seven rejected the Queen and fled with a rescue mission sent by the Voyager in the Delta Flyer. A Borg vessel was sent by the Queen to intercept the shuttle, but it was destroyed in the attempt.

The Borg Queen was one of several real people adapted into a character in Kelis' play, based on descriptions from B'Elanna Torres.

In 2377, a Borg Queen was again encountered by Voyager. This time the Queen wanted to destroy Unimatrix Zero, a virtual world populated by regenerating Borg with a genetic mutation. This world was discovered by Seven of Nine and posed a threat to the Borg. During Voyager's efforts to rescue this virtual world the Borg Queen demonstrated her powers by destroying a Borg sphere because she could no longer "hear" only one drone. When a nanovirus was released to prevent the detection of Unimatrix Zero, the Queen destroyed several Borg vessels, killing 75,000 Borg drones in the process, in the hope of persuading the captured Captain Janeway to give her the antidote.

The last encounter between a Federation starship and a Borg Queen was in 2378, and again Voyager played a part in it. Voyager accidentally discovered a Borg transwarp hub within a nebula and were helped by Admiral Kathryn Janeway, who came from an alternate timeline around twenty-three years in the future, to use the Borg transwarp network to get back to the Alpha Quadrant. Because the Borg guarded their transwarp hub closely, Admiral Janeway devised a plan by which she would infect the Borg Queen with a neurolytic pathogen and in doing so making her lose control over the force fields which protected the interspatial manifolds. When the admiral was captured by the Borg, near the unicomplex, she was assimilated by the Borg Queen herself. Soon after the Queen began to lose control over drones. The pathogen even made her lose control over her own synthetic parts, as her body literally fell apart. Her death caused the destruction of the unicomplex and despite her efforts Voyager reached Earth safely. The Borg sphere sent after them by the Queen was destroyed by Voyager's transphasic torpedoes, given to them by the admiral from the future. After the Queen's death and the destruction of the Borg sphere, Voyager has finally returned to the Alpha Quadrant after spending seven years of being stranded in the Delta Quadrant.

Borg: WE ARE THE BORG! LOWER YOUR SHIELDS AND SURRENDER YOUR SHIPS! WE WILL ADD YOUR BIOLOGICAL AND TECHNOLOGICAL DISTINCTIVENESS TO OUR OWN! YOUR CULTURE WILL ADAPT TO SERVICE US! RESISTANCE IS FUTILE!

Me: Here's what I say to that: GO FUCK YOURSELVES!

I had the ship fire energy particle rays at the Borg Cubes and blew them apart into a million pieces and killed them in fiery explosions.

Me: So the Borg from Star Trek are our next challenge.

Nico: Boy this is gonna be rough.

Chris McLean: That's right J.D. You catch on really quickly. Your challenge is to kill the entire Borg Collective.

Me: I've watched Star Trek for years. This is gonna be awesome.

Lincoln: So what are the Borg?

Shanan: They are an evil race of Biomechanical Machines that want to enslave all life in the universe. Anybody that tries to resist them will be killed on sight.

Nico: Monsters!

Shanan: They are all connected to a single queen. She is the supreme intelligence that controls the entire Borg Collective.

Laney: So it's like the social insects. We kill the queen and the entire colony dies.

Shanan: Bingo.

Me: What the Borg Collective is doing is nothing short of ultimate evil. They want to take away all of our free will and destroy everything in the universe. A life without free will is the ultimate fate worse than death.

Gwen (Total Drama): That's right. I watched the Borg on Star Trek and what they do is absolutely pure evil.

Me: They put even the Masters of Evil to shame.

Nico: Just what I was gonna say.

Lisa: J.D., we have another ship that just dropped out of warp.

Me: On screen.

We saw that it was a Federation Starship. The Voyager.

Me: It's the Voyager from Star Trek Voyager.

Nico: I know Star Trek Voyager. Great show.

Lana: We're being hailed J.D.

Me: On screen. This is the starship U.S.S. Valorous Phoenix, captain James Dean Knudson of Team Loud Phoenix Storm commanding.

Captain Kathryn Janeway appeared on the screen.

Captain Janeway: This is Voyager. I am Captain Kathryn Janeway. It's an honor to meet you J.D. We've heard so much about you in the Federation.

Me: I'm sure. We have had an encounter with the Borg just a couple minutes ago.

Captain Janeway: We can see that. The pieces of Borg Ships are all over the place.

Me: We're going to kill all the Borg and make sure they don't destroy the galaxy.

Captain Janeway: We can gladly help you all J.D.

Me: We greatly appreciate it. We'll have you all brought aboard so we can work together.

Captain Janeway: Okay.

The screen clicked off and we had Captain Janeway and her crew brought on board. We also met Chakotey of the Maquis, Tuvok of the Vulcan, Tom Paris the Helmsman, B'Elanna Torres the Klignon-Human Hybrid, Harry Kim the operations officer, The Doctor, Neelix the Talaxian Chef, Kes of Ocampa- Neelix's partner, Seven of Nine - Former Borg drone.

Tuvok: It is a pleasure to meet all of you.

Me: Same to you Tuvok.

Neelix: We've heard so many wonderful things about all of you.

Nico: Comes with the job description Neelix.

Lana: Wow. Seven you are amazing.

Seven of Nine: Thank you Lana.

Lana: What happened here to your eye?

Seven of Nine: That's what happened when the leftovers of the Borg inside me.

Me: Hmm.

I looked at it.

Me: That is biomechanical matter. From what I remember Seven, you were really Annika Hansen.

Seven of Nine: That's right.

Me: That must've been awful what you went through when you were under the influence of the Borg.

Seven of Nine: It was. But I have all of my humanity back.

Me: We won't let the Borg get away with everything they have done to the universe.

Nico: That's right. Now it's personal.

Lisa: J.D. We have another ship coming.

Me: On screen.

We saw that it was a scouting ship and on board it was Locutus of Borg.

Locutus: (British Accent) I am Locutus of Borg.

Me: It can't be. Captain Jean Luc Picard? Is that you?

Locutus: I was Jean Luc Picard. Now I'm Locutus of Borg. Resistance is futile. Your life as it has been is over. From this time forward, you will service us.

Me: Not gonna happen.

I snapped my fingers and teleported Locutus on board and Laney used her plant powers to restrain him.

Me: You are still human regardless Jean Luc. I will not let you give in to the evil ways of the Borg.

I placed my hand on his head.

Me: This'll only hurt for a second. CHAOS FREEDOM!

Captain Picard screamed and he was enveloped in a blinding flash of light and the Borg technology fell from his body and he was returned to human as the Borg was removed from him. He had his humanity back and he was free.

Lincoln and Linka fired lightning and blew the Borg Components apart and destroyed them.

Me: There.

Lola: Take this Borg ship.

Lola fired a laser blast and blew the Borg Scout ship apart and killed the Borg on it.

Me: Get him to sick bay quickly!

Aqua: Right.

Lily and Aqua did so.

Me: Now it's personal. Set course for the planet Borg Prime.

Nico: Aye sir.

We activated the hyperdrive and we were off to the planet Borg Prime.

We arrived in less than 4 minutes.

Me: Here we are. Lets blow this planet to smithereens.

Nico: This is gonna be good.

Lola: How many of them are there on that planet?

Me: Scans show 50,000,000,000,000 Borg. Charge Superlaser to full power.

Fu: Roger that. Commence Primary Ignition.

Fu pressed a couple of buttons and pulled some levers and the Superlaser was charged up.

Me: Fire!

We fired the Superlaser and it hit the planet Borg Prime and destroyed the entire planet in a massively powerful explosion.

KRABBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

When the smoke cleared, there was nothing left of the entire planet as it was completely obliterated in an instant.

Me: BULLSEYE!

Nico: That did it!

Captain Janeway: Wow! What power! It's hard to imagine that you have a ship capable of destroying an entire planet.

Nico: J.D. and everyone on the team designed it.

Me: But that was just the beginning. We still have the Borg in the Unicomplex as well as the Queen to take down.

Lana: Is that the Unicomplex right there?

We saw that there was a huge multi-structure ship.

Me: That's it all right.

Lily: Captain Picard is better again.

Captain Picard: Thank you so much for freeing me J.D.

Me: It was our pleasure Captain Picard.

Captain Janeway: Glad to have you back Jean Luc.

Captain Picard: Thank you Kathryn.

Me: We're gonna be going up against the entire Borg Collective. Once we kill the Queen, we kill the entire collective.

Laney: We're ready.

Scott: After we kill the Borgs, you and Mike are next, Duncan!

Francis: You want him? You'll have to deal with the rest of us from the Antipode Club first!

Me: That's right. You want them, you got to go through us first Scott.

Edd: Maybe we can use some EMP grenades against the Borgs.

Me: That's a good idea Double D.

Linka: I like it.

WarKevin: You know what? We never decided a leader for the Antipode Club.

Me: Good idea Kevin.

Francis: I'll be the leader.

Me: Francis is the leader of the Antipode Club.

James Maxfield: Let us help too.

Seia: Yeah.

Me: Okay.

Noah: Let's send these guys to the scrapheap!

Megaforce Rangers: Legendary Ranger Mode: Dino Thunder!

The Megaforce Rangers turned into the Dino Thunder Power Rangers.

Me: This is it guys. Lets go get them! Nathaniel, you have the con.

Nathaniel: Right Grandpa.

Captain Janeway gave us a bunch of phaser rifles and all kinds of laser weapons.

Me: Here we go.

I snapped my fingers and we teleported onto the Borg Unicomplex. We were inside and ready to fight. The intruder alarm sounded.

We ran fast down a tunnel.

Me: They're coming. I can sense them.

Nico: Me too.

Vince: We're ready.

We saw them up ahead.

Matt Daniels: Come and get some, Robo Jerks!

Me: Blast them!

We fired blasts of lasers, energy blasts and elemental energy blasts and the blasts were blowing many Borg apart in massive fiery explosions that blew them into dust and fiery scrap metal. We also threw electromagnetic pulse bombs and blew them apart and short circuited them and we slashed them apart with our swords and cut them up really good. We blasted them with everything we got. I fired energy blasts and lasers and blew a bunch of Borg apart in massive fiery explosions and killed many of them.

Me: Lets see how they like this one! ATOMIC STYLE NINJA ART: TERROR OF THE GLOW ALIEN!

I fired a ray of light and it turned into a glowing green alien. (Simpsons Season 8 Episode 10) It was a strange creature as it walked by the Borg and melted many of them with a green glow that was really poisonous to all of the Borg.

Naruto: Whoa! That was awesome!

Me: Thanks bro.

Homer: That was like what happened to Mr. Burns. He looked like a weird glowing green alien from another planet.

Captain Janeway: That's interesting.

Luan: Lets see how they like this one. LIGHT STYLE NINJA ART: FLIGHT OF THE ANGELS!

Luan fired a beam of light into the air and it formed into a beautiful group of angels and they flew at the Borg and slashed and blasted them all over and blew them all apart in fiery explosions. (Legacy of Discord - Furious Wings)

Me: Whoa! That was awesome Luan! Really Angelic. (Rimshot)

Luan: (Laughs) Good one J.D.!

Eddy: (Laughs) That was a good one.

May: How about they try this one? ICE STYLE NINJA ART: THE MYSTIC'S DREAM!

May floated off the ground an a raging snowstorm appeared and she sang The Mystic's Dream by Loreena McKennitt.

A clouded dream on an earthly night

Hangs upon the crescent moon

A voiceless song in an ageless light

Sings at the coming dawn

Birds in flight are calling there

Where the heart moves the stones

There that my heart is longing for

All for, for the love of you

A painting hangs on an ivy wall

Nestled in the emerald moss

The eyes declare a truce of trust

Then it draws me far away

Deep in the desert twilight

Sand melts in pools of the sky

Darkness lays her crimson cloak

Lamps will call, call me home

And so it's there my homage's due

Clutched by the still of the night

Now I feel, feel you move

And every breath, breath is full

So it's there my homage's due

Clutched by the still of the night

Even the distance feels so near

All for, for the love of you

A clouded dream on an earthly night

Hangs upon the crescent moon

A voiceless song in an ageless light

Sings at the coming dawn

Birds in flight are calling there

Where the heart moves the stones

There that my heart is longing for

All for, for the love of you

The snowstorm fired waves of snow and ice and they formed into the vikings of Norway and they hit a bunch of Borg and froze them solid in blocks of ice.

Laney: Lets see how they like this one. LEAF STYLE NINJA ART: IT'S A BEAUTIFUL DAY!

Laney floated in the air and a jungle appeared in the background and she sang the song It's A Beautiful Day by Sarah Brightman.

Un bel giorno…

Un bel giorno per morire.

Un bel di, vedremo

Levarsi un fil di fumo

Dall'estremo confin del mare.

E poi la nave appare.

With every new day

Your promises fade away

It's a fine day to see

Though the last day for me

It's a beautiful day

It's the last day for me

It's a beautiful day

It's the last day for me

It's a beautiful day

Leaves fired at the Borg and slashed them all apart and blew them into pieces.

Nico: Whoa! That was beautiful!

Lucy Loud: How about this one? BLOOD STYLE NINJA ART: BIRDS OF WAR!

Lucy floated into the air and a dark castle appeared behind her as the song Birds of War by Sabaton played.

The priesthood is trembling

The five knights of light has betrayed mankind

Now known as the dark ones

We strike down on earth with powers from hell

We ride on the wind we ride through the sky

Like unholy birds of war we fly

We bring agony and insanity

Once blessed by the light now serving the night

And soon cursed by every man on earth

We follow our lust, in no god we trust

Come join us

Leave this world behind and you will find satisfaction

Fight on our side you cannot hide from us forever more

Once greeted as heroes

Now treated as foes wherever we go

Recruiting more warriors

The hordes of undead march on our command

Now mankind will pay from this very day

Every man on earth will curse his birth

We spread fear and pain resistance in vain

We march in the dark your kind is our mark

Avoid the daylight in dark we fight

We'll control your souls you'll end up like ghouls

Waves of blood fired at the Borg and they turned into the Air Armies of the Germany Military and they blasted and destroyed many Borg in one fell swoop.

Me: Whoa! Those were all the German Air Armies from over the decades.

Hunter: (German Accent) Ja. Very impressive.

Nico: Awesome!

Lincoln: How about they last against this. LIGHTNING STYLE NINJA ART: 1 6 4 8!

Lincoln floated in the air and a massive raging thunderstorm raged behind him as the song 1648 by Sabaton played.

While Europe speak of peace, all other battles cease

There's a man who aims for more than he can reach

(Blood) All over

(Prague) On fire

(Burn) All of Bohemia set ablaze

Stand on their own

The road to the city has been blocked

Denied to enter the gates

Though they tried

When Prague was called to arms

They fought them on the bridge

Their freedom was at stake

Stand and fight, the city is burning

Königsmarck lost, stopped him at Karluv Most

Stained by blood, their brothers die side by side

Did what they could

Died where they stood

Their city has been besieged, all hell on Prague unleashed

As the cannons crush the walls, the city shakes

Fear is spreading

Hate increasing

Death and pain is all that Sweden brought

Rise and strike back

The walls of the city's been breached, reclaimed

On that very night, unsustained

They did it on their own

They fought them on the bridge

Their freedom was at stake

Stand and fight, the city is burning

Königsmarck lost, stopped him at Karluv Most

Stained by blood, their brothers die side by side

Did what they could

Died where they stood

Unconquered city on Vltavas shore

Start of the conflict and end of the war

Unconquered city on Vltavas shore

Is protected by its people

And thirty years ago the war begun

It has returned to where it started

The road to the city has been blocked

Denied to enter the gates

Though they tried

When Prague was called to arms

They fought them on the bridge

Their freedom was at stake

Stand and fight, the city is burning

Königsmarck lost, stopped him at Karluv Most

Stained by blood, their brothers die side by side

Did what they could

Died where they stood

Stand and fight, the city is burning

Königsmarck lost, stopped him at Karluv Most

Stained by blood, their brothers die side by side

Did what they could

Died where they stood

Waves of lightning fired at the Borg and they turned into the army from the Battle of Prague in 1648 and they slashed and blasted many Borg all over the place as well as electrocuted many of them.

Me: Whoa! That was awesome!

Jessie K.: Wow! That was the Army from the Battle of Prague in 1648 during the Thirty Years War. That was a terrible battle that lead to the Czech people winning that battle. That was also the decisive battle that lead to the end of the Thirty Years War.

Me: Whoa! That is something.

Nico: I never even knew about that.

Hunter: Ja. That was a big battle that ended the war. Und it was a big victory.

Me: Yep.

We continued on and we were obliterating Borg at a rapid level and blowing them apart at an accelerated rate.

Stella (Loud House): Lets see how they like this. SCORCH STYLE NINJA ART: THE HIGHWAYMAN!

Stella floated off the ground and the vast desert of the Sahara Desert on fire formed in the background as the song The Highwayman by Loreena McKennitt played.

The wind was a torrent of darkness

Among the gusty trees

The moon was a ghostly galleon

Tossed upon the cloudy seas

The road was a ribbon of moonlight

Over the purple moor

When the highwayman came riding

Riding, riding,

The highwayman came riding

Up to the old inn door

He'd a french cocked hat at his forehead

A bunch of lace at his chin

A coat of claret velvet

And breeches of brown doe-skin

They fitted with nary a wrinkle

His boots were up to the thigh

And he rode with a jeweled twinkle

His pistol butts a-twinkle

His rapier hilt a-twinkle

Under the jeweled sky

And over cobbles he clattered

And clashed in the dark inn-yard

And he tapped with his whip on the shutters

But all was locked and barred

He whistled a tune to the window

And who should be waiting there

But the landlord's black-eyed daughter

Bess, the landlord's daughter

Plaiting a dark red love knot

Into her long black hair

"One kiss my bonny sweetheart

I'm after a prize tonight

But I should be back with the yellow gold
Before the morning light
Yet if they press me sharply
And harry me through the day
Then look for me by the moonlight
Watch for me by the moonlight
I'll come to thee by the moonlight
Though hell should bar the way."
He rose up right in the stirrups
He scarce could reach her hand
But she loosened her hair in the casement
His face burned like a brand
As a black cascade of perfume
Came tumbling over his breast
And he kissed its waves in the moonlight
Oh, sweet waves in the moonlight
He tugged at his rein in the moonlight
And galloped away to the west
He did not come at the dawning
He did not come at noon
And out of the tawny sunset
Before the rise of the moon

When the road was a gypsy's ribbon

Looping the purple moor

A redcoat troop came marching

Marching, marching

King George's men came marching

Up to the old inn door

They said no word to the landlord

They drank his ale instead

But they gagged his daughter and bound her

To the foot of her narrow bed

Two of them knelt at the casement

With muskets at their side

There was death at every window

Hell at one dark window

For Bess could see through the casement

The road that he would ride

They had tied her up to attention

With many a sniggering jest

They had bound a musket beside her

With the barrel beneath her breast

"Now keep good watch" and they kissed her

She heard the dead man say

"Look for me by the moonlight
Watch for me by the moonlight
I'll come to thee by the moonlight
Though hell should bar the way."
She twisted her hands behind her
But all the knots held good!
But she writhed her hands 'til her fingers
Were wet with sweat or blood
They stretched and strained in the darkness
And the hours crawled by like years
Till now on the stroke of midnight
Cold on the stroke of midnight
The tip of her finger touched it
The trigger at least was hers
Tot-a-lot, tot-a-lot had they heard it?
The horse's hooves rang clear
Tot-a-lot, tot-a-lot in the distance
Were they deaf they did not hear?
Down the ribbon of moonlight
Over the brow of the hill
The highwayman came riding
Riding, riding

The redcoats looked to their priming

She stood up straight and still

Tot-a-lot in the frosty silence

Tot-a-lot in the echoing night

Nearer he came and nearer

Her face was like a light

Her eyes grew wide for a moment

She drew a last deep breath

Then her finger moved in the moonlight

Her musket shattered the moonlight

Shattered her breast in the moonlight

And warned him with her death

He turned, he spurred to the west

He did not know she stood

Bowed with her head o'er musket

Drenched with her own red blood

Not till the dawn he heard it

His face grew grey to hear

How Bess the landlord's daughter

The landlord's black-eyed daughter

Had watched for her love in the moonlight

And died in the darkness there

And back he spurred like a madman

Shrieking a curse to the sky!

With the white road smoking behind him

And his rapier brandished high!

Blood-red were the spurs in the golden noon

Wine-red was his velvet coat

When they shot him down in the highway

Down like a dog on the highway

And he lay in his blood in the highway

With a bunch of lace at his throat

Still on a winter's night they say

When the wind is in the trees

When the moon is a ghostly galleon

Tossed upon the cloudy seas

When the road is a ribbon of moonlight

Over the purple moor

A highwayman comes riding

Riding, riding,

A highwayman comes riding

Up to the old inn door

A wave of flaming vapor fired at the Borg and turned into an 18th Century Highwayman and it rode on his horse and went at many Borg and dried them all up into mummified husks.

Me: Whoa! That was awesome!

Pakura: Very well done.

Jessie K.: That was really amazing. Well done Stella.

Stella (Loud House): Thanks guys.

Linka: How about this one too? LIGHTNING STYLE NINJA ART: BENEATH A PHRYGIAN SKY!

Linka floated into the air and a raging thunderstorm appeared as the song Beneath A Phrygian Sky by Loreena McKennitt played.

The moonlight it was dancing

On the waves, out on the sea

The stars of heaven hovered

In a shimmering galaxy

A voice from down the ages

So in haunting in its song

These ancient stones will tell us

Our love must make us strong

The breeze it wrapped around me

As I stood there on the shore

And listened to this voice

Like I never heard before

Our battles they may find us

No choice may ours to be

But hold the banner proudly

The truth will set us free

My mind was called across the years

Of rages and of strife

Of all the human misery

And all the waste of life

We wondered where our God was

In the face of so much pain

I looked up to the stars above

To find you once again

We travelled the wide oceans

Heard many call your name

With sword and gun and hatred

It all seemed much the same

Some used your name for glory

Some used it for their gain

Yet when liberty lay wanting

No lives were lost in vain

Is it not our place to wonder

As the sky does weep with tears

And all the living creatures

Look on with mortal fear

It is ours to hold the banner

Is ours to hold it long

It is ours to carry forward

Our love must make us strong

And as the warm wind carried

Its song into the night

I closed my eyes and tarried

Until the morning light

As the last star it shimmered

And the new sun's day gave birth

It was in this magic moment

Came this prayer for mother earth

The moonlight it was dancing

On the waves, out on the sea

The stars of heaven hovered

In a shimmering galaxy

A voice from down the ages

So in haunting in its song

The ancient stones will tell us

Our love will make us strong

Linka fired a wave of lightning and it turned into the haunting sounds of all of nature and it slammed into the Borg and electrocuted them all over and destroyed them.

Nico: Whoa! That was awesome!

Me: Very intense and divine.

Hunter: I know some good songs. MOONLIGHT STYLE NINJA ART: DIESE KALTE NACHT!

Hunter floated into the air as the light of the full moon appeared behind him and the song Diese kalte Nacht by Faun played.

Diese Nacht ist kalt

Und der Wind, der bläst

Durch unser Land

Und wer jetzt noch geht

Ist ein armer Tor

Oder auf dem Weg zu der Liebsten

Die jede Reise lohnt

Oh, öffne mir, lass mich hinein

Dein Liebster steht im Mondenschein

Diese Nacht ist so kalt, so öffne mir

Denn morgen wird es zu spät sein

Mein Vater wacht über Haus und Hof

Meine Tür versperrt ein Eisenschloss

Und ich habe keinen Schlüssel dafür

Es führt heut Nacht kein Weg zu mir

Oh, öffne mir, lass mich hinein

Dein Liebster steht im Mondenschein

Diese Nacht ist so kalt, so öffne mir

Denn morgen wird es zu spät sein

Doch die Nacht ist so kalt

Endlich öffnet sie ihm

Und sie küsst ihres Liebsten kalte Stirn

Diese Nacht ist so kalt

Doch sie öffnet die Tür und er küsst sie

Sieben Mal dafür

Oh, öffne mir, lass mich hinein

Dein Liebster steht im Mondenschein

Diese Nacht ist so kalt, so öffne mir

Denn morgen wird es zu spät sein

Der Morgen graut

Und der Wind, der geht durch unser Land

Doch das Mädchen liegt in ihres Liebsten Arm

Und danket sehr der kalten Nacht

Und dem Wind dafür

The moonlight fired at the Borg and it turned into a beautiful herd of Elk and slammed into the Borg and smashed them apart.

Me: Whoa! Hunter that was awesome!

Hunter: Danke.

Lincoln: That was a beautiful song too.

Ben: Lets see the Borg get this.

Ben then turned into a new predator. It was PANUNCIAN! Khyber's Panuncian looks like a huge Smilodon with sharp claws, a tail with a sharp hook at the end of it, razor sharp sabres, mane like a dire wolf, and a small horn on the top of its nose. It also has a lion-like roar. It wears a red spiked collar that holds the Nemetrix.

Ben: PANUNCIAN!

Me: Whoa! This is a new one.

Shanan: Wow! That's a Panuncian! They are the natural predators of the Splixson's. Ditto's species.

Riley: Whoa! It sure is a scary predator.

Panuncian: Watch this.

He split into 8 copies and viciously slashed and bit a bunch of Borg all over the place and destroyed many of them.

Me: Whoa! That is vicious!

Ben then turned into a new Ultimate Alien. It was ULTIMATE ATOMIX! He now had a bigger mechanical body and his legs were replaced with a floating engine and his head was broader, rounder and wider and he had shoulder cannons on his shoulders.

Ben: ULTIMATE ATOMIX!

Me: Whoa! An Evolved Uranonian!

Nico: Whoa! That is a cool one!

Shanan: Wow! This is the coolest one.

Riley: It sure is.

Ultimate Atomix: Lets see what he can do.

He fired powerful atomic lasers and blew many Borg apart in an instant and melted them all into nothing and he blew them away with powerful barriers and blasted them all over.

Me: Whoa! That is powerful!

Gwen Tennyson: It sure is.

Julie Yamamoto: No kidding.

Me: Lets blast them all apart with some teamwork!

Thunderblast: Right! CYBER KEY POWER!

The Earth Cyber Planet Key went into Thunderblast's rocket cannon and turned it into a bigger rocket launcher.

Maria: Lets add this one for good measure! EARTH CYBER KEY POWER!

The Earth Cyber Planet Key went into Maria's right arm device and she got Thundercracker's Thunder Cannon.

Thunderblast and Maria: THUNDER CANNON MEGABLAST!

They both fired their cannons and the blasts hit many Borg and blew them all apart in massive fiery explosions!

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM!
KRABBBOOOOOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!

Optimus Prime: You all won't win! CYBER KEY POWER!

The Autobot Cyber Planet Key went into Optimus Prime's left cannon and turned it into a bigger more powerful cannon.

James (Pokemon): This is gonna hurt bad. POKEMON CYBER KEY POWER!

The Pokemon Cyber Planet Key went into his right arm device and enhanced his Carnivine's powers 100-fold.

James (Pokemon): Use Leaf Tornado!

Optimus Prime and James: MEGA LASER LEAF TORNADO!

Optimus Prime fired a powerful laser blast and Carnivine fired a tornado of leaves and the blasts shredded and destroyed many Borg.

Matt Daniels: Lets get them! EARTH CYBER KEY POWER!

The Earth Cyber Planet Key went into Matt Daniels' right arm device and enhanced his powers 100-fold.

Matt Daniels and Optimus Prime: MAELSTROM SUPER BLAST WAVE!

They both fired blasts of water and energy and the blasts combined and slammed into many Borg and destroyed them.

Molly Malloy: Lets add this for good measure! EARTH CYBER KEY POWER!

The Earth Cyber Planet Key went into her right arm device and enhanced her plant powers 100-fold.

Molly Malloy and Optimus Prime: MEGA FIRESTORM PLANT TRUCK SLAM!

Molly and Optimus fired a powerful energy blast and plant wave and it formed into a deadly truck and slammed into a bunch of Borg and exploded.

KRAAABBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMMMM!

Clayface: Time for some pain!

Soundwave: Lets do it!

Soundwave turned into his Cybertron Soundwave form.

Clayface and Soundwave: SOUNDSTORM MACE SMASH!

Soundwave fired an energy blast and Clayface formed his hand into a mace ball and the blast destroyed many Borg and Clayface smashed them all over.

Zarya: Time for the wolf to howl!

Lisa Loud: Indeed. It's time to destroy these biomechanical monstrosities!

Zarya fired a massive barrage of energy arrows and Lisa Loud fired a powerful energy blast.

Zarya and Lisa Loud: WOLF TECHNOLOGY FIRESTORM!

The blasts combined and turned into a matrix energy wolf and it slammed into the Borg and blew them apart all over.

Laney: Lets see how Nature deals with them!

Cyborg: Yeah!

Laney fired blasts of fire and poison barbs and Cyborg fired energy blasts.

Laney and Cyborg: NATURE CYBORG BURST!

The blasts hit the Borg all over and destroyed many of them!

Sora: Try this!

Piper: Yeah!

Sora and Piper fired powerful blasts of fire.

Sora and Piper: PHOENIX KEY FIRESTORM!

The blasts combined and turned into a massive phoenix that burned many Borg all over into ash.

Arkayna: This will show them light.

Kairi: Just what I was gonna say.

Kairi and Arkayna fired blasts of fire and light.

Kairi and Arkayna: DRAGON KEYSTORM FIREBALL!

The blasts combined and turned into a powerful fireball shaped like a dragon and it slammed into the Borg and incinerated them.

Starfire: You will never assimilate the people of Tamaran on our watch!

Emerald: Yeah!

Starfire fired powerful blasts of star energy and Emerald fired a blast of pink energy.

Starfire and Emerald: STARBURST UNICORN BURST!

The blasts combined and turned into a deadly unicorn and it slammed into the Borg and blew them apart.

Bart: Lets get them!

Cricket: With pleasure!

Bart and Cricket went at them at incredible speed!

Bart and Cricket: SUPERSONIC SPEED KICKSTORM!

They both smashed into the Borg with devastating kicks and destroyed many of them.

Beast Wars Inferno: For the power of the phoenix! Inferno, TERRORIZE!

Beast Wars Inferno transformed.

Natsu: Lets do it!

Natsu fired a massive blast of fire and Inferno fired his flamethrower.

Natsu and Beast Wars Inferno: FIRESTORM DRAGON INFERNO BLAST!

The blasts of fire hit many Borg and incinerated them.

Lucy Heartfilia: Time for the stars to destroy these monsters.

Terrorsaur: Lets do it! Terrorsaur, TERRORIZE!

Terrorsaur transformed.

Lucy Heartfilia fired a powerful star blast and Terrorsaur fired a massive barrage of his weapons.

Lucy Heartfilia and Beast Wars Terrorsaur: PLANETARY LASER FIRESTORM BURST!

The blasts all hit the Borg all over and blew many of them apart.

Juvia: It's time for some water power!

Manterror: Lets do it! Manterror, TERRORIZE!

Manterror transformed!

Juvia fired a massive blast of water and Manterror fired deadly saw blades.

Juvia Lockser and Beast Wars Manterror: AQUA SAWBLADE SLICE AND DICE!

The water merged with his sawblades and turned them into deadly water disks and they slashed many Borg apart.

Erza Scarlett: This is gonna really hurt.

Cybertron Snarl: It sure will.

Erza Scarlett and Cybertron Snarl: PRIMAL FIRESTORM SLASH!

Erza and Cybertron Snarl slashed many Borg apart with incredible force and burning swords.

Lucy (Pokemon): This is gonna be deadly for you.

Cybertron Scattershot: Yeah!

Lucy fired a powerful wave of darkness and Cybertron Scattershot fired many missiles and lasers.

Lucy (Pokemon) and Cybertron Scattershot: DARKNESS FIRESTORM BARRAGE!

The blasts all hit many Borg all over and destroyed them all over.

Me: Yeah!

Captain Picard: Your teamwork is absolutely magnificent.

Me: Thanks Captain Picard. We have to have powerful teamwork in order to win.

Nico: That's right.

Me: Lets go!

We continued blasting apart the Borg all over the place. Then we faced THE BORG QUEEN!

Me: So we meet at last Borg Queen.

Borg Queen: So we do J.D. Knudson. You are a very formidable adversary. You all were able to take down most of us with ease.

Me: They didn't last more than 10 seconds.

Nico: We won't let you take over the universe.

Vince: Your reign of terror across the universe is at its end.

Borg Queen: Everything in the universe will be all for us and us only.

Me: By robbing people of their free will and ruining the lives and societies of countless innocent people? I think not.

Carol: You will pay for your crimes Borg Queen.

Me: Now you die.

I then flared up my full power and went Super Angel-Ebonwu 100,000 Elemental Moonlight Phoenix.

Me: (Divine Voice) People like you are never gonna be welcome

in our universe. ATTACK!

We went at her and I punched her in the face and kicked her in the stomach and Carol fired a massive blast of atomic energy and blew her arm off in a fiery explosion. Nico kicked her in the face and punched her in the back and Lincoln fired a massive blast of lightning and electrocuted her and Lola fired a powerful blast of fire and burned her all over. Lana fired a blast of ice lightning and froze her legs. Laney fired a massive barrage of poison barbs and they poisoned her with Strychnine Ω and Lily and Luna fired powerful blasts of water and drenched her and Leni and Lori fired powerful blasts of gravity lightning and wind and blew her around and blew part of her apart and Lynn and Luan blasted her with light and lava and burned her all over. Nico fired powerful blasts of fire and energy and blew some of her apart and May fired blasts of ice fire and froze her and Carol fired blasts of atomic energy and blew a hole into the Borg Queen and Linka fired powerful blasts of lightning and electrocuted her all over and Naruto, Fu, Sasuke and Sakura slammed powerful Rasengan and Chidori into the Borg Queen and she was blown all over the place in powerful explosions and Bart and Cricket smashed their powerful kicks into her and the Total Drama Contestants minus Scott blasted her all over with incredible force and power. Vince smashed his fist into the queens face and kicked her in the stomach and Aylene fired fire arrows and they burned her all over. Lisa fired energy lasers at the queen and burned her all over and Varie and Maria drenched the queen all over. Tara and Lynn smashed her all over with earth and rock and lava and burned and smashed her all around. Natilee and Jessie K. fired blasts of green fire and leaves and cut and burned her all over. James Maxfield and Seia used their deadly martial arts skills and punched, kicked and thrashed the Borg Queen all over the place with incredible ferocity and power and really thrashed her.

Me: Time to finish you forever!

Stella (Loud House): This is for all the pain you caused. DROUGHT FIRESTORM BURST!

Stella fired a massive wave of Flaming Heat and the blast hit the Borg Queen and dried up the Borg Queen.

Lisa Loud: You are never going to terrorize our universe again! QUANTUM EQUATION FIRESTORM!

Lisa fired a powerful energy blast in the form of the 5th Dimension Unified String Equation and it slammed into the Borg Queen and exploded.

KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMMM!

Captain Picard: You will never assimilate anyone ever again! FEDERATION LASER FIRESTORM!

Captain Picard fired a powerful laser shower at the Borg Queen and the blasts hit her and exploded.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!
KRABBBOOOOOOMMMM!
KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!
KRABBBBOOOOOOOMMMM!

Nico: Borg Queen, you have failed this universe! SAIYAN MIGHT FIRE BURST!

Nico fired a powerful blast of fire and it slammed into the Borg Queen and exploded.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM!

Me: We protect this universe from people like you Borg Queen! MOONLIGHT WOLF FIRESTORM!

I fired a massive wave of moonlight fire and it turned into a wolf and it slammed into her and exploded!

KRABBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

I walked up to her as she was burning.

Me: As long as we exist, people like you will never be welcome here.

I held up my hand to her face.

Me: HAKAI!

The Borg Queen glowed purple and she screamed in pain as she was being obliterated. She was completely erased from existence for all eternity as if she was never born at all.

Me: Good riddance.

Scott: I will kill all of you despite winning the challenge.

Stella (Loud House): (to Scott) It's tempting to leave you here for dead right now. But fortunately for you, we're not that kind of people.

Then the ship alarm went off and the Unicomplex started blowing apart.

Me: Lets get out of here!

We teleported back to our ship and we watched on as the whole Borg Collective was dying.

Me: Activate the Hyperdrive. The whole Unicomplex is gonna blow.

Laney: Aye sir!

We activated the hyperdrive and got out of there fast! The whole Unicomplex exploded in a massive fiery explosion in an instant and the whole Borg Collective was dead in a massive ball of fire!

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

We got out of there just in time.

Me: That was a close one.

Scott was put into the brig.

Captain Picard was on the Voyager as Captain Janeway's 2nd in command.

Captain Janeway: Thanks for letting us help you J.D.

Me: It was an honor to have you help us Captain Janeway. And Captain Picard, thank goodness you are all right.

Captain Picard: Thanks to you J.D. I am forever indebted to you.

Me: It's what we do.

Captain Picard: If you ever need help from me at anytime, I'll be there.

Me: Will do Captain.

We shook hands.

Stella (Loud House): (To the viewers) Not even an evil Cyborg Race like the Borg can stop us. We are far too powerful for them.

Me: Yep.

We then saw the Voyager take off.

Captain Picard: (To the viewers) People like the entirety of the Borg Collective will never be welcome in our universe. Not if Team Loud Phoenix Storm and the United Federation of Planets has anything to say about it.

Captain Janeway: That's true.

The Voyager went out into the stars.

Me: Wow.

We proceeded on ourselves. We avenged all the races that the Borg senselessly slaughtered and enslaved.

Part 4 complete

The Borg Collective from Star Trek were by far the worst villains that Gene Roddenberry and the entire Star Trek Crew ever made. But they were awesome and terrifying. NicoChan11 gave me the ideas for this one. Thanks man. Part 5 is gonna be for the episode of Stargate SG-1 called Birthright and we're going to the alien planet Hak'tyl and this is gonna be interesting.

See you all tomorrow.

TDG 5 - Portal To An Amazon World

The U.S.S. Valorous Phoenix was flying through the void of space.

Me: Captain's Log, Stardate 2803.9: It's day 5 of Total Drama Galaxy and we are heading to our next location for the next challenge. Everyone really looking forward to this one. It's gonna be an interesting one.

Nico: This is gonna be awesome.

Me: It sure is.

Lisa Loud: Indeed.

Michael Morningstar: Qin, how did you meet Poliwag and Poromon?

Qin: That is a really cute story. It was about a month before Nico moved.

---

Nico was back at his house over in New Jersey.

Qin: (Narrating) I was over at Nico's house and we were playing video games. He had an awesome collection of video games and it was awesome.

Young Qin: Yeah! You have awesome Video Games Nico.

Young Nico: Thanks Qin

Qin: That's when Poromon and Poliwag came.

Poromon and Poliwag came and landed on Qin.

Poromon: Whoa!

Poliwag: That was awesome.

Young Qin: (Gasp) (Squeals) (Hugs them) You two are so cute!

Young Nico: I see you met Poromon and Poliwag.

Young Qin: They are so cute Nico! So these two are Poromon and Poliwag.

Young Nico: Yep. Poromon is the bird ball. He's a Digimon and Poliwag is the Tadpool Pokemon. We have been together for a long time.

Young Qin: They are so amazing and adorable.

Young Nico: Yep.

Qin: That's how I met Poromon and Poliwag. They are just as close to me as they are to Nico.

FLASHBACK ENDS

Qin: It was so cool to meet them.

Nico: Yep.

Skips: It's nice that you found Poromon and Poliwag cute the first time.

Nico: It sure is.

Mixmaster: Poromon, if you have kids with Manaphy, does that mean they'll be part Digimon and part Pokemon?

Poromon: It's highly possible.

G1 Jazz: Hey, Horsea? Would you and Poliwag's kids be part Horsea and part Poliwag?

Horsea: I don't think it works like that. Usually all Pokemon are born as eggs.

G1 Jazz: I see.

Me: I think it's really cool though. Lillie over in the Alola Region got to hatch an Alolan Vulpix and it was awesome.

Laney: I saw that and her Alolan Vulpix is so adorable.

Lana: She sure is.

Jo then came.

Jo: It's amazing how you all keep letting those Masters of Evil guys go. I thought you morons were acting like corrupt heroes before. But now, I think you've all gone soft!

Nico: If we've gone soft, how come most of the Power Rangers monsters that we've fought so far met their end?

Me: Yeah answer that. Also Lily wasn't kidding. You did get an artificial foot. Lola and Lana really bit your foot off.

Jo: Yeah and I will make you pay for ruining me!

Lana: You brought all that on yourself you bitch!

Lola: Yeah you fucking freak!

Chris McLean appeared.

Chris McLean: Attention everyone, it's Challenge Time!

Maria: What planet are we heading to this time?

Lisa Loud: We have already arrived.

Me: On screen.

We saw on the screen a jungle planet.

Me: It's a forest planet.

Nico: It looks familiar to me.

Me: Wait a second. That's the planet Hak'Tyl from Stargate SG-1.

Hunter: (German Accent) Mein Gott! I know that planet. It's an amazing planet.

Lori: Wow! A planet where only female people live? How is that possible?

Lisa Loud: That's just what I was thinking firstborn elder sibling.

Me: Wow. This sounds like a kind of planet Master Jiraiya would love.

Naruto: Knowing Pervy Sage, he would.

Me: I've heard of Amazon Villages but never Amazon Planets. They must be really rare in certain parts of the galaxy and universe.

Lily Loud: That could be.

Vince: Yeah. But this is really cool though.

Naruto: It's like what we saw in the Nadeshiko Village.

Lori: Nadeshiko Village?

Me: That was an Amazon Village in the Land of Water. It's an amazon vilage where only Kunoichi live. Me and Naruto met them on our training trip. There we met the leader of the village Princess Shizuka and she was in a lot of trouble.

I went over what the Nadeshiko Village was and how it went as well as the history of Princess Shizuka.

Nadeshiko Village

The Nadeshiko Village (撫子の里, Nadeshiko no Sato) is located near the Land of Water. The families of this village are organised through matrilineality. Women from this village must venture outside to find men strong enough to defeat them, resulting in them being taken to the village to marry the kunoichi they defeated.

The village itself is positioned upon the lightly forested top of three massive and steep hills standing in a line, with two bridges spanning the gorges between them. The hills are situated within a lush forested valley in a mountainous region. In terms of construction the village seems to be similar to a stronghold or palace, with numerous walls, towers and brickwork being dominant features.

Princess Shizuka

While still training under her mentor, Shizuka developed a relationship with a merchant named Sagiri, despite the law of her village. While they hoped to one day change that law, Sagiri was one day killed, prompting Shizuka to live solely for her training and duties to the village, resigned to never love again. In the end, she said that she was going to become stronger one day.

Before her début, she had become the target of Kokuyō, who wanted to defeat her for her hand in marriage in order to rule Nadeshiko Village, and came after her numerous times despite a seemingly crushing defeat at every encounter. Prior to encountering with Naruto, Shizuka had defeated Kokuyō ninety-eight times, each time easily destroying his puppet and sending him flying.

Qin: Whoa!

Wonder Woman: I didn't know that the ninja world had villages like that J.D.

Me: It's a really big mystery.

Chris McLean: That is very interesting.

Me: It sure is.

Naruto: But like Shikamaru said: "We always are helping people."

Me: Yep. Anyway lets head down to the planet.

We landed onto the planet.

We got out and it was a breathtakingly beautiful jungle planet.

Me: Wow. This planet is beautiful. It's just as beautiful as Pandora. But without the poisonous atmosphere.

Nico: It sure is.

Laney: It sure is pretty.

Lana: Yeah.

?: Our world is beautiful.

We turned and then we saw a beautiful woman with blonde hair and she had a tattoo emblazoned on her forehead.

Me: Wow.

Ishta: My name is Ishta and I'm the leader of the Jaffa Rebels.

Me: It's a pleasure to meet you Ishta. We are Team Loud Phoenix Storm.

Ishta: It's an honor to meet all of you. And we're glad you all came. You are here to kill the false god Moloc.

Me: Moloc? I remember him.

Nico: Who is Moloc?

Me: A very dangerous monster.

I went over his history.

Moloc (also called Molech, Molekh, Molok, Molek, Melech, Milcom, Molcom, and most commonly, Moloch) was a Goa'uld System Lord. While on Earth, he was worshiped by the Canaanites and Phoenicians. During his reign, he became known for his demand of child sacrifice, a trait which he took with him after leaving Earth. He continued to be a high-ranking Goa'uld up until his death in 2004.

He decreed that all female Jaffa born in his domain would be sacrificed in the Ceremony of Fire, as only male Jaffa could bring him victory in the wars against the rest of the Goa'uld. The High Priestess Ishta formed the Hak'tyl Resistance to spirit away newborn girls.

Eventually Moloc learned of the presence of the Hak'tyl ll, and came to stop a meeting of rebel Jaffa among his ranks. His forces killed all but Ishta, Teal'c, and Aron. Ishta was soon captured, and tortured by Moloc. While there, a Rebel Jaffa force Ishta had organized began its revolt against Moloc, who prepared to leave to end it. Moloc was killed when Stargate Command fired missiles through the Stargate which were sent directly at him, due to Aron pointing the laser designator at him, with Ba'al later absorbing Moloc's forces.

We gasped in shock.

Lincoln: That is crazy!

Laney: He's pure evil.

Me: Looks like we got here just in time.

Nico: We sure did.

Me: Ishta, we will gladly help you out. No one takes over a planet in the name of evil and lives to tell about it.

Nico: Just what I was about to say.

Vince: Yeah!

Hunter: Ja!

Ishta: Follow me.

We went with Ishta and we went underground and we saw a huge rebel camp that was amazing.

Nico: Whoa!

Me: It's a huge Rebel Camp.

Me: Yeah.

Ishta: This is the Hak'Tyl Resistance. We formed our group to take back our village.

Ishta went over the history of the Resistance.

---

The Hak'tyl Resistance was a group of female Jaffa who once belonged to the Goa'uld Moloc.

When Moloc decreed that only male Jaffa would survive, having begun to believe that the female Jaffa were weaklings, Ishta, one of Moloc's high priestesses organized an underground movement to spirit infant girls to Hak'tyl.

After learning of SG-1, they approached the Tau'ri, seeking an alliance. Major Samantha Carter, the only female member of SG-1 later approached them and offered them Tretonin as a way of being free of the Goa'uld symbiotes so that the group itself would not have to resort to raids in order to steal symbiotes for their younger female followers. Though it was difficult at first, the Hak'tyl were convinced to take the tretonin.

During the conquests of Ba'al, the Hak'tyl organized a group of at least 2,000 Jaffa, both male and female, to rebel against Moloc. Teal'c and Bra'tac urged caution, saying that killing Moloc would ultimately do nothing in the long run as another System Lord would likely take his domain.

However, a rebel meeting was interrupted by Moloc's forces on the new Hak'tyl homeworld, leading to Moloc himself coming to torture Ishta. Teal'c rescued Ishta from Moloc's First Prime Cha'ra (who later joined the Jaffa Rebellion) while rebel Jaffa Aron directed a missile strike from the SGC onto Moloc, killing him and destroying his forces on the planet. Unfortunately, in spite of the victory and as Teal'c and Bra'tac had predicted, with Moloc dead, Ba'al absorbed his domain and became more powerful than ever before.

With the collapse of the Goa'uld Empire and the emergence of the Free Jaffa Nation, the Hak'tyl have emerged as a force in the politics of the Jaffa High Council and were accorded a seat in the council, taken by Ka'lel, due to their military strength. They usually ally with the progressives such Teal'c and Bra'tac in the support of establishing a democracy (despite the fact it could weaken their political powers) against the Traditionalists lead by Gerak, and have also opposed the Ori.

Me: Geez.

Hunter: That is awful. We'll make sure that Moloc pays for this.

Me: That's right.

Courtney: No one rules over people with fear on our watch.

Sammy: That's right!

Me: Lets do it!

We went over to the village of the Jaffa and the resistance went with us. On a throne we saw MOLOC!

Me: There he is. Lets get him.

I fired energy blasts at his followers and blew them all apart in massive fiery explosions.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOMMMMM! KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOMMM! KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOMMM! KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOMMM! KRABBBBOOOOOOMMMM!

The explosions incinerated them and we stood in front of Moloc.

Me: It's over Moloc!

Moloc: So Team Loud Phoenix Storm has come.

Me: And we've come to kill you. Your reign of terror ends now!

Moloc: I don't think so. My ruin is supreme.

Me: Like hell it will be.

?: And you all will die before you kill him.

A figure came out and it was JADE GLADIATOR from episode 13 of Dino Thunder!

---

When Anton Mercer becomes Mesogog in Mercer's lab, he uses he also were to cause an experimental plant to transform into the Jade Gladiator. Jade Gladiator uses his botanic power to bring back Deadwood, the Tree of Life, and brings to life a new monster: Skortch. After all five Dino Rangers join together and defeat his creations, the Valkasaurus Megazord is formed and destroys the Jade Gladiator.

---

Connor McKnight: Jade Gladiator!

Jade Gladiator: Strange seeing you all here rangers.

Me: I remember this guy! He was sent to bring back Deadwood and form into Skortch!

Nico: I remember seeing that.

Laney: Yeah.

Jade Gladiator: (to the Dino Thunder Rangers) I don't get you Rangers. Your White Friend hid Mesogog's secret identity from you. And he tried to kill you in the past. And yet, you still made him part of your team. Why?

Me: Because he was brainwashed you fucking sack of chlorophyll!

Nico: Yeah!

Lori: You are a disgusting plant freak!

Me: And now you will die.

Emma: Time to show Hak'Tyl the existence of Terra Venture!

Megaforce Rangers: Legendary Ranger Mode: Lost Galaxy!

The Megaforce Rangers turned into the Lost Galaxy Rangers.

Me: Attack!

We went at Moloc and I punched him in the face and the Megaforce Rangers blasted Jade Gladiator blasted and blew him apart and more. Jade Gladiator fell down and exploded.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

I punched Moloc in the stomach and kicked him in the face and fired a massive blast of lightning and electrocuted him all over and Carol fired a powerful blast of Atomic Energy and it hit Moloc and exploded all over in powerful fiery explosions.

KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!
KRABBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!
KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!
KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOMM!

Laney fired powerful blasts of fire and burned him all over and Lola and Lana fired blasts of fire and ice and froze him and burned him all over.

May: I know a good technique. Lets see how he likes this one. WOLF MOON STYLE NINJA ART: LY-O-LAY ALE LOYA

May floated into the air and the beautiful of a wolf howling at the full moon was seen as she sang the song Native American Indian song Ly-O-Lay Ale Loya by Sacred Spirits.

Me: Whoa! That was awesome!

Nico: Way to go May!

May: Thanks guys.

Lori: Here's one I learned while we were on Pandora. NA'VI STYLE NINJA ART: ADIEMUS!

Lori floated into the air and blue markings of the tribal art of the Na'Vi appeared on her face and arms and the beautiful surface of the planet Pandora appeared and Lori sang the song Adiemus by Karl Jenkins.

Arrows fired at Moloc and they hit him all over and poisoned him with a lethal dose of their poison.

Roxanne Santiago: Way to go mom!

Me: That was awesome Lori!

Lori: Thanks guys.

Lucy Loud: This is gonna send him into the darkness of despair. DARKNESS STYLE NINJA ART: TOURNIQUET!

Lucy floated into the air and the darkness of a dark forest appeared as she sang the song Tourniquet by Evanescence.

I tried to kill the pain

But only brought more

(So much more)

I lay dying

And I'm pouring, crimson regret, and betrayal

I'm dying

Praying

Bleeding

Screaming

Am I too lost to be saved?

Am I too lost?

My God! My tourniquet

Return to me salvation

My God! My tourniquet

Return to me salvation

Do you remember me?

Lost for so long

Will you be on the other side?

Will you forget me?

I'm dying

Praying

My God! My tourniquet

Return to me salvation

My God! My tourniquet

Return to me salvation

My wounds cry for the grave

My soul cries, for deliverance

Will I be denied?

Christ! Tourniquet! My suicide

Waves of darkness were fired at Moloc and they slammed into him and exploded with incredible power.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM

Me: Whoa! That was awesome Lucy.

Brittney: It sure was. Well done.

Lucy Loud: Thanks guys.

Carol: This is gonna be an interesting song. Lets see how he likes this. AURORA STYLE NINJA ART: Bláþráður!

Carol floated into the air and the majestic beauty of the Aurora Borealis appeared and she sang the song Bláþráður by Sigur Ros.

Carla: Way to go mommy!

Carol: Thanks guys.

Laney: I know a good song. Here's one I learned from Irish Lore. LEAF STYLE NINJA ART: SLEEPY MAGGIE!

Laney rose into the air and the beauty of the plants of nature formed behind her and she sang Sleepy Maggie by Ashley MacIsaac.

Ciamar a ni mi dannsa direach

Laney fired waves of shamrocks and clovers and they hit Moloc all over and cut him all over and exploded.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMMMM!

Me: Whoa! That was amazing!

Natilee: That sure was. (Irish Accent) Well done lass!

Laney: Thanks guys.

Luna: Rockin' Lanes.

Laney: Thanks guys. It was pretty cool.

Lincoln: This is gonna be good. LIGHTNING STYLE NINJA ART: GOTT MIT UNS!

Lincoln floated into the air and a massive raging thunderstorm formed and he sang the song Gott Mit Uns my Sabaton.

Spent the night in formation

To the battle we march in the dawn

We were ready to die for our king

On the fields of Breitenfeld

Fire at will

Aim for their cannons

Counter attack

Thunder of guns

Gott mit uns

As we all stand united

All together Gott mit uns

From the old world's demise

See an empire rise

From the north reaching far

Here we are

On September the seventh

We filled their hearts with fear

Seven times they attacked on that day

Seven times they retreated

Cavarly charge

Follow the banner

After the king
Freedom we bring
Gott mit uns
As we all stand united
All together Gott mit uns
From the old world's demise
See an empire rise
From the north reaching far
Here we are
Breaking their lines
Thousands of soldiers
Run for their lives
Legend arise
Gott mit uns
As we all stand united
All together Gott mit
Gott mit uns
As we all stand united
All together Gott mit uns
From the old world's demise
See an empire rise
From the north reaching far

Here we are

Here we are

A wave of lightning went at Moloc and it turned into the army of the Battle of Breitenfeld back in 1631 and it slammed into him and blasted and slashed him all over.

Me: Whoa! That was awesome!

Jessie K.: Wow! That was the army from the Battle of Breitenfeld during the Thirty Year's War in the early 17th Century. That was a major battle back then.

Hunter: Ja. It was a very important battle back then.

Nico: I never even knew about that.

Laney: Me neither. But that was amazing!

Ishta: It sure is amazing. I've never even heard about that.

Stella (Loud House): How about this one? SCORCH STYLE NINJA ART: SHIROYAMA!

Stella floated into the air and the scorching sands of the Sahara Desert appeared behind her and the sand was on fire as she sand the song Shiroyama by Sabaton.

It's the nature of time

That the old ways must give in

It's the nature of time

That the new ways comes in sin

When the new meets the old

It always end the ancient ways

And as history told

The old ways go out in a blaze
Encircled by a vulture
The end of ancient culture
The dawn of destiny draws near
Imperial force defied, facing 500 samurai
Surrounded and outnumbered
60 to 1, the sword face the gun
Bushido dignified
It's the last stand of the samurai
Surrounded and outnumbered
As a new age begins
The way of the warrior comes to an end
As a new age begins
The ways of the old must apprehend
It's the nature of time
That the old ways must give in
It's the nature of time
That the new ways comes in sin
An offer of surrender
Saigo ignore contender
The dawn of destiny is here
Imperial force defied, facing 500 samurai

Surrounded and outnumbered

60 to 1, the sword face the gun

Bushido dignified

It's the last stand of the samurai

Surrounded and outnumbered

Until the dawn they hold on

Only 40 are left at the end

None alive, none survive

Shiroyama

Imperial force defied, facing 500 samurai

Surrounded and outnumbered

60 to 1 the sword face the gun

Bushido dignified

It's the last stand of the samurai

Surrounded and outnumbered

60 to 1, facing the gun

60 to 1, culture undone

A wave of fire formed and turned into the army from the Battle of Shiroyama in 1877 and they went at Moloc and slashed and blasted him all over the place.

Me: Whoa! Stella that was awesome!

Jessie K.: Wow! That was the army from the Battle of Shiroyama in 1877.

Mizore: Wow. I've read about that. It was a battle that lead to the disbandment of the Samurai in Japan

Vince: I remember reading about that. That was an intense battle.

Me: Really amazing.

Lily: Yeah! Lets see how they like this. ORACLE STYLE NINJA ART: WINGED HUSSARS!

Lily floated into the air and a powerful wave of light shined down onto her and she sang the song Winged Hussars by Sabaton.

When the winged hussars arrived

A cry for help in time of need, await relief from holy league

60 days of siege, outnumbered and weak

Sent a message to the sky, wounded soldiers left to die

Will they hold the wall or will the city fall

Dedication

Dedication

They're outnumbered 15 to one

And the battle's begun

Then the winged hussars arrived

Coming down the mountainside

Then the winged hussars arrived

Coming down they turned the tide

As the days are passing by and as the dead are piling high

No escape and no salvation

Trenches to explosive halls are buried deep beneath the walls

Plant the charges there and watch the city fear

Desperation

Desperation

It's a desperate race against the mine

And a race against time

Then the winged hussars arrived

Coming down the mountainside

Then the winged hussars arrived

Coming down they turned the tide

Cannonballs are coming down from the sky

Janissaries are you ready to die?

We will seek our vengeance eye for an eye

You'll be stopped upon the steps of our gate

On this field you're only facing our hate

But back home the sultan's sealing your fate

We remember

In September

That's the night Vienna was freed

We made the enemy bleed!

Storm clouds, fire and steel

Death from above make their enemy kneel

Lily fired waves of light and formed into the army from the Battle of Vienna in 1683 and they blasted and slashed Moloc all over.

Me: Whoa! That was awesome!

Jessie K.: Wow! That was the army from the 1683 Battle of Vienna. That was one of the biggest battles that lead to the start of the Polish-Ottoman War.

Nico: Whoa! I didn't know about that.

Me: Me neither.

Lincoln: That is amazing!

Luna: Lets see how he likes this one! METAL STYLE NINJA ART: NO BULLETS FLY!

Luna floated into the air as a steel mill appeared behind her and she sang No Bullets Fly by Sabaton.

From down below one enemy's spotted

So hurry up, rearm and refuel

But through the bomber's damaged air frame

See wounded men scattered and burned

Look to the right and then look again

And see the enemy in the eye

No bullets fly, spared by his mercy

Escorted out, out of harm's way

Fly, fighting fair

It's the code of the air

Brothers, heroes, foes

Killing machine, thunder in the sky

B-17, flying home

Killing machine

Said goodbye to the cross he deserved

He risked his life two times that day

To save an unknown enemy

Escort to safety, out of the killzone

A short salute, then departed

Fly, fighting fair

It's the code of the air

Brothers, heroes, foes

Killing machine, thunder in the sky

B-17, flying home

Killing machine

Said goodbye to the cross he deserved

Fly, fighting fair

It's the code of the air

Brothers, heroes, foes

Killing machine, thunder in the sky

B-17, flying home

Killing machine

Said goodbye to the cross he deserved

A wave of molten metal went at Moloc and formed into the plane of German Fighter Pilot Franz Stigler from World War II and it blasted Moloc all over and really hurt him.

Me: Whoa! That was awesome!

Jessie K.: Wow! That was the plane of Franz Stigler from World War II.

Me: I remember reading about him. In 1943 he was famous for badly damaging a B-17 Flying Fortress flown by Charles L. Brown. Brown and Stigler have been dangerous enemies back then. But until 2008 they were really good friends.

Nico: Whoa! That is amazing.

Lana: That is amazing! I didn't know about that.

Lola: Me neither. That is amazing.

Hunter: Ja. It's all true.

Dana (Loud House): How about he tries this one? ICE STYLE NINJA ART: SWEDISH PEGANS!

Dana floated into the air and a raging blizzard formed and she sang Swedish Pagans by Sabaton.

The wise women said

Once your heart is in battle

There is no coming back

(Fight for Thor)

And before the attack

Feel your blood starts to boiling

In your veins as you charge

(Hundreds fallen)

As the fire inside

Is ignited by bloodshed

In berserkers from north

Could it be as was said

When the serpent be woken

Fenrir howls

Swedish Pagans, marching ashore

Forged in Valhalla by the hammer of Thor

Out from Asgaard, a viking ship sails

Never to turn back again

When our brothers have fought

Is where we will be proven

On ground stained by blood

(Standing tall)

And we know, if we fall

Our comrades awaits in Valhall

(Odin's calling)

As the fire inside

Is ignited by bloodshed

In berserkers from north

Could it be as was said

When the serpent be woken

Fenrir howls

Swedish Pagans, marching ashore

Forged in Valhalla by the hammer of Thor

Out from Asgaard, a viking ship sails

Never to turn back again

First to the battle

First to the feast

Destiny waiting

No retreat

Retreat!

Swedish Pagans, marching ashore

Forged in Valhalla by the hammer of Thor

Out from Asgaard, a viking ship sails

Never to turn back again

She fired a huge wave of ice and it turned into the Sweden Vikings and they slashed Moloc and froze him all over.

Me: Whoa! Those were the Vikings of 8th Century A.D.! Awesome!

Nico: And you are descended from the famous Leif Ericsson, J.D.

Me: I sure am. These techniques you taught us Hunter have some amazing historical information behind them.

Hunter: Danke. They are a work of art from my country.

Me: It's amazing.

Ishta: They are really amazing though.

Naruto: They sure are.

Ben: Time for some predator power!

Ben then turned into a new predator. But when we saw him change, he vanished!

Me: Huh!? Where did he go!?

We looked around and I saw something floating in the air. I used my microscopic vision and I saw that Ben was a new predator that was no bigger than that of a virus! He was only 70 nanometers in size and he looked like a Bacteriophage Virus.

Ben: (TINY VOICE) PARASITOA!

Me: Whoa! This has to be the smallest alien species I've ever seen Ben turn into.

Riley: Where is he? I can't see him.

Ben was on my finger and Riley looked through a microscopic lens telescope.

Riley: Whoa! That is a really small one!

Shanan: I know that species! That is an Elefantokyo. They are only 70 nanometers tall and they are also the natural predators of To'Kustar's. Way Big Species.

Me: Whoa. That is really small and he looks very much like a Bacteriophage Virus.

Lisa Loud: Let me see.

Riley handed Lisa the Microscopic lens Telescope and she saw Ben.

Lisa Loud: Very fascinating species of predator.

Me: Very interesting. But how does a small virus-size alien predator like this infect a huge giant alien like a To'Kustar? They are 100 feet tall.

Shanan: They can grow up to any size and they infect their bodies and take over their brains and control them like a puppet while infecting them over time.

Me: Geez. Like some kind of virus in real life.

Shanan: Exactly.

Parasitoa: And watch this.

He grew to as big as my hand.

Me: Whoa! That is what I call a huge virus. But awesome.

Parasitoa went at Moloc and latched onto his head and drilled into him and took control of him and made him punch himself all over.

Me: That is awesome!

Nico: And really funny too.

Hunter: Ja.

Vince: Indeed.

Moloc was badly beaten up.

Ben then turned into a new Ultimate Alien. It was ULTIMATE GUTROT! He was bigger and fatter and he had powerful armor all over him as well as mine like shoulders and he a bigger gas capacity.

Ben: ULTIMATE GUTROT!

Me: Whoa! An Evolved Stomachoan!

Shanan: Wow! This is a cool one!

Riley: Really awesome!

Ultimate Gutrot: Lets see what he can do.

He then fired liquid gas and it hit Moloc and burned him all over.

Me: Time for some Combo power!

G1 Jazz: Righto boss! CYBER KEY POWER!

The Earth Cyber Planet Key went into his back and enhanced his flamethrower 100-fold.

Skips: This is gonna be awesome! EARTH CYBER KEY POWER!

The Earth Cyber Planet Key went into his right arm device and enhanced his strength and powers 100-fold.

G1 Jazz and Skips: FLAMING YETI FIRESTORM!

They fired blasts of fire and it turned into a powerful yeti made of pure fire and it slammed into Moloc and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM

Muscle Man: You know who else loves kicking peoples butts like yours? My Mom!

Mixmaster: Time for some action! CYBER KEY POWER!

The Earth Cyber Planet Key went into his back and enhanced his chemicals 100-fold.

Michael Morningstar: Time for this energy alien to blast some monsters! EARTH CYBER KEY POWER!

The Earth Cyber Planet Key went into his right arm device and enhanced his powers 100-fold.

Mixmaster and Michael Morningstar: NITROGLYCERIN STARBURST BLAST!

Mixmaster fired blasts of nitroglycerin and Michael Morningstar fired powerful star blasts and the blasts hit Moloc and exploded.

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Pharaoh Man: Time for some sun power!

Xion: And light power!

Pharaoh Man fired blasts of fire and Xion fired blasts of light.

Pharaoh Man and Xion: SUN STORM LIGHTBURST!

The blasts combined and they slammed into Moloc and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Arkayna: Time for some Dragon Power!

Lincoln: Yeah!

Arkayna fired a blast of fire that turned into a Dragon and Lincoln fired a powerful blast of lightning.

Arkayna and Lincoln: LIGHTNING DRAGON MEGABLAST!

The lightning merged with the Dragon and turned it into a dragon of pure lightning and it slammed into Moloc and exploded.

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Lok: Time for some spirit power!

Nico: Lets do it Lok! DRAGON THUNDERCLAP!

The 5-Star Dragonball on his bracelet glowed and Nico fired a powerful blast of lightning and Lok fired a powerful blast of energy.

Lok and Nico: DRAGON LIGHTNING AUGERBLAST!

The blasts combined and slammed into Moloc and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Me: Time for some Final Smash power!

Wonder Woman: Lets do it! THEMISCYRA SWORD BLADEDANCE!

Wonder Woman slashed Moloc all over the place with powerful blades of energy from her sword.

Alexis Rhodes: Chill out, Moloc! CRYO FLAME MEGAFREEZE!~

Alexis Rhodes fired a massive blast of blue ice fire and it hit Moloc and froze him in a block of ice.

Lily Loud: And this is for your crimes! MAELSTROM SUPER SHREDCURRENT!

Lily fired a massive blast of water and it slammed into Moloc and shredded him apart. Killing him instantly.

Then we heard a gunshot and a bullet grazed my face.

Me: What the?

We then saw the RICH TEXAN!

---

Richard "Rich" Texan, also known as "The Rich Texan" and Senator Shady Bird Johnson is a stereotypical rich, selfish, callous, but gregarious, business owner from Springfield. He wears a tan suit with a bolo tie and a white cowboy hat (which he wore on the day Kennedy was shot) and is in his 70s. He holds two guns at once.

Mr. Burns once called him "Shady Bird Johnson".

He has a fortune of 290 million dollars, although at one time he was worth more than a billion (he was once accepted into Billionaire Camp). He once owned a basketball called the Austin Celtics (a parody of the Boston Celtics).

He is an active member of the Springfield Republican Party and speaks with a heavy Texas drawl. In Season 5's "$pringfield (Or, How I Learned to Stop Worrying and Love Legalized Gambling)" (the Rich Texan's debut), Homer addresses the Rich Texan as "Senator", although this was never mentioned again. He once owned a logging company and once attempted to cut down Springfield's tallest Redwood tree, until his company was destroyed by the gigantic tree after it slid down a hill. He also once owned, all of Mr. Burns's possessions, when he won them in a bet. One of Richard's fondest dreams is to build the world's first drive-through humidor.

Richard always carried two revolvers, and he had a common habit of pulling them out and firing them into the air while yelling, "Yee-haw!" whenever he is happy or excited. He has been to jail at least once when one of his stray bullets hit a Texas Ranger and the police made him switch to blanks, but he noted that "They just don't feel the same". He once held Homer and Moe at gunpoint, while forcing them to walk along with him after being tricked by the two. He once went over the top and lost his mind after doing something generous for Ned.

Richard revealed that he suffers from pogonophobia (the fear of beards and mustaches), the excuse he gives Homer for parking in a handicap spot; he then promptly shoots at least one man dressed as Santa Claus. He is also obsessive-compulsive and counts by stepping with his left leg 1-2-3-4 before firing his pistols.

Richard stated that he enjoys moonlight walks on the beach.

Richard's license plate reads "NO SHAME"

He also drills for oil, although he claims that he doesn't do it for profit, but instead uses it for his private use for dancing (which involves him yelling "yee-haw" under an oil tower spraying oil and dancing a jig), which he demonstrates to Bart and Lisa when they accuse him of fracking.

Family

Richard Texan has a gay grandson and a daughter named Paris Texan (who looks and acts like Paris Hilton, and whose name is a play on Paris, Texas)

His grandfather served in the Confederate military, as he reacts to

Bart mooning the flag "That's the flag my grandpappy rebelled against!"

---

Me: The Rich Texan!

Becky: Oh great. Not this jerk.

Rich Texan: Well if it isn't the loser and dumb idiot force.

Me: You're the dumbest jerk ever.

Nico: (to Rich Texan) You did teach us one thing.

Rich Texan: What's that?

Nico: Left in Texas means down for us.

Me: Yeah.

Becky then punched the Rich Texan in the face and punched him in the stomach and kicked him in the face and punched him in the stomach and face and knocked him down.

Becky: Normally I'm supposed to respect my elders, but you are worst than an elder.

Jo: And I'll gladly kill this guy.

Me: I don't think so Jo.

Chris McLean: The Interstellar Retribution wins!

We cheered wildly.

Wonder Woman: (grabs Jo by the arm) Don't worry, Jo. We'll make sure you're fed in the brig!

Me: Yeah.

Ishta thanked us for freeing them and we then got back on the ship and we went to the next world for the next challenge.

Alexis Rhodes: (To the viewers) Never listen to an evil tyrant out to kill everyone.

Me: Yep.

We were off.

Part 5 is done.

Stargate SG-1 was a great show. I never watched it but me and ArchangelOfJustice12 were using elements from it for our RP's on Deviantart and I figured it would be perfect for this. NicoChan11 gave me the ideas for this. Thanks man. Next up for part 6 is Planet of The Apes and we're gonna go after the evil ape overlord Koba and make him pay for his crimes.

See you all tomorrow.

TDG 6 - Planet of Apes and Monkeys

The U.S.S. Valorous Phoenix was flying through the endless reaches of space.

Me: Captain's Log, Stardate 2804.7: It's day 6 of Total Drama Galaxy and the U.S.S. Valorous Phoenix is en route to the next challenge location. We're gonna be in for an amazing challenge when we arrive. Chris says that we're in for one helluva battle.

Laney: I can't wait to see what Chris is gonna have us do next.

Me: Me too Laney.

Carl Carlson: It's gonna be awesome.

Cut Man: Carl, is it true that you're from Iceland?

Carl Carlson: It sure is Cut Man. Iceland is my home country.

Me: I love Iceland. It's one of my countries of origin in ancestral origin.

Carl Carlson: That's cool J.D.! One time me, Homer, Lenny and Moe won the Lottery.

Static: You guys actually won the lottery?! You know how hard that is?

Me: Really hard. The odds of winning the lottery are staggering.

Carl Carlson: I know. We won $200,000.00 and I took that money for myself. But there was a reason for it. I did it because I wanted to clear my family's name.

Laney: Why what happened?

Carl Carlson: My family was hated for over 1,000 years because of my ancestors. There was a saga that told everyone about it.

Me: Wait a second. I remember seeing that. Carl's ancestors were the watchmen of the Icelandic coast to keep eyes out for barbarian hordes. The safety of Iceland hung in the balance. But the Carlson's failed in their duties and the barbarians invaded and destroyed much of Iceland and caused so much death and destruction in their wake.

Nico: Geez.

Carl Carlson: But that saga also had a page torn out.

Me: I remember seeing that. There was a missing page.

Carl Carlson: Yep and I have that missing right here.

Carl handed me the missing page and it was in ancient Icelandic.

Me: It's all in Ancient Icelandic. Lets see what it says. "When the barbarian invaders came, the Carlson's met them with their weapons ready. Weapons which they immediately threw down and surrendered. The Carlson's then let the barbarians in the back gate and joined in the sacking, the looting and the murder of the village elders by throwing them into the volcanoes. The Carlson's then wrote down this saga so no one would ever forget their treachery and cowardice."

Everyone gasped in shock.

Lana: Whoa man!

Lola: That is terrible!

Lori: I can't believe that Carl's ancestors were literally that dangerous.

Lily: No kidding.

Carl Carlson: Yeah. In the end I screwed my friends all for nothing. It would've made things worse. I thought that Homer, Lenny and Moe were not my friends because all we did was talk about stuff and drink beer and all that.

Shrapnel: Just because your family was cowardly and treacherous like Starscream was doesn't mean you that are, Carl.

Me: That's right. But Moe, Lenny and Homer helped clear your family's name and that shows that they are true friends.

G1 Bumblebee: That incident proved that you, Homer, Moe, and Lenny aren't just guys who sit next to each other at a bar, drink beer and talk about guy stuff. The 4 of you are close as brothers.

Carl Carlson: Thanks. Is that why you guys spared us?

Sideshow Bob: Moe spared you. Good thing he didn't shoot you in the head.

Lenny: So you all don't hate me for killing Marge?

Me: No way Lenny. Marge brought all that on herself for being a terrible mother and a nasty overprotective monster.

Nico: But still I can't believe that all of Iceland carried a grudge against Carl's family for that long.

Lincoln: No kidding. Even I can't hold a grudge for 1 whole day.

Me: Well look at me. I've carried a grudge against the Kisenian Blossom for 6 years for her crimes against the entire universe. Sasuke carried a grudge against his brother for 5 years.

Sasuke: Don't remind me.

Lori: And I've carried a grudge against Carol for 10 years because of our rivalry.

Nico: Whoa. Some of us have had grudges.

Me: No kidding.

Laney: But one thing still puzzles me J.D. How did you learn how to read Ancient Icelandic?

Me: That is an interesting story. It was back when I was six.

In a local library in Colorado, I was reading a lot of language books.

Me: (Narrating) I read a lot of language books back then. My powers were developing very quickly and I wanted to learn all of the worlds languages and it was a really big process. The toughest languages I've ever learned were Russian, Vietnamese, Indian, Korean and Chinese. But in the end, I succeeded.

FLASHBACK ENDS

Me: That's how I know so many languages. Even languages from the fictitious worlds. Those I've learned from all over the internet.

Nico: Wow.

Scarlett: That is a really interesting bit of history though.

Me: It sure is Scarlet. We're sorry we banished you. But you should know that your brother convinced us.

Scarlett: I know. I see you're all still hanging around Rockell and the so-called Redemption Squad.

Nico: Oh, c'mon! I think they've pretty much proven their loyalty to us.

Scarlett: Well, you said it yourself before. Some people never change. Sooner or later, Rockell, Dunbar, and their crew are bound to stab you in the back. You'll see!

May: If they wanted to stab us in the back, they would've done so already!

Me: That's right.

Girl Jordan: That's right! Maria is one of our friends and she is also the sister of Carol.

Vince: Yeah.

Chris McLean then appeared.

Chris McLean: Hey guys.

Me: Hey Chris.

Chris McLean: I'm glad you all think Carl is awesome. But now it's time for today's challenge and we should be there for it.

Lisa Loud: We have arrived at our destination.

Me: On screen.

We saw that we had arrived at another exact duplicate of the planet Earth located at 84,231 light-years away from our Earth.

Me: It's another planet Earth.

Lori: How many duplicates of Earth are there?

Me: Good question. But this is gonna be interesting. Lets see what this one is about.

I did a scan of the planet and saw that it was the Planet Earth from PLANET OF THE APES!

Me: It's the planet Earth from Planet of The Apes!

Nico: Whoa! I love that movie series!

Lana: I watched Planet Of The Apes before and it was amazing!

Naruto: I remember that movie and it was awesome.

Sakura Haruno: It sure was. But it was awful that the apes rose up and took the world from us.

Fu: No kidding.

Me: So we're here to kill Koba.

Chris McLean: That's right.

Qin: Who is Koba?

Nico: He's the main bad guy of the series and he is the ruthless leader of the Apes that have taken over the world.

Me: Lets see what it says about him.

I pulled up Koba's history.

Koba is a major antagonist in the Planet of the Apes reboot franchise, starting off as a major protagonist in Rise of the Planet of the Apes, the main antagonist of Dawn of the Planet of the Apes, and a posthumous antagonist in War for the Planet of the Apes. He is an aggressive, dangerous, vengeful and violent Bonobo ape who is considered to be an evil counterpart to the main protagonist Caesar, whom he initially respected.

He was formerly the friend, right-hand adviser, and brother-in-arms-turned-arch-nemesis of Caesar, as he betrayed his former friend upon harboring a vendetta against humanity for torturing him in the past for the advancement of science and ultimately plots to wipe them all out with or without the support of his fellow apes; thus going as far enough to endanger the ape colony altogether.

In Rise of the Planet of the Apes, he was voiced and portrayed by Christopher Gordon in motion capture. In Dawn of the Planet of the Apes and War for the Planet of the Apes, he was voiced/portrayed by Toby Kebbell in motion capture, who also played Doctor Doom in Fantastic 4 and Drake Stone in The Sorcerer's Apprentice.

Much of Koba's background is shrouded in mystery. However, it is known that he was born in a primate research facility and once fully-grown, he was forcibly removed from his home after funding for the program was cut. Over the years, he was transferred to various laboratories as a lab rat, and as a result was subjected to torture for many years. He was eventually sent to Gen-Sys as a test subject during the development of the ALZ-113 drug. As a result of all of the abuse he received, Koba developed a strong hatred towards humans, mainly towards Steven Jacobs, the greedy head of Gen-Sys.

Rise of the Planet of the Apes

After exposure to the ALZ-113 drug, his intelligence was surprisingly increased to the point where he was able to write Jacobs' name, but Jacobs was too overjoyed with the apparent success of the virus to notice Koba's vicious intentions towards him. During one of these tests, he attacked Franklin, knocking off his mask and exposing him to the ALZ-113. It was soon proven in the days to come that while the virus improved the intelligence of the apes, it was deadly to humans. The virus was accidentally released into the human population, killing off most of the world's population as the pandemic reached global proportions.

Battle at the Golden Gate Bridge

Koba was soon freed by Caesar and joined the rebellion to find haven in Muir Woods Park and was ordered by Caesar to climb the Golden Gate Bridge's high wire supports. During the battle, Buck, a comrade and friend of Caesar's, was killed by Jacobs, who was now dangling from the wreckage of a helicopter on the edge of the bridge. Not willing to kill him but also not caring for him, Caesar left Jacobs in the hands of Koba. He begged for mercy, but Koba pushed Jacobs off the bridge without hesitation, sending a screaming Jacobs and the damaged helicopter falling into the water below.

Koba and the other apes escaped in Muir Woods Park, where Will had come to find Caesar. Koba attacked him but was stopped by Caesar. Koba then ran off. However, he rejoins the apes in acknowledging Caesar's leadership.

Dawn of the Planet of the Apes

Ten years after the outbreak of the ALZ-113 virus (also known as the Simian Flu), Koba is now living with Caesar in the ape colony, where he acts as an adviser to his fellow ape Caesar and a mentor to his young son, Blue Eyes. Caesar seems to have forgiven Koba for his attempted attack on Will and the two act as friends. During a deer hunt, Koba saves Caesar and Blue Eyes from a grizzly bear for which Caesar expresses his gratitude to Koba.

When a group of humans stumble upon the ape colony, one of them, Carver, shoots and wounds a young ape named Ash, Blue Eye's best friend. Caesar, Koba, and the other apes rush to their aid and force the humans out. The following night, the ape council decides on how they should deal with the humans. Koba strongly suggests they attack the humans before they can attack themselves, to which many of the apes, including Blue Eyes, agree. However, Caesar disagrees, feeling war will do more harm than good, so he conducts a diplomatic plan to deal with the human threat. The following morning, an entire ape army appears and forces the humans to stay in their land, while the apes stay in theirs.

This does not last, for a group of humans led by Malcolm return to talk the following day. Malcolm says that the hydroelectric dam, which is located in the ape territory, is the only chance the humans have at regaining power. Caesar allows them in, which angers Koba greatly. This causes an argument, to which Koba reminds Caesar of the mistreatment he suffered at the hands of humanity. Seeing that he offended his leader, Koba asks Caesar for forgiveness, which he accepts. Nonetheless, Koba is still not convinced of the humans' real plans, and begins to doubt his leader's loyalty.

Battle for Peace

He and his two followers sneak into the human city and discover a vast array of weaponry, which he believes will be used for an attack. Though Koba is caught, he is able to escape with his life by pretending to act like a circus monkey to two guards. Returning to the ape colony to warn Caesar, Koba is dismayed when he learns that the humans are still there. Koba in turn attacks Malcolm's teenage son, Alexander, but is stopped by Malcolm and Maurice. Outraged, Koba accuses Caesar of loving humans more than the apes and his sons, which angers Caesar and leads to a violent brawl between him and Koba, which ends with Koba on the floor with a bloodied face. Caesar stops and reminds himself the one most important rule in the colony, Ape not kill ape. Koba again asks for forgiveness and again Caesar accepts. Though now, Koba puts his plans into motion.

After talking with Blue Eyes on his father's feelings towards humans, Koba returns to the armory. He performs the circus act again, Koba plays with them and the humans find him funny and laugh along with him, but then Koba starts drinking aggressively, and the Humans starts being cautious about what Koba will do, Koba walks up to one of the humans and grabs the rifle, and shoots them. With his new weapon in hand, Koba sneaks back into the ape colony. Before doing so, he ambushes and kills Carver, taking his hat and lighter. As the apes celebrate, Koba secretly orders his two henchapes, Grey and Stone, to set the ape village on fire using Carver's lighter. Koba then sneaks up to Caesar and the two briefly stare at each other before Koba shoots Caesar in the shoulder, badly wounding him and causing him to fall off a ledge to his apparent death. Koba uses this to gain leadership of the colony and, having successfully manipulated the other apes into believing that the humans killed Caesar, convinces the ape clan to turn against the humans and rallies as they prepare to attack the city.

The attack begins by the apes storming the armory and taking as many guns as they can and move onto the city. As many apes are getting killed in the ensuing battle, Koba charges in and shoots several of the human guards on top of the tower and takes over a man-driven tank, the last chance of action against the apes. Koba then uses the tank to break through the gate allowing the apes to successfully take control of the human city, though the human leader, Dreyfus, escapes. Koba soon proves to be a cynically unhinged, ruthless, and tyrannical leader to humans and apes alike. This is shown when he demands Ash to kill an unarmed man, but Ash refused as it wouldn't have been what Caesar wanted. Koba appears to comfort the guilt-ridden Ash at first, but then angrily drags him up to the highest level of the building's foyer and then tosses him down to the ground below, killing him in front of everyone including Blue-Eyes. Shortly after killing Ash, Koba declares himself to be the new leader of the ape colony upon lamenting that Ceaser is gone. He soon furthers his cruelty by forcing all the captured humans into cages and imprisoned other apes, including Caesar's other advisers and his former friends Maurice and Rocket, due to them being loyal to Caesar.

Yet unbeknownst to Koba, Caesar is still alive, and is found by Malcolm and his family and healed back to health. When Malcolm goes to their former home to find medicine, he is discovered by Blue Eyes, who is brought to his father before turning on Koba when Caesar reveals that Koba is the sole reason that led to Caesar's assumed death and the last battle between apes and humans. The father and son recoil and realize they must put an end to Koba's tyranny. Blue Eyes frees the humans and apes taken prisoner by Koba and learns that Koba has sent for the women and children, including Caesar's wife and infant son. Fearing his entire family may be at risk, Caesar knows he must act.

Showdown and Defeat

Caesar, his loyal followers (including Maurice), and Malcolm head to the city towards the tower where Koba and his followers have made their base. Malcolm leads the apes into the tower and is rejoined with Dreyfus and few other surviving humans. Malcolm learns that Dreyfus has rigged the tower with C-4 explosives. Malcolm holds the men at gunpoint as Caesar confronts Koba at the tower. The two begin to exchange words with Koba telling Caesar he does not belong the the ape clan and reminds him that he has been replaced. Caesar warns Koba of the danger he is forcing their species into when going to war against humanity, but Koba shouts out his determination that Apes will win, copying Caesar's last quote "Apes, together strong". Koba begins to to insult Caesar's leadership by calling him weak, but Caesar remains unhinged, quietly retorting "Koba weaker". Koba points a gun at Caesar, but instead drops it and attacks his former friend; the two apes then engage in a brutal fight. At first, Koba appears to have the upper hand, but Caesar uses Koba's hatred of humans and their torture of him against him and is able to wound the bonobo in his side. Just as the two primates continue to fight, Dreyfus detonates the C-4, killing himself and his two accomplices, but Malcolm survives by ducking under the platform they were on. The tower partially collapses and many of the apes are left in the rubble.

While Caesar and Blue Eyes help the wounded apes, Koba finds a gun, leaving behind an ape under the rubble to get it no less, and shoots at Caesar and the other apes, killing one and injuring Maurice. Enraged, Caesar dives at Koba and tackles him, leaving him dangling on a ledge over the 250 foot deep, fiery shaft in the center of the tower. Koba, clinging for dear life is approached by Caesar. Pleading for his life, Koba reminds Caesar of the colony law: "Ape not kill ape". Caesar grabs Koba's hand and initially considers saving him. But just as he nearly pulls Koba up to safety, Caesar takes a good look at all the apes Koba had traumatized. Unable to forgive or forget Koba's actions, Caesar turns to look at Koba one last time and coldly claims that, due to Koba's betrayal and crimes, Koba is no longer a true ape. Having disowned him, Caesar lets go of the surprised Koba's hand, sending the screaming treacherous bonobo falling onto a damaged crane after hitting a connecting wire, which then collapses into the deep, fiery shaft with Koba still on it - thus granting Koba his comeuppance upon falling to his death. This finally ends Koba's tyranny and avenges all the apes and humans Koba had killed. Caesar would later mourn for Koba's death because of the former friendship they had with each other before it was destroyed.

Despite Koba's downfall and demise, his actions made it impossible for the apes to make peace with the humans, resulting the impending war with the humans to come. Therefore, even though Koba didn't live to see it, he got exactly what he wanted in death: war with the humans.

War of the Planet of the Apes

Koba plays a small role in the third movie as a posthumous antagonist who appeared in a few flashbacks.

He first appeared when Maurice says to Caesar that he is starting to become like Koba did, a warlord, Caesar feels angry and sad, and gets a flashback about Koba, the second time Koba appears is when Red pours ice cold water on Caesar, he gets a creepy flashback with Koba intimidating him with a bloody face and tells him that he cannot save his people.

The third and last time he appears, is at the end of the movie when Caesar is losing hope, he says that "they are the only ones left" and that "they" need to win. Caesar finally accepts the fact that he may be starting to become similar to Koba and stays behind the finish off the Colonel while the rest of the apes flee into safety. In the end however, Caesar maintained his compassion and sympathy towards humans as he opted to leave the Colonel, the man who destroyed his family and harmed his colony, deciding his own fate upon seeing him succumbed to Simian Flu which threaten to devolve him.

In an almost ironic way, the actions of Koba eventually caused the death of Caesar, who ended up being shot by human soldier named Preacher following the death of Colonel McCullough.

The Apes did succeed in murdering the humans even though this act occurred.

Koba himself had gone down as a monster and a traitor to the ape colony for his betrayal against Caesar and nearly causing the destruction of the Ape colony. Despite his actions however, Koba was viewed as a martyr by many of the apes who were loyal to him. After his death, they questioned Caesar's leadership and they ended up defecting to the human military instead as they were only loyal to Koba. Many of the apes, such as Red, later became "Donkeys" for the human military arm known as Alpha-Omega and collaborated with them during the Human-Ape war.

Powers and Abilities

Koba was an exceptionally skilled and powerful fighter; this is shown during the battle on the Golden Gate Bridge, in which the scarred bonobo overpowered several police officers with ease, even throwing one clean off his feet with just one hand. He possessed immense brute strength, capable of using heavy objects as melee weapons. He was also quite cunning, deceptive and intelligent, even before being exposed to the ALZ-113, silently plotting to kill Jacobs by acting docile with his handlers.

In the second film, set about a decade later, Koba seems to have become even more formidable despite his advanced age. He beats ape hater Carver to death and takes over a man-driven tank, both times with just his bare hands and without any difficulty. He could also ride a horse with incredible ease, even while he was carrying a spear or dual-wielding machine-guns.

Koba was also able to hold his own against the much younger Caesar on two separate occasions. Despite being overpowered relatively easily in their brief brawl on the dam, he initially dominated their duel on the ruined human tower in San Francisco, putting up an extremely fierce fight against his former friend. Koba mainly relied on his own fury and brute strength to win him the fight, meaning he did not use strategy or cunning the way Caesar did; this being his downfall at the climax of their fight. In combat, Koba was extremely lethal but not flawless, especially since he could let his rage overwhelm him and an opponent with analytical or tactical skills could eventually beat him. As a result, he was ultimately defeated and thrown to his doom by Caesar.

Koba was highly proficient with spears and guns, and was also a skilled manipulator, being able to manipulate Blue Eyes, frame the humans for Caesar's death and take over the ape tribe all in a matter of minutes only.

Animal Strength: Koba was very powerful and strong; this was displayed when he beat ape-hater Carver to death in the dead of night, and when he took over a man-driven infantry fighting vehicle, both times with just his bare hands and without any difficulty. However, Koba's strength was ultimately inferior to Caesar's but it was more a question of biology.

High-Level Intellect: Even before he was exposed to the ALZ-113, Koba had some level of intelligence, as he silently planned to kill Jacobs by acting docile with his handlers. After he was exposed to the ALZ-113 at Gen-Sys Laboratories by Will - and his team - who tested it on him, he became much more intelligent than before, though it was unknown how much his advanced intelligence and IQ had increased.

Expert Hand-To-Hand Combatant: Despite his advanced age, Koba was an exceptionally skilled hand-to-hand combatant; near the climax of the Battle on the Golden Gate Bridge, the scarred bonobo proved himself to be a capable close-range fighter, being able to grab and throw a police officer with great ease. He was also capable of holding his own against the much younger Caesar. While in their first brief, but brutal, brawl, Caesar defeated him easily, the second fight was a long, ferocious duel, which Koba initially dominated, putting up an extremely savage offensive against Caesar (who was still recovering from his wounds). However, despite being a highly skilled hand-to-hand combatant in his own right, Koba's combat skills were ultimately inferior to Caesar's; the bonobo was forced to resort to using an iron bar as a weapon against his former friend when he found that hand-to-hand combat was not enough to overpower him. Even then, he ultimately was outmatched, Caesar wounding him with a cut on his abdomen that he exploited to force Koba onto the defensive Skilled Marksmanship: Despite having never used a gun before, Koba was surprisingly proficient in the use of firearms. During the assault on the human settlement in San Francisco, he used both an M4A1 with an ACOG scope and an M249-SAW.

Expert Horse Rider: Koba was able to ride a horse with incredible ease, even when carrying a spear or dual-wielding machine guns

Sign Language: Like Caesar, Koba knew American Sign Language and used it as a means of communication. Koba was taught sign language by his human caregiver Mary, though it is unknown how skilled he was before being exposed to the ALZ-113. What is known is that he exceeded his handlers expectations, being recognized as one of the leading apes in the facility

Speech: After being exposed to the ALZ-113, Koba had gained the ability to speak, shown when he yelled at the humans in the woods and verbally berated Caesar for his tolerance of humans. His speech (like Caesar's) was near complete, as he was able to tell the humans that he had captured they would be exposed to the torment he had faced and also spoke out against Caesar on numerous occasions.

Expert Leader: Like Caesar, Koba was a natural leader, as he was able to take control over the scared ape population in a matter of seconds and successfully lead them to victory; despite the many deaths of his army. He also rallied enough support that Apes (like Red) still followed his methods after his death.

Expert Tactician: Like Caesar, Koba was a brilliant tactician; he was a brilliant orator and could rally whole hordes of delusional and angry apes in a crisis that he (ironically) started. Combining oratory skills, brutality, and propaganda, Koba was a deadly enemy on the battlefield. He used such to temporarily become the alpha of the San Francisco Ape Colony, though he ultimately lost such when Caesar challenged him.

---

Qin: Whoa! That is awful!

Nico: No kidding.

Lincoln: We're in for a big battle.

Me: Yep. Big battle. It's gonna be a battle as old as the Great Ice Age: Humans VS Apes. Lets get them!

We landed on the planet and we went to find Koba.

Me: Whoa.

Nico: My god. Look at what they did to the planet. It's horrible.

Me: No kidding.

We walked along the beach and we saw the ruins of the Statue of Liberty.

Me: It's the ruins of the Statue of Liberty.

Maria: My god. (Collapses on the beach) YOU FUCKING MANIACS! YOU BLEW IT ALL UP! (CRYING)

Carol: Maria!

Maria: (Stops crying) Sorry.

Me: Good way to depict that scene though. But what the apes have done to our planet makes me mad.

Nico: No kidding.

Lana: What year is this Planet Earth from?

Me: Lets see.

I did a scan and it showed that the Earth we were on was set in the year 3978.

Me: 3978!? Whoa!

Laney: That's over 1,900 years into the future!

Me: 1,958 years to be precise.

Lisa Loud: Amazing. It's just absolutely incredible that there are many Earths set in different times.

Me: One thing is for sure, we're not letting these apes rule our planet anymore.

Lola: How did this happen to this world?

Me: Nuclear holocaust.

Everyone gasped.

Me: Now it's personal. Lets go.

We left for the Ape City. We arrived and while hiding in the trees on a cliff, we saw the apes in the city. They were humanoid apes.

Me: They're humanoid apes.

Maria: It's gonna be a massive assault.

Me: Yep. They got a man hostage. Lets do it.

We went at the village.

In the village, the apes were torturing a man and a woman. It was George Taylor and Nova.

Suddenly a massive fiery explosion formed in the sky and a phoenix cry was heard.

We landed on the ground in front of them.

Me: Take your fucking hands off of them you damn dirty apes!

Koba: Who all of you?

Me: Your worst nightmare.

Maria: Time to die, you damn dirty ape!

Lana and Lola freed Taylor and Nova.

George Taylor: Thanks. We owe you one.

Nova: Yeah.

Me: No problem.

An ape named Caesar came.

Caesar: It's over Koba. Your reign of terror is over.

Koba: You traitor!

Caesar: You will never terrorize the world again Koba. You've terrorized our friends, the humans, for far too long.

Nico: That's right!

?: And we're glad they did.

?: That's right brother.

We saw two figures come out and it was THE SHARK BROTHERS from episode 14 of Lost Galaxy.

---

The two were fiercely loyal to the general, taking issue with any slights made against Treacheron's character or honor. After he was arrested by Scorpius' Stingwingers, the Shark Brothers informed Treacheron that Trakeena set him up and returned to him his sword. When Trakeena came to visit the former general, Green Shark held Red Shark back when she taunted Treacheron behind bars.

The brothers prepared to kill Trakeena after Treacheron sent her on a wild goose chase after a goblet, but their attempts were hindered by the appearance of the Galaxy Rangers and the Magna Defender, the latter of which prepared to kill Trakeena to anger Scorpius. He was later stopped by a pain in his chest, which allowed Trakeena to return to the Scorpion Stinger and he later fled, leaving Zika's dagger behind.

The brothers were an integeral part of Treacheron's plan to destroy the Rangers, however, the untimely arrival of Leo Corbett (who'd been injured in battle with Treacheron), foiled their general's plan, leading to his death in a one-on-one battle with the Red Galaxy Ranger. The Shark Brothers swore revenge against Leo, but they were destroyed by the Galaxy Megazord using the Lights of Orion.

In "Protect the Quasar Saber", the Shark Brothers were seen on Onyx during the auction for The Pink Quasar Saber.

Leo Corbett: The Shark Brothers!

Green Shark: Been a while rangers.

Red Shark: That it has.

Kai Chen: What are you all doing here?

Green Shark: Here to destroy you.

Me: I remember you two. You were sent to kill Trakeena for trying to kill Treacheron. But in the end, you two received a defeat from the Lost Galaxy Rangers.

Red Shark: That's right.

Green Shark: You've been watching us on TV huh?

Me: Never missed an episode.

Green Shark: Surprised, Rangers? Now, you all don't get to fight one monster.

Red Shark: You get to fight both of us at the same time! Pretty cool, huh?

William: Oh, fuck me.

Me: Doesn't matter, you're still outnumbered.

Gia Moran: I bet these monkeys can't fly!

Megaforce Rangers: Legendary Ranger Mode: Hyperjet Squad!

The Megaforce Rangers turned into the Jetman Rangers from 1991.

Scarlett then screamed and we saw her clutching her head in pain.

Me: What's wrong Scarlett!?

Scarlett: Something is coming out!

Me: (Gasp) Her dark side is coming out!

We saw an aura of darkness surround her and then a blob of pitch black darkness separated from her and formed into an evil Scarlett! She looked like how Scarlet looked when she tried to blow up Pahkitew Island and kill everyone and she had vicious glowing red eyes overflowing with pure evil!

---

Scarlett is a contestant and one of the main antagonists (alongside Sugar) in Total Drama Pahkitew Island. She is the hidden main antagonist until the fourth-to-last episode of the series.

She was voiced by Kristi Friday.

When she first appears in "So, Uh This is My Team?", she displays her high intelligence by explaining to Sugar that Topher would hit the ground at a much faster rate than she assumed. When the zeppelin's engine is destroyed by Chris, Scarlett is one of the seven contestants with actual parachutes, therefore becoming a member of Pimapotew Kinosewak along with Amy, Samey, Max, Topher, Rodney, and Jasmine. When teams have to find materials for their shelters during the first part of the challenge, Scarlett suggests that they take a wheelbarrow, to which her team agrees. She is later seen teaming up with Max to run for supplies, carrying him in a cart behind her along with some wood. Scarlett is then seen helping her team build their treehouse. She is safe from elimination, due to team Kinosewak winning the challenge after successfully building a stable shelter.

In "I Love You, Grease Pig!", Scarlett is seen walking with her fellow teammates towards the challenge meeting area, eating berries brought back by Samey and Jasmine. When the challenge is explained by Chris, Scarlett points out that there are six obstacles and that they have seven teammates, which leads to Chris saying that two on the team will need to partner up. She is told by Jasmine to compete in the fourth part of obstacle course. Afterwards, Max asks her about what she thinks about his "Helmet of Evil" and tries to demonstrate how it works on a bunny, though, it does not make bunny evil. Scarlett sarcastically replies that she has goosebumps. She then helps the pig (as well as Amy and Samey) to find its way out of the labyrinth, using pecans. Scarlett then uses this to surpass Ella, while completing her own obstacle. She is then asked by Max to hold the helmet, when she notices that he forgot to plug it in. When she does, the helmet buzzes to life, giving the greased pig evil intentions when she sets it on it's head. When she hears the news that she is once again safe due to team Kinosewak winning the challenge, she tries to cheer up Max by telling him that they won.

In "Twinning Isn't Everything", Scarlett is seen enjoying breakfast with her team, until Samey starts arguing with her sister. Amy acts as if she's offended, and hugs Scarlett, who comforts her in another attempt to hide her true nature. Scarlett, just like Rodney, Topher and Max, glares at Samey. During the challenge Scarlett walks over to Max to see what he's doing but accidentally startles him, causing him to jump into a bush. When she asks what he is doing, he tells her that he wants to make a device to shoot balloons from safe distance. Scarlett, however, thinks it would be better to use sharp objects in order to pop the other teams' balloons onto them, which Max steals as his own idea. Max and Scarlett team up for the rest of the challenge, taking out Sky. Max then tells her to "take notes of his genius", to which Scarlett rolls her eyes. They are then both seen walking through the forest, with Max saying that Scarlett will be fine if she sticks with him, but both are quickly taken out by Dave. Despite her team losing, Scarlett receives a marshmallow and is declared safe.

In "I Love You, I Love You Knots", Scarlett stops Rodney while walking with him, due to raccoon manure being on the ground, consequently causing him to fall in love with her. Scarlett is confused with these actions, and asks about his current well being, due to his vacant staring at her. Later in the challenge, Scarlett is randomly selected to to the "scare" part of the challenge, and easily applies makeup to a bear, earning her team the point. She receives the final marshmallow of the night, and Chris comments about there being no reason for her to be eliminated.

When both teams head to the beach for the challenge in "A Blast from the Past", Scarlett walks near Max, while he pens a list of evil nicknames for himself. Scarlett tells him that all of them are good, and he will have hard time deciding, to which he calls her silly, and replies that an evil name chooses you, not the other way around. After team Kinosewak's first X is complete, Scarlett tells Max to go next, as she has a plan. While Max puts the wire on his stick, Scarlett throws an electric eel at it, helping him zap Ella and win. Scarlett then competes against an angered Sky, and wins due to Sky's missing blow and the athlete falling in the water. When Amy returns to the island and attacks Samey, she is the only one (besides Jasmine) who wasn't surprised, revealing that she knew Samey was pretending to be her sister the whole time and thought that everyone knew that. After the challenge, Max tells her that he finds her to be "not useless" and that she can be his sidekick from now on. Scarlett is however not happy at all, screaming angrily in the confessional. She's afterwards declared safe, as she receives a marshmallow.

In "Mo Monkey Mo Problems", Scarlett admits in the confessional that Max is beginning to annoy her after he deliberately wakes her up and demands that she find him food. During the "snack attack" challenge, Scarlett continues to work on Max, convincing him that true evil does not "discriminate" and that the reason Jasmine isn't afraid of him is because he hasn't embraced his truly evil side. Later, Scarlett assists with Max in building a trap for Team Maskwak. After Topher, Jasmine, Scarlett, and Max manage to track down their team monkey, Scarlett comes up with the brilliant idea to play "Simon Says" with the other monkeys, so they can get one of them to give up its coin. When they successfully retrieve it, they accidentally get caught in Max's trap, much to Scarlett's annoyance. In the confessional, she reveals that she had intended for Max to be the only one not caught in it so the team would vote him off. Team Kinosewak ends up losing the challenge and is sent to elimination, but Ella is sent home instead due to her singing.

In "Three Zones and A Baby", Scarlett disturbs Sky when she awakens and finds her taking notes about her sleep. During the challenge, Scarlett and Jasmine frequently work together to scare off animals, by having Scarlett hop on her shoulders to appear more menacing to the animals.

In "Hurl and Go Seek", she finds out that the island is fake and that some, if not all of it, is an elaborate mechanical set. She attempts to hack into the main server, but Max pukes on the exposed circuitry before she can do anything. Later on the island seems to malfunction with the terrain changing at random.

In "Scarlett Fever", her true nature is revealed and she takes over the island. She tries to kill all the other contestants by locking them in a room with killer Chris McLean robots and sends a bear robot after Max to get rid of him. She threatens to blow up the island and escape in an escape pod while everyone else dies if Chris doesn't give up the million dollars. She was tricked into opening the door and tied up by Sugar. Sky then saved the island. Because of her and Max's evil deeds they were both automatically kicked off the show. Scarlett is last heard begging to not be kicked off with Max before they're blasted off.

Me: It's an evil Scarlett!

Jasmine (Total Drama): (Australian Accent) This is really bad!

Sammy: No kidding.

Ella: We have a lot of problems.

Me: It's Scarlett's true self. The one that nearly destroyed Pahkitew Island!

Dark Scarlett: That's right you fool and I'm going to enjoy killing all of you!

Me: You are the one that's going to die. Because of you we had to banish Scarlett for forcing Blaineley to nearly kill Bridgette!

Nico: That's right! We had no idea that Scarlett was Harold's sister until he told us. Also this is the monster that badmouthed the entire Redemption Squad!

Vince: We made a terrible mistake because of you!

Carol: You've tormented so many others all for your own selfishness!

Maria: And now you will pay for your crimes!

Laney wrapped Koba up in strong bramble vines.

Laney: We'll deal with you later Koba. Right now we have more evil fish to fry.

Me: (Cracks Knuckles) You are dead you monster.

Nico went Super Saiyan 4.

Nico: Dark Scarlett, you have failed this universe.

Me: And more.

Troy Burrows: We'll face the Shark Brothers. You all face Dark Scarlett and Koba.

Me: Okay.

We went at them.

Battle 1: Dark Scarlett.

---

We went at Dark Scarlett and Lori punched her in the face and knocked her down!

Lori: You literally disgust me! You have no right to do what you did on Pahkitew Island!

Me: And you also had no right to try and kill Bridgette!

Dark Scarlett: I don't care! You all can go fuck yourselves!

Me: No wonder Max liked you and treated you like a sidekick.

Dark Scarlett growled ferociously and her eyes glowed brighter red and she was enraged.

Me: Bring it!

She charged at us and Laney kicked her in the face and Lucy kicked her in the face. Leni kicked her in the face and Luna smashed her face in with her axe and Luan kicked her in the stomach and punched her in the face and Lana and Lola punched her face and bit her arms.

Lisa threw a chemical beaker at Dark Scarlett and it hit her and shattered and splashed her with sulfuric acid. Dark Scarlett screamed in excruciating pain.

Lucy Loud: May death bring you nothing but pain and suffering.

Rocky Spokes: That's right!

Rocky bashed Dark Scarlett all over with his staff and it really hurt. Lucy fired black lightning at her and electrocuted her all over.

Lily: You are not welcome here Dark Scarlett! OCEAN STYLE NINJA ART: BISMARCK!

Lily floated in the air and the ocean formed behind her and she sang the song Bismarck by Sabaton.

From the mist, a shape, a ship, is taking form

And the silence of the sea is about to drift into a storm

Sign of power, show of force

Raise the anchor, battleship's plotting its course

Pride of a nation, a beast made of steel

Bismarck in motion, king of the ocean

He was made to rule the waves across the seven seas

To lead the war machine

To rule the waves and lead the Kriegsmarine

The terror of the seas

The Bismarck and the Kriegsmarine

Two thousand men, and fifty thousand tons of steel

Set the course for the Atlantic with the Allies on their heel

Firepower, firefight

Battle Stations, keep the targets steady in sight

Into formation, the hunt has begun

Death and damnation, the fleet is coming

He was made to rule the waves across the seven seas

To lead the war machine

To rule the waves and lead the Kriegsmarine

The terror of the seas

The Bismarck and the Kriegsmarine

At the bottom of the ocean, the depths of the abyss

They are bound by iron and blood

The flagship of the navy, the terror on the seas

His guns have gone silent at last

Pride of a nation, a beast made of steel

Bismarck in motion, king of the ocean

He was made to rule the waves across the seven seas

To lead the war machine

To rule the waves and lead the Kriegsmarine

The terror of the seas

The Bismarck and the Kriegsmarine

To lead the war machine

Rule the waves and lead the Kriegsmarine

The terror of the seas

Bismarck and the Kriegsmarine

To lead the war machine

Rule the waves and lead the Kriegsmarine

The terror of the seas

Bismarck and the Kriegsmarine

Water fired at Dark Scarlett and took the shape of the Bismarck Battleship and it slammed into Dark Scarlett with the tremendous force of a powerful megatsunami and it knocked her down.

Me: Whoa! That was the Bismarck Battleship!

Hunter: (German Accent) Ja. Amazing Battleship from our history.

Nico: Really amazing ship. It was the strongest battleship during World War II.

Jessie K.: That's right. Until it was sunk by the British Royal Navy.

Me: Yep.

Lincoln: Wow.

Ben: Lets see her like this!

Ben turned into a new Predator! It was TYRANNOPEDE! Tyrannopede has a large, segmented purple and gray body and a red head resembling that of a Carnotaurus or a Tyrannosaurus with a horn on her forehead. Tyrannopede has four legs and six small arms with two clawed fingers on them.

Ben: TYRANNOPEDE!

Me: Whoa! That one is scary!

Shanan: Whoa! That's a Arachnotyrannus! Those are the Vaxasaurian's natural predator!

Me: Huge and scary! Like the dinosaurs millions of years ago, even the Vaxasaurians on Terradino had predators.

Tyrannopede: Yep.

Tyrannopede fired a spiderweb and entangled Dark Scarlett in it.

Ben then turned into a new Ultimate Alien. It was ULTIMATE SLAPBACK! He was bigger and had a huge physique and he had four arms and was stronger.

Ben: ULTIMATE SLAPBACK!

Me: Whoa! An Evolved Ekoplektoid!

Shanan: Wow! Really awesome!

Ultimate Slapback: Watch this.

He slapped his back and turned into 100 copies and smashed Dark Scarlett all over.

Clyde: I will finish this evil witch! DECAY STYLE NINJA ART: 10 PLAGUES OF EGYPT!

Clyde unleashed the wrath of God by firing energy blasts that were those of the 10 Plagues of Egypt from the Biblical Times as the song The 10 Plagues from The Prince of Egypt played.

Thus saith the Lord:

Since you refuse to free my people

All through the land of Egypt…

I send a pestilence and plague

Into your house, into your bed

Into your streams, into your streets

Into your drink, into your bread

Upon your cattle, on your sheep

Upon your oxen in your field

Into your dreams, into your sleep

Until you break, until you yield

I send the swarm, I send the horde

Thus saith the Lord

Once I called you brother

Once I thought the chance

To make you laugh
Was all I ever wanted…
I send the thunder from the sky
I send the fire raining down
And even now I wish that God
Had chose another
Serving as your foe on his behalf
Is the last thing that I wanted…
I send a hail of burning ice
On ev'ry field, on ev'ry town
This was my home
All this pain and devastation
How it tortures me inside
All the innocent who suffer
From your stubbornness and pride…
I send the locusts on a wind
Such as the world has never seen
On ev'ry leaf, on ev'ry stalk
Until there's nothing left of green
I send my scourge, I send my sword
Thus saith the Lord!
You who I called brother

Why must you call down another blow?

I send my scourge, I send my sword

Let my people go

Thus saith the Lord

Thus saith the Lord

You who I called brother

How could you have come to hate me so?

Is this what you wanted?

I send the swarm, I send the horde…

Then let my heart be hardened

And never mind how high the cost may grow

This will still be so:

I will never let your people go…

Thus saith the Lord:

Thus saith the Lord:

I will not…

Let your (my) people go!

The fury of the 10 Plagues of the Book of Exodus really destroyed Dark Scarlett and killed her in seconds as she was mangled up.

Nico: Dark Scarlett was destroyed and killed by the fury of Clyde McBride.

Me: Whoa! That was awesome! Well done Clyde.

Lincoln: Way to go!

Clyde: Thanks guys.

Syd Chang: That's my Clyde.

Me: We're not done yet.

---

Battle 2: The Shark Brothers

---

The Megaforce Rangers and the Lost Galaxy Rangers were facing the Shark Brothers. It was a deadly fight and the Megaforce and Lost Galaxy Rangers were blasting them all over the place with powerful lasers and energy beams and blasts.

Leo Corbett: News flash for you two. Trakeena is dead.

Red Shark: WHAT!?

Green Shark: Trakeena is dead!?

Me: That's right!

We met up with the rangers.

Me: I killed her. Trakeena paid the ultimate price for her crimes against the entire universe.

Nico: And now she is burning forever in oblivion.

Vince: Just like you two will.

Suddenly a Swabby appeared and went at Maria. Scarlett went at him and kicked him in the face.

Maria: You saved me?

Scarlett: Yeah.

Nico and Vince fired powerful energy blasts at the Shark Brothers and they hit them and exploded.

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM!

They fell down and exploded.

KRABBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Me: YEAH!

Nico: That did it. Shark Brothers, you have failed this world.

Me: Yep.

We then set our sights on Koba.

Battle 3: Koba

---

We were ready to face him.

Me: It's over Koba. Your reign of terror ends now.

Koba: You humans won't beat me.

Me: Wrong answer!

We went at him and I kicked him in the face and Carol punched him in the stomach and face and kicked him in the back and head. Nico punched him in the face and kicked him in the mouth and knocked out some of his teeth and Lincoln fired blasts of lightning and electrocuted Koba all over.

Lana fired blasts of ice lightning and froze his arms.

Lola fired blasts of fire and burned him all over.

Nico: Koba, you have failed this world!

Me: Lets show him some teamwork!

G1 Bumblebee: With pleasure boss! CYBER KEY POWER!

The Autobot Cyber Planet Key went into his back and enhanced his laser weapons 100-fold.

Static: Feel the lightning. EARTH CYBER KEY POWER!

The Earth Cyber Planet Key went into Static's right arm device and enhanced his lightning powers 100-fold.

G1 Bumblebee and Static: LIGHTNING LASERSTORM BARRAGE!

They fired laser blasts and lightning blasts and they hit Koba and exploded.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMMMMMMMMM

Shrapnel: Lets see how he likes the lightning! CYBER KEY POWER!

The Animatron Cyber Planet Key went into his back and enhanced his lightning abilities 100-fold.

Cut Man: I'll cut you down to size! GIGANTION CYBER KEY POWER!

The Gigantion Cyber Planet Key went into his right arm and it enhanced his Rolling Cutter 100-fold.

Shrapnel and Cut Man: LIGHTNING SCISSOR SNIPPER!

Cut Man fired a huge Scissor Blade and Shrapnel fired a massive blast of lightning and it merged with the scissor blade and the blade cut Koba all over and electrocuted him all over.

G1 Shockwave: Time for some action!

Ember McLain: Lets do it!

G1 Shockwave fired a powerful electromagnetic energy blast and Ember fired a powerful blast of fire.

G1 Shockwave and Ember McLain: ELECTROMAGNETIC FIRESTORM BURST!

The blasts hit Koba and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Zarya: You are never going to terrorize this planet again!

Naruto: Believe it! WIND STYLE: RASENSHURIKEN!

Naruto formed a powerful Wind Style: Rasenshuriken and threw it at Koba and Zarya fired energy arrows.

Zarya and Naruto: WOLF FIRESTORM STYLE: WOLF RASENSHURIKEN!

The energy arrows merged with it and turned it into a blue fire Rasenshuriken and it slammed into Koba and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Me: Whoa! What power!

Nico: That was awesome!

Me: Nice job bro!

Naruto: Thanks J.D.

Me: Same to you Zarya.

Zarya: Thanks love.

Piper: Lets do it!

Sakura Haruno: Yeah!

Piper fired a powerful blast of fire that turned into a phoenix and Sakura threw a huge rock.

Piper and Sakura Haruno: PHOENIX FIRE STYLE NINJA ART: PHOENIX METEOR STRIKE!

The fire merged with the rock and turned it into a meteor with a phoenix body and it slammed into Koba and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Arkayna: This is gonna be awesome!

Fu: It sure is.

Fu fired blades of energy and Arkayna fired blasts of green fire.

Arkayna and Fu: DRAGON STYLE NINJA ART: DRAGONFLY FIRESTORM!

The blasts combined and turned into a swarm of dragonflies and they hit Koba all over and exploded on contact!

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Emerald: How about this?

Hinata: Yeah!

Hinata fired a blast of water and Emerald fired a blast of pink energy.

Emerald and Hinata: UNICORN STYLE NINJA ART: MAELSTROM STAMPEDE!

The blasts combined and turned into a water unicorn stampede and they trampled all over Koba.

Lok: Time for some action!

Sasuke: Lets do it! CHIDORI MISSILE!

Sasuke fired a powerful blast of lightning and Lok fired his Boltflare blast.

Lok and Sasuke: LIGHTNING STYLE NINJA ART: CHIDORI BOLTFLARE!

The blasts combined and they hit Koba and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Sophie Casterwill: (British Accent) I will never forgive this monkey for his crimes. ATTACK! SABRIEL!

Sophie summoned Sabriel!

Shikamaru: This is gonna be interesting. SHADOW POSSESSION JUTSU!

Sophie fired a blast of energy with Augerfrost!

Sophie Casterwill with Sabriel and Shikamaru: DARKNESS SWORD SHADOWSTRIKE!

Sophie and Shikamaru's attacks merged with Sabriel's sword and she slashed Koba and cut him all over with darkness energy.

Zhalia: Lets do it!

Kiba: With pleasure! FANG OVER FANG!

Kiba and Akamaru turned into deadly spinning drills and Zhalia fired her Boltflare.

Zhalia Moon and Kiba & Akamaru: LIGHTNING STYLE NINJA ART: BOLT FANG FLARE!

The blasts merged with Kiba and Akamaru and turned them into lightning drills and they hit Koba and electrocuted him all over and skewered him all over.

Dante Vale: Time for some action!

Choji: Yeah! SUPER EXPANSION JUTSU!

Choji grew to huge size!

Dante Vale fired his Poisonfang.

Dante Vale and Choji: POISON SUPER FIST PUNCH!

The Poisonfang blast merged with Choji's fist and Choji punched Koba with devastating force and really hurt him.

Me: Time to finish him for good and end his reign of evil!

Caesar: With pleasure! APE MEGA BLAST BURST!

Caesar fired a powerful blast of energy and it slammed into Koba and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM

Carol: This guy really pisses me off! DESTOROYAH MICRO OXYGEN DEATH BOMB!

Carol fired a ball of pink energy at Koba and it slammed right into him and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Vince: Nice shot Carol! My turn! CRYSTAL SHRAPNEL FIRESTORM!

Vince fired a massive shower of crystal shards and they all hit Koba and cut him all over.

Laney: Feel the poison. STRYCHNINE Ω POISON BARBSTORM!

Laney fired a huge shower of poison barbs covered in Strychnine Ω and they hit Koba all over and poisoned him.

Lincoln: Feel the lightning! THUNDER DRAGON ELECTROCUTION!

Lincoln fired a huge blast of lightning and it turned into a deadly dragon and it slammed into him and electrocuted him.

May: Feel the cold of ice. ICESTORM MEGA BLAST!

May fired a huge blast of ice and it slammed into Koba and froze him in a block of ice.

Nico: You are through Koba! Watch this guys.

Nico then used Frieza's psychic powers and lifted up a huge chunk of land as big as an island.

Me: Whoa! I remember Frieza doing something like this.

Nico: This is just to start. Watch.

Nico threw the huge rock and Koba ran out of the way and Nico appeared.

Nico: IMPRISONMENT BALL!

Nico encased Koba in a ball of energy.

Nico: Let me help you.

Nico kicked him into the air and kicked him around like a kickball in the air. Nico then caught him.

Nico: You are lucky I'm so fast Koba. This ball will explode if it touches anything but me.

Koba: What!?

Nico kicked him around some more with incredible speed and strength. Then he caught him again.

Nico: Now for the final swat. This game is over when you hear the bang.

Koba: You monster!

Nico: Flattery will get you nowhere.

Nico fired an energy blast at the ball and blew it at the ground with incredible speed. When the ball hit the ground, it exploded with unbelievable power!

KRABBBBBBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

The explosion from the blast was so massive, so powerful and so devastating that it not only obliterated Koba, but it also completely obliterated the entirety of Ape City in an instant! When the smoke cleared, I had everyone protected in a force field and all the ape women and children protected as well. We saw that all of Ape City was reduced to nothing but a huge crater and it was filling up with water from the ocean.

Me: Whoa! What power!

May: Unbelievable!

Vince: That was amazing!

Courtney: Wow! That was intense!

Duncan: No kidding!

Lana: But what happened to Koba?

Nico: He's dead. He's gone for good.

Me: Wow! Way to go Nico! Master Goku told me that Frieza did the same technique to him on Namek and it was a powerful battle.

Nico: That's true.

Lily: But at least it's over.

Me: Yep.

Chris McLean: The Interstellar Retribution wins!

We cheered wildly!

?: You sure did win dude.

We then saw another familiar face. It was SNAKE JAILBIRD!

---

Snake Jailbird is a recurring antagonist in the animated TV series The Simpsons. He is often seen stealing thing or using a gun.

In a documentary by Declan Desmond showing the pasts of several Springfield citizens, a 13-year-old Snake is called "Detention Bird" by a 16-year-old Clancy Wiggum.

Snake referred to himself as "Professor Jailbird"; it was also revealed that he was formerly an idealistic Indiana Jones-type archaeologist until Moe stole the Mayan gold coins that Snake had discovered and was going to donate to the museum, so he decided to take his revenge out on society (convenience stores). Snake also has a son named Jeremy. It is stated that Snake had previously spent time in a juvenile facility, suggesting he was a criminal before being an archaeologist.

It is implied by Otto that Snake was the one responsible for ruining Spinal Tap's concert.

He has stolen cars from Moe, Chief Wiggum, his ex-wife Gloria, Sarah Wiggum, Dr. Nick, Bumblebee Man, Professor Frink, Agnes Skinner, and other characters.

Sam S.L.: Snake Jailbird!

Snake: That's right.

Me: But you died when Springfield was destroyed!

Snake: I know dude. But it's a good thing that Vypra brought me back.

Nico: Look, Snake. I have nothing against you personally. But you were part of Springfield's corruption. And you've broken out of jail so many times. My hands are tied. You understand, right?

Snake: Of course I do, dude. But someone's got to keep one of your lives interesting.

Nico: True.

Paige: I'll be your arch nemesis. I want to use your jailbreaks as part of my training.

Paige then kicked him in the face and knocked him out.

Me: Nice one Paige.

Caesar: I can't thank you all enough for what you've done today.

Me: It was our pleasure Caesar. We were just doing what we do best and that's helping people in need. Maybe Taylor and Nova here can help you all get humanity back to normal. It will take time, but you all can do it.

George Taylor: Thank you J.D. We'll try.

Nova: That's right.

We smiled and went back to the ship.

---

Later we were flying through space.

Scarlett was sitting in her room thinking about what happened today when she haerd someone come in.

Maria: If I walk in here, you won't try to kill me, will you?

Scarlett looked behind her and snorted when she saw Maria raise an eyebrow.

Scarlett: (raises her hands) I'll even empty out my pockets so you know I don't have any weapons.

Maria: (snorts) I figured you wouldn't have taken one out anyway.

Scarlett: (raises eyebrow) You're that certain? What makes you say that?

Maria: Because you didn't let that Swabby get the jump on me. Bit surprising, given that you were trying to punch me not even ten minutes earlier.

Scarlett: (awkwardly) Not my finest moment.

Maria: (shakes her head) Not mine, either. Though I would certainly punch back if you tried to put something I did, or William's actions or Stewie's, on J.D.

Scarlett: Next time, don't throw my former partner in my face.

Maria: Next time, don't imply I would betray J.D.'s trust after all I've done to try and earn it. I understand your hesitancy to trust us after all we've done, William and myself in particular, but do you truly think we would have made it this far if we wanted to turn on J.D. and the others?

Scarlett: (sighs) Probably not.

Maria: (smirks) Nico would kill us if we tried.

Scarlett: (chuckles) He probably would.

Maria: There's no probably, he just would.

Scarlett: It feels like I can think clearly for the first time in a while. First with me trying to blow up Pakitew Island, me mind-controlling Blaineley, me attempting to kill Bridgette, and Billy Mclean turning out to be the one that we're supposed to focus on this season… guess it took my Dark Side coming out to accept you guys as friends.

Maria: And I'm guessing me watching JD's back last season hasn't helped, either.

Scarlett: No offense, but definitely not.

Maria: None taken. I only met J.D. the day when he cured all the Bang Babies in Dakota. And, in your words, I'm a former villain. And part of the reason it may be hard to trust us… is you never really trained with us. I think I can count on less than ten fingers the amount of times we've actually worked together in the field.

Scarlett: (blinks in surprise) You're right.

Maria: That might be another trust issue.

Scarlett: After all I've said, you really think this could be worked out?

Maria: After all I've done to hurt Virgil and Richie, and after all William's done, J.D. gave us another chance. Some of our sins are unforgivable in my eyes and William's, but here we stand anyway. What you've said is hardly a crime.

Scarlett: Man, I really have a lot to think about now.

Maria: I think we all do after today. A word of advice?

Scarlett: This'll be good.

Maria: (smirks) You said it yourself. We found out recently that Billy Mclean is the one we need to focus on this season, and God knows what he might have planned for us. He's already tried his hand in killing most of our other Total Drama friends. And yeah, J.D.'s strong, we both know that, but there's always strength in numbers. So, please keep in mind that the more support J.D. has, no matter what form it takes, the stronger he'll be.

Scarlett: (smiles and nods) Yeah, I can do that.

Back on the bridge, we were watching everything when we got a visit from Vypra.

Me: Vypra. Usually you would show up during a fight we're having.

Vypra: True but I would like to say congratulations on making it passed challenge 6.

Nico: Thanks.

Vypra: And you were indeed correct about the Borg. They would put us to shame for their crimes. Also I have a surprise for you.

Me: What is it?

Vypra: You should consider yourself lucky, J.D. You get to see firsthand how I revive villains!

Me: Awesome.

We saw Vypra resurrect someone that we killed before. It was

MAYOR JOE QUIMBY!

Joseph Fitzgerald O'Malley Fitzpatrick O'Donnell The Edge "Diamond Joe" Quimby Jr., better known as Mayor Quimby is the Mayor of Springfield, Springfield's State. He appears as a slick, opportunistic politician whose chief priorities seem to be keeping himself in office, womanizing, and various other forms of corruption, including embezzling tax money, taking bribes from Fat Tony, the local Mafia Don, and giving monthly kickbacks to the equally corrupt Chief Wiggum. The seal on the wall of his office reads "Corruptus in Extremis," which is Latin for "corrupt in the extreme." He speaks with a peculiar stutter.

Despite being mayor for such a long time (having at least six terms under his belt according to Birch Barlow), Quimby does not know or care much about his city, often privately (or even publicly) showing his outright contempt for Springfield's citizens. He frequently takes overseas vacations, which take him out of town for extended periods of time, leading to the headline "Mayor Visits City" in the Springfield Shopper. He once referred to Springfield as Sprungfeld at a public meeting. However, he makes frequent, albeit short, public appearances for local festivities, events, business openings, etc.

Among other corrupt behaviors he displayed while in office was his frequently accepting bribes from the mafia and other groups. His constantly accepting and securing bribes from unsavory people while in office was notorious enough that when he declared while shutting down Fat Tony's rat-milking operation that "the Mayor's office is not for sale", the reporters proceeded to laugh at him, apparently the irony of his statement not being lost on them, causing him to request and fail to have the laughter edited out. Aside from bribery, Barlow when describing him also inferred that he was also a tax cheat.

If bending the law will suit Quimby's purposes, he will likely do so. He once arranged Marge Simpson's release after she was arrested for blocking traffic on a bridge after suffering a nervous breakdown, claiming that if she went to jail, Quimby could kiss the "chick vote" goodbye meaning all the women in Springfield would hate him and no longer vote for him since Marge's reason for blocking the traffic was understandable. He also resorted to bribing witnesses when assault charges were brought against his nephew, leading Bart Simpson to observe that "the system works: just ask Claus von Bülow". He was once implied to have stolen picnic baskets.[2] He is also willing to do corrupt things when he is confident that he would not get caught. A notable instance of this is when he funneled funds and cement mixing intended for road work to be used to create his swimming pool (which is shown as a lavish, almost Roman-esque design) and maintained this secret despite rumors to it existing until Mr. X leaked the rumor onto his website and the press confirmed the rumor upon questioning Quimby after noticing him subtly telling a guard to close the ajar door to the pool.

He also smoked marijuana, with Birch Barlow apparently being familiar enough with his marijuana addiction to describe him as, among other things, a pot smoker, with Quimby also tending a cannabis plant during that time. According to Birch Barlow, he apparently was also illiterate, although Quimby claimed that he no longer was that.

Despite his vices and general self-serving use of the law, he has at times attempted to utilize the law for the greater good of Springfield, such as enacting "Code Black" to clean up Lake Springfield, as well as the (albeit largely ignored) establishing of a 75 cent toll booth in order to gain enough tax money to "de-python the town fountain." In another time, during a St. Patrick's Day, knowing how alcohol makes people violent in the city, he PROHIBITS alcoholic drinks that day in order not to be held responsible for any incident (unfortunately, the plan backfired due the participation of actual Irish Catholics and Protestants caused havoc in Springfield anyway because, without the alcohol, they were unable to forget their differences). He also at one point sacrificed television to save Springfield after Sideshow Bob threatened to detonate a nuclear bomb if they didn't end television.

His catchphrase is "Vote Quimby", which he always finds an opportunity to say, even in situations where it would be disadvantageous to identify himself, like inadvertently being caught by Homer in a motel room with his mistress.

When he was young, he was at fat camp named "Camp Flab-Away" along with Jeffery Albertson, Homer and other characters.

Quimby is also extremely unfaithful to his wife, often womanizing and having extra-marital affairs with women who aren't his wife (especially Miss Springfield). Ironically, he actually did attempt to spend quality time with his wife when his life was threatened by Fat Tony after he (albeit forced to by Homer, his bodyguard) shut down his rat milking operation when Homer tried to invite him out to avoid concerns about the mob. It is implied that he does womanizing because he wasn't happy that he married Martha Quimby, as when doing the above of insisting he wants to spend time with her, he pauses and gives a disappointed sigh before saying "wife."

Elections

Quimby was elected Mayor of Springfield in 1986. He has been re-elected several times since, despite rather open admissions of fraud and wrongdoing. He once admitted to using taxpayer dollars to fund the murder of his enemies, but thanks to a clever use of a popular catch phrase ("I'm a bad wittle boy"), he was re-elected in a landslide, despite the implication that he still is doing so. Further evidence of his apparent political ideology, Quimby has earned himself the hatred of Springfield's small but vocal Republican elite, themselves portrayed (according to the show's writers and series creator Matt Groening) as mostly dark, ghoulish figures who meet in a castle.

When the party nominated Sideshow Bob as its mayoral candidate, Bob rigged the election, briefly deposing Quimby. He was re-instated when Bob was found guilty of fraud and imprisoned. He also survived a recall election in 2005, with no candidate in the race against him (candidates included Rainier Wolfcastle (another Schwarzenegger reference), Kent Brockman and even Homer Simpson) garnering the 5% necessary to force a recall since Homer who had the majority of votes was kicked from the election.

He was replaced by Snowball II for a brief period, until she fell asleep during the British Invasion of Springfield.

In "White Christmas Blues", Quimby called the Springfieldians idiots, which leads to Lenny and Carl saying "Why did we re-elect this mayor?", which occurred because the other candidate had a very long last name.

Understanding the need to adapt to modern times, Quimby implemented a series of "go green" projects. One of them, the reburbishing of the city's famous monorail track, was disastrous, leading to him losing re-election in "The Old Blue Mayor She Ain't What She Used to Be" to Marge Simpson. After this exit from the Mayorship once again, however, Quimby became a private citizen in order to spend an unprecedented amount of time with his wife and children. Four years later, Quimby successfully ran for an open seat on city council, the same year Marge Simpson won re-election. Quimby was then appointed President of the City Council. A series of complicated scandals and gaffes then led to Marge being impeached; with Quimby next in the line of succession, he returned to the mayoral office.

Future

In "Lisa's Wedding", he is later seen as a taxi driver. It's implied in the episode that he was thrown out of office, and he has to try to deflect the embarrassment and shame of the event by falsifying his driver's license by claiming that his name is Mohammad Jafar.

The Simpsons Game

Joe Quimby appears mostly in the cut scenes of the level Mob Rules as he shares a hot-tub and some interns with the EA Games executive in order to receive his bribe to have Grand Theft Scratchy be sold to minors. When the EA Games executive sees a senator among the mob created by Marge protesting the sale of the game outside City Hall, he takes back the bribe, forcing Quimby to ban the sale of the game.

Me: Mayor Joe Quimby!

Mayor Quimby: Yes it's me. Vote Quimby.

Me: Just the man we wanted to talk to. Because I found out some very interesting information regarding you and Bart Simpson.

Mayor Quimby: And uh, what kind of information is that?

Me: It regards to a bottle of champagne you used on a battleship that made Bart into the awesome prankster we know and love. And as a source of pain for others. No offense Bart.

Bart: None taken but yes I know what you mean.

Me: Good.

I revealed what happened. Before Bart was born, he was still inside Marge's womb and Mayor Quimby christened a new battleship called the U.S.S. Float & Shoot and when he smashed a bottle of champagne on it, one drop inadvertently flew off the boat and into Marge's mouth and went down her throat and it hit Bart as a fetus and gave him his spiky head and made him into the mischievous prankster that we all know and love and it was an awful nightmare for everyone in Springfield for 32+ years.

We gasped and we were shocked!

Nico: So Quimby is responsible for Bart becoming who he is!

Lana: I always thought it was fate.

Me: I don't believe in fate or destiny.

Mayor Quimby: So I made Bart Simpson the way he is?

Me: Pretty Ironic huh?

Homer: (ENRAGED) WHY YOU LITTLE!?

Homer went at Mayor Quimby and strangled him and choked him big time!

Nico: Whoa!

Laney: Nice.

Me: Okay Homer that's enough.

Homer let go of him.

Vypra: (jokingly) So, does this mean Quimby is Homer's archenemy now?

Homer: Well I think it would be perfect.

Me: I think she's joking but it was a good idea.

Vypra: I'm glad you agree. And Sora, congratulations on you and Kairi getting engaged.

Sora: Thank you.

Me: We have 2 more challenges left. This is gonna be good.

Vypra: Indeed. Good luck.

Me: Not that we'll need it but thanks.

Vypra teleported out and we put Quimby in the brig.

May: (To the viewers) Never mess with the laws of evolution and all that. Or you will mess with us.

Me: Yep.

Part 6 complete

Planet of the Apes was an awesome movie series from back in 1968 and the future. NicoChan11 gave me the ideas for this. Thanks man. Next up for part seven is a journey through the 9 Planets of Hell! I made these planets in a book I wrote at home and it's gonna be awesome and terrifying! It will be Dante's Inferno in space.

See you all tomorrow.

TDG 7 - 9 Planets of Hell

The U.S.S. Valor is flying the endless reaches of space.

Me: Captain's Log, Stardate 2806.2: It's day 7 of Total Drama Galaxy and we're en route to the sight of our next challenge. Chris said that he has an awesome surprise ready for us when we get there. With us is Hunter's long time friend and comrade from Sweden, Axel Adell. He is a master of all things from Sweden and knows good techniques. He may prove to be a really beneficial member of the team. We're in for quite an amazing adventure in this one.

Axel Adell has dark brunette Faux Hawk hair, Wears a black shirt with a dark blue jacket with yellow stripes, Dark blue jeans, with a black belt, Wears Timberland Men's 6-Inch Premium Waterproof Boots, A yellow scarf, German Military Surplus Leather Gloves, Heart shape head, and is the same age as Dana at 17 years old, Average size 5.8 ft tall, 220lbs, Has a Swedish flag Armband in his right arm, Crystalline blue eyes, angular eyebrows, and a Roman Nose.

Me: Always a pleasure to welcome you aboard Axel.

Axel: (Swedish Accent) It's a true honor to meet you J.D. Hunter has told me so much about you.

Me: I can tell.

Lea: You know Axel, I once shared your name when I was working for Organization XIII.

Axel: Wow. That is amazing Lea.

Lea: I know.

Venom: Owen, can you really burp the ABCs?

Owen: I sure can. You guys want to see?

Me: Boy do we ever?

Lana: This is gonna be awesome!

Rhinox: How much soda do you need for the entire alphabet?

Me: For a big guy like Owen, a lot.

Bludgeon: Should we cover our ears? Or in my case, audio receptors?

Me: No we'll be fine.

Owen drank the soda and we saw him do it.

Owen: (BELCHING) A, B, C, D, E, F, G, H, I, J, K, L, M, N, O, P, Q, R, S, T, U, V, W, X, Y, Z!

We had our jaws drop and then we cheered wildly.

Ironhide: No way. You actually did it!

Me: Way to go Owen!

Nico: That was awesome!

Hunter: (German Accent) Vunderbar!

Vince: That was funny and awesome!

Carol: It sure was.

Owen: Thank you guys. Thank you.

Me: You're welcome buddy.

Coop: That was really well done Owen.

Owen: Thanks Coop.

Alejandro then appeared.

Alejandro: Well well. If it isn't the worthless losers.

Me: Oh great. It's Loser-jandro.

Alejandro: Ironic, isn't it, J.D.? When he was alive, the Joker killed so much people and destroyed many families. You guys, who killed the Joker, nearly destroyed Agreste's family. I guess you guys and the clown have so much in common then you previously thought.

Me: You have a point there Alejandro, but there is a major difference between us and someone that's really as fucked up as the Joker. We don't kill people for pleasure and we don't kill people left and right to satisfy our own twisted ambitions. The Joker was a fucked up homicidal maniac that deserved nothing short of death. We kill villains because it's for justice and we help people in need.

Gabriel: (glares at Alejandro) Do you think it's funny talking about my family like that? And comparing them to the Joker of all people?!

Alejandro: You're defending the same people who almost destroyed your family?

Gabriel grabbed Alejandro by his shirt and braced him against the wall.

Gabriel: J.D. and all of Team Loud Phoenix Storm kept their wills in line to prevent themselves from killing me and they brought my family back together! And you have the gall to condemn them for everything they did to protect us!? You are just as fucked up as that bitch Heather!

Me: Whoo! You tell him Gabriel!

Nico: We're proud of you Gabriel.

Me: Yep.

Axel Adell: You tell that bastard Gabriel.

Me: Yeah!

Nico: Alejandro will always fail this universe.

Me: Yep.

Chris McLean then appeared.

Chris McLean: Are you all ready for today's challenge?

Me: Always ready Chris.

Lisa Loud: We have appeared to have arrived at our destination. Or rather Destinations.

Me: On screen.

The view screen showed that we have arrived at a really strange planetary system. It had 9 planets and the shocking part was that they were all in the same orbital path and they each had different landscapes.

Me: Whoa. I've never seen a system like this.

Nico: I've got a really bad feeling about this. This system is overflowing with pure evil.

Me: Yeah, I sense it too. Something is weird about this system. It looks familiar.

J.D. 2: Oh man! I know this planet system. This is the system of the Planets of Hell.

We all gasped.

Me: The Planets of Hell!?

Lincoln: That sounds like it's a nightmare system.

Me: Then these planets must correspond to each of the 9 Circles of Hell.

J.D. 2: That's right. And this is gonna be a powerful adventure for you all.

Me: Whoa. But we are ready for anything.

Chris McLean: The challenge is that you will journey through each planet to rescue a fallen angel named Nemo.

Me: Wow. Like in the Nightwish song Nemo.

Chris McLean: Exactly.

Laney: I also want to make a history report for this challenge.

Me: Okay.

Varie: Lets do it.

We went to the 1st planet.

LIMBO - 1ST PLANET OF THE INFERNO

We were on the 1st planet of the Inferno, Limbo.

Me: Wow. So this is Limbo.

Lincoln: It sure is a scary place.

Laney: No kidding.

Linka: I remember doing a history report for this. It was scary and really cool.

Me: I remember that. It was scary but awesome.

Lana: What happens here in Limbo?

Me: It's the land where Virtuous Pegans and Unbaptized Babies reside. It's really scary.

We went into the Citadel of Limbo and in there we recognized a lot of very famous historical figures from thousands of years ago.

Jessie K.: Hey I know all these figures. They are the great rulers and philosophers of the golden age.

Me: That's right.

We met Hector, Chief of the Army.

---

Hector of Troy

In Greek mythology and Roman mythology, Hector (/ˈhɛktər/; Ἕκτωρ, Hektōr, pronounced [héktɔːr]) was a Trojan prince and the greatest fighter for Troy in the Trojan War. He acted as leader of the Trojans and their allies in the defence of Troy, "killing 31,000 Greek fighters." He was ultimately killed by Achilles.

As the first-born son of King Priam and Queen Hecuba, who was a descendant of Dardanus and Tros, the founder of Troy. In some accounts, his father was the god Apollo. He was a prince of the royal house and the heir apparent to his father's throne. He was married to Andromache, with whom he had an infant son, Scamandrius (whom the people of Troy called Astyanax).

During the European Middle Ages, Hector figures as one of the Nine Worthies noted by Jacques de Longuyon, known not only for his courage but also for his noble and courtly nature. Indeed, Homer places Hector as peace-loving, thoughtful as well as bold, a good son, husband and father, and without darker motives. James Redfield describes Hector as a "martyr to loyalties, a witness to the things of this world, a hero ready to die for the precious imperfections of ordinary life."

Next we met Electra, Julius Caesar, King Latinus, Orpheus and Pontius Pilate.

---

Electra

Electra is one of the most popular mythological characters in tragedies. She is the main character in two Greek tragedies, Electra by Sophocles and Electra by Euripides. She is also the central figure in plays by Aeschylus, Alfieri, Voltaire, Hofmannsthal, and Eugene O'Neill. Her characteristic can be stated as a vengeful soul in the libation bearers, because she plans out an attack with her brother to kill the evil Clytemnestra.

In psychology, the Electra complex is named after her.

Julius Caesar

Gaius Julius Caesar (/ˈsiːzər/ SEE-zər, Latin: [ˈɡaːɪ.ʊs ˈjuːlɪ.ʊs ˈkae̯sar]; 12 July 100 BC - 15 March 44 BC), better known by his nomen gentilicium and cognomen Julius Caesar, was a Roman statesman and military general who played a critical role in the events that led to the demise of the Roman Republic and the rise of the Roman Empire. He was also a historian and author of Latin prose.

In 60 BC, Caesar, Crassus and Pompey formed the First Triumvirate, a political alliance that dominated Roman politics for several years. Their attempts to amass power as Populares were opposed by the Optimates within the Roman Senate, among them Cato the Younger with the frequent support of Cicero. Caesar rose to become one of the most powerful politicians in the Roman Republic through a number of his accomplishments, notably his victories in the Gallic Wars, completed by 51 BC. During this time, Caesar became the first Roman general to cross both the English Channel and the Rhine River, when he built a bridge across the Rhine and crossed the Channel to invade Britain. Caesar's wars extended Rome's territory to Britain and past Gaul. These achievements granted him unmatched military power and threatened to eclipse the standing of Pompey, who had realigned himself with the Senate after the death of Crassus in 53 BC. With the Gallic Wars concluded, the Senate ordered Caesar to step down from his military command and return to Rome. Leaving his command in Gaul meant losing his immunity from being charged as a criminal for waging unsanctioned wars. As a result, Caesar found himself with no other options but to cross the Rubicon with the 13th Legion in 49 BC, leaving his province and illegally entering Roman Italy under arms. This began Caesar's civil war, and his victory in the war by 45 BC put him in an unrivaled position of power and influence.

After assuming control of government, Caesar began a program of social and governmental reforms, including the creation of the Julian calendar. He gave citizenship to many residents of far regions of the Roman Republic. He initiated land reform and support for veterans. He centralized the bureaucracy of the Republic and was eventually proclaimed "dictator for life" (Latin: "dictator perpetuo"), giving him additional authority. His populist and authoritarian reforms angered the elites, who began to conspire against him. On the Ides of March (15 March), 44 BC, Caesar was assassinated by a group of rebellious senators led by Gaius Cassius Longinus, Marcus Junius Brutus and Decimus Junius Brutus, who stabbed him to death. A new series of civil wars broke out and the constitutional government of the Republic was never fully restored. Caesar's adopted heir Octavian, later known as Augustus, rose to sole power after defeating his opponents in the civil war. Octavian set about solidifying his power, and the era of the Roman Empire began.

Much of Caesar's life is known from his own accounts of his military campaigns and from other contemporary sources, mainly the letters and speeches of Cicero and the historical writings of Sallust. The later biographies of Caesar by Suetonius and Plutarch are also major sources. Caesar is considered by many historians to be one of the greatest military commanders in history. His cognomen was subsequently adopted as a synonym for "Emperor"; the title "Caesar" was used throughout the Roman Empire, giving rise to modern cognates such as Kaiser and Tsar. He has frequently appeared in literary and artistic works, and his political philosophy, known as Caesarism, inspired politicians into the modern era.

Latinus of Greece

Latinus (Latin: Latinus; Ancient Greek: Λατῖνος) was a figure in both Greek and Roman mythology. He is often associated with the heroes of the Trojan War, namely Odysseus and Aeneas. Although his appearance in the Aeneid is irreconcilable with his appearance in Greek mythology, the two pictures are not so different that he cannot be seen as one character.

In Hesiod's Theogony, Latinus was the son of Odysseus and Circe who ruled the Tyrsenoi, presumably the Etruscans, with his brothers Ardeas and Telegonus. Latinus is also referred to, by much later authors, as the son of Pandora II and brother of Graecus, although according to Hesiod, Graecus had three brothers, Hellen, Magnetas, and Macedon, with the first being the father of Doros, Xuthos, and Aeolus.

Orpheus

Orpheus (/ˈɔːrfiːəs, ˈɔːrfjuːs/; Ancient Greek: Ὀρφεύς, classical pronunciation: [or.pʰeú̯s]) is a legendary musician, poet, and prophet in ancient Greek religion. Some ancient Greek sources note Orpheus' Thracian origins. The major stories about him are centered on his ability to charm all living things and even stones with his music (the usual scene in Orpheus mosaics), his attempt to retrieve his wife Eurydice from the underworld, and his death at the hands of the maenads of Dionysus who tired of his mourning for his late wife Eurydice. As an archetype of the inspired singer, Orpheus is one of the most significant figures in the reception of classical mythology in Western culture, portrayed or alluded to in countless forms of art and popular culture including poetry, film, opera, music, and painting.

For the Greeks, Orpheus was a founder and prophet of the so-called "Orphic" mysteries. He was credited with the composition of the Orphic Hymns and the Orphic Argonautica. Shrines containing purported relics of Orpheus were regarded as oracles.

Pontius Pilate

Pontius Pilate was the fifth governor of the Roman province of Judaea, serving under Emperor Tiberius from 26/27 to 36/37 CE. He is best known today for being the official who presided over the trial of Jesus and ordered his crucifixion. Pilate's importance in modern Christianity is underscored by his prominent place in both the Apostles and Nicene Creeds. Due to the Gospels' portrayal of Pilate as reluctant to execute Jesus, the Coptic and Ethiopian Churches believe that Pilate became a Christian and venerate him as a martyr and saint.

Although Pilate is the best-attested governor of Judaea, few sources on his rule have survived. He appears to have belonged to the well-attested Pontii family, but nothing is known for certain about his life before he became governor of Judaea, nor of the circumstances that led to his appointment to the governorship. A single inscription from Pilate's governorship has survived, the so-called Pilate stone, as have coins that he minted. The Jewish historian Josephus and philosopher Philo of Alexandria both mention incidents of tension and violence between the Jewish population and Pilate's administration. Many of these involve Pilate acting in ways that offended the religious sensibilities of the Jews. The Christian Gospels record that Pilate ordered the crucifixion of Jesus at some point during his time in office; Josephus and the Roman historian Tacitus also appear to have recorded this information. According to Josephus, Pilate's removal from office occurred because he violently suppressed an armed Samaritan movement at Mount Gerizim. He was sent back to Rome by the legate of Syria to answer for this before Tiberius, who, however, had died before he arrived. Nothing is known for certain about what happened to him after this. On the basis of a mention in the second-century pagan philosopher Celsus and Christian apologist Origen, most modern historians believe that Pilate simply retired after his dismissal. Modern historians have differing assessments of Pilate as an effective ruler; while some believe he was a particularly brutal and ineffective governor, others argue that his long time in office means he must have been reasonably competent. According to one prominent post-war theory, Pilate was motivated by antisemitism in his treatment of the Jews, but this theory has been mostly abandoned.

In Late Antiquity and the Early Middle Ages, Pilate became the focus of a large group of New Testament apocrypha expanding on his role in the Gospels. In many of these, particularly the earlier texts from the Eastern Roman Empire, Pilate was portrayed as a positive figure. In some, he became a Christian martyr. In later, particularly Western Christian texts, he was instead portrayed as a negative figure and villain, with traditions surrounding his death by suicide featuring prominently. Pilate was also the focus of numerous medieval legends, which invented a complete biography for him and portrayed him as villainous and cowardly. Many of these legends connected Pilate's place of birth or death to particular locations around Western Europe.

Pilate has frequently been a subject of artistic representation. Medieval art frequently portrayed scenes of Pilate and Jesus, often in the scene where he washes his hands of guilt for Jesus's death. In the art of the Late Middle Ages and the Renaissance, Pilate is often depicted as a Jew. The nineteenth century saw a renewed interest in depicting Pilate, with numerous images made. He plays an important role in medieval passion plays, where he is often a more prominent character than Jesus. His characterization in these plays varies greatly, from weak-willed and coerced into crucifying Jesus to being an evil person who demands Jesus's crucifixion. Modern authors who feature Pilate prominently in their works include Anatole France, Mikhail Bulgakov, and Chingiz Aitmatov, with a majority of modern treatments of Pilate dating to after the Second World War. Pilate has also frequently been portrayed in film.

And we also met the famous Greek Philosophers Plato, Socrates and Aristotle.

---

Plato

Plato (/ˈpleɪtoʊ/; PLAY-toe Greek: Πλάτων Plátōn, pronounced [plá.tɔːn] in Classical Attic; 428/427 or 424/423 - 348/347 BC) was an Athenian philosopher during the Classical period in Ancient Greece, founder of the Platonist school of thought, and the Academy, the first institution of higher learning in the Western world.

He is widely considered the pivotal figure in the history of Ancient Greek and Western philosophy, along with his teacher, Socrates, and his most famous student, Aristotle. Plato has also often been cited as one of the founders of Western religion and spirituality.[4] The so-called Neoplatonism of philosophers like Plotinus and Porphyry influenced Saint Augustine and thus Christianity. Alfred North Whitehead once noted: "the safest general characterization of the European philosophical tradition is that it consists of a series of footnotes to Plato."

Plato was the innovator of the written dialogue and dialectic forms in philosophy. Plato is also considered the founder of Western political philosophy. His most famous contribution is the theory of Forms known by pure reason, in which Plato presents a solution to the problem of universals known as Platonism (also ambiguously called either Platonic realism or Platonic idealism). He is also the namesake of Platonic love and the Platonic solids.

His own most decisive philosophical influences are usually thought to have been along with Socrates, the pre-Socratics Pythagoras, Heraclitus and Parmenides, although few of his predecessors' works remain extant and much of what we know about these figures today derives from Plato himself. Unlike the work of nearly all of his contemporaries, Plato's entire body of work is believed to have survived intact for over 2,400 years. Although their popularity has fluctuated over the years, the works of Plato have never been without readers since the time they were written.

Socrates

Socrates (/ˈsɒkrətiːz/; Ancient Greek: Σωκρᾰ́της, romanized: Sōkrátēs, [sɔːkrátɛːs]; c. 470 - 399 BC) was a classical Greek (Athenian) philosopher credited as one of the founders of Western philosophy, and as being the first moral philosopher of the Western ethical tradition of thought. An enigmatic figure, he made no writings, and is known chiefly through the accounts of classical writers writing after his lifetime, particularly his students Plato and Xenophon. Other sources include the contemporaneous Antisthenes, Aristippus, and Aeschines of Sphettos. Aristophanes, a playwright, is the main contemporary author to have written plays mentioning Socrates during Socrates' lifetime, though a fragment of Ion of Chios' Travel Journal provides important information about Socrates' youth.

Plato's dialogues are among the most comprehensive accounts of Socrates to survive from antiquity, from which Socrates has become renowned for his contributions to the fields of ethics and epistemology. It is this Platonic Socrates who lends his name to the concepts of Socratic irony and the Socratic method, or elenchus. However, questions remain regarding the distinction between the real-life Socrates and Plato's portrayal of Socrates in his dialogues.

Socrates exerted a strong influence on philosophers in later antiquity and in the modern era. Depictions of Socrates in art, literature and popular culture have made him one of the most widely known figures in the Western philosophical tradition.

Aristotle

Aristotle (/ˈærɪstɒtəl/; Greek: Ἀριστοτέλης Aristotélēs, pronounced [aristotélɛːs]; 384 - 322 BC) was a Greek philosopher and polymath during the Classical period in Ancient Greece. He was the founder of the Lyceum and the Peripatetic school of philosophy and Aristotelian tradition. Along with his teacher Plato, he has been called the "Father of Western Philosophy".[citation needed] His writings cover many subjects - including physics, biology, zoology, metaphysics, logic, ethics, esthetics, poetry, theatre, music, rhetoric, psychology, linguistics, economics, politics and government. Aristotle provided a complex synthesis of the various philosophies existing prior to him, and it was above all from his teachings that the West inherited its intellectual lexicon, as well as problems and methods of inquiry. As a result, his philosophy has exerted a unique influence on almost every form of knowledge in the West and it continues to be a subject of contemporary philosophical discussion.

Little is known about his life. Aristotle was born in the city of Stagira in Northern Greece. His father, Nicomachus, died when Aristotle was a child, and he was brought up by a guardian. At seventeen or eighteen years of age, he joined Plato's Academy in Athens and remained there until the age of thirty-seven (c. 347 BC). Shortly after Plato died, Aristotle left Athens and, at the request of Philip II of Macedon, tutored Alexander the Great beginning in 343 BC. He established a library in the Lyceum which helped him to produce many of his hundreds of books on papyrus scrolls. Though Aristotle wrote many elegant treatises and dialogues for publication, only around a third of his original output has survived, none of it intended for publication.

Aristotle's views on physical science profoundly shaped medieval scholarship. Their influence extended from Late Antiquity and the Early Middle Ages into the Renaissance, and were not replaced systematically until the Enlightenment and theories such as classical mechanics. Some of Aristotle's zoological observations found in his biology, such as on the hectocotyl (reproductive) arm of the octopus, were disbelieved until the 19th century. His works contain the earliest known formal study of logic, studied by medieval scholars such as Peter Abelard and John Buridan. Aristotle's influence on logic also continued well into the 19th century.

He influenced Islamic thought during the Middle Ages, as well as Christian theology, especially the Neoplatonism of the Early Church and the scholastic tradition of the Catholic Church. Aristotle was revered among medieval Muslim scholars as "The First Teacher" and among medieval Christians like Thomas Aquinas as simply "The Philosopher". His ethics, though always influential, gained renewed interest with the modern advent of virtue ethics, such as in the thinking of Alasdair MacIntyre and Philippa Foot.

Me: Wow. The famous Greek Philosophers.

Plato: That's right J.D.

Me: I've always been fascinated in all of the famous quotes of the great Greek Philosophers.

Laney: Same here. My favorite quote from you Aristotle is this: "Anybody can become angry - that is easy, but to be angry with the right person and to the right degree and at the right time and for the right purpose, and in the right way - that is not within everybody's power and is not easy."

Aristotle: That's right Laney. That means that you must become angry only at the person you feel is causing you wrong and you must learn to channel that anger only when necessary.

Laney: Wow.

Me: I never knew about that. That is interesting.

Nico: But really wise.

Axel Adell: It sure is.

Lori: Literally amazing.

We then continued on and we saw another soul. It was the famous sultan of Syria and Egypt - Saladin.

Me: I know him. This is Saladin, noble sultan of Syria and Egypt. Lived back in the 12th Century.

Jessie K.: That's right.

Saladin

An-Nasir Salah ad-Din Yusuf ibn Ayyub (Arabic: صلاح الدين يوسف بن أيوب / ALA-LC: Ṣalāḥ ad-Dīn Yūsuf ibn Ayyūb; Kurdish: سەلاحەدینی ئەییووبی / ALA-LC: Selahedînê Eyûbî), known as Salah ad-Din or Saladin (/ˈsælədɪn/; 1137 - 4 March 1193), was the first sultan of Egypt and Syria and the founder of the Ayyubid dynasty. A Sunni Muslim of Kurdish ethnicity, Saladin led the Muslim military campaign against the Crusader states in the Levant. At the height of his power, his sultanate included Egypt, Syria, Upper Mesopotamia, the Hejaz, Yemen and other parts of North Africa.

He was originally sent to Fatimid Egypt in 1164 alongside his uncle Shirkuh, a general of the Zengid army, on the orders of their lord Nur ad-Din to help restore Shawar as vizier of the teenage Fatimid caliph al-Adid. A power struggle ensued between Shirkuh and Shawar after the latter was reinstated. Saladin, meanwhile, climbed the ranks of the Fatimid government by virtue of his military successes against Crusader assaults against its territory and his personal closeness to al-Adid. After Shawar was assassinated and Shirkuh died in 1169, al-Adid appointed Saladin vizier, a rare nomination of a Sunni Muslim to such an important position in the Isma'ili Shia caliphate. During his tenure as vizier, Saladin began to undermine the Fatimid establishment and, following al-Adid's death in 1171, he abolished the Fatimid Caliphate and realigned the country's allegiance with the Sunni, Baghdad-based Abbasid Caliphate.

In the following years, he led forays against the Crusaders in Palestine, commissioned the successful conquest of Yemen, and staved off pro-Fatimid rebellions in Upper Egypt. Not long after Nur ad-Din's death in 1174, Saladin launched his conquest of Syria, peacefully entering Damascus at the request of its governor. By mid-1175, Saladin had conquered Hama and Homs, inviting the animosity of other Zengid lords, the official rulers of Syria's various regions. Soon after, he defeated the Zengid army at the Battle of the Horns of Hama and was thereafter proclaimed the "Sultan of Egypt and Syria" by the Abbasid caliph al-Mustadi. Saladin made further conquests in northern Syria and Jazira, escaping two attempts on his life by Assassins, before returning to Egypt in 1177 to address issues there. By 1182, Saladin had completed the conquest of Muslim Syria after capturing Aleppo, but ultimately failed to take over the Zengid stronghold of Mosul.

Under Saladin's command, the Ayyubid army defeated the Crusaders at the decisive Battle of Hattin in 1187, and thereafter wrested control of Palestine-including the city of Jerusalem-from the Crusaders, who had conquered the area 88 years earlier. Although the Crusader Kingdom of Jerusalem continued to exist until the late 13th century, its defeat at Hattin marked a turning point in its conflict with the Muslim powers of the region. Saladin died in Damascus in 1193, having given away much of his personal wealth to his subjects. He is buried in a mausoleum adjacent to the Umayyad Mosque. Saladin has become a prominent figure in Muslim, Arab, Turkish and Kurdish culture, and he has often been described as being the most famous Kurd in history.

Nico: I've read a lot about Saladin. Very famous.

Hunter: Ja.

Axel Adell: Widely known all throughout the world.

Laney: He sure is.

Suddenly we saw a bright flash of light and we saw a figure come out. It was SAINT LUCIA OF SYRACUSE!

Lucia of Syracuse (283-304), also called Saint Lucia (Latin: Sancta

Lucia) or Saint Lucy, was a Christian martyr who died during the Diocletianic Persecution. She is venerated as a saint in the Roman Catholic, Anglican, Lutheran, and Eastern Orthodox churches. She is one of eight women (including Saint Mary) explicitly commemorated by Roman Catholics in the Canon of the Mass. Her traditional feast day, known in Europe as Saint Lucia's Day, is observed by Western Christians on 13 December. Lucia of Syracuse was honored in the Middle Ages and remained a well-known saint in early modern England.

All the details of her life are the conventional ones associated with female martyrs of the early 4th century. John Henry Blunt views her story as a Christian romance similar to the Acts of other virgin martyrs.

According to the traditional story, Lucy was born of rich and noble parents about the year 283. Her father was of Roman origin, but died when she was five years old, leaving Lucy and her mother without a protective guardian. Her mother's name Eutychia seems to indicate that she came from a Greek background.

Like many of the early martyrs, Lucy had consecrated her virginity to God, and she hoped to distribute her dowry to the poor. However, Eutychia, not knowing of Lucy's promise, and suffering from a bleeding disorder, feared for Lucy's future. She arranged Lucy's marriage to a young man of a wealthy pagan family.

Saint Agatha had been martyred 52 years before during the Decian persecution. Her shrine at Catania, less than 50 miles from Syracuse attracted a number of pilgrims; many miracles were reported to have happened through her intercession. Eutychia was persuaded to make a pilgrimage to Catania, in hopes of a cure. While there, St. Agatha came to Lucy in a dream and told her that because of her faith her mother would be cured and that Lucy would be the glory of Syracuse, as she was of Catania. With her mother cured, Lucy took the opportunity to persuade her mother to allow her to distribute a great part of her riches among the poor.

Eutychia suggested that the sums would make a good bequest, but Lucy countered, "… whatever you give away at death for the Lord's sake you give because you cannot take it with you. Give now to the true Savior, while you are healthy, whatever you intended to give away at your death."

News that the patrimony and jewels were being distributed came to Lucy's betrothed, who denounced her to Paschasius, the Governor of Syracuse. Paschasius ordered her to burn a sacrifice to the emperor's image. When she refused Paschasius sentenced her to be defiled in a brothel.

The Christian tradition states that when the guards came to take her away, they could not move her even when they hitched her to a team of oxen. Bundles of wood were then heaped about her and set on fire, but would not burn. Finally, she met her death by the sword thrust into her throat.

Absent in the early narratives and traditions, at least until the 15th century, is the story of Lucia tortured by eye-gouging. According to later accounts, before she died she foretold the punishment of Paschasius and the speedy end of the persecution, adding that Diocletian would reign no more, and Maximian would meet his end. This so angered Paschasius that he ordered the guards to remove her eyes. Another version has Lucy taking her own eyes out in order to discourage a persistent suitor who admired them. This is one of the reasons that Lucy is the patron saint of eye illnesses. When her body was prepared for burial in the family mausoleum it was discovered that her eyes had been miraculously restored.

Me: Saint Lucia of Syracuse.

Lana: Wow!

Saint Lucia: That's right. It's a pleasure to meet you all J.D. Knudson and Team Loud Phoenix Storm.

Me: It's an honor to meet you.

Lola: Wow. You are really pretty. But what happened to your eyes?

Jessie K.: Saint Lucia had her eyes gouged out when she distributed the wealth of the Governor of Syracuse. King Paschasius ordered for her to be executed by having her eyes gouged out and throat stabbed.

Laney: Geez!

Nico: Boy that is brutal!

Vince: No kidding.

Me: It was back over 1,700 years ago.

Axel Adell: Wow.

Saint Lucia: Indeed. I am here to help guide you to rescue Nemo. She was falsely sent here to these planets.

Me: We greatly appreciate it milady.

We went forward into the Citadel of King Minos.

---

King Minos of Crete

n Greek mythology, Minos (/ˈmaɪnɒs, -nəs/; Greek: Μίνως, Minōs) was the first King of Crete, son of Zeus and Europa. Every nine years, he made King Aegeus pick seven young boys and seven young girls to be sent to Daedalus's creation, the labyrinth, to be eaten by the Minotaur. After his death, Minos became a judge of the dead in the underworld.

The Minoan civilization of Crete has been named after him by the archaeologist Sir Arthur Evans.

---

Lola: Whoa! Who is he?

Saint Lucia: That is King Minos. He was once a king of Crete, before Daedalus boiled him in his own bath. Now he forever judges the damned. Sending them to one of the 8 planets.

Me: Whoa.

King Minos: Liar!

Lana: How does he do that?

Saint Lucia: He uses his tail to find out.

King Minos: Traitor!

Laney: So he knows which sin they have done and sends them to that planet.

King Minos: Hoarder!

Saint Lucia: Correct.

King Minos: Glutton!

Me: Sounds like we've got a big challenge here.

King Minos: Suicide!

Me: Geez.

King Minos: Who comes into my house of pain?

Me: We are Team Loud Phoenix Storm. We are looking for a fallen angel named Nemo.

King Minos: I see. Your deeds are widely known. You have done so many good deeds across the universe.

Me: We don't like to brag.

Then we saw demons from Hell appear!

Me: Looks like we got a fight on our hands. Lets get them!

We went at the demons and I slashed one and kicked another one and Lincoln fired blasts of lightning and electrocuted them all over and destroyed them and Saint Lucia slashed the demons all over the place. We also saw Unbaptized Babies come at us.

Me: It's not right that these babies got sent here! They are God's children and they don't deserve this fate!

Lana: I agree with you J.D.! I will save these babies. HOLY STYLE: RIGHTEOUS MARTYRDOM!

Lana glowed in a powerful white light and grew white angel wings and she released a huge wave of white light that freed the unbaptized babies and demons and it sent their souls off to Heaven.

Me: Whoa! That was amazing!

Nico: Wow! The power of that technique was incredible!

Naruto: I've never heard of Holy Style before. That is amazing and powerful!

Sasuke: It sure was. Wow.

Axel Adell: I've heard that you all know some amazing techniques and that was amazing. Lets see if I can do one. ICE STYLE NINJA ART: WRATH OF SWEDEN!

Axel fired a huge wave of ice that formed into the Vikings of Sweden and they slashed and froze many demons all over into blocks of ice.

Me: Whoa! That was awesome!

Jessie K.: Wow! That was the armies of Vikings from over 1,000 years ago. Amazing!

Axel Adell: Tack. It's part of my Swedish heritage.

Me: Wow.

Lucy Loud: Time for these monsters to see what darkness can do. DARKNESS STYLE NINJA ART: TOURNIQUET!

Lucy floated into the air as a dark castle appeared in the background behind her and she sang the song Tourniquet by Evanescence. The castle fired a wave of darkness and it slammed into many demons and destroyed them.

Me: Whoa! That was amazing!

Lincoln: Try this one! LIGHTNING STYLE NINJA ART: GOTT MIT UNS!

Lincoln floated into the air as a raging thunderstorm appeared behind him and he sang the song Gott Mit Uns by Sabaton. The storm fired lightning that turned into the soldiers from the Battle of Breitenfield in 1631 and the soldiers slashed and blasted the demons all over and destroyed them all over.

Me: Whoa!

Jessie K.: That is still so cool!

Me: Try this you demons! (Echoing) FLARE UP NOW! 双炎斬

I slashed a bunch of demons with a deadly blade of fire and burned them all over in an instant.

The Demons were destroyed.

King Minos: Very impressive. Proceed on.

Me: Thank you your majesty.

We went to the next planet.

LUST - 2ND PLANET OF THE INFERNO

We were over on the 2nd planet of Hell - Lust. It was a terrifying and stormy planet where the lustful are forever blown around by relentless winds. Storms blew around relentlessly and lightning struck all over the place. It was horrifying.

Nico: Whoa! This planet looks terrifying!

Me: No kidding!

Saint Lucia: This is the 2nd planet of Hell, the planet of Lust. To this planet are condemned the Carnal Damned. They are the great lustful of the world.

We saw many souls. Semiramis, Remus, Marc Anthony, Cleopatra, Helen of Troy, Paris and many more. It was terrifying.

Nico: I don't like this place!

We saw a huge tower ahead.

Me: Lets head for that tower!

We went into the tower and it was terrifying.

Me: Wow. The Carnal Tower. Really scary.

Lori: This place is literally scary.

May: No kidding.

Sophie Casterwill: (British Accent) It sure is a place I would not want to visit.

Me: Yeah.

Dana: But this place is really scary.

Varie: I know.

Maria: It sure gives me the creeps.

Hunter: Ja. But the deeper we go, the worse it gets.

Me: Yep.

?: New visitors have arrived sisters.

Me: Who said that?

We saw women come out and they were Temptress Demons!

Me: Oh shit.

Temptress: You will be perfect toys for us!

Me: Sorry but I'm already spoken for! (Echoing) IRON ROCK CRUSHER! 岩鉄砕

I slammed my sword onto the tower floor and caused a massive blast of earth and rock to blow away some of the Temptress Demons with devastating force!

Lori: You monsters literally give us women a really bad name! WIND STYLE NINJA ART: SCREAMING EAGLES!

Lori floated in the air and the sky formed behind her and she sang Screaming Eagles by Sabaton. She fired a huge blast of wind and it turned into the 101st Air Division from the Battle of Bastogne in World War II and they blasted the Temptress Demons all over.

Dana: You are bad women! ICE STYLE NINJA ART: CAROLEAN'S PRAYER!

Dana floated into the air and a raging blizzard formed behind her as she sang Carolean's Prayer by Sabaton. A massive wave of ice fired and turned into the armies of King Charles XI during the Scanian War and it slashed and blasted a bunch of Temptresses all over and froze them in blocks of ice.

Nico: Whoa!

Me: That was awesome Dana!

Axel Adell: Well done Dana!

Dana blushed.

Dana: Thanks Axel.

Me: I sense love coming.

Lori: I feel it too.

Jessie K.: But I know that army. That was the Army of King Charles XI from the Scanian War from 1674 to 1679. Very interesting battle back then.

Me: Wow. I didn't even know that happened back then.

Hunter: Ja. Und it was an amazing battle.

Courtney: That was cool though.

Duncan: It sure was babe.

Sammy: It sure was.

Mike (Total Drama): I thought so too.

Zoey: Yeah!

Me: Oh that's right. After this is all over you two are going to officially tie the knot.

Zoey: That's right J.D. and I can't wait.

Me: We all can't.

Nico: Hey look!

We saw a figure go through the tower.

Me: Is that Nemo?

Saint Lucia: That is her.

Me: Lets go!

We went after her.

---

GLUTTONY - 3RD PLANET OF HELL

---

We were on the 3rd planet of Hell - Gluttony. This was a really disgusting planet. It looked like we were walking right through someones intestines and it was so disgusting and horrible!

Me: Oh yuck! This place smells horrible!

Lana: I like it.

Lola: EW! What is that smell!?

Saint Lucia: I find this planet most unpleasant. This is the 3rd Planet of Hell - Gluttony.

Nico: Oh yuck.

Lucy Loud: This is wicked.

Laney: This is so disgusting!

Axel Adell: I agree. This planet is really gross and disgusting.

We walked around and we saw the damned being inundated with mud and filth and they are eating and eating like there was no tomorrow. It was so revolting.

Me: This is so disgusting! I can't believe that people are just that fucked up over food.

Nico: No kidding.

Ciacco: And I should know J.D. Because I was here before you freed me.

Me: I remember that. That was horrible.

Saint Lucia: What these shades could not satisfy in life, in death they will be denied for eternity.

Me: It's just so wrong. All because they couldn't control themselves.

Lincoln: I agree. It's so wrong on so many levels.

Lana: No kidding.

Lola: But it's still a revolting fate!

Lisa Loud: My thoughts exactly Lola.

Lily: This is terrible.

Me: Yeah.

We continued on and we saw the damned soul Clodia.

Clodia, born Claudia Pulchra ("Claudia the Beautiful"), was the wife of Quintus Caecilius Metellus Celer and sister of Publius Clodius Pulcher, a wealthy politician and first husband of Fulvia. Although born a patrician, she and her brother took on the plebeian equivalent of their names in honor of the lower social classes that Clodius championed, and her name was changed from Claudia to Clodia.

Clodia was married to her cousin Metellus, with whom she had a daughter. However, she had multiple affairs with other men, from her husband's best friend to their own slaves. She was later suspected of poisoning Metellus due to her hatred of him.

When she had another affair with a friend of the poet Catullus, it created a public scandal. In retaliation, Clodia levied a charge of attempted murder against her lover. During the trial, the rhetorician Cicero, an enemy of Clodia's family, condemned her as a whore, a gambler and a drunk, even accusing her of seducing her own brother. Due to his scathing words, Clodia's lover was acquitted. Nothing was known about her later life or death, but she was immortalized in Catullus's poem, Lesbia.

Lana absolved her because she believed that she was unjustly punished. Clodia went up to Heaven.

Luna: Nice job Lans.

Sam S.L.: Way to go little dudette.

Lana: Thanks guys.

Me: Not bad for your first Absolving.

Lana: Yeah.

Then more demons appeared!

Me: Here we go! (Echoing) ARROW SHOCKWAVE! 真空波

I fired a powerful arrow of energy from my sword and it hit a bunch of demons and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

The explosion blew many demons away with incredible power!

Lana: Lets see how they like this! ICE STYLE NINJA ART: RUINA IMPERI!

Lana floated into the air and a massive ice storm formed and she sang the song Ruina Imperi by Sabaton.

Budet kom på en kall vinternatt

Carolus finns ej mer

Hemåt fränder

Över fjäll, genom bitande köld går marschen

De går med sänkta huvuden

Återvänder

Död, vänter Armfeldt och män

Död, kungens män, vänder hemåt igen

Fränder, bröder, vår stormaktstid är över

Vårt rike blöder, fanan står i brand

Aldrig, aldrig, aldrig återvända

Svea stormaktstid till ända

Ambition och en strikt religion

Drev svensken uti krig

Hårda tider

För sitt land, tog han vapen i hand

Ett liv för rikets väl

Karoliner

Krig, givit allt vi förmår

Krig, dödens år, satt sitt spår, vi består

De togs förgivet

Bragda om livet

Vem lät det hända

Stormaktstid til ända

She fired a huge wave of ice and it turned into the army of soldiers from the Great Northern War in 1700 to 1721 and they slashed and blasted many demons and monsters apart and froze them all over as well. Turning them into blocks of ice.

Axel Adell: Whoa! Well done Lana!

Lana: Thanks Axel.

Lola: Lets see how they like this. FIRESTORM STYLE NINJA ART: INTO THE FIRE!

Lola floated into the air and a wall of fire formed behind her as she sang the song Into the Fire by Sabaton.

Sent from home overseas

And into the unknown

Barely landed in the jungle

Sent on first patrol

Sundown darkness falls

Dig in for the night

Ambushed in the dawn they came

The jungle's alive

I feel my fire starts to burn

The heat controlling my mind

Berserk a savage running wild

Within me the beast starts to roar

Now I'm ready to strike

A creature of the night

Into the fire

A flame of napalm strike

Sarge's down I'm in charge

Vc's everywhere

Overrun yet order air-strike

Condemned us all to burn,

Napalm from above

Burning friend and foe

Chaos on the battlefield

The jungle's on fire

This place it's driving me insane

Napalm it's burning us all

This fight no man will live to tell

Within me my blood starts to boil

From above the air-strike came

And it burned the world below

Napalm falling from the sky

And it leaves no man alive

I feel my fire starts to burn

The heat controlling my mind

Napalm it's burning us alive

Within me the beasts final roar

Lola fired waves of fire and they turned into the armies of the 2nd Indochina War and they blasted many demons apart all over the place and incinerated them.

Me: Whoa! That was the armies of the Vietnam War, the Cambodian Civil War and the Laotian Civil War.

Jessie K.: Those were terrible wars from the 1950's to the 1970's.

Laney: No kidding. They were horrible wars.

Nico: No kidding. But that was awesome!

Hunter: Ja. It sure was.

Axel Adell: It sure was. Well done.

Lola: Thanks.

Me: Lets keep searching. I have a feeling that Nemo is leading us to the 9th Planet.

We then saw a face that Sam faced before. It was COMIC BOOK GUY!

---

Jeffrey "Jeff" Albertson, better known as Comic Book Guy, is the morbidly obese, geeky proprietor of Springfield's local comic book store, The Android's Dungeon and Baseball Card Shop. Though thought to be an antagonist, he is sarcastic, surly, and insulting at certain points.

Comic Book Guy is an obese and socially incompetent man who is perhaps best known for his sarcastic quips. He holds a master's degree in folklore and mythology (he translated The Lord of the Rings into Klingon as part of his thesis). He exhibits geeky behavior to an extraordinary and deliberately unrealistic degree, and often also makes references to obscure subjects or internet culture. His catchphrase is the declaration, "Worst… (episode)… ever". He states that he is a 45 year-old virgin who lives with his parents. Comic Book Guy is extremely overweight, to the point where his clothes barely fit over his huge stomach. He also at one point suffered from lumbago.

Appropriate to his nickname, Comic Book Guy is obsessed with comic books, pop culture and science fiction. Comic Book Guy has a bumper sticker that reads "My Other Car Is The Millennium Falcon," given to him by a Harrison Ford lookalike. The license plate on his AMC Gremlin is NCC-1701, the registry number of Star Trek's USS Enterprise. The contents of his display case include, among other oddities, a photo of Sean Connery signed by Roger Moore and a very rare Mary Worth in which she advised a friend to commit suicide. He also owns a T-shirt that says "C:/DOS C:/DOS/RUN RUN/DOS/RUN" (Notice the incorrect usage of the forward slash. DOS directories are listed with a backslash, so it would be "C:\DOS C:\DOS\RUN RUN\DOS\RUN"). He is a member of the Springfield branch of Mensa, along with Principal Skinner, Dr. Hibbert, Lisa Simpson, Professor Frink, and Lindsey Naegle. In the episode "Beware My Cheating Bart", he says he is a cyber bully.

In the episode Large Marge, Comic Book Guy had liposuction performed on him, so he would fit in a Superman costume.

---

Sam S.L.: Comic Book Guy!?

Me: I had a very strong feeling that Sam sent you here for being such a big fat repulsive jerk.

Comic Book Guy: So you continue to laugh at me even though I am dead. I find you lacking courage and are a freak.

Me: Sticks and stones fat boy. Sticks and stones. But this is what you get for being one of the biggest jerks ever.

Whitney: I agree with you J.D.

We saw Whitney with us.

Me: Whitney? What are you doing here?

Lori: Yeah Whitney. That's what I was wondering.

Whitney: Well that is why I'm with you.

We saw Whitney spread beautiful Flower angel wings and she formed a beautiful sword of rose petals.

Me: Whoa! That is amazing Whitney.

Whitney: Thanks J.D. I got my powers from the Flower of Creiddylad.

Natilee: That's the Irish Goddess of Flowers from Celtic Myth.

Whitney: That's right. I have always hated Comic Book Guy for a long time ever since I watched The Simpsons on TV.

Bart: It's good we have some fans.

Me: It sure is. I didn't know this happened to you Whitney.

Whitney: I've had these powers 1 year before you moved to Michigan, J.D.

Me: Wow! So some of us have had powers in Michigan even before I moved there.

Whitney: Yep. Watch what I can do.

Whitney lifted Comic Book Guy up and slashed him all over with her sword and poured out his intestines. Literally disemboweling him and then she kicked him in the walls and sent him crashing into them.

Comic Book Guy: Worst… Pain… Ever.

He fell into the sludge.

I snapped my fingers and resurrected him and sent him to the brig of the ship.

Me: Wow! That was awesome Whitney!

Laney: You really let him have it!

Lincoln: Way to go Whitney.

Lori: That was literally amazing.

Carol: I'll say.

Whitney: Thanks guy.

Me: We found you an Arch Nemesis and that is Comic Book Guy.

We continued on.

GREED - 4TH PLANET OF HELL

---

We arrived at the 4th Planet of Hell, Greed. It was really a huge factory and it was full of gold and so much more. We saw Damned Souls being melted alive in molten gold and buried in huge piles of gold coins.

Me: Whoa! Look at all this gold!

Laney: Unbelievable.

Lola: So much of it. What would one man do with all of it?

Saint Lucia: This is the 4th planet, Greed.

Me: One of the big time cardinal sins.

Nico: Horrible.

Saint Lucia: What a mockery is made in the brief battle for possessions that make so short a life.

Me: No kidding.

Axel Adell: That is absolutely disgusting.

Nico: Yeah.

We walked up to a gold coin pile and I picked up some coins. The damned were being buried in different types of gold coins from all over the world from over the centuries.

Me: They are being buried in different types of gold coins from all over the centuries. Most of these coins we don't use anymore but they are still valuable.

Then a hand reached out and grabbed my arm. It was the hand of Gessius Florus!

Gessius Florus was the Roman procurator of Judea from 64 until 66. Born in Clazomenae, Florus was appointed to replace Lucceius Albinus as procurator by the Emperor Nero due to his wife

Cleopatra's friendship with Nero's wife Poppaea. He was noted for his tensions against the Judean and Jewish population, and is credited by Josephus as being the primary cause of the Great Jewish Revolt.

Upon taking office in Caesarea, Florus began favoring local Greek population of the city over the Jewish population. The local Greek population noticed Florus' policies and took advantage of the circumstances. One notable instance of provocation occurred while the Jews were worshiping at their local synagogue and a Hellenist sacrificed several birds on top of an earthenware container at the entrance of the synagogue, an act that rendered the building ritually unclean. In response to this action, the Jews sent a group of men to petition Florus for redress. Despite accepting a payment of eight talents to hear the case, Florus refused to listen to the complaints and instead had the petitioners imprisoned.

Florus further angered the Jewish population of his province by having seventeen talents removed from the treasury of the Temple in Jerusalem, claiming the money was for the Emperor. In response to this action, the city fell into unrest and some of the Jewish population began to openly mock Florus by passing a basket around to collect money as if Florus were poor. Florus reacted to the unrest by sending soldiers into Jerusalem the next day to raid the city and arrest a number of the city leaders. The arrested individuals were whipped and crucified despite many of them being Roman citizens.

After the outbreak of the Great Jewish Revolt, Florus was replaced as procurator by Marcus Antonius Julianus.

Gessius: That is MY Gold!

Me: Gessius Florus!

Jessie K.: I've read about you! You were a procurator that was known for starting the Great Jewish Revolt back in the 1st Century!

Lincoln: I remember that! That was terrible!

Whitney: No kidding.

Laney: It's hard to imagine that a war can start because of ones own greed.

Me: But anybody that loses themselves to gold has no right to live or keep it because their minds have been fucked around by it.

Axel Adell: That's right.

I punched Gessius in the face and he let go of my hand.

Me: I have always hated him.

Lily: I don't blame you.

Stella (Loud House): Yeah. He was a jerk.

We heard someone laugh.

?: There is no room to pity the damned here Team Loud Phoenix Storm.

Me: I had a feeling you were here Alighiero.

We looked up and we saw Alighiero Alighieri.

Alighiero Alighieri is the major antagonist in the videogame Dante's Inferno. He serves as the boss of the Circle of Greed, as well as the father of Dante.

Throughout Dante's childhood, Alighiero proved to be a sinful, lecherous and cruel glutton that often stole money from the poor to fund wild parties with his friends. He frequently had sex with women, excluding his wife Bella, and constantly badmouthed his son and his wife. Alighiero was also extremely abusive towards Bella, even driving her to commit suicide, though he told Dante she died of a fever.

While his son was away at the Crusades, his fiancé, Beatrice, stayed with Alighiero while she waited for him to return. Soon before he died, Alighiero attempted to seduce Beatrice, stating that he was sure Dante was dead, but seconds later, an assassin burst into his house. Alighiero engaged him in a sword fight and was close to overpowering him, but as he pushed the assassin to the ground, Alighieri was stabbed in the eye with the golden cross he always wore, killing him.

Alighiero was sent to Hell upon his death, where he was condemned to the Fourth Circle, Greed, and transformed into a grotesque and obese Demon. After Dante arrived in the fourth circle during his descent into the Inferno, Alighiero taunted him about his failures and how he had made nothing of himself. He said that Dante was nothing like him and asked if the crusader was afraid that he wasn't a man like his father. However Dante said that he was afraid he was too much like his father and they finally battled, with the crusader emerging the victor. Alighiero then told Dante to go ahead and blame him for how he turned out, but the crusader only said that he pitied his father for being so full of greed and hate. Dante said that he refused to be damned like Alighiero and absolved him. Later his Soul aided the crusader, along with all the other souls he absolved on his journey, in imprisoning Lucifer once more, redeeming himself similar to his son.

Alighiero: You think that you are a better man than me? That you are above reproach for your sins?

Me: Our sins are those for justice.

Alighiero: And you would like to believe that. No one is free of sin. But some damned can be rewarded in hell.

Alighiero jumped and landed in front of us.

Me: You are big and ugly. And this is a great look for you.

Alighiero: Lucifer offered me 1,000 years free of torture and endless gold if I would kill you all.

Me: Sorry to disappoint you, but Lucifer is gone forever. He's in the River of Fire and burning in oblivion. Now you will join him for abusing Bella Abati and ruining Dante's life.

I went at him and kicked him in the face.

Me: (Echoing) SUPER WAVE SMASHER! 超流破

I fired a wave of water from my sword and it slammed into him and skewered him all over.

Me: So many have suffered because of your greed.

Lynn: And you will pay for it. EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: CLIFFS OF GALLIPOLI!

Lynn rose into the air as a canyon formed behind her and she sang the song Cliffs of Gallipoli by Sabaton. The canyon fired a shower of rocks that turned into the soldiers from the 1915 battle of Gallipoli in World War I and they blasted and slashed Alighiero all over with incredible fury.

Lisa Loud: And this will ensure it! VOLCANO STYLE NINJA ART: ISLA NUBLAR VOLCANO ERUPTION!

Lisa formed a powerful volcano and it exploded right from underneath Alighiero with the massive power of Mount Tambora when it erupted back in 1815.

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Nicole formed a portal that lead into the River of Fire and it sucked Alighiero into it as he was blasted into it.

It closed and he was gone forever.

Me: Good riddance.

Nico: Wow! That was intense!

Axel Adell: It sure was.

Me: Lets continue on.

We did so.

---

ANGER - 5TH PLANET OF THE INFERNO

---

We were in the murky swamps of the 5th Planet of Hell, Anger. It was the home of the wrathful and the sullen. The negative energy from the planet was unbelievable.

Me: Whoa.

Saint Lucia: This is the 5th planet of Hell, Anger. The very air is flooded with fury and rage.

Me: It sure is terrifying.

Whitney: This planet is terrifying and awful.

Laney: No kidding.

Axel Adell: It's so terrifying.

We encountered a massive number of souls that were full of anger and they were in the river Styx. We saw Filippo Argente, Hecuba, Boudica and many more.

Me: It's hard to imagine that rage is such a deadly sin and emotion.

Bleez: No kidding.

Eion: It's so sick.

Hunter: Ja. It's awful.

We saw more demons coming.

Me: Lets get them!

We went at the demons. I slashed many of them and cut them up.

Me: (Echoing) THUNDERBOLT CUT! 雷光斬

I fired a massive wave of lightning and energy and it slammed into many demons and electrocuted them and destroyed them.

Leni: These demons are totes ugly and bad for fashion! SCREECH STYLE NINJA ART: SUPERSONIC HURRICANE TWISTER RASENSHURIKEN!

Leni formed a powerful sonic Rasenshuriken and it had the incredible power of a mach 10 Sonic Boom and she threw it and it slammed into many Demons and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

The explosion completely obliterated the demons all over.

Axel Adell: Try this one on! ICE STYLE NINJA ART: SWEDISH PEGANS!

Axel Adell floated into the air and a raging snowstorm formed and he sang the song Swedish Pegans by Sabaton.

The wise women said

Once your heart is in battle

There is no coming back

(Fight for Thor)

And before the attack

Feel your blood starts to boiling

In your veins as you charge

(Hundreds fallen)

As the fire inside

Is ignited by bloodshed

In berserkers from north

Could it be as was said

When the serpent be woken

Fenrir howls

Swedish Pagans, marching ashore

Forged in Valhalla by the hammer of Thor

Out from Asgaard, a viking ship sails

Never to turn back again

When our brothers have fought

Is where we will be proven

On ground stained by blood

(Standing tall)

And we know, if we fall

Our comrades awaits in Valhall

(Odin's calling)

As the fire inside

Is ignited by bloodshed

In berserkers from north

Could it be as was said

When the serpent be woken

Fenrir howls

Swedish Pagans, marching ashore

Forged in Valhalla by the hammer of Thor

Out from Asgaard, a viking ship sails

Never to turn back again

First to the battle

First to the feast

Destiny waiting

No retreat

Retreat!

Swedish Pagans, marching ashore

Forged in Valhalla by the hammer of Thor

Out from Asgaard, a viking ship sails

Never to turn back again

Waves of ice fired and turned into the Viking Clans of the 8th Century and they slashed and mercilessly butchered the demons all over and destroyed them all over.

Me: Whoa! That was awesome!

Hunter: Ja! Vunderbar!

Nico: Awesome!

Carol: That was so cool!

Dana: It sure was. Awesome Axel.

Axel Adell: Tack Dana.

Me: That means Thanks in Swedish.

Dana: Oh.

We continued on.

---

HERESY - 6TH PLANET OF HELL

---

We were in the fiery planet of Heresy, the 6th Planet of Hell. We saw numerous heretics burning in eternal fire in the continent of Dis. It was a terrifying city continent of immense fire and horror.

Me: Whoa! So this is the continent of Dis. It's really horrifying.

Nico: No kidding. It's scary.

Whitney: Yeah.

Hunter: Mein Gott, this is really scary.

Me: Yeah. This is the planet for those that are believers of something else. Like cult leaders and all that.

Saint Lucia: That's right. It's a nightmare.

Me: And we should know. Because we've killed a lot of cult leaders.

?: That's right. And I am one of them.

We then saw a figure we killed in the past. It was JOSEPH SEED - LEADER OF THE PROJECT AT EDEN'S GATE CULT!

Me: Joseph Seed. I didn't expect you to be here. But then again you were a nasty heretic.

Joseph Seed: You did kill me! I was saving the world!

Me: You brainwashed Lincoln after he ran away and you turned him into a monster because of it!

Qin: So he is Joseph Seed.

Me: That's him Qin.

Lincoln: This monster ruined my whole family in an alternate universe.

Lily: Except for me and Laney.

Me: That's true.

Luna: You've ruined so many lives Seed!

Me: And for each one of them you will pay!

I punched him in the face and kicked him in the stomach.

Me: (Echoing) QUAKE WITH FEAR! 紅雷閃

I fired a massive blast of red lightning from my sword and it branched off and turned into a massive bunch of lines of chains and they wrapped around Joseph Seed.

Luna: This is for being a sick dude! METAL STYLE NINJA ART: THE PRICE OF A MILE!

Luna floated into the air and a steel mill formed behind her and she sang the song The Price of A Mile by Sabaton. Waves of molten steel fired at Joseph Seed and they formed into the soldiers from the Battle of Passchendaele during World War I in 1917 and they slashed and blasted Seed all over and burned him as well.

Jessie K.: Whoa! That was the army from the Battle of Passchendaele in World War I.

Hunter: Ja. Really well done.

Lana: That was awesome!

Lincoln: It sure was.

Laney: Lets see how he likes this one. CELTIC STYLE NINJA ART: BATTLE FOR CAMELOT!

Laney floated into the air and the plains of Ireland formed and she fired a wave of Celtic symbols and they cut up Joseph Seed really good and Hunter kicked him and sent him into the River of Fire. The portal closed and Joseph Seed was gone for good.

Nicole: Joseph Seed was a monster that deserved to die.

Me: Yep.

Natilee: Laney that was really well done.

Naruto: Yeah I never heard of Celtic Style jutsu.

Laney: Thanks guys.

Natilee: (Irish Accent) You did really well lass.

Suddenly we felt a massive earthquake.

Lola: Whoa! What's happening!?

Saint Lucia: The Harrowing of Hell! Christ's death forever quake's this world! We must hurry!

We ran fast.

VIOLENCE - 7TH PLANET OF HELL

We were over on the 7th Planet of Hell, Violence. It was a planet that had 3 parts to it.

Saint Lucia: This planet is reserved for the violent.

Me: Whoa. We've killed thousands of people that are violent. Some of history's most evil figures were all violent people.

Laney: I remember that.

Axel Adell: Yep. Some of them were really bad.

We arrived at a huge blood river.

Saint Lucia: Those who have done violence against others forever boil in the blood they have shed.

Me: People like murderers and all that.

?: That is a terrible thing huh? (Laughs)

A figure came out and we saw that it was FACE STEALER from episode 126 of Mighty Morphin Power Rangers!

---

Face Stealer is a monster who was imprisoned in an urn long ago. He was freed by Rita Repulsa and stole the faces of many people, including two of the rangers. However, the remaining four rangers found masks used by his original imprisoners that repelled/harmed him and prevented their faces from being stolen. This allowed them to deliver a severe beating to Face Stealer and free the captured faces. Face Stealer was subsequently enlarged into a giant to finish the job Rita freed him for, only to be defeated by the Ninja Ultrazord and re-imprisoned in the urn.

A monster resembling Face Stealer (whose wings were over its face at the time) is among the monsters in the Machine Empire's army.

---

Tommy Oliver: Face Stealer!

Face Stealer: (Laughs) Yes it's me.

Me: I remember this ugly guy! He stole a lot of faces and stole many faces and 2 of the rangers!

Face Stealer just stole Lori's face.

Face Stealer: (laughs) Got your nose! And your face too!

Me: You are disgusting!

Emma Goodall: Don't worry, Lori! We'll get your face back!

Megaforce Rangers: Legendary Ranger Mode: Alien!

The Megaforce Rangers turned into the Aquitar Rangers!

Face Stealer: I have to admit. Those Aquitar suits look nice. (to the Alien Rangers) Why couldn't it have been you Rangers that faced me instead of the ones I fought the first time?

Me: Because you are a freak of nature!

I fired a powerful blast of energy and the Megaforce Rangers blasted Face Stealer all over and then he fell down and exploded.

KRABBBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMM

Lori's face came back.

Lori: Whew! Thanks guys.

Me: Anytime Lori.

Lincoln: Glad you have your face back big sis.

Lori: Thanks Linky.

Me: Lets continue on.

We flew over the Phlegethon, the River of Boiling Blood. It was a terrifying river. It had numerous violent souls being scalded in boiling blood. We saw Attila the Hun, Dionysius I of Syracuse, Alexander the Great, and so many others from over the centuries.

Me: Whoa! Looks at all the damned. It's just hard to imagine that there are so many damned souls that killed so many people. And some of these people are all criminals and monsters we killed in the past.

Nico: Wow. It's amazing how many bad guys we've killed.

Laney: No kidding.

Axel Adell: Yeah.

Hunter: But they all deserved it.

Me: Some of them were all killed by us and most of them were killed Centuries ago.

Lana: Yeah.

Lola: It's a fitting punishment for them though.

Nico: Yep.

We then saw flying demons coming at us.

Lily: Flying demons coming! I got this. ORACLE STYLE NINJA ART: WINGED HUSSARS!

Lily fired a wave of light and it turned into a bunch of soldiers during the Battle of Vienna in 1683 and they slashed and blasted the demons and killed them all.

Me: Whoa! Nice one Lily.

Lincoln: Way to go.

Lily: Thanks guys.

We got to the other side of the Phlegethon and we arrived in the 2nd part of the planet.

Laney: What kind of forest is this?

Saint Lucia: There are those that did violence to themselves. This is the Wood of Suicides.

Me: Oh boy. Suicide is the cowards way out. It's absolutely pathetic.

Lincoln: It sure is.

Linka: Suicide is the worst thing anyone can do.

Lana: Yeah.

We went into the forest and it was terrifying. The trees were so terrifyingly gnarled and twisted and we saw souls as trees.

Laney: This is terrifying.

Whitney: No kidding.

Nico: Yeah. Anyone that takes the cowards way out has failed in all of life.

Axel Adell: Well said Nico.

Hunter: Ja, I agree with you.

Lily: But it is awful.

Bella Abati: I know. And I should know because I killed myself.

Luna: That is awful.

Saint Lucia: Yes. When a soul takes its own life, Minos judges it to this planet. Here is sprouts. Shoots up like a sapling. No body. Only pain.

Me: That is sad.

Varie: Yeah.

Vince: It's just absolutely sick that people can forfeit their lives like that.

Me: No kidding.

We got to a clearing and more demons came.

Luan: I got this! Prepare to be enlightened! (Laughs) Get it? But seriously, this will show you the light. LIGHT STYLE NINJA ART: ATOMIC SPEED OF LIGHT!

Luan went faster than the speed of light and she smashed a bunch of demons all over and destroyed them with powerful light speed.

Me: Nice job Luan!

Eddy: (Laughs) That was a good one Luan!

Me: That was funny.

Axel Adell: (Laughs) That was a good one Luan.

Me: Luan is always a kick in the butt.

We continued on and we arrived in the 3rd part of the planet. It was a vast desert and it was a terrifying place.

Lori: Are we still on the 7th Planet?

Saint Lucia: Yes. This is the Abominable Sands. It is here that the damned did violence against God.

Me: This is home to the Blasphemers.

Lana: Terrifying place.

Nico: No kidding.

Naruto: This is bad.

Lincoln: Yeah.

Hunter: This is a scary place.

But then we felt the ground rumble and then out of the sands came the Crusaders!

Me: It's the Crusaders!

Jessie K.: So the Crusaders have been sent here.

Laney: It's hard to imagine that they did all their deeds in the name of God back during the Crusades.

Lana: Awful.

Lily: But wasn't it all done in the name God?

Me: That's what they said.

But then another soul came out and it was Francesco Portinari.

Francesco: The bishop lied. Did he not J.D. Knudson?

Jessie K.: Francesco Portinari. But why you?

Francesco: God never condones violence of any kind. There was no Holy War. Don't you understand? The priests lied!

Me: I've known that for years. But why are you here?

Francesco: IT WAS YOU! YOU DID THIS TO ME J.D.!

Me: Hey I wasn't there! I wasn't even born back 830 years ago!

Francesco: You don't deserve the life given to you. You don't deserve anything! And now you will join us here forever, where you BELONG!

He unsheathed his sword and went at me and I went at him and we clashed and it was a brutal clash! It was so powerful and so devastating that it was shaking the foundation of the planet!

Me: How can you be so blind Francesco!? Didn't my ancestors treat you like a brother?

Francesco: I AM NOT YOUR BROTHER! YOU'RE AN ANIMAL J.D.! A MONSTER! (ROARS!) I WILL NEVER LET YOU LIVE ANY LONGER!

I kicked him in the face and punched him in the stomach.

Me: (Echoing) SNAKE FANG STRIKE! 蛇牙剣・六節大蛇

I swung my sword and fired a blade whip of energy swords and they slashed him with deadly poison.

Ben: Lets see how they like this!

Ben turned into a new ultimate Alien. It was ULTIMATE OVERFLOW! He was a bigger and bulkier version of Overflow and he had more water tanks on his back and shoulders.

Ben: ULTIMATE OVERFLOW!

Me: Whoa! An Evolved Caskan!

Nico: Wow! This one is neat!

Shanan: It sure is.

Ultimate Overflow: Watch this.

He fired a huge wave of water and blasted many Crusaders all over the place with incredible force.

Ben then turned into a new predator. It was MUCILATOR! Mucilator appears to be a fat, grey, rock-skinned alien. It has purplish-pink spheres, which are similar in appearance to those of Ultimate Swampfire.

Ben: MUCILATOR!

Me: Whoa! This is an ugly predator!

Shanan: That's an Orthopterran Frogyanan! It's Crashhopper's natural predator.

Nico: Whoa! That is an ugly predator.

Riley: No kidding. But it sure is a wicked predator.

Qin: It sure is.

Mucilator: Watch.

He punched many crusaders and stuck them to his purple patches and slammed them onto the ground.

Carol: Lets see how they like this! ATOMIC STYLE NINJA ART: A LIFETIME OF WAR!

Carol floated into the air and atomic particles formed and she sang the song A Lifetime of War by Sabaton. Atomic particles fired and turned into the soldiers of the Thirty Years War and they blasted and slashed the crusaders and Francesco and killed them. Sending them back into the sands.

Saint Lucia: They can rest for a while. But they are forever bound here like a shadow of time. Unforgotten.

Me: Francesco is a good man. He doesn't deserve this.

I prayed to God and asked for him to absolve Francesco and have him join Heaven.

Then we saw Nemo and she was running.

Me: Lets go!

We went on.

FRAUD - 8TH PLANET OF HELL

We arrived on the planet of Fraud, home of the liars. We saw that it had 10 moons that represented each of the 10 Malebolge and it was terrifying. We traveled over each Bolgia.

Panderers & Seducers

Description:

The first ditch of the Malebolge contained the panderers and seducers. Those punished here influenced others to commit sin for their own gain, and include those who prostituted themselves and others with evil intention. Their punishment was to march around the edge of the circle, being whipped by horned demons to keep them moving, similar to how they drove others in life with their seductive ways. The panderers and pimps are driven to the right, the seducers are driven to the left.

Famous Damned Souls:

Among the shades here is the Greek hero Jason, who seduced both

Queen Hypsipyle of Lemnos and Princess Medea of Colchis. Both Medea and Hypsipyle were manipulated into saving Jason's life, betraying loved ones when Jason was in danger. After he had children by both women, he abandoned them, despite making a sacred vow each time to remain loyal to the woman he was with at the time. This duplicitous behavior disgusted the gods, who cursed Jason for the rest of his life.

Also found here is Venedico Caccianemico, the leader of the Guelphs of Bologna. He is said to have sold his own sister, Ghisolabella Caccianemico, to Obizzo II d'Este, the Marquess of Ferrara. Caccianemico also reveals to Dante that he is not the only Bolognese panderer present, stating there are so many they outnumber children learning to speak, but he is soon silenced by a demon wielding a whip.

Flatterers

Description:

The second ditch contained the flatterers. Those punished here are those who, like the panderers and seducers, convinced others to sin for their own gain, this time by using words. They are immersed forever in a river of human excrement, which represented the words that they produced.

Famous Damned Souls:

Among those found here was Thais the Harlot, who teased and seduced hundreds of men with her beauty. She married the general Ptolemy I Soter, later Pharaoh of Egypt, but was never made his queen and died in obscurity.

Also found here is Alessio Interminelli of Lucca, one of the White Guelph faction, though his particular sin of flattery is not elaborated upon. He laments when Dante stares at him longer than the other sinners, though Dante explains the reason is due to him recognizing Interminelli and having known him when he was alive.

Simony

Description:

The third level of the Malebolge contained the Simonists (sinners guilty of selling positions within the church hierarchy and religious property for personal gain). They are punished by being forced upside down into baptismal fonts and having their feet set aflame, which was a corruption of baptism itself as the Simonists themselves corrupted the church. The heat of the flames burned according to the guilt of the sinner. When another soul was sent to this level of the Malebolge, it took the place of one of the others. The one that it replaced disappeared forever, shoved further down into the font to suffocate.

Famous Damned Souls:

This group of sinners was named after Simon Magus, a sorcerer who attempted to first "buy" the Holy Spirit from St. Peter, then tried to challenge the saint with his magic, which ultimately led to Simon Magus's death. Found here are several corrupt popes and cardinals, including Pope Nicholas III, who mistook Dante for Pope Boniface VIII in the poem (hinting that Boniface is destined for Hell upon his own death). Nicholas is present here for his acts of nepotism, while Boniface will be damned for not only being the cause of Dante's exile, but for multiple acts of betrayal and warfare as pope. Pope Clement V is also prophesied to join Nicholas and Boniface for moving the Holy See to Avignon in France, and thus pandering to the whims of the French monarchy.

Diviners

Description:

The fourth ditch was devoted to the diviners and fortune-tellers. Astrologists, seers, sorcerers and others who attempted to pervert God's laws to divine the future are punished here. Their heads are twisted around to face backwards and they are forced to walk backwards around the circumference of their circle for all time. As punishment for attempting to see the future, they now could only look behind them. The point is further expounded by the fact that tears continually stream from their eyes, blurring their vision. While this mainly was poetic justice for trying to see into the future, it also represented the twisted nature of magic in general.

Famous Damned Souls:

The blind prophet Tiresias resided in this ditch for his sins, along with his daughter, Manto. According to the game, Tiresias was not only guilty of trying to foresee the future, but also for using magic to change his gender from male to female, and back again. Also found here are Aruns (an Etruscan seer who foresaw the war between Caesar and Pompey), Michael Scot (famous Scottish mathematician and magician who was highly honored among royalty), Asdente (a Parma cobbler who made prophesies against Frederick II) and Guido Bonatti (an astrologer of Forli who claimed to have brought about the victory at Montaparti for the Senese).

Politicians

Description:

The fifth level of the Malebolge was the home of the Politicians (extortionists, blackmailers, grafters and unscrupulous businessmen). These were sinners who used their positions in life to gain personal wealth or other advantages for themselves, robbing the rights of others. They are punished by being thrown into a river of boiling pitch and tar, which represented the sticky fingers and dark secrets of their business. In addition, should any of the politicians try to escape the pitch, a horde of demons (the "Malebranche", meaning "evil claws") armed with grappling hooks and barbs stood guard over them, ready to tear them to pieces and push them back into the tar.

Hypocrites

Description:

The sixth level was the punishment for the hypocrites. They are forced to wear heavy lead robes as they are marched around the circumference of their circle. The robes are golden and resembled a monk's cowl, but are lined with heavy lead, symbolically representing hypocrisy: As they degraded others for sin but glorified themselves, they committed the sins that crippled them in the afterlife with their heaviness.

Famous Damned Souls:

Among those found here are Catalano dei Malavolti (a Guelph, and governor of Bologna and Florence) and Loderingo degli Andalo (a prominent Ghibelline and co-govenor of Florence with Catalano). Despite being political enemies, the two together founded the Knights of St. Mary, also called the Jovial Friars, which was sanctioned by Pope Clement IV. The order was meant to promote peace between the warring factions, but in truth it degenerated into a self-serving organization.

Caiaphas, the Pharisee who insisted on the execution of Jesus, was crucified in this circle, staked to the ground so the ranks of the lead-weighted hypocrites marched across him, as he is deemed the greatest hypocrite of all. His father-in-law, Annas, shares Caiaphas's fate.

Thieves

Description:

The seventh ditch was the home of the thieves. This ditch is guarded by the centaur Cacus, who wields a fire-breathing dragon on one shoulder (in Greek Mythology, Cacus was originally a fire-breathing monster that was slain by Hercules after stealing the hero's cattle). The bolgia was filled with serpents, dragons and other vengeful reptiles that tortured the thieves endlessly. The bites of some of the snakes caused the thieves to spontaneously combust, only to regenerate their bodies for further torment in a few moments. Other thieves had their very essence traded with snakes and lizards that bit them, transforming their bodies into twisted snake-like versions of themselves, trading their identity with every bite. As thieves stole other people's possessions in life, their very identity became subjected to theft in the Malebolge.

Famous Damned Souls:

Some notable thieves are included in the passage, with their fates being the most explicit and harshest of all the thieves. They are as follows:

Vanni Fucci, a Black Guelph who was so brutal in his pillaging of enemy homes he was called la Bestia ("The Beast"). He was also responsible for stealing a reliquary from the Cathedral of Pistoia, resulting in an innocent man nearly being executed for the crime. Fucci is turned to ashes and resurrected multiple times. When he attempts to curse God for this, one of the serpents of the ditch coils itself around his throat to silence him before he is deprived of his human form once again.

Agnello Brunelleschi, another Black Guelph and a famous thief who committed his crimes in disguise. He is blended with the six-legged reptile that is Cianfa.

Cianfa Donati, a political advisor, although his crime of theft is not elaborated on. He attacks and is blended with Agnello into a six-legged reptile.

Buoso Donati (or Buoso degli Abati), another of the Black Guelphs. His circumstances of thievery are not elaborated on. He exchanges shapes with the four-legged Francesco (no relation to the brother of Beatrice in the game).

Francesco de Cavalcanti, also called Guercio ("one-eyed"). Although his circumstances for theft are not disclosed, he was reportedly killed in the village of Gaville, and this murder resulted in a massive, violent fight between the villagers and his family, which brought about the death of many people. He exchanges shapes with Buoso.

Evil Advisors

Description:

The eighth level was the home of the evil counselors. In this trench, the souls of deceivers who gave false or corrupted advice to others for personal benefit are punished. They are constantly ablaze, appearing as nothing so much as living, speaking tongues of flame.

Famous Damned Souls:

Seen in this ditch was the Greek hero, King Odysseus (Ulysses), suffering here for his deception with the Trojan Horse, and the massacre of the Trojans by this trickery. Odysseus tells Dante of his final voyage, during which he had spotted Mount Purgatory before his ship was overturned, drowning the former king of Ithaca. Along with Odysseus is his fellow Greek hero and fighting companion, Diomedes.

Also found here is Guido da Montefeltro, who advised Pope Boniface VIII to make a truce with the noble Colonna family, and then subsequently break it, resulting in the destruction of the clan. Boniface offered complete absolution to Guido for any sins his advice might incur, though Guido's presence here shows Dante clearly felt this did nothing to save him from damnation in Hell.

Sowers of Discord

Description:

The ninth level was the home of "sowers of discord". Sinners who in life promoted scandals, schism and discord are punished here, particularly those who caused discord within the Church or within politics. They are forced to walk around the circumference of the circle bearing horrible, disfiguring wounds inflicted on them by a great demon with a sword. Being already dead, these sinners could not die from their mutilations, which in fact healed as they continued walking around the circle. By the time they reached the demon again, they would be fully whole once more, only for the demon to hack them apart all over again and the cycle to eternally repeat.

The nature of the wound mirrored the sins of the particular soul. While some only had gashes or fingers and toes cut off, others are decapitated, cut in half (as Schismatics) or are completely disemboweled.

Famous Damned Souls:

Among those who are tormented here was Bertrand de Born, who carried around his severed head like a lantern, as punishment for the discord that he caused between Henry II of England and his son, Henry the Young King, who died rebelling against his father. The prophet Muhammad is also damned here; according to Brunetto Latini, Dante's mentor, Muhammad was a former cardinal before establishing the religion of Islam, which further split the Catholic Church. His son-in-law, Ali, is also present, going before Muhammad and weeping. He is damned for the division of Islam into the Sunni and Shi'ite denominations.

Prophesied to come to this bolgia in the future is Fra Dolcino, a member of the Order of Apostolic Brothers, who renounced all worldly goods. However, his order was deemed heretical; he and his fellows were hunted down, and Dolcino was burned at the stake. Muhammad gives Dante the warning for Dolcino to give up his ways before this fate comes to pass.

Falsifiers

Description:

The tenth and final area of the circle was the home for the falsifiers who attempted to alter things through lies, deceit or alchemy. Those who tried to pass off false things as real things, such as counterfeiters of coins, are punished here. This ditch had four subdivisions where specific classes of falsifiers (alchemists, impostors, counterfeiters and liars) endured different degrees of punishment in the form of horrible, consumptive diseases, such as rashes, dropsy, leprosy and consumption.

Famous Damned Souls:

Here, Dante encountered the shade of Myrrha, a princess afflicted with madness for disguising herself in order to seduce her own father. Others found here include Zuleikha, the wife of Pontifar, who had lusted after Joseph, son of the Biblical patriarch Jacob. When he refused her advances, Zuleikha used his robe to falsely accuse him of rape. Also found here is Sinon, a mythological figure from Virgil's Aeneid. Sinon was stated to be a Greek spy who helped trick the Trojans into taking the Trojan Horse into their city. Due to his advice not only being evil but a complete falsification of the truth, Sinon is damned to this ditch rather than the one for Evil Counselors.

Me: Geez! That is so terrible!

Nico: No kidding.

Qin: It's just terrible at how many kinds of liars there are.

Saint Lucia: Indeed.

We saw more demons arrive.

Me: These guys just won't quit.

Nico: No kidding.

Me: (Echoing) WEB OF DECEPTION! 投蜘網

I swung my sword and fired blades of energy that entangled the demons all over in spiderwebs.

Jackie: I got these guys. EXPLOSION STYLE NINJA ART: TO HELL AND BACK!

Jackie floated into the air and she had an energy aura around her as she sang To Hell and Back by Sabaton.

A short man from Texas

A man of the wild

Thrown into combat

Where bodies lie piled

Hides his emotions

His blood's running cold

Just like his victories

His story unfolds

Bright

A white light

If there'd be

Any glory in war

Let it rest

On men like him

Who went to hell and came back

Crosses grow on Anzio

Where no soldiers sleep

And where hell is six feet deep

That death does wait

There's no debate

So charge and attack

Going to hell and back

A man of the 15th

A man of can do

Friends fall around him

And yet he came through

Let them fall face down

If they must die

Making it easier

To say goodbye

Bright

A white light

If there'd be

Any glory in war

Let it rest

On men like him

Who went to hell and came back

Crosses grow on Anzio

Where no soldiers sleep

And where hell is six feet deep

That death does wait

There's no debate

So charge and attack

Going to hell and back

Oh gather round me

And listen while I speak

Of a war

Where hell is six feet deep

And all along the shore

Where cannons still roar

They're haunting my dreams

They're still there when I sleep

Crosses grow on Anzio

Where no soldiers sleep

And where hell is six feet deep

That death does wait

There's no debate

So charge and attack

Going to hell and back

She fired massive energy blasts at the demons and they slammed into the demons and exploded with incredible power all over them.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!
KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOMMMMMM!
KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM!
KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMMM!

Me: Whoa! That was awesome!

Jessie K.: I know that song. It's about the career of Audie Murphy.

Me: He was a great actor and he was also the most decorated veteran of the United States Military. Dad told me a lot about his movies and everything he did.

Nico: Wow! That is amazing.

Hunter: Ja it sure is.

Whitney: So awesome!

Me: Yeah.

We saw Nemo and she was heading into the 9th Planet.

Me: Lets go!

We put on our fur coats and we went to the 9th Planet.

TREACHERY - 9TH PLANET OF HELL

We were in the bitter cold and darkness of the 9th Planet of Hell - Treachery. It was a dark and extremely cold planet that was the home of the traitors.

Me: Whoa! The 9th Planet of Hell, Treachery.

Saint Lucia: That's right. This is the farthest place in all of creation from the divine light of God.

Nico: Whoa. It's cold and really terrifying.

Axel Adell: No kidding.

Vince: Really scary.

Girl Jordan: It's so terrifying here.

Me: Lets go.

We pressed on and we saw Treachery as 4 places.

There are four concentric zones (or "rounds") in the 9th Circle of Hell. Each are named after a notable traitor in history or mythology.

Round 1: Caina. Named after the Biblical Cain, who killed his younger brother Abel in a jealous rage, then attempted to conceal his crime from God. Here are imprisoned those who betrayed their families. Those that are condemned here are frozen up to their necks in ice. Mordred is among the damned here.

Round 2: Antenora. Named after the Trojan general Antenor. When captured by the Greek army, although the Trojans were very willing to ransom him, Antenor betrayed Troy to the Greeks. Here are imprisoned those who betrayed their countries. The ice here reaches the base of the traitors' skulls. Dante encounters Count Ugolino here, gnawing on the skull of the man who had condemned him to die of starvation.

Round 3: Ptolemaea. Named after Ptolemy, son of Abubus. Despite being married to a daughter of the Biblical Simon Maccabaeus, Ptolemy invited his father-in-law and two of his brothers-in-law to a banquet, and then murdered them. Here are imprisoned those who betrayed their guests, people who came to their home for shelter. In many cultures, such an action was considered an abomination and subject to divine retribution. Those that are condemned here lie supine in the ice, which covers everything except for their faces.

Round 4: Judecca. Named after Judas Iscariot, who betrayed Jesus Christ, and as such is considered the greatest traitor of all. According to the Gospel of St. Matthew, once Judas realized what he had done, he hung himself (the Acts of the Apostles states that he died when his abdomen burst open while plowing a field). Here are imprisoned those who betrayed lords, masters and benefactors. All of the sinners punished within are completely encased in ice, distorted in all conceivable positions. Due to having no one to talk to here, Dante and Virgil moved on to the center of the ninth Circle of Hell.

At the center of the ninth Circle of Hell, Satan is depicted as a giant, terrifying beast with six wings and three faces (one red, one black, and one a pale yellow), an inversion of the Holy Trinity. Satan is frozen waist-deep in ice. His right and left heads gnaw on Cassius and Brutus (the Roman senators who betrayed and murdered Julius Caesar), feet first in those mouths. In the central, most vicious mouth is Judas Iscariot. Judas is being administered the most horrifying torture of the three traitors: his head gnawed by Satan's mouth and his back is forever being skinned by Satan's claws.

We arrived in the center of the 9th Circle and it was where the Devil lived and it was awful.

Me: Whoa. The center of Lake Cocytus. It's so terrifying.

Nico: Whoa.

We saw Nemo standing in the center of the lake and she was crying.

Me: Nemo?

Nemo: What do you want?

Me: We came to rescue you.

Nemo: I don't need rescuing. I was banished here for my crimes.

Saint Lucia: There was a miscarriage of justice Nemo. You were unjustly sent here.

Hunter then found the girl of his dreams.

Hunter: Nemo, you are not meant for Hell. You are meant for heaven and mein heart. You are loved by everyone.

Nemo: Really?

Hunter: Ja. You are a good angel and a beautiful one at that.

Nemo then had tears come down her eyes and she went over to Hunter and cried hard in his chest.

Hunter was comforting her.

Then massive hordes of demons came!

Me: Here they come! Lets get them!

We went at the demons and powered up to full power!

I fired energy blasts and blew many of them apart in massive fiery explosions of incredible power!

Me: Take this! (Echoing) BLACK LIGHTNING SLASH! 暗黒跳飛斬り

I fired a powerful barrage of black lightning energy bolts from my sword and blew many demons apart in an instant.

Rhinox: Rhinox, MAXIMIZE!

Rhinox transformed. He fired his machine guns at them all over.

Lincoln: Take this! DARKNESS COMES TO LIGHT STYLE NINJA ART: AUDIOMACHINE - NAMELESS HEROES

Lincoln fired a massive wave of darkness that turned into powerful blasts of light and they hit many demons all over and blasted them all over the place with incredible power!

Naruto: Wow! That was awesome!

Axel Adell: It sure was. Wow!

Me: Lets do some teamwork!

Ironhide: With pleasure! CYBER KEY POWER!

The Autobot Cyber Planet Key went into his back and enhanced his liquid blaster 100-fold.

Rhinox: Time for some action! CYBER KEY POWER!

The Animatron Cyber Planet Key went into his back and enhanced his weapons 100-fold.

Ironhide and Rhinox: LIQUID BULLET MEGABARRAGE!

They fired blasts of bullets and nitrogen and they hit many demons and destroyed them in an instant.

Bludgeon: Time for some action! CYBER KEY POWER!

The Earth Cyber Planet Key went into his back and enhanced his Electric Cannon 100-fold.

Venom: We won't let you win! SYMBIOTE CYBER KEY POWER!

The Symbiote Cyber Planet Key went into his right arm device and enhanced his Symbiote powers 100-fold.

Bludgeon and Venom: LIGHTNING SYMBIOTE DESTROYER!

Bludgeon fired blasts of lightning and Venom fired Symbiote Matter globs and the lightning merged with the blasts and electrocuted many demons all over and killed them.

Kitten: Lets get them Stewie!

Stewie: With pleasure! Bring it on you bitches! Time for me to finish what I started anyway!

Kitten and Stewie fired moths and blasts of energy and lasers.

Kitten and Stewie: MOTHSTORM LASER BARRAGE!

The blasts and moths all hit the demons and destroyed many of them.

Girl Jordan: Feel the water!

Zarya: And the power of the Wolf! Lets Howl! (HOWLS)

Girl Jordan fired a wave of water and Zarya fired an energy wolf.

Girl Jordan and Zarya: MAELSTROM WOLF DELUGE!

The water merged with the wolf and it turned into a wolf of pure water and slammed into the demons and destroyed many of them.

Me: Time for some serious fire power! RISE! LEGENDARY TITAN OF REBIRTH - PHOENIX!

A massive explosion of fire exploded out of the ground and turned into the powerful Phoenix - Legendary Titan of Rebirth!

Jean Grey: I AM PHOENIX!

She was enveloped in the Phoenix Force!

Me: Lets get them!

Me with Phoenix and Jean Grey with the Phoenix Force: FIRESTORM PHOENIX BLAST!

We both fired massive waves of fire and incinerated many demons in an instant and blew them apart and more.

Me: Time for some Final Smash power!

Girl Jordan: Right! SOLAR STORM MEGABOMB!

Girl Jordan formed a powerful ball of solar plasma and it looked like she was holding the sun in her hands. She threw it at the demons and blew them apart in a massive explosion of fire.

KRABBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Laney: Nice! Try this! NATURE WAVE BLASTSTORM!

Laney fired a massive barrage of energy waves and they hit many demons and exploded all over with incredible power!

Lily: Feel the water of purity! WATER DRAGON MAELSTROM STRIKE!

Lily fired a massive wave of water and it turned into a powerful dragon of water and it slammed into the demons and killed them.

Saint Lucia: You will never torment the universe again! LIGHT WING SUPER SCYTHESTRIKE!

Saint Lucia fired a massive blade of energy and it slashed all of the demons apart and killed them! We had won!

We went back to our ship.

Me: That was awesome!

Chris McLean: Team Interstellar Retribution wins again!

We cheered wildly.

Gwen (Total Drama): This was so awesome!

Me: It sure was.

Laney: And I got enough information for my project.

Nico: Glad we could help out Laney.

Axel Adell: It was awesome helping you all.

Me: It sure was Axel. You did a really great job. Welcome to the team.

Axel Adell: Thank you so much J.D.

Girl Jordan: (to Alejandro) Don't worry. You and Heather will have a lot of quality time in the brig!

Me: Oh and this is from me.

POW!

I punched Alejandro in the face and gave him a nasty black eye and we locked him in the brig.

Girl Jordan: (To the viewers) Never mess with the power of the good of Team Loud Phoenix Storm. Or you will pay for it.

Me: Yep.

We then went on to the next challenge world.

* * *

Part 7 done.

I made this chapter based on the planets of some of the books I wrote at home. The planets are based on the 9 Circles of Hell from Dante's Inferno. It was awesome! I also added Nemo from the Nightwish Song based on her. ArchangelOfJustice12 wanted me to add his OC he made Axel Adell to the series. It was awesome. NicoChan11 gave me the ideas for this. Thanks man. Next up for part 8 is a battle on the planet Zebes in Super Metroid. We're going to face the evil Mother Brain and destroy her and save the Baby Metroid. We're going to follow the path on Super Metroid from 1993.

See you all tomorrow.

TDG 8 - Challenges of Planet Zebes

The U.S.S. Valorous Phoenix was flying through space.

Me: Captain's Log, Stardate 2808.4: It's day 8 of Total Drama Galaxy and we're en route to the sight of our next challenge. Chris said that it's going to be the biggest challenge to test our skills at when we get there. We can't wait.

Poison Ivy: Mike, the final challenge is upon us. So, we might want to be planning you and Zoey's wedding now.

Me: Good idea.

We decided to work on Mike and Zoey's wedding. We agreed to put streamers of red and blue and have it be a tie-dye wedding and it was gonna be amazing. We'll have a great wedding cake and more.

Me: This is gonna be an awesome wedding.

Laney: It sure is.

Lisa Simpson then came up to me.

Lisa Simpson: J.D., I have something to show you.

Me: What is it Lisa?

She handed me a piece of old paper. I unrolled it and on it was a message.

Me: "The Secret Confessions of Jebediah Springfield.

Know ye who read this there is more to my life than history records. Firstly, I did not tame the legendary buffalo, it was already tame, I merely shot it. Secondly, I have not always been known as Jebediah Springfield. Until 1796, I was Hans Sprungfeld, murderous pirate. And the half wits of this town will never learn the truth, ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha. I write this confession so that my infamy will live on long after my body has succumbed to my infectious diphtheria."

We all gasped!

Me: Holy fucking god! Springfield's founder was a total fraud and a fake!

Lisa Simpson: That's right J.D.

Lisa Simpson told me everything about Hans Sprungfeld.

---

Hans Sprungfeld (generally known as Jebediah Springfield) is a character in the animated series The Simpsons. He is the founder of the city of Springfield, and although widely regarded as a hero by its citizens, he was actually a vicious pirate, as revealed in the episode "Lisa the Iconoclast".

He is voiced by Harry Shearer who also voices other characters in the series, such as Mr. Burns, God, Kang and Springfield Mafia member Legs.

History

When the kids are assigned to do essays on Jebediah Springfield for the city's 200th anniversary, Lisa goes to the historical society to learn more about him. While checking out his possessions, Lisa tries to play his fife, accidentally discovering Springfield's secret confession, which exposes his true colors. It reads as follows:

" Know ye who read this there is more to my life than history records. Firstly, I did not tame the legendary buffalo, it was already tame, I merely shot it. Secondly, I have not always been known as Jebediah Springfield. Until 1796, I was Hans Sprungfeld, murderous pirate. And the half wits of this town will never learn the truth, ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha. I write this confession so that my infamy will live on long after my body has succumbed to my infectious diphtheria. „

He also tried to kill George Washington but was defeated. Lisa comments these facts with her parents, but only Homer believes her while Marge refuses to accept this. Next she explains that Sprungfeld got his tongue bit off in a fight with a turk and replaced it with a silver one. Lisa and Homer go on a mission to tell the citizens the truth, but instead of believing, the Springfieldians get upset at them. Both Simpsons are then taken to the local authorities and manage to convince them to dig up Sprungfeld's grave to find out, but once there they don't come upon any silver tongue.

Lisa seems to give up, but thanks to a dream she goes back to the historical society and finds the tongue, which Hollis Hurlbut (historian and head of the foundation) confesses having hid after opening the coffin. She also shows him that Sprungfeld's confession was actually written in a strip from the portrait of Washington that is kept at the society, which got stuck in Hans' boot as he was leaving after their fight. Hurlbut finally agrees to reveal the truth, so he goes and interrupts the parade so Lisa can speak to everyone, but she realizes that the myth of Jebediah Springfield has value since it brings out the best in the townspeople, and that they would lose hope and morale if the truth is to be revealed to the public. As such, she limits herself to saying that he was a great man, to which the crowd applauds, and the parade continues.

We were shocked.

Me: So Springfield was founded by a ruthless pirate.

Nico: Now I'm really glad that Springfield was completely destroyed.

Lincoln: Me too Nico. That town really WAS doomed from the start.

Naruto: No kidding.

Laney: Yeah.

Lisa Simpson: That's right and he even was responsible for trying to kill George Washington. He was the most evilest man in the 1780's.

Me: And that makes him a traitor to our country.

Lisa Simpson: It does. He had his tongue bitten off by a Turk in a grog-house fight.

Me: Yikes!

Nico: That must've really hurt.

Axel Adell: (Swedish Accent) But without a tongue, you can't eat, talk, laugh or anything like that.

Me: Yeah and you would bleed to death.

Lisa Simpson: He had a prosthetic tongue made for him made out of silver.

Me: A pure silver tongue. Very interesting.

Nico: That is weird.

Hunter: (German Accent) Ja.

Me: I think I know someone who needs to know the truth. He may not believe me. But every child and everyone we recruited from Springfield will listen.

We went down to the brig to talk to Mayor Quimby.

Me: Hello Mayor Quimby.

Mayor Quimby: Are you here to bust me out?

Me: No. We came here to tell you something. It's about the truth of Springfield, Oregon's founder Jebediah Springfield.

Mayor Quimby: Not this again.

I held a gun to his head.

Me: You will listen or I will put a bullet in your fucking head and send you back to hell. Lisa Simpson told us some very interesting info about Jebediah. He was a total fraud.

Everyone gasped.

Me: That's right everyone. Jebediah Springfield was really a vicious pirate named Hans Sprungfeld. He was the most evil man of the 1780's and he tried to kill George Washington. He was a monster and he was also the reason why Springfield was called the Meanest

Town In America. You were following the lies and ways of a monster.

Lisa Simpson: That's right. Hans Sprungfeld was known for having a silver tongue and this is it.

Lisa pulled out the tongue made of pure silver and handed it to me.

Me: (Whistles) Pure silver. Nice. This is it.

Everyone gasped. Lisa and I had sheer proof of Jebediah Springfield's deception and fraud and that everyone in Springfield was lied too!

Edna Krabappel: We all were lied to!

Milhouse: Our home was a sham!

Nelson: How evil can someone be!?

Me: Pure evil Nelson and Mayor Diamond Joe Quimby here has been using all those lies to his advantage to ruin everyone. Mr. Burns, Skinner, Superintendent Chalmers, Fat Tony and the Springfield Mafia, Cletus and his family minus his kids, the Rich Texan, they were embezzling and ruining so many lives to keep all of Springfield's corruption a secret from the world. Principal Skinner and Superintendent Chalmers were making the children as dumb as doorknobs because of providing poor education and robbing them of their favorite classes and Jimbo, Dolph and Kearney were there to make sure that no one ever talks about it by beating the living shit out of anyone who does and Chief fatfuck Wiggum was ruining the town with unconstitutional laws and dumb rules. Also Reverend Lovejoy was not giving religion to the town. He was making things up and poisoning everyones minds with lies and the town was turning into a cult. A Cult that worships Satan. Mr. Burns kept most of Springfield's money all for himself and made everyones lives in Springfield a living nightmare. He didn't give a flying fuck about anyone but himself and it's one of the reasons we killed him. Mr. Smithers is now redeemed and now is helping us. Springfield was a town full of corrupted officials and mega douchebags.

Everyone from Springfield was shocked. The town that they lived in was nothing but a hellhole!

Bart: Ay Caramba!

Greta Wolfcastle: What a monster!

Jessica Lovejoy: Awful!

Lois Griffin: Oh my god!

Stewie: My god. No wonder Springfield was doomed from the start.

Joe Swanson: Oh my god! That town was a cesspool of evil.

Brian: A dunghole.

Mayor Quimby: That's all lies!

Me: Then how do you explain this Mayor Quimby? The tongue once used by Hans Sprungfeld. He has had this tongue for over 239 years. He has worn it ever since he tried to kill the Founder of Our Country.

Bart: Whoa!

Keith Parkinson: That's right! Springfield was a town that should've never been established to begin with. It was all a town that was doomed from the very beginning.

Olivia Parkinson: Yeah!

Raven Parkinson: That's right.

Me: Yep. Springfield deserved to be completely destroyed and I'm glad it was.

Gina Vendetti: Yeah!

Edna Krabappel: And we are forever grateful that Springfield was wiped out.

Everyone agreed.

Brian: I'm glad Springfield was completely destroyed. It really was a failure of a town.

Me: Yep.

Snake Jailbird: Dude, that is awful. I can't believe that I was stealing from a bunch of corrupted people!

Nico: We all are shocked Snake.

Snake Jailbird: Maybe I'll get comfort in breaking out of jail from Gotham Royal York.

Nico: We have just the perfect nemesis for you too.

Me: There you have it guys. The awful truth. But after we get back to Earth, I'm going to reveal everything about Springfield when I call a press conference in Washington D.C.

Nico: Everyone is not gonna like it.

Me: Yep.

We went back to the bridge.

Mayor Quimby, Mr. Burns and the Springfield Mafia, Comic Book Guy were soon gonna be made outcasts from humanity.

* * *

Back at the bridge, we were talking about more for the wedding.

Then Max, Feral Ezekiel, Anne Maria, Jacque and Josee came.

Me: Well, well if it isn't the rest of the sore losers.

Max: How dare you take Scarlett from me?!

Mako: Hey, Scarlett's not your property! She's free to make her own decisions!

Me: That's right you purple-hair freak.

Hook: (to Feral Ezekiel) I can't wait to have you thrown in the brig.

Feral Ezekiel roared in fury!

Anne Maria: Do you all mind? I'm trying to look at myself in the mirror here!

Ratchet: Yeah, enjoy looking at your beautiful self while you can.

May: Because I'll pound that pretty little face of yours into pulp.

Anne Maria: WHAT DID YOU SAY TO ME!?

May: You heard me! And I am far more prettier than you bitch!

Anne Maria: I will kill you bitch!

Nico: You stay away from her!

Maria: (to Josee) Hey, Josee. How's your stabbed shoulder?

Jacques: You're going to pay for doing that to her!

Maria: Not if I kill you first Jacques!

Me: Save your energy for the challenge.

Chris McLean then appeared.

Chris McLean: Hey guys! Gather round. It's the last challenge of the series! Your challenge is on the planet coming up.

Lisa Loud: We have arrived.

Me: On screen.

The view screen activated and it showed a storm planet that Samus Aran knows all too well. It was her home planet Zebes.

Zebes was a planet in orbit around the star FS-176 and habitat of the devious Zebesian Space Pirates and Mother Brain. Zebes was the locational setting of the original Metroid, its enhanced remake, Metroid: Zero Mission, and Super Metroid. According to Metroid Prime, Zebes had a mass of 4.8 trillion teratons and was in the FS-176 system. Samus Aran, the famed Bounty Hunter was raised on Zebes by the Chozo after her home on the Earth colony K-2L was destroyed by the Space Pirates.

Zebes had a vast network of underground caverns and labyrinths that led deep into the planet. A deep cavernous area in the planet known as Brinstar seemed to be the home of more than 60% of the planet's wildlife. Brinstar was home to a dense forest, yet the vegetation did not seem to have anything to photosynthesize. It can be said that the plants only needed water, or that the majority were carnivorous as indicated by the foliage in Kraid's Lair. It is also possible that Brinstar plants use chemosynthesis.

Another oddity lies in the existence of huge deposits of water just below the surface. Labeled Maridia, the water from this realm spiraled in all directions, eating away at the land and creating huge and sometimes dangerously vast mazes of water. The ground "liquified" in some areas and formed deadly quicksand traps leading deeper into the planet.

Crateria was the crust of Zebes. It was a bleak and rocky area that was constantly drenched by acid rain. This rain would affect bioforms not able to adapt to the harsh atmosphere (Samus Aran being an exception). There was also a Wrecked Ship that had landed in a pool on Crateria long ago, arriving with the first Chozo civilization on the planet.

While they lived on the planet, the Chozo had constructed a Planetary Protection Shield to defend themselves from attack. However, it was later disabled by the Space Pirates with a micro black hole.

Moons

Samus uses the phrase "Great Moons of Zebes!" in the early Captain N: The Game Master comics. It is shown in the Metroid Manga that Zebes had two moons, one very large in appearance from the surface and another that is smaller. Both moons also appear in Metroid Prime as holograms in the Observatory. The larger moon had a normal revolution, while the smaller moon had a retrograde orbit.

The fates of the moons after the planet's destruction are unknown. Assuming they were not also destroyed by the explosion of Zebes, it is likely that they continued to orbit their sun within the former planet's debris field.

Areas

Crateria - The surface area of Zebes that Samus' Gunship first landed on in Metroid: Zero Mission and later in Super Metroid. It is sometimes deluged by heavy acid rains. In Super Metroid, the ruins of the original Tourian are included as a part of this area.

Wrecked Ship - An ancient, flooded ship that crashed into Crateria long ago, now infested with ghosts. Segments of it are found in Chozodia in Zero Mission. The area is home to Phantoon, one of the Space Pirate leaders in Super Metroid.

Chozo Ruins - An area of desolate temple ruins built by the Chozo long ago, now containing some of their artifacts left behind. These ruins overlap Crateria and Chozodia, with segments included in both areas. Seen exclusively in Zero Mission.

Brinstar - Includes two main sections: a lush underground jungle and a network of caverns primarily composed of dry rock. Home to the Zero Mission and Super Metroid minibosses Charge Beam Beast and Spore Spawn, respectively.

Kraid's Lair - A moist subsection of Brinstar that teemed with flora and small animal life. It contains a unique zip line system in Zero Mission. As the name implies, this is the hideout of Kraid, a veteran Space Pirate leader and one of their main Enforcers.

Norfair - The fiery underground caves of Zebes. The Fire-Sea of Norfair boasts incredibly high temperatures, requiring Samus to obtain the Varia Suit before exploring portions of it. Home to the Super Metroid miniboss Crocomire and the Zero Mission miniboss Kiru Giru.

Ridley's Lair - An area of Zebes that is even deeper than Norfair. Ridley's Lair is completely artificial as it includes Chozo Ruins and possibly Space Pirate technology. This area serves as the base for Ridley, the most infamous of the Space Pirate leaders and one of the two main Enforcers. The Gold Torizo miniboss also resides in Ridley's Lair. In Super Metroid, Samus needs the Gravity Suit to explore the area safely.

Maridia - The flooded caves of Zebes, seen exclusively in Super Metroid. This area is composed of underground oceans teeming with aquatic bioforms and some Space Pirate structures and laboratories. It is in these sunken labs that Samus finds the results of failed attempts at cloning Metroids by Space Pirates. One of the Space Pirate leaders, Draygon, also lurks in this area in Super Metroid. Maridia also features Botwoon, a serpent-like miniboss.

Chozodia - A series of ancient Chozo ruins situated near Crateria, seen exclusively in Zero Mission. Though Space Pirates secured portions of these ruins due to their proximity to the Space Pirate Mother Ship, there are still parts of Chozodia that remained largely unexplored until Samus stumbles across them while fleeing from the pirates. The walls of the silent corridors are covered with Chozo hieroglyphs, and the newly installed Pirate Alarm Systems stand ready to detect any intruders. It is in this area of Zebes that Samus passes the Ruins Test, earning herself the "legendary" Power Suit as a result. Certain segments of the Wrecked Ship and Chozo Ruins are located here.

Space Pirate Mother Ship - The Space Pirates' mobile base during the events of Zero Mission. Presided over by Mecha Ridley in the absence of Ridley himself, this ship is equipped with state-of-the-art security systems and swarmed with Space Pirates, making it a dangerous place for Samus. It becomes all the more dangerous when Samus is forced to infiltrate the ship without the aid of her famous Power Suit. The ship is completely destroyed at the end of Zero Mission.

Tourian - The main Space Pirate headquarters on Zebes. Entirely mechanical, Tourian is the location of the Metroid labs and the place from which Mother Brain, the leader of the Space Pirates on Zebes, commands her forces. Samus has twice destroyed this area. The first Tourian was built unusually close to the surface; when it was destroyed, another Tourian was rebuilt much further into the depths of the planet. The original's ruins are integrated as a part of Crateria in Super Metroid.

History

Originally a Chozo colony, Zebes (or the Chozo research/tech scattered across it) had been desired by the Space Pirates for some time. The Space Pirates tried to invade it on the founding of the Galactic Federation, but were unsuccessful. It was after this that the Chozo inhabitants took the orphaned Samus Aran under their wing; also, breakthroughs in the design of the Metroids were made by Gray Voice and the organic computer Mother Brain at this time. After Samus became a Federation Police Force officer, the Space Pirates returned with the Space Pirate Flagship, Mother Brain betrayed the Chozo, and the Chozo colony was entirely evacuated and/or wiped out. For the next few years the Space Pirates secretly used Zebes as their primary base of action, and, under the guidance of Mother Brain, became a more effective and deadly force, conducting unthinkable experiments to weaponize the Chozo-made parasitic life-form: Metroid.

The Galactic Federation sent Samus back to Zebes to destroy the threat of Metroids and Mother Brain. Samus succeeded in neutralizing both the Metroids and Mother Brain, and she destroyed the Space Pirate Mother Ship, seemingly ending the Space Pirate presence on Zebes. For the next few years the planet's only inhabitants were the roughly 200 archaeologists and researchers sent there to study the many Chozo ruins on the planet's surface and in the subterranean tunnels. Eventually the Space Pirates returned to Zebes, regained their previous strength, and rebuilt Mother Brain.

Destruction

After Samus defeated Mother Brain for the second time on Zebes in Super Metroid, yet another self-destruct sequence was activated. However, unlike the first, which destroyed the first Tourian, the second engulfed the entire planet: As Samus escaped in her ship, the planet ignited with a blinding flash and a tremendous explosion.

Zebes, the former home of the Chozo and Samus herself, was lost forever.

The flourish that plays during the planet's destruction is titled "Planet Zebes Explodes" on the Super Metroid: Sound in Action CD.

Samus: Zebes. My old home.

Nico: Wow.

Chris McLean: But the first part of the challenge is gonna take place on a space colony. It's gonna take place on the Ceres Colony.

Me: I have a feeling I know how this is gonna turn out. Okay then.

Chris McLean: The entire challenge is going to be to take out the Mother Brain.

Me: Awesome.

Nico: This is gonna be awesome!

Janeen Aran: Yeah!

Me: Lets do it.

We went to an asteroid belt and we found the Ceres Space Colony.

---

Ceres Space Colony (スペースコロニー Supēsu Koronī), also known as Ceres Station, is the first area in Super Metroid, and the site of the Metroid Theft Incident. After taking the baby aboard her gunship, Samus Aran brings it to the Space Science Academy Lab on Ceres for research. Shortly after she leaves, Ceres' distress signal activates and she returns to the colony to find it dark and all of the colony members dead. She progresses through the colony and meets Ridley, holding the baby in his talons. Samus and Ridley battle, but the Pirate flees and activates a Self-Destruct System. Samus escapes and Ceres explodes shortly afterwards. She then follows Ridley to Zebes, which she tears apart in search of the Baby.

---

We went into the colony and we saw that it was deserted.

Me: It's quiet.

Varie: Yeah. Too quiet.

Laney: Where is everyone?

Lincoln: No idea. It's like they abandoned the place.

Lily: Yeah.

We went deep into the colony and in a research part of the colony we found a laboratory we saw the scientists dead and the containment tank was broken.

Me: These scientists have been butchered.

Sasuke: Yeah. These wounds are not like anything we've ever seen.

Me: Yeah. Lets see what the logs say about it.

We went onto the computers and we scrolled through the data and it was amazing what we found out about the Baby Metroid. It was an amazing amount of data and the findings on it were amazing.

---

The baby, also known as the last Metroid, Metroid Hatchling, Metroid larva, Hatchling, Baby Metroid, or infant Metroid, was the last surviving member of its species in their natural habitat of SR388. It is best remembered in its infant stage seen in Metroid II: Return of Samus/Metroid: Samus Returns and the beginning of Super Metroid, although it did not keep that form for long in the latter game.

During the SR-388 incident, Samus Aran is ordered by the Galactic Federation to exterminate the remaining Metroids on SR388, so they could no longer be used as weapons by the Space Pirates. She encounters several stages of the creatures on her mission, eventually defeating the Queen Metroid in Area 8. In the chamber behind the Queen, Samus comes across a single Metroid Egg, the last remaining of the species. It hatches as she approaches, and as she was the first thing that it saw, the Metroid imprints on Samus as its unwitting adoptive mother. Taken by surprise at its docile nature, Samus finds herself unable to destroy the hatchling. Disobeying her orders, she spares its life, taking it with her back to her Gunship. Along the way, the infant helps Samus by carving out otherwise indestructible crystals as it orbits around its adopted parent.

In the remake Samus Returns, Samus cautiously charges her Ice Beam as soon as the baby hatches, but to her surprise, the newborn Metroid does not attack her. The camera briefly shifts to Samus's point of view where she sees the baby through her Combat Visor. Seeing that the baby is docile and now an orphan, not unlike Samus herself, she deactivates the Ice Beam's charge and holds out her hand to the baby, which accepts Samus as its mother. Samus decides to spare the baby and take it with her despite it being against protocol. The baby has a slightly larger role in the remake, where it can travel with Samus throughout SR388 to eat the various crystals that she previously could not get through, to obtain expansions and go through other previously inaccessible routes, most importantly the one leading from Area 8 to the Surface. When Samus stands still, the baby makes its iconic screeching sounds.

As it is about to depart from SR388 with Samus, it ends up being threatened by Proteus Ridley, sporting cybernetics from earlier events. Having apparently come to the planet to stop Samus from exterminating the entire Metroid population, Ridley arrives too late to prevent the destruction of the Queen and the rest of the Metroid population, though by sparing the last Metroid, it becomes a prime target for Proteus Ridley who aims to claim the infant for the Space Pirates and their restored leader Mother Brain in order to clone it and continue their use of Metroids as bioweapons. Ridley attempts to abduct the baby before Samus attacks him. The Pirate then manages to grab the baby with his mechanical claw, prompting Samus to fight him. After suffering enough damage, Ridley decides to flee with the baby instead of fighting Samus further, but Samus blasts into him with her thrusters and attacks his vulnerable chest, which causes him to release the baby. The baby flies off and floats near the Gunship in the second phase of the battle. Eventually, after Ridley pins Samus down, the baby defends its adoptive mother by proceeding to sap energy from Ridley to distract him and get him off of her, which allows Samus to avoid getting killed. Additionally, the baby also gifts the energy it saps from Ridley to Samus, bolstering her stamina enough to keep fighting. The baby continues to aid Samus in this manner for the rest of the fight allowing the pair to defeat Ridley and leaves SR388 on Samus' Gunship.

Unfortunately, Ridley survives the encounter, discards his cybernetic arm and escapes SR388 before it is overrun by the resurgent X Parasites.

Super Metroid

Samus drops the larva off at Ceres Space Colony, where it is to be examined by Federation scientists. They discover that the Metroid's powers could be harnessed for the good of mankind: as Samus discovered in the battle with Proteus Ridley, a Metroid can not only siphon energy, but transfer it into other organisms. Shortly after she departs, the colony falls victim to a Space Pirate raid, led by Ridley. Samus receives its distress signal, and arrives in time to see Ridley depart, holding the baby in its capsule. Though she tries to kill him, she fails and Ridley flees the station after programming it to explode. Both Samus and Ridley escape in time to avoid the destruction of the station.

Samus pursues her enemy to the rebuilt base on Zebes, where she destroys everything in her path in search of the hatchling. Some time after, she finds Ridley and kills him, however, the capsule that had encased the infant is found broken, with the baby nowhere to be found. During her struggles on Zebes, the Pirates in Tourian use beta-radiation to make it multiply, much like their original operations in Metroid. They also use an unknown technology that creates unsuccessful clones from it, known as Mochtroids, which are placed in Maridia.

In Tourian, Samus finds dried husks of a Torizo and some Zoomers, Rippers, and Skrees in two of the later rooms. She then watches as a Blue Sidehopper meets the same fate at the hands of a Big Metroid. It then turns on Samus, siphoning her health to within an inch of her life before finally recognizing its victim as its "mother" when her suit's low-energy alarm sounded. After a few shrieks reminiscent of its squeaks while it was still an infant, the baby flees the room in shame, leaving Samus behind, who realizes that it was the baby. Samus continues on through the base for the final battle with Mother Brain. After apparently being defeated, Mother Brain transforms into an enormous cyborg monster, weakening Samus with the Laser Brain Attack until she can no longer stand. As the biomechanical menace prepares the final blast, the baby darts in and latches onto Samus's attacker, siphoning her energy to the point where Mother Brain is a brittle husk. Leaving her behind, the enormous Metroid heals Samus, transferring the energy it stole from Mother Brain into her.

However, Mother Brain was still alive. Somehow recovering quickly, she rises in a vengeful fury, firing upon the baby as it gives its life-energy to save Samus. After fully healing Samus, the baby turns its attention back to Mother Brain; however, it had been badly injured by the pounding it had taken earlier, noticeable in the decrease in the vibrancy of its colouring. The baby rushes at Mother Brain to attack once again, only for Mother Brain to shoot it down, finishing it off. As Samus stands to re-enter the battle, she witnesses the baby, the last natural Metroid from SR388, let out one final shriek and explode into many particles over her, falling over her like snow. As she mourns the baby, she discovers it had left her with one final gift - Mother Brain's ultimate weapon, the Hyper Beam. Enraged, and holding nothing back, Samus unleashes the Hyper Beam on Mother Brain, laying waste to the Space Pirate operations once and for all and avenging her fallen "child". She then escapes from Planet Zebes after Mother Brain's final destruction triggers a planet-wide self-destruct sequence. Samus escapes, falling into depression over the baby's demise.

Its role in the Super Metroid comic was more or less the same, though Mother Brain was shown to have tried and failed to convince it that she was its true mother, not Samus. Also, instead of depicting the ingame death, Chief Hardy shot the baby, mistaking it for another Metroid clone, although an oblivious Samus still blames Mother Brain for the baby's death. Armstrong Houston theorizes in the final issue that that the reason for the Metroid's size was due to it being "exposed to massive levels of beta rays" by the Mother Brain.

Metroid: Other M

A 3-D version of the baby was featured in the Metroid: Other M intro. It is seen giving energy to Samus before it was destroyed by the Laser Beam Attack fired by Mother Brain, recreating its final moments in Super Metroid. Throughout the scene, it is shown carrying Samus in the air while restoring her energy as if it were carrying a corpse. It can be heard screaming as it dies. When it dies, it destabilizes into many particles over Samus, that rain over her like snow and somehow gift her with the Hyper Beam. How it does so is unknown, as Samus does not flash as she did in Super Metroid when she gets the Hyper Beam. It is possible that the Hyper Beam's energy was gifted to Samus when she caught one of the particles in her palm, or was given to her while the baby was restoring her energy. Her visor flashes bright green, turning opaque, before she lets loose the Hyper Beam on Mother Brain. During cutscenes at the beginning of the game, Samus remembers the baby and makes references to it, feeling guilt over how she did not protect it as it protected her.

During the training given in the beginning, Samus feels that the baby did not just give her the Hyper Beam after death, but perhaps enhanced her abilities.

The Baby's Cry distress signal that Samus picks up from the BOTTLE SHIP reminds her of the baby and causes her to believe that it was crying for her.

When the 07th Platoon and Samus reach the Exam Center, she reflects on Adam and his strong hatred toward bioweapons, and states that bringing the baby back was something that she knew would have gone against Adam's convictions, and "though [she] might have been left alone, it was a clear and blatant violation of protocol." This is the only time in the game where she refers to it as the "Infant Metroid".

Later in the game, MB reveals to Samus that fragments of the baby were taken off of Samus and used to create a Queen Metroid that she later fights and kills, and the Metroids hatched by it were genetically engineered into unfreezable Metroids and stored in Sector Zero, a recreation of Tourian. She enters the sector and sees another infant Metroid. This gives her a flashback of the baby's hatching, though she realizes she must kill this Metroid due to her earlier thoughts about Adam. Just before she can, Adam shoots her to weaken her (and thus keep her from entering Sector Zero), but he then kills the Metroid before it can drain Samus' energy.

Near the end of the game, The Colonel asks Samus to restrict herself because of her "predilection for transporting illegal cargo, like infant Metroids", referring to Samus' beliefs that bringing the baby back would be considered a use of bioweapons. She can be seen looking at him with an angry expression, indicating either shame or anger towards him.

The game's commercial recreates the baby's birth and death, which Samus looks at as she is walking through moments of her past.

Metroid Fusion

Some time afterwards, Samus is asked to escort Biologic's research team on SR388. They planned to study the changes in the ecosystem since the Metroid extinction. During this expedition, Samus is attacked by an X Parasite that had been mimicking a Hornoad. The creature causes her to lose consciousness, and she crashes her Gunship into the nearby asteroid belt. The ship jettisoned the infected hunter in an Emergency Evacuation Pod moments before the crash and she was found by the team aboard Biologic Space Laboratories research station and brought there to be treated.

Her Varia Suit could not be removed normally while she was unconscious due to its integration with her nervous system, so parts of it had to be surgically removed. Her chances of survival were very low, until one scientist proposed creating the Metroid vaccine, from surviving DNA of the baby. The vaccine was a success, removing all traces of the X from her system. It also helped to create the Fusion Suit, which made Samus more Metroid-like, now weak to cold temperatures and attacks but able to absorb the previously deadly X Parasites to restore energy and ammunition. The Federation eventually came to realize that the Metroids were the main predators of the X and their eradication and Baby's removal from the planet had led to the X becoming the dominant life form on SR388, infecting various animals. Samus remarked that this was not the first time the baby had saved her life; the deceased baby now being within her forever.

The baby's DNA was also used again in another secret breeding program by the Galactic Federation, cloning new Metroids and producing the later stages of the natural life cycle up to the Omega Metroid level; this was achieved by reproducing said planet's environment in Sector 1 (SRX). Samus had this section of the ship detached, destroying the cloned Metroids and the SA-X that had followed Samus into the lab. Samus later killed the remaining Omega Metroid that bred outside of it before she rammed the entire complex into the Metroid and X Parasite homeworld. A new "ultimate warrior", Samus carries the last of the Metroid DNA from the baby, acting as a single fusion of the two greatest products of the Chozo civilization. However is unclear if the destruction of the Restricted Lab and Omega Metroid was truly the end of the Federation's Metroid breeding program or if others exist, thus more clones of Baby may exist.

Me: Whoa!

Nico: Wow! The Baby Metroid's biological makeup and scientific information has been put to really good use.

Me: It sure has. It has been proven to be very beneficial. This could be used in the way we cure disease. But what they are doing with the other uses is really playing with fire.

Lisa Loud: Indeed.

Zarya: But we have to be careful.

Me: Yep.

I downloaded the data to the ship for storage.

We then heard something coming from another room.

Me: Lets go.

We arrived in the core room of the colony and we saw the Baby Metroid.

Zarya: There's the Baby Metroid.

Lincoln: This is easy.

Me: Wait Lincoln. Too easy.

Glowing yellow eyes appeared and we saw that the Baby Metroid was in the claws of the ruthless Space Pirate leader and Samus Aran's ultimate arch nemesis, RIDLEY!

---

Ridley (リドリー Ridorī?) is a high-ranking Space Pirate, the archenemy of Samus Aran, and one of the most common recurring characters in the Metroid series, appearing in most of the games. Sadistic and bloodthirsty, Ridley delights in death and destruction, and was responsible for the massacre of the colony K-2L. Since then, he and Samus have clashed several times, with Samus usually emerging the victor. But Ridley's brutality is matched only by his resilience, and he regularly returns from apparent death to do battle with Samus once more. As such, the Space Pirate leader is fittingly referred to as the Cunning God of Death (狡猾の死神?) in his Zero Mission official art on the Japanese website.

Resembling a skeletal dragon with glowing eyes, the true name of Ridley's species is unknown. Despite his bestial appearance, Ridley is known to be highly intelligent and even shown to be capable of speech in the Magazine Z manga. He was also apparently capable of building a robot in his own likeness. Though Ridley often appears in different forms, it is clarified through scans found in the Metroid Prime series, as well as events portrayed in Metroid: Other M, that every one of his incarnations chronologically seen prior to Other M and Metroid Fusion are indeed the same individual (the exception being the Ridley Robot), despite his numerous defeats. Strangely, some of his prior battles ended with his body seemingly exploding, but in-game lore states he survived these violent defeats until Super Metroid. In most games he appears in, he has been the penultimate or ante-penultimate boss.

The manga also revealed that Ridley is extremely adept at survival. Ridley was apparently capable of healing his wounds by eating human flesh, as illustrated in the manga in a part where he claimed that he survived the destruction of his flagship by consuming the bodies and cells of the dead humans in K-2L.

Next to nothing is known of Ridley's pre-military background (if in fact he even had any), but it is safe to say that he made his way up the ranks until finally he was designated military leader of the Space Pirates (or took the role by force). He also appears to have been held in considerable favor among members of High Command.

Gray Voice said that he corrected Ridley's "genetic flaws" with Chozo technology, though the extent of this modification is unknown. Ridley is also outfitted with at least one cybernetic implant prior to becoming Meta Ridley, as he has a transmitter located at the base of his skull that allows his minions to communicate with him.[1]

Meeting Samus Aran

Ridley's introduction took place on the Star Colony K-2L, on which he conducted a massive raid with the main goal being to steal the planet's Afloraltite, but he also allowed his soldiers to destroy whatever they wanted.

During the raid, he met a three-year old girl holding her pet Rabbilis Pyonchi. This little girl was named Samus Aran, and she and Ridley would have a long history together. Amid all the destruction, little naive Samus went up to and asked to befriend Ridley.

Initially feeling pity towards her, Ridley promptly decided to kill her, despite thinking that she was "so cute". Before he could strike, however, Samus' mother pushed her out of the way at the cost of her own life. Ridley was largely unphased by this action, however, as he simply intended to torch everything due to no longer needing to hold back upon gaining access to the Afloraltite. Meanwhile, Samus's father destroyed the supplies the pirates were after, but was himself killed in the blast. Ridley noticed the ship bursting into flame and pondered why it was on fire before the wreckage started heading towards him, to his disbelief.

Ridley also appeared to be injured by the wreckage, but he survived, later claiming to have survived by consuming the flesh of the deceased humans and regrowing his own cells. Little did Ridley know that by orphaning the young Samus, he unknowingly created his own worst enemy (and the enemy of all the Space Pirates) - a mistake that would eventually cost him his life.

Reunion at Zebes

Years later, Ridley arrived at Zebes to establish a Central Command Center beneath the planet's surface. The Pirates would designate Mother Brain as the supreme leader after Ridley's forces annihilated most of the native Chozo civilization established on its surface. Ridley once again met Samus, who suffered from posttraumatic stress disorder upon the sight of him. Ridley traumatized her even further by making sadistic remarks about how he survived the destruction of K-2L by devouring the corpses of dead humans and implying that he may have eaten her mother, stating "At least pay your respects!" However, she escaped and recuperated with the help of her comrades and foiled the Pirates, who were creating genetically engineered troops. Ridley killed Gray Voice when the latter tried to shut down Mother Brain, the rogue Chozo computer (he pretended to join the Space Pirates until he could get close enough to Mother Brain to bring her down, having realized her treachery), first by mortally wounding Gray Voice via impaling him with his tail, then by using his plasma breath on him after the latter interfered with the Space Pirates' attempts to prevent Samus and the others from leaving Zebes.

Later in the manga, Ridley confronted Samus during her Zero Mission, although she was able to triumph over her PTSD and defeat Ridley, even growing bold enough to mock him.

Zero Mission

Up until this time, the Galactic Federation had disregarded Zebes as a low priority, class XIII Wanderer Planet. The Space Research Vessel Marina had begun returning from SR388 to Galactic Federation Headquarters with a newly discovered specimen, dubbed the Metroid. The Pirates swiftly attacked the vessel, destroying it and seizing the specimen, bringing it to Zebes. The Pirates discovered the Metroid's dangerous ability to drain life energy from organisms, its invulnerability to conventional weapons as well as being able to multiply within 24 hours by exposure to beta rays.

Ridley's personal flagship, the Space Pirate Mother Ship fought the fleet under the command of Adam Malkovich, but he later returned to Zebes after receiving a distress signal following the defeat of his comrade Kraid. He reached his lair just in time to come face to face with the brave challenger who would dare invade Zebes, and was surprised to find the challenger was Samus Aran, now a young woman, a Bounty Hunter employed by the Federation to destroy the Metroids and Mother Brain.

Samus was also surprised and enraged to find Ridley, but was able to fight and defeat her nemesis, allowing her to leave with the Unknown Item she had just obtained.

At the end of Samus' Zero Mission, after crash-landing near the Mother Ship, she encountered an incomplete cybernetic construct built by Ridley himself, Robot Ridley. Built in his image, it was designed to be used as a powerful weapon. She managed to destroy it, but in doing so she triggered a self-destruct sequence that was set to obliterate the ship in five minutes. Samus escaped via a hijacked Escape Ship.

Cybernetic Enhancements and Revival

Ridley, though wounded beyond fighting capability, was still alive, even after Samus had supposedly killed him. After the destruction of Tourian, several Pirate ships that were in Zebes' orbit had managed to escape to regroup their strength elsewhere; the crippled Ridley was brought onto one of them, the Frigate Orpheon.

The Space Pirates, by order of High Command, reconstructed his body and infused it with machinery, turning him into "Meta Ridley". His transformation would reach its final stages when the Orpheon arrived on planet Tallon IV's orbit. The crew intended for him to become a mainstay of the Tallon IV group's security force, with their guessing that it would be a job the draconian leader would "certainly relish." When the Parasite Queens broke out on the Frigate Orpheon, Ridley's mechanization wasn't quite fully complete. He re-encountered Samus while she was escaping the exploding frigate, then decided to escape himself. While she stood in shock witnessing her reborn nemesis, Meta Ridley broke free of his restraints and escaped the frigate, flying down to Tallon IV. Samus raced back to the Exterior Docking Hangar and tracked him to the planet below.

As she pursued Ridley, she lost tracking of him, and was required to search for him via ground-based recon. She saw him flying over the Phendrana Shorelines when she arrived at the Phendrana Drifts, and watched him fly away, presumably to the Glacier One facility or even the Phazon Mines to alert the Pirates occupying these bases that the Hunter was here. After Samus destroyed both laboratory operations, she had collected the twelve Chozo Artifacts needed to access the Impact Crater. While preparing to open the Artifact Temple, Meta Ridley flew in and destroyed the Chozo Totems, preventing Samus from accessing the crater. In retaliation, she battled him once again, ultimately doing enough damage to him that the Space Pirate enforcer's plasma wings shorted out and forced him to continue the battle on the ground. At the battle's conclusion, the temple's Chozo Statues, implied to be out of retribution to Meta Ridley destroying the Chozo Totems, blasted Meta Ridley and sent him hurtling into the Impact Crater, where an explosion was seen.

Phazon Crisis

Despite his fall, Meta Ridley somehow survived and returned to the Space Pirates yet again. Sometime before the events of Metroid Prime 3: Corruption, Dark Samus used the power of Phazon to make not only the Pirate ship Colossus's crew, but also all the inhabitants of Urtraghus (a Pirate homeworld) bow to her will, with Meta Ridley included. Now loyal to her, he played a role in the Norion invasion, where Samus fought him once again.

He was first seen by Samus from afar when he easily decimated a squad of Federation Marines. He later tried to attack Samus while she was crossing through a Morph Ball tunnel (where she was quite vulnerable), but she managed to use her Bombs to escape his grip. He then ambushed her in Generator C after she had begun activating it, with the intention of crushing Samus, but instead broke through the glass floor, sending both of them hurtling down the Generator Shaft. Samus had no time to react to his sudden appearance and was forced to battle him again. Ridley was not fully healed from his fight on Tallon IV and still quite weak, allowing Samus to easily defeat him. At the battle's conclusion, she delivered several shots directly into his throat, leaving him to fall the rest of the way down the Generator Shaft as she was rescued by Rundas.

Despite this long fall, Ridley still managed to survive the duel: however, he was so badly wounded this time that he needed pure Phazon to recover. Travelling to the Pirate Homeworld, he eventually became the Pirate Seed's guardian; the massive quantities of raw Phazon given to him directly by the Phazon Core healed his injuries and turned him into "Omega Ridley". Whether or not he willingly approached the Leviathan for healing or was forced (by Dark Samus, his fellow Space Pirates, or even the Leviathan itself) is unknown. Nevertheless, Samus encountered him in the Leviathan and defeated him. However, Ridley's disintegration (unlike other Leviathan guardians) was never actually seen. He may have potentially fled the seed before Samus could notice, due to the massive corruption she herself was receiving.

Metroid Purge

As suspected, Ridley had indeed fled the Leviathan, having survived his crushing defeat as Omega Ridley. He had presumably also managed to regenerate to the extent of shedding roughly half of his cybernetic implants, now taking the name of "Proteus Ridley". With Phazon now lost to them, the Space Pirates turned their attention to the Metroid species once again.

Ridley himself traveled to SR388, presumably to retrieve any Metroids, but by the time he arrived, Samus had already killed all but one of the Metroids on the planet. As Samus was attempting to leave the planet with the infant Metroid in tow, Ridley revealed himself and attempted to abduct the specimen. Although Samus immediately noticed him and attempted to intercept the hatchling, Ridley managed to grab the Metroid and proceeded to do battle with his hated nemesis. After taking some damage, he attempted to escape with his prize, but Samus gave chase, managing after a brief scuffle to grab onto his chest and fire repeatedly at point-blank range until Ridley was forced to let go of the Metroid. Samus promptly grabbed the hatchling, broke away from Ridley, and spun mid-air to fire a blast at his wing before he could close the distance, causing him to slam into the nearby cliffside and pinning him beneath the resulting rubble.

Just when the battle seemed won, however, Ridley broke free of the rocks and immediately redoubled his offensive. Samus held him off, but using his mechanical arm to block her blasts, he managed to buy himself enough of an opening that he was able to fling her against the wall and pin her down before she could recover. As Ridley prepared a direct blast to finish off Samus once and for all, he failed to take notice of the Baby, who latched onto his head and began draining him of energy. Ridley was able to break free of the creature, but at the cost of releasing his grip on Samus and giving the Baby the opportunity it needed to rejuvenate Samus with his energy. In this fashion, Samus and the last surviving Metroid proceeded to fight off Ridley together until he could finally take no more, and he collapsed.

However, shortly after Samus and the Baby's departure, a post-credits scene reveals that Ridley discarded some or all of his mechanical parts afterwards, implying that he had at last fully regenerated the organic components of his body. His discarded robotic claw was nearly eaten by a Hornoad before it was suddenly consumed by a mysterious shapeshifting entity.

Final Battle and Death

After escaping SR388 completely unnoticed and shedding all of his remaining cybernetics, the now fully organic Ridley presumably followed Samus to the Ceres Space Colony, where she had delivered the Baby to the station's scientific staff. Samus had already departed the station when Ridley arrived there, and mercilessly killed the scientists.

Fortunately, a distress call sent out by the scientists was intercepted by Samus, who quickly returned to the station. Ridley remained hidden in the shadows until Samus came upon the baby's containment capsule, ambushing her just before she was able to take the capsule. Samus returned fire, eventually forcing Ridley to activate Ceres' self-destruction sequence and flee with the Metroid hatchling. Samus escaped and pursued Ridley.

He led her back to Zebes, where, as she discovered, some Pirates had stayed behind to rebuild the fortress and return to their old method of raising Metroids. Samus began a rampage through Zebes, killing the reborn Kraid and the newly recruited Phantoon and Draygon before she descended for Ridley's Lair. She dropped down into a chamber and Ridley appeared, preparing to fight her. With the loss of the armor plating from his previous form, he was now much more vulnerable to attack, and Samus was able to defeat him once more. Unfortunately, she found in the connecting chamber the baby's broken capsule, with the baby itself nowhere to be found.

Samus then figured that the Metroid must be in Tourian, and because she defeated all four Pirate leaders, she now had access to the rebuilt Tourian. She proved correct, encountering the baby, now a Big Metroid, and killed Mother Brain for the final time, but not before she witnessed the baby's brutal murder. Samus escaped the self-destruction protocol, destined to obliterate all of Zebes, and it exploded, eradicating from the galaxy Mother Brain, the Space Pirates, the Metroids, and Ridley. This event marks the first true death of Samus' nemesis; currently, all of his future chronological appearances are either clones or imitations of the original individual.

It is unknown how or why Ridley went from his Omega form from Metroid Prime 3 to his purely organic body seen in Super Metroid. It is known, however, that Phazon contains healing properties and also worth noting is that Samus was fully cleansed of all traces of Phazon in her body following the destruction of both Dark Samus and Phaaze; these two factors may have significance on Ridley's curious return. However as shown in Samus Returns, Ridley had apparently slowly begun regenerating his organic body discarding some of his the mechanical parts of his Meta and Omega Ridley forms. By the time he faced Samus on SR388, Proteus Ridley retained only some of his cybernetics. Following his battle with Samus and the Baby, Ridley managed to completely restore his organic body, completely discarding his cybernetic components. This explains why he appears completely organic by the time he confronts Samus on the Ceres Space Colony which occurs shortly after their fight on SR388.

In the Super Metroid comic, Ridley stole the baby and programmed the Main Computer to self-destruct, as in the game. Later, when Mother Brain failed to convince the baby that she was its mother, Ridley captured Chief Hardy and Chairman Keaton, then planned to use them as bait on Samus so she could be destroyed in front of the baby. However, when Samus triumphed Tourian, Ridley decided to leave as "tactical retreat". Keaton then insulted him by calling him a coward for fleeing.

Rebirth

At the beginning of Metroid: Other M, Samus recounted the events of Super Metroid, stating that Zebes' destruction took Mother Brain, the Space Pirates, the baby, and Ridley. However, this is later proved to be only a half-truth.

Unbeknownst to Samus, she had come back with remnants of the Metroids and Ridley stuck to her Power Suit. These were extracted from her and brought to a supposedly derelict facility called the BOTTLE SHIP. Here, a group, dubbed "the ringleaders", used the particles to clone Metroids after abandoning a special-forces unit project using captured bioforms. Ridley was unintentionally cloned by the Lab Workers of the ship.

Initially, he appeared as a small creature the researchers did not recognize. Seeing no potential for use as a bioweapon, the creature was instead raised as a pet nicknamed "Little Birdie." They were oblivious to the fact that this small animal was actually Ridley's juvenile form. At some point, "little birdie" pretended to be dead to lure an unfortunate Lab Worker into its cage; when the worker opened the cage, the creature killed him and escaped.

Samus, after following a distress call to the BOTTLE SHIP, found the remains of the scientist in the Breeding Room. As she examined the scientist, she stated that she felt a chill in the air, the presence of a "dark intelligence", since the carcass was violently ripped apart.

Shortly after this, Samus meets "little birdie" as the creature tries and fails to climb atop a piece of fruit. Samus did not see the creature as a threat, so she left it alone and continued on into the Biosphere. However, little birdie stalked her to the Exam Center unseen, and provoked many wildlife into battling her through its piercing screeches (sending nearby creatures in a panic), including Zeros. After destroying the King Kihunter and its hive, she saw little birdie eating the Kihunter colony's honey, and it roared at her. Samus found the creature to be a "disgusting beast" because it used her to destroy the Kihunter nest so it could feed on its nectar, and by how greedily it ate the nectar.

At the Exam Center, Samus saw the 07th Platoon being confronted by a Mystery Creature. The creature also noticed Samus, and roared at her. Rushing to their aid, she saw the troops firing above the door she came from, and turned around just in time to see the lizard jump from the wall above and pin her down. The creature, at this point, seemed uninterested in the troopers, and focused its attack efforts on Samus. While holding her down, the lizard called forth various bioforms to attack the troops. Samus fended off the creature's attacks, and before it was able to kill her, Anthony Higgs managed to fend off the beast with his Plasma Gun. The creature convulsed after being shot and fled, barely escaping another shot and crashing into a wall hidden by holographic scenery.

After investigating the scene and discovering the mutilated body of Lyle Smithsonian, Samus followed a trail of green blood to find the empty shell of "little birdie" with its back ripped open, implying the small creature was a juvenile form of the lizard. Adam ordered her to follow the creature to the Pyrosphere, but shortly afterward, told Samus to head to the Cryosphere instead to search for survivors. After finding one and losing her, Adam noticed that the wavelength frequencies of the lizard were growing more aggressive, and told Samus to go back to the Pyrosphere yet again, with the order to activate her Plasma Beam if she encountered it. Samus eventually found the lizard-creature's husk bound to a wall, again with its back torn open from within.

Samus carried on until she reached the Geothermal Power Plant, after hearing from Adam that the creature appeared to be moving towards there. She was suddenly targeted by a red-laser sight, and believing it to be an attacker, pointed her Arm Cannon at the person. It turned out to be Anthony, who was already in the room to restore power while targeting an unseen monster in the room when Samus got in the way.

Rushing behind the wall with Anthony, both tried to hide from the creature, who was taking cover in the shadows and launching fire attacks at them. The creature destroyed the bridge to the exit, preventing Samus and Anthony from leaving. Samus told Anthony she would deal with the monster, and used a Super Missile to complete his mission and destroy the magma-eruption port, raising the lava level and flooding the chamber with light. Samus then turned to see a dark, winged figure rising over the platform. Samus was incredibly shocked to find that the monster she had been tracking was her nemesis, somehow reborn even after his death on Zebes: Ridley.

Samus reacted to Ridley's appearance with a mental lapse for the first time since before becoming a bounty hunter. She was too overcome with shock and horror to concentrate properly, allowing Ridley to grab her, her Power Suit deteriorating from lack of concentration. This forced Anthony to use his Plasma Gun to save her again. He then goaded the beast into attacking him in hopes of giving Samus time to recover, though Ridley knocked him off the platform, apparently into the lava, and then prevented Samus from rescuing him. Seeing what appeared to be the death of her close friend, Samus was able to compose herself, equip the Plasma Beam, and do battle with Ridley once again.

After Ridley's body was sufficiently ravaged by Samus in her rage, he fell to the platform, seemingly dead yet again. Samus, after looking over the edge to see if Anthony indeed survived, was suddenly attacked again by a revived Ridley. The two fought again until Ridley escaped by breathing fire to create a hole in the wall and rammed through it.

Later on, immediately before Adam detaches Sector Zero, he gives Samus several final orders, one of which is for her to destroy Ridley, because he is as "much of a threat as the Metroids".

A weakened, heavily wounded Ridley was later seen at the mercy of a large creature (which turned out to be a Queen Metroid). Though Ridley made a vain attempt to escape, he is quickly killed. Samus arrived shortly to find his body as a gray and lifeless husk, making her wonder what could have happened. After the post-credits, Ridley's corpse is no longer there. It is assumed that the Galactic Federation took the body of Ridley's clone and transferred it to the Biologic Space Laboratories research station, where it was frozen to be preserved and seen in Metroid Fusion.

It is currently impossible to determine whether or not Ridley's clone retained the memories of his original form's past life. It is interesting to note that the clone's adolescent form focused its attacks on Samus; this suggests that either he remembered his past encounters with her, or this was a result based on instinct in which he simply perceived her as the greater threat. However, the second theory would not explain why the clone's adult form toyed solely with Samus in a sadistic manner during their reunion in the Pyrosphere and not with his other victim (Anthony).

X infection

The Ridley clone's corpse was collected from the BOTTLE SHIP and stored at the Biologic Space Laboratories research station, in a Sub-Zero Containment. Samus eventually stumbled inside the containment chamber during her mission on the BSL. She approached the frozen corpse and witnessed not only its eyes glow, but also an X Parasite leaving the body, resulting in its collapse. This X Parasite traveled to another location and, using the DNA it took from the clone, perfectly imitated the immobile, dried husk seen near the end of Other M. When Samus encounters the imitation, the parasite proceeded to heavily mutate it, resulting in a far more menacing creature called Neo Ridley. This duplicate had a much smaller wingspan and a more green tint to its skin, and it even possessed the frozen pose of the clone's corpse. Like always, Samus was able to best this Ridley, his body fading away completely into the X Parasite. Samus absorbs this parasite, obtaining the Screw Attack ability, Ridley presumed to have died for the final time.

Me: Ridley!

Samus: My old nemesis!

Janeen Aran: Our nemesis!

Gandrayda: Oh man!

Me: And he's got the Metroid Baby!

Laney: I'll face him!

Laney fired blasts of fire and Lincoln fired blasts of lightning at him and they burned and electrocuted him all over and he dropped the Metroid Baby and Lana grabbed it. Ridley then flew away. Then the alarm sounded!

Me: Uh oh!

Computer: SELF DESTRUCT SEQUENCE HAS BEEN ACTIVATED. EVACUATE COLONY IMMEDIATELY.

Me: Lets get out of here!

We got out of there fast and we got on board the ship and flew out of there as the Colony exploded.

KRABBBBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

We were following Ridley to the planet Zebes and we landed on the rain soaked mountains of the Crateria area.

---

Crateria (クレテリア Kureteria?) is the surface area of planet Zebes. Samus Aran lands her Gunship in this area in Metroid: Zero Mission and Super Metroid. It connects multiple areas, such as Maridia, the Wrecked Ship, Brinstar, Norfair, Chozodia and Tourian.

Crateria is mountainous and rocky and contained many caves for Samus Aran to explore. It has little vegetation, except for grass and other small plants. Starting after Tourian's destruction in Metroid: Zero Mission, the landing site is constantly drenched by Acid Rain; the Metroid manga suggests that Acid Rain has always been a part of Zebes. This rain cannot harm Samus due to the physical adaptations she had gone through while on Zebes. The surface temperature of Crateria is noted to be very cold, but Samus is protected by the insulation provided in the basic Power Suit.

Directly west of the landing site is a rocky cave. Further down is the site of the original Tourian from Metroid and Zero Mission; its remains can be found on the way to Brinstar's rocky zone in Super Metroid. The rocky cave also connects to tunnels with large mushrooms, leading to Brinstar's underground jungle area. There is also a room with Golden Statues that serves as the gateway to the new rebuilt Tourian.

In Zero Mission, Chozo Ruins can be found east of the landing site on the way to Chozodia, as well as items left behind for Samus by the Chozo including the Power Grip upgrade and Unknown Item 1. In the flooded cavern, there are large pools of water on the way to Maridia, housing the Wrecked Ship.

Several pools of scalding-hot lava can be found in upper Crateria, as well as lots of water; this intense lava is identical to that seen in Ridley's Hideout, presumably having reached the planet's surface through a volcano created by diverging or converging of tectonic plates. Crateria is the area with the most water on Zebes besides Maridia. This superheated lava rises and falls with Lava Tides.

Along with Brinstar, Crateria is the only place on Zebes where humans can survive naturally unaided by technology or biological augmentation, indicating that its environment is habitable and has a breathable atmosphere. In the manga, Mother Brain states that the young Samus would only be able to survive in Brinstar and Crateria. As a result, the Chozo decide to infuse Samus's body with Chozo DNA provided by Gray Voice, which allows her to survive in other areas of Zebes outside of Brinstar and Crateria.

We got out.

Me: Wow. So this is the planet Zebes.

Laney: It's sure gloomy and mountainous.

Lucy Loud: I could get used to a planet like this.

Nico: It sure is creepy as well.

William: Samus, since you know this planet, you take the lead.

Samus: Okay.

We followed Samus and we saw that Zebes was a strange world. It was a creepy world.

Me: Wow. This is a really creepy world.

Sora: And it's crawling with all kinds of alien creatures.

Kairi: Yeah.

We entered the caves of Crateria and we saw that it was a strange place. It was dark and foreboding.

Nico: It sure is gloomy.

Me: Yeah.

We explored and discovered all kinds of things.

Samus: Let me show you something.

Samus took us into a room and we saw a mysterious golden statue. It looked like it was 4 creatures stuck together and their eyes were glowing in 4 colors. They were the Golden Statues.

The Golden Statues appear in Super Metroid and are the successors to the Stone Statues encountered in Metroid and Metroid: Zero Mission. They have the same role of guarding the entrance to Tourian, the Space Pirate headquarters on Zebes. An ominous theme plays whenever Samus is inside the room holding the statues.

Each statue represents the four major bosses in the game before Mother Brain. These bosses include Kraid, Phantoon, Draygon, and Ridley. Ridley rests atop the head of Phantoon, while Kraid and Draygon are to Phantoon's sides. Each statue's eyes are made up of glowing orbs and are colored differently for each boss: green (Kraid), yellow (Phantoon), blue (Draygon) and red (Ridley). Because of the importance connected to them, the statues imply that Draygon and Phantoon are affiliated with the Space Pirates, as the other two are already known to be high-ranking members of the marauding organization.

Function

As Samus defeats the bosses depicted, their corresponding statues' eyes will glow intensely before shattering and will each one-by-one release a ghost-like entity out of their hollowed eyes and lose their golden glow, turn into a shade of gray, and seemingly "die". Strangely, all the eyes except Ridley's statue will flash brightly in their respective color; Ridley's will flash purple, despite the eye being initially red.

Once all four are defeated, the entire structure will sink to the bottom of the chamber, caving in the floor and revealing the underwater entrance to Tourian. Some points of the statue will also be covered in a moss-like substance once submerged in water.

Me: Wow. This statue is strange.

Samus: Yes. It's the statues of the 4 guardians we have to defeat before we go to Tourian to defeat Mother Brain.

Me: I see.

Nico: Looks like we have our work cut out for us.

Me: Yep.

Samus: I'll lead you all to the first guardian.

Me: Okay.

Samus lead us to the jungle area of the planet, Brinstar. It was a beautiful and immensely beautiful area full of life and plants and creatures.

Brinstar (ブリンスタ Burinsuta?) is an underground complex of caverns and jungles on Zebes. Home to many creatures, Brinstar is used as a Space Pirate base, and is relatively easy to navigate. The area appears in Metroid, Zero Mission, and Super Metroid. It is well-known as the area containing the Starting Point, the very first room of the entire Metroid game series.

The original Brinstar was the first area Samus Aran explored during her first mission on Zebes. Its many tunnels and caverns were chiefly comprised of blue, orange and occasionally green rock, with pools of acid here and there. It was relatively easy to navigate, but was teeming with life. In the original Metroid manual, the horizontal corridors are named Corridor No. 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5.

After Mother Brain's first defeat, this area fell into ruin, and it was almost completely desolate by the time Samus returned here years later. However, "Eye" security systems had since been set up here, and as Samus searched Old Brinstar they alerted the Space Pirates to her presence. By this point, all that remained of Old Brinstar were three of the blue-rock areas: The Starting Point where Samus acquired the Morph Ball (curiously, it is present there once more); the room leading down to the elevator to Kraid's Lair (the door to the elevator has been blocked off, though a new door leading to Missiles is on the opposite side); and a corridor containing a large block with a small crevice that the Morph Ball can fit through (the door previously present behind the block is gone as well; a Missile Tank is in its place). The Energy Tank hidden within one of the ceiling's rocks in the first Metroid is there once again. Aside from these three areas, nothing remained of the original Brinstar after Tourian's destruction, making it one of the smallest areas in Super Metroid. However, the Brinstar region also expanded into two additional, larger areas.

Upper Brinstar

Unlike the lifeless original Brinstar, the underground jungle of Upper Brinstar was teeming with life: Overgrown with vegetation, it was home to many species of flora and fauna. There were many flowers in the background that may be related to the Cyrlic Tree. This area is also the most maze-like. Spore Spawn inhabited this area, before it was defeated by Samus. Notable locations in this area are the "n00b bridge" and "Hell".

Lower Brinstar

The "Red Soil Swampy Area" is more straightforward. As its moniker suggests, the soil in this sub-area is red. The main shaft of this area faintly pulsates a violet color; the source of this light is unknown, but presumably mechanical in nature. There are also numerous pools of water here, as well as many Samus Eaters. This area also became the new site of Kraid's Lair, and the new residence of Kraid himself (while Kraid's Lair lacks any of the red soil, the music from the area still plays up until a corridor two rooms before Kraid).

* * *

Me: Whoa!

Laney: Wow! Look at all the plants and life.

Nico: It's breathtaking.

Lana: It sure is.

We went into the jungles of Brinstar and we saw all kinds of creatures and more. We saw all sorts of amazing plants and animals. We got to one room and we saw the SPORE SPAWN!

* * *

Spore Spawn (スポア・スポーン supoa supōn) is a miniboss in Super Metroid. Reached from the top of the large pink room in upper Brinstar, it guards the game's first set of Super Missiles.

Spore Spawn is a gigantic plant that was genetically engineered by the Space Pirates. When Samus enters the room, spores released by indestructible, flower-like bioforms located on the ceiling begin to fill the air and the creature's main body descends from the ceiling to swing back and forth in perpetual figure eights. Its shell is impenetrable to all of Samus' weapons: Spore Spawn can only be damaged when it stops to open its mouth to reveal its glowing core. This opportunity initially appears once every three cycles. When dealt some damage, Spore Spawn turns darker, moves twice as fast, and reveals its core once every six cycles.

It takes five Charge Beam shots to reach Spore Spawn's second stage, and an additional three to kill it. With Missiles, the respective numbers are six and four. Neither the Charge Beam nor a large supply of Missiles is needed, as Missiles can be refilled by shooting the falling spores. The spores themselves do little damage individually, and compared to later enemies, even contact with the Spore Spawn itself doesn't do much damage. However, at this point, Samus will usually have very few energy tanks, so even that small amount of damage can be trouble. Damage to Samus from direct contact can be avoided by staying in a corner in Morph Ball mode, though the floating spores can still be troublesome. However, when Samus stays in Morph Ball mode on top of the the left ledge and stays in the corner, Spore Spawn won't hit her, and the falling spores won't come in contact with her, because that part of the room is not in their flight pattern. This strategy, however, can backfire. Should Spore Spawn reveals his core around the corner Samus is in it will inflict massive damage and possibly prevent Samus from attacking it this cycle.

When the Spore Spawn is defeated, the ceiling will collapse, simultaneously killing the four flower-like bioforms on it. The entire room (along with the background) and the Spore Spawn will dry up, leaving behind a dried husk. The dead Spore Spawn head is one of the few objects in the game that will shake when Wall Jumped onto.

Me: Whoa! The Spore Spawn!

Samus: That's right.

Janeen: I got this.

Janeen fired a powerful blast of lightning and electrocuted it all over.

Ratchet: Lets do it! CYBER KEY POWER!

The Autobot Cyber Planet Key went into his back and enhanced his Arc-Welder 100-fold.

Mako: Time for some action! AVATAR CYBER KEY POWER!

The Avatar Cyber Planet Key went into his right arm device and enhanced his Firebending 100-fold.

Ratchet and Mako: FIRE SWORD SUPER BURNSLASH!

Mako formed a powerful sword of fire and Ratchet formed his Arc-Welder into a sword and they slashed the Spore Spawn and burned it. Reducing it to a dead dry husk.

Stella (Loud House): Awesome!

Hunter: (German Accent) Vunderbar.

Nemo: That was really well done.

Lincoln: It sure was.

Me: Yep.

We later encountered the two creatures that Samus knew. It was an ostrich-like creature called a Dachora and we ran into monkey-like creatures called Etecoons.

---

Dachora

The Dachora (Dachola in Super Metroid Nintendo Player's Guide) are a species of ostrich-like animals found on planet Zebes.

An adult Dachora appears in Super Metroid, in which it teaches Samus Aran how to perform a Shinespark, a technique used with the Speed Booster. The Dachora continuously runs back and forth through a long corridor, building up speed before crouching and jumping extremely high; by imitating its motions, Samus can execute the Shinespark. A nest with an egg can be seen in the background.

Later, in the escape sequence in the end of the game, the Dachora and Etecoons are trapped in the Torizo's room in Crateria, which is being flooded with scalding-hot lava. Samus can rescue the trapped animals before the planet explodes; if she does so, a tiny white spaceship will be visible leaving the planet along with Samus's Gunship during the ending sequence. Although their rescue is optional in Super Metroid, the action is considered canon due to the fact that the same Dachora and Etecoons make a reappearance in Metroid Fusion.

The appearance in Fusion shows that the egg from Super Metroid had hatched, with a small Dachora chick as the result. The Dachoras and Etecoons are seen as the sole survivors of the X Parasite infestation aboard the Biologic Space Laboratories research station. They are found on the Habitation Deck, confined in a sealed, tropical themed area with hanging tires for the Etecoons to play on. It is unknown why these creatures were on board, or why the X did not target them as potential hosts, though Adam suggests the creatures had no useful capabilities for the X. After Samus releases them, the Dachoras and Etecoons go to Samus' Gunship, and they later save Samus from the space station's explosion after the defeat of the Omega Metroid by piloting her gunship into the Docking Bays to rescue her.

Etecoons

Etecoons (Etekon in the Metroid Fusion debug data) are blue, monkey-like creatures that inhabited the planet Zebes, and one of the few non-violent species Samus encountered there.

In Super Metroid, these rather intelligent mammals taught Samus how to Wall Jump to reach greater heights. When Samus enters their room, they sing the Item Acquisition Fanfare, before teaching Samus the Wall Jump.

Later in the game, they are trapped along with the Dachora in the room where Samus fought the Torizo, which is now being flooded with scalding-hot lava. Samus is able to save them by shooting out the wall so they can escape, and they flee Zebes using a spacecraft.

The Etecoons and Dachoras appear again in Metroid Fusion, on board the Biologic Space Laboratories research station as the sole survivors of the X Parasite infestation. They are found on the Habitation Deck, confined in a sealed, tropical themed area with hanging tires for the Etecoons to play on. It is unknown why these creatures were on board, or why the X did not target them as potential hosts, though Adam suggests the creatures had no useful capabilities for the X. After Samus releases them, the Etecoons and Dachoras went to Samus's Gunship, and they later save Samus from the space station's explosion after the defeat of the Omega Metroid by piloting her gunship into the room to rescue her.

Me: Wow. So these are the Dachora and Etecoons.

Samus: That's right. They are my friends. I've encountered them on my adventures. they know me.

Lola: (Squeals) They are so adorable!

Maria: They sure are.

Laney: Wow!

Me: It's really amazing that they know you Samus.

Janeen: I thought so too.

We beamed them onto the ship and we went further into Brinstar and we found the entrance into the domain of the first guardian. We entered it and we felt the ground shake and out of the ground arose KRAID!

Kraid (クレイド Kureido?) is a corpulent, three-eyed green reptilian extraterrestrial from the Metroid series. He is one of the largest enemies Samus ever encounters in her missions, taking up multiple screens at a time. He is featured in Metroid, its remake Metroid: Zero Mission and Super Metroid.

Kraid is a Space Pirate, and though his rank within the marauding race has never been officially stated, he is likely a high-ranked member and may even be a leader, as he is a prominent boss in his canon appearances. Notably, he is part of the original game's boss duo, the other being his comrade Ridley.

Additionally, Kraid is described in the Metroid Prime manual alongside Ridley as the Space Pirate armies' "mainstays"; one could easily imagine this colossus as the muscle and backbone behind Pirate attacks and raids. As is the case with the Pirates stationed on Zebes, Kraid is not a native of the planet and his origins, along with his homeworld, remain unknown. Both of Samus Aran's missions on Zebes require Kraid to be killed, among others, as a means to infiltrate the Pirate HQ, Tourian.

A press kit profile for Super Metroid has Samus refer to Kraid as the "brutal ruler of Brinstar". In official Zero Mission art on the Japanese website, Kraid is titled the Awakened Behemoth (目覚めた巨獣生物).

Lana: Whoa!

Me: Kraid!

Samus: That's right.

Sophie Casterwill: (British accent) Me and Juleka will handle this.

Juleka: Lets do it! SWANNO! Spread my wings!

Juleka became Maestra.

Juleka fired a blast of white energy and Sophie fired a powerful Boltflare Blast.

Sophie Casterwill and Juleka as Maestra: SWAN LIGHTNING BURSTFIRE!

The blasts combined and turned into a swan and it slammed into Kraid and blew him apart in a massive explosion.

Me: Whoa! That was awesome!

Nico: It sure was.

Samus: Yeah. Well done guys.

We then headed back to Crateria and we went to the next area. We went into the Wrecked Ship.

---

The Wrecked Ship was a spacecraft that crashed long ago on planet Zebes, specifically in the area where Chozodia would be established. In Super Metroid, it is where one of the main bosses, Phantoon, resides. This area was also glimpsed briefly in Metroid: Zero Mission.

In Super Metroid, the vessel is found partially sunk in a large lake in Crateria. The ship can be accessed by Samus in a variety of ways, but all initial explorations inside reveal it to be haunted by ghost-like entities called Covern who, along with Phantoon, were initially believed to be the spirits of the deceased crew and the crashed vessel itself, respectively. When Samus Aran first enters the area, the Save Stations and Map Station are without power and most of the ship's interior is blocked off by Metal Doors. Sbugs can be seen throughout the unlit sections of the vessel along with non-functioning Work Robots and encased Atomics.

After the boss is defeated, all supernatural activity ceases as the energy that was being absorbed by Phantoon returns to the ship, activating mechanisms such as conveyors and allowing Samus to completely explore the area. However, this triggers the appearance of living creatures on board (presumably entering from the outside through the now-active Doors) and creates hazards in the form of short-circuiting machinery and Kzans. Additionally, the Atomics and Work Robots begin roaming the interior and are both aggressive. Finally, several rooms become flooded with water after the ship gets re-energized, likely a result from doors near Crateria's lakes being re-activated.

Me: Whoa. This place gives me the creeps.

Laney: What is this place.

Samus: It's a ship that crashed here long ago. It's said to be that of a Space Pirate ship that was destroyed ages ago.

Me: Wow.

Lily: It sure is scary.

Nico: No kidding.

Me: Lets see what's here.

Courtney: Okay.

We went into the ship and in a room we encountered the ghost boss PHANTOON!

---

Phantoon (ファントゥーン Fantūn) is a spectral entity that is mostly intangible and thus invulnerable to any form of attack, except for its single eye. It is this eye that, when open, serves as its connection to the mortal world and can be damaged. Ranging in size from four meters tall to ten times as large as Samus' ship, Phantoon resembles a giant cephalopod with a single eye inside a large mouthlike eyelid.

It feeds off raw energy without directly interfacing with wires or equipment and has only been seen drawn to sources of energy from abandoned ships, such as the Wrecked Ship and BOTTLE SHIP. The specter also taps into Mother Brain's "vicious brainwaves," meaning that Mother Brain may have some control over it, or that Phantoon simply feeds off of her energy. Nevertheless, based on its portrayal among the bosses in the Golden Statues, Phantoon appears to be allied with the Space Pirates in some capacity.

Background

Phantoon's origin has received alterations from several sources over the years. The English and Japanese manuals for Super Metroid both gave a different background of Phantoon, describing it as either being the ghost of the Wrecked Ship itself that taps into Mother Brain's thought-waves or as being the physical manifestation of Mother Brain's malevolent consciousness, respectively.

Another version of Phantoon's background is given in its concept art for Other M, which describes it as an entity who was hidden within a vessel used by the Chozo long ago - it apparently traveled with the ancient race through space for an unknown amount of time until they reached planet Zebes, where the vessel would eventually become the Wrecked Ship. The same concept art further describes Phantoon as a multidimensional creature whose entire body cannot exist in a single dimension, thus giving it its ghost-like characteristics. This signifies that the body that Samus sees as Phantoon in both games is but a portion of its overall structure, in which its full size, mass and appearance remain unknown.

Interesting to note is Super Metroid's manual describing the Wrecked Ship as having crashed on Zebes. Given Phantoon's malevolent nature and its tendency to absorb the energy of starships, it may very well have been responsible for the Chozo ship's arrival on the planet.

Me: Phantoon!

Lola: He is ugly!

Laney: Lets get him Lok!

Lok: Right!

Laney: WOOLL! WARM UP!

Laney turned into Celtic Sheep!

Lok fired an Augerfrost blast and Laney fired a Celtic Triquetra blast.

Lok and Laney as Celtic Sheep: CELTIC LIGHTNING BURST!

The blasts combined and they slammed into Phantoon and blew him apart into nothing.

Me: Nice work!

Samus: Well done.

Nico: Yeah!

We then proceeded to the next area and we arrived in the murky swampy area Maridia.

---

Maridia (マリーディア Marīdia) is an aquatic area of Zebes. It was once a part of Brinstar (namely, Corridor No. 3 and Corridor No. 4), but it appears that some incident submerged this area completely in water. It is teeming with marine life, and is a thriving underwater ecosystem. It is very difficult for Samus to fully explore this area without acquisition of the Gravity Suit upgrade. It only appears in Super Metroid and is home to Botwoon and Draygon.

Base Maridia

The base subsection of Maridia is connected directly to the most remote sections of Brinstar by a transparent glass tunnel, which can be shattered with a Power Bomb. There is a similar tube in Metroid: Zero Mission which requires the exact same method to destroy, required to get all items. This subsection is composed of the green-tinted stone characteristic of Brinstar, and various species of aquatic flora and fauna which also inhabit the surface of Crateria, near the entrance to the Wrecked Ship. The main atmospheric quality of this subsection is that the environment is very dark and very quiet. A small number of Space Pirates wearing special aquatic gear can be found here. Only a small amount of technology has been integrated into this environment, Space Pirate or otherwise, mainly consisting of a number of Powered Doors and a moderately high number of Grapple Points. This subsection connects directly to both of the other subsections of Maridia, and contains no major boss.

Sandy Maridia

This subsection of Maridia has been heavily integrated with Space Pirate technology and artificial structures. It is a noticeable departure from the quiet and placid Base Maridia, and contains several species of highly dangerous organisms, some of which are artificial. The entire subsection is riddled with pits of quicksand, possibly created by an erosive effect brought on by the addition of a great deal of unnatural installation. Evidently, by the extensive integration of technology, the Space Pirates use this area as a base, most likely with Draygon as commander of the sector. The majority of the landscape is characterized by sand pits, artificial stonework, and rusting metal structures. Environmental hazards presented in this subsection of Maridia make the area highly difficult to navigate safely. Along with Draygon, Botwoon is also a boss present in this area. The Space Jump and Spring Ball are acquired in this subsection.

Upper Maridia

The environmental features of Upper Maridia are characterized by a landscape composed mainly of a Sandstone-like material, which is completely overgrown with hanging green foliage. This subsection of Maridia is distinguished by the fact that a great deal of it is located over water. Local wildlife inhabiting this area is also highly similar to that of the surface of Crateria, which evidently links directly to this area, (through a passage only accessible by traveling through the Wrecked Ship). Two sub-areas of this section are divided between "Base Maridia" and "Sandy Maridia", but this is only distinguishable by change in music. The sub-area connected to Base Maridia has several hidden expansions and pickups, but does not contain any major bosses or upgrades. The sub-area connected to Sandy Maridia also contains several expansions and pickups, along with the Plasma Beam upgrade and a small number of Space Pirates, but also no major bosses. This subsection of Maridia is the smallest of the three areas.

Me: Whoa. Look at this place.

Samus: This is the aquatic section of the planet. It's called Maridia.

Janeen: It sure is creepy and swampy.

Nico: It sure is.

Lola: Yeah.

Laney: I would not like this part of the planet. It sure looks treacherous.

Lisa Loud: My thoughts exactly.

Lucy Loud: As long as there's darkness I wouldn't mind.

Brittney: It would be perfect though.

Me: Lets go.

Samus: Right.

Samus lead us around and we encountered the serpentine creature BOTWOON!

---

Botwoon (ボツーン Botsūn) is an aquatic serpent that resides in Maridia. It is fought as a Mini-Boss encountered in Super Metroid.

When Samus Aran encounters it, it will swim around the room, entering and exiting four holes in the wall. It will sometimes poke its head out of a hole and spit green spores in a buckshot-like spray; these spores can be destroyed for pickups. Apart from this, its only means of attack is colliding with Samus as it passes between holes.

To defeat Botwoon, Samus must fire Missiles, Super Missiles, or Charge Beam shots at its head; the rest of its body is invulnerable. As it incurs damage, its red color scheme will become more intense, and it will speed up, making it harder to hit and avoid. Once Botwoon has been defeated, it will stop slithering around, and chunks of its body will rapidly fall to the floor and explode. Botwoon's death opens up the right wall so that Samus can continue exploring Maridia.

---

Laney: Whoa!

Me: Botwoon!

Samus: Very dangerous creature.

Leni: We totes got this.

Emerald: Lets do it!

Emerald fired a blast of pink energy and Leni fired a blast of gravity lightning.

Emerald and Leni: UNICORN GRAVITY BURST!

The blasts combined and they turned into a deadly unicorn and they slammed into Botwoon and blew it apart.

Me: Nice job girls!

Ed: Way to go!

Luan: You sure brought the Law of Gravity to it. (Laughs) Get it?

Most of us laughed while everyone else sighed.

Me: (Laughs) That was a good one Luan!

Eddy: (Laughs) Good one!

Nico: (Laughs) That was a good one.

We continued on and we went into a chamber and we encountered DRAYGON!

The Draygon (ドレイゴン Doreigon) is a major boss from Super Metroid. It is a sort of waterborn crustacean, with a hard outer shell and soft underbelly. It seems to be a fully developed Evir and even has a few hatchlings, which are present in the chamber that it dwells in. It is found in its own chamber, one of the last accessible rooms of Maridia.

Its defeat allows access to the room which holds the Space Jump ability, and is one of the four bosses necessary to defeat in order to enter Tourian as it is depicted on the Golden Statues. This heavily implies that the Draygon and Phantoon are high-ranking Space Pirates in the same way Kraid and Ridley are, indicating that the former two are not mindless creatures, but intelligent beings despite their monstrous appearances.

Me: Draygon!

Laney: He's ugly!

Zarya: Me and Becky will handle him.

Becky: This is gonna be awesome!

Zarya fired a barrage of energy arrows and Becky fired a tornado of leaves.

Zarya and Becky: WOLF LEAF STORM CUT!

The blasts combined and cut Draygon all over the place and killed him.

Me: Yeah! Way to go girls!

Zarya: Thanks J.D.

Me: We have one more guardian to take down and that's Ridley.

Samus: And the only place he's located in is Norfair.

Me: Here we go.

We exited Maridia and we entered the Volcanic land of Norfair.

Norfair (ノルフェア Norufea) is an underground volcanic area on planet Zebes.

Also known as the fire zone, Norfair is comprised of lava-filled caverns and tunnels, and the large amount of molten rock throughout the region is collectively known as the fire-sea. Its extreme heat is so intense in many areas that Samus Aran is unable to access most of Norfair's key points without protection from the Varia Suit upgrade. Even then, the pools of magma scattered throughout this region can still harm her until she acquires the Gravity Suit. This region is home to many heat-thriving creatures naturally adapted to survive in these high temperatures.

Much of Norfair's natural environment consists of volcanic caverns. Some of these caves are comprised of glass bubbles and blue/ purple or green bubble-bricks among the natural green rock, giving the area an alien and organic aesthetic; some of these bubbles are even melting and dripping from the ceiling, similar to stalactites. The environment permeates even the rooms containing silver metallic architecture and Chozo artifacts, which are often filled with pools of lava beneath.

In Metroid and Zero Mission, the blue-bubble shaft on the far right side of Norfair scales the entire height of the area, connecting to all major points of interest.

Located directly beneath Brinstar, Norfair is the deepest area of the Space Pirate fortress on Zebes. Besides Tourian, the lower part of Norfair is probably the most dangerous place on Zebes, as it is home to the lair of the Space Pirate commander Ridley.

---

Me: Wow. So this is Norfair.

Lola: Man it's really hot down here.

Laney: It's like we've entered the interior of the planet.

Lana: No kidding.

Samus: That's right. It's the Fire Zone of Zebes. Stay close.

Me: Okay.

We walked around the fiery rooms of Norfair and it was a terrifying and amazing place as we saw all kinds of strange things. The heat from the area was incredible and it was making us stronger and more powerful. We then arrived in a strange room full of glass bubbles.

Me: Wow. This is amazing!

Laney: I've never seen a room full of glass bubbles.

Nico: This is really amazing. It's like we've stepped into a huge glass workshop in the planet.

Samus: That is really cool huh?

Lana: It sure is something.

Me: This is really something.

Lana and Lola decided to pick up some samples and take them with them.

We later arrived in another room and we encountered CROCOMIRE!

---

The Crocomire (クロコマイヤー Kurokomaiyā) is a miniboss in Super Metroid. It is found in Croc's pit in Norfair on the way to finding the Grapple Beam.

Unlike nearly all other enemies in Super Metroid, the Crocomire cannot be killed by conventional means. Samus Aran's weapons (such as Missiles, Super Missiles, and the Charge Beam) shot into the mouth only succeed in making the beast take several steps backward, depending on the power of the weapon. No matter what attack is used, the first hit against Crocomire will only push him back a very small distance.

Crocomire does not attack Samus until she attacks it first. When not being attacked, it sluggishly lumbers forward. Curiously, if a Power Bomb is used against it, the Crocomire will become enraged and charge forward much further compared to when it is not under attack.

Behind the Crocomire lies a thin bridge covering a pool of scalding-hot lava. Behind Samus lies a wall of spikes. Thus, the battle is sort of a shoving match between Samus and the Crocomire: the former's goal is to push the large creature onto the bridge while the latter attempts to push Samus onto the wall of Spikes with its body. The beast periodically shoots plasma balls from its mouth and will try to rake her with its claws; its projectiles can be destroyed for health and missiles. If Samus is repeatedly unsuccessful at preventing the creature from advancing, it will eventually and suddenly sprint to tackle Samus against the hazardous wall with its body, causing considerable damage. It will then take a few steps back before sprinting again.

When Samus manages to push the Crocomire onto the thin bridge, it will collapse under its weight, thus making the beast fall into the superheated lava. The creature will rise and sink in the substance erratically, roaring in pain as its flesh melts off its bones. Eventually, it sinks out of sight, giving a false sense that the battle is over - yet the room's doors remain locked and Samus can observe a trail of bubbles from the lava below traveling away to the other side of the chamber.

When she reaches the wall of spikes, the screen rumbles for a brief moment, and the Crocomire's skeleton rips through the wall. However, due to the fact that it is now only a pile of bones, it quickly falls apart in front of Samus. Its skull will remain on the floor for the rest of her mission on Zebes until the planet is destroyed.

Me: Crocomire!

Nico: Whoa! He's ugly!

Lola: And too hot to handle!

Whitney: Me and Piper got this!

Piper: Yeah!

Piper fired a huge blast of fire and Whitney fired a massive blast of flowers.

Piper and Whitney: PHOENIX FLOWER MEGABURST!

The blasts combined and turned into a Phoenix made of pure flowers and it slammed into Crocomire and sent him into the lava! He was being burned alive! What a horrible and painful death. He got to a wall on the other side and we saw him as a skeleton smashing through the wall and he fell to the ground and fell apart. All that was left of him was his skeleton.

Nico: Whoa!

Me: That was wicked.

Lucy Loud: It sure was. He'll make a perfect trophy for me and my collection.

Vince: Go for it.

Lucy sealed the skull of Crocomire into a scroll.

We then continued on and we were down in the ruins of Chozo Ancestors. We saw that it was a huge temple and it was immense and huge.

Me: Wow. So this is where Ridley likes to hide out.

Samus: Yep.

Lana: It sure looks old.

Laney: What are these bird statues.

Nico: I think these are the statues of the Chozo.

Samus: That's right. The Chozo are the people that raised me and taught me their skills and moves.

Me: Wow.

We arrived in the lair of Ridley and we saw glowing eyes and it was RIDLEY!

Me: Time for round 2!

Acid Man: We got this.

Reflector: Lets do it!

Acid Man fired globs of acid and Reflector fired his shutter gun.

Acid Man and Reflector: ACIDIC SHUTTER BURST!

The blasts hit Ridley and he exploded all over!

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMMM

Ridley exploded and he was destroyed.

Me: Yeah! That did it!

Samus: Way to go guys!

Me: Now we can go after Mother Brain.

We went back to the room of the Golden Statues and we saw the statues eyes fade and they turned grey which indicated that the creatures are dead. Then we saw the statue sink and go underwater and we went down to the machine part of the planet. We were in Tourian.

Tourian (ツーリアン Tsūrian) was the main headquarters and research facility of the Space Pirate fortress on planet Zebes, and was home to the Zebesian Command Center, which housed the heart of the Pirates' Zebes operations and boss in all three Zebes-based Metroid games: Mother Brain. Tourian was composed almost entirely of metal materials and hardware, with corridors formed through alloy pipework. Pools of lava filled certain rooms of the area.

Artificial lifeforms and constructs, such as Rinkas, Zebetites, along with Cannons, provided defense and security for both Mother Brain and presumably her Pirate forces. Hordes of Metroids were also present; it is here where they are researched, grown and multiplied through exposure to beta radiation.

The first Tourian was originally built by the Chozo, with modifications and additions being made to it by the Space Pirates after the former abandoned Zebes and/or were exterminated by the latter. Surprisingly, while this was indeed the main HQ of the Pirates, there were none of the marauding race to be seen in the original Metroid. This is later explained by Metroid: Zero Mission; when Samus first enters Tourian, a cutscene shows a Metroid outbreak has occurred, killing all Pirate personnel; in-game, many corpses of Zebesians can be seen throughout Tourian.

After the defeat of Mother Brain, a Time Bomb incinerates the facility and reduces it to ruins, causing an acid waste to leak afterwards, which can be witnessed in Zero Mission if Samus returns after obtaining the Fully Powered Suit. It is unknown what the substance is or how it appeared, but it is harmful even with the protection of the Gravity Suit. It is most likely some sort of waste from the now inactive power systems in the destroyed area. This same substance is present onboard Sector 1 (SRX) of the BSL station, in the Tourian-like area before fighting Neo-Ridley. The green liquid is nowhere to be seen in Super Metroid. However, the rebuilt Tourian has two magma-like substances that also ignore the Gravity Suit's protection.

Most of the facility is curiously in perfect condition: only the room just before the Zebesian Command Center, the chamber itself, and the escape shaft are damaged. This is odd considering that the explosion of the base was large enough to be witnessed from space. The Craterian rocky cave right outside of Tourian, despite emitting smoke during the countdown, hardly shows any sign of damage by the explosion. Even the elevator connecting Crateria and Tourian seems to be fully operational, despite being at the epicenter of the explosion.

Second Tourian

Early on during her second mission to Zebes in Super Metroid, Samus travelled through the ruins of the original Tourian from her Zero Mission, which became integrated into the Crateria region. However only the Zebesian Command Center and the escape shaft are present; all other rooms are missing, possibly due to Pirate reconstruction. The mission ultimately leads to a second, newly constructed Tourian found in a different location. Unlike the original, this headquarters was completely built by Space Pirates and Kihunters during the events of the Prime series. In the rebuilt base, Metroids are once again the main threat leading up the path to the resurrected Mother Brain, but whether they broke loose again or were intentionally released this time is unknown. Space Pirates populate the sections found behind Mother Brain's command post.

The reconstructed Tourian has several rooms filled with two different substances resembling lava/magma. The first substance, located in the rooms prior to Mother Brain, is concentrated and thick while the liquid found in the pirate leader's chamber is clear and fluid; the latter seems to be the same scalding-hot lava found in Ridley's Hideout. Both of these substances are functionally identical, and they are more harmful than the basic lava that used to fill the original Tourian, since they harm Samus even while wearing the Gravity Suit. The clear, fluid lava is seen flooding the Pirate HQ during the escape sequence.

While the first Tourian was devoid of any natural soil, plant-life or native animals, the second Tourian featured a nature zone (seemingly a simulation) where several wildlife of Zebes resided, along with the baby that Samus spared during her mission on SR388; however, more than half of these natives were devoured by the baby, leaving nothing but their dried husks. These rooms are also encrusted with a barnacle-like material, blocking Samus's path. Exposed scaffolding and circuit boards are prominent features in this location, indicating that construction is an ongoing process. With the defeat of the reborn Mother Brain, a self-destruct sequence is initiated again, only this time it is not solely for the main headquarters, but for the entirety of Zebes as well. Near the final moments of Super Metroid, Samus ascends the old Tourian's escape shaft once again. Ultimately, the rebuilt Tourian was eradicated, along with the entire planet by the end of the game.

Access

Tourian was the final area in both of Samus's missions to Zebes. Since it contained Mother Brain and served as the heart of the Pirate operations, it could never be accessed on a whim. The entrance to the two Tourians, located in Brinstar (in Metroid and Zero Mission) and Crateria (Super Metroid), were guarded by statuary connected to the life signs of the Space Pirate commanders Kraid and Ridley. In her second mission, Phantoon and Draygon were included with Kraid and Ridley in a set of Golden Statues that turned dull in color and sank into the ground after Samus killed each commander. In Metroid, Tourian could be accessed early through Sequence Breaking, by luring a Reo into the room from Corridor No. 2 and freezing it, then jumping off of it over the acid. In Super Metroid, a variation of the Door Jump can also allow her to enter Tourian without killing any Pirate commanders.

---

Me: Whoa. So this is Tourian.

Samus: This is it. It's the headquarters of Mother Brain.

Lincoln: Then we're going to destroy her.

Me: Yep.

We proceeded down and we arrived arrived in the room where Mother Brain is. We got passed her security and we saw MOTHER BRAIN!

---

Mother Brain (マザーブレイン Mazā Burein) (Referred to simply as Mother in the opening of Metroid: Other M) is a recurring antagonist and boss in the Metroid series. She is a cold and ill-tempered AI created by the Chozo, but turned against them when the Space Pirates invaded Zebes. After showing her intellectual might, Mother Brain became leader of the Pirates and greatly increased the efficiency of their attacks against the Galactic Federation over the years.

She was seen as the main antagonist in Metroid, Super Metroid, and Metroid: Zero Mission. She is also seen in a flashback during Metroid: Other M, and a copy of her consciousness was responsible for the events of that game as well.

Mother Brain's first body shares features of an exposed human brain but is red in color, gargantuan in size and with various mechanical components implanted onto her. These implants consist of metal barbs and conical spikes that protrude outward from the surface of the pulsing cerebrum, thick tubes or pipes situated near the cerebellum and on her underside is a mass of machinery with cables and wires, some of which connect directly into the structure below Mother Brain's body. It can be assumed that part of this wiring is connected to a form of life-support system, as it has been stated that the Pirate leader requires constant supply of Zebetites to remain alive.

Mother Brain's most distinguishing trait is the single large eye found below the cerebral hemispheres, though it is usually hidden beneath folds of flesh. Her eye's pupil can change to a round or vertical shape at will, similar to that of a Cat's. She is found within a sealed glass tank known as a Control Capsule that protects her from external attacks and other outside elements; this, coupled with the machinery underneath her, leaves her completely immobile.

This body is seen in Metroid: Zero Mission and is the one most often shown in recent media both within and outside the Metroid series.

Reconstructed body

Her body in Super Metroid remains mostly the same as her depiction in Zero Mission, with the first notable difference being the presence of an organic mouth beneath her single eye, complete with sharp teeth, tongue and spittle. Some changes are subtle: a slight reduction in body mass, the presence of an eyelid allowing her to blink and a new wrinkly, almost elderly orangeish-tan pigmentation. Furthermore, there are now wires that extend from the cerebrum to the topside of her capsule.

However, the most drastic addition is the giant body designed for mobile combat which connects to Mother Brain from underneath after a forced separation from her life-support system. It is broadly humanoid in shape, featuring a pair of arms and legs, as well as a sagging pot-belly and a skintight exoskeleton on her upper torso; when connected, Mother Brain's former body is found at the top of the new body's spiked neck where it behaves as the "head" and gains control of the metallic limbs. When standing in a bipedal posture, she becomes the second tallest creature on Zebes, surpassed only by Kraid. Overall, the combat form appears to be comprised of both machine and organic tissue, with vague similarities to a Torizo. When in use, Mother Brain begins to emit purple smoke from her jaws and/or from the circuitry underneath her.

Metroid: Other M features a flashback cutscene showing Mother Brain atop her mobile form. The combat body is slightly altered, with a slimmer, skeletal design and longer arms while Mother Brain herself appears smaller in comparison to it.

Mother Brain's very first appearance in the NES/Famicom Metroid game featured a "face" instead of the single eyeball that would be established in later games and its remake. Her visage had a pair of eyes, a nose-like protuberance and underneath were two tusks with a metal cable in-between that extended to the base below her, giving her a vague resemblance to an elephant. This version of Mother Brain became non-canon as early as Super Metroid in which the intro sequence featured a flashback of the final battle from the NES/Famicom game, with the tusks clearly absent.

Background and personality

Very little was known of Mother Brain, although it was believed that her origins were deeply connected with the Space Pirates: in-game texts, instruction manuals and players' guides described her as their leader, being the perpetrator of their malicious plans and controlling all operations on Zebes. In particular, she is stated to have come up with the idea of using the highly dangerous Metroids as bioweapons against galactic society. Her location in Tourian and the surrounding security emphasized her role of not only being the top ranking member of the marauding race but also as a vital piece of equipment due to her defeats triggering the destruction of the Pirate HQ.

Her personality was an even greater mystery, with only her immobile and mostly expressionless form giving, intentionally or not, the impression of a very cold disposition. Her behavior in Super Metroid indicated she was highly cunning; anticipating a repeat of her previous encounter with Samus, she lured her into a false sense of victory before emerging with the new mobile body, cornering and overwhelming her foe with massive firepower. Despite these calculated moves however, there was evidence of Mother Brain losing control during spontaneous bursts of emotions when, in a fit of rage, she foiled her own plans by destroying the last living Metroid after the creature saved Samus's life, as well as panic when Samus attacks her in retaliation by trying to use every attack in her disposal in an erratic manner.

In the Metroid manga

It was not until the release of the prequel manga that she would be revealed as a highly advanced, artificial intelligence created long ago by the benevolent Chozo, the same race that eventually raised the orphaned Samus Aran as their own. In fact, Samus spent most of her childhood under the watchful eye of Mother Brain when the latter was still an ally of her creators. Their relationship was filled with tension however: when the A.I met Samus, she used a flying monitor to observe her with such scrutiny that it frightened the young child and the former quickly disregarded her as a weak creature that would die from the harsh environment of Zebes. In Samus's adolescent years, Mother Brain occasionally provided assistance and advice during her physical training, albeit condescendingly and with arrogance. A particular event showed Mother Brain deliberately provoking Samus when the super-computer used Work Robots to incinerate several Iono Feria tamed by the orphan under the pretense that they were still dangerous. The A.I displayed concern as she watched Samus grow both in confidence and power, a sign that the former had an unknown agenda planned ahead.

Years after Samus left Zebes, Mother Brain betrayed the Chozo when the Space Pirates invaded the planet and helped them conquer it. Demonstrating her superiority complex, she spoke of her frustrations with her creators and claimed she had long surpassed them. She also calculated that taking control over the Pirates would allow her to bring order to the universe through violence and war, thus she designated herself as master and subsequently gave the role of Space Pirate commanders to Gray Voice, the only Chozo who shared her vision, and Ridley. Mother Brain tried to persuade Samus into becoming a commander through psychological manipulation, stating to have created her Power Suit and that the Chozo's true intention for raising the orphan was to turn her into a bioweapon. She went as far as claiming to be a "parent" to Samus.

was eventually attacked by Gray Voice when he revealed he was only cooperating to win her trust. During the battle, he called her a "defective" product and speculated that she developed fear, hatred and jealousy of other sentient life, in particular of Samus due to the orphan showing far more promise at successfully protecting the cosmos than the rogue A.I ever would. These statements left Mother Brain shaken to the point of affecting her otherwise calm demeanor; she had trouble making proper sentences and she desperately pleaded for Ridley's help when he arrived to rescue her. As Ridley gained the upper hand and mortally wounded Gray Voice however, Mother Brain was quick to sadistically mock her attacker and quipped that he was "just a bird who can't even fly". Samus escaped Mother Brain's clutches during these events and they would not confront each other again until the former's "Zero Mission" years later.

Mother Brain claims that she was following her directive per what the Chozo intended, it is heavily implied that she truly desired to have full control of the universe for its own sake. Furthermore, it comes to light that Mother Brain is in fact using the Space Pirates to further her own goals, referring to them and all other beings in existence as simple beasts. She intends on having her forces fight the Galactic Federation until both organizations become sufficiently crippled, at which point she will "cradle" the survivors to "sleep" and, after resetting the universe to zero, help them reach an intellectual level that she deems worthy of life. Thus, achieving her goal of bringing true order. She also plans on using an "evolved" form of the Metroid species to secure her dominion over all life.

Abilities

As a sapient, organic super-computer built by the advanced Chozo, Mother Brain is capable of performing an extremely wide range of complex operations and algorithms of unimaginable magnitude. Connected directly to Tourian, she oversees the planet's many technological functions and security systems, along with archiving vast amounts of information and historical data, making her an invaluable intellectual support to whomever she allies herself with. Due to her inability to move under normal circumstances, she resorts to using a small, floating spherical monitor in the manga to observe, accompany and converse with individuals outside of her physical body's location. This monitor is not her only means to observe the outside world however, and she likely can see through any type of surveillance tech connected to the vast system on Zebes. This amount of control, coupled with her self-awareness and high intelligence, is potentially what led to Mother Brain going rogue.

Several sources in past media imply that Mother Brain can influence/control her Pirate forces and wildlife with telepathy. This would explain why a large portion of the native flora and fauna on Zebes are highly aggressive toward Samus in the games, as the Pirate leader is directing them against her. Indeed, the manga has Samus directly accuse the A.I of this act. A cutscene in Zero Mission shows Mother Brain observing Samus in a moving elevator seemingly with no surveillance camera inside, potentially hinting at the former using her telepathy to see across vast distances.

The Metroid species are seemingly one of the few organisms that are immune to Mother Brain's telepathy. Events in Zero Mission and Super Metroid show the titular creatures attacking Space Pirates, including Mother Brain herself. The Metroid Prime series provide further proof with logbook entries stating that the Pirates have yet to develop any method of making their Metroid specimens obey orders. Curiously, Samus claims in Other M that the Pirate leader is the only thing that can control them; despite her statement, the same game shows all Metroids within the BOTTLE SHIP are still being kept in containment (with the exception of a single infant) despite a copy of Mother Brain being present onboard, which implies they are still an uncontrollable threat.

The first mention of Mother Brain's psionic abilities in media appeared in the non-canon Nintendo Comic System story: The Coming of a Hero, in which she is shown to display mental control over the Metroids. In the Super Metroid comic, the last Metroid rejected Mother Brain as it believed Samus was its mother, an act that shows her inability to control the deadly species.

Aside from her telepathy and the skills relating to her status as a super-computer, she can control weapon systems linked to her network (wired or wirelessly) such as the Cannons and the manga's Work Robots equipped with flamethrowers. Mother Brain gains additional weapons once she connects to her mobile body via the machinery on her underside: massive physical strength, blue ringed beams and bombs which are both expelled through her mouth, as well as an explosive barrage unleashed from her hands. Finally, the Pirate leader displays the ability to shoot a variety of beam projectiles out of her single eye, the most notable being the Brain blast and the devastating Laser Brain Attack, though only the former seems to be an innate weapon due to all others being exclusively used after the appearance of her mobile body.

Leadership

Mother Brain's role has been mostly vague in the Metroid series. There is debate as to whether she or Ridley is the supreme leader of the Space Pirates, with this question growing more confusing with the addition of High Command from the Metroid Prime games.

According to Super Metroid's manual, Metroid: Zero Mission's manual, and the official manga, Ridley is the general of the Space Pirates while Mother Brain is the biological computer which controls Zebes' defenses. However, Metroid's manual, Metroid Fusion's manual, Metroid: Zero Mission's game box, the Super Metroid Nintendo Power comic, and Super Metroid's in-game introduction refer to Mother Brain as the leader of the Space Pirates, with Metroid's manual saying that Ridley is controlled by Mother Brain. The manga later retcons this to rectify any confusion by stating that Mother Brain took over as one of the pirates' leaders, while keeping Ridley in his former position. Additionally, her referring to Ridley and the other Space Pirates as "simple beasts" might help explain the previous statement of Mother Brain controlling Ridley.

The Space Pirate Data in Metroid Prime refers to a High Command that commands the Space Pirates, which included ordering Ridley to be reconstructed. Whether or not Ridley is part of High Command is unclear; he may be the Pirate general, answering to High Command and/or Mother Brain. The group's presence has only been mentioned during the time of Mother Brain's inactivity and as such, High Command itself may or may not be subservient to her.

Media outside of the Metroid series often describe Ridley as the highest ranking member of the Space Pirates. Some of the latest Metroid games, such as Metroid: Other M (its instruction manual, official website and in-game) along with the prologue cutscene in Metroid: Samus Returns, state that Mother Brain is the true leader.

Me: Whoa!

Nico: That ugly brain is Mother Brain!?

Me: It's really ugly.

?: And that is just the beginning!

We saw a figure come out and it was TANGLEWEB from episode 5 of Ninja Steel!

Tangleweb was first seen about to "throw up" on Cosmo Royale, but he spits out a Kudabot tangled up in web, after being sent to earth, he goes to the high school to look for the Rangers, but to no avail, so he transform into a spider and goes inside the school, he gets encounterd by Monty and Victor Vincent, with Victor presiding to crush him on his foot, but even small Tangleweb was able to push back Victor's foot with ease, he grow in normal size, and Victor presseds to "fight" the monster by doing a laughable montage of Karate moves, but Tangleweb simply used his Webbing Breath to tie up both Victor and Monty, causing them to move aside to find the Rangers, in the park he find the Red, Blue, Pink and White Rangers, with a Buzzcam watching on, the four Rangers morph and were about to take on Tangleweb, but the spider monster then used his

Vortex Mode to suck up the Rangers, he successfully manage to suck up the Blue, Pink and White Rangers into his mouth, he comes down and the Red Ranger was left to take on this monster alone, he had the upper hand at first and manage to land clean hits on the monster, but Tangleweb transform into his Vortex Mode again and is far stronger for the Red Ranger to hold on, meanwhile the Yellow Ranger (who was out changeling his cloths after the Rideing accident) comes in to witness the Red Ranger getting sucked into Tangleweb's mouth, before the Yellow Ranger can help out Tangleweb escapes to take a little "Cat Nap", he latter returns and encounters the Yellow Ranger, the Yellow Ranger went head first before Tanglewep transform into his Vortex Mode, he successfully manage to suck him up too, but the Yellow Ranger manages to overcome his fear of diving by using his new Mega Morph Cycle to drive out of Tangleweb's stomach backpack, and also manages to cause the monster to burp out the Red, Blue, Pink and White Rangers as well, this cause Tangleweb to get angry, but the Pink Ranger used the Ninja Water Attack to cause a fog to appear around the spider monster, the Red Ranger tryed to use the Arrow Blast, but that missed and causes Tangleweb to relized the Rangers' position, but it was actually a trick for the Yellow Ranger to do a sneak attack on the monster's back, when he turns around, he gets hit in the back again by the Blue and White Rangers' Blade Slash, with Tangleweb weakened, the Rangers transform their weapons for Hyper Mode and combined the Pink and White Rangers' Hyper Arrow Blast, the Yellow and Blue Rangers' Hyper Blade Slash and the Red Ranger's Hyper Claw Shred to form the Final Attack and destroy Tangleweb, he was later Gigantify and the Rangers summon the Ninja Steel Zords to take on Tangleweb, they had the upper hand at first, but things were heating up when Tangleweb used his Supporting Legs to push back Robo Red Zord and used his Webbing Breath on all of the Rangers' Zords, however, Mick gave the Red Ranger a new Zord, the Green Rumble Tusk Zord, with the new Zord, the Red Ranger was able to break free and ride on the Ruble Tusk Zord, Tangleweb attempted to use his Webbing Breath on the Zord, but the Ruble Tusk Zord easily sucked it up into it's trunk using Sucktion Mode (much to Tanglewebs shock) and blows it back at the monster, and allowing the Red Ranger to also free the other Rangers and their zord, but Tangleweb wasn't finish yet, so the Red Ranger transformed the Ruble Tusk

Zord into it's Ninja Zord Mode, the Rumble Tusk Ninja Zord ModeZord had the upper hand thanks to it;s Ninja Cannon Blast and blasted Tangleweb's back legs, and then it combined with the Ninja Steel Megazord to form a new Megazord combination, the Rumble Tusk Ninja Steel Megazord, this Megazord makes a beat down on this Spider Monster and with the Rumble Tusk Ninja Steel Megazord Double Axe Final Attack, Tangleweb is destroyed for good.

Calvin Maxwell: Tangleweb!

Tangleweb: Long time no see rangers!

Me: I remember you! You were tangling everyone up in webbing.

Tangleweb: You watched us on TV huh?

Me: Never missed an episode.

Leni: (Freaks out!) SPIDER!

Leni went at Tangleweb and he fired webbing at her and tangled her up.

Leni: (tied up in Tangleweb's webbing) SPIDER!

Tangleweb: (webs her mouth shut) Oh, c'mon! I'm not that scary!

We also saw the Masters of Evil come out as well!

Me: I figured you all would be here Vypra.

Dark Spicer: (to Samus) Here's your warning: your ass is about to be kicked!

Samus: Not if I kick your fucking ass first.

Vypra: I figured that for this last challenge, we'd give you all an epic fight.

Me: Nice of you to help out.

Dark Spicer: I also have new aliens to show you.

Dark Spicer then turned into a new alien mutant. It was a Cerebrocrustacean mutant. It looked a lot like Ultimate Brainstorm. He was purple and he had a huge brain and a huge abnormally large right arm claw and he had spikes all over.

Geniusclaw: Allow me to introduce… Geniusclaw!

Shanan: A Mutant Cerebrocrustacean. Really impressive.

Stewie: And I thought Brainstorm's brain was big.

Geniusclaw: Tremble before my electrolocutive power, you inferior ignoramuses! (fires an energy bolt from his brain at Stewie)

Lincoln sent the blast back at him and it knocked him down.

Me: Nice one.

Dark Spicer: There's more.

Leni broke out of the webbing and Dark Spicer then turned into a Mutant Arachnichimp. He was a purple and blue creature and he had 8 arms and he had spines on his tail.

Widowchimp: Meet Widowchimp! (webs my mouth shut)

Shanan: A mutant Arachnichimp!

Leni: You monster! Spidermonkey was so cute!

Widowchimp: Well, this form isn't Spidermonkey, is it? (fires web at Kitten)

Kitten formed a shield and sent the web back. I pulled the web off of my mouth.

Me: You are gross. Now it's time to make you pay. By the way Dark Spicer, you got a call from Anita Bath.

Dark Spicer: Anita bath?

We laughed at what he said.

Bart: (Laughs)

Me: Better go take one then!

Nico: (Laughs) Good one!

Laney: And Vanitas, you have a friend calling. It's Mya Buttreeks.

Vanitas: Mya Buttreeks?

We laughed some more!

Lana: Better wash yourself off then!

Troy: Time to make this final challenge the epic one yet!

Megaforce Rangers: Legendary Ranger Mode: Operation Overdrive!

The Megaforce Rangers turned into the Operation Overdrive Rangers.

We went at them.

The Megaforce Rangers went at Tangleweb and blasted him all over with powerful blasts and their weapons and Tangleweb fell over and exploded.

KRABBBBBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Tangleweb was dead.

Luan fired light blasts at Vypra and they hit her all over and burned her in fiery explosions and Spiderman tied up Vanitas and Edzilla punched Number 7 all over the place and Iron Boy blasted Zs'Skayr all over the place with Repulsor blasts and Eddy blasted Dark Spicer all over with his blaster and Tara sent earth blasts at Waffle Woman and smashed her all over. We knocked them all over the place. We then set our sights on Mother Brain!

Me: Time to pull your plug Mother Brain!

Hook: With pleasure! CYBER KEY POWER!

The Earth Cyber Planet Key went into his back and enhanced his rocket launcher 100-fold.

Poison Ivy: Time for some flower power! EARTH CYBER KEY POWER!

The Earth Cyber Planet Key went into her right arm device and enhanced her plant powers 100-fold.

Hook and Poison Ivy: LEAF MISSILE FIRESTORM!

Poison Ivy and Hook fired missiles and Leaves and they smashed the glass case of Mother Brain and destroyed its machines. Leaving it on the ground.

But then Mother Brain rose up in a whole new body and it was terrifying!

Me: Whoa! How scary!

Samus: Really scary!

Me: Lets get her!

I punched Mother Brain in the face and kicked her in the mouth and knocked out some of her ugly teeth and Nico fired energy blasts and they hit her all over and exploded with incredible power. Carol fired blasts of atomic energy and the blasts hit her all over and exploded with incredible power!

Arkayna: Feel the Dragon!

Dana: And the ice!

Arkayna fired a powerful energy blast and Dana fired a massive ice blast.

Arkayna and Dana: SUBZERO DRAGON FREEZE!

The blasts combined and turned into an ice dragon and it slammed into Mother Brain and froze its legs.

Luna: Feel this song you ugly dude! METAL STYLE NINJA ART: FIELDS OF VERDUN!

Luna floated into the air and a steel mill formed behind her and she sang the song Fields of Verdun by Sabaton.

As the drum roll started on that day

Heard a hundred miles away

A million shells were fired

And the green fields turned to grey

The bombardment lasted all day long

Yet the forts were standing strong

Heavily defended

Now the trap's been sprung and the battle has begun

Descend into darkness

303 days below the sun

Fields of Verdun, and the battle has begun

Nowhere to run, father and son

Fall one by one under the gun

Thy will be done (thy will be done), and the judgement has begun

Nowhere to run, father and son

Fall one by one, fields of Verdun

Though a million shells have scarred the land

No one has the upper hand

From the ground above to trenches

Where the soldiers make their stand

As the trenches slowly turn to mud

And then quickly start to flood

Death awaits in every corner

As they die in the mud, fill the trenches with blood

Descend into darkness

303 days below the sun

Fields of Verdun, and the battle has begun

Nowhere to run, father and son

Fall one by one under the gun

Thy will be done (thy will be done), and the judgement has begun

Nowhere to run, father and son

Fall one by one, fields of Verdun

Fields of execution turned to wasteland from the grass

Thou shalt go no further it was said, "They shall not pass!"

The spirit of resistance and the madness of the war

So go ahead, face the lead, join the dead

Though you die where you lie, never asking why

Descend into darkness

303 days below the sun

Fields of Verdun, and the battle has begun

Nowhere to run, father and son

Fall one by one under the gun

Thy will be done (thy will be done), and the judgement has begun

Nowhere to run, father and son

Fall one by one, fields of Verdun

Waves of molten steel fired and they turned into the army of the Battle of Verdun from World War I in 1916 and the soldiers blasted, slashed and burned Mother Brain all over the place.

Me: Whoa! That was awesome!

Jessie K.: Wow! That was the army from the Battle of Verdun in 1916 during World War I.

Lincoln: Wow! Really awesome!

Nico: I didn't know that happened.

Hunter: (German Accent) Ja. Really amazing battle in our history. Very dangerous too.

Nemo: That is so cool!

Axel Adell: It sure is.

Clyde: Lets see how she likes this one! DECAY STYLE NINJA ART: ATTACK OF THE DEAD MEN!

Clyde rose into the air and a graveyard appeared behind him as he sang Attack of The Dead Men by Sabaton.

Turmoil at the front

Wilhelms forces on the hunt

There's a thunder in the east

It's an attack of the deceased

They've been facing poison gas
7,000 charge en masse
Turn the tide of the attack
And force the enemy to turn back
And that's when the dead men are marching again
Osowiec then and again
Attack of the dead, hundred men
Facing the lead once again
Hundred men
Charge again
Die again
Osowiec then and again
Attack of the dead, hundred men
Facing the lead once again
Hundred men
Charge again
Die again
Two combatants spar
Hindenburg against the Tsar
Move in 12 battalions large
Into a Russian counter-charge
They'll be fighting for their lives

As their enemy revives
Russians won't surrender, no
Striking fear into their foe
And that's when the dead men are marching again
Osowiec then and again
Attack of the dead, hundred men
Facing the lead once again
Hundred men
Charge again
Die again
Osowiec then and again
Attack of the dead, hundred men
Facing the lead once again
Hundred men
Charge again
Die again
And that's when the dead men are marching again
Osowiec then and again
Attack of the dead, hundred men
Facing the lead once again
Hundred men
Charge again

Die again

Osowiec then and again

Attack of the dead, hundred men

Facing the lead once again

Hundred men

Charge again

Die again

That's when the dead men are marching again and again

That's when the dead march again

Waves of energy fired and they turned into the soldiers from the Battle of The Osowiec Fortress in 1915 during World War I. They slashed, blasted and destroyed Mother Brain's legs.

Me: Whoa! Way to go Clyde!

Jessie K.: Wow! That was the army from the Battle of The Osowiec Fortress in 1915.

Hunter: Ja. Very big battle back then.

Laney: I didn't know that happened back then.

Lana: Really cool!

Axel Adell: Really amazing parts of history.

Ben: Lets see how Mother Brain likes this predator!

Ben turned into a new predator. It was BUGLIZARD! Buglizards have a white, black, and red color scheme. They have a black head, which dons a white patch on each side. Located on these, they have four red eyes, two on each side. They have sharp teeth and the gums protrude in their lower jaw and they have a row of red spikes running down their back, which also has a black stripe. They have four legs and black feet, each ending in 3 red claws and a red marked tail tip.

Ben: BUGLIZARD!

Me: Whoa! That is a scary one.

Shanan: Whoa! That is a Lepidopterran Arthromodo Dragon! They are Stinkfly's natural predator.

Nico: Whoa! That is a scary predator.

Riley: But really cool!

Buglizard: Check this out.

He created a huge cloud of fog and smashed Mother Brain's head in with his tail.

Edzilla: ED SMASH UGLY BRAIN!

Ed punched Mother Brain with devastating force and it knocked her down.

Ben then turned into a new Ultimate Alien and it was ULTIMATE SHOCK ROCK! Ultimate Shock Rock is taller and much spikier than his non-evolved counterpart. His head and crest are more ornate now, and there are more, bigger, spikes across his body. His energy is now bright pink and his rock is brown, with the green moss-like pattern now being a rust orange. The Ultimatrix symbol is in the middle of his chest. His arms have grid-like patterns in the rock with symbols engraved into them, which are explained further below.

Ben: ULTIMATE SHOCK ROCK!

Me: Whoa! An Evolved Fulmini!

Shanan: Whoa! This is amazing! I've never seen this alien before. Really awesome!

Nico: Awesome!

Ultimate Shock Rock: Watch this.

He fired a massive blast of lightning and electrocuted Mother Brain all over with incredible power and it was so strong and powerful!

Me: Time for some Final Smash power!

Samus: You got it! Mother Brain, Time for you to go. ZERO LASER!

Samus fired a massive blue laser blast from her arm cannon and it slammed into Mother Brain and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Nico: Whoa! That was awesome!

Lincoln: Just like in the game! Awesome!

Lily: Yeah!

Qin: So awesome!

Me: Yeah!

Janeen: I have 5 Final Smashes.

Me: Wow! This is gonna be awesome!

Janeen: Yep. Here's the first one. Starting with Mom's Power Beam. POWER MISSILE POWERBLAST!

Janeen glowed yellow and fired a powerful blast of energy and it slammed into Mother Brain and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Nico: Wow!

Lincoln: That was awesome!

Janeen: That was number 1. Here's Final Smash number 2. ICESPREADER MISSILE MEGA FREEZE!

Janeen glowed aqua blue and she fired a powerful barrage of ice blast and they slammed into Mother Brain and Froze her solid.

Luan: That is what I call Getting Cold Feet! (Laughs) Get it?

We all laughed at Luan's joke.

Me: Good one Luan!

Eddy: (Laughs) Good one!

Janeen: Here's number 3. PLASMA FIRESTORM FLAMETHROWER!

Janeen glowed red and fired a powerful blast of fire plasma and fire and it slammed into Mother Brain and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Me: Whoa! That was hot!

Nico: Wow! What power!

Lola: Really awesome!

Janeen: Here's final smash number 4. LIGHTNING WAVE ELECTROCUTIONER!

Janeen fired a massive purple lightning blast and it slammed into Mother Brain and electrocuted her all over!

Me: Wow! What power!

Lincoln: That was incredible Janeen!

Earth: I'll say.

Janeen: Now for the grand finale. When I destroyed Dark Samus, I acquired her Final Smash and made it my own.

Samus: This is gonna be interesting.

Janeen: Yeah. My greatest enemies powers are now part of my own. This is the end of Mother Brain. PHAZON LASER!

Janeen fired a massive dark blue energy laser of incredible power and it slammed into Mother Brain and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

When the explosion cleared, all that was left of Mother Brain was its head and it disintegrated into ashes.

Me: We did it!

But then suddenly we felt an earthquake and the alarms went off!

Me: Uh oh!

Samus: Guys, we need to get off this planet before it blows!

Me: The whole planet's going to explode!?

Nico: We have to get out of here!

Vypra: You're not leaving us here!

Me: No way are we forgetting you guys.

We ran fast and got back to the ship and left the planet and we watched as the entire planet of Zebes explode!

KRABBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

We got out of there just in time. We saw that there was nothing left of the planet Zebes but a massive cloud of space dust.

Me: Whoa! That was a close one.

Lily: That was a REAL close one.

Samus: It sure was.

Chris McLean: Team Interstellar Retribution wins the money!

We cheered wildly!

Crystal McLean: Way to go guys!

Nico: We won!

Lincoln: This was so awesome!

We then saw a figure come out and it was Principal Skinner!

Me: Principal Skinner!

Skinner: I'm just as shocked as…

Bart pulled down his pants and pantsed him!

We laughed at him!

Edna Krabappel punched him in the face and knocked him out.

Me: Nice shot Edna.

Edna Krabappel: Thanks J.D. He deserved it. Ha!

Josee: No! IT'S NOT FAIR! WE DESERVE THAT MONEY!

Jacque: WE WERE SUPPOSE TO WIN IT!

Me: Shut your traps!

William punched Jacques in the face and Maria punched Josee in the face. Zoey punched Anne Maria in the face, Mike punched Freak Ezekiel and Sammy punched Max and they knocked them out.

We put them in the brig.

Janeen: Vypra, how about you and your group stay with us until we take Billy McLean down?

Vypra: (smiles) I like that idea. (to her group) What about you guys?

They all agreed.

Me: This is gonna be awesome! Now the series is almost done. But we have one more loose end to tie up: Bringing Justice to Billy McLean. Get ready Billy, Team Loud Phoenix Storm is coming for you.

My eyes glowed red with righteous justice.

Me: Set course for home.

We went back to Earth.

We arrived back on Earth and the Aftermath Special wasn't until next week. I called a press conference in Washington D.C. and revealed everything about what happened in Springfield and the fact that Jebediah Springfield was a fraud and a sham and more. I also revealed the full extent of Springfield's corruption to the entire country and everyone was absolutely horrified! Within minutes, the town of Springfield, Oregon was called the most hated town ever and everyone was glad that it was destroyed. Mayor Quimby, Snake Jailbird, Mr. Burns, The Springfield Mafia, Jimbo, Dolph, Kearney, Rich Texan, Seymour Skinner and Comic Book Guy were now the countries most wanted fugitives and a massive bounty was put on their heads. Fiona got Snake Jailbird as her arch nemesis and Dana now has Principal Skinner as her Arch Nemesis.

Samus: (To the viewers) This was an awesome adventure into the Great Unknown. Get ready to see us put the kibosh on Billy McLean.

It was gonna be an awesome finale.

Part 8 complete.

Super Metroid and the entire Metroid series of Nintendo has always been one of my favorite game series ever since I was a little kid. I wouldn't stop playing them and never will. It's so awesome! NicoChan11 gave me the ideas for this. Thanks man. Next up is the grand finale of the Total Drama Galaxy Saga. We're going to expose Billy McLean's evil crimes to the entire world and make him pay for every one of his crimes. Get ready for justice to be brought to Billy

McLean.

See you all tomorrow.

TDG Finale - Justice to Billy McLean

(The Aftermath theme plays as the letters T, D, and G fly onscreen followed by the word "Aftermath". The letter D flies towards the camera and cuts to a scene with Beardo from Episode 1 of Pahkitew Island.)

Beardo: (Emergency Siren sound. Hides behind a rock as the moose pass.)

(Every time it cuts to someone else, the D will pop in and out of the title)

(Cuts to a scene with Leonard from Episode 2)

Leonard: "Pigas Levitatas this Intas!" (Nothing happens) "Piggy piggy float over the wall, win this challenge for us and, um, all!"

(Cuts to a scene with Amy and Sammy from Episode 5)

Amy: How dare you treat your own sister this way!?

Sammy: Look who's talking; you do this to me all the time!

Amy: That's because you're nothing. I'm better than you at everything.

Sammy: Well at least I still don't suck my thumb!

Both: You are the worst sister ever!

(Cuts to a scene with Rodney from Episode 4)

Rodney: (Ashamed) Because of me, my team lost. And now I'm going home for this. Jasmine, Amy, and Scarlett will never forgive me for this.

(Cuts to a scene with Ella singing from Episode 5)

Ella: "Me and my friend, bear,

BFFs beyond compare.

Dancing and swimming without a care."

(Cuts to a scene with Topher from Episode 8)

Topher: (Delighted) Alright, (places his baby onto of his head) it's time to show the people at home what I've got. (He looks back into the camera) Hello out there world, get a look at all this. (He does a number of poses) Pose, pose, pose, pose.

(Cuts to a scene with Dave from Episode 7)

Dave: I am so close to making it official between me and Sky. The only thing that's missing is our first kiss. Once she kisses me everything will be perfect.

(Cuts to a scene with Scarlett and Evil Scarlett from Episode 10)

Evil Scarlett: That's it! Time to finish you once and for all!

Scarlett: BRING IT!

(Cuts to a scene with Jasmine from Episode 10)

Jasmine: There comes a time in a girl's life when she must face facts, (happy) whether Shawn gets over this zombie obsession of his or not, he's PERFECT!

(Cuts to a scene with Sugar from Episode 2)

Sugar: NOBODY BUT ME IS WINNIN THIS HERE PAGEANT!

(Transitions to her talent from episode 12)

Sugar: "Sugar Silo!

I'm wicked sweet,

I tap it when I rap it with a tasty beat!

I don't like milk from a Jersey cow!

I'm the queen of Craptry,

you all should bow!

Sugar Hollaaa!"

(Billy, Zoey, and Scuba Bear 2.0 cringe)

(Cuts to a scene with Shawn and Sky from Episode 12)

Sky: (Excited) We did it! We're in the finals. Sugar is going home.

Shawn: Yeah; even Billy wouldn't love that performance. It really was a load of crap.

It showed in many episodes that we were dominating the competition in T.D.G episodes and seasons 7 and 8.

(They both high five)

(Opening Credits; stock footage from the season is playing throughout)

"Dear Mom and Dad I'm doing fine,

You guys are on my mind.

You asked me what I wanted to be

and now I think the answer is plain to see,

I wanna be famous!"

"I wanna live close to the sun,

Go pack your bags cause I've already won.

Everything to prove nothing in my way

I'll get there one day,

Cause I wanna be famous!"

(Cuts to a limo pulling up outside the Aftermath studio. All 14 contestants run inside to get ready for the show.)

"Na na na na na na na na na na na na na na!"

"I wanna be, I wanna be, I wanna be famous!"

(Cuts to everyone running onto the stage and taking their places in the bleachers next to the Revenge of the Island Cast. Bridgette and Trent are given the Ready to Go sign.)

"I wanna be, I wanna be, I wanna be famous!"

(The camera pans out showing off every contestant, except Ezekiel, with the title flashing behind Bridgette and Trent.)

("Whistling in Tune")

(The Aftermath theme plays as the letters T, D, and G fly onscreen followed by the word "Aftermath". The letter D flies towards the camera and cuts to everyone on stage as the audience applaud. Bridgette and Trent are sitting on the host couch, the original cast, except Ezekiel, Harold, and Geoff, is sitting in the bleaches to the right side of the screen, and the Revenge of the Island cast is sitting in the bleachers to the left side of the screen.)

Bridgette: Welcome to our Total Drama Galaxy Aftermath Special! I'm your host; Bridgette!

Trent: And I'm Trent; your co-host for today. Geoff will be calling in to join us later on.

Bridgette: We are so excited to have all of our new friends here for this special occasion.

Trent: Not only that, but this is also the very last episode slash special of Total Drama, EVER! That's right, after today; there will be no more Total Drama.

(The audience cheers)

Bridgette: Sounds like everyone is happy to hear that. No more pain and humiliation for anyone on this show. Before we bring out our new friends, let's reintroduce you to our old friends; (cuts to the original cast from bottom to top) Gwen, Courtney, LeShawna, Sierra, Duncan, Katie, Sadie, Justin, Beth, Tyler, Lindsay, Izzy, Owen, Eva, Noah, Cody, Alejandro, Heather, and D.J.

Trent: Harold is backstage with Scarlett and we'll talk to them in just a minute. And here are our Revenge of the Island friends; (cuts to the Revenge of the Island cast from bottom to top) Mike, Zoey, Staci (with all of her hair back), Cameron, Anne Maria, Brick, Dawn, B, Sam, Dakota (still a mutated monster), Lightning, Jo, and Scott.

Bridgette: And here from our current season is our very own heroes that we all know and love. Give it up for Team Loud Phoenix Storm!

We all came out and everyone cheered wildly.

Me: Thank you! Thank you all!

Nico: It's a pleasure to be here!

Vince: Hello everyone!

Carol: Hello everyone.

We waved as we all came out.

Bridgette: So how's it going for everyone here?

Beth: Great! I'm so glad that this is the last show.

Me: Me too Beth. This is gonna be awesome!

Lindsay: Oh I'm so glad too! I never have to go through anymore hard challenges to get what I want.

Nico: None of us will ever again.

Carol: Yeah.

Gwen: (Annoyed) You two were lucky because I had to be dragged in for another season just to be tortured for no reason.

Brick: I agree! I'm actually glad that I didn't return for the All Star season. One season is good enough for all of us.

Lincoln: I agree with you there Brick.

LeShawna: Yeah, me and everyone else should have high tailed it after the season one finale.

Laney: I know.

Scott: Not to mention that we all had to endure such humiliation. For example; I got mauled by a shark.

Me: You've had it coming for a while you shark-faced son of a bitch.

Lana: Yeah!

Me: That is something I can accept.

Lola: Same with me.

Alejandro: I got burned by a volcano and lived in a robotic suit for two years.

Vince: I remember that. You deserved it.

D.J.: Wait, didn't you say you were in there for ONE year?

Alejandro: (Annoyed) I was confused about the time line.

Nico: Oh.

Gwen: Actually I think it was the writers fault for saying that.

Seasons 3 and 5 were divided by a two year time frame.

Me: Hmm. That could be the case.

Courtney: Three years if you count Revenge Of The Island being held back for another year due to a tsunami in Japan.

Owen: (Holding his head in pain) OK, now I'M confused!

Varie: Oh yeah. I remember the Japan Tsunami of 2011. That was terrible.

Me: Boy it sure was.

Heather: (Annoyed) Alright enough with the fourth wall breaking. Besides, I too was humiliated when I lost all my hair.

Lily: You had that coming you bitch.

Me: You looked really good bald.

Staci: Same here! Did you know my great, great, great, great, Granduncle invented the first hair care product?

Jo: (Throwing a boxing glove at her) Not another word! No one wants to hear any more of your lies.

Me: Yes he did. And just for the record folks, everything that Staci said is all true. She comes from a long line of famous Canadian inventors.

Jo: Really? Wow.

Me: Yep. She's really famous.

Scott: Yeah; famous for telling lies! (He laughs. Staci just glares.)

Aylene C.: Shut your fucking trap Scott!

Scott: Make me. Also if your family is famous, why are you even here in the first place?

Nico: That's what I wanted to know.

Staci: My parents wanted me out of the house because they were tired of my lies. They were tired of seeing me making our family famous when in fact we are just as common as the average ancestry. (She looks down in shame) I'll just shut up for the rest of the show.

Me: No Staci, you have an amazing family history. And if anybody tells you otherwise they can go fuck themselves.

Staci: Thanks J.D.

Gwen: Anyways, back to what we were discussing. Me and Courtney could never catch a break with Billy trying to make us look like one of the worst contestants of all time.

Courtney: He eliminated us with a giant toilet. (She holds her arms and shivers. Gwen comforts her.)

Me: I remember that. (Growls) If Billy is watching this. Oh that reminds me. Bridgette if I may?

Bridgette: Sure.

Me: We have some special guests with us. Joining us today are the Masters of Evil, our Frenemies in a sense.

Vypra: Pleasure to be here.

Zs'Skayr: Hello.

Dark Spicer: Good to be here.

Waffle Woman: Hello everyone.

Number 7: Greetings to you all.

Vanitas: Hello.

Professor Calamitous: Hello cretins.

Lord Drakkon: Hello.

Nico: Ok. Can we trust all of you not to try and Kill the Masters of Evil while they're here with us?

Me: We won't. They agreed.

Nico: So, Vypra. Why did you resurrect some of our bad guys from Springfield and not more powerful villains.

Vypra: Hey, I'm still trying to think of archenemies for Lincoln and the other Loud Sisters. Your Springfield enemies were basically the perfect rivals for your other friends while my secret project is underway.

Me: That does make sense. Lets continue. Sorry about that.

Bridgette: No worries.

Cody: He tried to get me eaten by a bear this season.

Celica: Oh my!

Brick: He tried to kill us in a toxic mine just to cover his sorry butt from the feds.

Laney: I remember that.

Duncan: He called the cops on me and sent me to jail. (Shivers) I never thought that being in jail could make a delinquent like me feel so miserable. I rather be back in Juvie instead of that horrible place.

Me: I remember seeing that Duncan. You blew up his whole mansion. But in all accounts he had that coming. Fucking asshole.

Cameron: Wow, that must have been hard on you.

Duncan: Yeah, it's that bad!

Nico: Geez.

Sierra: Well Billy got rid of us whenever we accidentally destroyed one of his most prized possessions.

Laney: Vain asshole.

Gwen: (Annoyed) Didn't I say about fifteen minutes ago not to remind me?

Sierra: Sorry Gwen.

Dakota: But the worst one of all was when he turned me into a monster.

Sam: Aw you're no monster Dakota! You're beautiful!

Dakota: (Giggles and blushes) Thanks Sam, though I do miss being my old self.

Bridgette: We do too! But we have to disagree with you on what happened to you being the worst thing ever. If anything, what Brick said about Billy trying to kill us is the worst.

Me: I agree.

Lana: What a fucking asshole.

Rita: Lana, watch your language.

Lana: Sorry mom but it's true.

Trent: Really? I always thought that him messing around and ruining our friendships and relationships were the worst.

Vince: How can I forget that.

Courtney: (Outraged) Oh that is SO the worst thing that Billy has ever done. He tried to ruin everything for me and Gwen in World Tour and All Stars. Yes, I did mess up again in the final 5, but I did try to fix everything.

Me: Yeah what a fucking lunatic. It's like he has no respect for everything at all.

Trent: Yeah, how did you managed to fix things up with Gwen?

Courtney: It all happened after I was eliminated.

(Cuts to a flashback of her crying after the sharks vomited on her)

Courtney: (Voice over) After I got puked on by some sharks due to my disgusting sundae, I swam onto a nearby beach. It suddenly began to rain heavily and I needed a place to hide where no one could see me. As I was running towards a nearby equipment shed, the rain water washed away all the barf on me. As soon as I got there, I threw away the bone that was in my hair, fell to the ground, and continued to ball my eyes out until I fell asleep; but I didn't sleep well due to a nightmare about all the bad things that I have done over the past few years.

(Cuts back to the stage)

Mike: Ooh, that is sad! Did Gwen find you there?

Gwen: (Annoyed) Actually me and Scott almost died when we went over Niagara Falls.

We gasped.

(Cuts back to Courtney's Flashback)

Courtney: (Voice over) The next thing I knew when I opened my eyes, I was in this huge balloon being filled with Owen's butt gas.

Owen: (Voice over) Sorry!

Courtney: (Voice over) I was so desperate to get out, but I didn't until me and the others were at about 30,000 feet and that's when the balloons finally popped. I just kept falling until I hit the water. But when I swam to the surface, there was no one there to help me. It was there that I decided that no one wanted me anymore. So I went home that stormy night, and I saw a carving knife on the counter, and I thought whether I should end my life there or not.

(Flashback Ends. Everyone gasps.)

We all gasped.

Cameron: (Shocked) You were going to commit suicide!?

Me: Courtney that's insane!

Nico: Yeah!

Gwen: (Terrified) And she almost done so if it wasn't for me. (Pulls out her phone) When I got home I got this text from Courtney saying "I'm sorry for everything that I have done. You don't have to care about me anymore because by the time you read this text, I will be gone forever". I was so scared when I saw this that I ran to her house. But when I got there, she wasn't there and the knife was still there untouched. It finally hit me that she didn't want anyone to find her body so she ran away to the only cliff by the shore and tried to jump. Luckily I got there and stopped her before she did.

Courtney: When I looked at her when she stopped me, she looked like she was about to ball her eyes out. Then I was about to until we both hugged and cried our eyes out. We had finally forgiven each other that night and vowed to not only to look after each other forever, but to also never return to Total Drama again, EVER!

LeShawna: (Amazed) Wow, that was the saddest and scariest story I have ever heard.

Me: That is really dark.

Nico: No kidding.

Vypra: Oh man. Poor girl.

Zoey: (Wiping away a tear) I wish I could have been there to take care of you as well. Just like Gwen, I consider you as a sister too.

Me: Aww.

Lori: That is literally amazing.

Courtney: (Touched) Thanks Zoey, and I'm sorry I tried to get you eliminated so many times.

Zoey: (Surprised) What?

Me: Huh?

Courtney: You are so much better at sports than I am. I thought I wouldn't stand a chance of winning if you were still around.

Zoey: (Walking over to comfort her) It's OK! I forgive you. I would have gone to the finale with you and we could have split the million with our friends. Maybe we could start over and just be non-competitive friends.

Courtney: I like that very much. Sky could also be part of our circle of athletic friends.

Lynn: Zoey does have that athletic streak in her like me and my boy self. It's amazing.

Bridgette: And speaking of Sky, here comes our new friends; (all the new contestants, except Scarlett, walk onto the stage) Sky, Dave, Shawn, Leonard, Jasmine, Sammy, Topher (with his left arm in a cast), Beardo, Max (with his left leg in a cast while using a crutch), Rodney, Sugar (all bandaged up), Amy (helping Sugar walk on stage while wearing a blue cheerleader outfit), and Ella.

Me: Hey guys!

Sky: Hey J.D.

Leonard: Hey J.D.

(Ella begins to sing)

Ella: "This is how we will end the show,

And now it is time for us to go.

So now what am I going to do,

Is say goodbye to all of you!"

(Everyone claps and cheers for her singing)

Me: Bravo Ella!

Varie: Encore

Nico: Good show!

Lola: So beautiful!

Vypra: She has a beautiful voice.

Dark Spicer: She sure does.

Lindsay: Bravo, encore!

Ella: Thanks Lindsay! Thanks everyone.

(Everyone takes their seat next to the Revenge of the Island cast)

Sky: (To Courtney) Hey Courtney, I heard your story backstage and I feel very sorry for you too. To make you feel better, I will accept your friend request.

Courtney: Aww, thanks Sky!

Me: We all will be your friends Courtney. Always will be.

Trent: Welcome everyone to our Total Drama Galaxy Aftermath Special! We are all happy to have you here today.

Shawn: Thanks Trent! I'm so glad that we no longer have to deal with Billy anymore.

Me: Oh Shawn, your Zombie Apocalypse survival skills really paid off for Lincoln, Clyde, Laney and Lily.

Laney: That's right Shawn. It all came in handy for when that storm came.

Shawn: That's what I heard. I'm proud of you guys.

Lincoln: Thanks Shawn.

(Cuts to Billy relaxing on a beach outside the Ridgemount Resort)

Billy: (Sighs) Now this is the life; being far away from the kids with a new tooth, a glass of lemonade in one hand, and the warm sun shining on my face. (Pauses for a second) Okay I'm bored! Time to head back and prepare for another season filled with torture. (He walks by the hotel and sees the Total Drama Galaxy Aftermath being played on the big screen. He is shocked.) WHAT!?

Dave: I am also happy that this is the very last show ever. That brainless host has ruined our lives long enough. (Pumps his fist into the air) Here's to the end of Total Drama.

Me: TO THE END OF TOTAL DRAMA!

Everyone: To the end of Total Drama!

Masters of Evil: Here here!

Billy: (Shocked) Total Drama is ending? Oh no, not on my watch. (He takes out his phone and calls Chef) Chef, you've got to come down here and get me.

Chef: Sorry, but I'm busy at the moment. Call back later. (He hangs up)

Billy: (Annoyed) Fine, I'll get there myself. Taxi!

(Cuts back to the stage)

Bridgette: How is everyone doing?

Topher: We're doing OK. Max, Sugar, and I just got out of the hospital after our encounter with Scuba Bear. Max and I only suffered a broken limb but as for Sugar, that's a different story.

Me: Good thing you're okay man.

Sugar: (Muffles) I'll make it too.

Trent: Sorry, we couldn't hear you because you've got something across your mouth.

Me: She said that she'll make it too.

Duncan: Good.

Rodney: Also Amy, why are you wearing a blue outfit instead of your red one?

Amy: (Annoyed) Because I don't want to dress up like my ex-twin.

Sammy: That's right, it's official; I belong to Jasmine now.

Me: Hey way to go Sammy!

Jasmine: (Australian Accent) And I'm happy to be your new sister. (They hug while everyone goes "Aww")

Nico: I'm happy for you Sammy.

William: So, guys. How do you feel now that Total Drama is finally ending?

We all cheered wildly.

Me: I guess that's a big thumbs up.

Bridgette: As you can see not everyone is here. Scarlett is backstage with Harold working on some kind of invention. So let's check in with them and see what they're up to. (The monitor behind her turns on revealing Scarlett and Harold) Hey guys, how's it going with your invention?

Scarlett: We've just got started on the base of our latest creation. With any luck, we could have it done before the end of the show.

Harold: Hey sis, (holds up a huge red battery) is this the power source we need? There were so many batteries at the parts store.

Scarlett: Yeah, the red one is to power this thing. The other ones we saw won't work on this machine.

Me: Glad you have your sister back Harold.

Harold: Thanks J.D.

Mike: Um, what kind of a machine is this?

Scarlett: I can't say because I want to surprise you all.

Lindsay: Oh I love surprises!

Me: Me too.

Max: Hey, I've just thought of something. Your name is Scarlett but you invent things. That name so does not fit you.

Scarlett: (Annoyed) What do you mean by that?

Max: Well, doesn't Scarlett mean someone who sells cloth.

Scarlett: That is true but I got that name because of my scarlet red hair.

Me: Scarlet is also a color you dingus.

Max: Hmm, I still think you're wasting your talent on something that you can't do right; like making a clone that turned evil for example.

Me: Shut up Max!

Scarlett: (Angry) I am a great inventor! That was the only one that didn't turn out the way I hoped. At least she hates you as much as I do. You will never be cut out for this evil thing.

Max: (Outraged, gasps) Those are fighting words there! You are so going to… (Jasmine picks him up and ties a rope around his "good leg" and hoists him up into the air) Hey, you bring me down right now.

Jasmine: Okay, whatever you say. (She lets go of the rope and he falls to the floor screaming)

CRASH!

Scarlett: (Giggles) Thanks Jasmine! I needed a good laugh. Well, I better get back to work.

Me: If he tries anything Scarlett, he will regret it.

Trent: OK, we'll check back later. (The monitor turns off) And after seeing Max get humiliated just now, it's time for a segment we like to call "Max's Greatest Blunders!"

(A series of stock footage of Max from this season glide across the screen)

(Cuts to him repairing his Evil Helmet and places it on a duck. The duck then shows off its sharp teeth and chases Max around. Cuts to him trying out his idea after Scarlett told him to pop the others balloons; tying his balloons to a long stick and hit everyone from a safe distance. He tries it out on a tree and manages to pop all of his balloons, break the stick, and getting some eggs all over his shirt but quickly wipes it off so no one could see that he was out. Cuts to him trying to invent something from the remains of the robo croc in the pit, but it just explodes and the head flies into the air and bites him in the butt again. Before he screams in pain, the clip cuts to him banging around inside the pipes to the underground control room. He goes up and down and even does a full loop before landing face first on the ground outside the control room.)

Sky: (Outraged) Wait a minute! Max got me out after he got himself out secretly? That's Cheating! I should have still been in the game when that happened and you should have gone home that day. You are so going to pay for that.

Bridgette: Actually Sky, he already did this morning. Check out what happened when you were getting ready for the show.

(The monitor shows Sky with a bath towel wrapped around her; putting her dress on the bathroom counter. She then walks away and takes a shower. While she does that, Max peaks from outside the window and pulls out another one of his inventions.)

Max: (Laughs quietly) Once I've used my shred-inator on your dress, you will have nothing to wear for the show. This is payback for you and Shawn for taking my million away from me.

(He prepares to fire his invention until he hears the water stop running. He ducks down just as Sky arrives to take her dress away. Before she does, she walks over to the window, leans over, closes her eyes, and squeezes as much water out of her hair as she can. She then picks up her dress and walks away just before Max's invention blows up in his face. He gets up and leans over the window seal covered in ashes and smoke.)

Max: (Dazed) Back to the old drawing board. (He faints just before the monitor turns off)

Sky: Ha, I got you and I didn't even notice nor did I even try.

Max: (Moans)

Scott: Ha, not so evil now huh?

Max: (Angry) Oh I can be so evil and I can prove it by making someone here cry. (Looks at Gwen) Hey you, why did you go Goth? Did you get picked on by some bullies back at your school like Sky did?

Gwen: (Defensive) You don't need to know why.

Max: Maybe you didn't care about what was going around you anymore and didn't care about anyone at some point?

Gwen: (Offended) I'll have you know I care about my surroundings and my friends very much; including my Mother and Brother.

Max: Your Mother and Brother huh. What about your Father? Is he the reason why you went Goth? (Gwen begins to look upset) Oh yes, that's it isn't it! Something happened to your father that made you become this way. In fact, does this also have something to do with your fear of being buried alive? (Gwen's eyes begin to water. Courtney's face turns mean and nasty looking.) Yes, now this is REAL Evil! I know why you when Goth. It's because of your father's death.

(He does an evil laugh as Gwen begins to sob. Courtney is about to attack Max until someone throws one of their shoes at him. The shoe belongs to Zoey.)

And I punch Max in the back of the head.

Me: Shut your fucking trap Max.

Hunter kicked him in the stomach and punched him in the face!

Hunter: (German Accent) Ja! You are an ignorant Kartoffelgesicht!

Zoey: (Picking up her shoe and putting it back on her foot) How dare you make my sister-like friend cry!? (She walks over to comfort Gwen with Courtney) Gwen, are you OK?

Courtney: Go ahead, tell us what happened.

Gwen: (Wiping her eyes) It was when I was 8 years old; just like Sammy. Me and my family were on vacation when we went exploring through this cave. It suddenly began to shake and some rocks fell to the ground; trapping me underground. I was so scared that I thought that it was the end for me. My Dad managed to move some of the rocks out of the way so I could escape. But the cave became more unstable and both me and my dad couldn't make I out together. So, so he pushed me out of the cave just as the rocks crashed on top of him. We tried to rescue him, but he died the second the rocks fell on him. That was the saddest, scariest, and worst day of my life. I was so scared my Mom had to comfort me every night for the next two years. During that time the others at school would tease me for being scared and sad. And one day, I just snapped and I just turned dark and sour; but not to my family. And thus, the Goth girl you know today was born and the old me was gone.

We gasped!

Me: Whoa man. Gwen I am so sorry that happened to you.

Nico: Your father was a hero. He saved your life.

Vince: I'm so sorry Gwen.

Carol: Yeah.

Sammy: (Walks over to her) I'm so sorry that happened to you. I know how it feels to lose a Father who sacrificed himself to help others in need. Both of our Dads were very brave, and I'm sure that they would be proud of what we have done for our friends. I believe the old you is still in there somewhere.

Nico: That's right.

Gwen: (Smiles) Thanks Sammy! I'm glad to have met someone who understands my pain. You're a great new friend. (The two of them share a hug before Zoey and Courtney join in)

Audience: Aww!

Me: So cute.

Max: (Wakes up) OK, now that I brought up Gwen's Father, it's time to bring up Sammy's.

Me: (Points a gun at his face) You shut up Max, or I will kill you!

LeShawna: (Gets up and rolls up her short sleeves) Oh the only one who is about to cry next is you. LeSHAWNA CHOP!

(She karate chops Max backwards; sending him stumbling towards the trap door. Topher pulls onto the rope and opens the trap door.)

Max: Oh no no no no no no! (He falls through the trap door) SHEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEP! (He crashes) AW! What the heck is down here? (He hears something turn on) Wait, isn't that a… (He begins to scream in pain)

Noah: What the heck is down there?

Scarlett: (Reappearing on the monitor) I found one of Billy's robo-crocs and brought it here in case Max got so annoying that we could just throw him into the trap door with the croc.

Noah: (Impressed) Nice!

Me: Very clever. (Puts gun away)

Max: AH! SOMEONE GET ME OUT OF HERE!

Trent: OK Max, we'll get you out, (looks into the camera) right after this commercial break. Come back for some more of our Total Drama Galaxy special right after this.

Max: Seriously?

(The D pops in and out of the title)

(Commercial Break)

(The title pops up and the D pops in and out of the title)

Bridgette: Welcome back everyone! During the break we were able to get Max out of the trap door. Hope he doesn't pull another stunt like what he just did or he could end up back in that pit with the robo croc. (Max moans)

Me: Fuck you Max.

Trent: You Okay now Gwen?

Gwen: Yeah, I'm much better now that I got that off my chest. I'm very grateful to have Courtney, Zoey, LeShawna, and now Sammy as friends. And all of you guys as well.

Sammy: Awe thanks Gwen!

Me: And all of us too.

Gwen (Total Drama): Right. Thanks J.D.

Bridgette: Hey Sammy, we know what happened to your Father, but we would like to know what is on that DVD of yours.

Sammy: Huh, can we please wait on that for a while? I haven't looked at it yet but I would rather talk about a happy moment about him since we just heard a very sad story a few moments ago.

Me: Take all the time you need Sammy.

Bridgette: Okay Sammy, what was your happiest moment with you Dad?

Sammy: It was when he took me to this carnival by the pier. We spent the whole day together away from Amy and our Mom. We played a lot of games; including mini golf, ring toss, arcade games, and even that game where you shoot water into the clown's mouth. But the one game that we had to play was this super hard game where you had to knock down this small spaceship. My Dad was able to win it and he gave me (pulls out her bear) this beautiful Blue

Teddy Bear as a gift. It's been my most prized possession ever since. And for the next 24 hours, I was happy.

Trent: And what happened after the 24 hours was up? (He sees her holding her bear tightly looking very sad) OH, I'm so sorry! That was when he…

Sammy: My worst day ever happened after my best day ever. Who would have thought that in just 24 hour after spending time with my Dad that I would lose him forever. (Sighs) At least I now have a new home and a family that cares about me; including a sister that loves me back.

Jasmine: I'm happy to hear you say that Sammy. (They both share a hug)

Amy: (Annoyed) Why is everyone calling her Sa… Sam… S… You know what I mean. Her real name is Samey.

Me: Shut up Amy, you fucking bitch! Her name is not Samey!

Sammy: That's right! Not anymore! When we signed to adoption papers, I asked the guy there if I could have the name on my birth certificate changed. He had to talk things out with the government, but we were able to change it after that. Now my name is now officially Sammy; just the way it was meant to be.

Amy: Hmph, I could have changed your birth certificate without asking the government's permission.

Brick: Uh, you do realize that you could go to jail for that.

Me: That's right. That's fraud.

Sammy: Oh, now I'm really glad that she's no longer my sister because I do not want to be related to a criminal. No offense Duncan!

Duncan: None taken.

Sammy: No offense to the Redemption Squad too.

Volcana: None taken Sammy.

Bridgette: OK, now then, I think it's time for the big even. In honor our final episode of Total Drama, we are hosting one final challenge for you to compete in.

Pahkitew Cast: WHAT!

Dave: (Panicking) No, please, no more challenges! We have all suffered enough. Some of our friendships and relationships were almost destroyed due to them. And I don't want to endure anymore pain.

Bridgette: Relax Dave, none of these challenges are life threatening. In fact, these challenges are like the ones from season one; simple and somewhat safe.

Trent: And this challenge will be worth it. (Chef walks onstage with something big and covered on a trolley) Underneath this tarp is a statue of a certain someone that was sculpted by our very own Gwen.

Gwen: And I almost gagged when I finished.

Trent: (Pulls the tarp off the statue) Behold, a statue of Billy McLean! (Chef comes back with a wheel with a picture of everyone from generations 1, 2 and 3) On this wheel here are pictures of every competitor from the first five seasons.

Cameron: The writers considered Pahkitew Island as the second half of season 5.

Me: Oh. That makes sense.

Topher: (Annoyed) Well that was just a stupid attempt to give us a 26 episode season. If they wanted to do that, then they should have just given us a 26 episode All Star season or just called Pahkitew Island season 6.

Me: I agree.

Cameron: Yeah, that does sound stupid.

Trent: Anyways, when I spin the wheel, whoever it lands on, you guys will have to partake in that persons challenge.

Tyler: So this is like the semi-finals from season 1?

Trent: Yeah, only it's not gross and dangerous. Now just to let you know, not all of you will partake in every challenge. Example, my challenge requires you to put parts of a motorcycle back together and the ones who would be competing would be all of the guys.

Shawn: Ah, OK; though I don't know how to put a motorcycle together. So how am I going to win an award if I can't win at it?

Sky: Don't worry about the prize Shawn, just have fun doing it.

Shawn: Wow, great advice Sky!

Sky: I learned it from you, remember?

Shawn: You're Right!

Ella: Excuse me but what is that question mark for?

Bridgette: Oh, if the wheel stops there, then one of you guys can give the rest of us a challenge. It's first come first serve.

Me: So it acts like a wild card.

Trent: Exactly. And the reward for each challenge is the same; the winner gets to do something humiliating to the statue to show our hatred towards Billy.

(Everyone Cheers. Pans out to Billy watching from the taxi.)

Billy: (Shocked, angry) Destroy a statue of me!? Now those kids have gone too far this time. Step on it driver.

Driver: We'll get there when we get there. I hope you have enough money to pay for this.

Billy: Of course I do, but remind me about the fee again.

(Cuts to outside the cab at a stop light)

Billy: Uh, take a check? (The driver kicks him out) WHY THAT'S HIGHWAY ROBBERY! Where am I going to get that kind of dough at a high class resort like this? (He then notices another taxi with an affordable fee and gets in) Airport please! (The taxi takes off)

(Cuts back to the stage)

Bridgette: OK Trent, time to spin the wheel. (He spins the wheel as the game show tune from "No Pain No Game" plays in the background. The wheel lands on DJ.) D.J.'s challenge is first.

D.J.: Sweet, OK, I need everyone for this one. Your challenge is to rescue a bunny from getting attacked by a hungry bear. (Everyone gasps) Oh don't worry, the bunny is a stuffed toy and the bear is a cardboard cutout.

Me: That's easy.

D.J.: Those that succeed will get to do something to the statue. We will go in alphabetical order so line up and get ready. (Everyone, except Scarlett, lines up as a stuffed bunny pops up onstage) Ready Amy, and GO!

Amy: (Runs up to the bunny) OK you disgusting beast, come to me. (She deviously huddles over the bunny when the cardboard bear pops out and starts beating Amy over the head over and over again. Sammy, Jasmine, and Sky try hard not to laugh.)

Me: Like Nelson would say: HAW HAW!

Nelson Muntz: You said it J.D.

Topher: I thought you said these challenges weren't painful.

Trent: No, I said they were not life threatening.

Topher: Oh!

DJ: And Amy has failed the challenge. Beardo, you're next.

Beardo: (Makes car vrooming sounds)

Dave: (Sighs) But I still have to listen to Beardo's sound effects. Just great!

D.J.: GO!

(Beardo runs in slow motion and the bear just beats up the bunny before he is even a quarter of the way there)

D.J.: And Beardo has also failed the test.

Beardo: (Makes the sound when Mario dies in "Super Mario Bros.")

Dave: OK, the video game sound effects are tolerable.

D.J.: Dave, you up buddy. And GO!

(Dave runs as fast as he could to the bunny. With no other way out, he just picks up the bunny and tosses it away just as the bear beats him over the head.)

D.J.: Dave got beaten by the bear but he did save the bunny so he gets a chance to mess up the statue.

Sky: (Runs to Dave) Dave, are you alright?

Dave: Yeah, I'm fine!

(Sky hugs him and he hugs back)

DJ: OK, how about a montage to speed things along so we can get to the next challenge quickly?

(Montage)

(Cuts to Ella singing as the bear stops in place. She picks up the bunny and hugs it. Everyone is stunned the even an animatronic animal can fall under her singing spell. Cuts to Jasmine who just takes one jump, grabs the bunny, and jumps back with 5 seconds to spare. Cuts to Leonard who tries waving his wand at the bunny to see if he can levitate it, but it doesn't move and gets beaten up. Cuts to Max who struggles to run due to his bad leg. He then realizes what he is doing and just stops to let the bunny get beaten up as he laughs at its misery. DJ glares at him. Cuts to Rodney who grabs the cardboard bear and throws it away. The interns replace the bear with a new one. Cuts to Sammy who runs and grabs the bunny before the bear pops out. She cradles the bunny in her arms and cares for it like it's a real bunny.)

D.J.: Awe you are so great with animals.

Sammy: Well with Jasmine and I opening a flower and pet shop when we return to Australia, I need to practice caring for them.

D.J.: You would have been able to open it either way?

Sammy: If Shawn won, Jasmine would've used her quarter for our business. If Sky won, Dave would've given up his quarter for us. (To Jasmine) And yes, even I didn't think your original idea was a good one.

Jasmine: It's Okay! You're the only one that I wouldn't get mad over if you said that. That's what sisters do; respect the others opinions. (Amy rolls her eyes) By the way, what is your favorite animal?

Sammy: A gingered cat; especially when it has just been born.

Jasmine: Well, when we get home, I will get you one.

Sammy: Really, oh thank you Jasmine. (They hug)

I ran fast and rescued the bunny and won.

(Cuts to Shawn who runs like a maniac and punches the cardboard cutout like it's a zombie and grabs the bunny. The interns replace the bear with a new one. Cuts to Sky who hand springs towards to bunny, picks it up, and backflips out of the way.)

(Montage Ends)

D.J.: Wow, I'm impressed by many of you. Though Shawn and Rodney, you didn't need to beat up the bear just to save the bunny.

Shawn: Sorry, my zombie fighting instincts were calling to me.

Me: Yeah he can't help it.

Rodney: And I had to do this to some wild animals back on the farm who would try to eat any of our livestock.

Nico: Wow.

D.J.: Well it is wrong to attack an animal but if it was for self-defense or to protect your own animals then I can understand that a little bit. OK Sugar, you're up. GO!

(But Sugar couldn't run as she was completely bandaged up. Ella sings again and the bear stops again. She dances over to the bunny and saves it.)

D.J.: Ella saves another bunny. Man this girl I amazing!

Ella: Here you go Sugar. Aren't you proud of me? (She walks away. Sugar smiles.)

D.J.: Topher, you're the last one up. And GO!

Topher: (Narrates) And Topher runs, grabs his bunny, and runs back just in time. (He gets his bunny out of there just before the bear attacks)

D.J.: And Topher joins the others who have won this challenge; Dave, Ella, Jasmine, J.D. Rodney, Sammy, Shawn, and Sky. Now you all can decide on what you want to do to the Billy statue.

Shawn: Well based on this challenge I think we all know what to do to the statue.

(Transitions to the statue with rabbit ears, nose, and tail)

Dave: Hey look, it's Billy McCotton Tail! Isn't he cute? (Makes barfing sounds) NOT!

(Everyone cracks up. Cuts to Billy in the taxi.)

Billy: (Annoyed) No one turns me into a cute bunny. I don't even like "The Bunny Hop."

(Cuts back to the stage)

Me: Here's what I would do.

I pulled out a carton full of eggs.

Gwen (Total Drama): Eggs?

Me: Rotten eggs. Plug your noses.

I put on a nose plug and threw the eggs at the Billy statue and they slammed into it and shattered it and exploded.

KRABBBOOOOOOOMMMM! KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOMMMM! KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOMMMMM! KRABBBBBBOOOOOOMMMMM! KRABBBBOOOOOOOOMMM!

FOGHORN!

(Cuts to Billy in the taxi)

Billy: OH HE DID NOT JUST DO THAT! I WILL KILL HIM!

Trent: OK, now that Chris has been turned into a rabbit and rotten egged, it's time for the second challenge. (He spins the wheel. It stops on Brick.) It's Brick's turn to give you guys a challenge.

Brick: (Excited) Alright! OK, I want all the men to follow me outside. If there are any girls that want to compete as well, just call out.

Sammy: I'll take part in this.

Sky: Me too!

Brick: OK, let's go!

(Cuts to outside the studio where Brick has set up an obstacle course surrounded by mud)

Brick: Your challenge is to get to the other end of this military based obstacle course. (Pans over to a wall) First, you must climb the wall, (pans over to a field of tires) then you must run across the field of tires, (pans over to a low hanging wired fence) then crawl under the wired fence, (pans over to a rope swing) then swing over the pit, (pans over to some logs) and jump over some hurdle logs to cross the finish line. First one there will win.

Dave: (Gulps) That's a lot of mud!

Me: Cool! Just like the kind of obstacle courses my grandfather went through.

Sky: You'll be OK?

Dave: As long as I can have a shower after this, I'll be OK. But it's you that I'm worried about. You'll get your new dress all dirty.

Scarlett: (Over loudspeaker) Oh, not only is it damage resistant, it's also stained resistant.

Dave: Bridgette was right, that is some dress!

Nico: Wow. Impressive.

Sky: Yeah, and don't forget that I got it dirty during the second challenge of the finale and it wasn't ruined after that.

Dave: That's true.

Max: (Annoyed) OK enough talk about that stupid dress, time to start focusing on winning.

Sky: (Stern) You know; I've been focusing all season long. Since I've already accomplished what I needed to do, I'm just going to have fun with these challenges.

Brick: (Salutes) There you go! (Sky salutes back) Alright, on your marks, get set, GO!

(Everyone starts to climb the wall, except Leonard)

We went over the obstacle course and more.

Brick: What are you doing?

Leonard: Quiet, I'm trying to concentrate on flying over this course.

(Brick rolls his eyes. Everyone but Topher manages to climb over the wall.)

Topher: Ah this is so hard with just one good arm.

Sky: (Holding her hand out) Let me help you over.

Topher: (Takes her hand) Thanks! (They climb over the wall and splash in the mud) Eek, so muddy!

Sky: It's OK; we can get cleaned up when we're done.

Topher: (Confident) OK, let's keep going.

(They run towards the next obstacle)

Sky: By the way, sorry for leaving you behind.

Topher: Hey, you needed to save your sister. I understand that. It's Billy that I blame for that.

Me: Me too. Fucking asshole.

Nico: Yeah!

Vince: Motherfucker twit.

(Cuts to the tires)

Me: (Runs through the tires) HUT HUT HUT HUT HUT HUT HUT HUT HUT HUT!

Dave: (Walking on the tires edges very carefully) Easy does it! Easy does it! (Max splashes him) AH MUD! IT'S ALL OVER ME! GET IT OFF!

Sammy: Come on Dave, you can still do it.

Dave: (Stern) You're right!

(He continues on. Cuts to the fence. Rodney is stuck under it.)

Rodney: Curse me for not only having sausage fingers but for also being too big.

Max: Ha, see you later big guy. (Laughs evilly)

Shawn: (Pulling the wires away) Don't worry, I've got you.

Rodney: Thanks Shawn!

Shawn: Just like in a zombie apocalypse, you never leave anyone behind.

Brick: (Off-screen) Well said Shawn; well said.

(Cuts to the swing)

Beardo: (The sound from "Pit Fall" where the character swings over the pit)

(He lets go too early and falls into the pit)

Beardo: (The sound from "Pit Fall" when the character falls into the pit or dies)

(Sammy swings over the pit and lands too hard on the other side; getting her feet stuck in the mud)

Sammy: Oh come on. Why do I have to get stuck near the end?

Max: (Lands and splashes Sammy) See you at the finish line Samey!

Me: Shut your fucking trap Max!

(Sammy scowls at him as she slips her feet out of her boots and continues running. Cuts to the logs.)

Max: Evil will win this day. (He laughs evilly as he jumps over the first long and notices Sammy.) What, you're running through a muddy obstacle course in your bare feet?

Sammy: It was the only way I could get unstuck. (Jumps over a log) But I don't mind, I actually like the feeling of the mud under my feet. (Jumps over another log) I never got the chance to go outside and get dirty when I was a kid.

Me: I don't blame you.

Max: What you just said was just gross. But it doesn't matter, (jumps over another log) because I'm going to win.

Me: Evil always loses.

Sammy: Wait a minute, how can you be running well if your leg is broken?

Max: (Realizing what she just said) Oh shoot!

(He suddenly trips over the last log with his bad leg and falls face first into the mud. I then kick him in the face and Sammy crosses the finish line and wins.)

Brick: (Off-screen) And Sammy and J.D. win the challenge, (Dave, Sky, Topher, Shawn, and Rodney cross too) followed by Dave, Sky, Topher, Shawn, and Rodney. And Max and Beardo never finished the course while Leonard still hasn't even started yet.

Sammy: Yes, I won!

Nico: Way to go J.D.!

Topher: Here, (hands Sammy her boots) Sky and I dug your boots out when we made the pit. I must say you were very brave going on without these. You really are better than Amy.

Sammy: Aw, thanks Topher! (The two of them blush as they look at each other)

Me: Aww. I agree with Topher.

Sky: OK I can see you two need some time together so I'll leave you two be while I go and get cleaned up. (She leaves as Sammy and Topher continue to stare at each other)

Dave: (Running after Sky) Wait for me!

(Cuts back to the stage. Everyone is cleaned up.)

Bridgette: So Sammy, since you and J.D. won, what do you two plan to do to the statue?

Sammy: (Holding up a bucket of mud) I have an idea. (Looks deviously at the statue as she smashes mud into the statues eyes) Here's mud in your eye McLean.

Noah: Good Choice! I would've done the same to the real Billy with all that grease I had to lay down in Episode 2.

Me: Me too. Here's what I would do.

I held up a dodgeball and threw it at the statue and it smashed into the nose of the statue and shattered it.

Nico: Nice one!

Me: Thanks man.

(Trent spins the wheel and it lands on the question mark)

Trent: Oh would you look at that; looks like one of our new friends gets to give us a challenge. So, who's up for it?

Jasmine: (Raises her hand) I've got one and everyone but Sammy, Sky, Scarlett, and Gwen has to attend.

Duncan: Gwen doesn't have to compete in this?

Jasmine: Nope, cause she already did three years ago.

Gwen: Oh I know what your challenge is.

Gwen/Jasmine: Vegemite!

(Everyone gasps)

Me: Uh oh!

Jo: What the heck is that?

Jasmine: It's a kind of sauce that can only be found in Australia. You put it on your sandwiches or any other kind of meal.

Me: I remember having that. Years ago.

Gwen: And let me tell you all; that stuff is strong! After Jasmine rescued me,… Actually do we have a clip of that? (Someone nods yes off-screen) Great, play it!

(The clip plays at the moment when Gwen lands in Australia after she was eliminated in World Tour. She is then kick in the face, which was puffy due to her allergic reaction to Eucalyptus, by a Kangaroo before Jasmine jumps in and hog ties it. She then pulls out an epee pen and cures Gwen of her allergic reaction.)

Gwen: (Gasps as her face goes back to normal) Thanks for that.

Jasmine: Don't mention it. Let me take you home with me and I'll get you something to eat before I send you back home.

Gwen: Great! I'm Gwen by the way.

Jasmine: (Shake her hand) Jasmine.

(The clip ends)

Me: Wow! So that's how you two met and became friends.

LeShawna: Wow, you two knew each other before the other seasons.

Jasmine: Yeah, we became good friends after I saved her.

Vince: Cool!

Me: That's anazing.

Nico: It sure is.

Gwen: And now you owe me twice for saving me in the pit. (Thinks for a second) Actually just once since you destroyed that other statue of Billy.

Jasmine: I'll see what I can do about that.

Jo: And how come Samey, Sky, and Scarlett don't have to do this?

Sky: Well I was able to have my sleep over with Scarlett, and we invited Sammy and Jasmine. It was Scarlett's birthday yesterday and we had a great time. (Looks at Ella) Sorry we didn't invite you.

Ella: That's alright; I wasn't there when you girls came up with the idea.

Sammy: Well Jasmine had some vegemite with her and we wanted to try some. Big Mistake! We almost gagged when we tasted it. Luckily we were able to wash the taste away. I'm never having that stuff again.

Me: Whoo. No kidding.

Jasmine: It's fine; you don't have to, but everyone else has to. Oh yeah, and Harold doesn't have to, he tried some as well since we had the sleepover at his house.

(Jasmine gives everyone a packet of vegemite and a slice of bread. They don't look happy as they spread it on the piece of bread.)

Jasmine: OK, the one who doesn't complain as much will win. Go!

Trent: (Takes a bite) OH MAN! You were right Gwen; this stuff is strong.

Bridgette: (Takes a bite) OH, I'm so going to need a drink of water when we are done.

Mike: (Moans) Manitoba Smith would have loved this but not me.

Me: He sure would. But he is apart of you now.

Mike: That's true.

Zoey: (Spits after her bite) I thought you said you still had a part of all of your personalities still inside you after you reset your mind.

Mike: Only their abilities, not their taste.

Cameron: Resetting your mind won't fix your disorder; (sticks his tongue out after taking a bite) only blending them together can do that. But it would take years to do that.

Me: That's true.

Sam: Well this is a cartoon so (takes a bite and spits) common logic doesn't have to exist.

Me: Save the 4th Wall breaking for us Sam.

Sam: Sorry.

Cameron: (Annoyed) But that's beside the point, and please don't break to fourth wall.

Dave: Yeah, leave that to someone else; (takes a bite and gags) like a pink pony.

Me: Or Team Loud Phoenix Storm.

Brick: (Groans) I've eaten some disgusting stuff back at boot camp but this, this is the worst.

Me: Trust me. You aren't the only one. My grandfather had to survive on eating inedible gruel back then during the war.

Brick: Wow.

Scott: (Spits) If I had some dirt this probably wouldn't taste that bad.

Me: That can be arranged.

Duncan: Yuck; even the food in Jail didn't taste this bad.

Me: I thought they serve chili in prison Duncan?

Duncan: They do but only on certain days.

Courtney: (Cringes) Even the food from Wawanakwa tasted better than this.

Me: Well now I know what my grandfather ate during the war.

Amy: I don't see what's so wrong with this. You guys are a bunch of babies.

Nico: Shut up Amy.

Max: Evil never complains about eating.

Laney: I think it's tasty.

Lana: It's really good Jasmine.

Jasmine: Thanks mate.

Nico: That's Lana for you.

Leonard: This could be good wizard food.

(Amy, Max, and Leonard take a bite of the vegemite. Their faces become stunned and green as they drop the bread, grab a paper bag, and bury their mouths in them as they vomit.)

Sammy: (To Jasmine) Huh, guess you were able to make Amy puke. Looks like I owe you five bucks. (Jasmine & Sammy giggle)

We laughed.

Owen: (Takes a bite and licks his lips) Wahoo; this is delicious! Is there anymore?

Me: (Chuckles) Owen will eat practically anything.

Coop: I think it's really good.

Lisa Simpson: It's really good. And I am a vegetarian.

Alejandro: (Annoyed) Of course the ones who would eat anything would like this.

Me: Said the one who got his face punched in by yours truly.

Lucy Loud: Yep.

Jasmine: OK, everyone can stop eating. Since Owen, J.D., Lisa Simpson, Lana and Laney never complained, they win.

Heather: Good, cause I wasn't going to take another bite out of this crap.

Varie punched her in the face.

Duncan: Maybe that's what this stuff is made out of.

Heather: (Covers her mouth as her cheeks bulges out) Does anyone have another one of those paper bags lying around here?

Nico: Over there.

Nico pointed to a bag on a pile of chum. Heather threw up in Max's face!

Max: OH THANKS A LOT YOU BITCH!

Jasmine: So, Owen, what do you want to do to the statue?

Max: Oh I think I have an idea if Owen will let me.

Owen: Sure Max, go right ahead because I've got nothing.

(Max takes the rest of the vegemite and shoves it into the statues mouth)

Max: Let's see you try this Billy!

(Cuts to Billy in the taxi just outside the airport)

Billy: (Outraged) No one force feeds me like that; even if it's just a statue. (Gets out of the taxi) I'm coming for you all.

Taxi Driver: (Angry) Hey, what about the toll?

(Cuts back to the stage)

Bridgette: OK, now's a good time to take a little break and talk to our new friends even more.

Max: I really want to hear more about Samey's father.

Me: Shut up Max!

Trent: Actually we want talk to Sky.

Max: (Annoyed) Fine!

Bridgette: So Sky, how's it been for you after Pahkitew Island and Galaxy and what's the progress on your sister's condition?

Sky: Well as you can see I'm having a lot of fun today. Life is better without this show. But as you all know I only came just so I could save Misty. And I was lucky to get the money but even more lucky to get to the hospital on time. The doctors said that if I was an hour later I might have lost her forever.

Me: Oh man.

Lindsay: (Wipes away a tear) Aw, that really is sad.

Sky: Don't be sad Lindsay. She's doing great now. She still has to stay there for a while but she will make a full recovery soon.

Me: That's a relief.

Trent: Speaking of you sister, you said she was the one who named you Sky. How's that?

Sky: Well I was born at home in the backyard and Misty helped our late mom deliver me. When Misty held me in her arms for the first time, she just smiled at me. She then noticed me smiling not only at her, but to the sky as I pointed my arm upward. She agreed with me that the sky was beautiful; and that's why I was caused Sky.

Courtney: Wow, that's amazing!

Me: That is adorable!

Sky: Yeah, she was always there for me; like I was to her. (Looks at Dave) And I kept my promise about introducing Dave to her.

Lori: Aww. Literally adorable.

Dave: Yeah, she was very nice. But she wasn't the only one that we met that day.

Sky: Oh yeah, on the way to my sleepover, we stopped at the jail where Keith was.

Me: Who was Keith?

Sky: He was my ex-boyfriend. I finally broke up with him while we were there and he wasn't happy. We got a copy of the jail's security video from the warden for you all to see. Play the clip!

(The monitor plays the clip that Sky brought)

Keith: (Angry) Fine, break up with me for all I care. I never loved you anyways. I was just using you just so I could get close to your sister and use her athletic moves against her. I'm the real greatest Olympian in the world.

We gasped!

Sky: (Annoyed) You will never be a great athlete. And you will never be a great boyfriend. (Calms down as she holds Dave) Dave is the real one for me. He's kind, funny, and truly does care for me. (She lets go and leaves) come on Dave, let's get out of here.

Dave: Coming Sky! (He looks angrily at Keith) You will pay for almost killing her sister and for almost ruining her life forever.

Keith: And what do you plan to do about it; you germiphobic weakling?

Dave: This!

POW!

(He punches Keith in the face and knocks him out)

Dave: I did it to Billy and now you know how he feels. (He walks off camera before screaming in pain)

(The clip ends)

Me: Nice one Dave.

Scott: Wow, you not only knocked out Billy but you also knocked out Keith; I'm impressed.

Me: For once I agree.

Lucy Loud: I agree too.

Lynn: Nice shot though Dave.

Dave: Well he did deserve it, and I didn't get into trouble for that because the warden was sick and tired of him shouting 24/7. That was the quietest day he ever had since Keith arrived.

Me: I would be sick of that as well.

Sierra: (Excited) Your fans are so going to flip when they hear about this.

Nico: No kidding.

Trent: And speaking of fans, we have some who want to call in and talk to you Sky.

Sky: (A bit worried) I hope it's not more negative stuff.

Trent: Don't worry, everyone here has something nice to say about you.

(The monitor turns on behind him and a fan named Peter appears)

Peter: Hi Sky, it's Peter! I originally thought that you were nothing special but I guess you proved me wrong. I'm very proud of you and glad to see that you are happy. And you do look very pretty. Dave is lucky to have someone like you.

Sky: Awe, thanks Peter.

(Cuts to a fan named Erin)

Erin: I'll be honest, I thought Sky was going to be bland, but after seeing her struggles, her great sportsman skills and her reason to why she needed the money, I'll say she's a great person. Great job Sky!

(Sky gives him a thumbs up. Cuts to a fan named Rebekah.)

Rebekah: (Wipes her eyes) That was beautiful… I'm sorry I ever doubted you, Sky! (Starts crying)

Sky: It's OK, I forgive you!

Rebekah: (Sniffs) Thanks! (Blows her nose)

(Cuts to a fan named Kyle)

Kyle: I'll admit Sky, I had my doubts about you a little bit at first, but then you've turned yourself around and proved to me that you are a truly good person indeed.

(Sky places her hand over her heart. Cuts to a fan named Cluny.)

Cluny: Although Sky might had some bad moments in Total Drama, she still showed that she was and can be a great friend. She was loyal to Ella and kept her word not to tell Chris that Ella sang. She also tried to find a way to help Sammy. She even tried to make it up to Dave for before. She is what we call a loyal and great friend, unlike Sugar.

Sugar: (Muffles, Outraged) Hey!

Cluny: Since I found out her reason of being in Total Drama and trying to win the million, I'd say that Sky is a hero and I'm sorry if I almost thought of her as a female Lightning. Here is to contrast them, Lightning is a selfish idiot while Sky is a caring and brilliant hero.

Lightning: (Offended) Hey!

Cluny: I'm glad Sky got to save her sister on time, regain her friendships, and her relationship with Dave. She deserves it and has gained more of my respect.

Sky: Thanks!

(Cuts to a fan named Daniel)

Daniel: When I first saw Sky; I thought of her no more than an a bland/athletic version of Zoey whose leadership skills were lacking. However as time went on she proved to be an excellent contestant that is easily relatable. I'm glad she made it this far in Total Drama.

Sky: (Amazed) I can't believe how many people like me now. (To Zoey) Sorry if people are still calling you bland.

Zoey: Haters gonna hate!

(Cuts to a fan named Noy)

Noy: So… She is playing fair, she's good; sometimes too good, but when it's needed, she knows how to stand for what hers. She's sweet, kind, and seems to care for her family. She's good looking, a good leader, and puts others before herself.

(Sky is starting to feel emotional about all these positive feedbacks. Cuts to a fan named Linda.)

Linda: Sky is and will always be my favorite TDPI character. I loved her in this season and how she was determined to win for saving her sister Misty. I'm also a huge Skave fan! I really, really liked her friendship with Scarlett, Shawn, Sammy and other characters. She is a very nice and sweet person and she deserves the best.

(Dave places his hand over Sky's and they smile before sharing a hug)

(Cuts to two older athletes who look like they are in college; both wearing pink T-shirts and purple shorts. One is a guy who is big and muscular and the other is his girlfriend who is tall and thin.)

Ryan: Hey there Sky, it's Ryan.

Stephanie: And Stephanie.

Ryan: We are glad that you made it to the finale.

Stephanie: We knew that you would do well.

Sky: Thanks you guys. (Looks closely at them) Hey, you almost look like the guys in my dream back in Episode 8.

Ryan: Really, WOW!

Stephanie: Well maybe we'll see you at the Olympics in the future. Can't wait to compete alongside you.

Sky: Sure thing!

Ryan: Oh you are so kind Stephanie.

Stephanie: So are you Ryan.

(The two of them start making out as the monitor turns off)

Me: I remember this.

Bridgette: (Sighs) I remember when Geoff and I used to make out all the time. I really wish he was here for this special occasion.

(Trent's phone rings and he answers it)

Trent: Hello!

Geoff: Hey dude!

Me: Hey Geoff.

Geoff: What's up J.D. my man?

Me: Just getting ready to kick Billy McLean's fucking butt when he gets here.

Trent: Hey Geoff, nice of you to call in.

Geoff: Is Bridgette still there?

Trent: Yeah she is. I'll let you talk to her. (He hands the phone to her)

Bridgette: (Excited) Hi Geoff, I miss you.

Geoff: I miss you too Babe. Hey, I've got a surprise for you.

Bridgette: What is it?

Geoff: Look to your right.

(Bridgette turns to her right and is extremely happy to see Geoff standing right next to the Pahkitew cast. She hangs up, hands Trent his phone, and runs to Geoff as they both share a hug.)

Bridgette: Geoff, I'm so happy that you've come back. Is it just for this special?

Geoff: Nope, my parents weren't happy with their new job over in Europe so they decided to move back here. Now we can still be together in person.

Me: I'm sorry man.

Cody: That's exactly how I felt about Gwen being with Trent. I trusted him and they were both happy together. I meant every word I said about them back in season one.

Trent: Thanks man! And Geoff, before you take your seat next to Bridgette, we like you to introduce your favorite segment.

Geoff: Awesome! It's time for another segment of "That's Gonna Leave a Mark!"

Me: I love this part.

(Stock footage from the seasons best slapsticks slide across the screen)

(Cuts to Topher after Chef tosses him off the cliff that he and Billy were on. As soon as he hits the ground, Chef starts firing numerous tennis balls at him; burying him in a pile of tennis balls. Cuts to Shawn trying to climb out of the ravine with his grease pig, but he ends up falling down it again after it bites him again. Cuts to Rodney getting pecked on by Clucky viciously after his team loses. Cuts to Evil Scarlett as she is about to sit back down into her chair; but she misses the mark and falls out of the chair. Cuts to Sugar tossing Sky's shoes to her, but she ends up knocking her out; causing her to fall out of bed. Cuts to Billy being punched by Dave. Scuba Bear 3.0 shows up, grabs Billy by the neck, and starts punching him over and over again.)

(Cuts to Billy at the airport terminal. He is extremely mad when he sees and hears everyone laughing at his misfortune.)

Billy: (Angry) Those kids are going down!

Airport Attendant: Here's your ticket.

Billy: (Calm) Oh thanks! (He winks at her before storming off towards his flight)

(Cuts back to the Stage)

Topher: Seeing me getting attacked wasn't funny, but watching Billy getting pummeled by a bear is very therapeutic.

Me: Boy it sure is.

Nico: What a fucking failure.

Sky: I know right! What did you think Rodney?

(She sees him shivering in fear)

Rodney: The chicken; it haunts me.

Me: That chicken was a lunatic.

Sky: Well Chef turned her into chicken meal. So she can't hurt you anymore.

(The monitor turns on; revealing Scarlett)

Scarlett: I've got bad news.

D.J.: You won't be able to finish your invention before the end of the show.

Scarlett: No, it's Clucky! She broke in and stole my "Chicken Thought Translator." She told me that she wanted to get revenge on Rodney and stormed off.

Me: Oh shit!

(The monitor turns off)

Rodney: (Panicking) CLUCKY! (He huddles in fear)

Me: That chicken is gonna be a chicken dinner by the time I'm through with her!

Shawn: I thought that Chef cooked her up for our dinner.

Chef: (Off-screen) Actually she got away from me so I ordered another chicken instead.

Shawn: Uh oh! Better hide Rodney. She's got it in for him for insulting her on the island.

Sam: Wait, I've got an idea! I saw this in a point and click game once. Does anyone have any shaving cream? (Everyone shake no) Well does anyone have any whipped cream?

Owen: Yep, (pulls out a can of whipped cream) eat up.

Sam: Oh it's not for eating.

(He sprays it on top of Rodney's head and gives him a mustache and goatee. Clucky storms in.)

Clucky: Alright, where is that Rodney? I know he's around here somewhere. He's going to pay for making me a laughing stock around the hen house.

Tyler: Nope, haven't seen him.

Me: Nope.

Mike: You've got the wrong place.

Sammy: Never seen him before in my life.

Clucky: Liars! I know he's around he… (Notices a giant old country man) Who is this?

Sam: Don't you remember; he's one of your old friends.

Clucky: And that would be…

(Rodney realizes who he is pretending to be)

Rodney: (Old man country voice) The one and only Colonel Sanders.

Clucky: What, I don't know anyone named… (She gasps and freezes in terror) Colonel Sanders, as in the founder of…

Me: Yep. K.F.C.

(Rodney holds a bucket of chicken legs. Clucky "Bwaks" in fear and removes the translator just before running out of the studio. Rodney removes the disguise.)

Me: Heh!

Rodney: Ha, that will teach that big chicken not to mess with me. (He licks his cream covered fingers) Thanks Sam, thanks Owen.

Sam: It was no trouble; I just want to know why Scarlett invented a "Chicken Thought Translator."

Max: So she could talk to chickens, of course. She's crazy that way. (He suddenly gets electrified)

Dawn: Wow, who did that?

(Scarlett appears on the monitor)

Scarlett: I put a shock collar around his left wrist in case he tried to insult me.

Me: Good idea Scarlett.

Max: (Annoyed) You will pay for thi… (He gets electrified again and faints)

Scarlett: (Sighs) If Max is a villain; then I'm a hero. (The Monitor turns off)

Me: And if he tries anything else, I will kill him.

Trent: (A little weird out) Okay after all that I think it's time for another break.

Bridgette: Good idea. We'll be right back after these messages.

Max: (Dazed) Does anyone smell fried chicken?

Me: Just you.

(The D pops in and out of the title)

Bridgette: And we are back. After a little distraction from a crazy chicken, let's get back to our interview with Sky.

Sky: Well I've pretty much said everything that I wanted to say. But I do want to show you all something. (She pulls out a DVD) This is the DVD that Chris exposed during the Torture Challenge.

Duncan: (Smirks) You mean the one with you playing with your stuffed animals?

Sky: Yes, but there is more to it. I want to play it again; but this time, the whole way through.

(She hands the DVD over to Bridgette who slips it into the monitor. The clip starts at the begin again with Sky sitting on her bedroom floor in a dress barefoot having a tea party with her stuffed animals.)

Sky Clip: (Talking to her stuffed bear) Would you like to have some more tea Mr. Cuddles?

(Duncan, Heather, Alejandro, Scott, Lightning, Jo, Max, Amy, and Sugar begin to crack up)

Sky Clip: (Shows her giggling at her stuffed rabbit) Oh Mr. Cotton Tail you are funny!

Jo: (Cracking up) Real 16 year old Olympians don't play with their toys.

Me: Shut up Jo.

Mike: Well I think it's cute.

Zoey: Me too.

Lori: Same here.

Sky Clip: (Talking to her stuffed cat) More sugar Ms. Fluffy?

Heather: (Laughs) What would your sister think about you doing this?

Sky: Funny you should ask because…

(Misty, who is recording Sky, giggles in the background)

Sky Clip: (Embarrassed) Misty!

Misty Clip: (Off-screen) No no, keep going. Just pretend I'm not here.

Sky Clip: How about you join us instead.

Misty Clip: OK.

(Transitions to Misty joining Sky's tea party. She is wearing a purple hoodie, black leggings that stop at her calves, and is also barefoot.)

Geoff: Hey look, a burnet Bridgette, cool. (Bridgette giggles)

Sky Clip: Want some more?

Misty Clip: Yes please. (Sky pours her cup) Thanks! Let me fill up your cup.

(She picks up the tea pot and is about to fill up Sky's cup. As she pours, she accidentally drops the pot and splashes some tea on Sky's dress. Misty looks upset until both of them start laughing. The clip ends.)

(Everyone, even Sky, laughs)

Katie: That was so cute to watch.

Sadie: Guess you and your sister have a lot of fun together.

Sky: We sure do!

Me: That was so adorable.

Heather: I still find it funny that a 16 year old like you would still play with stuffed animals while having tea parties. What, do you have autism or something? (Laughs)

Celica punched Heather in the stomach!

Mike: (Outraged) Hey, it's not nice to make fun of people who have autism.

Sky: Thanks for defending them Mike but no, I don't have autism. It's just something I love to do. Everyone has a kid inside them right?

Me: That's true. I may be 16 myself by I will stay like this forever because of my immortality.

Geoff: That's cool. Well-spoken Sky.

Sky: Thanks! Well, I think I'm done interviewing, unless my sister would like to say a few words if she is watching.

Bridgette: Well you're in luck because she is and we have her on the air right now. (Misty shows up on the monitor still in her hospital bed, but feels much better at this point) Hello Misty.

Misty: Hey everyone, nice to meet all of you.

Trent: It's nice to meet you too. I can see you look stronger now than when we saw you in the finale.

Misty: Oh yeah. After the operation I could feel myself feeling stronger every day. I also finally got a good night's sleep after that.

Me: I'm glad you're doing all right Misty. The new heart I gave you with some of my blood really helped.

Sky: You gave Misty your heart J.D.?

Me: I sure did. The accident left her heart damaged. So I decided to volunteer and gave her my heart. I couldn't just let her die. So I had to help her out. And because of my immortality and invincibility my organs regenerate.

Sky then came up to me and hugged me and started crying.

Sky: (Crying) Thank you so much J.D.! You are a true angel! A selfless true angel!

Me: It was what I had to do Sky.

Dave: That was a really selfless deed J.D.

Nico: No kidding. Penny Marko had her heart transplanted as well with J.D.'s heart as well.

Zoey: Whoa! That is a really selfless deed.

Mike: So how much longer do you have to stay there?

Misty: The doctor says I should stay for another three days. The only real injuries I have left are a few cuts and bruises. But as soon as I get out, I'm going to spend the whole day with Sky. Maybe we could spend a day at the beach, go shopping, or even see a movie together.

Sky: I would love that. By the way, how much of the show did you see?

Misty: I saw every minute of it; including the moment when you performed Rhythm Gymnastics for the first time. You did an amazing job and I am very proud of you.

Sky: (Touched) Thanks Sis!

Misty: And when you mentioned doing it, I asked the doctor if I could record your performance and he said yes. So I recorded it, mailed the DVD to the Olympic Officials, and they checked it over.

Sky: (Surprised) You mailed my performance to the officials?

Misty: Yep, and they loved your performance too; so much that they want you to perform next year at the Olympics against other performers.

Sky: (Excited) I get to compete in the Olympics! Oh thank you Misty! Are you coming with me?

Misty: Of course I will. Maybe I'll compete alongside you. And you can invite two friends as well.

Sky: I know which two I'm going to bring.

Me: We all can go with you Sky. We wouldn't miss it for the world. I'm going to participate in the Olympics as well.

Lynn: Same here.

Lori: Me too for Golf.

Sky: Awesome!

Dave: Way to go Sky! I didn't see any episodes after I was eliminated but I did catch up yesterday and I was also impressed by your act.

Nico: We all were.

Sky: Thanks Dave! (The two of them share a kiss) So why did you tell me this now Misty?

Misty: Hmm, oh sorry but the doctor says I have to end the call here so I can get some more rest. But to answer your question, I thought it would be the perfect way to say this; Happy Birthday Sis!

Sky: (Surprised) That's right, I was so busy with what's been going on that I forgot that my birthday was coming up, and it's today. Thanks for the present Sis.

Misty: You're welcome! See you when I get home. (She hangs up)

Trent: Congratulations Sky! Sorry we didn't get you anything or planned a party for you.

Sky: That's OK, meeting you all is good enough for a present and this special is good enough for a party. These challenges are like my party games.

Me: I'm glad Sky.

Bridgette: Well we'll get back to the challenges in a minute but first I like Geoff to announce his second favorite segment.

Geoff: (Excited) Oh yeah, it's time for a little something called (looks at a note) "Truth or Flyswatter!"

(A blindfolded statue shows up on screen. It is then swatted out of frame as a flyswatter knocks it off its base.)

Trent: OK, we will ask some of you guys a few questions and then we will get on with the next challenge. Since we are talking to Sky, she will go first. (Sky looks nervous) Don't worry, just tell the truth and you will be fine. Your question is "Did you ever think that you would be able to save your sister in time?"

Sky: Well I knew I had to win the money to save her but honestly, I didn't think I would make it. Also, it might look like that I was brave throughout the whole season, but the truth is that I was very scared.

(Everyone waited but nothing happened)

Gwen: Wow, you were scared this whole time.

Sky: From the second I left my home. Not only could I lose the only family I have left, I could have been spending my life on the streets since I didn't have a job due to all my school work and my time working out at the local gym.

Dave: Well Misty did say that if she didn't make it, Scarlett would take you in.

Sky: You're right, what Harold said was true; she and I were so close that we were like sisters. That's why I sometimes focus on her more than the challenges.

Scarlett: (Over loudspeaker) And I would have happily take you in.

Sammy: And if Scarlett didn't return, Jasmine and I could have adopted you too. There was enough for the both of us to be adopted. You could have also worked with us.

Sky: Thanks Sammy! I would've liked that very much. (They share a hug)

Me: Aww.

Lori: So adorable.

Carol: Yeah.

Maria: So cute.

Bridgette: Awe, good for you Sky. Now it's Dave's turn. Dave, after you quit due to a broken heart, "Did you ever think that leaving Sky was a mistake?"

Dave: Actually, my anger for her never left until I saw her second audition tape. I never cared about her since I quit.

(Nothing happens)

Noah: And I'm guessing that all that anger went towards Billy after he exposed her ultimate secret.

Dave: Yep, and Gwen, you forgot the black eye and missing tooth on the statue.

Gwen: Well I wanted to keep it damage free for this event, but you can add that in when you win one of these challenges.

Dave: Oh I plan to.

Me: What a dirtbag.

Trent: Sammy, Did you ever try to reform your mother and sister?

Sammy: I tried to even when my dad was still alive but I just gave up. They will never change at all.

(Nothing happens)

Amy: And you are right; we'll never give runts like you any love.

Lincoln: Shut your trap Amy!

Cody: (Angry) Hey, stop calling Sammy a runt or a pig. If anyone in your family is a pig; it's you.

Amy: (Outraged) WHAT! WHY YOU!

POW!

Lincoln punched her in the face!

Lincoln: You have no love for anyone but yourself Amy!

Earth: You tell her Linky!

Jo: You tell her dweebs!

Cody: I'll take that as a compliment.

Lincoln: Me too.

Bridgette: Well Amy, if that's how you really feel about Sammy, than how about this? "Are you really nothing without her?"

Amy: Are you kidding me? I don't need her. Everyone says I'm the best.

SLAP! SLAP SLAP SLAP SLAP SLAP!

(The flyswatter comes down and starts beating Amy over and over again)

Topher: (Laughs) So Sammy IS better than you. You just scare everyone into saying that you are better. I didn't know what I was thinking this season. She is amazing!

Sammy: Awe! (She gives Topher a hug)

Me: Fuck you Amy.

Sierra: Ooh, looks like we could have another couple before the show is over.

Me: We sure do Sierra.

Trent: OK, one more question and we're done.

Dave: Oh, can I ask one?

Trent: I guess so.

Dave: Sky, sorry that you have to see me do this. (Turns to Leonard) Leonard, "Are you a real Wizard?"

Leonard: (Annoyed) Again! I already told you that I AM a real Wizard.

Sugar: (Muffles) He's right!

(One flyswatter smashes Leonard before a second one smashes Sugar)

Me: I did help him improve his magic.

Dave: I know I turned into Billy for a sec there, but it was worth it to see the FAKE Wizard get swatted, and I didn't expect Sugar to get swatted too.

Me: Me neither.

Brick: Guess even Leonard thinks he's not a real Wizard.

Leonard: But I am! (The flyswatter hits him again)

Geoff: And that is why I will never act like Billy again during a talk show. I won't, I won't do it.

Me: Good for you Geoff.

Bridgette: I know. OK, time for the next challenge. (Trent spins the wheel. It lands on Courtney.) Courtney, you're up my friend.

Courtney: Sweet! OK, (pulls out a script) I have here the script for the ORIGINAL challenge that takes place on the night of the merge. So I want Sky, Dave, Max, Shawn, Jasmine, Sugar, and Scarlett; if she wants to.

Scarlett: (On the monitor) If it involves food then yes. I need a lunch break. Harold can manage without me for a few minutes.

Courtney: Great! Instead of a torture challenge, Billy originally wanted you guys to drink a milkshake made out of warm mayonnaise and rotten meat that expired in 1976.

Me: YUCK!

Lana: Cool!

Courtney: He called them "Juggy Chugs". (Everyone gasps) Then he wanted you guys to play hide and go seek while having food poisoning. (Everyone looks nervous) But for my challenge, there will be no hide and seek and you have to drink REAL milkshakes. (Everyone cheers)

Me: Awesome!

(The stage is set to look like a fancy restaurant. The contestants take their seats as Chef delivers their shakes.)

Courtney: OK, the first one to finish their shake wins. If you get brain freeze, you are out.

Me: Boy this is a piece of cake.

Scott: So you chose a challenge based on your demise from All Stars.

Courtney: (Annoyed) Shut it!

Celica punched Scott in the nose.

Scarlett: Can I get a spoon or a straw? I just want to eat this at my own pace. Food challenges aren't my thing.

Courtney: (Gives her a straw) No problem. Everyone else, start chugging.

I drank my whole shake and it was tasty!

Me: Yummy! Chocolate banana flavor.

(Max is the first to chug down, then Jasmine, then Shawn, and then Dave. Scarlett just drinks hers at her own pace. Sky holds her nose so that none of her milkshake goes up it. She starts chugging as ice cream slushes all over her dress.)

Max: (Holds his head) AH, BRAIN FREEZE, I GIVE! (Sugar laughs) At least I'm not going to finish last. You can't even get the thing in your mouth. (Sugar looks annoyed)

Jasmine: OOH, my brain hurts.

Shawn: Mine too. At least it's from the ice cream and not from any invading zombies.

Jasmine: Maybe we could use this to stop the zombies; give them brain freeze and watch their heads explode I mean.

Shawn: Unless they're mindless, that could work.

Courtney: Now it is just down to Dave and Sky. Who will win?

(Dave looks at the statue and forces the rest of his shake down his throat. He shakes his empty glass upside down.)

Dave: Done!

Sky: (Finishing hers) Done!

Max: Ooh Dave beat Sky. I bet she's going to get angry over her loss.

Sky: Nope, I'm proud of him. Congratulations Dave!

Me: Way to go Dave.

Dave: Thanks Sky. Thanks J.D. Now that I am done; (He holds his head and screams) AH!

Courtney: He got brain freeze but he did finish before that so he does win.

Me: Way to go!

Dave: (Weakly) Yes! (He looks at Sky and giggles) Guess you are a messy eater.

Sky: (Looks at her ice cream covered dress) What can I say? I love ice cream! I just wish I had some blueberries to go with it.

Me: That's okay.

(They start laughing until Sky lets out a huge burp. She covers her mouth before everyone, including her, begins to crack up.)

Me: Nice one!

Hunter: Wunderbar!

Owen: Way to go Sky! (He stands up and salutes) I salute to you for being an excellent belcher. (He then accidentally lets out a huge long fart. He looks stupefied.)

Lana: Nice one Owen!

Lynn: Cool!

Me: (Laughs) Good one buddy!

Trent: (Annoyed) You're kidding me right; with everyone around you? Chef, please take him away until there is no more gas in him.

(Chef grabs Owen and begins to take him away)

Owen: Sorry, it was the beans I ate before the show.

Me: Welcome to my world buddy.

(The stage is reset to its original state. Owen is brought back and Sky is all cleaned up. Scarlett is backstage again.)

Bridgette: So Dave, we already know what you plan to do to the statue.

Dave: That's right! (He paints a black eye over the statues right eye and a missing tooth) Perfect!

Me: Awesome job man!

(Pans out to Billy who just looks annoyed. Cuts back to the stage.)

Trent: Alright, whose challenge is next? (He spins the wheel and it lands on Zoey) Zoey!

Zoey: OK, I want everyone to come outside.

(Cuts to outside the studio)

Zoey: Remember the Doom Balloon challenge? (Everyone looks annoyed)

Me: How can I forget that one.

Zoey: Well you will be doing it again, only this time all of the balloons will be filled with paint.

Topher: Phew, that's not that bad.

Zoey: No it's not. (Holds up a coin) However, only the guys or the girls will be using balloons. The others will be using paintball guns instead. (Everyone looks excited) When I flip this coin, whoever calls it will use the paintball guns. (She flips the coin)

Total Drama Guys: Heads!

Total Drama Girls: Tails!

(The coin lands)

Zoey: Heads, guys get the guns!

Me: (Cocks blaster) Lets get them!

(The guys cheer as Chef gives them the guns. The girls moan as he gives them each 3 balloons.)

Zoey: Okay, it's everyone for themselves now. You all get one minute to hide around the back lot. Whoever is left standing wins the challenge. Ready? GO!

(Everyone starts running. Cuts to Leonard and Sugar.)

Leonard: With my magic wizard powers we cannot lose.

Dave: (Off-screen) Hey you!

Leonard: (Surprised) What? (He is shot with paintball bullets while Sugar is pelted with balloons)

SPLAT SPLAT SPLAT SPLAT SPLAT SPLAT!

Sky: Yes, we got them. (She and Dave high five until Sky gets hit in the back and the back of her head with a balloon. They turn around and find Amy with one balloon left.)

Amy: Sky down, Samey to go!

Dave: (Angry) That's two times that you will pay for insulting Sky. Anyone close by that can help me take Amy down?

Me: Count me in!

(Beardo and Topher show up)

Dave: Shoot Her! (They start shooting at her but she manages to dodge every shot) SHOOT HER! (She keeps dodging and manages to escapes) Dang it! Beardo, follow me. Topher, even though Sky is out, keep her safe in case Amy does something even worse.

Topher: Got it!

(Just as Dave and Beardo leave, Topher hears Amy behind him. He turns around and takes his shot; only to find out that he accidentally shot Sammy.)

Topher: (Worried) Sammy, I'm so sorry! I thought you were Amy.

Sammy: It's OK!

Me: She has blue hair to tell them apart.

Topher: Oh right. But no it's not. I don't want to hurt the girl that I…

(He covers his mouth before he can finish his sentence. Sammy smiles at him romantically before he smiles back. They lean in closer and they share a kiss.)

Me: Aww. So romantic!

Lori: Literally adorable!

Sky: (Wipes away a tear) I'm so proud of you both.

(Cuts to Ella dancing around the back lot while humming until Max shoots her with paint)

Max: Ha, should've been quieter. No one can defeat me! (He laughs evilly until he is pelted with a balloon) Who do this, WHO?

(Shawn and Jasmine high five from behind a cardboard car.)

Me: Nice shot you two.

Rodney shows up.

Rodney: Are you OK Ella?

Ella: Yes I am. (She places her hand on his arm)

(Rodney's eyes glitter as Ella appears in his love frame. Ella's eyes glitter as Rodney appears in her love frame dressed like a prince. They stare at each other so much that Rodney doesn't notice that Shawn shoots him with paint.)

(Cuts to Dave and Beardo)

Dave: Amy is around here somewhere. (He then spots her about to pelt Sammy)

Amy: I don't care if you are already out, you are going down. (She throws her last balloon at her but Topher jumps in front of her and takes the shot)

Me: Whoa!

Sammy: (Shocked) Topher, are you OK?

Topher: Yeah, just returning the favor.

Me: The True Hero shot-taking trick. Way to go Topher!

(They smile at each other before they hug. Amy growls.)

Dave: Gotcha! (Looks at Beardo) Hey, how about a little video game hunting music?

Beardo: (The music to Duck Hunt from the start menu)

Dave: Perfect!

(Dave and Beardo begin to shoot at Amy while Beardo plays the opening music to Duck Hunt. Amy gets shot in multiple places.)

SPLAT SPLAT SPLAT SPLAT SPLAT SPLAT SPLAT SPLAT SPLAT!

Amy: Aw, eh, ouch, YEOW!

Nico: Amy, you have failed this world!

Nico fired a blast of ink and paint and drenched Amy.

Beardo: (The music when the dog holds up a duck)

Dave: Thanks for the help. Here is your reward for helping me. (He shoots a paintball at Beardo)

Beardo: (Faints, the sound when a duck gets shot and falls from the sky)

Dave: Like I said, game over.

Me: Nice one guys. Take that Amy, you bitch.

Shawn: (Annoyed) Oh that was nice; betraying someone that was helping you out.

Me: It was clever though.

Dave: I still don't like him but I needed the help in order to get revenge on Amy. And now that I have, I don't care what happens next. If I must pay, you can go ahead and shoot me. Don't worry; I'm not afraid to get dirty anymore. (Shawn shoots him) Thanks!

(Jasmine arrives)

Jasmine: Well Shawn, it's just you and me now.

Shawn: But I don't want to shoot you. I don't want another episode like the one we had back on the island.

Jasmine: Hmm, maybe Zoey can give us a tie.

Zoey: (Over loudspeaker) If that's what you want then that's OK. Shawn and Jasmine win!

We cheered for them.

(Shawn and Jasmine cheer. Cuts back to the stage. Everyone is cleaned up.)

Zoey: What do you plan to do to the statue?

Shawn/Jasmine: (Holding up their paintball guns and balloons) This! (They shoot and pelt the Billy statue)

(Cuts to Billy looking both angry and shocked)

Billy: Are these kids trying to kill me? (All the passengers look at him funny) Well they are.

(Cuts back to the stage)

Me: I have something to add.

I went up to the statue and wrote on his shirt "Billy is a fucked up fuckmouth lunatic." And I put on his forehead "Billy's mother is a whore." Top that you fucking lunatic.

Nico: Nice one!

Cut's to Billy looked at the state and he was boiling pissed!

Billy: NO ONE TALKS THAT WAY TO ME! I WILL KILL THEM ALL!

Cuts back to the stage.

Trent: So, who's up next? (He spins the wheel and it lands on Gwen) Gwen!

Gwen: Yes! Well as you all know from the World Tour song "Before I Die", I've always wanted to become a prom destroyer. (Annoyed) Sadly I never got the chance to. So to fill the void, all of our new friends will get the chance to destroy a prom setup that was made by our own Katie and Sadie.

Me: Ooh!

Katie: And we're still a little upset that all our hard work is going to be destroyed soon.

Sadie: That's why I took a photo of our work so that we can remember how to build it again.

Katie: Oh my gosh Sadie, thank you so much. (They both squeal)

Me: Good thinking you two.

Duncan: (Annoyed squeal) Whatever!

Me: Duncan!

(The stage is set up to look like a school prom)

Me: Wow! You two did a great job.

Sadie: Thanks J.D.

Katie: It's a work of art.

Gwen: OK, whoever causes the most damage wins. Oh, and remember, have fun.

Me: You know how good we are at blowing stuff apart.

Nico: This is gonna be awesome!

Lincoln: Yeah!

Gwen: GO!

(Everyone but Amy and Sugar runs onto the set. We were smashing and destroying stuff left and right. Rodney starts breaking some tables while Max starts beating a stereo with his crutch.)m

Rodney: I'M GONNA WRECK IT!

Amy: (Annoyed) What are you all doing?

(Jasmine starts throwing chairs while Shawn starts ripping down banners)

Amy: (Angry) Stop what you are doing!

I fired energy blasts and blew parts of the tables apart in fiery explosions.

Lincoln fired lightning blasts and blew the plates apart.

(Sky starts popping balloons while Dave throws food at the walls)

Amy: (Outraged) This is almost the worst prom I've ever attended!

Me: Tell it to your mama Amy!

Sammy: This is? (She looks devious) I think I know how this could be the worst.

Amy: How?

Sammy: Everyone starts noticing me and forgetting that you exist.

Amy: Argh!

Sammy: Me becoming the prom queen.

Amy: (Angry) No!

Sammy: Oh yeah, and your date dumps you for me.

(Amy growls and begins to lose it. She smashes the rest of the tables and stereos. She throws the rest of the chairs and rips down the rest of the banners. She pops the rest of the balloons in her grasp and throws the rest of the food everywhere.)

(Cuts to Billy)

Billy: (Laughs) Okay, this is fun to watch.

(Cuts back to Amy who picks up the food table and throws it into the wall, she cuts down the disco ball, and she picks up one of the busted stereos and slams it over the statues head.)

(Cuts to Billy)

Billy: (Annoyed) And now it's not fun!

(Cuts back to Amy who breathes heavily before Chef knocks her out with a tranquilizer dart)

POINK!

Chef: Night night crazy girl. (He seats her back in the bleachers)

Me: Nice shot Chef.

Chef Hatchet: Thanks.

Bridgette: Wow, Amy destroyed part of the statue before she was declared the winner. Now I'm really glad that Sammy isn't living with her.

Me: Me too.

Nico: Same here.

Hunter: Ja.

Axel Adell: (Swedish Accent) Same with me.

Gwen: I'm actually a little jealous that she was able to cause more damage than I could in my dreams.

Heather: More like ever at all.

Gwen: (Annoyed) What do you mean by that?

Heather: Samey said that the old girly you is still in you. Well she's right, because I have here (holds up a DVD) a video that I recorded of her before we left for All Stars. Turns out she has a secret too.

Me: Oh she wouldn't!

Gwen: You wouldn't dare!

Lori: If you show that tape I will literally turn you into a human pretzel!

Heather: Oh I will and don't stop me!

(She throws the DVD into the player and it starts playing. It shows Gwen opening up her closet. She looks around carefully before kneeling down in front of a big box. She opens it and pulls out a giant plush unicorn and gives it a hug as it squeaks. Everyone begins to crack up while Gwen looks embarrassed.)

Courtney: Is that the same unicorn that you were riding in your dream back in All Stars?

Me: I remember seeing that.

Gwen: It was a gift from my dad before he died.

Me: Aww.

Sammy: (Surprised) You and I are the same. I'm so sorry.

Gwen: It's alright! Before I auditioned I was considering throwing it away but I couldn't because of my dad, and now…

Trent: And now?

Gwen: because of you.

Trent: (Surprised) Me?

Gwen: You helped me show off the fun side of me that I have forgotten years ago. As time went on, I remembered how happy I was to be girly. Don't get me wrong, I still like dark and scary stuff, but sometimes I just want to think about the lighter side of things.

Trent: (Amazed) Wow, it was me that restored the old you.

Gwen: In a way, yes.

(Trent and Gwen stare at each other before they move closer to one another and kiss)

Courtney: Awe, that's so sweet.

Me: It sure is.

Gwen: Also I have news. A new season of the Ridonculous Race is coming on soon.

Cody: What the heck is that?

Bridgette: I think I've got your answer right here.

(A man named Don appears on the monitor)

Don: It is a race around the world where 18 teams of two compete for a shot at one million dollars. Think of it as World Tour; but done right. (He then notices Topher) Hey son!

Topher: Hey Dad!

Jasmine: Well, now we know where you get your talent from.

Don: Don't worry about him or me. We are not like Billy. We care for our competitors and would never get in the way of their own lives.

Dave: That's good to hear.

Me: Hey Don. Good to see you again.

Don: Same to you J.D. Looking good.

Me: Thanks.

Don: I'm here to ask if some of you guys want to compete. We have 6 spots left. This isn't a continuation of Total Drama. This is a spin-off series.

Gwen: I'm not taking any chances.

Courtney: Same here.

Me: You know I will compete. Nico would you like to compete?

Nico: Sorry I think I've had enough of these shows.

Zarya: I will compete with you J.D.

Me: Awesome! Thanks Zarya.

Owen: (Excited) Oh, I want to compete (holds Noah tightly) and so does my little buddy.

Noah: (Weakly) I will, if you promise to let me go.

Owen: (Releases him) Sorry!

Don: Okay, 2 teams team down, four to go! Anyone else?

Lynn: Lightning, how about you and I participate?

Lightning: Oh you know Lightning will be there Lynn! She-bam!

Lynn: Yeah! Me and Lightning can come.

Naruto: How about me and Sakura too?

Sakura Haruno: I would love it Naruto!

Naruto: Yeah!

Me: Awesome bro!

Don: That's four spots filled.

Geoff: Bridgette, want to give it a shot with me for old time sake?

Bridgette: Sorry Geoff, but I'm going to surf the waves of Australia soon. (Looks at Jasmine and Sammy) Maybe I could teach you guys while I'm there.

Jasmine: Sounds good.

Sammy: Me too.

Me: Awesome!

Geoff: That's OK; I'll get my buddy Brody to come along. He always wanted to compete with me.

Don: Great, only one spot left. Sky, do you want to compete with your sister?

Sky: Sorry, but I want to take some time off and spend it with Misty, Scarlett, and Dave.

Leonard: Oh, I want to compete, and I'll ask my friend Tammy if she wants to. She's a Viking; and a beautiful one too.

Don: Alright, now there are no more spots. I'll see you all in one month. Don out! Bye son!

Topher: Bye Dad!

Don: Looking forward to having you race again J.D.

Me: You know I can't pass up a good challenge.

Don: Yep. See you then. (The monitor turns off) Hey Bridgette, mind if I take us to another commercial?

Bridgette: Go right ahead.

Topher: What other challenges are in store for us? What more will we learned about Sammy's dad? And what are Scarlett and Harold working on? Find out when the Total Drama Pahkitew Island Aftermath special returns.

Sammy: You are so much better at hosting than Billy.

Topher: I know!

Me: I agree man.

(The D pops in and out of the title)

(Commercial Break)

(The title pops up and the D pops in and out of the title. Cameron is nowhere in sight.)

Trent: And we are back. During the break we got to know a little bit more about The Ridonculous Race.

Lindsay: (Holding a laptop) Oh my gosh Beth, look at all the amazing places that they'll be going. For example; New York, France, Dubai, (gasps) even Las Vegas.

Beth: They are so going to have a good time traveling the world.

Me: We know the planet like the backs of our hands. This'll be a cinch.

Mike: (Holding a laptop) And look at all the people that are competing. For example, Emma and Kitty; The Sisters, Tom and Jen; The Fashion Bloggers, even Ryan and Stephanie; The Daters.

Me: Wow! This is gonna be awesome!

Sky: (Holding a laptop) That is so cool! I'm watching an Olympic ice skating performance by two of the competitors; Jacques and Josee. (Cringes) Ooh, he just dropped her and took silver. Jacques doesn't look too happy about what happened.

Me: Looks like Jacque and Josee are in there as well. Oh shit.

Nico: Yep.

Courtney: (Holding a laptop, a bit annoyed) I don't believe it! There's this girl named Ellody who looks and sounds like me; only she's a science genius. And she is with a female-like Harold named Mary.

Harold: (Over loudspeaker) Watch it; she's my cousin. As well as a vegan named Miles who is competing with her friend Laurie.

Me: Wow! I know them.

Duncan: (Holding a laptop, annoyed) That's nothing! I'm looking at Gwen's new friends; Crimson and Ennui, and I do not look like him. But the girl does look like Amy.

Amy: (Waking up after her shot) Hey!

We laughed!

Topher: (Holding a laptop, laughing) Remember what I said about Billy being old? Well there's this retired tennis player named Pete that looks like him 30 years from now. Here's competing with his friend and rival Gerry.

We laughed.

Nico: Nice burn Topher.

Brick: (Holding a laptop, amazed) Man, there are so many contestants; Dwayne and Junior - Father and Son, Kelly and Taylor - Mother and Daughter, Rock and Spud - Rockers, Jay and Mickey - Adversity Twins, Chet and Lorenzo - Step Brothers, there are even two police cadets named Sanders and McArthur. I hope they don't break a few laws in order to win.

Me: I know all these players. Looks like you guys are gonna see us in action when we race around the world.

Lori: Yep. That's right. You beat Josee and Jacques in the Ridonculous Race years ago.

Me: Yep.

Jo: Yeah, but I don't get why this Junior kid looks like Justin Bieber.

Geoff: And this Mother and Daughter team looks like the exact opposite of Bridgette and her mother. Taylor is spoiled-rotten and her mother just wants to look young and cool. Bridgette and her mother are both kind and are both family and best friends.

Me: That's right.

Bridgette: Aw thanks Geoff! So far my favorite team is The Best Friends - Devin and Carrie. She sounds like me and she has a secret crush on Devin. That is so sweet!

Me: Yep.

Trent: Well we might not be interviewing them, but we will watch and root for our favorite teams. I know I'm gonna be rooting for you and Zarya, J.D.

Me: Thanks Trent.

Bridgette: Right you are Trent. Now, Cameron went backstage to help Scarlett and Harold out because they are now unsure if they can finish their machine in time by themselves. Hopefully we'll see it soon.

Trent: Well in the meantime, how about another challenge? (He spins the wheel and it lands on Harold) OK, since Harold is too busy with the machine, I will host this challenge. (Holds up a note card) This is for everyone. Your challenge is to make something really cool out of LEGO bricks.

Me: Ooh! I love Legos!

Sky: (Shocked) WHAT, but I told you all; I'm NO GOOD AT BUILDING THINGS!

Dave: Don't worry Sky; I know you're a great builder deep down. You just don't know it yet.

Sky: Thanks Dave! (Places her hand on Dave's)

(A huge row of tables are set side by side with a pile of LEGO bricks in front of each contestant)

Trent: Your job is to build whatever you want within 30 minutes. When time is up, I will contact Harold and he will judge each of your creations. The one he likes the most wins. Ready, start building!

Leonard: (Waving his wand) "BUILDACUS SOMETHING AWESOMECUS"! (Nothing happens. He just slumps sadly.)

(Ella hums to herself while building something with nothing but pink and red bricks. Topher digs around for some yellow and brown bricks. Jasmine and Shawn work busily on their creations while Sugar just sat there and moaned.)

I built a huge replica of the U.S.S. Iowa Battleship.

Amy: I'm not building with these things. This is nothing but a kid's toy.

Sammy: Actually LEGO is a building toy for all ages. I've seen some adults make some amazing MOCs with these bricks.

Me: Yeah!

Dave: She's right! Those guys got some amazing building talent.

(Sky scratches her head while she thinks about what she wants to build. She looks around and discovers what she wants to build.)

Beardo: (LEGO building sound effects from all those LEGO games)

Rodney: (Upset) Uh, I don't know what I want to build out of all these pieces.

Max: (Face palms over and over) I… can't… do… it. This… is… too… hard. (He swats his pile everywhere and drops his face onto the table)

(Cuts to the "Time's Up" mark)

Trent: Times up! Time to see which one of you guys won. (He turns the monitor on to contact Harold) Harold, we're ready!

Harold: I'll be right there. (The monitor turns off and he walks onstage) Let's see what we got here. (He sees that Leonard hasn't built anything at all) Next time, build with your hands.

Leonard: (Annoyed) Wizards never use their hands for building.

Harold: Whatever! (He walks over to Ella)

Ella: I made a giant pink heart with tiny red hearts in the inside.

Harold: Nice! (He walks over to Topher)

Topher: I give you (holds up his creation) "The Gilded Topher"; made out of LEGO's that is. This one's for you.

Harold: (Takes the model) Thanks! You do know that the directors of "The LEGO Movie" made their own Oscar when the movie wasn't nominated.

Topher: (Annoyed) Yes, and it should have.

Harold: Lets see what you made J.D.

Me: I made a 1/16th scale replica of the U.S.S. Iowa.

The camera showed a big battleship made entirely of legos.

Harold: WHOA! That is so awesome!

Me: It's my dads favorite battleship in the United States Navy.

Harold: That is so cool!

(Harold walks over to Jasmine)

Jasmine: I did my best to recreate the Sydney Opera House.

Harold: (Amazed) Impressive, very impressive indeed! (He walks over to Shawn)

Shawn: I made a little something I like to call (holds up a massive LEGO-made gun) "The Zombie Buster 5000".

Harold: WOW, very well detailed.

Shawn: Thanks!

(Harold walks over to Sugar and Amy; but passes them since they didn't build anything. He then walks over to Sammy.)

Sammy: I made a LEGO version of my Blue Teddy Bear.

Harold: Cute! It almost looks exactly like it. (He walks over to Dave)

Dave: I built a block art version of Billy.

(Cuts to Billy; who flight is about to land)

Billy: Not bad, but I've seen better. J.D. has some neat talent though. Really creative. Besides, (annoyed) I know what he's going to do with it.

(Cuts back to Harold and Dave)

Harold: Why would you want to build a model of someone that we all hate?

Dave: So you can all see me do this. (He punches the model to pieces)

(Cuts back to Billy)

Billy: Yep, knew it!

(Cuts back to Harold and Dave)

Harold: (Chuckles) Okay, that was so worth it.

Me: Try topping this.

I pulled out a remote control and the Lego battleship fired cannons at the model arms of Billy and blew them to dust.

BANG! KABOOM!

Nico: WHOA!

Cuts back to Billy.

Billy: Okay that was cool! But he's getting it too!

Cuts back to the stage.

Harold: That was awesome!

Dave: And so well worth the loss in this challenge.

(Harold walks over to Sky; who looks a little nervous with her model covered up)

Harold: What do you got there underneath that sheet?

Sky: Oh, nothing special. (She removes the sheet. Everyone is amazed.) I just made a miniature replica of this studio with the host couch, the bleachers, and a little bit of everyone made of 1 by 1 bricks matching the colors of our shirts and a 1 by 1 tile piece for each of our hair.

Me: Very creative.

Amy: That has got to be the worst model I have ever…

Sammy: Oh, look at Harold. (Giggles)

Amy: What!

Harold: (Touched) This is one of the best models I have ever seen. Are you sure you've never built with LEGO's before?

Sky: Nope!

Me: Not bad for a first time.

Harold: Well, for you first time, this is beautiful! You need to keep this on a shelf as a reminder that you CAN build things.

Sky: Thanks! (They fist bump)

(Harold walks over to Beardo)

Harold: Headphones huh.

(Beardo places them over his ears, but it ends up falling apart)

Harold: What a shame. It was a nice model too. OK, Rodney…

Max: Don't bother, he and I didn't build anything either.

Harold: Well I think I know who the winners are. (He walks over to Sky and me and raises our arm) Sky and J.D.! (Everyone cheers for both of us. Sky smiles with tears of joy.) So, what do plan to build next?

Sky: I know! (She builds a replica of the Shock Collars from Episode 4 around the statues neck) If we had some electricity we could make him, eh it, feel our pain. I know it's not that humiliating.

Courtney: Are you kidding me, I can see him now getting 200 volts coursing through that thick skull of his.

Lincoln: I can see him screaming with over 5 billion volts of electricity.

Sky: That's so mean, (devious) but somehow it feels so right.

Me: Oh yeah.

(Everyone laughs. Cuts to Billy exiting the airport terminal.)

Billy: (Angry) Not long now, soon you will all pay; (gets into a taxi) PAY!

Taxi Driver: Pay me when we get there.

Billy: Not you!

(Cuts back to the stage)

Bridgette: OK, how about the next challenge?

Max: (Annoyed) Oh no! I want to know more about Samey's father right now. (He snatches the DVD out of Sammy's hands and slips it into the monitor)

Sammy: (Shocked) Hey!

Me: You give that back Max!

(The monitor turns on; revealing her father (Hank Jones) lying on his hospital bed)

Hank: (Weakly) Sammy, I'm sorry that I have to leave you with your horrid sister and mother. If only I had stayed out of the way, I would've been home with you right now.

(Everyone, including Sammy, gets emotional over this)

Hank: I wanted to get home as quickly as possible so I could tell you that I was going to divorce your mother and take you with me. We could be happy together and we would never have to be with such awful people again.

(Sammy chokes up at what he just said)

Hank: Sammy sweetie, I'm sorry I failed you. I just hope that you will still have a bright future ahead of you; and find someone that can care and love you as much as I do. Goodbye! (He starts humming a familiar tune that he and Sammy use to sing together before he passes away on-screen. The monitor turns off.)

Me: Whoa! He was dying from cancer.

Vypra: Poor guy.

Bridgette: (Worried) Sammy, how did you're mother become so cruel to you?

Me: That's what I want to know.

Sammy: She wasn't always like that. There was a time when she did love me. But the stress of raising twins got the better of her after we turned 3. She got so stressed out that she started drinking and that's when she started to act so mean to me. She didn't do it to Amy because she's the older twin; which is why she enjoys causing me misery anyway. And at that moment, the only one that ever showed me any real love 24/7 was my dad.

(Sammy looks down sadly until Jasmine holds her chin up and wipes away her tears. Sammy smiles at her and they share another hug.)

Dawn: (Heart-broken) Wow, I've never seen anyone die right before my eyes. And I have never heard anything so heart-breaking before. My own aura is crying over what I just saw and heard.

Me: Very heart-wrenching.

Brick: (Comforting her) There there Dawn, At least Sammy has a better life now; the one her father always wanted.

Dawn: You're right Brick, thanks! (They stare at each other and also share a hug)

Zoey: (To Mike) Looks like another couple is born.

Me: Yep.

Mike: Yeah, this special really is bringing almost everyone closer together. It's the perfect way to end the series.

Trent: Right you are Mike! So, how about the next challenge? (He spins the wheel and it lands on a question mark) OK, which one of our new friends wants to challenge us next?

Ella: (Gasps excitedly) Me me, I want to host a singing competition. I will also be one of the 3 judges. Who wants to judge with me?

Justin: I will!

Anne Maria: I will!

Ella: OK, who wants to sing?

Bridgette/Trent: We will.

Amy: I will because I'm the best singer in this family.

Sammy: I do know one song. My dad was humming it just before he passed away.

Lightning: Lightning will give it a shot.

Ella: OK, everyone get ready for the show. You don't have to get dressed up just practice the song you want to sing. You also don't have to sing the whole song; just the first part is good enough.

(The stage is set to look like the one from Episode 12. Ella, Anne Maria, and Justin are in the judges' seat.)

Justin: Hopefully we will be moved by their songs.

Me: We will.

Anne Maria: Hope so, because I have yet to find a singer that can bring me to tears.

Ella: Oh, Trent and Bridgette are up first.

(Trent (with his guitar), Geoff and Bridgette walk onto the stage)

Geoff: We will be singing the song that brought us together over 2 years ago.

Bridgette: We hope that you will all enjoy it; again.

Trent: I'll play my guitar for them.

(They begin to sing while Trent plays his gutar)

Geoff: "Your hair is as bright as the sun,

Your clothes are as blue as the sea and sky,

Watching you surf is a lot of fun,

Especially when I see you fly."

Bridgette: "You've got a special gift for music, I see it when you play your guitar,

Your songs get better with every lyric,

Your special talent will always raise the bar."

Both: "When I look into your green eyes,

I reach out for your hands to hold,

We'll be together for the rest of our lives,

With a pair of hearts as pure as gold."

(Everyone stands up and cheers. Gwen and Geoff get emotional.)

Me: Awesome job guys!

Gwen: That was so beautiful! I wish I was there when they first sang this instead of being on Wawanakwa.

Geoff: It is even better the second time.

Ella: Amazing, you two have set the bar really high; just like the song said.

Justin: This song was truly meant for you two.

Anne Maria: Although I didn't get emotional over this, I still think it was great.

Ella: OK judges, what's the score?

(Ella and Justin give them a 9 and Anne Maria gives them an 8. Geoff and Bridgette cheer, hug, and kiss.)

Ella: Awe, the prince and his princess sharing a kiss. So beautiful! OK, who's next?

Lightning: (Running onto the stage) Lightning's next! Sha-Whaaaa! (He runs too fast, trips, and falls off the stage. He hits the ground so hard that he is knocked unconscious. He is then taken away by Chef.)

Anne Maria: (Shrugs) He wasn't made for singing anyway.

Justin: (A little wired out) OK, guess we'll move on to our next contestant.

(Amy walks out on stage, clears her throat, and sings)

Amy: (Annoying high-pitched tone) " I'm number one,

(points to Sammy) she's number two.

I am the best,

She is the worst.

I can do anything,

She can't do nothing.

Who needs that thing,

When you've got me."

(Ella, Justin, and Anne Maria (as well as the others) cover their ears. Justin pushes the trap door button and Amy fall into the stage and screams just as the door closes on her.)

Me: BOO!

Amy: Oh no, not the croc. (The croc roars as she screams)

Justin: That was horrible!

Me: I give it a -20.

Ella: Sadly, you are right.

Anne Maria: (Annoyed) Let's just hope that Sammy can sing better.

Me: Yeah.

(Sammy walks out onstage just as Amy returns running out of breath. Sammy begins to sing.)

Sammy: "Picture a land where the sky is so blue,

A story book land of wonder.

A magical island just waiting for you,

Island of Sodor will make you dreams come true."

Amy: (Annoyed) Seriously, you're singing a Thomas song. You are such a big baby.

Ella: (Sniffs) Why did you make her stop singing that wonderful song?

Justin: (Sniffs) She has the voice of an angel.

Anne Maria: (Sniffs) She's the first singer to get me emotional. Keep going!

(Sammy continues singing)

Sammy: "Imagine a place where the sun always smiles,

The valleys are green as can be.

The friends that you love are all waiting for you,

Island of Sodor will make your dreams come true."

(Everyone gets teary eyed at her singing)

Sammy: "Children follow the dream,

To the land of make-believe.

The Island of Sodor,

A magical land where dreams come true."

We cheered wildly.

Ella: (Wiping away her tears) That was the most beautiful song I have ever heard.

Me: It sure was! Way to go Sammy!

Anne Maria: (Wiping her tears away) Here here!

Justin: (Wiping away his tears) Are you a fan of the show?

Sammy: That song was the only thing I knew about the show. I discovered it with my dad one day and we instantly fell in love with it.

Justin: Well, fan of the show or not, you still won us over.

Ella: I think we can all safely say that Sammy is the winner of this challenge.

(Everyone cheers for her. Sammy takes a bow. The stage is set back to its original state.)

Bridgette: So, what do you want to do to the statue?

Sammy: Honestly, I can't do anything mean-spirited after singing that song so I'll have to pass.

Trent: OK Sammy, we understand.

Sammy: Thanks, I just wish that my father could've heard me sing that song one more time.

Me: I know. But you did get closure after the battle with Unicron and you saw your father again.

Sammy: That's true.

Sky: It was nice to meet your dad back then. He is just like you; kind and loving.

Nico: He sure is.

Sammy: Thank Sky, I'm so lucky to have a friend like you. (The two of them share a hug) Hey Trent, is it alright if I spin the wheel this time since I won't do anything to the statue?

Trent: Of course you can.

(Sammy spins the wheel and it lands on the question mark again)

Sammy: Wow, I get to come up with a challenge now.

Amy: (Annoyed) Oh please, if anyone is going to come up with a challenge it should be me.

Sky: Actually I have an idea. (To Bridgette) Could you please replay these two clips from Episode 12?

(Bridgette plays the clips)

Billy: For Sky's challenge, "The 100 meter hurdle dash", you must race to the finish line while jumping over a series of hurdles.

(Cuts to Sky's Confessional)

Sky: I'm actually excited for this because I always come in second place at my school's hurdle relay. And the girl that always beats me isn't here.

(End of Clips)

Me: Hey I remember that one!

LeShawna: So who was that girl that always beats you?

Sky: (Points to Amy) Right here!

Everyone: WHAT!

Me: I remember that!

Cody: You mean to tell us that Amy was the girl that always beats you at hurdle jumping?

Noah: Wait, if you knew Amy back then, then why haven't you met Sammy before?

Amy: (Outburst) Because I always have her standing behind all the other students. I didn't want her to associate with a terrible athlete like Sky. And thanks to this show, she has managed to do just that.

Me: You are really Egomaniacal!

Laney: And then some.

Sammy: If she can beat you at any sport then so can I.

Amy: Is that so? Well, how about you, me, and Sky compete in a hurdle race and we'll see who the better athlete is.

Sammy: IT IS ON!

Lynn: Hey! That's what I say!

Sky: I agree to that.

Bridgette: This is exciting; two cheerleaders and an Olympian in an epic hurdle race.

Me: This is gonna be awesome!

(Cuts to outside the studio where three rows of hurdles are set up)

Tyler: I will referee the race. You know the rules; the first one to jump over all the hurdles and cross the finish line will win.

Sky: And no cheating!

Me: Here we go.

Amy: (Annoyed) Who cares about that? I'm winning this thing either way. (Looks at Sammy) And why did you take your boots off again?

Sammy: It's not safe to jump over hurdles in high heels.

Me: Got to admire Sammy's tactics.

Amy: Well if Sky can win in a ridiculous dress like that than I can win in high heels.

Me: That kind of arrogance will get her killed.

Tyler: Okay easy there girls. Ready, (Sky and Amy glare at each other) get set, (Amy glares at Sammy; who glares back) GO!

(The three girls run towards their first hurdle. They jump the first one successfully and head towards the next one. Just before they get there, Amy trips Sky and jumps the next one.)

Amy: Ha, see you later "Skylar"!

Sky: (Angry) My name is Sky!

Sammy: Here, let me help you up.

Sky: Thanks! (They continue racing)

(Amy jumps over the next two hurdles and laughs evilly)

Amy: Yes, I'm going to win again. Sugar was right; cheaters always win!

(She was so busy gloating that she jumps too late and catches her high heel on the last hurdle and trips; falling flat on her face. Sky and Sammy successfully jump over the last hurdle and they both cross the finish line together.)

Tyler: Sky and Sammy tie for first place and Amy has crashed out.

Me: Way to go!

Sky: Yes, I finally beat her. No, (places her hand on Sammy's shoulder) WE finally beat her.

Me: Way to go girls!

Nico: Yeah!

Sammy: We're number one, we're number one! (They both high five)

Amy: (Groans in pain) Aw, I think I twisted my ankle. I HATE THIS SHOW, AND I HATE SPORTS, AND I HATE BOTH OF YOU!

Their auras flared up with incredible intensity.

(Sammy and Sky just smile and look up. Cuts back to the stage. Amy has her right leg in a cast.)

Trent: So, how will each of you destroy the statue?

Sky: Oh wait, I now realized what I should have done to the statue instead of the LEGO shock collar. Gwen, can I borrow a paintbrush and some black paint? (Gwen gives her the paint and brush. Sky dips the brush in the paint and writes the word "WORTHLESS" on the statue.) Who's worthless now McLean?

Nico: Nice!

Sammy: Good one Sky! As for me, (thinks for a second) does Amy still have that paper bag filled with her vomit?

Topher: Yeah she does. (He gives it to Sammy)

Sammy: Thanks! (She throws the bag at the statues face; covering it in Amy's barf)

SPLAT!

Me: NICE!

Varie: Take that!

(Everyone cracks up. Cuts to Billy stuck in traffic.)

Billy: (Outraged) THAT'S IT! I CAN'T SIT HERE ANYMORE! (He gets out of the taxi and runs towards the studio)

Taxi Driver: (Angry) Hey, what about the toll?

Billy: (Off-screen) Kiss my fucking ass!

(The Taxi Driver growls. Cuts back to the stage.)

Amy: (Angry) I have never been so humiliated in all my life. To lose to both Samey and Sky is ridiculous. I'm supposed to be better at everything than anyone else. Not no one is better than me; not them, not Jasmine, not Chris, not even (points towards something off-screen) those two police men. (Shocked) TWO POLICE MEN!

UH OH!

(The camera pans over to the two officers; who don't look very happy)

Duncan: (Terrified) I CAN'T GO BACK TO JAIL! (He runs off)

Officer 1: Don't worry Duncan, you've already done your time for destroying Billy's house.

Officer 2: We are actually here for Amy.

Sammy: Why are you two here for her?

Zarya: That's what I was wondering.

Officer 1: (Holding up a DVD) We would like you to see this.

(He slips the DVD into the monitor and it plays a clip of Amy and her mother opening Hank's car hood. They start taking some things out of the cars' engine and run off. Everyone gasps.)

Dave: I can't believe it! Those two are the REAL criminals for her father's death.

Me: So they are responsible for killing Sammy's father!

Sammy: (Shocked) Where did you get this?

Officer 1: We caught your mother driving intoxicated and pulled her over. When we searched her car, we found this DVD that someone recorded and she stole it from them to hide the evidence.

Officer 2: All these years we thought that the robber was responsible for Hank Jones' death, but we were wrong. All he wanted to do was to shake him loose. He would never take a life and to this day, he still feels bad about what he has done. He just hopes that you can forgive him.

Sammy: Although he did do something bad, I DO forgive him for that. (Angry) If Amy and her mom had just stayed out of the way, I could have been living with my dad right now. Did they know about the divorce?

Officer 1: That was the reason why they did it, to make sure that you never left so they could keep on torturing you for life. Your ex-mother is already in jail and now your sister is going there too. (To Officer 2) Cuff her!

(Officer 2 puts the handcuffs on Amy's wrist)

Amy: WHAT!

Me: Looks like it's back to the stony lonesome for you Amy.

Officer 2: Oh, and we are taking away all your trophies and ribbons because criminals like you don't deserve them.

Amy: (Outraged and upset) No, not my trophies and ribbons. (She is then dragged away) This can't be happening to me. I'm too pretty to go to jail. I'll never survive. (Starts sobbing) MY LIFE IS RUINED! (She starts crying as she is dragged offstage)

Officer 1: (To Sammy) We will let the robber know that you have forgiven him for what he really didn't do. And we will make sure that all your belongings, and anything you want from Amy's room, are moved to your new home Gotham Royal York.

Sammy: Thanks officer!

(The officer tips his hat and shakes her hand before walking away)

Bridgette: Well, that was unexpected.

Me: Boy it sure was.

Trent: Yeah it was.

Harold: (Over loudspeaker) We're ready!

Trent: Okay everyone, we have just gotten word that the machine is finished. Let's hear it for Harold, Scarlett, and Cameron.

(The audience cheers as Scarlett, Harold, and Cameron push the machine onstage on a huge trolley)

D.J.: (Amazed) Wow, what kind of machine is that?

Me: Wow!

Harold: This my friend is "The De-Mutator"! It can turn anything or anyone that has been mutated from the "Revenge of the Island" season.

Vince: Wow!

Lisa Loud: Very impressive piece of machinery.

Carol: No kidding.

Scott: Cool! Can it turn Fang back into a normal shark?

Cameron: Yes it can, but we don't have him here. And to be honest I don't think the fans want him to be de-mutated.

Me: I agree.

Scott: (Upset) Oh man!

Scarlett: But we do have another test subject. Chef, please bring him in.

(Chef walks onstage with a cage. Inside the cage is a former Total Drama contestant that everyone fears.)

Courtney: (Terrified) Freak Ezekiel! Where did you find him?

Harold: After Scarlett and I de-cloned that evil clone,…

(Cuts to a Flashback)

Harold: (Voice over) we decided to work on a machine to de-mutate him and Dakota. But before we could build it, we had to find him. Luckily we saw the bonus clip about his whereabouts. Turns out he was made king of the mutants on Boney Island. We captured him and brought him here.

(Flashback Ends)

Harold: And now we can turn him back to normal.

Me: Or we could keep him in prison caged like an animal.

Ezekiel: I would like that.

Scarlett: Huh Harold, he got out.

(Everyone screams when they see the busted up cage. Courtney hears a strange breathing sound and looks up. She sees Ezekiel right above her and he jumps down towards her.)

Duncan: COURTNEY LOOK OUT! (He pushes her out of the way and Zeke just runs off to attack someone else)

I kicked Freak Ezekiel in the face and he got up and looked at me with fury.

Courtney: (Surprised) Duncan, you saved my life.

Duncan: Yes, I did didn't I? (He thinks for a second) What was I thinking; you will always be the perfect girl for me. Please give me another chance.

(Courtney holds Duncan face and kisses him)

Courtney: I guess there still is some good in you.

Duncan: (Stunned) Me, good, (chuckles) yeah, I am. (They share another kiss)

(Freak Ezekiel jumps towards Dawn, but Brick knocks him away)

Brick: Sorry I did that, but I couldn't let him hurt you. (Dawn gets tears of joy before they share a kiss)

(Ezekiel then jumps onto Beardo)

Beardo: (Wilhelm Scream)

Me: I know the Wilhelm Scream all too well.

Max: (Beating him with his crutch) Bad dog, bad dog! (Ezekiel then attacks him) AHHHHHHHHHHHHHH!

Nico kicked him in the face and Freak Ezekiel then sees Sky and is about to attack her. But Dave jumps in and kicks him back. Dave reaches for Sky's hand and she jumps into his arms. Zeke then spots LeShawna and is about to attack. She is ready to fight back until Harold jumps in.

Harold: (Angry) Get away from her you freak! (He pulls out "The Num-Yo's" and is ready to attack. Zeke however manages to knock him out, but LeShawna grabs him and throws him far away from Harold.)

I punched Zeke in the face and kneed him in the mouth.

Me: You are a fucking freak of nature!

LeShawna: Harold, are you OK?

Harold: (Rubbing his head) Yeah, sorry I got in the way. I just didn't want him to hurt you.

LeShawna: Why?

Harold: Because I still love you.

LeShawna: (Teary eyed, hugs him) I'm sorry that we broke up. I only did what I did back in Season 2 because I was playing "Hard to Get". My crying was fake back then, but now I am for real because of how far you will go just for me.

(Harold wipes her eyes and just smiles. She smiles back and they both share a kiss.)

Harold: Get somewhere safe while I get the machine ready.

LeShawna: Right! (She runs off while he runs back to the machine)

(Zeke then gets up, rubs his head, and spots Izzy who is prepared to attack.)

Izzy: (Pats her knees) Come here Zeke, come and get me.

Owen: That a girl Izzy!

(Ezekiel runs towards her and they start clawing each other. It isn't long until he out-does her. Owen sees this and he jumps in.)

Owen: (Angry) Hey, you 500-year-old possessed freak, leave my Izzy alone!

Me: You tell him Owen!

(Ezekiel starts mauling Owen but he just stays strong. Eva then jumps in and holds him down.)

Eva: Time to finish this monster off once and for all. Nerds, open the door!

Me: Shut up Eva!

(Harold opens the door and Eva throws Zeke into the cage. Owen then turns around to check on Izzy.)

Owen: Izzy, are you OK? Please don't leave me again. (Izzy suddenly wakes up and accidentally kicks him in the groin before giving him a kiss. He chuckles.) I love you too!

Bridgette: OK, now Harold said that the machine was made to de-mutate not only Ezekiel, but to also de-mutate Dakota. What do you say Dakota, ready to turn back into your old self?

Dakota: Well, I…

Sam: NO, PLEASE DON'T TURN BACK! You are awesome just the way you are.

Me: I think she looks cool like this.

Dakota: Awe Sam, that's nice of you to say, but I'm afraid Bridgette is right. It's time for me to turn back into my old self. I don't want to live like this anymore. Besides, being a mutant reminds me too much about Chris and we all want to forget him. And to be honest, I actually like my original human form more than my mutated form. (Sam lowers his head sadly) But don't worry Sam, I still love you.

You're an awesome gamer and a great guy.

Sam: (Happy) Thanks babe!

Me: Also Sam, I can give her the ability to transform at will.

Sam: Really?

Me: Sure Sam. It worked for many of our teammates.

Qin: That's right.

John Bolton: Yep.

Trudy Bolton: Yep.

Stacy Bolton: It's true.

Scarlett: Well she'll have to wait a few minutes because the machine needs to warm up again after each use.

Trent: No problem, we'll just perform one final challenge. (He spins the wheel and it lands on the question mark once again) Three times in a row? Impressive! So, who wants the last challenge?

Topher: Actually Trent I have an idea. So that everyone has a chance, why don't we all just do something to the statue. The show is almost over and everyone deserves their shot.

Trent: Great idea Topher! So, everyone think about what you want to do to the statue and come on up.

(Each contestant gets in line. Dakota is first.)

Dakota: (Paints the Chris statues shirt with horizontal stripes) Don't you know that VERTICAL stripes are in? (She laughs)

(Cody walks up next. He plants a time bomb next to the statue and cuts one of the wires and runs.)

Bomb: 3, 2, 1…

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOMMMM!

Spaghetti sauce landed on my face.

Cody: Ha, looks like someone got blasted by the spaghetti sauce bomb.

Me: (Slurps) Really good spaghetti sauce. Just as good as moms.

(Scott is next. He takes Fang's tooth that Mike gave to Alejandro in the All Stars finale and holds it in the statues hand.)

Scott: Next time that shark comes for his tooth he'll be coming for you instead of me.

Me: Nice!

(Lightning then punches the statue in the face, but he screams in pain. Duncan then pushes him away.)

Duncan: Let me show you how to destroy this thing. (He pulls out his knife and cuts the statues nose off. Everyone gasps.) Relax it's just a statue. I would never do that to the real thing.

Me: Good.

(Courtney walks up with her sundae from All Stars)

Courtney: I made an exact replica of my disgusting sundae; with real bird vomit on it. Taste this McLean! (She shoves the bad sundae into the statues mouth)

Me: OOHOOHOOHOOOO! Nice!

Gwen: Nice choice Courtney! (They high five)

Me: Great job Courtney.

Nico: Yeah!

(Heather walks up and chops off the statues hair)

Heather: Not so much fun when it is you who has to have his hair shaved off.

Me: Looked better on you though Heather.

(Shawn walks up)

Shawn: Everyone better back off. (Everyone backs off as Shawn puts his finger to the side of his nose) Snot Rocket Part Three! (He blows snot all over the statue)

Dave: (Disgusted) Ew, that was gross, (amazed) but also AWESOME!

Me: Nice one.

(Max takes another version of his Evil Helmet and places it on the statues head. He then pulls out a remote and pushes it.)

Max: TIME TO EVIL! (The statues head blows up)

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM!

Scarlett: (Amazed) OK, I'll admit it, that was evil.

Me: But fitting.

Max: (Rubs his knuckles on his shirt) I know! I'm so glad that this one had a self-destruct option.

(Some noose of rope is then thrown over and wrapped around the statue. Everyone is holding onto the ropes.)

Topher: Ready everyone? (Everyone nods) PULL!

We pulled!

(Everyone pulls the statue forward and it smashes into pieces as it hits the ground.

SMASH!

(We all laugh and cheer until they hear a certain someone offstage.)

?: THAT IS ENOUGH!

UH OH!

(Everyone looks to the right of the stage and see a very ticked off Billy McLean standing right before them)

Me: Look who finally decided to show up.

Billy: (Outraged) I have seen you kids do some stupid things for the past few years, but this is the stupidest. Ever since you've started this special, you have turned me into the world's biggest joke.

Me: More like the worlds biggest fucking monster.

Gwen: (Annoyed) Well duh, you've been doing it to us so now we are returning the favor.

Me: Yeah!

Billy: Zip it Gwendy! You're at the top of contestants that I hate; A.K.A., everyone.

My aura flared up and so did Gwen's.

Courtney: (Angry) Her name is Gwen and she is actually one of the best Total Drama contestants of all time in my eyes.

Me: That's right!

Gwen: (Touched) Thanks Courtney, you're one of the best to me as well. Same to you J.D.

Me: Thanks.

Billy: (Disturbed) Sheesh, enough with your friendship talk. Why don't you two just kiss already?

Me: How about you shut the hell up fuckwad?

Gwen: (Offended) Dude, Courtney and I might like each other but we're not gay.

Courtney: Yeah, (looks into the camera with Gwen) we'll leave that to the fans.

Billy: Oh please, the fans only care about the drama and torture; that's why the show is called Total Drama. Each and every one of you is a pile of trash.

Me: Like you for bringing that torture.

(Everyone is either angry or upset when he starts insulting each and every one of them. He starts with the Original Cast.)

Billy: (To Courtney) You're not a C. I. T. You're a B.I.T.C.H.

Me: And you Billy are a F.U.C.K.K.I.C.K.E.R.

Billy: I don't give a flying fuck what you think. By the way, you are a terrible artist. (To Trent) Your guitar playing is always out of tune you shitstain. (To Bridgette) You're a lousy surfer and a bitch. (To Geoff) You're too annoying. (To Owen) You're a walking time bomb that will bring us all to our ex-stink-tion. (To DJ) You're a big cry baby who loves his mama too much. (To Harold) You're an over-sized walking stick. (To LeShawna) You can't dance because you are too big. (To Duncan) You have no respect for anyone; not even your parents. (To Sierra and Izzy) You two are mental. (To Lindsay) You have a brain the size of an oxygen molecule. (To Cody) You're a little dweeb. (To Noah) You're as boring as the next bookworm. (To Tyler) You suck at every sport. (To Ezekiel) You're the biggest freak of nature on the planet.

He then went to me.

Billy: You J.D. are the biggest motherfucking shitstain ever known on the face of the universe.

Me: I am not intimidated. I've been called much worse.

(Ezekiel backed away slowly offstage. Billy turns to the Pahkitew Cast.)

Billy: (To Sky) You're too tiny to be a real Olympian. (To Dave) You cry whenever something lands on you. (To Shawn) You're all messed up with your stupid Zombie obsession. (To Jasmine) You have no real dreams. (To Sammy) You always say your name wrong. (To Topher) You're the worst host in TV history. (To Ella)

You can't sing like a normal person. (To Scarlett) All your inventions are terrible. (To Rodney) You will never find true love.

(Rodney feels depressed until Ella comforts him. Billy turns to the Revenge Cast.)

Billy: (To Mike and Zoey) You two are bland and stupid. (To Cameron) You're an accident prone string bean. (To Brick) You're too clumsy to serve this country. (To Dawn) You're a witch. (To Scott) You're an idiotic hillbilly. (To B) You have no voice box. (To Staci) You never shut up. (To Anne Maria) Your tan is fake. (To Sam) You're a virtual reality nut job. (To Dakota) And you are the worst mutation I have ever created. You're too big, too loud, too mean, and most of all; too ugly. (Dakota snarls) You're a Hollywood reject who will spend the rest of your life in exile.

Billy then turned to the rest of us and called us names so horrible and so terrible that we can't even say them on here. But we weren't intimidated.

Billy: You all have no future in fame and fortune. You have…

(Dakota suddenly picks up Billy by his ankle and starts slamming him to the ground the same way The Hulk did to Loki in "The Avengers". Billy then lays on the ground motionless; unable to do anything except breathe. His clothes were all torn up, his hair all ruffled up, his tooth missing again, a black right eye again, and covered in cuts and bruises.)

Dakota: You're finished!

(Billy then just moans and whines in pain. Everyone cheers at what Dakota just did to Chris.)

Sam: (Whistles) That's my girl!

Me: Way to go Dakota!

Cameron: AWESOME! (He checks the machine and it's ready to be used again) Well the machine has warmed up again. Ready to be de-mutated Dakota?

(Dakota looks at Sam and then at Chris)

Dakota: Well, if I have to end my time as a mutant, at least I ended it on a high note.

Gwen: I couldn't agree more.

Dakota: (Steps into the machine) Well, here I go.

Mike: Wait, (pulls out a bath towel) you might need this when you come out.

Dakota: (Takes the towel) Thanks Mike!

(Harold closes the door and Scarlett starts the machine up again. It roars and sparks until she turns it off. Harold then opens the door and Dakota steps out in her human form again; wearing nothing but the bath towel.)

Dakota: Did, did it work? Am I me again? I sound like me again. (She looks at her hands and smiles) YES, I got my old body back.

Me: See for yourself.

I formed a mirror and she was shocked!

Sam: (Runs over and hugs her) Dakota, I do agree with you now; you do look better this way. I can't believe I forgot how beautiful you are as a human, even with your beautiful blonde hair.

Dakota: What! (Ella gives Dakota a mirror and squeals excitedly) I got my old hair back too. (She and Sam share a kiss)

Dark Spicer: How about you guys rest for now? Me, Waffle Woman, and Zs'Skayr will take care of Billy.

Me: Will do.

Nico: (To Dark Spicer's group) I can't believe I'm saying this but, no killing Billy. He has to face justice for his crimes. If you kill him, believe me, I'll know.

Dark Spicer: Got it.

(Chris suddenly gets up just as the 3 members of the Masters of Evil came.)

Billy Mclean: Who the Hell are you three?!

Zs'Skayr: We're those villains everyone's talking about!

Dark Spicer: Here's your warning: Your ass is about to be kicked!

They mercilessly thrashed him all over and it really hurt him.

Dark Spicer then turned into Plantmenace.

Plantmenace just restrained Billy McLean in vines.

Plantmeance: There. Now to deliver him to J.D. and the others.

He dropped him in front of us and he saw Vypra.

Vypra: Our deal is off McLean.

Billy: (to Vypra) C'mon, Vypra! I thought I paid you and your group good money!

Vypra: True, but it was all for torture and even we wouldn't go that far.

Chris McLean: And I can say this.

Billy: Chris? What are you doing here!?

Chris McLean: Closing down my show Billy. You are a disgrace to our family.

Two more officers and one of the Producers show up.

Billy: (Sheepish) Hey, what are you doing here?

Producer: We have all had enough of your crap Billy McLean. (The officers pick him up) You've done nothing but torment these innocent kids for the last 9 seasons. And I agree with Chris. It's time to shut this show down and put people like you where you belong, in jail!

Billy: (Annoyed) Fine, go on ahead, it's only a one year sentence just like last time.

Producer: Oh I don't think so. You're going away for a long time, like 15 to 20 years away.

Me: Make it life without parole because you're being declared as a Dangerous Offender.

Billy: (Shocked) WHAT!

Producer: Let's go boys. (The officers drag Billy away as they follow the Producer off the stage)

Me: Officers wait!

The officers turned to me and I handed them a huge file full of evidence on Billy.

Me: You'll need this. It's all the crimes Billy did to us and to everyone here.

Officer: Thanks J.D.

They took it and left with Billy.

Me: In the immortal words of Nico…

Me and Nico: BILLY MCLEAN, YOU HAVE FAILED THIS WORLD AND THIS UNIVERSE!

We cheered.

Bridgette: Phew, I'm glad that it is all over.

Trent: Not yet, we still have one more thing to do. Chef!

(Chef walks onstage with a giant cake that is almost as big as the stage. There is writing on the side of the cake saying "TO THE END OF TOTAL DRAMA… and Happy Birthday Sky!)

Me: Wow! What a cake!

Sky: (Impressed) Wow, this is not only a cake to celebrate the shows final run, it's also to celebrate my special day.

Trent: Well we wanted to give you something special after we found out so we added a birthday message to the cake.

Sky: Thanks!

Ella: Oh Sky, I've got something for you too. (She takes the tiara that Sugar had in Episode 1)

Me: Aww.

Ella: (Placing the tiara on Sky's head) I hereby dub thee; Princess Sky!

(Everyone claps and cheers)

Sky: (Surprised) Me, a princess, but I'm an athlete. Why?

Ella: Because a princess is not only someone who sings, dances, and rules a kingdom. A princess can be someone who has determination, charity, compassion, devotion, integrity, optimism, and leadership. You proved that you have them all.

Lola: That's right Sky. You are an amazing athletic princess.

Sky: Thanks Ella and you too Lola! (They share a hug)

Geoff: Wahoo, let's get this party started.

Me: Yeah!

(Everyone cheers. Cuts to Billy in the police car.)

Billy: (Devious) You might have ended my career, (hold up a remote) but I still have one more prank up my sleeve.

(He presses a button; turning on a detonator that he secretly planted on the cake before he was hauled out. The cake suddenly explodes, covering everyone in cake for the last few minutes of the special.

Everyone pops out of the mess and look upset, but Owen just cheers at such awesomeness.)

Owen: Oh man, that was awesome. WAHOO!

Me: (Slurps) Mmm! Cotton Candy Vanilla! Delicious!

Vypra: Really good cake.

Dark Spicer: Very tasty.

(Everyone else then cheers along. Cuts to Billy who doesn't look happy.)

Billy: DANG IT! How am I supposed to make these kids miserable now? (He throws the remote at the car window, only having it bounce off and hitting him in his black eye) SWEET MEXICAN WALNUTS THAT HURTS! Wait a minute, the kids aren't around. I can swear for real. (Inhales deeply) AH MOTHERFUCKER!

POINK!

(The officers knocked him out with a tranquilizer dart before pulling out of the back lot. Cuts back to the stage.)

Bridgette: Well this wasn't how we wanted to end the show.

Trent: But it sure was cool.

Me: It sure was.

Bridgette: Well, I think it's time to sign off for the last time; unless there was something we all forgot.

Ezekiel: (Returns) Yo Yo Yo, guess what I found hiding in a vault backstage; (holds up three suitcases that look like the million dollar case) 7 One Million Dollar Cases.

Brick: Wow, that's amazing. Are you going to keep it?

Ezekiel: And go back to that feral state, huh, no thanks. I'm going to give these to those who really need it.

Gwen: (Gasps) That's right! Owen, J.D., Naruto, Heather, Alejandro, Mike, and Zoey, we all made it to the finale but never walked away with the prize money.

Me: We walked away with it at the ends of seasons 8 and 9.

D.J.: But didn't Mike and Zoey walk away with it in their bonus clip.

Me: Yeah that's right! Cameron was the only one that walked away with it.

Zoey: (Annoyed) Well it looked like we did when Billy gave us the case off-screen. But when the clip ended, he took our money again and told us that he needed it to build the new island.

Courtney: So he just gave it to you as a joke just to mess with your feelings?

Zoey: Pretty much!

Me: What a fuckpot!

Jasmine: Billy shouldn't have taken the money that you've been working so hard to win.

Mike: Yeah, and I had something special planned with my half since we were going to split it anyways.

Me: But we still do. We won the money at the end of T.D.G.

Ezekiel: Well, you guys won't be disappointed. (He gave Owen and Gwen one of the cases, one to Heather and Alejandro, and the last one to Mike and Zoey)

Zoey: So Mike, what were you planning to use your half for?

Me: We still have your wedding to do.

Owen: Hey guys, after I help pay off my mom for everything that happened since Action, I will use what is left over to throw that yacht party I promised everyone, and you guys can have the wedding there. (Thinks for a second) Oh yeah, and for a new cake to replace this one.

(Everyone cheers)

Mike: (Excited) That's awesome man, thanks!

Zoey: Hey Gwen, what do you plan to use your money for?

Gwen: Well most of it is going to my mother and brother, some will be for me to go to a nice art school, (turns to Sammy) and whatever Sammy needs to get her father's grave to Australia so she can still be with him all the time.

Me: Awesome!

Sammy: Oh thank you Gwen, you really are the best! (They share a hug)

Bridgette: And Heather and Alejandro, how do you guys plan to use your money?

Heather: (Stern) We don't need to tell you anything.

Alejandro: Now that we have our million and each other, we don't need to hang out with you guys anymore. (They walk away with their suitcase and leave the studio)

Laney grabbed them.

Laney: Not so fast. The Sore Losers are still going back to prison.

Laney tied them up and took their money. it was gonna be put in the vault.

Dave: (Chuckles) Well, just like Mike, they'll probably use some of it for their own wedding. (He then looks at Sky as well as the cake mess around her) Oh Sky, sorry that your cake got blown up. Chris has probably made this the worst birthday ever for you.

Sky: (Excited) Are you kidding me? This is the greatest birthday I ever had! I got to spend it with my sister; even if it was just for a few minutes, with Scarlett, with you, and with all my new friends. I had fun playing all these challenges, I got a beautiful tiara, and I got a huge cake; even though I ended up wearing it instead of eating it. I wouldn't want to picture it any other way.

Dave: Well, did you at least picture it kissing me in a pile of cake?

Sky: (Blushes and giggles) I am now! (Sky and Dave have the very last kiss of the show)

Brick: Well, I'd say that everything is perfect.

Shawn: Well since the cake is ruined, I know one more thing that would make this moment perfect.

(Everyone looks at each other happily)

Everyone: CAKE FIGHT!

(Everyone starts throwing cake at each other; just laughing and having a good time. Even the audience can't help but laugh along.)

Geoff/Gwen: (To the audience) What are you laughing at? (They throw some cake at the audience, but they still just laugh)

Bridgette: (Laughs) Well, guess this is how we leave our viewers forever; laughing while throwing cake at each other.

Trent: (Laughs) Well it is better than leaving everyone on a bad note. We hope that you all enjoyed our Aftermath Special.

Bridgette: And even though the show is over, keep supporting it with your amazing fan art and your love for each of us. I'm Bridgette!

Geoff: I'm Geoff!

Trent: And I'm Trent! And this has been…

Everyone: Total! Drama! Galaxy!

Billy McLean was found guilty of numerous counts of Multiple attempted murders, Abuse (physical and psychological), Endangerment, Torture, Corruption, Pollution, Animal cruelty, Negligence, Fraud, Privacy violation, Terrorism, Dendrophilia (implied), Snuff filming, Destruction, Food poisoning, and Innumerable other attacks. He was sentenced to serve 80 consecutive life sentences plus 82,749,126 years in the Neptune Prison supermax section. Because of the severity of his crimes, he was declared a dangerous offender. Meaning he will never get out of prison. If Canada had the death penalty, they would execute Billy in an instant.

Vypra: Guess we're enemies again. But thanks for having us over.

Me: It was cool kicking Billy's butt though. Justice has been served.

Vypra: Before we leave, we want you all to release Snake, Skinner, and Quimby back to us.

Me: It will be done.

Maria: As long as they fight Fiona, Dana, and Homer respectively.

Vypra: Done.

I snapped my fingers and beamed them over to them and they teleported.

Chris: (sighs) So this is really it.

Chef: Yeah, looks like it. At least we can say we had a good run.

Chris: A great run. (to the viewers) Thank you viewers for supporting Total Drama throughout the years. As long as you guys remember the show, Total Drama will never truly die. This has been the greatest way to close out the show. Until we see J.D. Knudson and his friends in the Ridonculous Race, I'm Chris McLean and this has been TOTAL! DRAMA! GALAXY!

---

Total Drama Galaxy Saga done.

This was the most awesome way to close out Total Drama Galaxy. I would like to thank TDGirlsFanForever for letting me use his 3 part fanfic for this chapter. Thanks man and credit goes to you. NicoChan11 gave me the ideas for this. Thanks man. Next up is Sym-Bionic Titan and get ready for an awesome adventure as we help Lance, Ilana, and Octus of Galaluna take down the evil General Modula and help them take back their home planet.

See you all tomorrow.

War of Galaluna

At City Hall in Gotham Royal York, we were there to sign Bart Simpson up for a harem.

Fire Man: Hi. We'd like to sign Bart up for a harem.

The receptionist showed us where to go and we got Bart Simpson signed up.

Bart: This is really cool being part of a harem. I now can talk to my girlfriends more now. Also girls I'm sorry I lied about all that.

Jenna: It's all right Bart.

Gina Vendetti: Love has a strange way of causing people to do strange things.

Laura Powers: Yeah.

Jessica Lovejoy: That's right Bart.

Greta: Take it from me. I know how you feel Bart.

Annika Van Houten: It's true.

Mary Spuckler: Yeah.

Nikki McKenna: I'm glad we're together again Bart.

Sherri: Same here.

Terri: Yeah.

Bart: This is gonna be awesome.

Me: I'm happy for you Bart.

Lori: Same here.

Marge: I won't let Bart be a relationship with several girls! He needs only one girl!

Wendy Marvell: You know what, Marge? If you don't like Bart's harem, then we can just let you out and give you to Vanitas and Zs'Skayr!

Me: You tell her Wendy. But I think Marge being a portrait is perfect.

Wendy Marvell: True.

Me: Besides now that Marge is a portrait we won't have to have Bart listen to her incessant nagging.

We laughed.

Lana: That is so funny.

Me: Be right back guys.

I went up to Kidah's room and checked on her. She was rocking baby Olivea to sleep.

Me: How are you feeling Kidah?

Kidah: Doing really good J.D. Thank you so much for everything you've done for me.

Me: No problem Kidah.

I saw how adorable Olivea was in Kidah's arms.

Me: Olivea is so adorable.

Kidah: She sure is. I heard you all won on Total Drama.

Me: We sure did. It was also where we brought Billy McLean to justice.

Kidah: I'm so happy for everyone that they don't have to go through his torture ever again.

Me: You and me both. He got what he deserved.

Kidah: He sure did.

Kidah put Olivea in her crib and sung her a lullaby.

Kidah and me left her room quietly and Kidah closed the door.

Me and Kidah came down.

Nico: I'm glad Kidah is doing good.

Me: Ever since we brought her evil parents to justice Kidah has been so free and more.

Nico: Wow.

Laney: I have a song for you all.

Naruto: What is it Laney?

Laney: It's called the Willow Maid.

Natilee: Wow. That is a really good song. It's about the legend of the Tree Sprites of Celtic Myth. Very prominent tale.

Laney: Yep. Luna is letting me borrow her guitar for this.

Me: Awesome. Go for it.

Laney played for us and she was playing the song The Willow Maid by Erutan.

Laney: (Singing Divinely)

A young man walked through the forest

With his quiver and hunting bow

He heard a young girl singing

And followed the sound below

There he found the maiden

Who lives in the willow
He called to her as she listened
From a ring of toadstools red
'Come with me my maiden
Come from thy willow bed'
She looked at him serenely
And only shook her head.
'See me now, a ray of light in the moondance
See me now, I cannot leave this place
Hear me now, a strain of song in the forest
Don't ask me, to follow where you lead'
A young man walked through the forest
With a flower and coat of green
His love had hair like fire
Her eyes an emerald sheen
She wrapped herself in beauty
So young and so serene
He stood there under the willow
And he gave her the yellow bloom
'Girl my heart you've captured
Oh I would be your groom'
She said she'd wed him never

Not near, nor far, nor soon
'See me now, a ray of light in the moondance
See me now, I cannot leave this place
Hear me now, a strain of song in the forest
Don't ask me, to follow where you lead'
A young man walked through the forest
With an axe sharp as a knife
I'll take the green-eyed fairy
And she shall be my wife
With her I'll raise my children
With her I'll live my life
The maiden wept when she heard him
When he said he'd set her free
He took his axe and used it
To bring down her ancient tree
'Now your willow's fallen
Now you belong to me'
'See me now, a ray of light in the moondance
See me now, I cannot leave this place
Hear me now, a strain of song in the forest
Don't ask me, to follow where you lead'
She followed him out the forest, and collapsed upon the earth

Her feet had walked but a distance,

From the green land of her birth

She faded into a flower,

That would bloom for one bright eve

He could not take from the forest,

What was never meant to leave.

We saw the room turn into the beautiful forests of Ireland and it was beautiful. We saw fairies appear and they were beautiful.

When the song was done we cheered for her.

Me: Way to go Laney!

Natilee: (Irish Accent) That was really beautiful lass. Well done.

Laney: Thanks guys. I have another song. It's called Fairy Nightsongs.

Me: Ooh. That is one of my favorites. Go for it.

Laney was playing the song and we saw the night over Celtic Ireland and it was beautiful.

Laney: (Singing)

Dancing a spiral we sing unaware

On fairy night wings our songs fill the air

Making a circle of magic and light

Watched silently by the Fey of the night

Our hearts full of love and our arms open wide

We hold the key to the fairies delight

Song in our hearts belong in the air

The words of our wisdom we bring forth to share

The songs in the night

As we dance 'round the flame

The Fairy Nightsongs are never the same

The words from our lips as we sing for the night

Impart to the Fey our hearts truest sight

Sounds of the forest in sweet harmony

We give the gift of our song to the fairy

Dancing a spiral we sing unaware

The fairy night wings our song fill the air

The songs in the night

As we dance 'round the flame

The Fairy Nightsongs are never the same

The words from our lips as we sing for the night

Impart to the Fey our hearts truest sight

Ahh…

Dancing a spiral we sing unaware

On fairy night wings our songs fill the air

Making a circle of magic and light

Watched silently by the Fey of the night

The songs in the night

As we dance 'round the flame

The Fairy Nightsongs are never the same

The words from our lips as we sing for the night

Impart to the Fey our hearts truest sight

Our hearts full of love and our arms open wide

We hold the key to the fairies delight

Song in our hearts belong in the air

The words of our wisdom we bring forth to share

The songs in the night

As we dance 'round the flame

The Fairy Nightsongs are never the same

The words from our lips as we sing for the night

Impart to the Fey our hearts truest sight

Sounds of the forest in sweet harmony

We give the gift of our song to the fairy

Dancing a spiral we sing unaware

The fairy night wings our song fill the air

We saw beautiful fairies and they were flying all around us and they were beautiful.

When the song was done we cheered wildly.

Lola: That was so beautiful Laney!

Lily: A beautiful masterpiece of music!

Lori: Literally beautiful.

Natilee: Agreed. Well done lass.

Laney: Thanks guys. It is so amazing.

Natilee: It sure is. Fairies have always been a very prominent part of the Irish lands. It's been that way for millennia.

Me: Learning a lot about Ireland is so cool.

Hunter: (German Accent) Ja. It's amazing that Ireland has that much history behind it.

Axel Adell: (Swedish Accent) It sure is amazing.

Nico: Yeah. Dana, I am so happy for you and Axel.

Dana: Thanks Nico. We just started dating after we got back.

Me: Awesome!

Seia: I'm so happy for you both.

James Maxfield: Me too.

Me: We all are.

Lana: Yeah.

We got back to watching TV.

---

Later, we were over in the city of Sherman, Illinois.

Shockwave: So this is Sherman, Illinois.

Me: Wow. It looks to be as big as Chicago.

Shannon: As long as we aren't there, I'm cool with it.

Nemo: It sure is a neat city. I wouldn't mind going to many more places like this more often.

Laney: Earth is a beautiful place Nemo. You will love seeing more of it.

Nico: Yep.

Naruto: Earth is really pretty. It's hard to imagine that it has so much we can learn from.

Sakura Haruno: That's right.

Fu: Yep.

Then we saw a bank being robbed!

Me: Uh oh! Looks like we got a 2-11 in progress! Lets get them!

We went at the robbers and we punched one in the face and Varie kicked one in the stomach and Nico kicked a third one in he face. Then we saw a boy with black hair and a girl with blonde hair punch and kick the robbers and knocked them out.

Me: Whoa! That was awesome!

Lance: Thank you. Whoa! You're all Team Loud Phoenix Storm.

Me: That's right. It's a pleasure to meet you uh…

Lance: I'm Lance.

Ilana: Princess Ilana of Galaluna. It's an honor to meet you all.

Octus: And I'm Octus. It's a pleasure to meet your acquaintance J.D. Knudson.

Me: Same to all of you.

Nico: Galaluna. Galaluna. (Gasp) I know the planet Galaluna! That is a wartorn planet that is under the rule of the ruthless General Modula.

We gasped in shock.

Me: Whoa!

Ilana: Yes. My planet is in a lot of turmoil. It was a couple of years ago.

Ilana and Lance went over what was happening and they went over the history of General Modula.

---

General Modula (simply known as Modula) is the main antagonist in Sym-Bionic Titan. He was once the General of the planet Galaluna, and a dear friend to the king. But during a battle at an enemy planet Muttrad, the army and the king barely made it out alive, but unfortunately left Modula alive, then Modula changed and lead the Muttraddi to invade Galaluna to take revenge. Now he was after the princess of Galaluna, Ilana so he can fully rule Galaluna.

He was voiced by Don Leslie.

Modula was once a close friend to the king and his most trusted general. As shown during flashbacks, he was an honorable and respectful man to everyone, even the princess. He was present during an award ceremony for a young Lance, but a fight between Lance and his schooll rival, Baron, ruined the ceremony. Modula personally intervened and the two were punished.

At some point during the war with the Mutraddi, the king and his general arrived at the enemy homeworld and did battle. Modula was caught in an explosion and the king was forced to retreat, unknowingly leaving him for dead.

Modula survived, by unknown means, and desired revenge against his former friend. Having spent several years on Muttrad, enslaving many creatures and apparently showing some of them how to speak, Modula convinced a captain on Galaluna to aid him in an invasion of his former homeworld.

While the said captain was killed, Modula's involvement was kept secret until after the king was captured and Ilana, Lance and Octus escaped.

We gasped in horror!

Lincoln: I can't believe that General Modula would take over like that!

Naruto: He's exactly like Danzō Shimura was.

Me: No kidding bro. Looks like we got to head to Galaluna and put an end to him once and for all.

Laney: Yeah.

Lance: Thank you all so much. And we can help you with the Titan.

Me: Titan?

Lance: Lets show them.

Lance, Ilana and Octus turned into the giant robot called the SYM-BIONIC TITAN! It was a huge and awesome robot!

Me: Whoa! So that is the Titan!

Lola: Wow! What an awesome robot!

Wheeljack: Your Sym-Bionic Titan form is almost similar to a Megazord with 3 components.

Me: Just what I was thinking.

Lance: That's right.

Lincoln: It sure is amazing.

Me: Well we aren't gonna sit here and get the job done by doing nothing. Lisa, deploy the U.S.S. Valorous Phoenix.

Lisa Loud: Affirmative!

We got into the U.S.S. Valorous Phoenix and we were off to Galaluna. Galaluna was located in the Triangulum Galaxy 2.73 million light-years away from Earth. We were traveling there with faster than light travel.

---

The U.S.S. Valorous Phoenix was traveling through the Triangulum Galaxy.

Me: Captain's Log, Stardate 2810.2: The U.S.S. Valorous Phoenix is en route to the wartorn planet Galaluna, home to the princess Ilana and her friend Lance. The planet was overthrown in a massive coup de'Tat by the once good friend of the king, General Modula. Our mission is to kill General Modula and help Lance, Ilana and Octus get home.

Nico: Boy we were in space not too long ago. It's awesome that we're in space again.

Me: I know. But when we get to Galaluna, we're gonna be in for one helluva fight.

Vince: I know. It's gonna be a dangerous fight. But we're ready for anything.

Carol: That's right.

May: We're ready for anything.

Me: Yep.

Lisa Loud: We have arrived at our destination.

Me: On screen.

We arrived at the planet Galaluna. It was a beautiful planet and we saw massive fiery explosions blowing much of the capital city of the planet apart.

Me: Man what a war. Lets land. Engage cloaking device and land outside the city.

Lana: Copy that.

We engaged the cloaking device and went invisible and we landed. We got out of the ship and we saw that the city was completely destroyed and ruined.

Me: My god. This is terrible.

Varie: No kidding. It's terrible that General Modula is doing this to this planet.

Ilana: And he won't stop until he kills us.

Lance: Yeah.

Me: Lets go.

We went to the palace.

General Modula was looking out over the world of Galaluna.

General Modula: Soon my rule over the lands of Galaluna will be supreme. All that stands in my way is the Princess and her friend.

Then a massive fiery explosion blasted through the palace ceiling and a phoenix cry was heard and we landed in front of GENERAL MODULA!

Me: So we meet at last General Modula.

General Modula: The famous Team Loud Phoenix Storm. It's an honor to make your acquaintance.

Me: Your reign of terror ends now Modula.

General Modula: Where are Lance and his annoying friends?

Maria: (smirks) Oh, they're closer then you think!

The Sym-Bionic Titan was smashing all of his forces. Then Lance, Ilana and Octus appeared.

Lance: It's over Modula!

Ilana: I'm taking back MY Kingdom!

General Modula: This is my kingdom.

Dark Spicer and Vanitas then appeared.

Me: Dark Spicer and Vanitas. I figured you 2 would be here.

Dark Spicer: I had a feeling. (to Lance) Here's your warning: Your ass is about to be kicked!

Lance: Not if I kick your ass first.

Spiderman: You are in for a wild ride Vanny.

Me: Yeah!

Dark Spicer: And I have new aliens to show you.

Dark Spicer then turned into a new mutant. It was a Polymorph Mutant! He was a purple Polymorph and he had an ugly appearance.

Slimepuss: I call this form… Slimepuss! (fires slime into my mouth)

Zarya: Ew!

Shanan: A Mutant Polymorph. How disgusting.

Slimepuss: I learned that Polymorphs have a different flavor. Tell me what I taste like later. (fires slime at Acid Man)

Acid Man fired acid at the slime and destroyed it.

Me: (Spits) Oh yuck! BRUSSELS SPROUTS! I HATE BRUSSELS SPROUTS!

Ben: Brussels Sprout flavor slime? Yuck!

Dark Spicer: Time for you to meet the second most powerful alien in my arsenal!

Me: Uh oh.

Dark Spicer changed into a Mutant Celestialsapien. He looked like

Alien X but with purple stars and nebulae.

Alien Ξ: Meet Alien Ξ! (snaps his fingers)

Lincoln: What did you just do?!

Alien Ξ: I didn't do anything fatal to you guys. I only completed Vypra's secret project.

Reflector fired his blaster at Alien Ξ but he held his hand out to deflect the blast back at him.

Lincoln used the Force and sent the blast back at Alien Ξ and it slammed into him and knocked him down.

?: That must've hurt.

Tyzonn: I haven't heard that voice in a while.

Out came BULLOX from episodes 11 and 12 of Operation Overdrive!

Bullox is (as his name suggest) a Naga/Ox-like monster. He serves Moltor. He also worked with Tyzonn at first. Bullox is one of the main antagonists of the two-part episode "Face to Face".

Bullox is four-eyed bull-like Naga creature. He was summoned by Moltor to aid Tyzonn in retrieving the Parchment from the previous episode from the possession of the Overdrive Rangers. Moltor gave Tyzonn and lava lizards to Bullox to find the second stone of Corona Aurora - Toru Diamond. Bullox arrived to the city and fought the rangers. Bullox fought with four rangers, while Tyzonn fought with Mack. When Bullox revealed that scroll has no one piece, Bullox returned to the city and started to destroy everything to make the rangers appear. After Tyzonn turned against Moltor, Bullox was ordered to destroy Tyzonn, who eventually got away with the help of Mack. Thus, Bullox and Moltor were on their trail. When it came to the ambush at the Toru Diamond's location in Indonesia, he engaged Tyzonn in battle where Bullox was winning until Mack joins the fight and does a combo attack on Bullox. As Mack is riding in the Sonic Streaker fighting the Lavadactyls, Bullox was taken down by the Defender Vest and Drill Blaster. Moltor shot a dart at Bullox to make him grow and he went head-to-head with the Super DriveMax Megazord and was winning until Mack arrived in the Sonic Streaker. It took the power of the new DriveMax Ultrazord to destroy Bullox.

* * *

Tyzonn: Bullox!

Bullox: Long time no see Tyzonn. Same to you rangers.

Me: I remember this guy! He was your commanding officer Tyzonn.

Tyzonn: That's right.

Bullox: I see you have your normal form back, Mercurian.

Tyzonn: I've also been a Power Ranger for several years now.

Bullox: Shame. I liked it better when you were on my side.

Me: As a freak of nature? I don't think so.

Troy: General. Your mission is over!

Megaforce Rangers: Legendary Ranger Mode: Techno Bionic Team!

The Megaforce Rangers turned into the Electronic Bioman Rangers from 1985.

Then another figure came out and we saw that it was KRUSTY THE CLOWN!

* * *

Krusty has Jewish parents and lived with his father in the Jewish community. As a rabbi, his father heavily criticized his son's career choice as a comedian. Keeping his entertainment lifestyle a secret, Krusty continued his role as a comedian until the day when his father came to one of his shows and a rowdy rabbi sprayed the makeup off his face. After this event his father stopped talking to him, and they didn't make contact until many years later with Bart and Lisa Simpson. Although ethnically Jewish, he generally doesn't want to stress this heritage, to the extent that he prohibits any references to his Jewish background on his show.

Krusty, without his makeup, bears an uncanny physical resemblance to Homer Simpson. However, there are also differences such as his cow-skull birthmark and small feet. Krusty, like Homer, has apparently faced heart problems in the past as he currently has a pacemaker, which has since permanently made his face white.

He also seems to be disturbed at even the mere mention of someone having an affair, as when Homer tells Krusty the Clown that Apu was cheating on Manjula (due to his thinking he would joke about it), he reacted quite differently from how Homer expected by saying in a remorseful tone that it was sad, and feeling sorry for all of their kids. Krusty lives in his mansion in the upscale residential area of Springfield Heights, which is also home to mob don Fat Tony and actor Troy McClure.

Bart: Krusty!

Krusty: Long time no see kid.

Laney: Why are you here?

Krusty: Isn't it obvious? I'm here to fight you guys or something.

Me: I never did like your food. It was all poisonous. Laced with carcinogenic chemicals and all that!

Krusty: Hey I never liked being in fame and all that! I hated it! It was a nightmare! I hated all the fame and fortune and it was terrible! I want to be free and do what I want as a villain!

Jackie (Loud House): You are a terrible clown and I hate clowns!

Sophie Krustovsky: I still love you as a father dad.

Krusty: Aww thank you sweetie.

Jackie (LH): Lets dance!

Me: Attack!

We went at them!

---

Battle 1: Dark Spicer.

---

Eddy and Zarya went at Dark Spicer and Eddy blasted him all over with his blaster and Zarya blasted him with energy arrows. The blasts hit him and exploded!

KRABBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

The explosion knocked him down.

Zarya: You are a powerful villain Dark Spicer.

Eddy: And you have a great style. It's why you are my nemesis.

---

Battle 2: Vanitas

---

Spiderman and Nico were facing Vanitas.

Nico punched him in the face and kicked him in the face and Spiderman wrapped him in spiderwebbing.

Nico: Yeah!

Spiderman: I have an amazing arch nemesis.

Nico: You sure do Peter.

They high five.

Battle 3: Bullox.

---

The Megaforce Rangers and the Operation Overdrive Rangers were facing Bullox. They were blasting and slashing and bashing Bullox all over the place with lasers and their weapons and more.

They fired a massive energy blast and Bullox fell down and exploded into a massive fiery mess.

KRABBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Troy Burrows: Now that is a Mega Win!

Mack Hartford: Yeah!

Battle 4: Krusty

---

Jackie was facing Krusty the Clown.

Jackie (Loud House): You are a terrible clown! Luan is a far better clown than you!

Jackie punched him in the face with a powerful punch and kicked him in the stomach and she fired a blast of explosion energy and it slammed into him and exploded.

KRABBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM

The explosion knocked Krusty down.

Krusty: You made a new enemy today kid.

Jackie (Loud House): So I have.

Battle 5: General Modula

---

We went at General Modula and I powered up to Super Angel-Ebonwu 100,000 Elemental Moonlight Phoenix and I punched him in the face and kicked him in the stomach with devastating force and Nico kicked him in the face and fired a powerful blast of energy and it slammed into him and exploded.

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMMMMMM!

Lincoln fired a powerful blast of lightning and electrocuted him all over and Lana fired a blast of ice lightning and froze him in ice.

Lance: C'mon, General! Just give up already! You had a good run!

General Modula: NEVER!

He fired a laser blast at us and I deflected it back and fired an energy blast and it slammed into him and exploded.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Me: (Divine Voice) You are a monster Modula! You don't deserve to live!

Nico: Yeah! General Modula, you have failed this world!

Laney fired powerful blasts of fire at him and burned him all over and so did Lola and he was charred all over.

Lincoln: Time for some dark force! SHADOW STYLE NINJA ART: SHADOW NINJAS!

Lincoln fired a wave of darkness and they formed into the Feudal Ninjas of Japan back in the 17th century and they slashed and punched and bashed Modula all over with incredible speed and power.

Me: Whoa! The Ninjas of Feudal Japan. Awesome.

Hunter: Ja. Awesome.

Ben: Time to add some predator power!

Ben then turned into a new predator. He was DRAVEK! He was a long sandworm covered in spikes.

Ben: DRAVEK!

Me: Whoa! What a sandworm!

Shanan: Wow! That's a Turrewuste Sandworm! They are incredibly dangerous creatures from the planet Turrewuste.

Nico: Deadly creatures.

Riley: No kidding.

Dravek: Lets see what it can do.

He burrowed underground and went at Modula and he grabbed him and sent him flying and he crashed into the wall.

Ben then turned into another new predator! It was MOSSUCK! He looked like a huge mosquito.

Ben: MOSSUCK!

Me: Whoa! That is a nasty mosquito!

Shanan: That is a Viscosian Colicidaeus! It's the natural predator of the Polymorphs.

Nico: Whoa! So they are Goop's natural predators.

Riley: And I don't like mosquitoes.

Me: Me neither.

Mossuck: Watch.

He skewered Modula and started sucking his blood and Modula was screaming in excruciating pain as half of his blood was sucked out.

Ben: And try this!

He turned into a new ultimate Alien. It was ULTIMATE TOEPICK! He was now purple with 3 heads and he had the middle cage of his face plate opened and he had a terrifying mouth and he had mouths on his hands and in his stomach. And he had tentacles on his arms.

Ben: ULTIMATE TOEPICK!

Me: Whoa! An Evolved Mekfootan!

Shanan: Wow! That is an ugly one!

Riley: Really scary and cool!

Ultimate Toepick: Watch this.

He scared the living shit out of Modula and his remaining forces with powerful nightmare faces.

Me: Time for some teamwork!

Shockwave: Right! CYBER KEY POWER!

The Earth Cyber Planet Key went into his back and enhanced his electromagnetic wavelength gun 100-fold.

Fire Man: Time to burn! EARTH CYBER KEY POWER!

The Earth Cyber Planet Key went into his right arm and enhance his Fire Storm 100-fold.

Shockwave and Fire Man: INFERNO MICROWAVE MEGABLAST!

They fired blasts of fire and microwave energy and the blasts combined and slammed into Modula and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Wendy Marvell: You are never gonna be welcome here on Galaluna! FAIRY TAIL CYBER KEY POWER!

The Fairy Tail Cyber Planet Key went into her right arm device and enhanced her Sky Dragon Slayer Magic 100-fold.

Wheeljack: Time for some awesome power! CYBER KEY POWER!

The Autobot Cyber Planet Key went into his back and enhanced his power 100-fold and turned his gullwing car doors into missile launchers.

Wendy Marvell and Wheeljack: WINDSTORM MISSILE BARRAGE!

Wendy fired a massive blast of wind and Wheeljack fired many missiles and they slammed into Modula and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Magnet Man: This is gonna hurt bad!

Magnet Man fired a magnet at him and Amorpho fired an energy blast.

Magnet Man and Amorpho: GHOST MAGNET FIRESTORM!

The ecto-energy merged with the magnet and it slammed into Modula and exploded.

KRABBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM

Piper: You won't win Modula!

Lori: Yeah!

Lori fired a powerful wind blast and Piper fired a blast of fire from her rings.

Piper and Lori: PHOENIX WIND FIRESTORM!

The blasts combined and turned into a deadly wind phoenix and it slammed into Modula and exploded.

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Tarantulus: This spider is gonna take you down! Tarantulus, TERRORIZE!

Tarantulus transformed.

Keito: And some spider power is gonna bring him down!

Tarantulus fired his spider leg blasters and Keito fired an energy blast.

Beast Wars Tarantulus and Keito: SPIDER BLAST FIRESTORM!

The blasts hit Modula and exploded.

KRABBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOM

Cybertron Menasor: (Irish Accent) This drill will hurt you!

Maria: You said it!

Menasor fired a powerful drill blast and Maria fired a huge blast of water.

Cybertron Menasor and Maria: AQUA DRILL MEGASTRIKE!

The water merged with Cybertron Menasor's drill and he it slammed it into Modula and it exploded.

KRABBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOM

Me: You're finished Modula. Your reign of terror ends now!

Yuko Tani: That's right! FIRE SERPENT MEGABLAST!

Yuko fired a massive blast of fire and it turned into a snake of pure fire and it slammed into him and burned him all over.

Carol: I will never forgive you Modula! GODZILLA ATOMIC FIRESTORM!

Carol fired a massive blast of Godzilla's atomic ray and it slammed into him and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!
KRABBBBOOOOOMMM! KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOMMMMM!

Lance: This is for my friends! GALALUNA ARMY FIRESTORM!

Lance fired a massive blast of fire and it slammed into Modula and exploded.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Ilana: This is for my kingdom! GALALUNA PRINCESS FIRE BURST!

Ilana fired a massive blast of fire and it slammed into Modula and exploded!

KRABBBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Keith (Voltron): This is gonna really hurt.

Voltron Force: VOLTRON FORCE FIRESTORM BURST!

The Voltron Force blasted Modula all over with a powerful elemental blast and it exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Modula was completely obliterated him in an instant and Nicole sent his evil spirit into the River of Fire!

The forces of Modula were killed and destroyed.

I powered down.

Me: That's the end of him.

Alien Ξ: I think all of us won today.

Laney: Who exactly were the villains you restored?

Vanitas: You guys are smart. We'll let you figure it out.

Alien Ξ then teleports him and Vanitas out of there.

Ilana: C'mon, guys! You helped us take down Modula. And that's pretty much a win in my book. Let's enjoy the moment.

Me: Okay.

We had an awesome victory party as a way of saying thanks for killing Modula and ending his reign of terror. We were given medals for our heroism and Lance, Ilana and Octum we allowed to return home. I built an awesome portal that enabled them to come to Earth whenever they wanted. Earth was also their home as well. We went back to Earth.

Lance: (To the viewers) You mess with Galaluna, you mess with us and Team Loud Phoenix Storm.

Ilana: Who are you talking to?

Lance: No one. No one.

THE END

---

Another Awesome chapter done.

Sym-Bionic Titan was an awesome show! I just can't believe that it got cancelled after 20 episodes! What a rip! NicoChan11 gave me the ideas for this one. Thanks man. Next up is Night At The Museum. We're going to save the world from the terror of an evil pharaoh out to kill us!

See you all tomorrow.

Trouble at The Smithsonian

In the yard of the Team Loud Phoenix Storm estate, we were having the wedding of Mike and Zoey. It was gonna be a beautiful and magnificent wedding. We had all our friends from Total Drama with us except for the Sore Losers and Billy McLean. And we also had the parents of the contestants with us. We were dressed up in awesome Tie-Dye clothes on and we were having an awesome tie-dye wedding. Mike was dressed in a beautiful aqua blue tie-dye shirt and he had 5 bracelets on that represented his personality friends he had: Manitoba Smith, Chester, Svetlana, Vito and himself.

Me: This is gonna be an awesome wedding Mike.

Mike: I know. But I'm really nervous.

Me: Don't be man. You and Zoey have known each other since Total Drama Revenge Of The Island and you two have been really close ever since then.

Vince: That's right Mike. You and Zoey were made for each other.

Naruto: Yeah.

The wedding march played and out came Zoey in a beautiful red and orange wedding dress.

Me: Wow.

Mike: Zoey looks so beautiful in that dress.

Me: She sure does man.

Zoey's mom and dad were entranced by it.

Lady Tsunade was the minister for the wedding.

Lady Tsunade: Good afternoon everyone. Dearly Beloved, we are gathered here today to bring into union of Holy Matrimony of Mike and Zoey. If there are any objections as to why these two should not be wed, speak now or forever hold your peace.

No one objected.

Lady Tsunade: Mike, do you take Zoey to be your lawfully wedded wife and will you love her, honor her and care for her in sickness and in health?

Mike: I do.

Lady Tsunade: And Zoey, do you take Mike to be your lawfully wedded husband and will you love her, honor her and care for her in sickness and in health?

Zoey: I do.

Lady Tsunade: Will Carol bring forth the rings?

Carol did so.

They got the rings put on.

Lady Tsunade: It is by the love and the virtue of the love of everyone and the love of the grace of God and the love of everyone on Earth that I hereby pronounce you as husband and wife. Mike, you may kiss the bride.

He did so and it was a joyous time.

We cheered wildly for them.

Later at the reception, we were having a great party.

Me: Congratulations you two.

Zoey: Thank you so much J.D.

Mike: I'm so happy. You have no idea how happy me and Zoey are.

Me: Ah think nothing of it buddy. But it was actually Chris and Billy that brought a lot of people together.

Chris McLean: That's true.

Me: But at least we never have to go through all that torture and humiliation again.

Naruto: That's right bro.

Mike: Hey where's Nico and May?

Me: Oh he and May are up in their rooms. They want to see what it's like to be a Nidoking and a Nidoqueen. So they're getting old clothes on.

Laney: That's cool.

Nico: Hey guys.

We saw that Nico had an old purple shirt on and it had holes in it and he had blue sweatpants on.

May had an old red shirt with hot dogs on it and she had an old blue skirt.

Me: Nice clothes.

Nico: Oh these are really old. They are clothes I once wore before I became part of you guys.

Me: I can see that.

Nico: But congratulations to you and Zoey, Mike.

Mike: Thanks man.

Jessie: You two ready to transform?

Jessie's Yanmega: Yanmega?

Nico: We're ready.

May: This is gonna be awesome!

Aqua: Being a Pokemon was really cool.

Sora: It sure was.

Kairi: Yes it was.

Me: Okay guys. Here we go.

I snapped my fingers and Nico and May were in a lot of pain and then their muscles grew and Nico's skin turned purple and he ripped out of his clothes as his teeth turned in to fangs and his monkey tail turned into that of a Nidoking and his feet turned into hoof claws and his hands turned into claws and his ears turned into those of big mouse ears in a war and he grew spikes on his head and back. He was a full fledge Nidoking. May's skin turned blue and her muscles grew and she grew spikes down her back and on her nose and her hands turned into claws and her feet turned into hoof claws and they were clawed and she ripped out of her clothes and turned into a full fledge Nidoqueen!

Me: Whoa!

Kirby: How do you two feel?

Nico: I feel amazing! Being a Nidoking is so cool!

May: Same with me as a Nidoqueen!

Me: But you two look awesome as a Nidoking and Nidoqueen.

Laney: Boy I'll say.

Ash: I agree.

Nico: It sure is cool though.

May: I'll say!

Max (Pokemon): But you look really awesome as a Nidoqueen sis!

May: Thanks bro.

Alex (OC): You do look awesome.

Dani (OC): Yeah.

Nico: Thanks.

Nico and May tested their powers as Pokemon. It was awesome. Their powers as Pokemon were just as strong as in battle.

Me: 2 more minutes.

Lana: It would be so awesome being a Pokemon. I want to be a Muk.

Lily: That would be funny.

Me: 15 seconds.

Nico: It was cool being a Pokemon.

May: It sure was.

Me: 3… 2… 1…

Nico and May then were reverting back and Maria and Leni got towels for them and Maria covered May first and then Nico.

Teresa pulled out spare clothes for them.

Nico: (Groans) Thanks girls.

Leni: You're totes welcome Nico.

Maria: As long as no one sees you naked.

We laughed.

Zoey: But J.D., thank you all for making this the best wedding ever.

Me: You're welcome Zoey. It was so awesome.

Varie: Yeah.

This was the beginning of Mike and Zoey's lives together and if they needed help, we'll gladly help out in any way we can.

---

Later that night, we were over at the famous Smithsonian Institution

Museum over in Washington D.C.

Me: Wow. The Smithsonian Institution.

Nick F.: One of my favorite places to visit.

Hunter: (German Accent) Ja. Und it's a rich source of history.

Me: Yep. It's one of the most famous museums in the world. Loaded with history that spans over the centuries.

Brawl: Something about this museum seems off.

Nico: What do you mean Brawl?

Brawl: I don't know, it feels like we're being watched.

Me: Yeah I have that exact same feeling as well.

Lori: It's literally not a pleasant feeling.

Nico: I know.

Axel Adell: (Swedish Accent) It's usually not a good sign.

Me: But stay alert guys.

We stayed alert and then suddenly I bumped into someone.

BONK! CRASH!

Me: Ow. Oh god sorry about that!

Larry Daley: Oh it's all right. Wow! Team Loud Phoenix Storm! It's such an honor to meet you all. Sorry I'm Larry Daley. Night Security for the Smithsonian.

Me: Pleasure to meet you.

Larry Daley: There is a reason why you all were being watched. The exhibits come to life only at night.

Me: Whoa!

Prowl: So, this museum's exhibits come to life at night?

Larry Daley: That's right and I'm glad you all came. Pharaoh Kahmunrah is trying to destroy us.

We gasped.

Cody (OC): Pharaoh Kahmunrah? The evil brother of Pharaoh Ahkmenrah?

Larry Daley: That's him.

Me: Lets see here.

I looked up his history.

---

Kahmunrah is the main antagonist of the 2009 comedy film Night at the Museum: Battle of the Smithsonian. He is Ahkmenrah's older brother, who comes back to life and tries to use Ahkmenrah's magic Golden Tablet to take over the world, only to get thwarted by the hero Larry Daley.

He was portrayed by Hank Azaria, who also played Gargamel in Smurfs and Smurfs 2, and Carlos in Hop.

The story begins when Larry, now a wealthy inventor, learns that most of the exhibits of the American Museum of Natural History whom he befriended in the first film are being sent to the Smithsonian Institution to be replaced by holograms. He goes there to say goodbye to them and learns from Ahkmenrah that the Golden Tablet which makes the exhibits come to life is to stay with him in the Museum.

Alas, Dexter the monkey stole the tablet and brought it with him at Washington, causing all the exhibits there to come to life, including Kahmunrah's wax statue, who spends the night trying to take the Tablet from its crate not to avail. The tiny cowboy figure Jedediah manages to phone Larry to warn him, and Larry rushes there to get back the Tablet, guided on the phone by his son Nick.

Larry sneaks into the Smithsonian and tricks the night guard into calling sick, taking his keys and flashlight. He gets the Tablet from Dexter, but stumbles upon Kahmunrah, who has him surrounded by statues of his soldiers, demanding the Golden Tablet. Having seen too much during his time as a night guard, Larry is much less impressed as Kahmunrah would like to and talks back. Larry hands over the Tablet and tricks Kahmunrah into opening a crate containing a giant Cephalopod, stating that it contains a magic cube that obliterates anything standing in one's way. As Kahmunrah and his soldiers are being beat up, Larry takes back the Tablet and flees, pursued by his foe's guards.

During the ensuing chase, Larry befriends the wax statues of General Custer and Amelia Earhart, who help him get rid of Kahmunrah's soldiers. Meanwhile, the evil pharaoh ransacks all the treasures of the museum, which he intends to turn into his new palace, before recruiting the wax statues of Al Capone and his gangsters, Ivan the Terrible and his soldiers, and Napoleon Bonaparte and his imperial guard. Oscar the Grouch and Darth Vader himself offer their services as well, but the evil pharaoh (wearing a bathing robe) dismisses the former for not being evil, and the latter for not having force powers, making his hand gestures sillier than threatening.

After an epic chase through the entire museum and inside the paintings of the nearby National Gallery of Art, Larry and Amelia are captured and brought before Kahmunrah. The evil pharaoh uses the Tablet as a keypad to open the Gates of the Underworld, but luckily the combination was changed. Kahmunrah captures Jedediah, who tried to sneak on him, and locks him into a filling hourglass, ordering Larry to find the new combination for him before sunrise, lest Jedediah dies smothered in sand.

Later, Kahmunrah sees Larry run of with the Tablet to get help from a window, and sends his men after him. Larry, who got the combination from Einstein bobbleheads, eventually returns and starts arguing with Kahmunrah about who will give what the other wants first, with Kahmunrah comically flipping out whenever Larry reaches out for the hourglass. Unfortunately, Al Capone barges in with an Einstein bobblehead captive, revealing the combination he extorted from it.

Kahmunrah then summons a battalion of Horus Warriors from the Underworld, but the animated giant statue of Abraham Lincoln's memorial (whom Larry befriended earlier) appears, guided by the tiny centurion figure Octavius. Lincoln pummels the Horus Soldiers and frightens them back into the Underworld. Then, Amelia leads every exhibit in battle against Kahmunrah and his armies, who get overwhelmed. Larry tricks Kahmunrah's allies (who plan on betraying him now that he is no longer in position to lead them) into fighting for the leader position.

Enraged by his failure, Kahmunrah attacks Larry with a khopesh (an Egyptian sickle-shaped sword), but Larry holds his own wielding his flashlight and manages to best his foe. Kahmunrah asks Larry "What are you?" to which he answers "I'm the night guard"; before pushing him into the Gates of the Underworld, which Amelia re-opened during the battle, never to be seen again.

Larry later donates a huge sum of money to the American Museum of Natural History to restore it and return the exhibits there, and uses the Tablet's power to have the living exhibits interact with the visitors, under the pretense of holographic animations.

We gasped in shock!

Me: What a fucking tyrant!

Nico: No kidding.

Vince: We have to kill an evil pharaoh.

Me: Yep. One that's over 3500 years overdue for death. Larry can you show us where he is?

Larry: Follow me.

We went over to the tomb and we saw PHARAOH KAHMUNRAH and with him were AL CAPONE, ATTILA THE HUN, NAPOLEON and IVAN THE TERRIBLE!

---

Attila the Hun

Attila (/ˈætɪlə, əˈtɪlə/; fl. c. 406-453), frequently called Attila the Hun, was the ruler of the Huns from 434 until his death in March 453. He was also the leader of a tribal empire consisting of Huns, Ostrogoths, and Alans among others, in Central and Eastern Europe.

During his reign, he was one of the most feared enemies of the Western and Eastern Roman Empires. He crossed the Danube twice and plundered the Balkans, but was unable to take Constantinople. His unsuccessful campaign in Persia was followed in 441 by an invasion of the Eastern Roman (Byzantine) Empire, the success of which emboldened Attila to invade the West. He also attempted to conquer Roman Gaul (modern France), crossing the Rhine in 451 and marching as far as Aurelianum (Orléans) before being stopped in the Battle of the Catalaunian Plains.

He subsequently invaded Italy, devastating the northern provinces, but was unable to take Rome. He planned for further campaigns against the Romans, but died in 453. After Attila's death, his close adviser, Ardaric of the Gepids, led a Germanic revolt against Hunnic rule, after which the Hunnic Empire quickly collapsed.

The Huns were a group of Eurasian nomads, appearing from east of the Volga, who migrated further into Western Europe c. 370 and built up an enormous empire there. Their main military techniques were mounted archery and javelin throwing. They were in the process of developing settlements before their arrival in Western Europe, yet the Huns were a society of pastoral warriors:259 whose primary form of nourishment was meat and milk, products of their herds.

The origin and language of the Huns has been the subject of debate for centuries. According to some theories, their leaders at least may have spoken a Turkic language, perhaps closest to the modern Chuvash language.:444 One scholar suggests a relationship to Yeniseian. According to the Encyclopedia of European Peoples, "the Huns, especially those who migrated to the west, may have been a combination of central Asian Turkic, Mongolic, and Ugric stocks".

Attila's father Mundzuk was the brother of kings Octar and Ruga, who reigned jointly over the Hunnic empire in the early fifth century. This form of diarchy was recurrent with the Huns, but historians are unsure whether it was institutionalized, merely customary, or an occasional occurrence.:80 His family was from a noble lineage, but it is uncertain whether they constituted a royal dynasty. Attila's birthdate is debated; journalist Éric Deschodt and writer Herman Schreiber have proposed a date of 395. However, historian Iaroslav Lebedynsky and archaeologist Katalin Escher prefer an estimate between the 390s and the first decade of the fifth century.:40 Several historians have proposed 406 as the date.:92:202

Attila grew up in a rapidly changing world. His people were nomads who had only recently arrived in Europe. They crossed the Volga river during the 370s and annexed the territory of the Alans, then attacked the Gothic kingdom between the Carpathian mountains and the Danube. They were a very mobile people, whose mounted archers had acquired a reputation for invincibility, and the Germanic tribes seemed unable to withstand them.:133-151 Vast populations fleeing the Huns moved from Germania into the Roman Empire in the west and south, and along the banks of the Rhine and Danube. In 376, the Goths crossed the Danube, initially submitting to the Romans but soon rebelling against Emperor Valens, whom they killed in the Battle of Adrianople in 378.:100 Large numbers of Vandals, Alans, Suebi, and Burgundians crossed the Rhine and invaded Roman Gaul on December 31, 406 to escape the Huns.:233 The Roman Empire had been split in half since 395 and was ruled by two distinct governments, one based in Ravenna in the West, and the other in Constantinople in the East. The Roman Emperors, both East and West, were generally from the Theodosian family in Attila's lifetime (despite several power struggles).:13

The Huns dominated a vast territory with nebulous borders determined by the will of a constellation of ethnically varied peoples. Some were assimilated to Hunnic nationality, whereas many retained their own identities and rulers but acknowledged the suzerainty of the king of the Huns.:11 The Huns were also the indirect source of many of the Romans' problems, driving various Germanic tribes into Roman territory, yet relations between the two empires were cordial: the Romans used the Huns as mercenaries against the Germans and even in their civil wars. Thus, the usurper Joannes was able to recruit thousands of Huns for his army against Valentinian III in 424. It was Aëtius, later Patrician of the West, who managed this operation. They exchanged ambassadors and hostages, the alliance lasting from 401 to 450 and permitting the Romans numerous military victories.:111 The Huns considered the Romans to be paying them tribute, whereas the Romans preferred to view this as payment for services rendered. The Huns had become a great power by the time that Attila came of age during the reign of his uncle Ruga, to the point that Nestorius, the Patriarch of Constantinople, deplored the situation with these words: "They have become both masters and slaves of the Romans".:128

Campaigns against the Eastern Roman Empire

The death of Rugila (also known as Rua or Ruga) in 434 left the sons of his brother Mundzuk, Attila and Bleda, in control of the united Hun tribes. At the time of the two brothers' accession, the Hun tribes were bargaining with Eastern Roman Emperor Theodosius II's envoys for the return of several renegades who had taken refuge within the Eastern Roman Empire, possibly Hunnic nobles who disagreed with the brothers' assumption of leadership.

The following year, Attila and Bleda met with the imperial legation at Margus (Požarevac), all seated on horseback in the Hunnic manner, and negotiated an advantageous treaty. The Romans agreed to return the fugitives, to double their previous tribute of 350 Roman pounds (c. 115 kg) of gold, to open their markets to Hunnish traders, and to pay a ransom of eight solidi for each Roman taken prisoner by the Huns. The Huns, satisfied with the treaty, decamped from the Roman Empire and returned to their home in the Great Hungarian Plain, perhaps to consolidate and strengthen their empire. Theodosius used this opportunity to strengthen the walls of Constantinople, building the city's first sea wall, and to build up his border defenses along the Danube.

The Huns remained out of Roman sight for the next few years while they invaded the Sassanid Empire. They were defeated in Armenia by the Sassanids, abandoned their invasion, and turned their attentions back to Europe. In 440, they reappeared in force on the borders of the Roman Empire, attacking the merchants at the market on the north bank of the Danube that had been established by the treaty of 435.

Crossing the Danube, they laid waste to the cities of Illyricum and forts on the river, including (according to Priscus) Viminacium, a city of Moesia. Their advance began at Margus, where they demanded that the Romans turn over a bishop who had retained property that Attila regarded as his. While the Romans discussed the bishop's fate, he slipped away secretly to the Huns and betrayed the city to them.

While the Huns attacked city-states along the Danube, the Vandals (led by Geiseric) captured the Western Roman province of Africa and its capital of Carthage. Carthage was the richest province of the Western Empire and a main source of food for Rome. The Sassanid Shah Yazdegerd II invaded Armenia in 441.

The Romans stripped the Balkan area of forces, sending them to Sicily in order to mount an expedition against the Vandals in Africa. This left Attila and Bleda a clear path through Illyricum into the Balkans, which they invaded in 441. The Hunnish army sacked Margus and Viminacium, and then took Singidunum (Belgrade) and Sirmium. During 442, Theodosius recalled his troops from Sicily and ordered a large issue of new coins to finance operations against the Huns. He believed that he could defeat the Huns and refused the Hunnish kings' demands.

Attila responded with a campaign in 443. For the first time (as far as the Romans knew) his forces were equipped with battering rams and rolling siege towers, with which they successfully assaulted the military centers of Ratiara and Naissus (Niš) and massacred the inhabitants. Priscus said "When we arrived at Naissus we found the city deserted, as though it had been sacked; only a few sick persons lay in the churches. We halted at a short distance from the river, in an open space, for all the ground adjacent to the bank was full of the bones of men slain in war."

Advancing along the Nišava River, the Huns next took Serdica (Sofia), Philippopolis (Plovdiv), and Arcadiopolis (Lüleburgaz). They encountered and destroyed a Roman army outside Constantinople but were stopped by the double walls of the Eastern capital. They defeated a second army near Callipolis (Gelibolu).

Theodosius, unable to make effective armed resistance, admitted defeat, sending the Magister militum per Orientem Anatolius to negotiate peace terms. The terms were harsher than the previous treaty: the Emperor agreed to hand over 6,000 Roman pounds (c. 2000 kg) of gold as punishment for having disobeyed the terms of the treaty during the invasion; the yearly tribute was tripled, rising to 2,100 Roman pounds (c. 700 kg) in gold; and the ransom for each Roman prisoner rose to 12 solidi.

Their demands were met for a time, and the Hun kings withdrew into the interior of their empire. Bleda died following the Huns' withdrawal from Byzantium (probably around 445). Attila then took the throne for himself, becoming the sole ruler of the Huns.

Solitary kingship

In 447, Attila again rode south into the Eastern Roman Empire through Moesia. The Roman army, under Gothic magister militum Arnegisclus, met him in the Battle of the Utus and was defeated, though not without inflicting heavy losses. The Huns were left unopposed and rampaged through the Balkans as far as Thermopylae.

Constantinople itself was saved by the Isaurian troops of magister militum per Orientem Zeno and protected by the intervention of prefect Constantinus, who organized the reconstruction of the walls that had been previously damaged by earthquakes and, in some places, to construct a new line of fortification in front of the old. Callinicus, in his Life of Saint Hypatius, wrote:

The barbarian nation of the Huns, which was in Thrace, became so great that more than a hundred cities were captured and Constantinople almost came into danger and most men fled from it. … And there were so many murders and blood-lettings that the dead could not be numbered. Ay, for they took captive the churches and monasteries and slew the monks and maidens in great numbers.

In the west

In 450, Attila proclaimed his intent to attack the Visigoth kingdom of Toulouse by making an alliance with Emperor Valentinian III. He had previously been on good terms with the Western Roman Empire and its influential general Flavius Aëtius. Aëtius had spent a brief exile among the Huns in 433, and the troops that Attila provided against the Goths and Bagaudae had helped earn him the largely honorary title of magister militum in the west. The gifts and diplomatic efforts of Geiseric, who opposed and feared the Visigoths, may also have influenced Attila's plans.

However, Valentinian's sister was Honoria, who had sent the Hunnish king a plea for help-and her engagement ring-in order to escape her forced betrothal to a Roman senator in the spring of 450. Honoria may not have intended a proposal of marriage, but Attila chose to interpret her message as such. He accepted, asking for half of the western Empire as dowry.

When Valentinian discovered the plan, only the influence of his mother Galla Placidia convinced him to exile Honoria, rather than killing her. He also wrote to Attila, strenuously denying the legitimacy of the supposed marriage proposal. Attila sent an emissary to Ravenna to proclaim that Honoria was innocent, that the proposal had been legitimate, and that he would come to claim what was rightfully his.

Attila interfered in a succession struggle after the death of a Frankish ruler. Attila supported the elder son, while Aëtius supported the younger. (The location and identity of these kings is not known and subject to conjecture.) Attila gathered his vassals-Gepids, Ostrogoths, Rugians, Scirians, Heruls, Thuringians, Alans, Burgundians, among others-and began his march west. In 451, he arrived in Belgica with an army exaggerated by Jordanes to half a million strong.

On April 7, he captured Metz. Other cities attacked can be determined by the hagiographic vitae written to commemorate their bishops: Nicasius was slaughtered before the altar of his church in Rheims; Servatus is alleged to have saved Tongeren with his prayers, as Saint Genevieve is said to have saved Paris. Lupus, bishop of Troyes, is also credited with saving his city by meeting Attila in person.

Aëtius moved to oppose Attila, gathering troops from among the Franks, the Burgundians, and the Celts. A mission by Avitus and Attila's continued westward advance convinced the Visigoth king Theodoric I (Theodorid) to ally with the Romans. The combined armies reached Orléans ahead of Attila, thus checking and turning back the Hunnish advance. Aëtius gave chase and caught the Huns at a place usually assumed to be near Catalaunum (modern Châlons-en-Champagne). Attila decided to fight the Romans on plains where he could use his cavalry.

The two armies clashed in the Battle of the Catalaunian Plains, the outcome of which is commonly considered to be a strategic victory for the Visigothic-Roman alliance. Theodoric was killed in the fighting, and Aëtius failed to press his advantage, according to Edward Gibbon and Edward Creasy, because he feared the consequences of an overwhelming Visigothic triumph as much as he did a defeat. From Aëtius' point of view, the best outcome was what occurred: Theodoric died, Attila was in retreat and disarray, and the Romans had the benefit of appearing victorious.

Invasion of Italy and death

Attila returned in 452 to renew his marriage claim with Honoria, invading and ravaging Italy along the way. Communities became established in what would later become Venice as a result of these attacks when the residents fled to small islands in the Venetian Lagoon. His army sacked numerous cities and razed Aquileia so completely that it was afterwards hard to recognize its original site.:159 Aëtius lacked the strength to offer battle, but managed to harass and slow Attila's advance with only a shadow force. Attila finally halted at the River Po. By this point, disease and starvation may have taken hold in Attila's camp, thus hindering his war efforts and potentially contributing to the cessation of invasion.

Emperor Valentinian III sent three envoys, the high civilian officers Gennadius Avienus and Trigetius, as well as the Bishop of Rome Leo I, who met Attila at Mincio in the vicinity of Mantua and obtained from him the promise that he would withdraw from Italy and negotiate peace with the Emperor. Prosper of Aquitaine gives a short description of the historic meeting, but gives all the credit to Leo for the successful negotiation. Priscus reports that superstitious fear of the fate of Alaric gave him pause-as Alaric died shortly after sacking Rome in 410.

Italy had suffered from a terrible famine in 451 and her crops were faring little better in 452. Attila's devastating invasion of the plains of northern Italy this year did not improve the harvest.:161 To advance on Rome would have required supplies which were not available in Italy, and taking the city would not have improved Attila's supply situation. Therefore, it was more profitable for Attila to conclude peace and retreat to his homeland.:160-161

Furthermore, an East Roman force had crossed the Danube under the command of another officer also named Aetius-who had participated in the Council of Chalcedon the previous year-and proceeded to defeat the Huns who had been left behind by Attila to safeguard their home territories. Attila, hence, faced heavy human and natural pressures to retire "from Italy without ever setting foot south of the Po".:163 As Hydatius writes in his Chronica Minora:

The Huns, who had been plundering Italy and who had also stormed a number of cities, were victims of divine punishment, being visited with heaven-sent disasters: famine and some kind of disease. In addition, they were slaughtered by auxiliaries sent by the Emperor Marcian and led by Aetius, and at the same time, they were crushed in their [home] settlements… Thus crushed, they made peace with the Romans and all returned to their homes.

Death

Marcian was the successor of Theodosius, and he had ceased paying tribute to the Huns in late 450 while Attila was occupied in the west. Multiple invasions by the Huns and others had left the Balkans with little to plunder.[citation needed] After Attila left Italy and returned to his palace across the Danube, he planned to strike at Constantinople again and reclaim the tribute which Marcian had stopped. However, he died in the early months of 453.

The conventional account from Priscus says that Attila was at a feast celebrating his latest marriage, this time to the beautiful young Ildico (the name suggests Gothic or Ostrogoth origins).:164 In the midst of the revels, however, he suffered a severe nosebleed and choked to death in a stupor. An alternative theory is that he succumbed to internal bleeding after heavy drinking, possibly a condition called esophageal varices, where dilated veins in the lower part of the esophagus rupture leading to death by hemorrhage.

Another account of his death was first recorded 80 years after the events by Roman chronicler Marcellinus Comes. It reports that "Attila, King of the Huns and ravager of the provinces of Europe, was pierced by the hand and blade of his wife". Most scholars reject these accounts as no more than hearsay, preferring instead the account given by Attila's contemporary Priscus. Priscus' version, however, has recently come under renewed scrutiny by Michael A. Babcock. Based on detailed philological analysis, Babcock concludes that the account of natural death given by Priscus was an ecclesiastical "cover story", and that Emperor Marcian (who ruled the Eastern Roman Empire from 450 to 457) was the political force behind Attila's death. Jordanes recounts:

On the following day, when a great part of the morning was spent, the royal attendants suspected some ill and, after a great uproar, broke in the doors. There they found the death of Attila accomplished by an effusion of blood, without any wound, and the girl with downcast face weeping beneath her veil. Then, as is the custom of that race, they plucked out the hair of their heads and made their faces hideous with deep wounds, that the renowned warrior might be mourned, not by effeminate wailings and tears, but by the blood of men. Moreover a wondrous thing took place in connection with Attila's death. For in a dream some god stood at the side of Marcian, Emperor of the East, while he was disquieted about his fierce foe, and showed him the bow of Attila broken in that same night, as if to intimate that the race of Huns owed much to that weapon. This account the historian Priscus says he accepts upon truthful evidence. For so terrible was Attila thought to be to great empires that the gods announced his death to rulers as a special boon.

His body was placed in the midst of a plain and lay in state in a silken tent as a sight for men's admiration. The best horsemen of the entire tribe of the Huns rode around in circles, after the manner of circus games, in the place to which he had been brought and told of his deeds in a funeral dirge in the following manner: "The chief of the Huns, King Attila, born of his sire Mundiuch, lord of bravest tribes, sole possessor of the Scythian and German realms-powers unknown before-captured cities and terrified both empires of the Roman world and, appeased by their prayers, took annual tribute to save the rest from plunder. And when he had accomplished all this by the favor of fortune, he fell, not by wound of the foe, nor by treachery of friends, but in the midst of his nation at peace, happy in his joy and without sense of pain. Who can rate this as death, when none believes it calls for vengeance?"

When they had mourned him with such lamentations, a strava, as they call it, was celebrated over his tomb with great revelling. They gave way in turn to the extremes of feeling and displayed funereal grief alternating with joy. Then in the secrecy of night they buried his body in the earth. They bound his coffins, the first with gold, the second with silver and the third with the strength of iron, showing by such means that these three things suited the mightiest of kings; iron because he subdued the nations, gold and silver because he received the honors of both empires. They also added the arms of foemen won in the fight, trappings of rare worth, sparkling with various gems, and ornaments of all sorts whereby princely state is maintained. And that so great riches might be kept from human curiosity, they slew those appointed to the work-a dreadful pay for their labor; and thus sudden death was the lot of those who buried him as well as of him who was buried.:254-259

Attila's sons Ellac, Dengizich and Ernak, "in their rash eagerness to rule they all alike destroyed his empire".:259 They "were clamoring that the nations should be divided among them equally and that warlike kings with their peoples should be apportioned to them by lot like a family estate".:259 Against the treatment as "slaves of the basest condition" a Germanic alliance led by the Gepid ruler Ardaric (who was noted for great loyalty to Attila:199) revolted and fought with the Huns in Pannonia in the Battle of Nedao 454 AD.:260-262 Attila's eldest son Ellac was killed in that battle.:262 Attila's sons "regarding the Goths as deserters from their rule, came against them as though they were seeking fugitive slaves", attacked Ostrogothic co-ruler Valamir (who also fought alongside Ardaric and Attila at the Catalaunian Plains:199), but were repelled, and some group of Huns moved to Scythia (probably those of Ernak). His brother Dengizich attempted a renewed invasion across the Danube in 468 AD, but was defeated at the Battle of Bassianae by the Ostrogoths. Dengizich was killed by Roman-Gothic general Anagast the following year, after which the Hunnic dominion ended.

Attila's many children and relatives are known by name and some even by deeds, but soon valid genealogical sources all but dried up, and there seems to be no verifiable way to trace Attila's descendants. This has not stopped many genealogists from attempting to reconstruct a valid line of descent for various medieval rulers. One of the most credible claims has been that of the Nominalia of the Bulgarian khans for mythological Avitohol and Irnik from the Dulo clan of the Bulgars.

Ivan The Terrible

Ivan IV Vasilyevich (/ˈaɪvən/; Russian: Ива́н Васи́льевич, tr. Ivan Vasilyevich; 25 August 1530 - 28 March [O.S. 18 March] 1584), commonly known as Ivan the Terrible (Russian: Ива́н Гро́зный, Ivan Grozny; "Ivan the Formidable" or "Ivan the Fearsome", Latin: Ioannes Severus), was the Grand Prince of Moscow from 1533 to 1547 and the first Tsar of Russia from 1547 to 1584.

Ivan was the son of Vasili III, the Rurikid ruler of the Grand Duchy of Moscow, and was appointed Grand Prince at three years old after his father's death. A group of reformers, united around the young Ivan and known as the "Chosen Council", declared him Tsar (Emperor) of All Rus' in 1547 at the age of sixteen, establishing the Tsardom of Russia with Moscow as the predominant state. Ivan's reign was characterized by Russia's transformation from a medieval state into an empire under the Tsar, though at immense cost to its people and its broader, long-term economy. In the young years of Ivan, there was a conquest of the Khanates of Kazan and Astrakhan. After consolidating his power, Ivan got rid of the advisers from the "Chosen Council" and triggered the Livonian War, which ravaged Russia and resulted in the loss of Livonia and Ingria, but allowed him to establish greater autocratic control over Russia's nobility, whom he violently purged in the Oprichnina. The later years of Ivan's reign were also marked by the Massacre of Novgorod and the burning of Moscow by Tatars. Ivan was a patron of trade (he gave monopoly to Muscovy Company), and the founder of Russia's first publishing house, the Moscow Print Yard.

Historic sources present disparate accounts of Ivan's complex personality: he was described as intelligent and devout, but also prone to paranoia, rages, and episodic outbreaks of mental instability that increased with age. Ivan is popularly believed to have killed his eldest son and heir Ivan Ivanovich and the latter's unborn son during his outbursts, which left the politically ineffectual Feodor Ivanovich to inherit the throne, a man whose rule directly led to the end of the Rurikid dynasty and the beginning of the Time of Troubles.

Ivan was the first son of Vasili III and his second wife, Elena Glinskaya. Elena's mother was a Serbian princess and her father's family, the Glinski clan (nobles based in the Grand Duchy of Lithuania), claimed descent both from Orthodox Hungarian nobles and the Mongol ruler Mamai (1335-1380.) When Ivan was three years old, his father died from an abscess and inflammation on his leg that developed into blood poisoning. Ivan was proclaimed the Grand Prince of Moscow at the request of his father. His mother Elena Glinskaya initially acted as regent, but she died of what many believe to be assassination by poison, in 1538 when Ivan was only eight years old. The regency then alternated between several feuding boyar families fighting for control. According to his own letters, Ivan, along with his younger brother Yuri, often felt neglected and offended by the mighty boyars from the Shuisky and Belsky families. In a letter to Prince Kurbski Ivan remembers, "My brother Iurii, of blessed memory, and me they brought up like vagrants and children of the poorest. What have I suffered for want of garments and food!" This account has been challenged by historian Edward L Keenan, who doubts the authenticity of the source in which these quotes are found.

On 16 January 1547, at age sixteen, Ivan was crowned with Monomakh's Cap at the Cathedral of the Dormition. He was the first to be crowned as "Tsar of All the Russias", imitating in part his grandfather, Ivan III the Great, who had title Grand Prince of all Rus'. Prior to that, rulers of Muscovy were crowned as Grand Princes, although Ivan III the Great, styled himself "tsar" in his correspondence. Two weeks after his coronation, Ivan married his first wife Anastasia Romanovna, a member of the Romanov family, who became the first Russian tsaritsa.

By being crowned Tsar, Ivan was sending a message to the world and to Russia: he was now the only supreme ruler of the country, and his will was not to be questioned. "The new title symbolized an assumption of powers equivalent and parallel to those held by former Byzantine Emperor and the Tatar Khan, both known in Russian sources as Tsar. The political effect was to elevate Ivan's position." The new title not only secured the throne, but it also granted Ivan a new dimension of power, one intimately tied to religion. He was now a "divine" leader appointed to enact God's will, as "church texts described Old Testament kings as 'Tsars' and Christ as the Heavenly Tsar." The newly appointed title was then passed on from generation to generation: "succeeding Muscovite rulers… benefited from the divine nature of the power of the Russian monarch… crystallized during Ivan's reign."

Napoleon Bonaparte

Napoleon Bonaparte (/nəˈpoʊliən ˈboʊnəpɑːrt/, French: Napoléon [napɔleɔ̃ bɔnapaʁt]; 15 August 1769 - 5 May 1821) was a French statesman and military leader who rose to prominence during the French Revolution and led several successful campaigns during the French Revolutionary Wars. He was Emperor of the French as Napoleon I from 1804 until 1814 and again briefly in 1815 during the Hundred Days. Napoleon dominated European and global affairs for more than a decade while leading France against a series of coalitions in the Napoleonic Wars. He won most of these wars and the vast majority of his battles, building a large empire that ruled over much of continental Europe before its final collapse in 1815. He is considered one of the greatest commanders in history, and his wars and campaigns are studied at military schools worldwide. Napoleon's political and cultural legacy has endured as one of the most celebrated and controversial leaders in human history.

He was born Napoleone Buonaparte (Italian: [napoleˈoːne ˌbwɔna ˈparte]) in Corsica to a relatively modest Italian family from minor nobility. He was serving as an artillery officer in the French army when the French Revolution erupted in 1789. He rapidly rose through the ranks of the military, seizing the new opportunities presented by the Revolution and becoming a general at age 24. The French Directory eventually gave him command of the Army of Italy after he suppressed the 13 Vendémiaire revolt against the government from royalist insurgents. At age 26, he began his first military campaign against the Austrians and the Italian monarchs aligned with the Habsburgs-winning virtually every battle, conquering the Italian Peninsula in a year while establishing "sister republics" with local support, and becoming a war hero in France. In 1798, he led a military expedition to Egypt that served as a springboard to political power. He orchestrated a coup in November 1799 and became First Consul of the Republic. After the Peace of Amiens in 1802, Napoleon turned his attention to France's colonies. He sold the Louisiana Territory to the United States, and he attempted to restore slavery to the French Caribbean colonies. However, while he was successful in restoring slavery in the eastern Caribbean, Napoleon failed in his attempts to subdue Saint-Domingue, and the colony that France once proudly boasted of as the "Pearl of the Antilles" became independent as Haiti in 1804. Napoleon's ambition and public approval inspired him to go further, and he became the first Emperor of the French in 1804. Intractable differences with the British meant that the French were facing a Third Coalition by 1805. Napoleon shattered this coalition with decisive victories in the Ulm Campaign and a historic triumph over the Russian Empire and Austrian Empire at the Battle of Austerlitz which led to the dissolution of the Holy Roman Empire. In 1806, the Fourth Coalition took up arms against him because Prussia became worried about growing French influence on the continent. Napoleon quickly defeated Prussia at the battles of Jena and Auerstedt, then marched his Grande Armée deep into Eastern Europe and annihilated the Russians in June 1807 at the Battle of Friedland. France then forced the defeated nations of the Fourth Coalition to sign the Treaties of Tilsit in July 1807, bringing an uneasy peace to the continent. Tilsit signified the high-water mark of the French Empire. In 1809, the Austrians and the British challenged the French again during the War of the Fifth Coalition, but Napoleon solidified his grip over Europe after triumphing at the Battle of Wagram in July.

Napoleon then occupied the Iberian Peninsula, hoping to extend the Continental System and choke off British trade with the European mainland, and declared his brother Joseph Bonaparte the King of Spain in 1808. The Spanish and the Portuguese revolted with British support. The Peninsular War lasted six years, featured extensive guerrilla warfare, and ended in victory for the Allies against Napoleon. The Continental System caused recurring diplomatic conflicts between France and its client states, especially Russia. The Russians were unwilling to bear the economic consequences of reduced trade and routinely violated the Continental System, enticing Napoleon into another war. The French launched a major invasion of Russia in the summer of 1812. The campaign destroyed Russian cities, but did not yield the decisive victory Napoleon wanted. It resulted in the collapse of the Grande Armée and inspired a renewed push against Napoleon by his enemies. In 1813, Prussia and Austria joined Russian forces in the War of the Sixth Coalition against France. A lengthy military campaign culminated in a large Allied army defeating Napoleon at the Battle of Leipzig in October 1813, but his tactical victory at the minor Battle of Hanau allowed retreat onto French soil. The Allies then invaded France and captured Paris in the spring of 1814, forcing Napoleon to abdicate in April. He was exiled to the island of Elba off the coast of Tuscany, and the Bourbon dynasty was restored to power. Napoleon escaped from Elba in February 1815 and took control of France once again. The Allies responded by forming a Seventh Coalition which defeated him at the Battle of Waterloo in June. The British exiled him to the remote island of Saint Helena in the South Atlantic, where he died six years later at the age of 51.

Napoleon's influence on the modern world brought liberal reforms to the numerous territories that he conquered and controlled, such as the Low Countries, Switzerland, and large parts of modern Italy and Germany. He implemented fundamental liberal policies in France and throughout Western Europe. His Napoleonic Code has influenced the legal systems of more than 70 nations around the world. British historian Andrew Roberts states: "The ideas that underpin our modern world-meritocracy, equality before the law, property rights, religious toleration, modern secular education, sound finances, and so on-were championed, consolidated, codified and geographically extended by Napoleon. To them he added a rational and efficient local administration, an end to rural banditry, the encouragement of science and the arts, the abolition of feudalism and the greatest codification of laws since the fall of the Roman Empire".

Al Capone

Alphonse Gabriel Capone (/ˈkəˈpoʊn/, Italian: [kaˈpoːne]; January 17, 1899 - January 25, 1947) was an American gangster and businessman who attained notoriety during the Prohibition era as the co-founder and boss of the Chicago Outfit. His seven-year reign as crime boss ended when he went to prison at age 33.

Capone was born in New York City in 1899 to Italian immigrant parents. He joined the Five Points Gang as a teenager, and became a bouncer in organized crime premises such as brothels. In his early twenties, he moved to Chicago and became a bodyguard and trusted factotum for Johnny Torrio, head of a criminal syndicate that illegally supplied alcohol-the forerunner of the Outfit-and was politically protected through the Unione Siciliana. A conflict with the North Side Gang was instrumental in Capone's rise and fall. Torrio went into retirement after North Side gunmen almost killed him, handing control to Capone. Capone expanded the bootlegging business through increasingly violent means-earning himself the nickname "Scarface"- but his mutually profitable relationships with mayor William Hale Thompson and the city's police meant he seemed safe from law enforcement.

Capone apparently reveled in attention, such as the cheers from spectators when he appeared at ball games. He made donations to various charities and was viewed by many as "modern-day Robin Hood". However, the Saint Valentine's Day Massacre, in which seven gang rivals were murdered in broad daylight, damaged Chicago's and Capone's image, leading influential citizens to demand government action and newspapers to dub Capone "Public Enemy No. 1".

The federal authorities became intent on jailing Capone and prosecuted him in 1931 for tax evasion. During a highly publicized case, the judge admitted as evidence Capone's admissions of his income and unpaid taxes during prior (and ultimately abortive) negotiations to pay the government taxes he owed. He was convicted and sentenced to 11 years in federal prison. After conviction, he replaced his defense team with experts in tax law, and his grounds for appeal were strengthened by a Supreme Court ruling, but his appeal ultimately failed. Capone showed signs of neurosyphilis early in his sentence and became increasingly debilitated before being released after almost eight years of incarceration. On January 25, 1947, Capone died of cardiac arrest after suffering a stroke.

Kahmunrah: Mr. Dally. Welcome to your death.

Nico: So we meet at last Kahmunrah.

Me: And not just him. Attila the Hun, Ivan the Terrible, Napoleon Bonaparte and Al Capone. 4 of our history's most evil figures.

Napoleon: (French Accent) That's right you little fuckhead.

Al Capone: I got a bone to pick with you.

Me: You don't have any idea who you are fucking around with Capone.

Ivan the Terrible: I will enjoy killing all of you!

Attila The Hun: And I will drink your blood.

Larry Daley: What do you want Kahmunrah?

Kahmunrah: You may or may not know the combination, but I am going to give you exactly one hour to figure it out. If you do not, I shall kill your friends. And please don't think about escaping, for I shall be watching you.

Me: Not gonna happen you fuckhead.

Lincoln: (about to attack) I've got a better idea!

Kahmunrah grabbed Jebediah and he was about to use him as a shield.

Larry Daley: (stops him) Alright. I'll find a way to decipher this thing. Just don't hurt them, alright?

Kahmunrah: (we leave with Larry) Tick-tock, Mr. Daley. Your hour has begun.

Al Capone: (to Lori, Lynn, and Lola) Bye bye, Ugly Girls! (laughs)

Lori, Lynn and Lola: UGLY!

I smirked.

Me: You should not have said that you gangster fuckup.

Al Capone then got punched in the face and sent crashing into Kahmunrah and he knocked him down.

?: You will not touch our friends!

Out came famous airplane pilot AMELIA EARHART!

Amelia Mary Earhart (/ˈɛərhɑːrt/, born July 24, 1897; disappeared July 2, 1937) was an American aviation pioneer and author. Earhart was the first female aviator to fly solo across the Atlantic Ocean. She set many other records, wrote best-selling books about her flying experiences, and was instrumental in the formation of The Ninety-Nines, an organization for female pilots.

Born in Atchison, Kansas, Earhart developed a passion for adventure at a young age, steadily gaining flying experience from her twenties. In 1928, Earhart became the first female passenger to cross the Atlantic by airplane (accompanying pilot Wilmer Stultz), for which she achieved celebrity status. In 1932, piloting a Lockheed Vega 5B, Earhart made a nonstop solo transatlantic flight, becoming the first woman to achieve such a feat. She received the United States Distinguished Flying Cross for this accomplishment. In 1935, Earhart became a visiting faculty member at Purdue University as an advisor to aeronautical engineering and a career counselor to women students. She was also a member of the National Woman's Party and an early supporter of the Equal Rights Amendment.

During an attempt to make a circumnavigational flight of the globe in 1937 in a Purdue-funded Lockheed Model 10-E Electra, Earhart and navigator Fred Noonan disappeared over the central Pacific Ocean near Howland Island.

Earhart was the daughter of Samuel "Edwin" Stanton Earhart (1867-1930) and Amelia "Amy" (née Otis; 1869-1962). She was born in Atchison, Kansas, in the home of her maternal grandfather, Alfred Gideon Otis (1827-1912), who was a former federal judge, the president of the Atchison Savings Bank and a leading citizen in the town. Amelia was the second child of the marriage, after an infant was stillborn in August 1896. She was of part German descent. Alfred Otis had not initially favored the marriage and was not satisfied with Edwin's progress as a lawyer.

According to family custom, Earhart was named after her two grandmothers, Amelia Josephine Harres and Mary Wells Patton. From an early age, Amelia was the ringleader while her sister Grace Muriel Earhart (1899-1998), two years her junior, acted as the dutiful follower. Amelia was nicknamed "Meeley" (sometimes "Millie") and Grace was nicknamed "Pidge"; both girls continued to answer to their childhood nicknames well into adulthood. Their upbringing was unconventional, as Amy Earhart did not believe in raising her children to be "nice little girls". But their maternal grandmother disapproved of the "bloomers" they wore, and although Earhart liked the freedom of movement they provided, she was sensitive to the fact that the neighborhood's girls wore dresses.

Early influence

A spirit of adventure seemed to abide in the Earhart children, with the pair setting off daily to explore their neighborhood.[Note 4] As a child, Earhart spent long hours playing with sister Pidge, climbing trees, hunting rats with a rifle and "belly-slamming" her sled downhill. Although the love of the outdoors and "rough-and-tumble" play was common to many youngsters, some biographers have characterized the young Earhart as a tomboy. The girls kept "worms, moths, katydids and a tree toad" in a growing collection gathered in their outings. In 1904, with the help of her uncle, Amelia cobbled together a home-made ramp, fashioned after a roller coaster she had seen on a trip to St. Louis, and secured the ramp to the roof of the family toolshed. Earhart's well-documented first flight ended dramatically. She emerged from the broken wooden box that had served as a sled with a bruised lip, torn dress and a "sensation of exhilaration". She exclaimed, "Oh, Pidge, it's just like flying!"

Although there had been some missteps in Edwin Earhart's career up to that point, in 1907 his job as a claims officer for the Rock Island Railroad led to a transfer to Des Moines, Iowa. The next year, at the age of 10, Earhart saw her first aircraft at the Iowa State Fair in Des Moines. Her father tried to interest his daughters in taking a flight. One look at the rickety "flivver" was enough for Earhart, who promptly asked if they could go back to the merry-go-round. She later described the biplane as "a thing of rusty wire and wood and not at all interesting".

Education

Sisters Amelia and Muriel (who went by her middle name from her teens on) remained with their grandparents in Atchison while their parents moved into new, smaller quarters in Des Moines. During this period, the Earhart girls received home-schooling from their mother and governess. Amelia later recounted that she was "exceedingly fond of reading" and spent countless hours in the large family library. In 1909, when the family was finally reunited in Des Moines, the Earhart children were enrolled in public school for the first time and Amelia, 12, entered seventh grade.

Family fortunes

While the family's finances seemingly improved with the acquisition of a new house and even the hiring of two servants, it soon became apparent that Edwin was an alcoholic. Five years later in 1914, he was forced to retire and although he attempted to rehabilitate himself through treatment, he was never reinstated at the Rock Island Railroad. At about this time, Earhart's grandmother Amelia Otis died suddenly, leaving a substantial estate that placed her daughter's share in a trust, fearing that Edwin's drinking would drain the funds. The Otis house was auctioned along with all of its contents; Earhart was heartbroken and later described it as the end of her childhood.

In 1915, after a long search, Earhart's father found work as a clerk at the Great Northern Railway in St. Paul, Minnesota, where Earhart entered Central High School as a junior. Edwin applied for a transfer to Springfield, Missouri, in 1915, but the current claims officer reconsidered his retirement and demanded his job back, leaving the elder Earhart with nowhere to go. Facing another calamitous move, Amy Earhart took her children to Chicago, where they lived with friends. Earhart made an unusual condition in the choice of her next schooling; she canvassed nearby high schools in Chicago to find the best science program. She rejected the high school nearest her home when she complained that the chemistry lab was "just like a kitchen sink". She eventually enrolled in Hyde Park High School but spent a miserable semester where a yearbook caption captured the essence of her unhappiness, "A.E. - the girl in brown who walks alone".

Earhart graduated from Chicago's Hyde Park High School in 1916. Throughout her troubled childhood, she had continued to aspire to a future career; she kept a scrapbook of newspaper clippings about successful women in predominantly male-oriented fields, including film direction and production, law, advertising, management and mechanical engineering. She began junior college at Ogontz School in Rydal, Pennsylvania, but did not complete her program.

During Christmas vacation in 1917, Earhart visited her sister in Toronto. World War I had been raging and Earhart saw the returning wounded soldiers. After receiving training as a nurse's aide from the Red Cross, she began work with the Voluntary Aid Detachment at Spadina Military Hospital. Her duties included preparing food in the kitchen for patients with special diets and handing out prescribed medication in the hospital's dispensary.

Spanish flu pandemic of 1918

When the 1918 Spanish flu pandemic reached Toronto, Earhart was engaged in arduous nursing duties that included night shifts at the Spadina Military Hospital. She became a patient herself, suffering from pneumonia and maxillary sinusitis. She was hospitalized in early November 1918, owing to pneumonia, and discharged in December 1918, about two months after the illness had started. Her sinus-related symptoms were pain and pressure around one eye and copious mucus drainage via the nostrils and throat. While staying in the hospital during the pre-antibiotic era, she had painful minor operations to wash out the affected maxillary sinus, but these procedures were not successful and Earhart subsequently suffered from worsening headaches. Her convalescence lasted nearly a year, which she spent at her sister's home in Northampton, Massachusetts. She passed the time by reading poetry, learning to play the banjo and studying mechanics. Chronic sinusitis significantly affected Earhart's flying and activities in later life, and sometimes even on the airfield she was forced to wear a bandage on her cheek to cover a small drainage tube.

Early flying experiences

At about that time, Earhart and a young woman friend visited an air fair held in conjunction with the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto. One of the highlights of the day was a flying exhibition put on by a World War I ace. The pilot overhead spotted Earhart and her friend, who were watching from an isolated clearing, and dived at them. "I am sure he said to himself, 'Watch me make them scamper,'" she said. Earhart stood her ground as the aircraft came close. "I did not understand it at the time," she said, "but I believe that little red airplane said something to me as it swished by."

By 1919, Earhart prepared to enter Smith College but changed her mind and enrolled at Columbia University, in a course in medical studies among other programs. She quit a year later to be with her parents, who had reunited in California.

In Long Beach, on December 28, 1920, Earhart and her father visited an airfield where Frank Hawks (who later gained fame as an air racer) gave her a ride that would forever change Earhart's life. "By the time I had got two or three hundred feet [60-90 m] off the ground," she said, "I knew I had to fly." After that 10-minute flight (which cost her father $10), she immediately determined to learn to fly. Working at a variety of jobs including photographer, truck driver, and stenographer at the local telephone company, she managed to save $1,000 for flying lessons. Earhart had her first lesson on January 3, 1921, at Kinner Field near Long Beach. Her teacher was Anita "Neta" Snook, a pioneer female aviator who used a surplus Curtiss JN-4 "Canuck" for training. Earhart arrived with her father and a singular request: "I want to fly. Will you teach me?" In order to reach the airfield, Earhart had to take a bus to the end of the line, then walk four miles (6 km). Earhart's mother also provided part of the $1,000 "stake" against her "better judgement".

Earhart's commitment to flying required her to accept the frequent hard work and rudimentary conditions that accompanied early aviation training. She chose a leather jacket, but aware that other aviators would be judging her, she slept in it for three nights to give the jacket a "worn" look. To complete her image transformation, she also cropped her hair short in the style of other female flyers. Six months later in the summer of 1921, Earhart purchased a secondhand bright yellow Kinner Airster biplane she nicknamed "The Canary".

On October 22, 1922, Earhart flew the Airster to an altitude of 14,000 feet (4,300 m), setting a world record for female pilots. On May 15, 1923, Earhart became the 16th woman in the United States to be issued a pilot's license (#6017) by the Fédération Aéronautique Internationale (FAI).

Financial crisis

Throughout the early 1920s, following a disastrous investment in a failed gypsum mine, Earhart's inheritance from her grandmother, which was now administered by her mother, steadily diminished until it was exhausted. Consequently, with no immediate prospects for recouping her investment in flying, Earhart sold the "Canary" as well as a second Kinner and bought a yellow Kissel "Speedster" two-passenger automobile, which she named the "Yellow Peril". Simultaneously, Earhart experienced an exacerbation of her old sinus problem as her pain worsened and in early 1924 she was hospitalized for another sinus operation, which was again unsuccessful. After trying her hand at a number of unusual ventures that included setting up a photography company, Earhart set out in a new direction.

Following her parents' divorce in 1924, she drove her mother in the "Yellow Peril" on a transcontinental trip from California with stops throughout the West and even a jaunt up to Banff, Alberta. The meandering tour eventually brought the pair to Boston, Massachusetts, where Earhart underwent another sinus operation which was more successful. After recuperation, she returned to Columbia University for several months but was forced to abandon her studies and any further plans for enrolling at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, because her mother could no longer afford the tuition fees and associated costs. Soon after, she found employment first as a teacher, then as a social worker in 1925 at Denison House, a Boston settlement house. At this time, she lived in Medford, Massachusetts.

When Earhart lived in Medford, she maintained her interest in aviation, becoming a member of the American Aeronautical Society's Boston chapter and was eventually elected its vice president. She flew out of Dennison Airport (later the Naval Air Station Squantum) in Quincy, Massachusetts, and helped finance its operation by investing a small sum of money. Earhart also flew the first official flight out of Dennison Airport in 1927. Along with acting as a sales representative for Kinner aircraft in the Boston area, Earhart wrote local newspaper columns promoting flying and as her local celebrity grew, she laid out the plans for an organization devoted to female flyers.

Transatlantic flight in 1928

After Charles Lindbergh's solo flight across the Atlantic in 1927, Amy Guest (1873-1959) expressed interest in being the first woman to fly (or be flown) across the Atlantic Ocean. After deciding that the trip was too perilous for her to undertake, she offered to sponsor the project, suggesting that they find "another girl with the right image". While at work one afternoon in April 1928, Earhart got a phone call from Capt. Hilton H. Railey, who asked her, "Would you like to fly the Atlantic?"

The project coordinators (including book publisher and publicist George P. Putnam) interviewed Earhart and asked her to accompany pilot Wilmer Stultz and copilot/mechanic Louis Gordon on the flight, nominally as a passenger, but with the added duty of keeping the flight log. The team departed from Trepassey Harbor, Newfoundland, in a Fokker /3m named "Friendship" on June 17, 1928, landing at Pwll near Burry Port, South Wales, exactly 20 hours and 40 minutes later. There is a commemorative blue plaque at the site. Since most of the flight was on instruments and Earhart had no training for this type of flying, she did not pilot the aircraft. When interviewed after landing, she said, "Stultz did all the flying-had to. I was just baggage, like a sack of potatoes." She added, "… maybe someday I'll try it alone."

Earhart reportedly received a rousing welcome on June 19, 1928, when she landed at Woolston in Southampton, England. She flew the Avro Avian 594 Avian III, SN: R3/AV/101 owned by Lady Mary Heath and later purchased the aircraft and had it shipped back to the United States (where it was assigned "unlicensed aircraft identification mark" 7083).

When the Stultz, Gordon and Earhart flight crew returned to the United States, they were greeted with a ticker-tape parade along the Canyon of Heroes in Manhattan, followed by a reception with President Calvin Coolidge at the White House.

Celebrity image

Trading on her physical resemblance to Lindbergh, whom the press had dubbed "Lucky Lindy", some newspapers and magazines began referring to Earhart as "Lady Lindy". The United Press was more grandiloquent; to them, Earhart was the reigning "Queen of the Air". Immediately after her return to the United States, she undertook an exhausting lecture tour in 1928 and 1929. Meanwhile, Putnam had undertaken to heavily promote her in a campaign that included publishing a book she authored, a series of new lecture tours and using pictures of her in mass market endorsements for products including luggage, Lucky Strike cigarettes (this caused image problems for her, with McCall's magazine retracting an offer) and women's clothing and sportswear. The money that she made with "Lucky Strike" had been earmarked for a $1,500 donation to Commander Richard Byrd's imminent South Pole expedition.

The marketing campaign by both Earhart and Putnam was successful in establishing the Earhart mystique in the public psyche. Rather than simply endorsing the products, Earhart actively became involved in the promotions, especially in women's fashions. For a number of years she had sewn her own clothes, but the "active living" lines that were sold in 50 stores such as Macy's in metropolitan areas were an expression of a new Earhart image. Her concept of simple, natural lines matched with wrinkle-proof, washable materials was the embodiment of a sleek, purposeful but feminine "A.E." (the familiar name she went by with family and friends). The luggage line that she promoted (marketed as Modernaire Earhart Luggage) also bore her unmistakable stamp.

Promoting aviation

Celebrity endorsements helped Earhart finance her flying. Accepting a position as associate editor at Cosmopolitan magazine, she turned this forum into an opportunity to campaign for greater public acceptance of aviation, especially focusing on the role of women entering the field. In 1929, Earhart was among the first aviators to promote commercial air travel through the development of a passenger airline service; along with Charles Lindbergh, she represented Transcontinental Air Transport (TAT, later TWA) and invested time and money in setting up the first regional shuttle service between New York and Washington, D.C., the Ludington Airline. She was a Vice President of National Airways, which conducted the flying operations of the Boston-Maine Airways and several other airlines in the northeast. By 1940, it had become Northeast Airlines.

Competitive flying

Although Earhart had gained fame for her transatlantic flight, she endeavored to set an "untarnished" record of her own. Shortly after her return, piloting Avian 7083, she set off on her first long solo flight that occurred just as her name was coming into the national spotlight. By making the trip in August 1928, Earhart became the first woman to fly solo across the North American continent and back. Her piloting skills and professionalism gradually grew, as acknowledged by experienced professional pilots who flew with her. General Leigh Wade flew with Earhart in 1929: "She was a born flier, with a delicate touch on the stick."

Earhart subsequently made her first attempt at competitive air racing in 1929 during the first Santa Monica-to-Cleveland Women's Air Derby (nicknamed the "Powder Puff Derby" by Will Rogers), which left Santa Monica on August 18 and arrived at Cleveland on August 26. During the race, she settled into fourth place in the "heavy planes" division. At the second to last stop at Columbus, her friend Ruth Nichols, who was coming in third, had an accident while on a test flight before the race recommenced. Nichols' aircraft hit a tractor at the start of the runway and flipped over, forcing her out of the race. At Cleveland, Earhart was placed third in the heavy division.

In 1930, Earhart became an official of the National Aeronautic Association, where she actively promoted the establishment of separate women's records and was instrumental in the Fédération Aéronautique Internationale (FAI) accepting a similar international standard. In 1931, she set a world altitude record of 18,415 feet (5,613 m), flying a Pitcairn PCA-2 autogyro borrowed from Beech-Nut Chewing Gum. While to a reader today it might seem that Earhart was engaged in flying "stunts", her activities, along with those of other female flyers, were crucial in making the American public "air minded" and convincing them that "aviation was no longer just for daredevils and supermen."

During this period, Earhart became involved with The Ninety-Nines, an organization of female pilots providing moral support and advancing the cause of women in aviation. She had called a meeting of female pilots in 1929 following the Women's Air Derby. She suggested the name based on the number of the charter members; she later became the organization's first president in 1930. Earhart was a vigorous advocate for female pilots and when the 1934 Bendix Trophy Race banned women, she openly refused to fly screen actress Mary Pickford to Cleveland to open the races.

Earhart was engaged to Samuel Chapman, a chemical engineer from Boston; she broke off the engagement on November 23, 1928. During the same period, Earhart and publisher George P. Putnam had spent a great deal of time together. Putnam, who was known as GP, was divorced in 1929 and sought out Earhart, proposing to her six times before she finally agreed to marry him. After substantial hesitation on her part, they married on February 7, 1931, in Putnam's mother's house in Noank, Connecticut. Earhart referred to her marriage as a "partnership" with "dual control". In a letter written to Putnam and hand delivered to him on the day of the wedding, she wrote, "I want you to understand I shall not hold you to any midaevil code of faithfulness to me nor shall I consider myself bound to you similarly." She continued, "I may have to keep some place where I can go to be by myself, now and then, for I cannot guarantee to endure at all times the confinement of even an attractive cage."

Earhart's ideas on marriage were liberal for the time, as she believed in equal responsibilities for both breadwinners and pointedly kept her own name rather than being referred to as "Mrs. Putnam". When The New York Times, per the rules of its stylebook, insisted on referring to her as Mrs. Putnam, she laughed it off. Putnam also learned that he would be called "Mr. Earhart". There was no honeymoon for the newlyweds, as Earhart was involved in a nine-day cross-country tour promoting autogyros and the tour sponsor, Beech-Nut chewing gum. Although Earhart and Putnam never had children, he had two sons by his previous marriage to Dorothy Binney (1888-1982),[87] a chemical heiress whose father's company, Binney & Smith, invented Crayola crayons: the explorer and writer David Binney Putnam (1913-1992) and George Palmer Putnam, Jr. (1921-2013). Earhart was especially fond of David, who frequently visited his father at their family home, which was on the grounds of The Apawamis Club in Rye, New York. George had contracted polio shortly after his parents' separation and was unable to visit as often.

On the morning of May 20, 1932, 34-year-old Earhart set off from Harbour Grace, Newfoundland, with a copy of the Telegraph-Journal, given to her by journalist Stuart Trueman[90] to confirm the date of the flight. She intended to fly to Paris in her single engine Lockheed Vega 5B to emulate Charles Lindbergh's solo flight five years earlier. Her technical advisor for the flight was famed Norwegian American aviator Bernt Balchen, who helped prepare her aircraft. He also played the role of "decoy" for the press as he was ostensibly preparing Earhart's Vega for his own Arctic flight. After a flight lasting 14 hours, 56 minutes, during which she contended with strong northerly winds, icy conditions and mechanical problems, Earhart landed in a pasture at Culmore, north of Derry, Northern Ireland. The landing was witnessed by Cecil King and T. Sawyer.

When a farm hand asked, "Have you flown far?" Earhart replied, "From America".

As the first woman to fly solo nonstop across the Atlantic, Earhart received the Distinguished Flying Cross from Congress, the Cross of Knight of the Legion of Honor from the French Government and the Gold Medal of the National Geographic Society from President Herbert Hoover. As her fame grew, she developed friendships with many people in high offices, most notably First Lady Eleanor Roosevelt. Roosevelt shared many of Earhart's interests and passions, especially women's causes. After flying with Earhart, Roosevelt obtained a student permit but did not further pursue her plans to learn to fly. The two friends communicated frequently throughout their lives. Another flyer, Jacqueline Cochran, who was said to be Earhart's rival, also became her confidante during this period.

Additional solo flights

On January 11, 1935, Earhart became the first aviator to fly solo from Honolulu, Hawaii, to Oakland, California. Although this transoceanic flight had been attempted by many others, notably by the unfortunate participants in the 1927 Dole Air Race that had reversed the route, her trailblazing flight had been mainly routine, with no mechanical breakdowns. In her final hours, she even relaxed and listened to "the broadcast of the Metropolitan Opera from New York".

That year, once more flying her Lockheed Vega airliner that Earhart had tagged "old Bessie, the fire horse", she flew solo from Los Angeles to Mexico City on April 19. The next record attempt was a nonstop flight from Mexico City to New York. Setting off on May 8, her flight was uneventful, although the large crowds that greeted her at Newark, New Jersey, were a concern, because she had to be careful not to taxi into the throng.

Earhart again participated in long-distance air racing, placing fifth in the 1935 Bendix Trophy Race, the best result she could manage, because her stock Lockheed Vega, which topped out at 195 mph (314 km/h), was outclassed by purpose-built air racers that reached more than 300 mph (480 km/h). The race had been a particularly difficult one, as a competitor, Cecil Allen, died in a fiery takeoff mishap, and rival Jacqueline Cochran was forced to pull out due to mechanical problems. In addition, "blinding fog" and violent thunderstorms plagued the race.

Between 1930 and 1935, Earhart had set seven women's speed and distance aviation records in a variety of aircraft, including the Kinner Airster, Lockheed Vega, and Pitcairn Autogiro. By 1935, recognizing the limitations of her "lovely red Vega" in long, transoceanic flights, Earhart contemplated, in her own words, a new "prize… one flight which I most wanted to attempt - a circumnavigation of the globe as near its waistline as could be". For the new venture, she would need a new aircraft.

While Earhart was away on a speaking tour in late November 1934, a fire broke out at the Putnam residence in Rye, destroying many family treasures and Earhart's personal mementos. Putnam had already sold his interest in the New York based publishing company to his cousin, Palmer Putnam. Following the fire, the couple decided to move to the West Coast, where Putnam took up his new position as head of the editorial board of Paramount Pictures in North Hollywood. While speaking in California in late 1934, Earhart had contacted Hollywood "stunt" pilot Paul Mantz in order to improve her flying, focusing especially on long-distance flying in her Vega, and wanted to move closer to him.

At Earhart's urging, Putnam purchased a small house in June 1935 adjacent to the clubhouse of the Lakeside Golf Club in Toluca Lake, a San Fernando Valley celebrity enclave community nestled between the Warner Brothers and Universal Pictures studio complexes, where they had earlier rented a temporary residence. Earhart and Putnam would not move in immediately, however; they decided to do considerable remodeling and enlarge the existing small structure to meet their needs. This delayed the occupation of their new home for several months.

In September 1935, Earhart and Mantz formally established a business partnership that they had been considering since late 1934, by creating the short-lived Earhart-Mantz Flying School, which Mantz controlled and operated through his aviation company, United Air Services. The company was located at the Burbank Airport, about five miles (8 km) from Earhart's Toluca Lake home. Putnam handled publicity for the school that primarily taught instrument flying using Link Trainers.

World flight in 1937

Amelia Earhart's Lockheed Electra 10E. During its modification, the aircraft had most of the cabin windows blanked out and had specially fitted fuselage fuel tanks. The round RDF loop antenna can be seen above the cockpit. This image was taken at Luke Field on March 20, 1937; the plane would crash later that morning.

Planning

In 1935, Earhart joined Purdue University as a visiting faculty member to counsel women on careers and as a technical advisor to its Department of Aeronautics. Early in 1936, Earhart started planning a round-the-world flight. Although others had flown around the world, her flight would be the longest at 29,000 miles (47,000 km) because it followed a roughly equatorial route. With financing from Purdue, in July 1936, a Lockheed Electra 10E was built at Lockheed Aircraft Company to her specifications, which included extensive modifications to the fuselage to incorporate many additional fuel tanks. Earhart dubbed the twin engine monoplane her "flying laboratory". The plane was built at Lockheed's Burbank, California, plant, and after delivery it was hangared at Mantz's United Air Services, which was just across the airfield from the Lockheed plant.

Although the Electra was publicized as a "flying laboratory", little useful science was planned and the flight was arranged around Earhart's intention to circumnavigate the globe along with gathering raw material and public attention for her next book. Earhart chose Captain Harry Manning as her navigator; he had been the captain of the President Roosevelt, the ship that had brought Earhart back from Europe in 1928. Manning was not only a navigator, but he was also a pilot and a skilled radio operator who knew Morse code.

The original plan was a two-person crew. Earhart would fly and Manning would navigate. During a flight across the country that included Earhart, Manning, and Putnam, Earhart flew using landmarks. She and Putnan knew where they were. Manning did a navigation fix, but that fix alarmed Putnam, because Manning's position put them in the wrong state. They were flying close to the state line, so the navigation error was minor, but Putnam was still concerned. Sometime later, Putnam and Mantz arranged a night flight to test Manning's navigational skill. Under poor navigational conditions, Manning's position was off by 20 miles. Long & Long (1999, p. 65) consider Manning's performance reasonable because it was within an acceptable error of 30 miles, but Mantz and Putnam wanted a better navigator.

Through contacts in the Los Angeles aviation community, Fred Noonan was subsequently chosen as a second navigator because there were significant additional factors that had to be dealt with while using celestial navigation for aircraft. Noonan was experienced in both marine (he was a licensed ship's captain) and flight navigation. Noonan had recently left Pan Am, where he established most of the company's China Clipper seaplane routes across the Pacific. Noonan had also been responsible for training Pan American's navigators for the route between San Francisco and Manila. The original plans were for Noonan to navigate from Hawaii to Howland Island, a particularly difficult portion of the flight; then Manning would continue with Earhart to Australia and she would proceed on her own for the remainder of the project.

First attempt

On March 17, 1937, Earhart and her crew flew the first leg from Oakland, California, to Honolulu, Hawaii. In addition to Earhart and Noonan, Harry Manning and Mantz (who was acting as Earhart's technical advisor) were on board. Due to lubrication and galling problems with the propeller hubs' variable pitch mechanisms, the aircraft needed servicing in Hawaii. Ultimately, the Electra ended up at the United States Navy's Luke Field on Ford Island in Pearl Harbor. The flight resumed three days later from Luke Field with Earhart, Noonan and Manning on board. The next destination was Howland Island, a small island in the Pacific. Manning, the only skilled radio operator, had made arrangements to use radio direction finding to home in to the island. The flight never left Luke Field. During the takeoff run, there was an uncontrolled ground-loop, the forward landing gear collapsed, both propellers hit the ground, the plane skidded on its belly, and a portion of the runway was damaged. The cause of the ground-loop is controversial. Some witnesses at Luke Field, including the Associated Press journalist, said they saw a tire blow. Earhart thought either the Electra's right tire had blown and/or the right landing gear had collapsed. Some sources, including Mantz, cited pilot error.

With the aircraft severely damaged, the flight was called off and the aircraft was shipped by sea to the Lockheed Burbank facility for repairs.

Manning had had enough. He had taken a leave of absence to do the flight, but there had been too many problems and delays. That left Earhart with Noonan, and neither of them were skilled radio operators.

Second attempt

While the Electra was being repaired, Earhart and Putnam secured additional funds and prepared for a second attempt. This time flying west to east, the second attempt began with an unpublicized flight from Oakland to Miami, Florida, and after arriving there Earhart publicly announced her plans to circumnavigate the globe. The flight's opposite direction was partly the result of changes in global wind and weather patterns along the planned route since the earlier attempt. On this second flight, Fred Noonan was Earhart's only crew member. The pair departed Miami on June 1 and after numerous stops in South America, Africa, the Indian subcontinent and Southeast Asia, arrived at Lae, New Guinea, on June 29, 1937. At this stage, about 22,000 miles (35,000 km) of the journey had been completed. The remaining 7,000 miles (11,000 km) would be over the Pacific.

Me: Whoa! Amelia Earhart!

Jessie K.: Wow! You're the famous Aviator that traveled across the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

Amelia Earhart: That's right. I've heard so many awesome things about you all. It's an honor.

Taylor Earhart: And she's also my great-great grandmother.

Amelia Earhart: And you must be Taylor. It's a pleasure to meet some family.

Taylor Earhart: Mom would tell me story after story about all of your adventures and flights and it's what lead to me wanting to become a pilot.

Amelia Earhart: I'm so honored Taylor.

?: And she also has me to help as well.

We then saw America's 26th President THEODORE ROOSEVELT!

Theodore Roosevelt Jr. (/ˈroʊzəvɛlt/ ROH-zə-velt; October 27, 1858 - January 6, 1919) was an American statesman, politician, conservationist, naturalist, and writer who served as the 26th president of the United States from 1901 to 1909. He served as the 25th vice president from March to September 1901 and as the 33rd governor of New York from 1899 to 1900. Roosevelt emerged as a leader of the Republican Party and became a driving force for the anti-trust policy while supporting Progressive Era policies in the United States in the early 20th century. His face is depicted on Mount Rushmore alongside George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, and Abraham Lincoln. He is generally ranked in polls of historians and political scientists as one of the five best presidents.

Roosevelt was a sickly child with debilitating asthma, but he overcame his health problems by embracing a strenuous lifestyle, as well as growing out of his asthma naturally in his young adult years. He integrated his exuberant personality, a vast range of interests, and world-famous achievements into a "cowboy" persona defined by robust masculinity. He was home-schooled, and he began a lifelong naturalist avocation before attending Harvard College. His book The Naval War of 1812 (1882) established his reputation as a learned historian and as a popular writer. Upon entering politics, he became the leader of the reform faction of Republicans in New York's state legislature. His wife and his mother both died in rapid succession, and he escaped to a cattle ranch in the Dakotas. He served as Assistant Secretary of the Navy under President William McKinley, but he resigned from that post to lead the Rough Riders during the Spanish-American War, returning a war hero. He was elected governor of New York in 1898. After Vice President Garret Hobart died in 1899, the New York state party leadership convinced McKinley to accept Roosevelt as his running mate in the 1900 election. Roosevelt campaigned vigorously, and the McKinley-Roosevelt ticket won a landslide victory based on a platform of peace, prosperity, and conservation.

Roosevelt took office as vice president in March 1901 and assumed the presidency at age 42 after McKinley was assassinated the following September. He remains the youngest person to become President of the United States. Roosevelt was a leader of the progressive movement, and he championed his "Square Deal" domestic policies, promising the average citizen fairness, breaking of trusts, regulation of railroads, and pure food and drugs. He made conservation a top priority and established many new national parks, forests, and monuments intended to preserve the nation's natural resources. In foreign policy, he focused on Central America where he began construction of the Panama Canal. He expanded the Navy and sent the Great White Fleet on a world tour to project the United States' naval power around the globe. His successful efforts to broker the end of the Russo-Japanese War won him the 1906 Nobel Peace Prize. He avoided controversial tariff and money issues. Roosevelt was elected to a full term in 1904 and continued to promote progressive policies, many of which were passed in Congress. He groomed his close friend William Howard Taft, and Taft won the 1908 presidential election to succeed him.

Roosevelt grew frustrated with Taft's conservatism and belatedly tried to win the 1912 Republican nomination for president. He failed, walked out, and founded the so-called "Bull Moose" Party which called for wide-ranging progressive reforms. He ran in the 1912 election and the split allowed the Democratic nominee Woodrow Wilson to win the election. Following the defeat, Roosevelt led a two-year expedition to the Amazon basin where he nearly died of tropical disease. During World War I, he criticized Wilson for keeping the country out of the war with Germany, and his offer to lead volunteers to France was rejected. He considered running for president again in 1920, but his health continued to deteriorate and he died in 1919.

Me: Whoa! Theodore Roosevelt, America's 26th President.

Theodore Roosevelt: That's right. It's an honor to meet you all Team Loud Phoenix Storm.

Me: Same here sir. It's an honor to meet the famous leader of the Roughriders of San Juan Hill.

Jessie K.: You're one of my favorite presidents in our countries history next to Abraham Lincoln and George Washington.

Theodore Roosevelt: I'm honored Jessie.

Lincoln: Wow! You became president after William McKinley was assassinated.

Jessie K.: That was back in 1901.

Bart Simpson: Wow! I know so much about you President Roosevelt. You were one of my favorite presidents. It's so cool how you helped the Roughriders in the Cuban War.

Theodore Roosevelt: Thank you so much Bart. That was a walk in the park compared to everything I did in my presidency.

Me: You were a great leader though.

?: I'll help you all as well.

We then saw famous Shoshone Tribe hero of the Louisiana Purchase SACAJAWEA!

Sacagawea (/səˌkɑːɡəˈwiːə/; also Sakakawea or Sacajawea; May 1788 - December 20, 1812 or April 9, 1884) was a Lemhi Shoshone woman who, at age 16, met and helped the Lewis and Clark Expedition in achieving their chartered mission objectives by exploring the Louisiana Territory.

Sacagawea traveled with the expedition thousands of miles from North Dakota to the Pacific Ocean. She helped establish cultural contacts with Native American populations in addition to her contributions to natural history.

She was inducted into the National Women's Hall of Fame in 2003. In 1959, she was inducted into the Hall of Great Westerners of the National Cowboy & Western Heritage Museum.

Reliable historical information about Sacagawea is very limited. She was born into the Agaidika (Salmon Eater) or Lemhi Shoshone tribe between Kenney Creek and Agency Creek near Salmon, Idaho, in Lemhi County. In 1800, when she was about twelve years old, she and several other girls were kidnapped by a group of Hidatsa in a battle that resulted in the deaths of several Shoshone: four men, four women, and several boys. She was held captive at a Hidatsa village near present-day Washburn, North Dakota.

At about age thirteen, Sacagawea was sold into a nonconsensual marriage to Toussaint Charbonneau, a Quebecois trapper living in the village. He had also bought another young Shoshone, known as Otter Woman, as his wife. Charbonneau was variously reported to have purchased both girls to be his wives from the Hidatsa or to have won Sacagawea while gambling.

The Lewis and Clark expedition

Sacagawea was pregnant with her first child when the Corps of Discovery arrived near the Hidatsa villages to spend the winter of 1804-05. Captains Meriwether Lewis and William Clark built Fort Mandan. They interviewed several trappers who might be able to interpret or guide the expedition up the Missouri River in the springtime. They agreed to hire Charbonneau as an interpreter because they discovered his wife spoke Shoshone, and they knew they would need the help of Shoshone tribes at the headwaters of the Missouri.

Clark recorded in his journal[a] on November 4, 1804:

a french man by Name Chabonah, who Speaks the Big Belley language visit us, he wished to hire & informed us his 2 Squars (squaws) were Snake Indians, we engau (engaged) him to go on with us and take one of his wives to interpret the Snake language…

Charbonneau and Sacagawea moved into the expedition's fort a week later. Clark nicknamed her "Janey." Lewis recorded the birth of Jean Baptiste Charbonneau on February 11, 1805, noting that another of the party's interpreters administered crushed rattlesnake rattles in water to speed the delivery. Clark and other European Americans nicknamed the boy "Little Pomp" or "Pompy."

In April, the expedition left Fort Mandan and headed up the Missouri River in pirogues. They had to be poled against the current and sometimes pulled from the riverbanks. On May 14, 1805, Sacagawea rescued items that had fallen out of a capsized boat, including the journals and records of Lewis and Clark. The corps commanders, who praised her quick action, named the Sacagawea River in her honor on May 20, 1805. By August 1805, the corps had located a Shoshone tribe and was attempting to trade for horses to cross the Rocky Mountains. They used Sacagawea to interpret and discovered that the tribe's chief, Cameahwait, was her brother.

Lewis recorded their reunion in his journal:

Shortly after Capt. Clark arrived with the Interpreter Charbono, and the Indian woman, who proved to be a sister of the Chief Cameahwait. The meeting of those people was really affecting, particularly between Sah cah-gar-we-ah and an Indian woman, who had been taken prisoner at the same time with her, and who had afterwards escaped from the Minnetares and rejoined her nation.

And Clark in his:

… The Intertrepeter & Squar who were before me at Some distance danced for the joyful Sight, and She made signs to me that they were her nation…

The Shoshone agreed to barter horses to the group, and to provide guides to lead them over the cold and barren Rocky Mountains. The trip was so hard that they were reduced to eating tallow candles to survive. When they descended into the more temperate regions on the other side, Sacagawea helped to find and cook camas roots to help them regain their strength.

As the expedition approached the mouth of the Columbia River on the Pacific Coast, Sacagawea gave up her beaded belt to enable the captains to trade for a fur robe they wished to give to President Thomas Jefferson.

Clark's journal entry for November 20, 1805, reads:

one of the Indians had on a roab made of 2 Sea Otter Skins the fur of them were more butifull than any fur I had ever Seen both Capt. Lewis & my Self endeavored to purchase the roab with different articles at length we precured it for a belt of blue beeds which the Squar-wife of our interpreter Shabono wore around her waste.

When the corps reached the Pacific Ocean, all members of the expedition-including Sacagawea and Clark's black manservant York-voted on November 24 on the location for building their winter fort. In January, when a whale's carcass washed up onto the beach south of Fort Clatsop, Sacagawea insisted on her right to go see this "monstrous fish."

On the return trip, they approached the Rocky Mountains in July 1806. On July 6, Clark recorded "The Indian woman informed me that she had been in this plain frequently and knew it well… She said we would discover a gap in the mountains in our direction…" (which is now Gibbons Pass). A week later, on July 13, Sacagawea advised Clark to cross into the Yellowstone River basin at what is now known as Bozeman Pass. Later, this was chosen as the optimal route for the Northern Pacific Railway to cross the continental divide.

While Sacagawea has been depicted as a guide for the expedition, she is recorded as providing direction in only a few instances. Her work as an interpreter certainly helped the party to negotiate with the Shoshone; however, her greatest value to the mission may have been simply her presence during the arduous journey, which demonstrated the peaceful intent of the expedition. While traveling through what is now Franklin County, Washington, Clark noted, "The Indian woman confirmed those people of our friendly intentions, as no woman ever accompanies a war party of Indians in this quarter," and, "the wife of Shabono our interpeter we find reconsiles all the Indians, as to our friendly intentions a woman with a party of men is a token of peace."

As he traveled downriver from Fort Mandan at the end of the journey, Clark wrote to Charbonneau:

You have been a long time with me and conducted your Self in Such a manner as to gain my friendship, your woman who accompanied you that long dangerous and fatigueing rout to the Pacific Ocian and back diserved a greater reward for her attention and services on that rout than we had in our power to give her at the Mandans. As to your little Son (my boy Pomp) you well know my fondness of him and my anxiety to take him and raise him as my own child… If you are desposed to accept either of my offers to you and will bring down you Son your famn [femme, woman] Janey had best come along with you to take care of the boy untill I get him… Wishing you and your family great success & with anxious expectations of seeing my little danceing boy Baptiest I shall remain your Friend, William Clark.

Later life and death

After the expedition, Charbonneau and Sacagawea spent three years among the Hidatsa before accepting William Clark's invitation to settle in St. Louis, Missouri, in 1809. They entrusted Jean-Baptiste's education to Clark, who enrolled the young man in the Saint Louis Academy boarding school. Sacagawea gave birth to a daughter, Lizette, sometime after 1810.

According to Bonnie "Spirit Wind-Walker" Butterfield, historical documents suggest Sacagawea died in 1812 of an unknown sickness:

Sakakawea obelisk at the believed site of her death, Mobridge, South Dakota, 2003

An 1811 journal entry made by Henry Brackenridge, a fur dealer at Fort Manuel Lisa Trading Post on the Missouri River, stated that, both, Sacagawea and Charbonneau were living at the fort. He recorded that Sacagawea "… had become sickly and longed to revisit her native country." The following year, John Luttig, a clerk at Fort Manuel Lisa, recorded in his journal on December 20, 1812, that: "… the wife of Charbonneau, a Snake Squaw [the common term used to denote Shoshone Indians], died of putrid fever." He went on to say that she was "aged about 25 years. She left a fine infant girl". Documents held by Clark show that her son Baptiste already had been entrusted by Charbonneau into Clark's care for a boarding school education, at Clark's insistence (Jackson, 1962).

A few months later, 15 men were killed in a Native attack on Fort Lisa, then located at the mouth of the Bighorn River. John Luttig and Sacagawea's young daughter were among the survivors. Toussaint Charbonneau was mistakenly thought to have been killed at this time, but he apparently lived to at least age 76. He had signed over formal custody of his son to William Clark in 1813.

As further proof that Sacagawea died in 1812, Butterfield writes:

An adoption document made in the Orphans Court Records in St. Louis, Missouri, states, 'On August 11, 1813, William Clark became the guardian of 'Tousant Charbonneau, a boy about ten years, and Lizette Charbonneau, a girl about one year old.' For a Missouri State Court at the time, to designate a child as orphaned and to allow an adoption, both parents had to be confirmed dead in court papers.

The last recorded document citing Sacagawea's existence appears in William Clark's original notes written between 1825 and 1826. He lists the names of each of the expedition members and their last known whereabouts. For Sacagawea he writes: "Se car ja we au- Dead." (Jackson, 1962).

Some Native American oral traditions relate that rather than dying in 1812, Sacagawea left her husband Charbonneau, crossed the Great Plains, and married into a Comanche tribe.[citation needed] She was said to have returned to the Shoshone in 1860 in Wyoming, where she died in 1884.

Me: Whoa! Sacajawea!

Laney: Wow! You're one of my favorite Native American heroes.

Sacajawea: I'm honored.

Me: You were very widely known during the time of the Louisiana Purchase back at the turn of the 19th Century.

Sacajawea: That's right. It was a great honor to help out Lewis and Clark explore all of America.

Nico: That was one of my favorite subjects to learn about in history.

Sacajawea: Thank you Nico.

Then a blast of fire blew at us and Lola absorbed it and we saw that it was GARFIELD LYNNS A.K.A. FIREFLY!

---

As a child, Garfield Lynns grew up at St. Evangelina Home for Orphans. He was never adopted because of his tendency to be a troublemaker. Although he always had the support of sister Amanda, whom was fond of him. Year later, Garfield became a pyrotechnics expert working on motion pictures at Gotham City, until he became a victim of poverty and turned to crime. Lynns originally took up arson as a hobby, but began seeing visions in the fires he caused and eventually became obsessed with it. Garfield decided to embrace his pyromania, constructing a flamethrower, jetpack and fire-resistant jumpsuit before attempting his first robbery as Firefly.

New 52

Firefly's history was altered for the New 52. In this continuity, the original Firefly is a pyromaniac named Ted Carson who wore a robotic suit to achieve flight and spread fires. At some point Ted was seemingly killed, allowing someone else to take up the mantle of Firefly. Nightwing found reasoned to believe that this new Firefly had to be former pyrotechnician Garfield Lynns, who may have been motivated by revenge after being fired from his job by his ex-girlfriend and film actress Cindy Cooke. However, he soon discovers that Ted Carson had faked his death and Garfield was a victim of his crimes.

DC Rebirth

Firefly's history was further altered as a result of DC Rebirth. In the revised timeline, Garfield Lynns served as Firefly during a past gang war between the Joker and Riddler. However, Ted Carson would still eventually take up the mantle himself. Much later, it is revealed that Ted was grooming a protégé named Bridget Pike, who also goes by the name Lady Firefly.

Batman: The Animated Series

This version of Garfield Lynns was a pyrotechnition obsessed with popstar Cassidy, whom he briefly dated. After intentionally rigging a pyrotechnics display to run wild during one of her concerts, he went into hiding to develop a special fireproof flight suit. Calling himself Firefly, he stalked Cassidy, burning down a music club she helped finance and ultimately kidnapping her. His ultimate plan was to flood the Gotham sewers with highly flammable gel and dissappear with her during the ensuing firestorm.

Batman Arkham Origins

Along with seven other assassins, Lynns was offered a $50,000,000 reward if he were to kill the Batman on a Christmas Eve night by Gotham's most feared mobster, Black Mask.

He planted a quadruplet of bombs around a Gotham bridge in order to lure the Bat out of the shadows. It was successful, forcing Batman to visit the bridge, but the bombs were quickly disabled and Firefly himself was defeated, having his scarred, burnt face revealed via a visor cracking family of punches that knocked the pyromaniac unconscious and ready to be arrested by the GCPD.

Batman: Arkham Asylum

The Firefly does not appear in the game Batman: Arkham Asylum. One of the Riddler's riddles revolves around him. He has an entry in the Character Bios. His profile states: A pyromaniac, Garfield Lynns began as a petty criminal but soon graduated to major crimes centering around arson, torching huge parts of Gotham in the process. But his fires soon raged out of control, leaving him horribly scarred by one of his own blazes. His body is almost fully covered with burns, and he now wears a full-body flame-retardant suit when he is out pursuing his criminal interests between bouts of incarceration in Blackgate.

Batman Arkham Knight

Years later, Lynns returned to Gotham and join Scarecrow's militia of villains. His job was to incinerate firestations in Gotham. As Batman encounters him at the first firestation, Firefly is seen flying outside of the building, telling Batman he defeated once a long time ago before flying away on his jetpack. Batman pursues Firefly in his Batmobile. As soon as he got close enough to him, he ejects and beats Firefly on the ground. Firefly manages to escape on his jetpack after that. After Firefly burns down a third firestation, Batman pursues him one more time and manages to put him behind at Gotham City Police Station.

Lego Batman 3

Firefly is a supporting antagonist and the only unplayable villain in the story version of the Lego video game Lego Batman 3. Firefly teams up with Killer Croc, Cheetah, Joker, and Killer Croc, whom approaches them in the sewers with a map leading to the Hall of Justice. After Cheetah complains about something in the sewer that stinks, Solomon Grundy tells her he does not stink. Firefly tells Grundy that Cheetah was talking about the sewers.

Later, at the Hall of Justice, Lex Luthor, disguised as Hawkman, reveals a secret passageway leading to the sewers from underneath a statue where Firefly and the rest of the villains appear from. However, before the villains could move on, Solomon Grundy becomes stuck in the manhole. Firefly is then seen pulling Grundy out of the manhole along with the other villains. As the villains stood face to face with a portal leading to the Justice League's watchtower, Firefly asked Grundy if he has ever been to outer space. Grundy tells him of course, but then asks him what outer space is.

Once they arrive at the Justice League watchtower, Firefly and the villains encounter Martian Manhunter. Joker introduces Martian Manhunter to Firefly as he tells Martian Manhunter that he loves a good fire, only for Martian Manhunter to point that fire is his one weakness. Firefly shoots his fire pistols among Martian Manhunter, weakening him. As the Justice League came, Lex Luthor orders Firefly to heat them up as he and the other villains escape while Firefly and Cheetah stays behind to deal with Flash and Wonder Woman. Flash takes out Firefly's flames, reviving Martian Manhunter who knocks out Firefly.

Firefly later helps the Justice League fight off Brainiac who plans to shrink their world. He and Killer Croc stayed behind on the watchtower with Martian Manhunter while the Justice League and the other villains go to Brainiac's ship.

As the heroes come up with a way to make their world big again, Firefly and the villains (excluding Grundy) go with Superman to the Hall of Justice. There, Superman imprisons them inside a wall of ice. After the heroes restored Earth to its proper size, Firefly and the villains easily escape their prison as it grew to enourmous size. Firefly then helps Lex Luthor becomes president as he is seen with him in the oval office. However, he is then arrested after the Justice League appear at the White House as he is seen being escorted by Arkham Security, along with Cheetah, Killer Croc, and Grundy.

Batman the Brave and the Bold

Firefly appeared in the teaser of the episode Emperor Joker. This version of Firefly has powers that are based off on colors of his utility belt. As Firefly robs the gold depository, he comes face to face with Robin and Batman in a red costume. Firefly shoots a beam at Batman, but Batman's red costume deflects it. Firefly, on the other hand, uses all of his colorful rays on his belt to create a colorful monster known as the Rainbow Creature that shoots colorful rays out of his mouth, each color with its own power. Batman changes the color on his costume into a rainbow pattern that is immune to the Rainbow Creature's beams. As Firefly was about to reach something in his pocket, Batman punches him in the face, telling him what is in his pocket stays there.

Arrow

Garfield Lynns makes an appearance in episode 10 of Arrow. He was shown as a firefighter who was believed to be dead after a huge fire several years ago. He survived but with severe burns covering his body. He crashes a gala (thrown by Oliver for the fire department as a trap for Lynns) and attempts to kill the Fire Chief for not sending backup to save him on the night of the fire. He is confronted by the hood and commits suicide by walking into fire and burning himself.

Gotham

A female version of Firefly named Bridgit Pike debuted in the fifth episode of the second season of Gotham "Scarification" and continues to appear in a recurring role in the following two seasons.

This version of Firefly was later carried over into the main DC continuity.

She is portrayed by both Michelle Veintimilla and by Camilla Perez.

Attributes

Thorough knowledge of flammable agents

Extensive arsenal of fire-creating weapons

Scarred over 90% of his body

Sociopath with intense pyromania

Me: Garfield Lynns A.K.A. Firefly! What the fuck!?

Firefly: Hey, Lola. Did you miss me?

Lola: Not at all you fucking freak!

Nico: So you are one of the villains that Vypra brought back!

Firefly: That's right. And I'm going to burn you all!

Qin: Who is he?

Me: That is Garfield Lynns. But he now goes by Firefly. He used to be a pyrotechnics master for famous popstar singer Cassidy. But he became Firefly and planned to burn down the entire city of Gotham on a grand scale. It would've been a disaster of epic proportions that would've made the Great Chicago Fire look like a small campfire in comparison.

Qin gasped in horror.

Qin: That's insane!

Me: Yeah. He's a frustrated pyrotechnics master turned into a homicidal pyromegalomaniac.

Firefly: And now I will kill all of you.

?: Same some for me.

We then saw another figure. It was VEXEN!

---

Vexen, the Chilly Academic (いてつく学究, Itetsuku Gakkyū?, lit. Freezing Scholar), is a major antagonist in the Kingdom Hearts video game franchise..

Vexen is the fourth member of Organization XIII and wields a shield and ice powers. Originally planning on using Riku's power of darkness to eliminate the traitorous Marluxia, he later attempts to confront Sora with a replica of Riku before engaging Sora himself.

Vexen was originally Even, one of Ansem the Wise's apprentices along with Braig, Dilan, Ienzo, and Aeleus.

When Ventus arrives at Hollow Bastion, he is accosted by Dilan and Aeleus, but the Trinity Armor's arrival forces Ven to leave. As Dilan and Aeleus attempt to follow the young Keyblade wielder, Even arrives and muses on what would become of the castle. Aeleus realizes that Even is right, but as they return to the castle, Even notes that Ven's heart is devoid of darkness.

Sometime later, Even, who is looking for Ienzo, encounters Ven, who had rescued Ienzo from a swarm of Unversed. Grateful of Ienzo's rescue, Even explains Ienzo's story to Ven and directs the Keyblade wielder to the Outer Gardens to find Terra.

Between Birth by Sleep and Kingdom Hearts: 358/2 Days

Sometime after Aqua's defeat of Terra-Xehanort, Xehanort is inducted into Ansem's ranks and becomes Ansem's favorite pupil. However, Xehanort wanted to delve deeper into the mysteries of the heart and darkness and convinced Even and the others to aid him. Their research eventually caused them to banish Ansem to the Realm of Darkness. At some point, Even's heart was consumed by darkness, giving birth to Vexen.

Years later, after Marluxia's induction, Vexen confronted Zexion and demanded to know where Xemnas was. Zexion simply informed Vexen that Xemnas was at the Chamber of Repose, causing Vexen to storm away while pondering why Xemnas was always hiding.

Kingdom Hearts 358/2 Days

Vexen plays a relatively minor role in Kingdom Hearts 358/2 Days, but it should be noted that this role plays a major contribution to the game's central plot. Advisor and leader of the Castle Oblivion-based Replica Program that created Xion, he was present when the Sora replica joined Organization XIII. Vexen then was assigned on Day 12 to teach Roxas the art of reconnaissance in Twilight Town, and was later getting sent away to Castle Oblivion, where he used his Replica Program to create the Riku Replica in order to challenge Sora.

The Chilly Academic was later exterminated by Axel at the Castle, for the purpose of raising Saïx through the ranks. All Vexen had left behind after his demise was knowledge, Axel later discovering a document he had composed about Naminé in the Castle That Never Was's library. This Nobody's only other mention in Kingdom Hearts 358/2 Days was when Xemnas revealed the truth about Xion before the surviving members of Organization XIII in Where Nothing Gathers.

Kingdom Hearts Chain of Memories

In Kingdom Hearts Chain of Memories, Vexen appeared as an antagonist in both Sora's and Riku's storylines. He assists Lexaeus and Zexion in their efforts to stop Marluxia (whom Vexen loathed) and Larxene (whom he's not too fond of either) from overthrowing the Organization (Axel, the other Organization member residing in the castle, is deemed too unpredictable to be anything other than a liability). To do this, Vexen and his cohorts intend to use Riku's darkness to counteract Sora's light.

Vexen engages Riku in a cautious battle and uses the data he obtained from the fight to create a copy of Riku. The replica is completely aware of his status as a fake, but unlike Riku, is not afraid to use the darkness. However, even with darkness on his side, the replica fails to defeat Riku.

Even with the failure, Vexen has other plans for the replica, and goes to Marluxia and Larxene. He offers the replica to test Sora, though first he would have to have his memories changed around. They then have Naminé manipulate the replica's memories until he thinks he is the real Riku. He also believes that he made a promise to Naminé like Sora had, and because of this conflict, the replica confronts Sora multiple times, saying that Naminé no longer needs Sora.

However, the replica soon spirals out of control, and Marluxia deems Vexen's experiment a failure. Vexen is insulted, saying that a neophyte like Marluxia has no right to speak to an elder like Vexen. However, Marluxia makes the threat of reporting Vexen's failure to "the Superior", and Vexen's fear of the Superior's power overrides his previous elitist attitude. Now with Vexen under his grip, Marluxia orders Vexen to eliminate Sora, much to his surprise.

Vexen then confronts Sora, saying that Sora is in debt to him for reuniting him with Riku. Sora is angered, and the two battle. However, as they fight, Vexen delves deep into Sora's heart, and creates a world card forged from the memories on the other side of his heart. Vexen tells Sora that if he wants to truly defeat him, then he must enter that world.

Meanwhile, Marluxia, Larxene, and Axel note that Vexen is jeopardizing their plans, for if Sora discovers the other side of his heart, then he will no longer be of any use to them. They then decide to have Axel eliminate Vexen before permanent damage can be done.

Sora discovers that the new world is Twilight Town, which is strange because Sora has only visited places in his memories, and he has no memories of Twilight Town. Even so, Sora feels a sense of familiarity from this place. He explores the town until he arrives at the gates of a mansion. Vexen makes his appearance there, asking Sora if the familiarity of this place or his memories of Naminé is true. Sora doesn't understand what he means, and Vexen sees that he is but a slave of his memories, just like "his Riku". Sora is again angered, and battles Vexen one more time.

Vexen loses again, and seeing that Sora is too dangerous, plans to tell him of Marluxia's plot and, by extension, Roxas's existence. Before he can fully explain, however, he is struck by Axel, who embeds a Chakram into Vexen's body. Vexen begs to be spared, but Axel tells him he can be "nothing instead of just being a Nobody" and snaps his fingers, detonating the Chakram and incinerating Vexen, making him the first member of Organization XIII to die.

Kingdom Hearts II Final Mix

Vexen's spirit returns as an Absent Silhouette in Agrabah after Sora examines the Peddler's revived shop. If Sora investigates the Silhouette, Vexen challenges the Keyblade wielder to a rematch, but is eventually slain. Sora can also challenge a data replica of Vexen in the Garden of Assemblage.

Kingdom Hearts 3D: Dream Drop Distance

Even is resurrected following the destruction of his Heartless and Vexen. Though conscious again, Even is unstable, so Aeleus has him rest.

Kingdom Hearts III

Even goes missing and the other former Organization members suspect he has rejoined Xehanort. Vexen is then seen talking to Saïx, saying that he never forgave Lea for turning on him in Castle Oblivion. He is also seen helping Luxord in the Carribean, where he says that Ansem never appreciated his scientific talent, but Xehanort has.

However, Vexen later saves Ansem the Wise from Xehanort's Heartless and reveals that he actually is an undercover as a spy in the Organization. Later, he has Demyx (who has also defected) deliver a replica body and escort Ansem the Wise to Ienzo in Hollow Bastion, giving them a vessel to place Roxas's heart in.

Following Master Xehanort's defeat, Even regains his humanity and assists Ansem the Wise and Ienzo in restoring Naminé, with Sora and Kairi providing Naminé's heart.

Me: Vexen!

Vexen: It's been a while J.D. and Lana, I see you're doing well.

Lana: You gave me a lot of practice.

Vexen: Before we fight, I'd like to give you something. (throws something to the ground)

We saw that it was Even, Vexen's Somebody.

Aeleus: Even?

Vexen: I may be back in action, but there's no reason for my Somebody to get harmed any further.

Me: Maria, Varie, heal him.

They went over to Even and he was unconscious.

Me: You know Vexen, Vypra should also bring back the other members of Organization XIII so that each of the Loud's can have a member to face as well and have her spare their somebodies as well. Larxene and Axel would be perfect as well.

Vexen: I'll make a note for that.

Nicole checked the Book of Vile Darkness and she saw that Vexen was not in the Book anymore but all his information was still there.

Nicole: He's not in the Book of Vile Darkness anymore.

?: Don't forget about me. I got a score to settle with the Blue Rangers.

A figure came out and we saw that it was SKATANA from episode 3 of Super Megaforce!

---

Sent to Earth to cut the Super Mega Rangers down to size, along with destroying buildings, Skatana decides to start with Noah, planning ahead by having Levira upgrade his Infinity Blade attack and tricking Noah so that he could have Bruisers pin him down. After being defeated by Noah using the Blue Ranger Legendary Ranger Keys, a maximized Skatana is destroyed by the Legendary Mystic Force Megazord.

---

Noah Carver: Skatana!

Skatana: Its been a while blue ranger.

Me: I remember you! You were a deadly and formidable adversary to Noah. You were a deadly foe.

Skatana: That's right. (to Kai, Tori, Madison, and Kevin) So you are the Blue Rangers that the Blue Ranger used to defeat me. After I kill him, I'll go after all of you next one at a time.

Tori: Why not all at once?

Skatana: I prefer one on one fights. I'm sorry but that's just how I roll.

Me: Not if Noah kills you like he did before.

Gia: If there isn't an exhibit for Power Rangers after this, I'm gonna be disappointed.

Me: We'll have to talk to the museum staff about that.

Megaforce Rangers: Legendary Ranger Mode: RPM!

The Megaforce Rangers minus Noah turned into the R.P.M. Rangers.

Noah: Guys, let me face Skatana. I'm the one he wants.

Nico: Noah, remember what I always say. Never fight alone!

Noah: I won't be alone. I'll have all the powers of the Blue Rangers backing me up.

Me: Good thinking. Blue Rangers, go get him.

Billy Cranston: With pleasure.

?: (Raspy Voice) Then we will kill Homer as well.

We saw Marge's twin sisters Patty and Selma Bouvier!

Bart: Aunt Selma, Aunt Patty!? What are you doing here?

Selma: Isn't it obvious Bart?

Patty: We're here to kill Homer and make him pay for ruining our family.

Homer: What!? What did I do?

Selma: You have ruined our family for far too long Homer. It's time to end it!

Patty: Yeah!

Mandee: I will face you two! You want to get to Homer, then you have to go through me!

Myotismon and Mr. Burns appeared. But Mr. Burns had an awesome Robot Suit on.

Nico: I see you have come Myotismon. Up for a rematch?

Myotismon: Yes and you will die for killing me Nico.

Mr. Burns: And I will relish in killing you all as well.

Qin: Not if I have my way with you Burns.

Maggie Simpson: Save seconds for me.

We saw Maggie Simpson and she was a beautiful teenage girl with a blue dress and her blue bow was in her hair and she had white shoes.

Me: Whoa! Maggie you look awesome!

Homer: (Gasp) My little girl is a beautiful young lady.

Maggie Simpson: I sure am dad. I now have a score to settle with Burns.

Me: I remember you that did shoot him Maggie.

Maggie Simpson: That's right. I remember that he stole my lollipop and I will make him pay for that. No one steals candy from me.

Me: Show no mercy. Lets take this fight to other planets so we don't damage the museum.

Larry Daley: Good idea. But don't kill Attila. He's my friend.

Me: Really?

Larry Daley: Yes. I know him and he knows me.

Me: Okay. I know just the planet too.

I snapped my fingers and we were on the desert planet THUNDAHARA!

---

Thundahara is a desert planet located in the galaxy M87. It is a violent desert planet shrouded in extremely violent thunderstorms and the mountains stick out in various spots and sandstorms, tornadoes, flame storms and lava waves decimate the surface making it one of the most inhospitable planets in the universe.

---

Lincoln: Wow! Look at this planet!

Lana: So cool!

Me: This is the planet Thundahara in the galaxy M87.

Lisa Loud: Very fascinating.

Me: Lets do it guys.

Attila: I would've joined up with Kahrumrah but I view Larry as a friend.

Larry: And I view all of the exhibits as my friends.

We went at the bad guys.

Battle 1: Ivan the Terrible!

---

Anastasia Nikolaevna was facing Ivan the Terrible and she was gonna make him pay for all the pain and suffering that he caused back in the 17th Century.

Anastasia: I will never forgive you for your crimes Ivan!

Ivan the Terrible: (Russian Accent) You are gonna die by my hands!

Anastasia: (Speaking Russian) Ты заплатишь за свои преступления Иван Грозный! России уже нет ты дома! Ты просто монстр без совести, сердца и души! ты бесполезная куча мрази! (You will pay for your crimes Ivan the Terrible! Russia is no longer you're home! You are just a monster with no conscience, heart and soul! you are a worthless pile of scum!)

Ivan the Terrible: (Speaking Russian) (ENRAGED) НИКТО НЕ ГОВОРИТ, ЧТО СПОСОБ ИВАНА УЖАСНЫМ, ЧЕРТ, БРАТ! (NO ONE TALKS THAT WAY TO IVAN THE TERRIBLE YOU FUCKING BRAT!)

Ivan charged and Anastasia kicked him in the face and punched him in the stomach many times and she fired a powerful blast of blue fire and it slammed into Ivan and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMMM!

Anastasia: As the Grand Duchess of Tsar Nicholas II, I hereby sentence you to death for crimes against Russia! RUSSIA STYLE NINJA ART: UNDER A WILLOW!

Anastasia floated in the air and the flag of the Russian Federation by a willow tree formed and she sang the Russian Folk Song Under A Willow.

Под ракитою зелёной

Казак раненый лежал

еее ой да под зелёной

Казак раненый лежал

Прилетела птица-ворон

Начал каркать над кустом

Ай над ним вился чёрный ворон

Чуя лакомый кусок.

Ты не каркай чёрный ворон

Над моею головой

еее ой да чёрный ворон.

Я казак ещё живой!

Ты слетай-ка чёрный ворон,

К отцу, к матери домой

И передай платок кровавый

Моей жиньке молодой.

Ты скажи-ка, чёрный ворон

Что женился на другой,

Что нашёл себе невесту

В чистом поле за рекой!

Была свадьба тиха, смирна,

Под ракитовым кустом

еее ой да тиха, смирна… ааа

Под ракитовым кустом.

Была сваха-сабля востра,

Штык булатный был дружком.

еее ой да сабля востра

Штык булатный был дружком.

Поженила пуля быстро,

Обвенчала мать-замля.

еее ой да пуля быстро

Обвенчала мать-замля!

Waves of Red, Blue and White fire fired from the background and it formed into the Cossack Army of the 19th Century Anti-Jewish Pogroms and they blasted and slashed Ivan the Terrible all over and he was blown to pieces all over the place.

Anastasia: In the immortal words of Nico in my country's language: Иван Грозный, Ты подвел всю Россию! (Ivan the Terrible, You have failed all of Russia!)

Jessie K.: Wow! That was really well done Anastasia.

Anastasia: Thanks Jessie.

Jessie K.: That was the Cossack Army of the 19th Century Anti-Jewish Pogroms. Very dark time in Russia's history.

Anastasia: Yeah but it was perfect for my technique.

Jessie K.: It sure was. Lets get these pieces together.

Anastasia: Good idea.

They picked up the pieces of Ivan the Terrible and put him in a bag for fixing.

Battle 2: Al Capone!

Bai Tza was facing the ruthless gangster Al Capone and she was gonna make sure that he paid for his crimes back in the 1920's.

Bai Tza: They should've killed you instead of sending you to Alcatraz for Tax Evasion.

Al Capone: You will die a horrible death for saying that to me.

Bai Tza: I can talk about you however I want. I've lived for over 900 years and I won't let you terrorize the world again.

Bai Tza went at Al Capone and kicked him in the face and he then fired his Tommygun at her and she grabbed the bullets out of midair until he was empty.

Bai Tza dropped the slugs.

Bai Tza: I believe these are yours. Keep the change you fucking filthy animal.

Bai Tza fired blasts of water at him and they hit him in the stomach and sent him crashing into a rock.

Bai Tza: Here's a technique that gave my the moniker Queen of Atlantis. ATLANTIS STYLE NINJA ART: THE CRYSTAL CHAMBER!

Bai Tza rose into the air as the scene from Atlantis: The Lost Empire where Kida bonds with the Crystal formed behind her and the power coming off of it was unbelievable. It fired a powerful wave of energy and it slammed into Al Capone and he exploded all over the place in a pile of pieces!

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMMM

The pieces of Al Capone were all over the place.

Jessie K.: Whoa! That was unbelievable!

Anastasia: No kidding!

Bai Tza: Thanks guys. I really was the queen of Atlantis before the great civilization was destroyed by that event.

Jessie K.: Whoa! That is amazing.

Anastasia: It sure is.

Jessie K.: Lets pick up the pieces of Al Capone.

Bai Tza: Okay. We should also make sure that the bad figures of history never come back after this.

Jessie K.: Good idea.

They got to picking up Al Capone's pieces.

Battle 3: Napoleon

Marinette was facing Napoleon Bonaparte.

Marinette: You are a very famous figure of French history Napoleon. You were a ruthless tyrant that started the Napoleon Wars back in the 19th Century.

Napoleon: That is correct child. You have caught up on your history.

Marinette: You were also banished to the island of Saint Helena off the coast of Africa in 1821 where you died a horrible death from Stomach Cancer. By all accounts you deserved it shorty!

Napoleon: YOU BRAT!

He unsheathed his sword and Marinette went at him.

Marinette: TIKKI! SPOTS ON! HA!

Marinette turned into Ladybug and unsheathed her sword and they clashed in a powerful sword fight and it was enough to set part of the desert on fire. Marinette slashed him in the arm and it fell off.

Marinette: Here's another figure that I idolize in all of French history: Joan of Arc. I will carry the torch of her ways of justice in Team Loud Phoenix Storm as I fight for justice. LADYBUG STYLE NINJA ART: JOAN!

Marinette rose into the air and the epic battles of the Hundred Years War from 1337 to 1453 were shown and it also had Joan of Arc the mortal angel sent by God to punish the wicked fight in the war as Marinette sang Joan by Heather Dale.

I am as God made me, I have no desire,

For a mouth at my breast or a pot on the fire,

I heed the higher voices; I go where I'm sent,

To mow down the men who refuse to repent,

I'm a scythe, in a field full of briars.

And they won't call me Mother, or Sister, or Wife,

They will know me or not by the strength of my life,

I will burn with a light of my own.

They'll know me as Joan.

They'll know me as Joan.

The courage of Catherine, the flames of the forge,

Sword of Saint Michael, the blood of Saint George,

I take what I'm given, I follow my truth,

I gladly abandon the bloom of my youth,

I'm the lashing, that falls from the scourge.

And they won't call me Mother, or Sister, or Wife,

They will know me or not by the strength of my life,

I will burn with a light of my own.

They'll know me as Joan.

They'll know me as Joan.

I fight where God tells me, I never ask why,
I've bloodied the Devil, with steel from on high,
I kill without consequence, heed no Man's law.
I sift out the righteous like grain from the straw.
I am Judgment, and Heaven is nigh.
And they won't call me Mother, or Sister, or Wife,
They will know me or not by the strength of my life,
I will burn with a light of my own.
They'll know me as Joan.
They won't call me Mother, or Sister, or Wife,
They will know me or not by the strength of my life,
I will burn with a light of my own.
They'll know me as Joan.
No they won't call me Mother, or Sister, or Wife,
They will know me or not by the strength of my life,
I will burn with a light of my own.
They'll know me as Joan.
No they won't call me Mother, or Sister, or Wife,
They will know me or not by the strength of my life,
I will burn with a light of my own.
They'll know me as Joan.
They won't call me Mother, or Sister, or Wife,

They will know me or not by the strength of my life,

I will burn with a light of my own.

They'll know me as Joan.

They'll know me as Joan.

Waves of light and fire fired from Marinette's wings and they turned into the mighty French army being lead by Joan of Arc from 1433 and they slashed and cut up Napoleon all over the place.

Jessie K.: Whoa! That was incredible!

Anastasia: You have an incredible voice Marinette.

Marinette: Thanks Anastasia.

Bai Tza: Joan of Arc is a very amazing figure from French history.

Jessie K.: Boy she sure was. She was an amazing warrior as well as a Saint. She was sent by God in the 15th Century to punish the wicked. A mortal angel among man during the Hundred Years War. And she was only 19 when they killed her. Burned her at the stake for heresy and Pope Callixtus III in 1453 declared her execution as completely unjust. They found her innocent and she was canonized as a saint in 1920.

Marinette: That's right.

Bai Tza: Wow.

Anastasia: It's just absolutely terrible what they did to her back then.

Jessie K.: It sure was. Lets pick up the pieces of Napoleon.

Marinette: Okay.

They picked up the pieces.

---

Battle 4: Selma and Patty

Mandee was facing Marge's evil sisters Selma and Patty Bouvier.

Mandee: You give all sisters everywhere a really bad name!

Selma: You will not stop us from killing Homer!

Patty: That's right you bitch!

Mandee: Oh I will stop you.

Mandee went at them and kicked both of them in their faces and she leg swept Selma and punched Patty in the face and she grabbed Selma and slammed her into Patty with a powerful thud.

Mandee: I will never let you touch Homer. As long as I fight to protect my friends, I will never let you hurt anyone that I care about and I will never let you ruin the lives of those I love! You will never touch Homer or his family as long as I live! CELTIC STYLE NINJA ART: MAY IT BE!

Mandee rose into the air and the rise of the morning sun showed in the background as she sang the beautiful song May it Be by Enya.

May it be an evening star

Shines down upon you

May it be when darkness falls

Your heart will be true

You walk a lonely road

Oh, how far you are from home

Mornië utúlië ((darkness has come))

Believe and you will find your way

Mornië alantië ((darkness has fallen))

A promise lives within you now

May it be the shadows call

Will fly away

May it be your journey on

To light the day

When the night is overcome

You may rise to find the sun

Morniё utúliё ((darkness has come))

Believe and you will find your way

Morniё alantiё ((darkness has fallen))

A promise lives within you now

A promise lives within you now

Beams of sunlight fired at Selma and Patty and they hit them and burned them all over the place and knocked them down.

Jessie K.: Whoa! That was awesome Mandee!

Mandee: Thanks Jessie. I didn't know I had that kind of power.

Jessie K.: Not bad for your first try though. And it looks like you have a couple of arch enemies now.

Mandee: I sure do.

Battle 5: Firefly

Lola, Francis and Lea were facing Firefly.

Lola: I thought we were rid of you forever Firefly! We threw you into jail at the Moon Prison.

Firefly: Yes you did and I nearly died because of it! Now I will burn you all over and kill you!

Lola: Come and try it!

Francis: Yeah!

Lea: Lets dance!

Lola was enveloped in a massive vortex of fire and then she transformed into her Super Angel 20,000 Inferno Firestorm Princess form!

Lola: (Older Voice) I've changed a lot since our last fight Firefly. Now lets dance.

Firefly: With pleasure.

Lola went at Firefly and kicked him in the face and Lola fired a massive barrage of fireballs at him and they exploded all over with incredible power!

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM! KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM! KRABBBBOOOOOOOOMMM! KRABBBOOOOOOOOOOMMMM! KRABBBBOOOOOMMM!

Firefly flew into the air and fired a massive barrage of fireballs at Lola and Lola fired massive numbers of fireballs at the fireballs and they hit and exploded.

KRABBBBOOOOOOOOMMMM! KRABBBBBOOOOOOOMMM! KRRABBBBOOOOOOOMMM! KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM! KRABBBOOOOMMM! KRABBBOOOOOOMM! KRABBBOOOOMMM! KRABBBBOOOOOOOOMMMM! KRABBBOOOOMMM! KRABBBBOOOOOOOOMMMM! KRABBBBOOOOOOMMMM! KRABBBOOOOOOOOOMMM! KRABBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMMM!

Lola: Try this one! FIRE STYLE: FLAMING JAVELIN!

Lola formed a spear of pure fire and threw it at Firefly and it skewered his left leg and exploded. Blowing his whole leg apart in a fiery explosion.

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM!

Firefly landed on the ground screaming in excruciating pain as his whole leg was burned off. Lea and Francis fired powerful blasts of fire and burned him all over.

Lola: That was just the start. Try this one! FIRE STYLE: THE FIREBIRD SUITE!

Lola floated into the air as a massive wall of fire appeared and the song The Firebird Suite by Igor Stravinsky played. It fired a massive wave of fire that turned into a deadly firebird and it slammed into Firefly and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

The explosion from the blast sent him crashing into a rock and his helmet was knocked off. He got up and he was standing on one foot.

Firefly: (Laughs) I'm impressed. You've gotten stronger since our fight from last time Lola.

Lola: Thanks for the compliment.

Firefly showed his face and it showed that he had burns over 95% of his face. It was horribly scarred and disfigured like he was burned in an oil fire!

Lola: Whoa! What happened to your face!?

Firefly: You left your mark on me when I nearly died in the Moon Prison. I was burned by the guards and tortured all over because of them. They splattered lava all over my face and badly burned my face beyond all recognition.

Lola: Geez no kidding. But it shows the kind of monster you are for trying to burn down Gotham.

Firefly: Maybe so. But you are now my number 1 enemy Lola Loud.

Lola: Bring it on fireboy.

Battle 6: Vexen

---

Lana, Killer Frost and Poison Ivy were facing Vexen.

Vexen: You look like you've been doing well Lana.

Lana: Same to you Vexen. But I'm not the same girl you knew from before. I've gotten stronger since then.

Lana was then enveloped in a powerful vortex of ice and snow and she transformed into her Super Angel 20,000 Subzero Ice Owl Form.

Lana: (Older Voice) This is gonna be you getting the cold shoulder.

Vexen: Lets see what you got.

Killer Frost: Yeah!

Poison Ivy: Lets dance.

Lana went at him and punched him in the face and kicked him in the stomach and punched him in the chest and kicked him in the stomach and Lana fired a powerful blast of ice lightning and froze his hands so he can't summon his Ice Shield.

Vexen: Very impressive. You have indeed gotten stronger since the last time we fought Lana. Now it's my turn.

Lana summoned her ice shield and Vexen fired blasts of ice pillars at her and she blocked them and Killer Frost fired blasts of ice and Poison Ivy fired waves of leaves and they froze and cut him and Lana fired blasts of ice lightning at him and the blasts turned into ice kunai and shuriken and they hit him all over and froze him solid in a block of ice.

Vexen: You have indeed gotten stronger since we last fought Lana.

Lana: Tell me something I don't already know. But thanks for the compliment. I figured that since you and Firefly got back, we would give you a good warmup.

Vexen: I appreciate that.

Battle 7: Myotismon

Nico was facing Myotismon.

Nico: You know this is just like how the Digidestined fought you at the Tokyo Radio Station all those years ago.

Myotismon: Indeed it is Nico. I know you've gotten stronger since we fought the last time.

Nico: Last time you were a Super Ultimate Level Digimon and you didn't know about me getting my Super Saiyan power. Now lets see how you fair against me the same way.

Nico then went Super Saiyan.

Nico: Lets dance!

(FORSAKEN BY WITHIN TEMPTATION PLAYS)

Myotismon: (Evil Laughter) With pleasure. (Echoing) GRISLY WING!

Myotismon sent a massive swarm of his bat familiars at Nico.

Nico: (Echoing) METAL FIREBALL!

Nico fired a massive blast of blue fire from his hands using SkullMeramon's powers and it slammed into the Bat Familiars and burned them all and he went at Myotismon and kicked him in the face. Myotismon rebounded.

Myotismon: (Echoing) CRIMSON LIGHTNING!

Myotismon fired a powerful stream of blood red lightning at Nico.

Nico: (Echoing) CRIMSON LIGHTNING!

Nico did the same thing Myotismon did and the blasts of blood red energy slammed into each other and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBBBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Nico: I know all your moves Myotismon. And I know all the moves of every Digimon out there.

Myotismon: So you do Nico. You have indeed gotten stronger since the last time we fought.

Nico: Like I haven't heard that one before.

Myotismon: Indeed. But I took have some new moves as well. Lets go!

They went at each other and Nico punched him in the face and Myotismon punched at Nico and he dodged his attack and Nico kicked him in the back and Nico kicked him in the face.

Myotismon: Try this on! (Echoing) SCREAMING DARKNESS!

Myotismon fired a powerful wave of darkness at Nico and he teleported.

Nico: (Echoing) TERRA DESTROYER!

Nico formed a massive ball of negative energy using BlackWarGreymon's powers and it slammed into Myotismon and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

The explosion sent Myotismon flying and he crashed into a boulder and was knocked down.

Nico: That was just a sample of the powers I learned Myotismon. I told you I wasn't the same as I was before.

Myotismon: I can see that.

Nico: And you also have the powers and abilities of VenomMyotismon and MaloMyotismon.

Myotismon: That's right. I too have gotten stronger ever since I was in Digital Hell. As I was imprisoned there I added to my powers. I'm beyond the Myotismon you all knew from before.

Nico: So I see. I'm impressed. You were a worthy opponent back then and you are a worthy opponent now.

Myotismon: Thank you for the compliment.

Nico: Shall we continue?

Myotismon: Lets. (Echoing) LIGHTNING JAVELIN!

Myotismon fired a massive blast of lightning from his hands with MegaSeadramon's Powers.

Nico: (Echoing) RIVER OF POWER!

Nico fired a massive wave of energy with MetalSeadramon's powers and the blasts collided and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Nico went at him.

Nico: (Echoing) WOLF CLAW!

Nico slashed at Myotismon with WereGarurumon's powers and slashed him with a blade of energy and cut him bad.

Nico: Try this one! (Echoing) PARADISE LOST PUNCH!

Nico went up to Myotismon and punched him with a massive number of punches with Lucemon's powers and they were moving so fast that it was unbelievable!

Nico then kicked Myotismon with devastating force in the face and sent him crashing into a mountain. Myotismon exploded out of the rubble and he was knocked down.

Nico: Have you had enough?

Myotismon: Yes I have. You have won this one Nico. But the fight is going to get interesting next time.

Myotismon teleported out.

Nico: I have that to look forward to.

---

Battle 8: Mr. Burns

---

Maggie Simpson and Qin were facing Mr. Burns.

Qin: I will never forgive you for your crimes against the world Mr. Burns.

Maggie Simpson: I'm glad I shot you Burns. If I could I would finish what I started.

Mr. Burns: You will pay for shooting me you fucking brat!

Maggie Simpson: You had it coming! No one steals candy from me and lives to tell about it.

Qin: And your crimes that you did were one of the reasons why Springfield deserved to be destroyed in the first place you greedy fuckkicking fuckpot!

Mr. Burns screamed in rage and went at them and Qin punched him in the face and Maggie Simpson kicked him in the stomach and she grabbed him in the chest and spun him around with incredible speed and threw him into a rock.

Mr. Burns crashed into it and he got up and grabbed it and threw it at them and Qin punched the rock with devastating force and sent the pebbles at him and they pelted him all over and Qin and Maggie fired a massive blast of fire and turned the rocks into red hot pebbles and they hit him and burned him all over the place. Qin kicked him in the face and knocked out some of his teeth.

Qin: That was for ruining everyone in Springfield!

Mr. Burns was knocked down and knocked out cold.

Maggie Simpson: I'm only facing Mr. Burns until I get my own Arch Nemesis.

Qin: I understand Maggie.

Battle 9: Skatana.

---

Noah Carver and the Blue Rangers were facing Skatana.

Noah: You will pay for your crimes Skatana.

Skatana: We'll see about that blue rangers!

(APOCALYPSE TOMORROW BY CHARLES EVANS PLAYS)

The Blue Rangers all went at Skatana and cut and slashed him all over and it was a brutal and deadly fight. Tori Hanson slashed him all over and so did Kevin of the Samurai Rangers with powerful blades of water and Billy Cranston slashed him with a powerful mace bash, Rocky DeSantis blasted him with his Zeo Weapon and Max Cooper slashed him all over and blasted him with his Shark Powers and it was a massive and powerful fight.

Noah Carver: You will pay for your crimes Skatana.

Billy Cranston: You brought all this on yourself.

Max Cooper: That's right.

Noah Carver: Lets hit him all at once with a combo Blue Ranger Attack.

Billy Cranston: Lets do it!

Noah Carver charged up a powerful energy blast and the Blue Rangers had energy ready to fire!

Blue Rangers: BLUE RANGER KAMEHAMEHA!

Noah fired a massive Kamehameha Wave and the Blue Rangers fired a powerful barrage of blue energy and the blasts combined and slammed into Skatana and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBBBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

When the smoke cleared, Skatana was completely obliterated. There was nothing left of him but his sword.

Billy Cranston: That was awesome Noah!

Max Cooper: Yeah you should have Skatana's sword as a trophy.

Sky Tate: To the victors go the spoils of war.

Noah Carver: Thanks guys.

Noah kept Skatana's sword.

---

Battle 10: Pharaoh Kahmunrah

---

I was facing Kahmunrah.

Me: Your reign of terror ends now Kahmunrah.

Kahmunrah: Not if I kill you first.

I punched him in the face and we then engaged in a deadly sword fight and sparks were flying all over the place with each clash of our blades.

Nico punched him in the face and everyone regrouped and Lincoln fired a blast of lightning and electrocuted him all over and Laney fired blasts of fire and burned him and Laney fired poison barbs and they hit Kahmunrah and poisoned him. Luna and Lily fired blasts of water and drenched him and Luan blasted him with light and burned him all over.

Laney: Try this one! CELTIC STYLE NINJA ART: STARHON'S PASSAGE!

Laney floated into the air and the beauty of Ireland appeared behind her and she sang Starhon's Passage by The Barleyshakes. She fired a powerful blast of Celtic energy and the blast turned into the Celtic Triquetra and it slammed into Kahmunrah and it exploded.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Natilee: Wow! That was awesome! (Celtic Accent) Well done lass.

Laney: Thanks Natilee.

Lily: Lets see how you like this! WATER STYLE NINJA ART: THE ARABIAN DANCE OF FANTASIA!

Lily floated into the air and the ocean appeared and the Arabian Dance by Tchaikovsky played and she fired a wave of water and it turned into the beautiful fish of Fantasia and they slammed into Kahmunrah and knocked him all over.

Hunter: Lets see you survive this! METAL STYLE NINJA ART: IRON HARVEST!

Hunter fired a massive wave of metal and it formed into a bunch of robots and they blasted him Kahmunrah all over.

Me: Wow! Awesome robots!

Nico: No kidding.

Homer: Try this one you tyrant! SIMPSONS STYLE NINJA ART: ATTACK OF THE KRUSTY DOLL!

Homer fired a powerful energy blast and it turned into the Krusty Doll from Treehouse of Horror III and the doll slashed Kahmunrah all over.

Axel Adell: (Swedish Accent) You won't like this one! ICE STYLE NINJA ART: EMPIRE OF THE ICE AGE!

Axel fired a huge wave of ice and it turned into the creatures and people of the Ice Age from thousands of years ago and they smashed and bashed Kahmunrah all over and froze him in a block of ice.

Rexy the Tyrannosaurus Skeleton grabbed Kahmunrah and shook him all over like a chew toy.

Aylene C.: A Tyrannosaurus Skeleton dog? Now I've seen everything.

Ben: Lets see how he likes this predator!

Ben then turned into a new predator. It was TURTLENDENSER! He looked like a huge sea turtle with electrified spines on his shell.

Ben: TURTLENDENSER!

Me: Whoa! That is an amazing Predator.

Shanan: Wow! That's an Dermochea from the Planet Tesslos! They are the Amperi's natural predator.

Riley: Wow! That is a really cool one!

Nico: It sure is.

Me: Yeah.

Turtlendenser: Watch this.

He fired a huge blast of lightning at Kahmunrah and it hit him and electrocuted him all over.

Me: Time for some teamwork!

Prowl: Right! CYBER KEY POWER!

The Autobot Cyber Planet Key went into his back and enhanced his Incendiary Missiles 100-fold.

Kirby: This is gonna hurt you. POP STAR CYBER KEY POWER!

The Pop Star Cyber Planet Key went into his right arm device and enhanced his powers 100-fold.

Prowl and Kirby: FIRESTORM FLAMETHROWER BURST!

Prowl and Kirby fired blasts of fire and they hit Kahrumrah and burned him all over.

Brawl: Time for action! CYBER KEY POWER!

The Earth Cyber Planet Key went into his back and enhanced his electron gun 100-fold.

Jessie (Pokemon): This is gonna be awesome! ANIMATRON CYBER KEY POWER!

The Animatron Cyber Planet Key went into Jessie's right arm device and enhanced her Yanmega's powers 100-fold.

Jessie (Pokemon): Use Sonic Boom!

Brawl and Jessie: LIGHTNING SONIC BLAST!

They fired blasts of lightning and a blade of energy and it slammed into him and exploded.

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM!

Drill Man: This is gonna be good.

Bai Tza: Yeah.

Drill Man fired a bunch of Drill Missiles and Bai Tza fired blasts of water.

Drill Man and Bai Tza: WATER EARTH DRILLSTORM!

The blasts hit him and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOMMM!
KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM!
KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMMM!

Zhalia Moon: This is for making Egypt a nightmare!

Zhalia fired a powerful Boltflare blast and Nico fired a blast of fire.

Zhalia Moon and Nico: LIGHTNING FLARE STORM!

The blasts hit Kahmunrah and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM

Me: You make me sick Kahmunrah!

I fired a massive blast of lightning and Emerald fired a blast of pink energy.

Me and Emerald: UNICORN LIGHTNING MEGABURST!

The blasts combined and turned into a unicorn of energy and they hit him and exploded.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM

Me: Lets finish this freak!

Theodore Roosevelt: Lets dance. ROUGHRIDERS MEGA BLAST!

Theodore Roosevelt fired a powerful blast of energy and it turned into the Roughriders and they slammed into Kahrundah and exploded.

KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!

Larry Daley: This is for everything you did. SECURITY BEAM BURST!

Larry fired a powerful blast of energy and it slammed into Kahmunrah and exploded.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!

Amelia Earhart: Feel the fury of the plane. FLIGHT OF THE WORLD!

Amelia fired a powerful blast of energy and it turned into Amelia Earhart's plane and it slammed into Kahmunrah and exploded.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMMMM

Taylor Earhart: This is the power of the Soaring Eagle! EAGLE BLADEDANCE FIRESTORM!

Taylor fired yellow blasts of energy and they turned into blades of energy and slashed him all over.

Lily Loud: Now it's time for some Owl Power! OWLA! SPREAD MY WINGS!

Lily turned into Night Owl!

Lily: This will hurt. STAR BURST FIRESTORM!

Lily fired a massive blast of star energy and they hit Kahmunrah and exploded.

KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!

Maggie Simpson: This is gonna hurt! BOWFIRE BLUEBURST!

Maggie threw her bow and it lit on fire and it hit him and exploded.

KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMMM!

Homer: Feel the donut! DONUT MEGABURST STORM!

Homer fired a blast of energy and they turned into a bunch of donuts and they hit Kahmunrah and exploded.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMMM!

Anastasia: Feel the wrath of Russia. TSAR BURSTSTORM!

Anastasia fired a massive blast of fire in the colors of the Russia Flag and the blasts hit him and exploded.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM!

Volcana: This guy will burn! FIRESTORM MEGABLAST!

Volcana fired a powerful blast of fire and it slammed into him and exploded.

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!

Marinette: Time for some pain. LADYBUG SLASH BURST!

Ladybug slashed him all over with her sword and more.

Gabe Sabry: It's gonna be a painful curse for you. EGYPT FIRESTORM BLAST!

Gabe fired a massive blast of energy and it turned into a powerful barrage of Egypt symbols and they slammed into him and exploded.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM!

Cody (OC): You give all Pharaohs a really bad name. ANUBIS FIRESTORM STRIKE!

Cody fired a powerful blast of black fire and it slammed into Kahmunrah and burned him all over.

We then went back to Earth and me and Larry had Kahmunrah by his hands and we opened the door to the Underworld.

Kahmunrah: [defeated by Larry] What are you?

Larry Daley: I'm the nightguard, bitch!

Me: And we're your worst fucking nightmare.

We threw him in and he was banished forever.

Me: Enjoy hell.

Firefly: You guys thought we were a challenge today? Wait until you see the other villains that got restored with us.

Laney: And those would be?

Vexen: Sorry. You're just going to have to find out for yourselves.

Vexen and Firefly then leave through a Corridor of Darkness and so did Selma and Patty and Mr. Burns.

Taylor Earhart: Guys, we just defeated Kahmunrah and helped the exhibits stay at the Museum of Natural History. I think this calls for a celebration.

Me: Good idea.

We had an awesome party.

Larry Daley: (To the viewers) What can I say, Team Loud Phoenix Storm is just that awesome. And they have an awesome amount of enemies and more.

Me: You said it Larry.

Tiki Head: This party is gonna get funky baby!

We enjoyed the rest of the Smithsonian. We fixed the figures of Ivan the Terrible, Napoleon and Al Capone good as new and they weren't allowed to come back. We were also talking to the Tiki Head and he was really funny. He told us some really funny jokes and stuff that made us laugh.

THE END

Another awesome movie and fanfic complete.

Night At The Museum was an awesome movie! It was awesome and Ben Stiller did a great job! Lot of big stars in that movie. NicoChan11 gave me the ideas for this. Thanks man. Next up is the awesome show Storm Hawks and we're going into battle into the evil Repton and we're gonna make that evil lizard pay.

See you all tomorrow.

Flying with The Storm Hawks

At Dr. Lopez's office, we were there for yet another Therapy Session. It was to try and keep our anger under control.

Lincoln: Dr. Lopez, I don't know why Nico would send us here again. There's nothing wrong with us.

Circe (Generator Rex): Well, me and the others aren't the ones who nearly got Jebediah killed the other day.

Me: Guys that's enough. I think I know why we're here. He wants us to get our anger under control before someone gets seriously hurt. But try telling that to Benson and Eva. Eva couldn't get her anger under control at all and she tried to kill us in more ways than anyone else can count. And Mordecai and Rigby have angered Benson so many times at the Park that it was too many to count.

Laney: That is a good comparison.

Lisa Loud: I usually never show inane emotions like anger that often.

Dr. Lopez: I know a really good therapy to help you all get your anger under control and it may prove to be very beneficial for you.

Lori: What is it?

Dr. Lopez: You are gonna head to the Gotham Royal York Buddhist Temple for a good session of enlightenment meditation.

Me: But we're not Buddhist.

Dr. Lopez: Trust me. It's gonna be really good for you.

Me: Okay.

We went to the Gotham Royal York Buddhist Temple. It looked like a really cool Buddhist Temple.

Me: Wow. Nice place.

We went in and we saw Lenny Leonard and Carl Carlson there as well.

Me: Lenny, Carl, I didn't know you two were Buddhist.

Lenny: It's a really enlightening thing to learn about Buddhism and it brings out the inner peace within us.

Me: Wow.

Lori: That is literally amazing.

Lisa Simpson came out and she was dressed in Buddhist clothes.

Me: Lisa. So you are our Buddhist Teacher.

Lisa Simpson: That's right J.D.

Me: I remember watching on TV that you became a Buddhist. That is really awesome.

Lisa Simpson: Thanks J.D. I'm glad you think so. My mom was against me becoming Buddhist and she wanted me to be a full fledge Christian. But it wasn't the right religion for me.

Lori: That is literally amazing.

Lynn: Yeah screw what your mom says.

Lola: Well said Lynn.

Lisa Simpson: Thanks guys. Lets get to work.

We got to work and we got into Meditation Positions and we were meditating and we were really purifying ourselves. We were also showing Kirlian Auras and it our auras were those of different colors. They were full of lightning and electrical power overflowing with life energy.

Me: OOOOOOOOMMMM…

Lori: Ooooooommmmmm…

Leni: Oooooooommmmmmm…

Luna: Oooooooommmmmmmm…

Luan: Oooooooooommmmmmmmmm…

Lynn: Oooooooooooommmmmmmm…

Lincoln: Ooooooooooommmmmmm…

Lucy: Oooooooooooommmmm…

Laney: Oooooooooooommmmm…

Lana: Ooooooooooooommmmmm…

Lola: Oooooooooooooommmmmm…

Lisa: Oooooooooooooommmmmm…

Lily: Ooooooooooooooommmmmm…

We were meditating and more. Suddenly we found the peak of Nirvana as a beam of light hit the middle of our foreheads and we had 3rd eyes appear and we had spiritually achieved inner piece and Nirvana as we were spiritually sitting on the spouts of beautiful whales stacked on top of one another.

Lisa Simpson: Congratulations. You all have achieved inner peace.

---

Later at the estate we came back.

Nico: (nervously) Hey, guys. How was therapy?

Iceman (Marvel): Guys, Nico was just concerned about you. You try to attack him and you're getting turned into popsicles.

Me: He's right and we found Inner Peace. We were recommended to go to the Gotham Royal York Buddhist Temple and it was a really peaceful place and it was very therapeutic.

Nico: Cool.

Laney: It was really therapeutic.

Lana: And Lisa Simpson was our Buddhist Teacher.

Lola: We have 200 more sessions and it is gonna be really interesting.

Lisa Loud: Indeed. Being a Buddhist can be really interesting.

Me: Yep.

Circe (Generator Rex): It sure will be fun.

---

Later the U.S.S. Valorous Phoenix was flying through the endless reaches of space.

Me: Captain's Log, Stardate 2811.3: The U.S.S. Valorous Phoenix is en route to a mysterious mountain planet located in the Sombrero Galaxy 31 million light-years away from Earth and we are heading there to see what it has and what is going on.

Lana: What do you think is gonna happen when we get to this planet?

Varie: It's gonna be a different place.

Nico: It sure is. All planets are different.

Lincoln: I feel totally calm and at peace now.

Lola: Me too Linky.

Earth: I'm proud of you all for doing this.

Lincoln: Thanks Earth.

Girl Jordan: I am actually a Buddhist myself and it's a beautiful religion and all that.

Nico: That's cool.

Lisa Loud: We have appeared to have arrived at our destination.

Me: On screen.

The screen showed that we were at the beautiful mountain planet Atmos.

Me: Wow. What a planet.

Vince: It sure is pretty.

Carol: I can't wait to see what's there.

Me: Lets head down.

We headed down to the planet and we saw that it was a beautiful place. We saw that the kingdoms were on really super tall mountains and the clouds went on for miles and miles and it was beautiful.

Me: Wow. So this is the planet Atmos. Beautiful place.

Nico: Where have I seen all this before?

Lincoln: It sure is pretty.

Laney: Yeah.

Aylene C.: J.D. we have a ship coming up to us.

Me: I see it.

We saw that it was a cool ship called The Condor.

Me: Whoa! Wait a second. I remember seeing that ship on TV. This is the world of The Storm Hawks.

Lincoln: The Storm Hawks? Oh wow! I love that show!

Lana: It sure was awesome.

Nico: I remember that show. It was awesome.

Me: Lets wave a symbol of peace and show that we mean no harm.

Nico: Okay.

We waved the symbol of peace and that was our phoenix flame. The Condor landed on our ship and we went over to it.

Aerrow: Wow! Team Loud Phoenix Storm. It's such an awesome honor to meet all of you.

Me: Same to you Aerrow. We have heard so many awesome things about all of you.

Junko: It's a pleasure to meet all of you. I'm Junko, the Strongman.

Finn: I'm Finn, the marksman. It's a pleasure.

Piper (Storm Hawks): I'm Piper, the Specialist.

Stork: And I'm Stork, the helmsman of the Condor.

Aerrow: And this is my copilot Raddar.

Me: It's an honor to meet all of you.

Nico: We came all the way from Earth to help you guys if you want.

Piper (Storm Hawks): I'm glad you all came.

Stork: I'll show you all around our ship.

We went on board the Condor. It was an amazing ship.

Stork: Welcome to the Condor. Feel free to look around. But don't damage anything!

Cybertron Ransack: Relax, Stork. We won't damage anything too serious.

Me: Yeah. But wow. Your ship is amazing guys.

Aerrow: Thanks J.D. The Condor is our moving base of operations.

Me: It's amazing.

Aerrow: Thanks. But lets tell you how we came to being. I am the last descendent of the Original Storm Hawks.

Aerrow went over the history of the Storm Hawks.

---

The Storm Hawks are an unofficial squadron of Atmos, lead by the sky knight Aerrow. Although not yet recognized by the Sky Knight council as an official squadron, the Storm Hawks still stick to their mission of saving the world of Atmos from Master Cyclonis.

Members

Current Members

Aerrow - The daring leader and Sky Knight of the squadron, Aerrow is a mature, good-natured 14-year-old with a tousled mop of bright red hair and green eyes. Despite his youth, he's one of the most talented Sky Knights in the Atmos. Because of his age, most of the adult Sky Knights look down on him as being incompetent of being able to lead a team himself (Starling being the main exception); in reality the Storm Hawks has earned more battle victories against the Cyclonians than any squadron in the Atmos because of Aerrow. Despite his daredevil attitude and flippant outlook on life, Aerrow looks out for the safety of his team and when injustice arrives, he's usually the one out first to counteract it.

Age: 14

Hair : Red

Eyes: Green

Position: Sky Knight and Leader

Personality: Adventurous, Daring, Confident, Protective, Caring, Honour, Courage,Lucky

Weapon: Twin Energy Blades

Species: Human

Radarr - Aerrow's close friend and co-pilot, Radarr is a vaguely rabbit/lemur-like creature of indeterminate origin who hates being called a "pet." He serves as the mascot for the new Storm Hawks and is very loyal to Aerrow, but often has to be there to bail him out of potentially dangerous situations. Due to not being able to speak English, Radarr speaks in a variety of animal noises, manily chirps and growls. Radarr has scruffy blue fur and yellow eyes.

Age: Unknown

Hair: Blue

Eyes: Yellow

Position: Co-pilot and Mission Specialist

Personality: Loyal, perceptive, angry (when called a pet)

Weapon: Any objects he is able to throw

Species: Sky monkey

Finn - A wiry, wise-cracking doofus, Finn would have been regarded as the best sharpshooter the Storm Hawks have got under their wings, if he wasn't such a trouble magnet and a self-centered jerk most of the time. He and his friend Junko are always getting into trouble together, becoming the comic relief pair of the show. With spiky blond hair and blue eyes, Finn tends to think highly of himself and though he always tries to act cool, deep down he is a typical teenager with many insecurities to hide. His personality takes from both a stereotypical surfer and skater.

Age: 14

Hair: Blond

Eyes: Blue

Position: Wing Man, Marksman and Sharpshooter

Personality: Egotistic, rude, hyperactive, mischevous, flirtatious, sarcastic, impulsive

Weapon: Energy Crossbow

Species: Human

Junko - A tough, burly character, Junko is easily identifiable as the muscle of the group. He was put in charge of "flight engineering and heavy ballistics" by Aerrow at the time of the formation of the new Storm Hawks. Although his powerful strength and large size is intimidating at first glance, Junko has a big, soft heart on the inside and socially open, and wants to prove that he isn't what people think he is. He is of a race of warriors called Wallops. He has a horn on his nose a slope of dark gray hair and gray eyes.

Age: 14

Hair: Teal

Eyes: Light Brown

Position: Flight Engineer, Heavy Ballistics and Strong Man

Terra: Terra Wallop

Personality: Gentle, child-like, loyal, friendly, sensitive, self-doubting (sometimes)

Weapon: Knuckle Busters, Turkey Burps (crystal bombs)

Species: Wallop

Piper - In charge of tactics, navigation, and crystals, Piper also has excellent combat abilities, and knows nearly everything about Atmos, other Sky Knights, and the inhabitants of Atmos. She often thinks up elaborate plans for her teammates to follow; unfortunately, due to the boys' constant improvisations, only half of her plans were followed precisely. As expected from a Sky Knight who happens to be the only female in her group, Piper often speaks her mind and gets frustrated with the boys' behavior but consistenly puts up with it because of their friendships with her. She has spiky midnight blue hair and orange eyes.

Age: 14

Hair: Blue

Eyes: Orange

Position: Navigator, Tactics Specialist and Crystal Expert

Personality: Easily irritated, very outspoken, motherly, intelligent

Weapon: Energy staff

Species: Human

Stork - The carrier pilot and gadget specialist with crippling (though often warranted) paranoia and severe pessimism, Stork is a slim-looking, green-skinned member of a species called "Merbs." Though he appears menacing at first, usually at the first sight of danger he is quickly revealed to be easily frightened and meek. But in the end he comes through and consistently performs his expected duties. He has stated in the pilot episode that he is only a member of the Storm Hawks until "something better comes along," but is loyal regardless. He has jet black hair and yellow eyes with dots for pupils.

Age: 18

Hair: Black

Eyes: Yellow & Black

Position: Helmsman

Terra: Terra Merb

Personality: Paranoid, meek, pessimistic, cynical, eccentric, brave (at times), cunning

Weapon: Condor and Traps

Species: Merb

The Original Storm Hawks were renowned as the greatest Sky Knights in existence.

Lightning Strike - The presumed father of Aerrow and founder and leader of the Storm Hawks, he led the combined forces of the Free Atmos against Cyclonia, but was betrayed and killed by his own copilot, who later became the Dark Ace.

Age: unknown

Hair: Red

Eyes: Green

Position: Sky Knight and Leader

Personality: Brave, Friendly, Confident, Loyal

Weapon: Two-handed Energy Blade, Storm Hawks Shield

Species: Human

Dark Ace - Copilot for Lightning Strike, his very name remains unknown; instead, he is remembered only as the Dark Ace for his betrayal of his leader.

Me: Whoa!

Qin: That is so cool! The Storm Hawks are really amazing.

Nico: They sure are.

Aerrow: Yep. Our mission is to bring down the evil forces of darkness. We hunt down beasts, rogues and worst of all Cyclonians.

Laney: What are the Cyclonians?

Aerrow: A ruthless empire that is known for terrorizing all of Atmos. Their leader is Master Cyclonis. We fought all of her forces on a daily basis.

Aerrow went over Master Cyclonis's history.

* * *

Master Cyclonis is the diabolical sovereign of the Cyclonian Empire. She is descended from a long line of evil emperors and became monarch at an early age due to a tragic incident involving her father. Once leadership of Cyclonia was passed to the young Cyclonis, she decided that the best way to expand her empire was by force. She controls a number of Terras within her Empire's borders which she has conquered, and has given over control of these to some of her high-ranking underlings, namely Ravess and Snipe.

Cyclonis (for the most part) remains a figurehead of the Cyclonians during the series, usually dispatching her Talons to do her work for her. During the beginning of the series, Cyclonis sends the Dark Ace to steal the Aurora Stone in order to power her doomsday device, the Storm Engine. With it, Master Cyclonis planned to wipe out every terrain in Atmos simultaneously, but she was ultimately stopped by the Storm Hawks.

In the finale of Season Two, Cyclonis uses a door leading to the Farside of Atmos to bring Farside crystal technology far beyond that of the Sky Knights. Using it, she is able to outfit her Nightcrawlers with virtually unstoppable weapons and Cyclonia itself with levitation pods, turning the entire terra into a massive flying fortress with which she takes over all of Atmos. In Aerrow and Piper's battle against Cyclonis and the Dark Ace with the Binding, Cyclonis draws too much energy from the Farside crystals to empower the Dark Ace, that apparently killed him in the process and ultimately destroyed the crystal. As Cyclonia falls with its shields demolished, she however manages to escape through the door leading to the Farside of Atmos, but the Storm Hawks then followed in after Cyclonis and they prepare a plan to stop her once and for all. However though, Master Cyclonis' eventual outcome is unfortunately never seen when it was later confirmed that Season three of Storm Hawks had been cancelled. Therefore due to this, Cyclonis' subsequent fate remains unknown.

Master Cyclonis' weapon of choice is her crystal staff, which, like Piper's staff, can have any number of effects based on the crystal powering it. The staff can reform itself if broken. In addition, Cyclonis herself can control and generate crystal energy without an intervening device, and can transform her weapons crystals during battle. She spends most of her time when not in the field at a console in her control room that has many mechanical arms, using it to create new crystals for use with her staff. She has many abilities with her crystals, such as deflection, teleportation, levitation, and shielding. She can also empower the Dark Ace with these abilities via the Binding.

We gasped in shear horror.

Me: Cyclonis is a monster!

Nico: No kidding.

Junko: Most of Cyclonis' forces are in hiding after she got defeated.

Aerrow: But Repton was spotted a few days ago.

Me: I know Repton. What he plans to do is awful. But I have a very strong feeling that Cyclonis is still out there somewhere. And we need to send her a threatening message. If she is still out there, we'll make her pay for her crimes.

Nico: Yep.

Fu: I'll charge up the Superlaser so that we can turn Cyclonia into a crater.

Nico: (sternly) Guys, remember what you learned at therapy.

Me: Stand down Fu. That's not needed. I have a much better idea and Nico, I made the right choice picking you as one of my 2nd in Command. That's why I'm also making you as my Chief Enforcer. If we start to get out of line with our anger, (Pulls out a club) Hit us on the head with this club.

Nico: (Takes the club) Thanks man. I'm honored.

Me: Okay now here's what we do.

I went over what I was gonna say and Brittney used her magic to create a projection of me to Cyclonis and it was gonna be a threatening message.

---

Master Cyclonis was hiding deep underground in a cave on the outlands of the planet. She was enraged that the Storm Hawks had ruined all of her plans.

Master Cyclonis: Those wretched Storm Hawks! THEY RUINED EVERYTHING FOR ME!

Me: Your end will be soon.

Master Cyclonis saw me as a projection.

Master Cyclonis: The famous J.D. Knudson of Team Loud Phoenix Storm. How nice of you to pay me a visit.

Me: Don't even bother attacking me Cyclonis. I'm not really here. I'm a projection.

Master Cyclonis: So why are you here?

Me: I have a message for you. In the future, me and Team Loud Phoenix Storm and the Storm Hawks are going to come for you and rid all of Atmos of your evil forever.

Master Cyclonis looked at me with a sinister smirk.

Me: You aren't the first person to try to rule the universe with a

Sword of Injustice. They all failed and so will you.

Master Cyclonis: We shall see about that.

Me: Yes we will. You won't get away with everything you've done to Atmos. When we face each other in the future, you had better be ready to face me with everything you've got.

Master Cyclonis: (Smirks in amusement) Oh I will.

Me: I give you this one chance to disband your armies and stop this pointless crusade to rule Atmos with an iron fist.

Master Cyclonis: I will never stop until all of Atmos is mine.

Me: Then you brought all this on yourself. I will help the Storm Hawks destroy you and all of your empire will crumble as we rain down so much death and destruction to all of you and Cyclonia.

(IMPERATRIX MUNDI BY JO BLANKENBURG PLAYS AT 1:55)

Master Cyclonis: We shall see about that.

Me: You will pay for your crimes. Team Loud Phoenix Storm and the Storm Hawks are coming for you and you had better be ready for the ultimate fight that will destroy you. The Winds of Vengeance are Coming for you and the fire of justice will silence you and send you to Hell.

I vanished.

Master Cyclonis: Well J.D., you made the fight for my conquest of Atmos really interesting.

---

I came back.

Nico: So what did she say?

Me: She is gonna be ready for us when we face her in the future.

Aerrow: That's good. She will have to be ready for us when we hit her head on.

Varie: That little bitch is going down when we get her.

Me: Yep.

Laney: If only there was a peaceful way to bring her down.

Me: But that usually never works. We have to fight her with everything we have. Lets head for Repton's place and bring him down.

Aerrow: We'll lead you to him.

Me: Okay.

Jetfire: Good thing I'm able to fly.

Me: Yep. Lets go.

We were off to Terra Bogaton. We arrived 20 minutes later and we were at the castle of REPTON!

---

Repton is the cunning leader of his three bumbling brothers (whom he can't believe were born in the same nest as him), and his only reason for tolerating them being a promise to his mother not to use them as target practice. A ruthless warrior, Repton's hobby is collecting the shields of defeated Sky Knight squadrons. Considered nasty and bitter even amongst his own kind, he is a seasoned hunter; cunning, patient and driven. However, in his pursuit of his prey, Repton will quite often ignore obvious danger until it is inevitably too late to avoid it. He is also somewhat gullible in regards to information about his target or prey, in one instance believing Finn's lie that the "rozen yoga" (an item that he perceived to be valuable) was located nearby with a group of Phoenixes. He and his group are responsible for defeating the Interceptors. This was revealed during his battle with Starling. Repton is also one of Cyclonis's most competent lackeys next to Dark Ace, considering he rules his own terra, has his own henchmen, and is loyal through self-interest (and the fact Cyclonis threatened to destroy his terra otherwise). Repton has shown that he is not afraid of Master Cyclonis as evident when he was threatened by Cyclonis of an invasion that she was welcome to try and when he thought that she sent an agent he was going to fight it himself (though he did send his forces first), although it is unclear as to whether this bravery is through courage or ignorance of how powerful Cyclonis's forces are.

Repton uses a crystal-powered energy boomerang in battle, which becomes a fiery energy ring when thrown. Repton is responsible for the destruction of more then a dozen Sky Knight squadrons, including the legendary "Interceptors" who were led by Starling, he hangs their shields on the walls in the top room of his tower on Terra Bogaton.

We went into the castle and we saw REPTON!

Repton: Storm Hawks!? How dare you all come here!?

Aerrow punched him in the face and Lincoln fired a blast of lightning at him and electrocuted him all over.

Me: Your reign ends now Repton.

Repton: Since when do you Storm Hawks attack us without making a bad joke?!

Hoerk: (to Finn) Not even you're making a wisecrack right now.

Me: Because you would be much better as a leather purse than a ruler lizard lips.

Nico was eating something.

Repton: Wait. What are you eating?

Nico: (smirks) Frozen yogurt. Want some?

Repton: (remembers something and snarls) Do you all have to remind me of that one time?!

Aerrow: (smirks) You were saying something about us attacking without making any jokes at you?

Piper (Storm Hawks): We would never attack people like you without any wisecracks, Repton. That's why we have Finn on the team.

?: (Spanish Accent) Soon I will break all of you.

We saw a huge figure come out and it was BANE!

Bane is a supervillain in the DC comics and a major antagonist of the Batman series.

He is a recurring nemesis of the superhero Batman, known for being augmented by a drug called Venom. He is most known as the supervillain who "broke that bat", as Bane once managed to break Batman's spine. Bane continues to be one of Batman's most physically and psychologically formidable foes, to the point that he essentially becomes the caped crusaders' archenemy and primary antagonist during the DC Rebirth line of comics.

Bane was born to serve the life sentence of his father, so his childhood and early adult life are spent behind the walls of Peña Duro, an infamous prison in Santa Prisca. Although he is imprisoned, his natural abilities allow him to develop extraordinary skills within the prison's walls.

He reads as many books as he can get, he trains his body in the prison gym, and he learns to fight in the merciless school of prison life. Despite his circumstances, he appears to have found various teachers during his prison time, ranging from hardened convicts to an elderly Jesuit priest. Bane committed his first murder at the age of eight, when he stabbed a criminal who wanted to use him to gain information about the prison.

During his years in prison, Bane always carried a teddy bear with him, which he called Osito (Spanish for "Little Bear"). He considers this teddy bear as his only friend. It is later revealed that Osito has a hole in his back to hold a knife that Bane uses against anyone who bullies him.

Bane ultimately establishes himself as the "King" of the Peña Duro prison. The prison's controllers notice this, and force him to become a test subject for a mysterious drug called Venom, which had already killed all the other test subjects. At first the drug nearly kills him, but he survives and finds it enhances his physical strength, although he needs to take it every 12 hours or he would suffer from debilitation side-effects. The drug gets pumped directly into Bane's brain. Although, he is still a powerful giant of a man without the Venom.

Breaking the Bat

Years later, Bane escapes Peña Duro, along with several accomplices. His ambition turns to destroying Batman, whom he had heard tales of while serving his sentence. He is fascinated with Gotham City because it is a city where fear ruled, just like the prison he escaped from. Bane is convinced that the demonic bat that haunted his dreams since childhood is a representation of the Batman.

He is aware that a direct assault on the Batman would be foolish, so Bane destroys the walls of Arkham Asylum, allowing its deranged inmates (including Joker, Scarecrow, Poison Ivy, Mad Hatter, The Ventriloquist, Firefly, Black Mask and Victor Zsasz) to escape into Gotham City, where Batman spends three months rounding them up. Running himself to exhaustion, Batman returns to Wayne Manor, where Bane awaits him. Bane and Batman fight in the Batcave, and Bane wins the fight. He delivers the final blow: he breaks Batman's back and leaves him paraplegic, thereby being the only man to ever "Break the Bat".

Bane's Downfall

While Bane establishes himself as ruler of Gotham City's criminal underworld, Bruce Wayne passes the mantle of Batman to Jean-Paul Valley, also known as Azrael. Being the new Batman, Jean-Paul grows increasingly violent, allowing the villain Abattoir to fall to his death. Utilizing a advanced combat suit instead of the traditional Batman uniform, he fights and defeats Bane at the end of the "Knightfall" arc, severing the tubes that pump the Venom into Bane's bloodstream, causing a severe withdrawal. Jean-Paul then gives the weakened Bane a vicious beating, leaving him broken, but alive.

Bane's Legacy

Bane recovers from his wounds and is sent to prison. While serving time, he recovers from his Venom addiction. He eventually escapes from prison and returns to Gotham, where he fights alongside Batman to take out a criminal ring that is distributing a Venom derivative to street-level thugs. After their victory, Bane claims to be innocent of his past crimes and peacefully leaves Gotham City, in search of his father.

Bane's search for his father brings him back to the Peña Duro prison. He speaks to the Jesuit priest who had taught him while he was in prison. The priest tells Bane that there are four men who could be his father: a Santa Priscan revolutionary, an American doctor, an English mercenary and a Swiss banker. While searching for the Swiss in Rome, Bane encounters Ra's al Ghul's daughter Talia al Ghul. Talia introduces Bane to her father, and Bane impresses Ra's so much that he chooses Bane as his heir.

Ra's al Ghul and Bane then launch a plague attack on Gotham City. Bruce Wayne, again costumed as Batman, gets his rematch with Bane and finally defeats him in single combat. Since then, whenever Batman and Bane fight each other, their fights usually end in a draw.

Veritas Liberat

The Jesuit priest that Bane spoke with told him there was a possibility that his biological father was an American Doctor. In researching this issue, Bane comes to the conclusion that he and Batman share Dr. Thomas Wayne as their biological father. Bane alerts Batman to this possibility, and during the time that the DNA tests are being performed, stays at the Wayne Manor and fights alongside Batman on the streets of Gotham. Ultimately, it is revealed that Dr. Wayne is not Bane's father, and Bane leaves Gotham City peacefully to pursue leads in the snowy mountains of Kanchenjunga.

Bane eventually finds his father, the unscrupulous king snake, in the "Veritas Liberat" storyline. Bane and Batman foil King Snake's plans to unleash a powerful weapon upon the world. Bane saves Batman from being shot by King Snake, but is mortally wounded in the process. Batman then saves Bane and leaves him with a clean slate and a new opportunity at life.

DC Rebirth

During the "Batman and the Monster Men" storyline, Batman realizes that Bane had been supplying Hugo Strange with Venom, which he used to help create his Monster Men. It is later revealed that Bane supplied Strange with the Venom in order to receive services from Psycho-Pirate, who used his power of manipulating emotions to help Bane overcome his addiction to the substance.

Later, during the "I Am Suicide" storyline, Batman, wanting to reverse the crippling fear Psycho-Pirate infected Gotham Girl with, hires The Ventriloquist, Bronze Tiger, Catwoman and Punch & Judy to help him infiltrate Santa Prisca and retrieve him from Bane. Later, after arriving in Santa Prisca, Batman is easily overwhelmed and captured by Bane's followers and brought to Bane himself, who beats Batman and greatly injures his back (not being strong enough to snap his spine without Venom) before tossing him in a cell slowly filling with water. After escaping and letting the others inside the prison, Catwoman betrays the entire team to Bane, seemingly killing Punch and Judy, and because of this, Bane is able to beat Batman again. However, Catwoman's betrayal was actually part of Batman's plan, and, after everyone is in their positions, she turns on Bane and breaks his back, allowing Batman and his team to escape with Psycho Pirate. With Psycho Pirate gone, Bane screams out, demanding Venom.

Following that, in "I Am Bane", Bane returns seeking vengeance against Batman. As a first act of vengeance, Bane attempts to have one of his men assassinate Batman while he is visiting Gotham Girl in Arkham, although he was stopped by Bronze Tiger. Knowing Bane is returning, Batman attempts to keep all of his allies far away from the conflict, however, Bane still manages to beat and (non-fatally) hang Damian Wayne, Dick Grayson and Jason Todd in the Batcave and later kidnaps Bronze Tiger, Catwoman, James Gordon and Duke.

Only a short time later, Bane attempts to ransom Batman's allies in exchange for Psycho-Pirate, however, Batman refuses, resulting in Bane savagely beating him to near death whilst comparing himself to Batman's other enemies. After knocking Batman out, Bane orders for the hostages to be killed, only to realize that Catwoman escaped, freed the others and defeated his men. As a result of this, Bane furiously heads to Arkham Asylum where Alfred is forcing Psycho-Pirate to heal Gotham Girl. Upon breaking into the Asylum, Batman has all of it's inmates freed and offers to improve their stay there if they defeat Bane, however, Bane mercilessly beats his way through every single one of them except Calendar Man, who simply pretends to be knocked out after calmly telling him that, despite what he believes, he will never be done with Batman and vice-versa. After finally reaching Batman, Bane beats down on Batman yet again, who begins hearing the voice of his mother as he grows closer to death. As Bane is about to kill Batman, Batman manages to knock him out cold with a powerful headbutt.

In the "Breaking the Bat" storyline, he is revealed to have masterminded several events during DC Rebirth, from the plane crash that cause Batman to meet Gotham and Gotham Girl, to his wedding to Catwoman and the Joker sabotaging it, all to break Batman further. Eventually Bane confronts an infuriated Batman at Wayne Manor and manages to defeat the Dark Knight in combat before his acquaintance Thomas Wayne, who was pulled from the Flashpoint timeline, takes the fallen vigilante out of Gotham City.

Believing to have finally broken the Bat completely, Bane takes control of Gotham City using various supervillains he commanded with the help of Psycho Pirates powers and plans to achieve the one thing Batman has tried to do for years: make Gotham a safer place. With the help of Thomas Wayne and Gotham Girl, Bane maintained an iron-fisted rule over Gotham. He made a deal with Lex Luthor to keep away government interference and had threaten to murder Alfred Pennyworth if the Bat Family try to infiltrate the city. Damien Wayne tried to save Alfred despite the warnings, but was caught by Thomas who imprisoned him in the Batcave while Bane snapped Alfred's neck, seemingly killing him.

However, despite appearing to have finally achieved victory, What Bane did not realize was that his success was all part of Batman's own convoluted plot. He had Damien sneak into Gotham in other to let the rest of the Bat Family enter while Batman rekindled his relationship with Catwoman and they worked together to take back the city. Bane and Batman eventually fought each other once again, but this time Batman proved himself the mightier of the two by using tainted Batarangs to induce Bane with a Venom overdose his body could not handle. However, before Bane could be defeated, Thomas Wayne barges into the room and shoots both him and Batman before shooting Bane again in the head, apparently killing him for his inability to stop Wayne's son. It is later revealed Bane survived the gunshot but now laid in a coma at Arkham Asylum. Bane later regains consciousness after Thomas Wayne's defeat and gets his revenge for Thomas' betrayal by seemingly breaking his back.

Lego Justice League: Gotham City Breakout

In the Lego DC movie Lego Gotham City Breakout, Bane teams up with Deathstroke and attacks a peaceful race known as Trogowogs, who Bane now rules over them as their leader.

After Deathstroke and the Trogowogs capture Batman, Nightwing, and Batgirl, they bring them before Bane, who they discover him as the ruler of the Trogowogs.

Bane is about to unveil his plan to them until the heroes interrupt him, as they predict Bane's plan is to rule the world with the Trogowogs, which they then assume he used the Psyche Stone on Batman's old master, Madame Mantis, who is friends with the Trogowogs, to learn a technique called "the forbidden move" to teach to his Trogowog army, but failed and planned to use it on Batman instead. Bane mutters to the heroes that they take the fun out of being a villain as detectives, but then remarks that they do it sometimes.

Bane and Deathstroke interrogates Batman with the Psyche Stone as it fires a beam upon his head that shows a projection of Madame Mantis teaching Batman the forbidden move. As the secret to it was about to be revealed, however, Batman moves his head away from the beam, ending the memory projection. Deathstroke demands they re-position Batman's head underneath the beam again, but Bane warns him not to, as he explains that Batman barely survived from the beam's deadly effects, which if Batman dies, the secret to the forbidden move will be lost to them forever.

Bane orders the Trogowogs to take Batman to the dungeons, where Nightwing and Batgirl are with Madame Mantis and the Trogowog prince, Grungel, who is paranoid, especially by Bane. Once they discovered Batman already tortured by Bane and Deathstroke, Batgirl runs over to his side, but is pushed by the Trogowog guard. Prince Grungel tells the Trogowogs to leave her alone, only to be scared by their growl. The two Trogowogs laugh at Prince Grungel before they left. Prince Grungel tells the heroes it was his fault they are in this mess, as he explains the Trogowogs were once peaceful creatures who used the Psyche Stone to spread friendship until Bane discovered them and used the Psyche Stone to turn them evil after he killed the Trogowog king while Grungel stood by and watched. Batgirl tells Grungel it is okay to be afraid, as she says that bravery is fighting for what is right.

Once Batman and the heroes escaped, after Batman used a brick separator to free themselves from their cell, Bane appears before them as a projection from the Psyche Stone, telling Batman to surrender, although it is actually a trap to scare Grungel and separate him from the heroes to lure him to Deathstroke. Bane then reappears as a projection again, telling Batman he has someone who likes to see him as he presents Grungel in his hand, who he calls him not as a talker, but instead of a "whimperer". He then tells Batman that he will see him soon, as he knows that Batman would come to save Grungel.

Batman surrenders himself to Bane, as Bane is seen pinning him down while the Psyche Stone fires a beam at his head again. Bane orders Deathstroke to increase the Psyche Stone's power, bringing up the projection again. After Bane finally learns the secret of the forbidden move, he gathers all of the Trogowogs and have them stand under the Psyche Stone, giving them the information of the technique. He then sends them to the surface until Batman appears before them with Deathstroke, who now reforms himself, and fights the Trogowogs. Bane goes over to Prince Grungel and berates him for his peaceful ways and nearly destroys him until Nightwing and Batgirl fight him. Bane manages to beat them, as he is seen pinning them under a pillar. Just then, Prince Grungel becomes brave and fights Bane. Bane tries to hit Grungel, but Grungel dodges his every attack with ease. Bane threatens Grungel that will destroy him like he did with his father. Grungel, on the other hand, stands up to Bane and tells him that he will die as a king. While Nightwing and Batgirl watches the fight, Madame Mantis advises them to use the Psyche Stone to show a projection of Bane and Grungel fighting. Madame Mantis gives a Grungel a stick to fight Bane, which Bane comments the stick as small while he brags about himself as a big man. Grungel uses the stick to cut the chords leading to Bane's venom, rendering Bane weak. Bane, refusing to give up, attempts to strike at Grungel, but then falls down a long flight of stairs and lands in front of the Trogowogs, who all laugh at Bane in his defeat.

Batman Vs Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles

Bane is one of the antagonists. He was locked up in Arkham Asylum along with Scarecrow, Harley Quinn, Poison Ivy, Mr. Freeze, Two-Face and Joker. With the alliance of both Ra's and Shredder arrived to Arkham Asylum to secure Joker, Bane is eagerly to help them for his rematch against Batman. When Bane attempted to kill Catwoman, Amanda used a drone to capture him and used the nerve toxins to knock Bane unconscious. Unbeknownst to Bane that Hush is actually the Riddler.

Television

Bane is a recurring villain in the DC Animated Universe. He made his debut in Batman: The Animated Series. This incarnation was an inmate of a Cuban prison meant to contain the most dangerous convicts ever captured. While in the prison, Bane gained genius level intellect by reading as many books as he could, eventually learning of Gotham's vigilante Batman. In the episode "Bane", he is hired by Rupert Thorne to kill Batman, though he schemes with Thorne's secretary Candace to take Thorne's place after Batman is gone. Batman manages to defeat Bane in combat by turning up the device that supplies his venom, causing his body to swell beyond his control until he collapses from exhaustion. After his defeat, Bane makes it a personal mission to destroy Batman as revenge for his humiliation.

In the Batman episode "Over the Edge", Bane is released from prison by a revenge-crazed Commissioner Gordon who blames Batman for the death of his daughter Barbara. Gordon hires Bane to find and defeat Batman so that Gordon can arrest him and commit him to Arkham Asylum. Ultimately, however, Bane betrays Gordon, unwilling to give up his dream of killing Batman, and throws both of them over a building before the episode's events are revealed to merely be Barbara's nightmare.

Bane later appears in the Superman: The Animated Series episode "Knight Time", where he returns to Gotham with a new, enhanced form of Venom. During Batman's mysterious disappearance (due to being brainwashed by the supervillain Brainiac), Bane conspired with the Riddler and the Mad Hatter to take over Gotham during the Dark Knight's absence. But when the villains met to discuss their scheme, they are interrupted by Superman (posing as Batman) and Robin (Tim Drake). At first, Bane managed to subdue "Batman" by burying him in a pile of rubble, though the hero surprises Bane by emerging and demonstrating superhuman strength. And although Bane was stronger than ever, the Man of Steel was ultimately able to pummel the villain into submission.

Bane makes his final appearance in Batman Beyond. Bane's Venom formula is delivered in patch form as an influx called 'slappers' and distributed on the streets of the future version of Gotham and even to given teenagers. Bane is initially suspected to be the supplier. But after tracking him down, Batman learns that a lifetime of Venom usage has taken its toll on the once formidable villain and that he's now a frail old man using a wheelchair and reliant on an oxygen tank and the support of a nurse due to years of substance abuse

Batman: The Brave and the Bold

Bane appears in Batman: The Brave and the Bold episode "Menace of the Conquering Caveman" having escaped prison only to be caught by Batman and Wildcat. In "Night of the Batmen" Bane is seen with Blockbuster, Solomon Grundy, and Killer Croc trying to steal Lady Liberty but are eventually beaten by Captain Marvel dressed like Batman. Unlike his comic book counterpart Bane is shown to be weak and skinny before taking venom.

Young Justice

Bane appears in the Young Justice episode "Drop Zone", where he is the head of a drug operation on Santa Prisca, dealing the enhanced steroid Venom. Beaten by Mammoth, who is enhanced by a mixture of Venom project Blockbuster, he does battle with the Cult of the Cobra and later tricks the team to help him before attempting to kill them in a way that would make the Justice League come after the Cultists in a way that would allow him to take control of his drug factory, but fails and see's his factory destroyed. He later joins Lex Luthor as an associate of the Light.

Gotham

Bane appears as one of the main antagonists in the fifth and final season of the FOX television series, Gotham. In this adaption, his real name is Eduardo Dorrance and he is a former army buddy of Jim Gordon who initially arrives in Gotham City to liberate it from its "No Man's Land" state. However, in reality, he arrives to actually enforce rogue government agent, Theresa Walker's plan for the city.

He is portrayed by Shane West.

Harley Quinn (TV series)

Bane appear in DC Universe's adult animation series Harley Quinn.

Batman: Rise of Sin Tzu

Batman attempts to disarm a weapon of mass destruction but is suddenly attacked by Bane. Nevertheless, Batman defeats Bane and then successfully disarms the weapon.

DC Universe Online

Heroes side Batman wants to stop Bane from supplying a new type of Venom throughout Gotham while using Cape Carmine Lighthouse as his hideout. Batman enlists the help of the new Justice League recruits to defeat and interrogate Bane's dealers and then assist Nightwing in taking Bane down. In duo mode of the level, the players have to fight Killer Croc and Deathstroke before they can get to Bane.

Villains side Bane attracts the ire of the Joker when he moves into the Falcone family turf. The Joker wants this to cease and he commissions new recruits supported by the Secret Society of Super Villains to thwart Bane's plans and then join Falcone muscle Killer Croc in taking out Bane himself.

Me: Bane!?

Bane: I honestly missed fighting you, Batman. Being in the Marina

Trench Prison meant I wouldn't be able to feel your spine crumble in my hands.

Batman: You always were a very formidable foe Bane.

Qin: Whoa! So he is Bane.

Me: Yep that's him. His real name is Jose Dorrance. He's an escaped inmate from Pena Doro Prison in Cuba. It's for Lifer's only. Bane was originally part of a special Top Secret chemical project called Project Gilgamesh.

Qin: Who was Gilgamesh?

Me: The Ultimate Warrior in Mesopotamian Mythology. Project Gilgamesh was a chemical plan to create super-soldiers out of hardened prisoners. But it was abandoned when they got more than they bargained for. Bane is the result of that.

Qin: Geez!

Me: Bane is a very dangerous foe too. After he escaped, he went into business for himself as a freelance assassin. Price per job: $5,000,000.00.

Qin: Whoa! That is a hefty price tag!

Me: It sure is. Rupert Thorne put out a contract on Batman and that was when we faced him and sent him and Rupert to prison.

Qin: Wow!

Nico: He is a very formidable foe. So the Masters of Evil released you to be one of the Loud kids Arch Enemies.

Bane: That's right.

Laney: So, what's with the new outfit?

Bane: It's so my skin isn't exposed. That was one of the reasons why you all defeated me the first time.

Me: It looks amazing on you.

?: And she released me.

We then saw another figure and it was ELECTRO!
